"Science will deliver us from the swarthy autocrat. It is teaching us how to get the energy, whereby we live, from other sources," says The London Evening Standard. "The strike has given a vast impetus to the movement. The best brains of the country are at work seeking substitutes for the winding shaft and the blazing furnace. And we should also get rid of most of the coal smoke and carbonic acid gas which make our towns hideous. Petroleum is the best known of the alternatives. But there will be others.

"Sir W. Ramsay, the celebrated English chemist, has been putting some fascinating proposals before the Coal Smoke Abatement Society. He brought forward a startling scheme, which ought to give some of the millions of strikers 'fits,' for he showed that even if we continue to use the energy of coal we may contrive to get it without much assistance from the colliers," proceeds the journal.

"When you come to think of it, the process by which we convert the fossil forests into the flame which cooks our chops, or the incandescent burner which lights our room, is extraordinary clumsy. First, we hew out the blocks from the bowels of the earth with primitive pickaxes, and equally primitive human muscles, just as they did a few thousand years ago. Then we hoist this crude product to the surface, haul it about in trains and wagons, dump it heavily into our cellars, and then, with more domestic hoisting and shovelling, finally get the grimy, dirty stuff into our kitchen ranges and sitting-room grates. There it smokes and splutters and sends seven-eights of its energy up the chimney."

NESBITT CONCEALED IDENTITY TO PERFECT HIS INVENTION

Chicago, April 13.—(Special)—Asserting innocence of any crime and saying he was confident of the outcome of the case if it ever went to trial, and declaring his determination to fight against his removal to Toronto to stand trial, Dr. William Beattie Nesbitt, former President of the Farmers Bank, sat in his cell today while attorneys endeavored to find bail and planned to bring habeas corpus proceedings.

Dr. Nesbitt discussed freely his life since the failure of the bank and his flight from Toronto. He said the time had been spent quietly as an inventor, working on schemes conceived and partially worked out before he left Canada. It was an invention of a wheat reaper, simple, comparatively inexpensive, he told the police.

For a year he said he worked on the invention in Toronto, and during the time he remained there nothing was said against him involving him in any criminal transaction.

Nesbitt's Story was told to a detective in his cell. He was bitter at his arrest, asserting that the reflection on his name would always last even though he could free himself.

On one thing, he said, he was determined. He would fight. "I have every confidence I will win the case" he said. "It seems as though fate sometimes casts shadows over the lives of active and energetic men. This is particularly exemplified in my case."

Detective Wallace of Toronto, received telegraphic instructions this morning to start extradition proceedings here.

J. A. Rogers, a representative of the Ontario attorney-general's office, is expected here this afternoon to start legal proceedings. Meantime, representatian will also be made to Washington.

PENNSYLVANIA MAY END PRESIDENTIAL CONTROVERSIES

The Republican primaries held in Pennsylvania Saturday may definitely decide the presidential contest so far as Mr. Taft is concerned. Should the popular sentiment in the keystone state, as expressed by these primaries be similar to those unmistakably expressed by the primaries in Illinois the president will have to retire as a candidate for renomination.

The result in Illinois was far more important than the fifty delegates affected. It startled the country by showing how strong was the hold of Colonel Roosevelt upon the people, and betrayed what has long been suspected the fatal weakness of Mr. Taft as a popular candidate.

During the past week Roosevelt scored striking victories in Maine and Missouri, which were lost sight of in the popular amazement at his overwhelming victory in Illinois. Mr. Taft at the same time scored a partial victory in Kentucky and seems to have had the best of it in Michigan, where the factional fight between the Taft Roosevelt delegates became so violent that the militia had to interfere.

The Republicans in New York endorsed the Taft administration at their state convention and gratuitously denounced the initiative, the referendum and the recall. Nevertheless all the New York papers supporting Taft agree in saying that the delegates in Rochester feared that Taft could not be elected and were anxious to bring about, if possible, the nomination of Mr. Justice Hughes as a compromise candidate.

Colonel Roosevelt greatly elated with his success scouts all suggestion of compromise and compromised candidates. "I am out to win," he says. "I have nothing to offer and will except nothing less than the nomination for president. There will be no dark horse or gray horse or white horse. Either Mr. Taft or myself will be nominated."

"Should the Taft people make a good showing in Pennsylvania their campaign may continue until greatly encouraged or entirely discredited by the primaries of Ohio. The president may be nominated as Harrison was nominated in 1892, but he will be beaten at the polls."

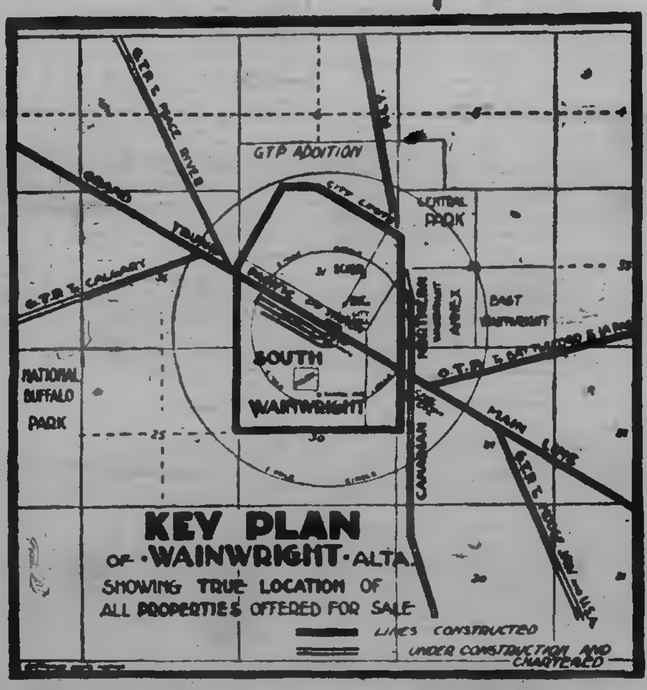
Business Lots in South

WAINWRIGHT

The Most Promising New City in Western Canada

Every Purchaser is Protected By Our Iron-Clad Guarantee



We Buy Your Lots Back--With Interest if You are Dissatisfied

We hold a large block of inside business property and picked residential locations at South Wainwright immediately south of the Grand Trunk Pacific yards, station and shops. Remember, Wainwright is the most important divisional point on the G.T.P. line between Winnipeg and Edmonton — and within the HALF MILE CIRCLE that embraces the present town. These lots are situated for to-morrow, and will, we predict, become the most valuable properties in Wainwright when this city begins to get its growth. These lots are from one-half to one mile closer in than other subdivision property now on the market at Wainwright.

Wainwright is only three years old. The railway development here has only begun. The next two years will see thousands of new residents at Wainwright.

Wainwright, Alberta, is the central divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in Alberta. It is an important junction point also. It is the trading centre of one of the richest agricultural districts of the west. It is to-day the second largest point of original live stock shipments in the Province, exceeded only by Calgary.

Wainwright is famous as the home of Canada's National Buffalo Herd, the largest herd of buffalo in the world, maintained in the National Buffalo Park by the Canadian Government. The presence of this park and its herd of buffalo will make Wainwright one of the meccas of Canada's annual tourist traffic, and will contribute to the prosperity of Wainwright.

We give notice that on April 15th, the prices of all unsold property in South Wainwright will be advanced 25 to 50 per cent. Until April 15th, prices are: $75, $100, $125, $150 and $175 per lot, depending upon location. Business and trackage lots are $125 to $175, residential lots $75 and $100. Cash payment one-quarter; balance $7.50 monthly.

OUR GUARANTEE—We agree to deliver Torrens Title upon completion of payments. We agree to carry interest and pay taxes upon all property until title is delivered. We further agree to buy back, upon demand, after two years, any lot purchased from us in South Wainwright, refunding the full purchase price, with interest added at the rate of 6 per cent.

Useful Information for the Frugal Canadian Housewife

Celery will keep crisp a long time if kept where it is perfectly dark.

Orange Peel dried and grated makes a very fine yellow powder that is delicious flavoring for cakes and puddings.

To Clean a black straw hat and make it look like new, rub it with the tiniest bit of butter on velvet, and then polish with a fresh piece of velvet.

Tar Stains can be easily removed by rubbing them with a little butter. Leave it on for some time and then wash off with warm water and yellow soap, when the spot will entirely disappear.

Flowers can be kept fresh for quite a long time by placing their stems in a potato. Bore holes in the potato with a skewer and insert the stems, and place the potato in a bowl. No water is required.

When Taking Up a boiled or steamed pudding allow it to stand for a few minutes before turning it out after it is removed from the saucepan. This will ensure it turning out successfully without breaking.

A Good way to clean brown boots when they have gone a dirty, almost black, color, is to rub well with a piece of soft cloth dipped in benzine. This will have the effect of making them almost their original color.

To Clean the Bone Handles of knives or any bone article, it is a good plan to use salt and lemon juice. First rub the article well with the lemon juice, and then with the salt. This removes stains and also grease spots.

Should you Suspect Moths in a carpet, if you can locate the affected parts, dip a cloth in very hot water with a little ammonia in it. Spread it on the carpet, and then go over it with a hot iron. The steam will kill the moths.

For Those who have to do much household work this hint will be useful. Before putting the hands into soda water rub the finger-tips and around the nails with vaseline. The water will not then touch them and make them crack.

If Changing the Water does not revive faded flowers, place them in boiling water up to about one-third of the stem; by the time the water has got cold the flowers will look quite fresh again. Cut off the ends and put them in clean cold water.

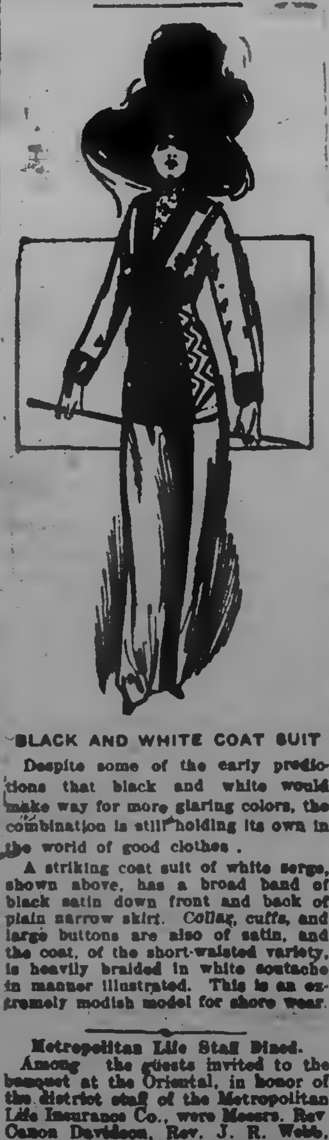
It is Not Generally Known that common alum melted in an iron spoon over a hot fire forms an exceedingly strong cement for joining glass, china, or breakages of any kind. Articles mended in this way may be washed, and will not come apart again.

Laundresses Recommend that a little vinegar be added to the water in which stockings are rinsed after being washed. The stockings should then be dried wrong side out. Colored stockings will not be faded, and black ones will retain their original lustre.

When Lining a Basin with paste for a beef-steak pudding, cut a piece of the paste away at the bottom about the size of a fifty-cent piece; then place in the meat as usual, and it will be found that the pudding will take an hour less to cook than if lined in the usual way.

Never Cover up Nail or tooth-brushes on the washstand. The bristles will soften and smell unpleasantly if not allowed fresh air. Sponges, also, should never be covered and should occasionally be washed in strong soda or ammonia and water, to extract any grease that may be in them.

When it is Necessary to repaint a bath it should be rubbed all over with sand-paper or pumice stone. After this apply two or three coats of bath-enamel, which will adhere much better when the surface is roughened. In order to preserve the paint when the bath is in use, be careful to turn on the cold water tap before letting hot water run into it.



BLACK AND WHITE COAT SUIT

Despite some of the early predictions that black and white would make way for more glaring colors, the combination is still holding its own in the world of good clothes.

A striking coat suit of white serge, shown above, has a broad band of black satin down front and back of plain narrow skirt. Collar, cuffs, and large buttons are also of satin, and the coat, of the short-waisted variety, is heavily braided in white soutache in manner illustrated. This is an extremely modish model for shore wear.

RISK REFUSED

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office, and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about the sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you play football? Cricket? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old man. Sorry—good-night."

QUITE HOPELESS.

They stood beneath the vine-covered arbour at the southern end of the garden, somewhere about page 352 and gazed long and earnestly into each other's eyes.

"My life's adored," murmured the man."

"My own—my very own—may I call you so?"

"Thank you, thank you."

"Then will you, sweet one, consent to be my wife?"

"Ah!" she responded, her frame convulsed with sobs; "would that you had not spoken, Gerald, for I can never be your wife."

"But you love me," he queried anxiously.

"Yes, yes," she replied.

"Then why—why—" the man's voice vibrated with passion—"why can you never marry me, if there's no earthly reason to prevent it."

"Because," she answered in a tone of helpless despair, "I am the heroine in a woman's novel."

And as he realized the insuperability of the obstacle before them he glided softly into the forty-seventh chapter.

THE BRUTE.

"Well," said the cheerful wife, who thought she had a soprano voice, "if the worst comes to the worst, I could keep the wolf from the door by singing."

"I don't doubt that would do it," replied the husband, who had suffered much, "but suppose the wolf should happen to be deaf?"

TOO EFFUSIVE.

"Father, did not Mr. Blithers ask you for my hand last week?"

"He did."

"And I have not heard from him since. Did you insult him?"

"Me. Great Scott, no! I shook his hand, and told him I was highly pleased with your choice, as I was getting tired of working for my own living."

NO NAME GIVEN.

"Who's the author of the novel you are reading?"

"There is no name given."

"Due to modesty, I suppose?"

"No; fear I should call it."

NAPPING IN CHESS

"So, you don't care for chess?"

"Not much. It's annoying to be wakened every time you drop into a nice nap merely to be told that it is your move."

Norwood Against Church Union.

Norwood Register: The Presbyterian Committee on Church Union, at a sitting held last week, adopted a resolution declaring that while vote for organic union demands some definite action looking towards greater unity, the strong minority in opposition shows that organic union is not feasible at present. It recommends that the Union Committee be appointed to continue such negotiations as the General Assembly may order relating to unity of action with the Methodist and Congregational Churches in the hope that organic union may yet be consummated.

IRISH METHODISM AND HOME RULE.

What the Christian Advocate, of Belfast, calls "the greatest Methodist demonstration in points of size, influence importance and enthusiasm ever held in this country," was held in Belfast, Ireland, on March 14th, when representative Methodists from Cork, Dublin, Donegal, Fermanagh, and all parts of Ireland, gathered to voice their protest against Home Rule. The editor declares that the demonstration was not held in any spirit of defiance or intolerance, but was simply intended "to protest against a change of government which Methodism considers would be prejudicial to its best interests as a Church and most injurious to the welfare of the country." In commenting on the above the Christian Guardian says that there are about 62,000 Methodists in Ireland, and it was claimed by the speakers that the Methodist Home Rulers in Ireland could all be accommodated in an ordinary tramcar. Of course, this is speaking somewhat loosely, but Major F. H. Crawford declared that more than 95 per cent. of the Irish Methodists are opposed to Home Rule. It was pointed out that to-day, of the six men who stand at the head of the Irish Judiciary, no less than five are of the Roman Catholic faith, and that the influence of the priesthood was everywhere apparent. The monster demonstration seemed of one mind in regard to Home Rule, viz., that it meant Roman Catholic clerical domination. Are these Irish Methodists right or wrong? It is noteworthy that a monster Presbyterian demonstration has been held already and it voiced the same views, and the Church of Ireland is also to hold another great Anti-Home Rule demonstration. The movement seems to us to be too widespread and spontaneous to be wholly political, and it seems to express the deep-rooted Protestant distrust, not peculiar to Ireland, of the political activity of the Roman hierarchy. The fact that this distrust is found in every land where the hierarchy is working is significant of much. Rome ever aims to rule.

DEMANDS POLITICAL POWER.

The Catholic Register thinks that it is necessary for the welfare of the Roman Church to have temporal power restored to the Pope. It says: "A free Church in a free State, and even the American solution, under which the Church is neither persecuted nor favored, will not solve the Roman Question. The exercise of the supreme magisterium in matters of faith calls for complete political independence—in other words, for temporal power; and the Roman Question will never be settled so long as he who sits in the Chair of Peter is exposed to the vicissitudes of Italian politics."

If The Times were asked its opinion on the above, it would say that the Roman Question will remain a long time unsettled if it is compelled to wait for the restoration of the Roman Kingdom. The nations of Europe have undergone a change since the time when the Pope reigned over an empire. They would not again tolerate a continental meddler, who claims the right to "make and unmake Kings."

A CLOCKERS' CLUB .

They Want to See Only Genuine Records in the Annals

Track and field sport for the next season promises to be enlivened by the advent of a new clockers' club, the plans of which have been discussed by the men really interested in the welfare of athletics and who like to see only genuine records admitted on the athletic annals. The Junior Timers' Club is the title under which the organization will float its banner, and if the report is to be believed a man will have to possess certain qualifications before he is eligible for membership and all will have to undergo the most searching investigation. No man will be considered except one who has served a lengthy term in connection with active athletics in the capacity of clerk of the course, judge at the finish, scorer, inspector, or some one of the other duties wherein men acquire some knowledge of competition and its vital points.

It is understood that men with good eyesight only need apply for membership and those wearing glasses must satisfy by a test that their vision is good to discern the smoke of a pistol at 100 yards away or more. It is said that the watches to be sanctioned by the new club will be on the plan of those used for timing greyhound and whippet races, with the stop on the wheel. This is claimed to be the only class of watch which can render correct time for sprint races. Those behind the new move have it that the old style of watch with the stop and start worked from a lever was more or less of a toy and got up for amateur horsemen and others of that ilk who liked to see themselves around watch in hand, and be pointed out as official timers. In clocking a sprint of 100 yards these watches made the time a fifth of a second faster or perhaps two-fifths when in the hands of a beginner, and it will ever remain a mystery why this style of watch has been given the least credit in the timing of amateur sprint races.

THE COMING OLYMPIAD

Stadium in Sweden Much Smaller than the London Structure

The seating capacity in the new Stadium at the Sweden Olympiad is only 22,000, about a quarter of the extent of the arena used for the London games in 1908, but it must be borne in mind that the Swedish structure is to be permanently used for athletic displays, whereas the London arena has been used only once since 1908. Of the season tickets, about 2,500 are reserved for foreign sale, in the countries competing in the games. The seats reserved for the world's press reach the gigantic total of 500, of which Great Britain will be allotted 40. The stadium is easily accessible from all parts of Stockholm, the tram journey from the center of the city occupying only fifteen minutes. The officials have taken the hotelkeepers in hand and with a view to making things as comfortable for foreign visitors as possible, they have prepared a list of rooms available in the city besides those of the principal hotels. No person on their list is permitted to charge more than $2 a day, but, of course, the majority are letting at rates much lower than this.

The Swedes are taking the games very seriously, and if they do not annex a large share of the prizes it will not be through lack of training.

The Hebrews of Perth Amboy, N.J., are agitating to exclude the "Merchant of Venice" from the public school curriculum, on the ground that the character of Shylock is an evil reflection upon their race. How about such publications as Don Quixote, Othello, Macbeth, Pickwick Papers, Martin Chuzzlewitt, and hundreds of other works. Will they have to be expurgated to save the sensibilities of different nationalities. Pshaw! The idea is absurd!

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

A small block of the stock is offered for public subscription at 10c per share.

LAUGHS WITH JOY! NO MORE INDIGESTION

MONTREAL MAN SO ILL HE THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE OF STOMACH DISORDERS.

Just read what Mr. Larose says of the curative powers of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette St. Montreal, P.Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Successfully used for many years, mild and safe, 25c. per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

MANITOBA AND THE BAR.

In view of the discussion being carried on in the papers of Ontario regarding the abolishment of the bar, and the treating system, it is interesting to know what the Western portion of Canada thinks of these subjects. The Winnipeg Telegram, says, editorially:

Nothing in the public utterances of Hon. R. P. Roblin or Hon. George R. Coldwell can be taken to mean that treating in alcoholic liquors is either socially or morally a good thing. It might be a wrong manifestation of a right frame of mind, but so long as men continued to drink alcoholic liquors the treating system would survive.

That happens to be cold blooded, if to some people unpalatable truth. The objection to the treating habit is that by the genial instinct of conviviality it may drag men into the mire of habitual drunkenness. The objection is valid so far as it goes. With a predestined drunkard it may have this effect, and very likely does. But the drunkard is a lone and solitary drinker. In the gratification of his appetite and the indulgence of his vice he has lost the capacity of human intercourse and the desire to converse with his fellows. Such the treating habit may help to manufacture, but the instinct of treating, as Hon. Mr. Roblin said, is what distinguishes men from brutes.

One of the greatest authors who ever lived introduces one of the greatest books ever written by reference to this very custom, and his words are worth quoting because they illustrate exactly what Hon. Mr. Roblin and Hon. Mr. Coldwell meant. Note, he was speaking of the great literary treat he was bestowing upon the world:

> "I am not like those officious and importunate sots who, by force, outrage and violence, constrain an easy, good-natured fellow to quaff, carouse and spend whole days and nights in drinking. All honest tipplers, all honest gouty men, all such as are adry, coming to this little barrel of mine need not drink thereof and it please them not; but if they have a mind to it and that the wine prove agreeable to the taste of their worshipful worships, let them drink frankly, freely and boldly, without paying anything and welcome."

The manwho wrote that was treating the world to a great book and by no means used the terms in the actual sense of treating in bars. Yet he used that illustration as the most apt in reference to his beneficence to humanity. In the same way exactly, was the treating usage described by Messrs. Roblin and Coldwell. And how hideously has their attitude been distorted into a defence of "officious and importunate sots."

But to turn to the practical side of the question. The two ministers expressed their fear that the making of treating illegal would merely drive underground a practice better restrained by public regulation. Publicity is the chief steward of morality, secrecy the great stimulant of vice. And [illegible] being immanent in human nature and the habit of taking alcoholic drinks all-pervasive, surely it is better that it should be exercised under public control and supervision than where it would be carried on by sneaking from the law, and without the restriction of the statute.

This attack is in complete accord with the usual method of attack against the provincial government. It assumes connivance on the part of the authorities with customs which express the frailty of mankind and exalts itself as the sole custodian of virtue. It would make laws in order to enjoy the privilege of permitting its friends to break them, and attack laws well-enforced to which everybody gives a general consent, as accordant with what is possible. This sentiment, having procured a law, apparently thinks it has done its duty, forgetting that the customs of men are a thousand times stronger than law, and will be followed with the added vitiation of character that in practising them they are violating the institutions of the state.

Sir James Whitney, of Ontario, occupies precisely the same position as the governmental leaders of Manitoba. He desires to abolish the evils which the treating habit fosters, and would support any legislation calculated to serve that end."

Editorial Notes

The board elected by Mr. Borden to administer the new grain act is an excellent one. Each member is an expert in some branch of the grain business, and the information and experience they will bring to the successful working of the act will be invaluable. Professor Magill was appointed by the Liberal government to investigate the elevator and grain problems. During that time he made a close study of the question from every aspect, and the report he submitted to the government was very highly commended.

General Baden Powell's tour through the United States in connection with the Boy Scout movement has met with some opposition, and some objections were raised to the principle involved in the movement. But such trivial setbacks as the general has encountered, are more than recompensed by the following statement of John T. Sims, judge of the Wyandotte county juvenile court, who said quite recently: "Not one member of the Boy Scouts has been in the Wyandotte county court since I became judge some years ago. The Boy Scout movement is today the greatest aid of the juvenile court." These words were uttered at a meeting of the organization a few days ago at Kansas City.

DESPERATE FIGHT OF THE MOSLEMS

The "Holy War" Calls Out All The Fighting Qualities of The Merciless Turk.

In conntction with the desperate fight of the Turks against the Italians Europeans cannot understand the the fervid fanaticism that impels men of the East to battle for their religion without thought of pay, or hardships, and that courts death as a welcome and honoured achievement. The Djihad, or Holy War, is the Moslem's most formidable tactic to crush the enemy. In the first centuries the Christian Orient experienced its terrible sway on more than one occasion, and the Crusaders learned to dread it more than hunger and thirst and the direst privations of desert life. The Holy War is a merciless campaign, not for worldly possessions, not for territory, not even for Fatherland, but for the Islam religion, for the faith of the Prophet. It is a fight to the last drop of blood, a fight whose limit is the tomb, a fight waged with that savage fierceness and vehemence which know no bounds, no control, no restraining influence. Its passion and its enthusiasm are the wildfire of blind fanaticism.

The impassioned, merciless assault upon the enemy is, however, not the only duty of the Moslem during the Djihad. The traditional sayings of the Prophet enjoin the fulfillment of a number of other obligations no less sacred. One of these obligations is implicit obedience to the leader of the campaign, whoever he may be. All personal dislikes must cease, and complete harmony between the Emir or the Sheikh and the fighter must prevail. Another duty is patience and faithfulness and the determination to remain at the post to be defended to the very last beat of the pulse—if need be night after night without food without sleep.

One engaged in the Holy War must not think of his family left at home. A special "Hadisseh" provides that these are cared for and attended to in the most conscientious manner by the aged priests unable to join the warriors.

A saying of the Prophet, "war is only [illegible] successful if the movements of the army are kept secret from the enemy," shows that during Djihad the Moslem does not neglect the ordinary stratagems and tactics of war. Those who read Byzantine history will find that the great leaders of Moslem armies could always [illegible] with admirable skill and efficiency with the wiles and cunning of the early Roman warriors.

Everyone engaged in Holy War is called "Shehid" or martyr. To become a Shehid, however, the warrior must be fully conscious of the Djihad taking place for the benefit of the faith of Islam. A soldier falling in a simple battle is not a martyr, however much he might have suffered for his country. A Shehid refuses to accept payment, and scorns every attempt of making his lot easy. To him alone complete forgiveness of sin is granted in the world of houris. The Shehids who lose their lives or [illegible] sea are also released by Allah from all worldly debts, obligations and promises.

A Moslem warrior can obtain the crown of glory in the other world and also during an honourable retreat, if the latter is accomplished according to the regulations of holy war. The most important of these regulations is: "Retreat in order to gather forces for a renewed and more formidable onslaught; never otherwise."

There exists a "Hadisseh" which enjoins upon every tribe adhering to the tenets of Islam the necessity to always have a special, well-trained body of fighters ready at a moment's notice to follow the war-cry of Djihad. This accounts for the fact of the Italians in Tripoli having to meet such formidable masses of warriors almost immediately after invasion. It almost looked as if these masses were just waiting for the enemy to come in.

A Shehid who is prompted to war not by personal interests, but solely for the purpose of defending Allah and the faith of Islam, is promised that the eternal fire of hell will never reach his feet. He who shows unbending patience, integrity and equanimity of mind during Holy War will have respite from the tortures of the tomb.

To stimulate the Shehid in his sacred duties of sacrificing his life for his religion there exists a "Hadisseh" with a somewhat paradoxical meaning. It is to the following effect: "Thine enemy, O Faithful, during the Djihad is not thine enemy at all; he is thy friend, the best of thy benefactors, since it is he most of all who is helping thee to experience the ecstasies of martyrdom and the bliss of eternal life."

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Send us your order for Antegnolto today it may be to late tomorrow

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

BIG LIBEL ACTION

A Daughter of Father Chiniquy Begins an Action for $10,000.

An action claiming $10,000 damages has been commenced at Montreal against La Croix, a local weekly paper, by Rebecca Chiniquy, daughter of Rev. Father Chiniquy, the famous priest who left the Roman Church. The ground of the suit it that La Croix said Chiniquy's wife was only a concubine, and, therefore, his daughter illegitimate.

The declaration of the plaintiff states that she is the legitimate daughter of Charles Chiniquy and Euphemie Allard, who were married on the 13th of January, 1864, by Rev. Desrocher, a minister of the Protestant Church, at St. Anne's of Illinois, in the State of Illinois, according to the laws of said State of the American Union; that she is the legitimate wife of Joseph L. Morin, a professor of McGill University; that defendant published in his paper, La Croix, on the 16th of November last, an article in which it was said that Chiniquy, the apostle, could not be married, and that the woman who associated with him, namely, Euphemie Allard, was only a concubine; that the Chiniquy referred to in the article complained of is the legitimate father of plaintiff.

That before his marriage with the mother of plaintiff, Chiniquy had solemnly and officially repudiated the the Church of Rome on the 3rd day of August, 1858; that the Euphemie Allard referred to in the article is the legitimate mother of plaintiff; that the said article clearly and intentionally insinuates that plaintiff is of illegitimate birth; that said article was published with intent of insulting, and does insult, the memory of the father of the plaintiff.

The said article is also meant to throw discredit on the daughter of said Charles Chiniquy and Euphemie Allard, namely Dame Rebecca Chiniquy, the plaintiff; that said article is of a nature to injure plaintiff in her honor as well as in that of her father and mother, and injures her feelings, an dexposes her to the contempt and hatred of the inhabitants of the Province of Quebec.

KILLED THE LEPERS

Terrible Tragedy Reported Near the French Frontier in China.

The Mission to Lepers in India and the East is responsible for a tragic story of the massacre of a number of lepers in a district near the French frontier in China. According to this story a military commander of a district induced the lepers to assemble by the announcement that a distribution of rice would be made. A large number gathered, bringing with them many children. Arrived at the rendezvous, the lepers were surrounded by soldiers and shot down. Dead and wounded were then shovelled into a deep pit already prepared, and kerosene oil poured over them, the whole mass then being set on fire. A few who escaped were hunted down on the hills and killed.

ODD ANIMAL SHOT

Ring-Tailed Cat Wee Scrappy and Had to be Shot to Death.

Mr. Geo. Tovey, a young farmer near Perth succeeded in killing a very curious animal. It is somewhat larger than a common domestic cat, light gray in color and on its tail are a large number of dark rings. Its head and ears resemble those of a lynx. When approached it showed fight to such a degree that it had to be shot. Any authorities of this subject who have seen it believe it to be a member of the Ringtail cat family.

It's a small matter of taste whether you would rather have a cold cut from your best girl or a roast.

There are degrees of pride. Even the man with red hair hates to get bald.

NO PLACE FOR SINNERS

After living in a house for a week a Welsh collier took the key back to the agent.

"What's wrong?" demanded the agent. "Isn't the house good enough for you?"

"That's just it—it's too good."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, the wall is a-weeping for the sins of the roof, which, being jerry-built and teetotal, take nowt but water. Every[illegible]'s a non-abstainer, an', well, the [illegible] ain't no place for a hordinary sinner like me!"

WRONGLY DIAGNOSED

During those periodic spasms known as "mad-dog scares" everyone loses his head except the dog—and usually—his owner. A crowd had gathered at a street corner to watch a handsome fox-terrier that was running about with his nose in the air. White froth was issuing from the dog's mouth.

"He's mad!" yelled a fat man. The fox-terrier stood in the centre of the group, with wide-open eyes, either too mad or too frightened to move. At this juncture the policeman arrived. A dozen voices began to tell him the the dog was mad; that it must be killed; that it had been snapping at children; that it began to foam at the mouth when it passed a pool of water, and how best to shoot it.

A tall, quiet-looking woman pushed through the crowd and started toward the dog. A dozen men yelled at her two or three men grabbed at her. She picked up the dog and started out of the crowd.

The policeman stopped her with:—

"Madam, that dog is mad. He must be shot. Look at the foam coming out of his mouth."

"Foam!" she said, contemptuously. "That's a cream puff he was eating."

MUST PAY THE RENT GHOST OR NO GHOST

The Tenant Told The Court That Strange Noises at Night Had Wrecked Family's Nerves.

Rent must be paid in England, according to a court decision just rendered, even if you find that the house you have rented is haunted. A lady living in a house in South London was summoned to court by her landlord because she refused to pay rent alleging that the house was haunted by an old grey headed ghost who is in the habit of appearing at midnight carrying his head under his arm. The judge went into the matter very seriously and put a number of questions to the tenant who said: "We have tried all the rooms to sleep in but they are all alike. Noises at the head of the bedstead wake us up. One of my daughters had her face slapped and one night some brass balls were flung across the room. Feet patter up and down stairs, our dog whines and is very restless and last week he was let loose, the back door opened and the dog admitted to the house, by whom we do not know. We are obliged to light the gas and keep it on till daylight. I think we might stay if we could get some strangers to live with us. The people we have had here will not rest in the place. Our nerves are all unstrung and we cannot live in it any longer."

The judge declared that he felt the greatest sympathy with the lady but regretted that English law will not recognize the existence of ghosts, and rent must therefore be paid. There are hundreds of houses in all parts of England which have been empty for years because they have the reputation of being haunted.

KAISER IN BUSINESS

His Majesty is the owner of a [illegible] factory, where some of the finest [illegible] and earthenware work is turned out and which every year shows a profit which fully proves the business capabilities and insight of its proprietor. The Kaiser is never unwilling to influence business in his own direction when the opportunity occurs and, like a good business man, is always delighted when he pulls off a good deal. Recently a well-known establishment in Berlin, Kempinski's, [illegible] renovating their establishment decided to make a feature in one apartment of decorative tile work and placed a very large order for high class tiles with the Imperial factory at Cadinen. The Emperor was so pleased with this stroke of business that he has declared his intention of paying a personal visit to Kempinski's and convincing himself by inspection that his customer has every reason to be satisfied with the goods.

COMMERCE FOR GIRLS

Mlle. Malmanche for Her Work is Promoted to the Legion of Honor.

Promotions to the Legion of Honor are very rare among women. Attempts have been made by her admirers to obtain the distinction for Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, but the name of the great tragedienne is not yet added to the role.

However, in the list of recent promotions figures the name of a woman Mlle. Malmanche, who has been made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in consequence of her successful efforts in organizing commercial education for young girls. Through Mlle. Malmanche's endeavors girls have been able to receive a training which has enabled them to fill positions in banks, business firms and in the public service. She has opened up careers for poor girls, who up to 1870 could not enter offices. Mlle. Malmanche is, therefore regarded as a public benefactor, and worthy of the signal distinction which has been conferred upon her

POOR FELLOW

"The last agony," said a spendthrift to his dissipated companions, "is the way I felt this morning. My wife asked me for a ten-dollar bill, and I cut the matter short by telling her that it could not be done, for the simple reason that I had only a matter of five dollars in my pocket.

"'I knew you'd tell me that,' she said; 'and it's true, too.' And as I looked up in amazement, she added, 'I looked in your pockets last night. I've got the ten-dollar bill.'

"Fancy how I felt! But what could I do?"

FIRST MEETING PLACE.

Of Upper Canada Council Up For Sale at Kingston.

The little frame house on Queen street, next to St. Paul's Anglican Church, in which the first Council of Upper Canada met in 1793, has been put up for sale, and the Kingston Historical Society is being urged to purchase it at once for historical purposes.

LAYS CLAIM TO LAND.

Joseph Elzear Lapointe, of North Bay, is attempting to secure possession of land valued at $400,000, in the parish of Longue Pointe, the property of the Dominion Park Company. The land is the site of Montreal's largest pleasure resort. Lapointe claims that in 1840 the land was left by his grandfather to the religious authorities of the parish of Longue Pointe on condition that a monument be erected to his memory, and that certain masses be sung and certain religious ceremonies be performed for the good of his soul. These conditions, Lapointe claims, have not been carried out, and he is, therefore, taking action to secure possession of the land.

THE ROYAL ROBES

For the Durbar the King-Emperor wore a robe of imperial purple., a surcoat of purple, white satin breeches and silk stockings. He was decked with the collars of the Orders of the Garter and the Star of India, and also with the star of the former order. The Imperial crown consisted of a band of diamonds studded with large emeralds and sapphires, with rubies in the centre, and a cap of purple velvet turned up with ermine.

The Queen-Empress' dress was of white satin, embroidered with a design of roses, thistles and shamrocks, with a border of lotus flowers. The Star of India embroidered the front of her dress. Her Majesty's imperial robe was of purple velvet trimmed with ermine, and with a border of gold braid. She wore the orders of the Garter and the Star of India. Her ornaments were a diamond and emerald necklace and brooches.

CINNIBAR IN NEW ONTARIO

Discovery Made by Chief Commando of the Ojibways.

One of the most remarkable of Ontario's mineral discoveries has been made on the Groundhog River, six miles north of the Transcontinental River. This find is a rich deposit of cinnibar, which adds another to Ontario's many minerals. This cinnibar deposit was discovered by Chief Commando of the Objiways, for whom the lake in the Town of Cochrane is named. His knowledge of the ore was not what led him to the discovery, but the fact that the quicksilver, of which cinnibar is a sulphide salt, was found there in the free State. A quantity of the mercury was obtained by Commando, bottled and turned over to acquaintances, who have interested Toronto capitalists in the matter. The Indian was wise enough to first stake nine claims for himself. Cinnibar is approximately 86 per cent. mercury, which is worth from $38 to $40 a flask of 75 pounds. This deposit, if extensive as it is believed, will prove almost as good as the best mines of the North. Up to the present there has been practically no quicksilver produced in Canada, the bulk of the world's production coming from the States. It has been known for some time that a large deposit existed farther north, but it was too remote to be of interest. The proximity of this deposit to the railroad makes it of value, however.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN

The Site Can be Ascertained With Reasonable Accuracy

Few persons are aware that experts have long been of the opinion that the site of the Garden of Eden can actually be determined with a fair amount of accuracy. They maintain that it lies in Mesopotamia somewhere between Babylon and Bagdad. And there has just been set on foot a scheme for [illegible]ring the Garden of Eden.

The dist[illegible] at the present day almost a [illegible]. But there is abundant proof [illegible] it was once a fertile paradise. [illegible] the proposed restoration, which will take the form of a scientific restoration, is undertaken as much in the belief that it will prove a profitable commercial enterprise as for its religious association.

Under the direction of Sir John Jackson, an army of 3,000 workers has already started on the preliminary work, which consists of preparing the land for the canals and other waterways which will be fed by a series of gigantic damming operations of the ancient rivers of Tigris and Euphrates.

It is estimated that the scheme will cost about twenty millions sterling, which is being supplied by the Turkish Government. But it is expected that as soon as the work is completed, the restored Garden of Eden will be readily sold for thirty-eight millions; and there will be, in addition, all the industrial development and prosperity that follows upon successful colonization.

If this gigantic scheme is brought to a successful conclusion it is highly probable that there will be a stream of emigrants to Eden, just as there is at the present day to Canada and elsewhere.

TOUGH LUCK

"Waiter!"

"Yessir!"

"What is this?"

"Filet of sole, sir."

"Oh, well, I say, you might take it away with you, and bring me a nice tender portion of the upper part of the boot, with the buttons removed!"

Mrs. Argew:—"And I say it isn't!"

MOTHER OF TWELVE

Mrs. du Tremblay Dies at the Age of 103 Years.

Mrs. Villebon du Tremblay has passed away at Baie St. Paul, at the age of 103 years. She was the widow of Major du Tremblay, and was born in Ireland, her maiden name being Ann Nugent. She came to Canada from County Wexford when 11 years of age and was married at the age of 17. She was the mother of twelve children, eight of whom are still living.

LIQUID COUGH MIXTURES CAN'T CURE BRONCHITIS

BUT THE HEALING FUMES OF CATARRHOZONE, WHICH ARE BREATHED TO THE FURTHEST RECESSES OF THE BRONCHIAL TUBES, BEING QUICK RELIEF AND SURE CURE.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief, but will always cure permanently.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) WILLIAM RAGAN,
Brockville, Ont."

For absolute, permanent cure use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

IRISH PARLIAMENT AS IT SHOULD BE

John Redmond's Forecast Does Not Provide For Violent Scenes.

In a speech at Norwich, Mr. Redmond gave his forecast of an Irish Parliament in being. The assembly would include, he said, men of all creeds, professional men, representatives of science, art, and literature, precluded from serving at Westminster.

Those who were looking out for violent scenes—(laughter)—for extravagant language, or revolutionary proposals would be woefully disappointed. Their proceedings would be prosaic and humdrum in the last degree.

They would be engaged on the work of endeavoring to put their house in order in a quiet and businesslike manner, just as the new country councils in Ireland in the year 1898 addressed themselves to the work of country government.

There was the reform of the poor law, which was a system forced upon Ireland, and quite unsuited to her conditions and which, for the last seventy years had been rotten from top to bottom and extravagant, demoralising, and hateful. They in the Irish Parliament would not be talking about Dreadnoughts, or about entering into diplomatic relations with the Tsar of Russia or the Sultan of Turkey. (Laughter.)

Another question which a national Parliament would deal with was cheap means of transit. To manage 3,000 miles of railways in Ireland now there were 261 directors—(laughter)—and the principal manager of one of the English railways had told him that alone he could manage all the railways of Ireland and have two days a week for by-fishing for himself.

They in Ireland had the least progressive railways in Europe, prohibitive freights, and until something was done to deal with the Irish railways it was hopeless to expect a genuine industrial revival. Then primary and secondary education in Ireland was in a deplorable condition, and yet the Imperial Parliament could not deal with it, if for no other reason than because it had no time. Arterial drainage could not be attended to by the Imperial Parliament.

There were these and other things they wanted to discuss in an Irish Parliament, and could any sane Englishman say that the Empire would be in danger, or that the Protestant religion would be destroyed, if they in their own little local Parliament in Ireland were given the right of settling such questions for themselves?

"Mind you," he continued, "that is all we are asking, and that is all that Home Rule means. We declare that we are only asking for a local Parliament subject to the unimpaired supremacy of the Imperial Parliament for the transaction of purely Irish local affairs. We disclaim with ridicule the charge that we are separatists. What we are asking leaves you as strong, far stronger than you are to-day, to deal with any demand for separation in the future."

SEPARATE SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned will be received until 4.00 p.m., Tuesday, April 30th, 1912, for the supply of hardware, brushes, manilla rope, packing, paint and paint oil, hose, wire rope, oils and greases, steam pipe, chain and steam fittings for the departmental dredging plant.

Each tender must be sent in a separate envelope and endorsed "Tender for Hardware," "Tender for Brushes," etc., as the case may be.

Tenders will not be considered unless made upon forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for the amount mentioned in the tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 9, 1912.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is hal gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

A hopeful Toronto lady says that the feminine garment, aided by the law of necessity, will evolve before many years into some sort of trousers, because, she innocently adds, it will be so much easier to get around and far more comfortable. That comfort and convenience have anything to do with feminine garments is a new and startling idea.

Notwithstanding the tremendous inrush of people to the Western Provinces, according to Dun's Bulletin, there were no insolvencies reported in either Newfoundland or Manitoba during the first quarter of 1911, but this year there were 8 suspensions in the former Province for $130,540 and 19 in Manitoba, involving $119,256; the record is also affected by the addition to the list of Saskatchewan, where 19 failures occurred that supplied $110,490 of liabilities.

A Boy's Reason for Total Abstinence.—I abstain from alcoholic drinks because, if I would excel as a golfer, Gray says abstain; as a walker, Weston says, abstain; as an oarsman, Hanlan says, abstain; as a swimmer, Webb says, abstain; as an orator, Bright says, abstain; as a missionary, Livingstone says, abstain; as a doctor, Richardson says, abstain; as a preacher, Farrar says, abstain; asylums, prisons and warehouses repeat the cry, abstain.

ELECTRICITY FOR CHILDREN.

Were it not for the prestige of the discoverer and the well-known application of the same principle to the growth of plants even a high-geared imagination might balk at the statement of Professor Svante Arrhenius of Stockholm who announces that an almost miraculous impetus can be given to the mental and physical development of children by the use of high frequency, alternating currents of electricity.

Professor Arrhenius is the noted Swedish physicist who in 1904 was awarded the Nobel prize for his work in chemistry. His schoolroom experiments have been carefully conducted and there is no reason to believe that the remarkable results obtained have not been brought about by electrical influences.

Two similar groups of children were placed in rooms identical in every respect, except that unknown to pupils and teachers, one of the rooms was subjected constantly to alternating At the end of six months the children who had received the electrical current electrical currents of high frequency. showed in bodily growth and mental activity nearly twice the development of those who had not.

If the vigor of mind and body can be thus easily fostered, if tendencies toward disease can be so readily eradicated, if the constructive forces within us can be permitted to work unhampered, the superman may be the product of the next few generations instead of the mythical offspring of a distant millenium.

The Ontario Legislature, with commendable zeal, looking, not only after present conditions, but to coming generations of sturdy Canadians, has decided to retain rights in public lands. The following is an extract from a bill to be considered: "The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is hereby authorised to raise by way of loan a sum of money not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the purpose of purchasing the rights of licensees of timber limits in any lands heretofore or hereafter set apart as a Provincial Park or Forest Reserve, and for other purposes necessarily incidental thereto." The money to be borrowed for this purpose, will be on the basis of a forty years' loan at 4 per cent.

SLID DOWN CABLE FROM SKYSCRAPER

Toronto, April 10.—There is always something doing on the C.P.R. cloud scratcher to interest the crowd on the street at noon hour. To-day those gazing at the structure were amazed to see a man in an overcoat catch hold of a steel cable at the twelfth story and slide down it to the platform just above the fourth. He was followed by another, who did the trip in about ten seconds.

"All the fools are not dead yet," was the remark one heard passed to a former Peterborough politician.

He informed us that the deep snow and the intense cold of last winter, retarded lumbering operations to a considerable extent. There is still much snow in the woods, a quantity far above the average of former years. He therefore anticipated very high waters in the lakes and rivers to the north. Mr. Lean says a railroad to Apsley is badly needed, as several of the best citizens have gone to the west, where they will not be handicapped by lack of shipping facilities.

Won Places in Hexathlon Contest.

At the junior Canadian Hexathlon contest run off at the local Y.M.C.A. the following entries won places on the team for 1912, as follows, with their respective places given:

60 yard potato race—H. Hill, Cavanah, Huycke.

160 yard potato race—H. Hill, K. Routley, Smith.

Running high jump—H. Hill and K. Routley, tied; Cavanah.

Standing broad jump—Hill, Cavanah, Huycke.

Putting 8 lb. shot—Hill, Huycke, Cavanah.

Judge Barron's Daughter to Wed.

His Honor Judge Barron, of Stratford, who is well known here, and who is a brother-in-law of Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., announces the marriage of his youngest daughter, Mary Alice Augusta, to Mr. S. H. Gandier B.S.A. Guelph, son of the Rev. T. Gandier, Pelee Island. The marriage will take place the end of April.

Mr. Gibbs is Laid Up.

We regret to say that Mr. Gibbs, the Water street real estate agent is confined to bed with an attack of rheumatism. Mr. Gibbs, was at his office a few days ago, but seems to have caught another cold. His many friends will hope for a quick recovery.

CALLS IT A JOKE

That is a Winnipeg Paper's Reference to the Western League

The Winnipeg Free Press says "The Western Canada Baseball league was always more or less a joke organization, and as far as Winnipeg was concerned the fans could never take matters very seriously. To start with the circuit was by long odds too gigantic a proposition for any organization outside of a major league to attempt. The mileage was greater than the big leagues, and as the railway fare is higher here than in the States it meant that any profits that happened to be made at home, which did not happen very often, would be eaten up by railways fares on the long jaunt around the circuit. Last year they tried to get away from these long jumps by pairing off the teams and having them meet about 48 times or so during the season, but outside of Edmonton and Calgary this play proved a distinct failure, as in the case of Winnipeg and Brandon the latter team proved such a poor drawing card that the teams seldom played to more than a corporal's guard of thusiasts. Then, again, there was the slip-shod manner in which the league was run. There never was a man at the helm who was capable of handling the affairs of the organization in a manner which gave all the clubs entire satisfaction with the result that there was always wrangling of some kind. As an example of grown-up business men trying to conduct the affairs of a baseball league the course of the club owners of the organization has been about as edifying as a large man with gout and a red nose attempting the Grecian symbolical dance. But this does not make things any better for this year, and a few days ago it looked as if we were out of baseball for this season, but a last hope has arisen in the activity of some baseball people across the line to endeavor to resurrect the old Northern league, and it certainly would be a great boost for Winnipeg if such a thing went through. Duluth and Superior are anxious for the league, and if something can be done in a hurry it is possible that a real live organization will ge formed that will mean the uplifting of the American national pastime here once again."

CROKER AIDS ATHLETES

The Irishmen Are Given Privileges on His Estate

Richard Croker has come to the aid of a number of Irish athletes who have abandoned Phoenix Park as a practising ground. For quite a number of years a place known as the "Nine Acres" has been used by members of the Gaelic Athletic Association for sporting interests, but now they think they must find more congenial surroundings.

Sentiment, more than anything else, is the guiding spirit in their determination. Their "ground" is in the immediate vicinity of the spot where Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke were assassinated in 1882—a fact, in itself, sufficient to attract to the neighborhood quite a number of those who have no sympathy with the Gaelic movement or with anyone professing allegiance to it.

Efforts have been made from time to time to obliterate the actual scene of the tragedy, but without success, and, finding that each succeeding year only helps to attract more "undesirables," the Gaelic athletes determined to desert the "Nine Acres" and go elsewhere. On a new ground at "Glencairn" Croker's sporting estate, they will be free from the crowd to whom morbidity is more attractive than healthy sport. There will not be the same facilities for inviting all Ireland to see the athletic displays as there were in the park, but there will be sufficient room for the "boys" to wield the Camans to the delight of their friends, and to kick the ball under conditions which will be new to the majority of those who follow Gaelic sports in Ireland, especially to young athletes in the neighborhood of Dublin.

Montreal Must Pay $200.

President Barrow of the International League fined the Montreal club $200 for permitting the draft of the International league schedule to get out of its hands before it was officially released. The schedule was printed in two Montreal papers several weeks before the time set by the league. President Barrow says that he found out that Manager Lush gave out the schedule, but that Lush was ignorant of the fact that there was a penalty for doing so.

HER QUIET MAJESTY

Miss Answers Learns Something of the Queen's Taste

"Dressing like a queen" is a phrase usually suggesting an extravagantly gorgeous wardrobe. But in the case of Queen Mary the idea does not hold good. Miss Answers recently had an interesting chat with a member of the firm of Lucile, Ltd., London, and learned some interesting information about Queen Mary's taste in dress.

"In the matter of all four styles of dress—morning, afternoon, evening, and walking costume for country wear—her Majesty's taste lies in the direction of quiet simplicity," said Miss Answers' informant. "For morning wear, her dresses are usually tight-fitting tailor-made in style, and the material is generally tweed or cloth, in either case of fairly fine texture. The Queen prefers tight-fitting clothes of not too soft material, and her favorite color is certainly blue. Her morning costumes are sometimes of sapphire-blue, but all shades of that color are both becoming to, and favored by, her Majesty.

Simplicity the Keynote

"No, Queen Mary is not an admirer of the Peter Pan style of neckwear, and invariably wears a high collar.

"In the afternoon you will more often see Queen Mary dressed in pale mauve, or perhaps in white or pale blue. The material varies in accordance with the season of the year.

"For instance, in the summer she will wear crepe-de-Chine, fine voile, or a material composed of silk and cotton, with perhaps a lace jacket of clinging design.

"By the way, her Majesty shows a distinct partiality for embroidery, and will often favor brocade worked in graceful patterns.

"She dislikes the 'floppy' style, and even in full evening attire inclines towards a simplicity which is almost severe. This style of dress sets off her Majesty's figure to advantage, for, as many of her loyal subjects will have noticed, she is built on ideal lines—a slender waist, a full bust, low and gracefully-curved hips, and, above all, a perfectly-formed neck.

Her Favorite Colors

"For evening wear her Majesty is fond of satin, and in colors her choice is frequently a combination of black and white. The chief characteristics as regards the actual adornment of the Queen's evening costume are a few good diamonds or pearls, and a touch of blue somewhere about the dress. This may take the form of a bow of ribbon, possibly a sash or insertion.

"The Queen's hats are usually small; frequently they are toques, usually in dark colors, being of different shades of brown and grey. Sometimes a feather serves as sufficient trimming, or perhaps a small buckle.

"If the Queen wears a large hat, it is generally turned sharply up at one side, the Henri II. style of hat being very popular with her. On this style of hat feathers are usually worn.

"Quiet smartness is the keynote of the Queen's blouses. She is fond of chiffon material. Her belts are usually plain, and always match the costume. Her Majesty's gloves are generally white kid. Black is her favorite color in shoes and stockings.

"In private life, especially in the country, the quietness of her Majesty's dress is even intensified.

"It is a pleasure to make dresses for her Majesty," wound up our informant, "for she is always so thoughtful and considerate."

POWER OF DREAMS

An Irishman and a Scotsman once went travelling through a Western prairie. It happened that one afternoon they shot a single quail, which would do for breakfast for one of them on the following morning. Knowing that the bird was not enough for the two, they agreed to have it eaten by the one who should have the best dream during the night.

When they woke early in the morning the Irishman said to the Scotsman, "An' phwat did ye dr-ream, Sandy?"

"Well," answered the Scot, "I dreamed I saw a beautiful basket descend from Heaven, and then I got into it and was borne up to Paradise."

"And I dr-reamed," said the Irishman, "that I saw you going up, an' thought you wouldn't come back, an' so I got up and ate the quail."

A THRILLING SHOT

Old Joe was talking, as usual, for the edification of the company at the Swinging Sign, and football experiences became the theme.

"I shall never forget one final," said he. "We was drawn—one all—with about a minute to go, when I got the ball. Off I went, passing man after man, till I got within range, and then I paused. I can hear the crowd roaring now. 'Shoot, man! Shoot!' Drawing one foot well back, I let fly, and the yell that went up—oh!"—with a sigh of pain.

"Well, Joe; did you score?" asked one impatient listener.

"Score! It took the missus ten minutes to get the bed rail from between my toes!"

TIRED OF IT

"I propose to have a lot of company to dinner on Christmas Day."

"For sociability's sake?"

"Partly that, but mainly to see if we can't get rid of the turkey to the last shred."

IN AN AEROPLANE

The aviator's wife was taking her first trip with her husband in his airship.

"Wait a minute, Silas," she said; "I'm afraid we will have to go down again."

"What's wrong?" asked the husband.

"I believe I have dropped one of the pearl buttons off my jacket. I think I can see it glistening on the ground."

"Keep your seat, my dear," said the aviator; "that's Lake Windermere."

A FOREIGNER

A young man just returned from college was out cycling one day when suddenly he came to a steep gradient. While he was descending he lost control of his machine and was thrown. Two men came and found him lying on the ground. When asked how it happened, he replied:—

"Well, I came down that decline with the greatest velocity, and lost my central gravity and was precipitated on the hard macadamised road."

"Away, lad; let him alone," replied one of the men. "He's a foreigner."

THE DIFFERENCE

The young woman had spent a busy day. She had browbeaten fourteen sales-people, bullyragged a shop-walker, argued victoriously with a milliner, laid down the law to a modiste, nipped in the bud a taxi chauffeur's attempt to overcharge her, made a street-car conductor stop the car in the middle of a non-stop run for her, discharged her maid and engaged another, and otherwise refused to allow herself to be imposed upon. Yet she did not smile that evening when a young man begged:—

"Let me be your protector through life!"

To-Morrow's Splendid Concert

Don't forget the grand concert for to-morrow night, in the Grand Opera House, given by St. George's Choral Society, with a magnificent chorus of 70 voices. This will be one of the most artistic and pleasing musical treats held in Peterborough for years.

The Brigade's Saturday Run.

The fire brigade, with their usual promptitude answered a call on Saturday morning, when, from some unknown cause, the awning in front of Messrs. R. Fair & Company's dry goods store caught fire. The chemical was used and the damage will not cut a very big slice out of the insurance on the premises.

Brigadier Taylor at Temple.

Brigadier Charles Taylor, principal of the S.A. Training College, Toronto, visited the local Temple yesterday and Saturday evening. The Brigadier is an officer of long and varied experience, is a very clear and logical speaker, and his addresses were of a very instructive and helpful nature. All present profited by his speeches.

Of Interest to Local Golfers.

As our local golfers so often visit Lindsay, it may interest them to learn that the Lindsay Golf Club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year:—Hon. President, J. G. Edwards; President, Judge Harding; Vice-President, R. Kylie; Secretary, G. H. Matthie; Treasurer, Peter Kennedy; Green Committee, Messrs. R. Kylie, G. A. Little and Dr. Sutton.

How She Got Good Clothes.

Some two weeks ago, the bright little daughter of a Rochester, N.Y., merchant, doing business on a side street, in the Flower City, was asked by a friend. "How do you and Mamie (her sister) dress so well?" The child replied. "Pa advertises?" That's all, or nearly all.—Advertise your goods or property in the Daily and Weekly Times. Very shortly you will have the money banked and the other fellow will have the goods. Both will then be pleased.

Y.M.C.A. Canoe Company.

On Saturday night a spirited meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A., with about fifteen present to discuss plans for the coming season. Whilst the meeting was of an informal character, and election of officers postponed, all present seemed to take great interest in the proceedings. It seems that the canoe club will be "a go" from the start. The subject of a war-canoe was talked over, as was the subject of getting out lists to obtain a larger membership.

Another Good Player Secured.

Manager Templin of the local baseball club is still picking up players. Saturday's mail brought secretary Davidson the contract of a crack first baseman and outfielder in the person of J. Frank Dolan, of Wilmington, Del. Dolan is an experienced Class B. player, having been with the Holyoke team of the Connecticut League since 1905. He is a hard left-handed hitter whose records show that his lowest batting average in the Connecticut League was .274, while he has as high as .312.

Her Jaw Not Broken.

On Saturday evening a local citizen, at about 5 o'clock, rushed into the surgery of a Peterborough physician. The citizen, in a great state of excitement, roared "Hurry up, doctor, my wife has just had a fall and broken her jaw bone. The disciple of Esculapius, quickly grabbed up his instrument case and proceeded to the citizen's home. Here the wife was sitting on a chair, seemingly all right. She had fallen and sustained a slight bruise on the neck. Her jaw was not only not broken, but working overtime.

Valuable Horse Killed in Runaway.

Mr. M. Storey, the Chambers street livery keeper, was a heavy loser on Saturday afternoon, by reason of a runaway. It seems that as his driver was guiding his fine grey team down George street, one of the reins snapped. The team took fright and ran away. Just as they arrived in their wild flight, which caused pedestrians, particularly women with baby carriages, on George street, to scatter quickly, in front of Messrs. F. J. R. MacPherson's plumbing store, the team and the hack became divorced. The team ran blindly along, until in front of T. Moore's marble works, there they encountered a telegraph pole. One of the horses was thrown violently to the ground with a broken leg. The animal out of common humanity, as the case was beyond repair by veterinary science, was shot. Mr. Storey, in response to a Times' representative, put his loss at $250 at least, with no insurance.

Knox Church Anniversary.

The Times extends its respectful but hearty congratulations to Knox church on the event of their celebrating the 5th anniversary of the church's history. Knox church has progressed on a firm and conservative stride to its present enviable position in the community. Yesterday the choir rendered some fine selections, specially chosen and practised for the occasion. Rev. Thos. Mitchell, M.A., B.D., of London, Ont., preached at both services. Mr. Mitchell has one of the best congregations in London. His church is always filled and his work is an example to the church at large in its complete organization. Rev. A. Logan Geggie, well known by Peterborough audiences will be the speaker to-night. In addition to this talented speaker, Dr. Park, violinist, Miss Chambers, soloist, and Mr. R. F. Downey, with others will assist in presenting a most attractive musical program. Rev. Mr. Keith has reason to be proud of the splendid advancement his church has made.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the City of Peterborough intends after this notice has been posted up for one month in six of the most public places in the immediate neighborhood of that part of Townsend street between Park street and the Monaghan road in the said City of Peterborough, and published weekly for four successive weeks in The Morning Times, being a newspaper published in the City of Peterborough, to pass a By-law for stopping up that part of said Townsend street between the westerly limit of the Monaghan road, and authorizing the conveyance thereof when so stopped up to the Canadian General Electric Company (Limited) in exchange for a strip of land fifty feet in width, being the northerly fifty feet of Park Lot Number Seventeen in Township Lot Number Twelve in the Thirteenth Concession of the Township of North Monaghan, now in the City of Peterborough, which said strip of land is to be used as a Public highway in lieu of that part of said Townsend street so stopped up, and it is to be a continuation of and be known by the name of Wolfe street.

AND TAKE NOTICE that the said Council will at the meeting to be held on the 3rd day of June, 1912, hear in person or by Counsel or solicitor any one whose land might be prejudicially affected thereby, and who petitions to be heard.

Dated this 13th day of April, A.D., 1912.

City Solicitor.

"YOU OLD RASCAL"

One of the most amusing stories which the Hon. Lionel A. Tollemache tells in "Nuts and Chestnuts", is that entitled "The Wrong Envelope." Mr. M——, a missionary, shortly before leaving England, received two letters—one from Archbishop Tait asking him to dine, and the other from the secretary of a religious society, a very old friend, asking him to preach. He accepted the Archbishop's invitation, and at the same time wrote to the secretary, but put the letters into the wrong envelopes.

After the dinner at Lambeth the Archbishop said to him: "Mr. M——, do you always answer your dinner invitations in the same way?"

"I do not understand your Grace."

The letter, which was then shown the missionary, ran thus: "You old rascal! Why did you not ask me before? You know perfectly well that I shall be on the high seas on the day you name."

How many will you kiss tonight?

Are you prepared?

Will the sweet baby lips of your little ones taste stale tobacco on yours?

Or do you carry the breath purifying, teeth preserving, appetite sharpening, digestion aiding gum?

Don't forget. Make your kisses pleasant to give and to receive with this fragrant confection.

Buy it by the Box of any dealer. It costs less.

To be erected for the Government of the Dominion of Canada.
Terms of Competition.

SCULPTURAL COMPETITIVE designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa, Canada, to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(1) Competitive designs are invited for a monument to be erected to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(2) The memorial when completed, and in position is not to cost more than $35,000 including pedestal from the level of the ground.

(3) The competition is open to artists resident in the British Empire who are British subjects, and to artists British subjects by birth resident elsewhere.

(4) The site of the monument will be at a point on the Government property at Ottawa to be decided upon hereafter.

(5) Designs shall be in the form of sketch models in plaster made at a uniform scale of 1½ inches to the foot. A description of the design must accompany each model. No name, motto, or other distinctive device is to be attached to the model or description. The competitor must send his name in a sealed envelope without distinctive marks thereon.

(6) The author of the best design shall be awarded the commission of the work and the second best shall be awarded a prize of $1000.00.

(7) All communications regarding this competition shall be addressed to: The Secretary Public Works Department, Ottawa, Canada. All models to be addressed to: Mr. Eric Brown, Director of National Art Gallery, Ottawa, Canada.

(8) The designs must be delivered before the first day of October, 1912. They will be kept from public view until the award has been made. All expenses of delivering the sketch models and accompanying descriptions shall be paid by the competitors. Sketch models will, after the award, and at the expense of the Public Works Dept., be returned upon the request of the competitors, but at the risk of the competitors.

Notice of the award will be sent to each competitor.

The award will only be binding provided the successful competitor is prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence, with security if demanded, that he can execute the work for the sum above mentioned.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

PETERBOROUGH IS A REAL BIG CITY
- WHY? -
Because Peterborough has "NATURAL" power

That is why any wise man who has a little money to invest should grasp the last real opportunity presented in the great west to obtain an investment in the Peterborough of three immense provinces.

MEDICINE HAT

Think of the money that has been made in Peterborough, and even this city took quite a while to become 22,000. The western Peterborough has 6,000 now. Four new industries coming. Look at your news dispatches which tells of the voting on Friday, April 12th.

300,000

Bushel elevator for Ogilvies goes up in June beside the

3,000

Barrel a day flour mill. It all means that the man who obtains a little property right away will be ready to sell in a few months when the population is 10,000. There must be 2,000 more people in Medicine Hat before Sept. 1st than there is now to handle the work of the factories, and there must be another thousand to build homes for these people, for there is not to-day a house to rent in the city. I have done my part in telling you of the opportunity. Write at once and I will tell you further facts and help you to make money rapidly on investments in a city which is destined to be the only city in the west for industries and manufacturing expansion.

ANOTHER PROPOSITION FOR A REFUSE GROUND FOR THE CITY

I. D. M. MINNICOLLA OFFERS A LOT IN NORTH MONAGHAN.

City Property Committee Consider That Reeve Howden of North Monaghan Played Them False to Further His Own Interests. Say He Has Purchased the Jackson Property Himself, and Neglected to Notify his Township's Board of Health of the Conference With City Authorities Arranged for Last Night and Suggested by Himself.

The City's Property Committee met last night, chairman Alderman Duncan presiding. There were also present Aldermen Brown, Morgan, Graham.

North Monaghan's Board of Health were to have been present and confer with the committee re the purchase of some lot for a refuse ground for the city more agreeable to the township's ratepayers than the Jackson 10 acre property on which the city has an option for purchase at $1200. But no member of the township's Board of Health, excepting Mr. Carver, who saw notice of last night's meeting in the press. It appears that Reeve Howden of North Monaghan had not notified the township's Board of Health to meet the city's Property Committee last night. And further, the members of the property committee contend that Mr. Howden had arranged to purchase the Jackson lot himself, hence his failure to appear before the Committee last night, or to notify North Monaghan's Board of Health to attend. It was Reeve Howden's own proposition that the Property Committee and the township's Board of Health meet in conference last night on the question of this city purchasing a refuse ground in North Monaghan. And our Committee naturally felt sore at Reeve Howden's attitude in the matter.

The committee felt like retaliating on Reeve Howden by purchasing the Jackson property, the city's option of which expired at 12 o'clock last night; but in consideration of North Monaghan ratepayers, a deputation of whom protested against this lot last Friday evening, the committee decided to allow their option to lapse.

Another Lot.

I. D. M. Minnicolla offered for a city refuse ground parts of lots 29 and 30 in township lot 11, concession 11, North Monaghan, for the sum of $3,300, or $1,700 for lot 29 alone. Both these lots consist of about 10 acres; but on lot 29 there is a house; hence the apparently disproportionate division of price for the one lot. The city needs this house for the accommodation of the men who take care of the refuse ground.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the chairman and Ald. Brown examine into the desirability of the Minnicolla property for refuse ground purposes.—Carried.

The committee will only consider the purchase of one of these lots.

CHIEF ENGINEER BOWDEN INSPECTS THE RIVER FRONT

Mr. R. R. Bowden, Chief Engineer, Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, was in the city yesterday, and in company with Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., met Mayor Bradburn, and City Clerk Armstrong, when they discussed the proposed overhead bridge which is to be erected over the Otonabee River on Hunter street. With several other leading citizens they visited the present bridge and also the spur line on the bank of the river, along the front of which it is proposed to place a concrete face. The party also inspected the new wharf and the locks.

The Engineer subsequently met the Central Ontario Power Users' Association, represented by Messrs. E. G. Patterson, W. H. Denham, John Duignan, Dickson Davidson and W. H. Munroe, and paid a visit to the new power house and also dams Nos. Four and Five.

Mr. Bowden seemed much impressed with what he saw, and it is to be hoped that he will be disposed to recommend that the work contemplated will be assumed by the Government as a public necessity.

LANDLADY BROKEN UP OVER ARREST OF BEATTIE NESBITT

Chicago, April 15.—Dr. Nesbitt's laboratory was at 63rd street and Ellis avenue, close to where he roomed, at the home of Mrs. Mary Cobert 6252 Dexel boulevard. Mrs. Cobert said that the doctor came to her house more than a year ago, and she had nothing but the kindest words to say of him. He usually went to bed very early and got up at 5 o'clock in the morning and went out. His office was nearby, and he was good pay, and conducted himself in an exemplary manner.

She knew him as an inventor named F. Clark, and was much taken with his distinguished appearance and bearing, and the manner in which he minded his own business. She is quite broken up over her lodger's misfortune. Other occupants of the house all speak well of him. He kept much to himself, and they thought he was inventing and did not like to be bothered.

CAT SAVES LIFE FROM FIRE

Animals Cries Awakens Family In Time for Their Escape.

Boston, Mass., April 15. FROM the pitiful cries of their domestic tabby, the family of John Borzarkian, who found that there fruit store and home at 722 Massachusetts avenue Cambridge, was on fire, and undoubtedly the cat saved the lives of both Borzarkian and Sarah Cadian, who works in the store and rooms at the house.

The cat calls came early yesterday morning, and Borzarkian found that his store on the first floor was doomed and that the flames were shooting through the floor of the tenement.

By the time the fire department had arrived Sarah Cadian was overcome by smoke and fear. Ladderman McArthur of ladder 2 found her on the floor of her room after he had broken in the window and with the assistance of Capt McNamee carried her down the ladder. She was taken to the Cambridge Relief Hospital, but is not considered in a dangerous condition.

The store and tenement were both badly damaged and the loss is probably over $1000. The property is situated near the Prospect Union building and is owned by Dr. A. P. Norris.

OBITUARY

Miles B. Lake.

Yesterday morning a well known barber of this city, Mr Miles B. Lake passed away at his residence, 346 McDonell street. The deceased, who was a member of Knox church, has been ill for some time, his death being due to tuberculosis. He leaves a widow to mourn his loss. The deceased was 34 years of age. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the family residence, at 3.30 and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

William George Rundle.

One of the best known men doing business on George street, in the person of Mr. William George Rundle, passed away at an early hour yesterday morning. Mr. Rundle had been in Nicholls Hospital for the past two weeks. The deceased, who was born in England, lived in Halifax, when he settled in Peterborough, where he carried on a successful tobacco and barber shop, on George street. He was a member of the Masonic Order and in religion, an Anglican. During his stay in Peterborough he had made many friends, and was highly respected.

The late Mr. Rundle is survived by a wife, and four children, namely, Julia, Myles, Albert and Willie. One sister and two half brothers also lament his passing.

Picked Up 20 Boat Loads

Cape Race, N.F., April 15.—A wireless message received here from the Allan Line steamer Parisian, says the Cunard Liner Carpathia is in attendance upon the disabled liner Titanic, and has picked up twenty boat loads of the Titanic's passengers.

ALL ON BOARD SAFE!

New York, April 15.—10.30 a.m.—Mr. Franklin, vice-president of International Merchant Line, highest official of White Star Line, authorized the following statement:

"No alarm for Titanic's passengers.

"P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the International Mercantile Marine Company, said this morning that while no direct message from the Titanic had been received at the office, the officials were perfectly satisfied that there was no cause for alarm regarding the safety of the passengers or the ship, as they regarded the Titanic as being practically unsinkable. They do not regard the cessation of the ship's wireless message as denoting anything serious, as this might have been caused by atmospheric disturbances or other causes. The Titanic is well able to withstand almost any exterior damage and could keep afloat indefinitely after being struck.

OLYMPIC IN COMMUNICATION.

"The Titanic is now in latitude 41.46 north, and longtitude 50.14 west. She is being approached from the west by the Olympic, of the White Star Line, which they figure will be alongside by 8 p.m. to-day. The Baltic of the same line, which was east of the Titanic on its way to Europe, has turned back and will probably be alongside the Titanic by 4 p.m. to-day. The Virginian of the Allan Line, eastward bound, is reported as rapidly approaching and should be on the spot by 10 o'clock this morning.

"The Olympic has just been reported as having been in direct communication by wireless with the Titanic.

"Mr. Franklin was most emphatic in his assurances regarding the safety of the passengers and the steamer.

Mr. Franklin said that he had computed the time mentioned in the foregoing statement by Atlantic time, which is one hour ahead of Eastern time.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

THE TIMES ON ROMANISM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I read a bright, well-written article in your issue of Saturday. In this your editor showed conclusively that The Times bears no hostility to the Church of Rome or its adherents. I have followed pretty carefully the articles in your paper on that subject. As far as I have been able to see, each and every article in The Times, concerning the Church has been written in a broad-minded Canadian spirit. I cannot see that you attack that creed, but simply demand that all creeds have equal privileges, and favor shown to none. I would respectfully congratulate and advise you to continue along the same line of argument in such matters. As much good would result to Roman Catholics as to Protestants.

Protestant.

SMOKING ROOM FOR LIBRARY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see that the management of the Lindsay Public Library has adopted avery sensible suggestion made them. They have added a reading room in the basement of their library a reading and smoking room With all due deference to the minority of men, especially of literary men who do not smoke, there is no gainsaying the fact that the average reading man enjoys his reading-matter better, his thoughts spring more actively from his train, and his literary productions are brighter under the soothing and stimulating effects of the "herba niccotina," or, in plain English, with his well seasoned briar-root pipe in his mouth. Why should not our fine local building have such an adjunct. As things are now, a smoker, and I venture to say he is in the majority of the patrons of the Public Library, must sit, pipe in pocket, whilst perusing his favorite papers or magazines. His thoughts often wander from the subject in hand, to the moment that a fist full of tobacco, a pipe, a match and a long suffering man that, on leaving the library will make a contented quartette. Why not a happier quintette by having a smoking room in connection?

Smoker.

ALL PASSENGERS ABOARD TO REACH CANADA TO-DAY

Montreal, April 15.—Wireless despatches up to noon to-day showed that the passengers of the monster White Star Liner Titanic, which struck an iceberg off Newfoundland last night, were being transferred aboard the steamer Carpathia, a Cunarder, which left New York April 13 for Naples.

Already 20 boat loads of the Titanic's passengers have been transferred aboard the Carpathia and allowing 40 to 60 people as the capacity of each lifeboat some 800 or 1,200 people have already been transferred from the damaged liner to the Carpathia.

Another liner, the Parisian of the Allan Company, which sailed from Glasgow for Halifax on April 6th, is already close at hand and assisting in the work of rescue.

Three Others Near at Hand.

The Baltic and Virginian are also near the scene, and the Olympic is apparently near at hand, as the wireless information concerning the transfer comes from Captain Haddock, of the Olympic.

The latest reports indicate that the transference of passengers is being carried on successfully and safely. The sea is smooth and the weather calm. It is probable that all the passengers of the Titanic are safe.

Reported Sailing for Halifax.

While badly damaged the Titanic is still afloat and is reported to be making her way toward Halifax under her own steam.

The accident occurred at 10.25 last night at a point about 400 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland, and about 1,100 miles east of New York.

The Titanic is the largest steamer ever built. She is 882 feet long and has 46,328 tons displacement. She was launched last May and this was her maiden trip.

BEATTIE NESBITT CONFIDENT HE WILL BE EXONERATED

Chicago, April 15.—Sitting and standing behind a grill so closely netted that it was impossible to pass even a cigar through, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt conversed for an hour with a Canadian reporter this morning. The interview took place on the eighth floor of the Cook County Jail in what is known as the hospital ward. At the time Dr. Nesbitt was the sole occupant, except for a pigeon which flew through the bars at one of the open windows, remained a minute and flew out again.

The jail is situated only a stone's throw or so from the Chicago Theatre district and is one of the most interesting in the States. It was there less than two months ago that five murderers were hanged on the same day. At present it houses over a thousand prisoners and seventy of them are awaiting trial on charges of murder.

Bitter Over Arrest.

Dr. Nesbitt seemed to be in better health and was undoubtedly in far better humor than when seen on Saturday afternoon. He admitted that he was then feeling pretty shaky as he had not slept a minute the night following his arrest.

On the arrest, itself, he feels rather bitter, as he characterizes the method by which he was prevented from consulting his counsel, W. K. Pattison, a former St. Catharines man, as worse than any in Russia.

Had Many "Hunches."

One of the first things that Dr. Nesbitt told was that he had all but escaped arrest the day he was taken into custody. "I have had a number of hunches during the past year that something was about to happen and until Thursday last, I always paid attention to them," he said. "That day, something seemed to tell me to be on my guard, and I had all but made up my mind that I would leave town with Mr. Pattison, and afterwards went out to Hyde Park, where I lived, intending to pack a grip. Instead of doing that I went over to where Morris and I were working on the exhibit, and I became so interested in it that I forgot all about my "hunch," with the result that I was caught. If I had paid attention to it I would have still been a free man. You see that while I wasn't at all anxious to be arrested, I didn't really do much to prevent it.

CANADIANS ALL COMMEND THE HOME RULE BILL

London, April 15.—Mr. John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists has received the following messages:

From Judge Doherty: "Congratulations. The bill promises a happy conciliation of Ireland's rights and of Imperial interests."

Hon. Mr. Devlin, Que.: "Everybody delighted with the measure proposed General opinion here that Ireland should enthusiastically accept the settlement.

Mayor Geurin, of Montreal: "Congratulations to the Government and the Nationalist party. The Irish bill is enthusiastically received here. It will tighten the bonds of Empire and convert the Irish-American antagonism into sympathy and good will."

Hon. A. E. McPhillips, K.C., Victoria, B.C.: "Home Rule bill eminently fair to all interests. It presages unification of Empire."

Sir Thomas Endorses.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy: "Not being in public life my expressions must be accepted as an individual British citizen who is earnestly concerned in everything calculated to promote progress and prosperity in every section of the Empire. To one who has never lived that kind of atmosphere the animosities and prejudices that have with varying degrees of intensity divided the Irish people for many generations are past understanding. Surely the time has come when in the interests of the whole nation they should be eradicated. The proposed bill will I am sure go far towards accomplishing this? It is framed on the lines I have always thought reasonable and practical and I confidently believe when the measure has had reasonable trial, England, Scotland and Wales will demand like control of their own local affairs, leaving to the Imperial Parliament the really big legislation incidental to His Majesty's dominions throughout the world."

Some Protestants Back Bill.

Regarding the foregoing messages, Unionist papers point out they have been issued from the Government Whip's office. Therefore it is needless to say they are all favorable to Home Rule. Though the terms of the bill are yet unpublished, the Home Rule Council has issued sixty favorable messages from Irish Protestants.

KEY PLAN OF WAINWRIGHT ALTA
SHOWING TRUE LOCATION OF ALL PROPERTIES OFFERED FOR SALE

We hold a large block of inside business property and picked residential locations at South Wainwright immediately south of the Grand Trunk Pacific yards, station and shops. Remember, Wainwright is the most important divisional point on the G.T.P. line between Winnipeg and Edmonton — and within the HALF MILE CIRCLE that embraces the present town. These lots are situated for to-morrow, and will, we predict, become the most valuable properties in Wainwright when this city begins to get its growth These lots are from one-half to one mile closer in than other subdivision property now on the market at Wainwright.

Wainwright is only three years old. The railway development here has only begun. The next two years will see thousands of new residents at Wainwright.

Wainwright, Alberta, is the central divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in Alberta. It is an important junction point also. It is the trading centre of one of the richest agricultural districts of the west. It is to-day the second largest point of original live stock shipments in the Province, exceeded only by Calgary.

Wainwright is famous as the home of Canada's National Buffalo Herd, the largest herd of buffalo in the world, maintained in the National Buffalo Park by the Canadian Government. The presence of this park and its herd of buffalo will make Wainwright one of the meccas of Canada's annual tourist traffic, and will contribute to the prosperity of Wainwright.

We give notice that on April 15th, the prices of all unsold property in South Wainwright will be advanced 25 to 50 per cent. Until April 15th, prices are: $75, $100, $125, $150 and $175 per lot, depending upon location. Business and trackage lots are $125 to $175, residential lots $75 and $100. Cash payment one-quarter; balance $7.50 monthly.

OUR GUARANTEE—We agree to deliver Torrens Title upon completion of payments. We agree to carry interest and pay taxes upon all property until title is delivered. We further agree to buy back, upon demand, after two years, any lot purchased from us in South Wainwright, refunding the full purchase price, with interest added at the rate of 6 per cent.

INCREASING THE HEIGHT

The Proper Exercise for the Would-be Slim and Tall

Fashion is doing a good thing for womanhood by dictating that the ideal figure must be slim and tall. The point is that Fashion here sets an ideal something which anyone can strive to attain, and in attaining this ideal the general health is bound to be improved. Of course, the really stocky, five-foot-nothing girl cannot hope to convert herself into a willowy Juno of statuesque proportions by any exercises. She can, however, if she has not passed the growing age—that is, up to twenty-five—add at least a little to her stature, and a great deal to her symmetry and grace.

Walking is the best means of adding an inch or two to the stature of the young woman in her teens who fears she is going to be undersized. Remember, though, that the walking must be done regularly and correctly. If your digestion will allow it, try walking before breakfast, when all the joints are supple and loose after their night's rest. Hold the chin up, the shoulders back, the chest out, and the abdomen in. Walk briskly, from the hips, not the knees, swing the arms as you go, and rise on the ball of the foot with each step. Try a ten-minute walk the first day, and gradually increase it up to half an hour. When you get back to breakfast that feeling of boredom and lack of interest with which one usually views the morning meal will have been replaced by a hearty appetite, which will allow you to digest and enjoy all manner of nourishing and body-building foods.

This mere difference between a very skimpy morning meal, quite unrelished, and a hearty breakfast, thoroughly enjoyed, will be the first step towards your goal, a more rapid laying down of new bone tissue.

Exercise of the joints leads to a more rapid growth. The following movement not only exercises the hip-joints, but also every single one of the little discs of bone which makes up the spinal column, and therefore it is most valuable in increasing the height.

In the morning, when you are half dressed, with only a few loose garments on, stand with feet together and the arms straight out in front of you, palms downward with the thumbs touching. Holding the head up and keeping the arms perfectly straight, slowly raise them until they are straight above the head. Then, bending from the hips alone as much as possible, slowly sweep the arms downwards until the fingers almost touch the toes. Then gradually rise up again into the first position. The movement must be slow and gradual, and the knees must be kept perfectly stiff.

At the start, this movement, which will be found very tiring, should be done only two or three times. Later, as the back becomes more supple, increase the number and the amount of bending until you can put your palms flat on the floor without bending the knees.

A few minutes of this exercise, combined with a brisk daily walk before breakfast, will have a sufficiently stimulating effect both on the growing ends of the leg-bones and on the small bones of the spine to increase one's rate of growth up to the highest possible maximum Nature will allow for any particular individual.

A USEFUL FORK

Has Attachment for Pushing Things Off the Tines

A fork with an attachment for removing things that may be stuck on the tines has been devised by an Illinois man. The attachment consists of a piece of wire wound around the tines and doubled upon itself to form a long shaft that runs up the handle of the fork. By pushing this device down the wires scrape off anything that may be clinging to the points of the fork. Only the cook will appreciate the usefulness of this implement, but there are many occasions in the kitchen when it will come in handy. For instance, in transferring a piece of meat from the dish to the pan, or vice versa, the clean cook does not touch the meat with her hands but lifts it with a fork. Sometimes it sticks to the fork and then the attachment here shown comes in handy, as it can be pushed off without looking around for some other implement.

Quickly-Made Soup

If you want soup in a hurry, try this plan. Put into a saucepan one pound of shin of beef, two ounces of bacon, a carrot and an onion, all cut in small pieces. Add three tablespoonfuls of water, put the lid on the saucepan, and let the meat simmer until it begins to stick to the pan, which will be in about a quarter of an hour. Then pour in a pint of boiling water, and simmer again for three-quarters of an hour. Strain through a sieve, pressing the meat with a wooden spoon; boil up again, and serve with squares of toasted bread. The meat may be used again for soup.

Her Jaw Not Broken.

On Saturday evening a local citizen, at about 5 o'clock, rushed into the surgery of a Peterborough physician. The citizen, in a great state of excitement, roared "Hurry up, doctor, my wife has just had a fall and broken her jaw bone. The disciple of Esculapius, quickly grabbed up his instrument case and proceeded to the citizen's home. Here the wife was sitting on a chair, seemingly all right. She had fallen and sustained a slight bruise on the neck. Her jaw was not only not broken, but working overtime.

CHANGED ITS COLOR

Peculiar Phenomenon Observed After a Horse's Illness

Sometimes a horse, after an illness, turns a different color. A lady in France, who possessed a splendid sorrel horse, found, on its recovery from typhoid fever, that its sparse hair grew an intense black. A young black horse trained for the race-course in England, was taken ill, put out to pasture, and doctored for some time. It ultimately recovered and was as well as ever, but its shining black coat had become an unusually sparkling red. A young lady in this country at sixteen possessed a chestnut horse, went away to boarding-school, and, on her return, found that the color of her horse was changing, as she called it, "like a regular checker-board," with no definite illness to account for it.

Veterinary surgeons give all sorts of explanations for the changes of color observed in the hair of the horse. One, at the Pasteur Institute in Paris, has announced his opinion that the coloring-matter is affected by little changes in some minute and mysterious organs in the abdomen, answering to the suprarenal capsules. When these are affected, the horse undergoes some developmental change the nature of which is not yet precisely understood.

The same thing, to some extent, is noticed in the skin of man. Cobalt mines seem to affect workers, to tint their complexions and to change the color of their hair, and this also happens in factories where dyestuffs are handled, the hair of such men and women often taking on a distinct bluish tint. Braziers and coppersmelters now and then find their beards and moustaches turning green.

BASEBALL TRAINING

Drinking Booze Bane of the Player—Other Habits to be Corrected

How to become a big league ball player?

Well, the less you remember about the game the better off you'll be. What we want to teach you when you try for the Giants is the game and how to play it says Muggsy McGraw.

If you have speed in your legs, in your arms, if you are physically strong; know human nature, don't drink or keep late hours, don't use tobacco, you'll make ball player.

When I send my scouts to look for material the last thing I say to them is; "Get the men with the physical qualifications and I'll make the players out of them."

Some of the best ball-playing material is found in the small towns. By this I do not mean brilliance, but ability. I would rather have a steady player than one who takes spurts and plays to the grandstand. A player recruited from a college or high school usually thinks he knows enough about the game already and needs no further tutoring. The country boy, as a rule, wants to learn and is willing to be taught. However, college men often make good players.

Drink is the bane of baseball. It has ruined some of the best players—Bugs Raymond, for instance. There is the best man that ever donned a suit. Drink ruined him. When I heard Bugs was drinking I put a detective on his trail. He made daily reports. His first report was that Bugs drank twenty-four glasses of beer before dinner. fined Bugs $100. The next day Bugs drank twenty-six glasses of beer. I fined him another $100.

Then Bugs came to me and said: "I'm getting so much in debt to you that it won't pay me to play ball." He quit. And so on down the line of other players who have drank themselves to ruin. However, sometimes when a player is getting "stale" I give a little ale after his meals. Smoking is also bad for the wind.

Another trouble we have with players is drinking water on the field. This is what we call the "water hag-it." Drinking water while playing makes a man bulky and may result in cramps. If a player gargles his mouth while playing it really does him as much good, if not more, than to swallow it.

I advise my players to eat only two meals a day, and never to eat lunch. I have not eaten lunch in ten years, even during the winter months. If one must eat, it should be a sandwish or light lunch before playing; a hearty dinner might result in cramps the same as drinking water.

I ma not in favor of this winter training. The less training a player does in winter the better off he will be for the season's work. I'm not in favor of indoor training of any kind. This is where the country boy has the advantage. He works in the open air and can stand harder work than the city boy. If one must have winter exercise, play handball for the wind. However, if possible, running should be practiced on the roads.

Another Good Player Secured.

Manager Tamplin of the local baseball club is still picking up players. Saturday's mail brought secretary Davidson the contract of a crack first baseman and outfielder in the person of J. Frank Dolan, of Wilmington, Del. Dolan is an experienced Class B. player, having been with the Holyoke team of the Connecticut League since 1905. He is a hard left-handed hitter whose records show that his lowest batting average in the Connecticut League was .274, while he has as high as .312.

Montreal Must Pay $200.

President Barrow of the International League fined the Montreal club $200 for permitting the draft of the International league schedule to get out of its hands before it was officially released. The schedule was printed in two Montreal papers several weeks before the time set by the league. President Barrow says that he found out that Manager Lush gave out the schedule, but that Lush was ignorant of the fact that there was a penalty for doing so.

The board elected by Mr. Borden to administer the new grain act is an excellent one. Each member is an expert in some branch of the grain business, and the information and experience they will bring to the successful working of the act will be invaluable. Professor Magill was appointed by the Liberal government to investigate the elevator and grain problems. During that time he made a close study of the question from every aspect, and the report he submitted to the government was very highly commended.

General Baden Powell's tour through the United States in connection with the Boy Scout movement has met with some opposition, and some objections were raised to the principle involved in the movement. But such trivial setbacks as the general has encountered, are more than recompensed by the following statement of John T. Sims, judge of the Wyandotte county juvenile court, who said quite recently: "Not one member of the Boy Scouts has been in the Wyandotte county court since I became judge some years ago. The Boy Scout movement is today the greatest aid of the juvenile court." These words were uttered at a meeting of the organization a few days ago at Kansas City.

Valuable Horse Killed in Runaway.

Mr. M. Storey, the Chambers street livery keeper, was a heavy loser on Saturday afternoon, by reason of a runaway. It seems that as his driver was guiding his fine grey team down George street, one of the reins snapped. The team took fright and ran away. Just as they arrived in their wild flight, which caused pedestrians, particularly women with baby carriages, on George street, to scatter quickly, in front of Messrs. F. J. R. MacPherson's plumbing store, the team and the hack became divorced. The team ran blindly along, until in front of T. Moore's marble works, there they encountered a telegraph pole. One of the horses was thrown violently to the ground with a broken leg. The animal out of common humanity, as the case was beyond repair by veterinary science, was shot. Mr. Storey, in response to a Times' representative, put his loss at $250 at least, with no insurance.

Y.M.C.A. Canoe Company.

On Saturday night a spirited meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A., with about fifteen present to discuss plans for the coming season. Whilst the meeting was of an informal character, and election of officers postponed, all present seemed to take great interest in the proceedings. It seems that the canoe club will be "a go" from the start. The subject of a war-canoe was talked over, as was the subject of getting out lists to obtain a larger membership.

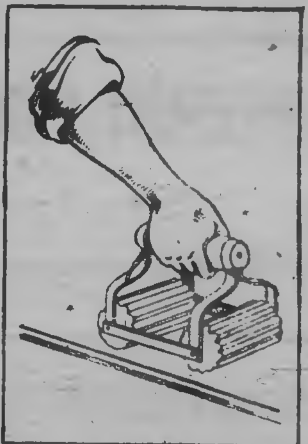
WHY HIS TITLE IS DUKE, NOT PRINCE

Some misconception appears to prevail in some quarters as to why the Governor-General is called Duke of Connaught when, as a son of Queen Victoria, he was born a Prince of the Blood Royal. The explanation is as follows: All the Sovereign's children, and all their children (unless they themselves marry below Royal rank) are, of course, born Princes and Princesses. But the title of Prince or Princess is merely what is known as a courtesy title and carries with it no principality or kingdom—except, indeed, in the case of the Prince of Wales. Accordingly it has always been the custom of the Sovereigns of England to confer on their sons the title of Duke—which is the highest in the Peerage—in order to give them the right to sit and vote in Parliament, although, as a matter of fact, this is a right which they now seldom exercise. Three of Queen Victoria's sons drew their titles from the four countries of the United Kingdom. The eldest, who was Prince of Wales, also bore the English title of Duke of Cornwall. The second was created Duke of Edinburgh, in compliment to Scotland. And the third (our Governor-General), was made Duke of Connaught, as a mark of honor to Ireland, for which same reason he was also christened, among other names, Patrick. And thus it is he is known as the Duke of Connaught rather than as a Prince. The titles of Prince Arthur and Princess Patricia, the Duke's son and daughter, are titles of courtesy.

HAND WASHER FOR LINENS

Wooden Rollers Work Soap Suds in Fabric Without Damage

The washing of linen fabrics without injuring them is not so easy as some people think. To get the soap suds properly into the goods some vigorous rubbing is required, and whether a brush or only the hands are used there is apt to be damage. A Frenchman has designed a little apparatus that is said to solve the problem admirably. This is a pair of grooved wooden rollers set into a metal frame, with a handle at the top. The linen is first thoroughly soaked in soapy water and is then placed on an inclined board. The washer is then rolled over the fabric with not too much pressure but just enough to work the soap suds into the goods. This operation distributes the pressure evenly and smoothly and prevents undue strain on any one part of the fabric.



HIS WIFE'S BIRTHDAY

Poor Jones was in a dilemma. It was Mrs. Jones's birthday, and her spouse was well aware that she would be extremely unpleasant if no present was forthcoming. It was not until the morning when he awoke that he remembered it, so he lay for some time thinking of the best way out of the difficulty.

Then he arose, crept downstairs, took the biggest plate he could find from the china-cupboard, and placed it on the hall table. This done, he opened the back door and let the dog in from the yard. Then, tripping lightly upstairs, he called to Mrs. J.: "This being your birthday, I have prepared a little surprise for you; be quick and come and see how you like it."

Then he ran downstairs again and, kicking out the dog, cried in amazement and wrath, "If that vile beast hasn't eaten the whole of the beautiful cake I had bought for you!"

But he'd forgotten to unmuzzle the brute, and that fact took a lot of explaining away.

TAKING WAYS

He met her on the crowded shore. She said, 'Have we met before?' And soon he was enraptured for, she had such taking ways.

He played the role of gallant beau; escorted her all o'er the show; it was expensive, but, you know, she had such taking ways.

With charming disregard for price, he paid for oysters, stout, and ice; and, oh! he thought her awfully nice, she had such taking ways.

Her face to his he gently drew, and vowed for ever he'd be true; it broke her heart to bid adieu, she had such taking ways.

But next day gestures quite insane accompanied angry words profane; for she had pinched his watch and chain, she had such "taking" ways.

WEST TO EAST

"An' where is it ye are goin' this time, Will avick?" an old Irishwoman asked of a blue jacket whose ship was ordered abroad.

"The West Indies this time, grannie," said he.

"Musha, the good fairies must have sent ye! Now, when ye git there will it be after taking a walk to the Aist Indies ye'll be, to oblige an ould woman? Sure, me dear son Michael's there, and Oi'd loike ye to take his mother's blessin'!"

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

THE MORNING TIMES

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1912.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

There were three more strikes in existence, according to the Department of Labor's monthly record, in Canada during March than in February, and three more than in March, 1911. About 14 firms and 2,000 employees were involved. The loss in working days was estimated at 14,900, compared with 10,060 in February, and 33,600 in March, 1912 The only strike involving more than 200 employees was one of Tailors at Toronto.

THE HIGH PRICES CONTINUE.

The latest findings of the Department of Labor's prices record show that the past month maintained the exceptionally high point reached in February. The Department's index number was 134.2 for March compared with 134.3 in the preceding month. A year ago the number was 126.3. A feature of the past month was the decline in egg prices; on the other hand animals, meats, vegetables and imported fruits advanced. It is pointed out that the Department's figures are based on observations of the movements of about 260 articles selected for their representative character, and that the price level now shown is the highest in at least thirty years.

AMERICAN VIEW OF HOME RULE.

It is interesting to note just what our neighbors, across the 49th parallel think of Premier Asquith's Irish Home Rule Bill. The Boston Herald, a leading and conservative paper, has the following:

Curiosity as to the Asquith government's home rule proposals is satisfied for the time being. The premier has spoken, and the House has heard. An outline of the bill has been communicated to the Commons.

The first thing that strikes one is the prominence given to the provisions for the supremacy of the imperial Parliament and government. The cardinal principle of the bill, says the premier, is the supreme authority of the imperial Parliament, while at the same time real autonomy is conferred on Ireland in regard to Irish concerns. The Irish Parliament is debarred from altering the home rule bill, or the power of appeal to the privy council Of course. The bill will be an act of the imperial Parliament, and only the imperial Parliament can alter or amend it.

The lord lieutenant of Ireland is to have the power to veto or suspend any bill on the instruction of the imperial executive. This is very important. Opponents of home rule, anticipating this clause, have pointed out that the acts creating the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia and the Union of South Africa have similar provisions, and that they are practically dead letters. The best answer is that in the case of Ireland the provision would not be a dead letter. A British cabinet, particularly a Tory British cabinet, would not fear, or hesitate, to annul an act of the local Parliament if it saw fit.

Questions of interpretation are to be referred to the judicial committee of the privy council. That committee is the highest court of appeal for the oversea dominions. No more suitable tribunal for solving deep constitutional problems could be devised.

The lord lieutenant is to be the head of the executive. The authority of the executive is to be coextensive with that of the Irish Parliament. This evidently means that the lord lieutenant by himself shall have no power of veto except such as he exercises by direction of the imperial government. In the British North America act the executive power is said to be vested in the crown, but it is never exercised by the crown, or viceroy, except with the advice of the cabinet. In the Irish bill an attempt is made to reconcile theory and practice. The lord lieutenant, instead of being a deputy king, a viceroy, will be an officer of government.

Next to soothing the fears of British imperialists, the government has seen the importance of meeting, as far as it is possible to do so, the objections which will be urged on behalf of Irish Protestant The provisions guaranteeing equality of all religions are as strong as they can be made. Ulster, besides, is to have fifty-nine seats in the lower house out of a total of 164.

The financial provisions are curious. The collection of all taxes is to remain in the imperial service, and they will be paid into the imperial exchequer, which is to pay over to the Irish executive an amount equivalent to the expenditure on Irish services at the time of the passing of the act. An additional sum of $2,500,000 is to be paid to Ireland the first year, and this will diminish by $250,000 yearly until it is reduced to $1,000,000. The postal service is to be handed over to Ireland.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Send us your order for Antegnolte today it may be to late tomorrow

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

PUTTING IT GENTLY

"I wanted to spend this Christmas in Europe, but for business reasons I had to stay at home."

"That's my fix exactly. I couldn't afford it, either."

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Oldunn, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau upon cold beef from the pantry, called Betty, and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl, readily, "it was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms; but let's have no hims, Betty, no hims, mind you; I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied and withdrew, seriously thinking.

FOR FRECKLED, ROUGH OR SPOTTY COMPLEXIONS

(From The Dermatologist)

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution or powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.

ALL COME FROM THE SAME CAUSE

WHY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED MME. DUFAULT'S ILLS.

She Had Diabetes, Sciatica, Backache, and Headache but Found Speedy Relief in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

St. Boniface, Man., April 15.—(Special).—After suffering for three years from a complication of diseases Madame Oct. Dufault, of 84 Victoria street, this city, is once more in perfect health and Dodd's Kidney Pills are credited with another splendid cure. Speaking of her cure, Madame Dufault says:

"Yes, I am again a well woman, and I thank Dodd's Kidney Pills for it. I suffered for three years and I may say I had pains all over my body I had sciatica, neuralgia and diabetes My back ached, and I had pains in my head. I was nervous and tired; there were dark circles around my eyes which were also puffed and swollen, and heart fluttering added to my troubles.

"But when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I soon began to get better. I took thirteen boxes in all, and I think they are a grand medicine."

Every one of Madame Dufault's ailments is a direct result of diseased kidneys. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills so quickly cured them all.

MEMORIAL TO HIS LATE MAJESTY KING EDWARD VII.

To be erected for the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

Terms of Competition.

SCULPTURAL COMPETITIVE designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa, Canada, to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(1) Competitive designs are invited for a monument to be erected to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(2) The memorial when completed, and in position is not to cost more than $36,000 including pedestal from the level of the ground.

(3) The competition is open to artists resident in the British Empire who are British subjects, and to artists British subjects by birth resident elsewhere.

(4) The site of the monument will be at a point on the Government property at Ottawa to be decided upon hereafter.

(5) Designs shall be in the form of sketch models in plaster made at a uniform scale of 1½ inches to the foot. A description of the design must accompany each model. No name, motto, or other distinctive device is to be attached to the model or description. The competitor must send his name in a sealed envelope without distinctive marks thereon.

(6) The author of the best design shall be awarded the commission of the work and the second best shall be awarded a prize of $1000.00.

(7) All communications regarding this competition shall be addressed to: The Secretary Public Works Department, Ottawa, Canada. All models to be addressed to: Mr. Eric Brown, Director of National Art Gallery, Ottawa, Canada.

(9) The designs must be delivered before the first day of October, 1912. They will be kept from public view until the award has been made. All expenses of delivering the sketch models and accompanying descriptions shall be paid by the competitors. Sketch models will, after the award, and at the expense of the Public Works Dept., be returned upon the request of the competitors, but at the risk of the competitors.

Notice of the award will be sent to each competitor.

The award will only be binding provided the successful competitor is prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence, with security if demanded, that he can execute the work for the sum above mentioned.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS

HOW CONSUMPTION RAVAGES QUEBEC

A Royal Commission Finds That Its Victims Include More Women Than Men.

One of the most valuable medical reports ever issued by a province of Canada is that of the Royal Commission on Tuberculosis in Quebec.

In the Province of Quebec the death-rate from tuberculosis is much higher than it is in Ontario and in the neighboring American States, and it is higher among the French-speaking population of the province than among the English-speaking residents of Quebec. It appears to the commissioners that the causes of this remarkable condition are found in the greater poverty of the French-Canadian population, the fact that they neglect or are ignorant of many of the simplest rules of health, and that they form the greater number of artisans and laborers and are thus more exposed to the unhygienic influences of industrial work. The English-speaking population, according to the report, fill the better industrial posts, are better paid in consequence, and live in healthier surroundings. The commissioners say that reform must proceed along the lines of attempting to improve the conditions of industrial work for the French-Canadians, and are disseminating among them a greater knowledge of the laws of health.

More Women Die Than Men.

Regarding the remarkable fact that in Quebec women fall more readily victims to the disease than men, the commissioners say that for the six Winter months the women of the province, as a rule, spend most of their time immured indoors, and to preserve warmth the houses are too frequently sealed against any fresh air. Even in the Summer it is the custom to keep the blinds down and the windows closed, in order to make the houses moderately cool. They mention the fact that the high birth rate among French-Canadian women may also be a factor, since, following childbirth, the resistance to infection of any sort is lowered. There is also to be considered the fact that the larger families of the French-Canadians makes necessary the huddling together of many persons in small rooms, a condition that is highly favorable to the development of the tubercle bacilli. More than twice as many French-Canadian women die of tuberculosis, according to population, as English women. Compared with the incidence of the disease in the male sex, that among the women is as 222 compared with 164.

Climate and Disease.

As regards the relation of climate to the disease, the commissioners find that, apart from the efforts of people keeping too much indoors, it is an insignificant one. The disease is slightly more prevalent in March than in any other month of the year, and is slightly less prevalent in September, October, November and December. They do not fail to point to the probability of the germs of the disease, which manifests itself in the Spring and Summer, having established themselves in the Winter months. Cold in itself is not more favorable to the growth of the bacilli than heat, and the report quotes approvingly the words of Dr. Trudeau, who says: "It is not so much where the consumptive lives as how he lives that is of the most importance." The climate of Quebec is not necessarily more favorable to the spread of the disease than that of British Columbia.

A Very High Death Rate.

Just how serious the problem of tuberculosis is for the Province of Quebec may be judged from the fact that one-third of all deaths in the province are attributed to it. It is more deadly than all other infectious diseases combined. Only infantile diarrhoea of all specific diseases commits greater ravages. In tuberculosis more than half the victims fall between the ages of 15 and 34, and more than one-third between the ages of 20 and 45. Only two States in the Union, which keep accurate records, have a higher death rate; that in Montreal is probably higher than any other city on this continent or in the British Isles, and in comparison with seventeen civilized countries, Quebec stands sixth as regards the death rate from tuberculosis. A first long stride toward improving her position has been made by the publication of the valuable report from which these facts are taken.

STATUE OF COL. GZOWSKI

Words Which Aldershot Officers Have Put on the Monument.

On one side of the memorial erected at Aldershot in memory of Lieut. Gzowski, of the Queen's Own Rifles Toronto, appear the following words.

"This monument was erected by the officers of the Aldershot Command, in honor of their Canadian Comrade, and in token of the fellowship which binds England to Canada, and all soldiers of the Empire to one another." On the other side are these words: "To the glory of God and in memory of Roy Gzowski, Lieut. of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, who died whilst doing duty with his regiment in the Mother Country. Born at Toronto, Jan. 10th, 1890, died at Aldershot, Sept. 25th, 1910." On the edging are these words: "Canada to England. Then lead and your sons will follow, or follow and we will lead, and, side by side, though the world deride, we will show by word and deed that you share with me my youthfulness and I with you your prime, and so it shall be till the sun shall set on the uttermost edge of time."

HOME MADE.

The River Clyde has been brought up to its present draught for vessels of large capacity by a system of dredging and the diligent Scotsmen is justly proud of it. A party of American sightseers were one day on the lookout for wonders and passed some caustic remarks on the river's insignificance.

"Call this a river? Why it's only a mere ditch compared with ones over there—the Mississippi, the St. Lawrence, etc."

"Aye, mon," said a patriotic bystander, "ye can thank Providence for your rivers, but we made this one here."

OIL DRIVEN SHIP

A Description of the "Toiler," the First of Her Kind in Canada

The first oil-driven ship on Canadian waters is the "Toiler," a vessel without a funnel. In many ways the Toiler is more economical than a steam-driven boat. She has a greater deadweight capacity owing to the fact that the Diesel engines are much lighter than steam engines and boilers. Furthermore, as she carries no boilers the boiler space is saved and besides the oil fuel is carried in the double bottom in place of water ballast, thus saving bunker space. The consumption of oil is much less in weight than the consumption of coal for steam engines. In the Toiler the consumption at full speed does not exceed 1.75 tons per day of oil fuel of 18 B. T. U. calorific value, whereas with steam engines of equal power the consumption would not be less than eight tons per day.

Not only is the economy of this vessel shown in the increased deadweight of cargo carried, and the increased cubic capacity and the low fuel consumption, but the staff on board to attend to the Diesel engines is less than the staff required for steam engines and boilers, the engine-room staff being about the same while the firemen are not required.

The deck machinery and engine-room accessories of the Toiler are driven by compressed air, being furnished by a compressor driven by a Diesel engine. The electric light, with which the vessel is fitted, obtains its power from a paraffin engine. The accommodation is heated by hot water, the heat being obtained from the exhaust gases of the main engine. There is thus no steam on board the boat, and the vessel, therefore, presents an unusual appearance in having no funnels, and as the masts are mainly used for hoisting purposes and, therefore, very small, her appearance is decidedly different from that of the types of boats to which we are accustomed.

The accommodation for the officers and crew is well fitted up and excellent in every respect.

You Can't Cure Catarrh by Swallowing Drugs

COUGH SYRUP, TABLETS AND SPRAYS SICKEN THE STOMACH BUT DON'T REACH THE GERMS OF CATARRH—HENCE THEIR FAILURE TO HELP.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to rout out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhozone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhozone mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

Catarrhozone has entirely displaced the old-fashioned remedies, such as cough syrups, sprays, tablets, and sedative powders. It contains none of the opium, chloral and drowsy narcotics so commonly found in liquid cough and catarrhal remedies.

Couldn't Breathe — "Catarrhozone" Cured.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal catarrh than I suffered a month ago," writes Mr. G. E. Boot, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W.I. "My head ached terrifically, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhozone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhozone every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhozone quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

SEPARATE SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned will be received until 4.00 p.m., Tuesday, April 30th, 1912, for the supply of hardware, brushes, manilla rope, packing, paint and paint oil, hose, wire rope, oils and greases, steam pipe, chain and steam fittings for the departmental dredging plant.

Each tender must be sent in a separate envelope and endorsed "Tender for Hardware," "Tender for Brushes," etc., as the case may be.

Tenders will not be considered unless made upon forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for the amount mentioned in the tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

SOWING HIS WILD OATS

REAPING A HARVEST OF SORROW

How many young men can look back on their early life and regret their misdeeds. "Sowing their wild oats" in various ways. Excesses, violation of nature's laws, "wine, women and song"—all have their victims. You have reformed but what about the seed you have sown—what about the harvest? Don't trust to luck. If you are at present within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions, if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of a misspent life—DRS. PETERBOROUGH IS A REAL BIG CITY

WHY ?

Because Peterborough has NATURAL power

That is why any wise man who has a little money to invest should grasp the last real opportunity presented in the great west to obtain an investment in the Peterborough of three immense provinces.

MEDICINE HAT

Think of the money that has been made in Peterborough, and even this city took quite a while to become 22,000. The western Peterborough has 6,000 now. Four new industries coming. Look at your news dispatches which tells of the voting on Friday, April 12th.

300.000

Bushel elevator for Ogilvies goes up in June beside the

3,000

Barrel a day flour mill. It all means that the man who obtains a little property right away will be ready to sell in a few months when the population is 10,000. There must be 2,000 more people in Medicine Hat before Sept. 1st than there is now to handle the work of the factories and there must be another thousand to build houses for these people, for there is not to-day a house to rent in the city. I have done my part in telling you of the opportunity. Write at once and I will tell you further facts and help you to make money rapidly on investments in a city which is destined to be the only city in the west for industries and manufacturing expansion.

SAVE 17C A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is hal gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

Terms

On Lots costing $75 to $125 are: Cash, $10; balance at $5 per month.
On Lots costing $130 to $175 are: Cash, $10; balance at $7.50 per month.

How She Got Good Clothes.

Some two weeks ago, the bright little daughter of a Rochester, N.Y., merchant, doing business on a side street, in the Flower City, was asked by a friend, "How do you and Mamie (her sister) dress so well?" The child replied, "Pa advertises!" That's all, or nearly all,—Advertise your goods or property in the Daily and Weekly Times. Very shortly you will have the money banked and the other fellow will have the goods. Both will then be pleased.

New York, April 13.—The will of Mrs. Louise Ramson, a wealthy Brooklyn property-owner, who died recently, leaves to her husband, the sum of $5.00, and directs her executors to pay the legacy in 100 instalments of five cents each. The "residuary estate" goes to her son.

TRAIN HITS MAN NEAR ROSEDALE

Toronto, April 13.—Lying between the rails of the C.N.O. at Mileage 44 a middle-aged man was run over by the northbound Parry Sound train shortly after six p.m. on Saturday evening.

Engineer Grainger stopped the train at once and with others of the crew went back and picked the man up. He was carried to Rosedale station, where the police ambulance was called for.

The ambulance reached St. Michael's hospital at 8 p.m.. The man was still unconscious. The trainmen believed he had a broken arm and said he was badly battered. They had not yet examined him. The identity of the man is not known.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Dr. Andrew Macphail Speaks of Conditions in the Island Province

Some of the reasons for the depopulation of Prince Edward Island, and the efforts which will be made to offset it and re-establish the former industries, were recited to a Toronto audience by Dr. Andrew Macphail, of Charlottetown. He called attention to the fact that forty years ago there 94,000 people on the island. In 1881 there were 108,000, and in 1891 109,000. Then the population commenced to decline, and in ten years it had dropped to 103,000, and the last census showed that the population was only 93,000. The industries of the island also had largely disappeared, and it was proposed, in order to regenerate them, to apply to the island the same tariff system as was applied to the Domoinion as a whole, in order to protect the manufactories on the island. It was proposed also to have instead of a Minister of Politics, a Minister of Industries. The fact that both political parties were so strong, or so weak, also had much to do with the lack of development. Forty years ago the island contained more people than it did to-day, said Dr. Macphail, and there must be some reason for it in a province which was one of the best in the world, so far as agriculture was concerned.

In connections with transportation facilities, the speaker said it was possible to send goods from Montreal to Sydney, Cape Breton, the market for Prince Edward Island, for less than half what it cost to send goods from any point on the island to Sydney. Of the 72,000 people who had left the island in the last forty years, 38 per cent. had gone to the United States, and only 12 per cent. to the other provinces in the Dominion. How to get those back was the problem which was confronting the island, and it was thought that the best system would be to apply to the island the same tariff system as was applied to the Dominion as a whole, on the ground that what was good for the whole was good for the part. In the island great quantities of tobacco could be grown, and it was confidently hoped that in ten years no more tobacco would be imported.

Brigadier Taylor at Temple.

Brigadier Charles Taylor, principal of the S.A. Training College, Toronto, visited the local Temple yesterday and Saturday evening. The Brigadier is an officer of long and varied experience, is a very clear and logical speaker, and his addresses were of a very instructive and helpful nature. All present profited by his speeches.

TRAPPED.

"Glorious!" cried the Hon. Vere de Vere to the ladies who were defying the law with him in his motor.

"Lovely!" shrieked the ladies.

"Perlice-trap!" yelled a youth, waving his arms frantically as the car whizzed by.

"Where?" asked the Hon. Vere de Vere, pulling up.

"Between 'ere and the second cottage yer come to, sir," replied the youth.

"Thanks," said the Hon. Vere. "Here's [illegible] for you."

And he started the car at a discreet pace.

"Yer'll find the trap in the second cottage yer comes to!" shouted the youth, as the car drew away. "The perleeceman lives there, and he set it this mornin' to catch mice!"

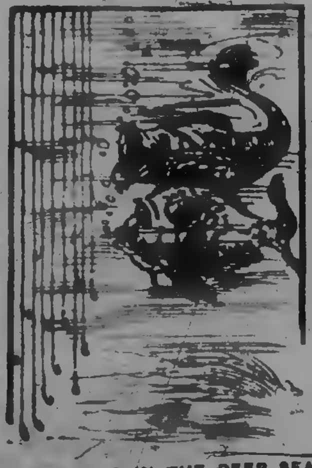
THE PLAINEST GIRL

Miss Plane.—"Didn't you hear Miss Knox tell [illegible] yesterday that I was 'the plainest girl in town'?"

Gladys.—"Yes. I gave her a piece of my mind about it afterwards."

"Oh, did you? I hope you weren't too hard on her."

"Well, I told her she ought to consider how sensitive you must be about it."



CHRISTMAS IN THE DEEP SEA

Sun Fish:—"Cheese it, Bill! Look at the beautiful lace curtain Santa Claus has sent us."

PICTURE OF THE PAST

Brown (narrating his experiences while almost drowning):—"It was a terrible sensation! After I went down for the third time my past life flashed before me in a series of pictures."

Jones (edging forward with a sudden interest):—"You didn't happen to notice a picture of me lending you a fiver in the autumn of 1908, did you?"

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

"Love, Laughter and Life"

UNSELFISH LOVERS

It is not all lovers who, in their new-found happiness and interests, are unselfish. In their joy and love for one another they frequently find that they are so absorbed in each other's welfare and interests that their companions of other days are neglected. Little duties that both used to perform for friends or neighbors are now neglected, because there seems no time to consider anyone except he or she, as the case may be.

A man will reverence and love a girl just as much (perhaps even more) if he sees that in spite of her great love for him she does not in the least neglect the old people or those who are dependent on her for little things that make all the difference to their comfort and happiness. By doing this, she will make it all the more plain to her future husband that she has the necessary good and sterling qualities that will make a loving and devoted wife.

Old folk are usually very considerate to lovers; for, to quote the old saying, "All the world loves a lover"—and older folk most certainly do.

Just a little thought, some trifling consideration—that is all it wants on both sides. Will those happy couples who are engaged endeavor to remember this: Try to be unselfish to those who may be very dependent on their help. It will be something for the happy lovers to look back upon when they are married, and each can say: "I never once neglected those who looked to me for help." When the lovers are man and wife, each will immensely appreciate that fact in the other. Love increases by unselfish acts and deeds—nay, the whole world is made the better for them.

WOMEN AND DRESS

Ruskin's Advice on the Subject Followed by the French

Of all questions that vex and disturb humanity—feminine humanity—few are more perplexing or importunate than that of dress. "What shall I wear?" is with thousands of women almost the first thought. Superiority of intellect and education seem powerless to wean women from this absorbing consideration. Witness Queen Elizabeth's eighty wigs and three thousand dresses; and Lady Jane Grey's ruff, necessitating, when she ate, the use of a spoon with a handle quite two and a half feet in length. Still, we do not want women wholly devoid of a spice of vanity. There is a Spanish proverb that says—"A woman without vanity is like a lemon without the juice." Ruskin wrote much on the subject of women's attire, and one piece of advice this sage gave made a deep and lasting impression on the public—"Let the women who can afford it get their gowns made by a good dressmaker, and with the utmost precision and perfection attainable." Those who have followed this advice have found it the greatest economy in the end, and have derived also the greatest satisfaction from doing so. Every Frenchwoman endorses this opinion and experience. She has fewer frocks than an Englishwoman of the same social standing, but then, they are usually made by a first-class dressmaker.

THE ROYAL HOME

The King and Queen Enjoy the Quiet and Peace of Home Life

Home life is as dear to the hearts of the King and Queen as it is to other men and women. Whenever it is possible, when there is no possibility of their Royal presence being required at any state, civic, or private function, they enjoy the quiet and peace of home life.

Sandringham is the favorite country seat of their Majesties. At Sandringham, and in the neighboring villages and surrounding country, tales are told of the ideal home-life led by the King, Queen, and their children. It is here indeed that the highest standard of ideal home-life is reached by King George and Queen Mary. The keynote of that life is simplicity.

Constantly, Queen Mary, sometimes accompanied by little Princess Mary, visits the cottages on the estate, carrying messages of good cheer, bright smiles, and kindly inquiries for any sick folk there may be. It is well known that Queen Mary makes many little personal sacrifices in order to visit the tenants on the estates, and she has beautifully trained her children, and brought them up with the utmost simplicity, so that they may fully understand and appreciate the beauties of a quiet but essentially English home life.

The little Princes and Princesses are daily visited in the nursery and in the school-room when the King and Queen are at home. From early years the Royal children have been lovingly taught the spirit of "give and take," have been trained to give in and obey their elders, their governesses and tutors, have been taught to be unselfish towards one another. And Princess Mary, in the days when she had less pocket-money than now, started an account in the Post Office Savings Bank, and, accompanied by one of the ladies of the Royal household, could be seen paying in money and taking it out.

Thus it will be seen that, in spite of King George and Queen Mary's great and exalted position, they teach their humbler subjects the beauty of home life and home discipline.

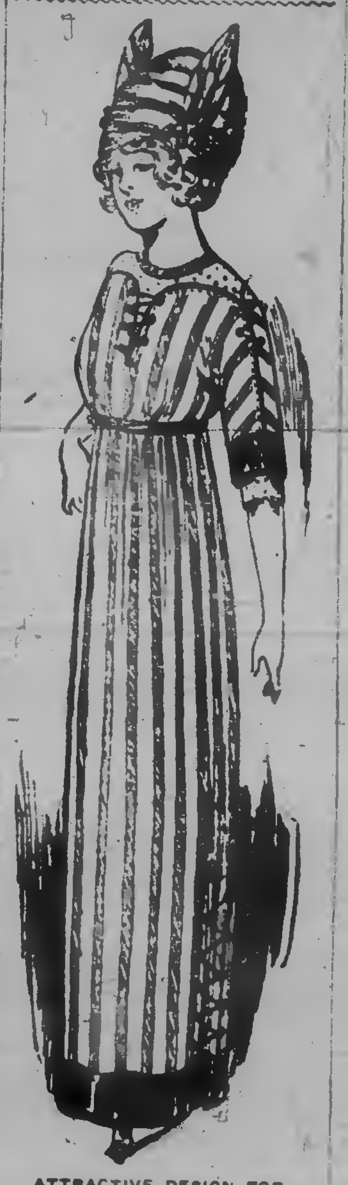
Salt in the Laundry

Salt should be used to fix colors that have softened and run in the washing. It must not be used in the washing water, as it makes soap useless; but the rinsing water ought to be rather salty. A good handful of salt to a gallon of water is the average proportion. Salt should be added to the soaking water for handkerchiefs and lace curtains, as it renders the washing an easier process. Salt and beeswax make rusty flatirons as clean and smooth as glass.

The Noble express rigs and business has been purchased by Mr. Garnet Innes, who has also bought Mr. P. Grady's residence on Simcoe street.

Peterborough is fortunate this Spring in that none of the local dams have been washed away, as they have in many places in Ontario, thus shutting down many mills.

Wake up, Mr. Property Owner; arouse Mr. Merchant, and boom the "Made-in-Peterborough" Exhibition! It's a big thing for you and your business.



ATTRACTIVE DESIGN FOR STRIPED MATERIAL

The above sketch suggests a charming model for stripes, so popular in all sorts of fabrics and colors. For band on skirt, cuffs, and pipings on bodice choose plain material to match one of the stripes or of a harmonizing shade. Guimpe and undersleeves are of chiffon cloth studded with small crystal beads.

HOLIDAY HINTS

Shady Hats are Better than Sick Headaches

There is apt to be mischief to the eyes during the holidays from glaring sun, loss of sleep, and from excessive reading. Do be careful of these things for your own sake.

Do not allow your skin to get coarse and freckled from exposure. It doesn't pay. You can enjoy yourself perfectly well without incurring blistered arms and a freckled red nose.

Do not forget to take away a bottle of some soothing lotion, with which to hide the ravages of the sun, and do not disdain to wear a shady hat when you are going out; shady hats are usually becoming, and they are certainly more to be desired than a sick headache.

Violet Toilet Water

Take two ounces of best Florentine orris-root, powdered, and six ounces of deodorized alcohol. Put the powder in a bowl, and pour the liquid on gradually until the whole is well mixed. Add six drops of essential oil of violets, pour into a bottle, and cork tightly. It should be kept for three or four weeks before using. A few drops added to a basin of cold water used for the final rinsing leaves the body cool and fragrant in warm weather. It is quite inexpensive to make; the ingredients can be had at any good chemist's for very little money.

A concrete casket, weighing 1,100 pounds was handled by the Dominion Express Company on Satutday, it being shipped to Mr. Frank Wise, Superintendent of the Little Lake cemetery.

Whilst Peterborough may be the most dog ridden city in Canada, "there are others!" A little girl in Lindsay was severely bitten by a bull terrier on Friday last, and taken to the hospital.

THE ENGAGEMENT RING

A Girl Must be Careful and Not Display It Too Much

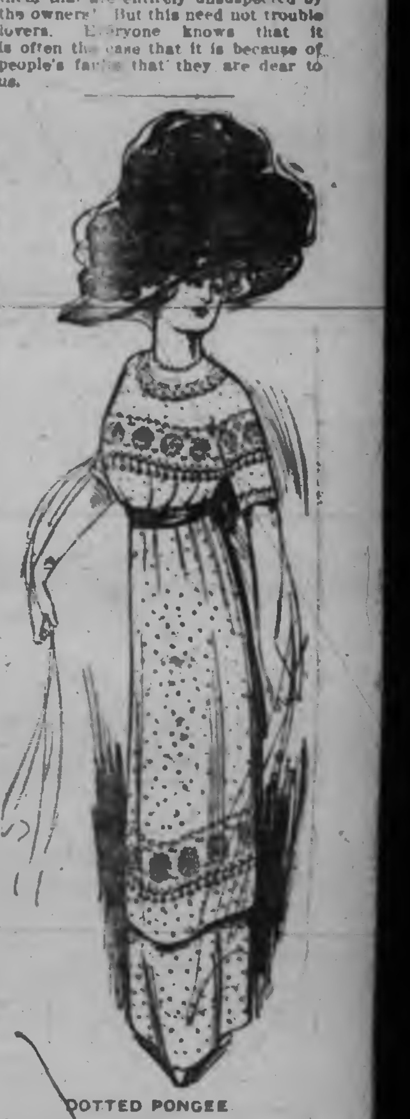
It is a grand moment for both the girl and the man when he slips the little gold and jewelled circle round her third finger. It means so much to both of them—perhaps even more to the girl than the man, because her sex sets greater store by the ring that binds, and she has more sentiment. And, moreover, although the couple may have been mutually engaged without a ring, that small emblem of a plighted troth becomes very sacred to a girl. A very great deal must happen before either she returns it or be demanded back.

It is very natural that a girl should be very proud of her engagement ring, but she should be careful not to make it too obtrusive. Even her best friends will get weary of her continual "Oh, isn't it a beautiful ring—and isn't he perfect?" The praise of a man and his token of promise is all very well in moderation, but it can be and often is carried to excess.

A girl can be just as proud and delighted with her ring by a quiet pride and joy as by continually demonstrating her pleasure before her friends.

Nor is it good taste for a man to ask his acquaintances how they like the ring. They are bound to say it meets with their entire approval, whether they think so or not! Courtesy cannot say otherwise.

With regard to the ring, so it is with other little things during the 'happy days' of courtship. An engaged couple should be careful not to sing one another's praises too much to their relatives, friends and acquaintances. Let people find out for themselves the sterling qualities of both. Real friends will be quick enough to appreciate their good points, but an engaged couple may rest assured—and eat it with humble pie—that real true friends will find out faults in them that are entirely unsuspected by the owners! But this need not trouble lovers. Everyone knows that it is often the case that it is because of people's faults that they are dear to us.



DOTTED PONGEE

One of the prettiest pattern dresses seen this year is pongee in natural tone dotted in emerald green. The design is shown above and the embroidery used for trimming is done on pongee in same shade of green as dots. Green velvet makes the girdle, which finishes in a large bow at back with long ends. The design is simple but decidedly chic.

FOUR USEFUL HINTS

To clean soiled wallpaper, take half a loaf of bread and gently rub the soiled portions, working always in a downward direction. As soon as the bread is soiled, cut off a thin slice.

To clean picture frames and glasses, wash with warm water with a teaspoonful of ammonia to a quart of water. For gilt frames, use the water in which onions have been boiled, as it will restore their brightness. Loose dust that has settled on frames and mouldings may be removed with a flannel or cheesecloth.

If the seats of caned chairs are sagging, turn them upside down and wash well with soapy water, soaking so as to thoroughly wet them, and in drying they will stiffen to almost, if not quite, their normal condition.

To kill moths in carpets on the floor spread a cold, damp cloth on the carpet, iron it with a hot iron, and the steam thus will kill the moths.

THE IDEAL LIGHT

According to scientists, the least injurious of present-day illuminants is the acetylene flame, for the reason that it is the nearest approach to the character of daylight. For reading or writing purposes the oil lamp or candle are by far the best, because of their soft, yellow light. Daylight, of course, is the ideal. It is a mixture of all colors, and, as far as the eyes are concerned, the green, yellowish rays predominate. It is the invisible and ultra-violet rays that are so harmful.

A former Fenelon Falls boy, Mr. S. E. Todd, B.S.A., has been appointed Supervisor of all the farms connected with the Ontario Government institutions, comprising some 4,500 acres.

The Brigade's Saturday Run.

The fire brigade, with their usual promptitude answered a call on Saturday morning, when, from some unknown cause, the awning in front of Messrs. R. Fair & Company's dry goods store caught fire. The chemical was used and the damage will not cut a very big slice out of the insurance on the premises.

Mr. Lundy Buys Rapid Tool Co.

Mr. D. J. Lundy, has once more demonstrated his enterprise and the faith he has in Peterborough's future. Yesterday he purchased the property and plant of the Rapid Tool Company, in public auction for the sum of $4,300. It was learned that the city's interests, which, in the form of a bonus amounting to $1,200, is fully protected.

New "Y" on Street Railway.

Things are getting ready for the local street car line, for the "pay-as-you-enter" system. Yesterday work was begun on the construction of a "Y" at the north end of George street, street railway line. With its completion, the line will be ready for the new fare system. The "Y" is an arrangement of track by which the cars can turn round, and is necessary with the new style of cars.

Got Off Like a White Man.

Dick Cornelius got drunk. Dick was accused of being an Indian, and consequently debarred from the privileges (?) of the white usurpers of the country. Dick showed that he got no Government pay or stipend from the Indian Department, so could not be an Indian. Thus he got off with the usual tribute paid by the caucasian race, when they soak up too much booze. Robert Allen, another drunk, was given 10 days to raise $2.

Curlers Met Last Night.

Last night the Peterborough Club met at the Charlotte street rink to wind up the season's business and present prizes to those winning the schedule games and also to local winners in the local bonspiel. Mr. Angus McIntosh the efficient caretaker was made a presentation as was Mr. J. H. Ferguson, secretary of the club.

Turf Club and Exhibition Men Meet.

Yesterday afternoon the members of the resusitated Peterborough Club met a committee of the Peterborough Exhibition Association, and held a conference, with a view to retaining a race track at the present exhibition grounds. The election of officers of the Turf Club will be held on Saturday next. Judging by what "those in the know," say, with the present personnel of the Turf Club, this city can look ahead to good races in the immediate future.

Funeral of Mrs. A. D. Thomson.

The funeral of the late Mrs. A. D. Thomson, who died at Gulfport, Miss., last Thursday, was held here yesterday to Little Lake cemetery, from the Ostrom residence. The funeral was private and the religious services at the house were conducted by Rev. J. G. Potter, of Montreal, assisted by Rev. W. G. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist church. The pallbearers were Messrs. Robt. Fair, Harry Rush, Thos. Barrie, R. Neill, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Dr. Morrison.

Driver Hurt in Street Car Collision.

Yesterday a collision took place between a southbound George street car and a heavy dray, belonging to the Campbellford Milling Company. The Milling Company's dray was made a wreck. It seems that some scrapings from the road had left insufficient room for drivers. The driver of the dray was severely hurt about the head. In fact, an eye-witness of the accident, told a Times representative, she thought he was killed. It is understood that a damage suit may result.

Farewell Supper to Mr. Milliken.

Messrs. Wm. Davidson and F. S. Milliken of this city leave to-day for the far west. Their immediate destination is Calgary, whence they will leave, after a short stay for Edmonton. Mr. Milliken, who was engaged in the brass department of the C.G.E. Co., has his eye on something good in that city. Last night a number of Mr. Milliken's friends gathered to give him an informal farewell. During a supper given the departing guest, strong hopes were expressed by all present for his success in his adopted home.

Peterborough Cigar Co.—Whiskey.

The Bobcaygeon man, by name, as noted in a former issue of The Times smuggled in liquor for sale, in that "Dry" district, labelled as though billed from the Peterborough Cigar Co., was fined $50. On opening the cases the inspector found a four gallon cask, 24 quarts of port wine and 72 flasks. It was pointed out that there was no such company as the Peterborough Cigar Company. The accused who pleaded guilty, as noted, was fined $50 and costs, while the liquor, which is valued at $75 was confiscated.

Spring's Sure Indication.

Yesterday afternoon, a lady living on Gilmour street, was visiting another lady, her friend on Brock street. Quoth the Brock street madam, "Well this is spring at last! I always look for the blackbirds, and they are thick in the trees round our house. Yes, spring is here in earnest." To her the Brock street lady replied, "Yes, my dear, I do believe that long winter is over. However, I do not judge by the birds, but by the clothes lines. When you see long strings of fine white clothes hanging in the yards, why spring has arrived.

Did Not Know It Was Full Cock.

Yesterday morning another case of "didn't know it was loaded," occurred, when Odely Taylor, 16 years old, of 626 Bethune street, got monkeying with a 22 rifle. As a result the hammer fell, the detonating mass was struck, a small bullet sped at a rate of about 1200 feet a second, and a toe on the boy's left foot got a shock. It might be added, to give full justice to the story, that the matter of being loaded was not so much the cause of the accident, as not noticing that the hammer was at full cock. Dr. Brown was called in and hopes that the foot will not be teetotally injured for keeps.

Local Methodists Vote on Union.

The vote in George street Methodist church, on church union, seems to be greatly in favor of that proposition.

The work of taking the vote in St. James' and Charlotte street Methodist churches was completed yesterday. The Quarterly Board of St. James' church voted 19 for and 2 against, while the congregation recorded a vote of 97 for and 12 against the proposed church union. Not more than one-half of the total vote was polled. The vote at Charlotte street church showed a majority of 302 for church union and 6 against. Mark street Methodist church, East City, is not yet completed.

Every Seat Will Be Full To-Night.

Over four hundred and fifty seats for the big concert, to-morrow night in the Grand Opera House, given by St. George's Choral Society, with a chorus of 70 voices. Much enterprise has been displayed by those in charge of this unusual musical treat, all of which goes to show, that a record audience will be present this evening. The program, handsomely gotten up, contains several pages of advertising by some of our leading merchants, as well as a concise idea of the musical entertainment. It would behove all lovers of high class music to secure their tickets early this morning, as every available seat will be occupied to-night.

Lindsay-Minden Railway Extension.

Minden Echo: For several weeks, the Echo has been in touch with a proposition which comes from the Muskoka people through the Huntsville Board of Trade, which may mean either an extension of the Lindsay-Minden Railway through to Dorset, Huntsville and westward to a point where two railways come together west of Lake Joseph, or the development of a new company to build to Minden from those points. It is proposed to build from a point west of Lake Joseph, where the C.N.R. and C.P.R. are quite close together, north of the lake to Huntsville, continuing north of lakes 6to Dorset and thence to Minden.

"Sylvia" Was a Great Success.

Last night a bright and sparkling Operetta, teplete with catchy music, entitled "Sylvia," was presented in the Grand Opera House. This tuneful little opera was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral. To give a short synopsis of the plot, it might be said, that Sylvia suggests to Betty, the daughter of a farmer, that they exchange places for a day. Both girls at the time are engaged, Sylvia to an aristocrat and Betty to a handsome young farmer. As in most light opera, the plot is simply a slender skeleton, on which to hang the various numbers. The chorus showed the result of careful and intelligent training by Miss L. Hurley, whilst Mr. George Lynch, stage manager, carried the show through without a hitch. The Opera House was filled by a well pleased audience.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

These are the days when citizens appreciate work done during the winter months by live citizens. Along many blocks where snow had been cleaned away, the pavements are dry. In other stretches, the pavement is a continued puddle.

Peterborough Board of Trade and City Fathers might well take example by St. John, N.B. That city has issued an illustrated folder describing present and future conditions there, a copy of which reached The Times yesterday.

Yesterday, the average mother, not counting those with a staff of servants and nurses, awoke with a kind of guilty feeling. Something was on their minds. Oh, yes! The children have got to go to school this morning.

The Chicago photographers took snap shots of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt after his arrest. The genial doctor has his hand up to his nose trying to conceal his features and looks like a well known George street merchant with a bad attack of toothache.

Why do not our esteemed contemporaries join with The Times, along the lines we have advocated for weeks, and boom the "Made-in-Peterborough" Exhibition? This big show will help every manufacturer, merchant and property owner in the city.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

OTHER LINERS COULD NOT GET TO TITANIC THROUGH THE ICE

Montreal, April 16.—Very feeble is the hope among marine officials that the hours will add to the list of survivors, and the news from the liners which doubled on their courses and hastened to the rescue is looked forward to with dread premonition rather than with expectation.

"I would like to think that the Virginian and the Parisian had arrived in time," said Mr. H. G. Thorley, of the White Star Line. "But it seems impossible. The Virginian was 170 miles away and had four hours to reach the spot. Ordinarily such speed is impossible and in that ice-strewn sea the utmost care in speed would have to be exercised.

"The Titanic herself was going at a very slow speed when the collision occurred.

Mr. Thorley said that not for years had icebergs drifted so far south and to such an extent. The voyage of a liner would literally have to be "picked" through.

"What was the lifeboat capacity?" he was asked.

Lifeboat Capacity Only 700.

"About 700 people would be accommodated," he said.

"This is customary. Such a thing as this would never happen in a hundred years."

The interests of Toronto are tremendously stirred. Last night for the White Star Line officials was a repetition of the previous day and insistent demands on telegraph, telephone and person taxed their patience and endurance.

LOCAL ENGLISH VOCAL TALENT AT OPERA HOUSE

St. George's Choral Society, and its talented conductor, Mr. E. Thompson, are to be congratulated upon their excellent programme offered in the Grand Opera House last night, on the occasion of the society's first annual concert. This event proved a highly acceptable musical evening to all present, each and every number winning unatinted applause from an appreciative and demonstrative audience. The songs and choruses were of a nature that appealed to the most refined taste, and demanded from the talented company, individually and collectively, a high degree of vocal ability. Encores were much in demand, but conductor Thompson, owing to the length of the program limited repetitions and second numbers as much as possible. Dr. Park, in violin solos, proved a valuable acquisition to the program; he is a master of his instrument, from which he produces the sweetest of stringed melody. Miss Maggie Moss was exceedingly acceptable in recitation; her "If I were a Man," a humorous piece, was excellently delivered and demanded a recall, for which she gave "The Inventor's Wife," also humorous. The other principals were Sopranos, Mrs. A. Wells, and Mrs. Bert Read; Contralto, Miss Ada Lee; Tenor, Mr. Geo. Deakin; Basses, Mr. R. Dickson and Mr. J. Burnette. Mrs. A. Wells, Mrs. Bert Read, Mr. Geo. Deakin and Mr. R. Dickson each responded to not to be denied encores, their numbers showing considerable talent. We were disappointed, however, that Conductor Thompson did not permit Miss Ada Lee to respond to a very enthusiastic recall. Miss Lee is a charming contralto of pleasingly sweet voice, whose anunciation is exceptionally clear and distinct; a second number appeared to be especially hopeh for. The male quartettes and choruses were all splendidly delivered, while the chorus as a whole was

REEVE HOWDEN OF N. MONAGHAN EXPLAINS

Reeve W. G. Howden, of North Monaghan, in an interview with The Times yesterday, explained that the conclusion reached by the city's Property Committee Monday night that he had held the city up in its negotiations for the Jackson property, this side of Crawford's grove, to further his own ends, was a mistaken one. Property owners adjacent to the lot in question had protested against its purchase by Peterborough city for a refuse ground. This would create a nuisance in a locality where property is about to be cut up into building lots, and Mr. Howden had headed a deputation to the city's Property Committee last Friday evening, protesting against the city's proposed purchase. This resulted in the city's committee agreeing to seek another lot in North Monaghan, which could be endorsed by North Monaghan's Board of Health and Council as free from nuisance to adjacent property if used as a refuse ground. Subsequently it was represented to Reeve Howden that his protest to the city's committee had deprived Mr. Jackson of a sale, whereupon he had arranged to purchase the property himself. Mr. Howden assures The Times that he had no desire to "hold up" the city in any way. One of Peterborough's Aldermen had assured him that the property committee had abandoned all notion of purchasing the Jackson lot for a refuse ground, and that the city did not in reality hold an option on the property, not having paid a dollar in good faith of the proposed deal. He (Reeve Howden) is quite willing to let the city have this property now if our council wants it, but not to be used as a refuse ground, detrimental to vested interests of North Monaghan ratepayers. And any lot in North Monaghan purchased for a refuse ground must be so situated as not to prove a nuisance.

MONTREAL PAPERS SAY HAYS IS DROWNED

Montreal, April 16.—The most contradictory reports about C. M. Hays have been received here. During the morning Mr. D. E. Galloway, Mr. Hays' atsistant, communicated with the railway's agent in New York and learned that Mr. Hays' name was posted up outside the White Star office there as saved. One statement is no sooner made than it is denied.

It is thought here, however, that Mr. Hays went down with the Titanic and the newspapers this afternoon printed his life story, evidently believing the worst.

IMMENSE TRACT IS BOUGHT

Thirty Thousand Acres of Land Purchased in Louisiana to Draw Farmers From the West.

HUNDREDS of farmers are daily packing their families, stock and farm impliments off to our far Canadian Provinces to the West. A New Orleans despatch says:

"Thirty thousand acres of land in Vermillion parish have been purchased by M. C. Baker & Son, on which it is planned to carry out a big colonization scheme.

The purchase of the land was made public Tuesday. Plans for colonizing it are now being prepared.

Mr. Baker said that the company proposed to divide the tract into drainage districts, and to settle it with Western farmers. Part of the land is high prairie, and part will have to be drained.

The land lies east of the big reclamation project in the same parish of the Foster-Holcomb Land Company. The Intercostal Canal is now being constructed along its southern border.

The amount paid for the land could not be learned, but it is understood to have averaged about $10 an acre.

MANY SETTLERS FROM STATES

New Comers Bring Much Gold—Portland, Maine, [illegible] House for Canada

Winnipeg, April 17.—Immigration from the United States through the port of Emerson, Man., for March shows an increase of 100 per cent over the same month a year ago, according to Commissioner of Immigration Bruce Walker. The value of effects of American settlers passing through North Portal, Saskatchewan during March totalled $9,000,000.

Bound for Canada.

Ottawa, April 17.—To judge from the extremely heavy immigration traffic to Canada, which continues to arrive at the United States port of Portland, Maine, it would appear as if that port had been temporarily annexed by Canada for her own use.

Steamer after steamer, for months past, has unloaded record numbers of immigrants, of whom all but a fraction have been destined for Canada.

All previous records for passengers landed by any individual steamer were broken on Thursday last when the steamship Zealand, from Rotterdam, specially chartered by the White Star Dominion line in conjunction with the Red Star, landed no less than 1,559 passengers, and astonishing as the proportion may seem, no less than 1,557 of these were bound for Canada.

MONUMENT FROM S. CAROLINA

State Raises a Shaft to Memory of Women of South Carolina in the Confederacy.

Columbia, S.C., April 16.

JUST as long as the older generation in the Southern States live, just so long will those old veterans of the "Lost Cause" remember those who helped them in their struggle for secession, although America is now one undivided nation. The memorial to the Confederate women of South Carolina erected by the State, was unveiled here at noon Thursday. The monument erected on the State House grounds is a beautiful work of the sculptors' art and represents the first memorial ever erected independently by a State to women.

General C. Irvine Walker, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, turned it over to the Daughters of the Confederacy and then introduced the orator of the occasion, Major Joseph W. Barnwell of Charleston, S.C., during whose speech the covering was withdrawn. Veterans, members of the Daughters and Sons' organizations, State troops and cadets took part.

The monument was designed by F. Wellington Ruckstuhl, of New York. The central figure is that of a Southern woman, dignified and beautiful, waiting to be crowned with laurel by a figure in the rear. On each side are figures bearing laurel to lay at the heroine's feet. The most important inscription is:

"In this monument generations unborn shall hear the voice of a great people testifying to the sublime devotion of the women of South Carolina in their country's need."

THE WEATHER.

Mostly fair and cool.

WONDERS OF THE ANTARCTIC

THE RESULTS ACHIEVED

Thrilling Experiences of Those in Search of the South Pole — An Extinct Volcano Discovered.

Akaroa, New Zealand, April 17.—A large amount of deeply interesting information has been brought by the Tera Nova regarding the movements of the various parties in the British Antarctic expedition and the scientific results achieved.

Natural history research has been greatly assisted by the cinematograph. Thousands of feet of film have been used to record the bird and animal life of the Antarctic, and every phase of sea, penguin and skua gull life is shown. Remarkable films were secured, showing for the first time the "killer" whale, the "wolf of the seas" in its native element.

Problems regarding the origin of Alpine topography when Europe and other temperate regions were undergoing an ice age, are being studied in the retreating glaciers of Victoria Land, where the ice age still prevails. Specimens of coal of economic value and well preserved fossils were found near Granite Harbor.

Continuous records were secured of pressure, temperature, and wind velocity. Small balloons gave records of the upper air currents for a height of six miles and temperatures for a height of five miles.

Lieut. Evans, R.N., with Mr Lashley, assistant motor engineer, and Petty Officer Crean, had a distressing experience when returning to the base after accompanying Captain Scott's southern expedition part of the way to the Pole.

They started back on January 4, after bidding Captain Scott and his companions farewell. Five days later a blizzard set in, hampering them for three days.

When half way down the Beardmore Glacier, they were caught in ice falls and crevasses, but extricated themselves on January 18 after two days' hard climbing. Lieut. Evans developed scurvy after the party had travelled 300 miles farther north. He was compelled to continue dragging a sledge, as the party was one man short, but after covering fifty-three miles he was completely disabled.

His companions thereon discarded

BELLEVILLE CHURCH IS CLOSED DOWN

It seems as though either the city of Belleville, or the Anglican church portion of its community, is going backward. St. John's Anglican Church there has locked its doors, which can only be re-opened by the golden key of coin. For some time, owing to the decline in the congregation, that church, through its congregation, felt that such would be inevitable on the retirement of the rector, the Rev. Canon Bogert and it was known that Bishop Mills was inclined to this view. Last Monday evening, however, at the Easter vestry it had been decided to ask the Bishop to send another incumbent as Canon Bogert had promised to send in his resignation as rector, to take place April 15th. It is understood that private indivividuals had made their promise to guarantee the running expenses of the parish rather than have the church closed. Later, during the evening service, the rector announced that the parish was to be disorganized. The rector noted that he had telephoned to His Lordship at Kingston and found the bishop was ill. However, he was told that the parish must be discontinued. Again, after further correspondence the bishop told the rector he had decided to appoint no new incumbent.

SAYS HIAWATHA IS NEGLECTED

Prominent Otonabee Resident Intimates Indian Agent Is Not Doing His Duty.

EVERYONE, or nearly everybody in Otonatrek, knows Mr. Joshua Smithson, of that flourishing township, and he was in the city on Saturday. In conversation with the Times he remarked that at Hiawatha village, on the shores of Rice Lake, just across from Harwood, there exists a state of poverty, shiftlessness, idleness, ignorance, neglect and waste, not equalled in his experience. He said that the white people have been allowed, last winter, had been allowed to cut timber on the Reservation lands. Straw that should be used as a fertilizer is carted away. He noted that the Indians, under proper care and instruction from an agent who knows and will do his duty, are good workers. Every pay day all the cheap jewelry fakirs and pedlars are on hand to take the money from the Indians. This could not be done if they, the Indians, were properly looked after. He thinks that the Dominion Government should appoint a wide awake agent, living within easy touch of the reservation, and one acquantied with farming conditions, who would take an active interest in the welfare of the Indians. Mr. Smithson noted that there are approximately 1600 acres of land, worth $50,000 in the reservation—land that cannot be excelled in in Ontario for fruit and grain raising.

THE ROGERS' DAM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Examiner of last evening says that the Rogers' dam has been made a botch of. This is true; but the Examiner also says that it was built by a new staff, under the inspiration of the new member for West Peterborough. The truth is, that the dam was built by the old staff, under the superintendency of Clem Gordon and Vinnette. It was not due to any new appointments, and would in all probability not have occurred had there been some new appointments.

THE POST OFFICE CLOCK.

(Ed. Morning Times.)

Sir.—I think the attention of the Government should be drawn to the clock on our Post Office. A few days ago it was in darkness all night. Last night it stopped again at 10.10. I suppose as has been the custom for several months past, the hands will stick there for several days. This public time-piece, a public utility, during the past six months or so, has never run for two consecutive weeks. If the clock has something radically wrong with its works, someone who can put it in permanent running order should be engaged.

BAN ON STREET CARS.

Government Does not Want Them Near Parliament Hill.

Ottawa, April 17.—The government is unalterably opposed to the laying of the street car tracks permanently on Wellington street, in front of the houses of parliament. A letter received this morning by City Clerk Henderson from F. D. Monk leaves absolutely no room for doubt or speculation as to the attitude of the government on the question.

Some members of the city council asked the government's permission to lay the tracks in front of the house of commons, and this is the result.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE BY STEAMSHIP SINKING

St. Johns, Nfld., April 16.—All hope that any of the passengers or members of the crew of the Titanic, other than those on the Carpathia, are alive was abandoned this afternoon. All the steamers which have been cruising in the vicinity of the disaster have continued their voyage.

New York, April 16.—(Bulletin).—The White Star Line announced officially at 11 o'clock that they had received positive news that the number of survivors on board the liner Carpathia was just 868. This despatch was sent to the White Star Line from the Olympic, which it is understood, is in wireless communication with the Carpathia now proceeding to New York.

Cutters to Meet Carpathia.

Washington, April 16.—President Taft late to-day, ordered out two revenue cutters to meet the Carpathia, which is bearing the Titanic's survivors to New York. The Gresham is at Boston and the Acushaet at Wood's Hole, Mass.

Parisian May Have Some.

Montreal, April 16.—The Allan Line officials here point out that in all probability the Parisian has passengers of the Titanic on Board, as she was not bound for Halifax, but Philadelphia.

Any way, locally no word about the Titanic has been received by the Allan company.

The item from St. John about a special train having been chartered for Mr Astor lends color to the theory that the Parisian will land passengers at Halifax to-morrow.

New York, April 16.—The appalling magnitude of the wreck of the giant liner Titanic has been but little mitigated by the fragmentary information which has filtered in to-day.

The rescuing steamer Carpathia has 868 survivors on board according to the latest news received at the offices of the White Star Line in this city. This increases the list of saved by about 200 from the number first reported. But except for this, the favorable details are insignificant compared with the supreme fact that the Titanic is at the bottom of the Atlantic and that shattered wreck took with her about 1,360 victims to their death.

Last Hope of Allan Liners Gone.

But with the revised figures there remain 1,341 persons who were aboard the Titanic, passengers and crew, who are to-day unaccounted for and apparently lost.

BALFOUR SAYS BILL UNWORTHY OF STATESMANSHIP OF BRITAIN

London, April 16.—Ex-Premier A. J. Balfour resumed the debate in the House of Commons this afternoon on the "Government of Ireland Bill," which was introduced in Parliament April 11, by Premier Asquith.

Mr. Balfour ridiculed the Government measure for Irish Home Rule, describing it as unsymmetrical and botched Federal scheme utterly unworthy of British statesmanship.

"Was this lopsided scheme," the Opposition speaker asked, "imitating the architect of the great federal system beyond the seas?"

The alleged supremacy of the Imperial Parliament, Mr. Balfour declared, was about equivalent to the ancient claims of British Sovereigns to be King of France.

A Policy of Disintegration.

Mr. Balfour said that he did not believe that any sane English or Scottish member would support the insane customs proposals which divided the suggested federal system by customs barriers. If Ireland, he said, could use the customs to differentiate against foreign nations, the Government would find itself involved in appalling difficulties concerning the "most favored nation clause."

Mr. Balfour declared that while other nations, including Germany and United States and the British colonies, felt that if they were to hold their places in the world, it must be by integration. Great Britain was to undergo a process of disintegration through the proposed lopsided federation.

RAFTS AND BOATS COULD NOT CARRY ALL ON BOARD

Persons on board	2,170
Life-saving accommodation on boats and rafts	1,711
Doomed to death	359
Actual loss of life	1,234

Montreal, April 16.—Speculation is rife here as to why such a small percentage of the total number of passengers were saved. James Thoms, the managers of the White Star offices here, was asked if the Titanic carried enough boats to accommodate all her passengers and crew. She said she would never have been allowed to leave Southampton by the English shipping authorities if she was not provided with boats sufficient to hold her passengers and crew. He said the number of small boats given in the despatches was either incorrect or a number had drifted away. Probably some had been picked up by ships that had not reported yet.

May Pick Up Drifting Boats.

Mr. Thoms said that the report from the gulf gave the weather as fine and the seas as smooth yesterday, in which case boats drifting away would likely be picked up.

The gulf signal station reported this morning that it was very foggy off Nova Scotia, while the heavy thunderstorm which broke here last night was traveling eastward.

The shipping authorities gave out that if these conditions existed there was very little hope of the rescue of any boats that may not yet have been picked up.

Here's the Reason.

New York, April 16.—The Titanic is believed to have carried sixteen lifeboats and four rafts, calculated to accommodate 1,711 people. This means that one third of the total possible number of passengers and crew together, which is 3,447, can be accommodated.

The actual number on board the Titanic was 2,170. It was stated at the bureau that no ship is required to have sufficient boat room to accommodate its complete passenger and crew list.

The Titanic and Olympic carry 3,455 life preservers and 48 life buoys and these equipments are made in compliance with the regulations of the British Board of Trade. The United States has no power except to see that each steamship meets the requirements of its home Government.

COLLIERS RESUME WORK.

The Last Phase of the British Coal Strike

London, April 17.—The colliery surfacemen's strike in South Wales came to an end to-day with a conference at Cardiff, when it was decided that the men should resume work at once. That is the last of the side issues attending the great coal strike, and will bring the whole coal fields into full operation again.

RISK REFUSED

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office, and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about the sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you play football? Cricket? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No—none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old man. Sorry—good night."

QUITE HOPLESS.

They stood beneath the vine-covered arbour at the southern end of the garden, somewhere about page 352, and gazed long and earnestly into each other's eyes.

"My life's adored," murmured the man."

"My own—my very own—may I call you so?"

"Thank you, thank you."

"Then will you, sweet one, consent to be my wife?"

"Ah!" she responded, her frame convulsed with sobs; "would that you had not spoken, Gerald, for I can never be your wife."

"But you love me," he queried anxiously.

"Yes, yes," she replied.

"Then why—why—" the man's voice vibrated with passion—"why can you never marry me, if there's no earthly reason to prevent it."

"Because," she answered in a tone of helpless despair, "I am the heroine in a woman's novel."

And as he realised the insuperability of the obstacle before them he glided softly into the forty-seventh chapter.

THE BRUTE.

"Well," said the cheerful wife, who thought she had a soprano voice, "if the worst comes to the worst, I could keep the wolf from the door by singing."

"I don't doubt that would do it," replied the husband, who had suffered much, "but suppose the wolf should happen to be deaf?"

TOO EFFUSIVE.

"Father, did not Mr. Blithers ask you for my hand last week?"

"He did."

"And I have not heard from him since. Did you insult him?"

"Me. Great Scott, no! I shook his hand, and told him I was highly pleased with your choice, as I was getting tired of working for my own living."

NO NAME GIVEN.

"Who's the author of the novel you are reading?"

"There is no name given."

"Due to modesty, I suppose?"

"No; fear I should call it."

NAPPING IN CHESS

"So, you don't care for chess?"

"Not much. It's annoying to be wakened every time you drop into a nice nap merely to be told that it is your move."

THIN SKINNED.

Proprietor: What made that customer walk out? Did you offend him?

Shopman: I don't know. He said he wanted a hat to suit his head, and I showed him a soft one!

PUTTING IT GENTLY

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Oldun, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau with cold beef from the pantry, called Betty, and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl, readily, "it was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms; but let's have no hims, Betty, no hims, mind you; I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied and withdrew, [illegible] thinking.

WILD GOOSE RAISING

Toronto Man Has Wild Ducks, too, at Farm Near the City

Farming wild animals! What with the rapid decrease in all kinds of game, and especially of the fur-bearing quadruped, it really begins to look as though this might be a sound commercial proposition. That is what the Canadian Government is doing with the last remnant of the big buffalo herds. There will be an addition of two hundred calves in the huge park at Wainwright, Sask.

Not so very long ago some enterprising gentlemen in Minnesota bred wolves. When the pups had grown to big, ugly fellows with an insatiable appetite for dead horse, they were shot and their heads taken to the State authorities for the bounty. A fifteen dollar per was quite a profitable game until the law found out.

Others go in for foxes or skunks, while in an application just come to hand from an American, a request is made for a tract of rough land in Northern Ontario whereon the grantee may farm everything from bears to weasels.

When the Belgian hare craze was rife here some twelve years ago, many Torontonians had hutches in their back yards. Of course these last-named animals can hardly be termed wild, but purchasers of the rodents at $25 a pair were wild enough when they found out what an unprofitable business they had embarked in.

A well-known citizen, a great sportsmen with a farm on the Credit, has had wonderful success in raising wild geese and ducks. He is a member of a duck-shooting club, with large leases on Lake Scugog, and here in the fall of the year the wild ducks bred in captivity are made useful for decoying their roving brethren.

Painted wooden imposters are usually anchored out to tempt the wild ducks within range of the blind which the hunters hide. Oftentimes the keen eyes of the birds will detect something wrong in even the best of these decoys. But when a live duck "quacks" and flaps its wings, even the most skeptical of the breed are prone to think all is right. One of these tethered black ducks is a very deadly bait, and the wild ducks very seldom fail to answer his lusty call.

Similarly the wild geese are used in the spring of the year. Just as the ice is breaking up and the warm days of April make one long for outdoors the grey Canada goose in thousands come into the feeding grounds at Lake Scugog to fill their crops with the remnants of last year's wild rice. [illegible] Toronto hunters make their base. Impossible to approach in any other way, the wary wild goose is inveigled to within gunshot of the blind by the blandishments of the tethered captives whose importunate honkings are not to be resisted.

IMPROVE JUAREZ TRACK

Racing Popular in Mexican City, and No Expense Will be Spared

Encouraged by the success of the race meeting, Matt Winn and those associated with him in the management of Jockey Club Juarez are undertaking extensive improvements. The directors of the club are optimistic over the future of the sport in the Mexican city and have given Col. Winn carte blanche to expend any amount necessary for the improvement and embellishment of the plant. The contemplated improvements will cost approximately $50,000, and when the work is completed Col. Winn believes that the course will be one of the beauty spots on this continent. The improvements include the abandonment of the chutes at one mile and one mile and a sixteenth, and the placing of the starting posts for these distances on the main track, where the starts can be better viewed from the stand. The double railing, separating the promenade and the track proper, will give way to rows of hedges and the space between the rows will be planted in clover. Two thousand pear trees will be planted in the space north of the paddock and field. The trees have already been contracted for. The infield will be sown in wheat in winter and oats in the summer. For the protection of the patrons against the sharp winds that are prevalent at certain periods of the year, an adobe wall, twenty feet high, will be constructed around the track at the most effective locations. A ladies' room will be installed under the stand, where the restaurant and kitchen are at present located. The two last named will be moved close to the betting ring.

NEW RACING REGULATION

In introducing his bill to prevent the indiscrimate establishment of race-courses throughout the country, the Minister of Justice made the announcement that the charters applied for two years ago for Thorncliffe Park and the London Jockey Club had been granted, and the act would not apply to them. It provides that the protection of the Miller bill will not apply to new courses established under the easy, and practically secret, method of incorporation under the joint stock companies act. The bill is not retroactive, but it means that in future there can be no legal speculation on the courses of associations which receive their authority by act of Parliament.

REGULATING AIR TRAFFIC

According to the new regulations, all airmen in France must be provided with navigation certificates and with permits for their air-craft. Flights over cities or crowds are prohibited. No explosives, cameras, or wireless apparatus may be carried without special permission. In the near future all air-craft will be expected to carry three lights—a white one in front, a green one on the right and a red one on the left. A horn must be carried for use in foggy weather. Air-craft are expected never to pass within 400 feet of each other.

Driver Hurt in Street Car Collision.

Monday a collission took place between a southbound George street car and a heavy dray, belonging to the Campbellford Milling Company. The Milling Company's dray was made a wreck. It seems that some scrapings from the road had left insufficient room for drivers. The driver of the dray was severely hurt about the head. In fact, an eye-witness of the accident, told a Times representative, she thought he was killed. It is understood that a damage suit may result.

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

Peterborough—Cigar Co.—Whiskey.

The Bobcaygeon man, by name, as noted in a former issue of The Times smuggled in liquor for sale, in that "Dry" district, labelled as though billed from the Peterborough Cigar Co., was fined $50. On opening the cases the inspector found a four gallon cask, 24 quarts of port wine and 72 flasks. It was pointed out that there was no such company as the Peterborough Cigar Company. The accused who pleaded guilty, as noted, was fined $50 and costs, while the liquor, which is valued at $75 was confiscated.

Valuable Horse Killed in Runaway.

Mr. M. Storey, the Chambers street livery keeper, was a heavy loser on Saturday afternoon, by reason of a runaway. It seems that as his driver was guiding his fine grey team down George street, one of the reins snapped. The team took fright and ran away. Just as they arrived in their wild flight, which caused pedestrians, particularly women with baby carriages, on George street, to scatter quickly, in front of Messrs. F. J. R. MacPherson's plumbing store, the team and the hack became divorced. The team ran blindly along, until in front of T. Moore's marble works, there they encountered a telegraph pole. One of the horses was thrown violently to the ground with a broken leg. The animal out of common humanity, as the case was beyond repair by veterinary science, was shot. Mr. Storey, in response to a Times' representative, put his loss at $250 at least, with no insurance.

AMERICAN VIEW OF HOME RULE.

It is interesting to note just what our neighbors, across the 49th parallel think of Premier Asquith's Irish Home Rule Bill. The Boston Herald, a leading and conservative paper, has the following:

Curiosity as to the Asquith government's home rule proposals is satisfied for the time being. The premier has spoken, and the House has heard. An outline of the bill has been communicated to the Commons.

The first thing that strikes one is the prominence given to the provisions for the supremacy of the imperial Parliament and government. The cardinal principle of the bill, says the premier, is the supreme authority of the imperial Parliament, while at the same time real autonomy is conferred on Ireland in regard to Irish concerns.

The Irish Parliament is debarred from altering the home rule bill, or the power of appeal to the privy council. Of course. The bill will be an act of the imperial Parliament, and only the imperial Parliament can alter or amend it.

The lord lieutenant of Ireland is to have the power to veto or suspend any bill on the instruction of the imperial executive. This is very important. Opponents of home rule, anticipating this clause, have pointed out that the acts creating the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia and the Union of South Africa have similar provisions, and that they are practically dead letters. The best answer is that in the case of Ireland the provision would not be a dead letter. A British cabinet, particularly a Tory British cabinet, would not fear, or hesitate, to annul an act of the local Parliament if it saw fit.

Questions of interpretation are to be referred to the judicial committee of the privy council. That committee the highest court of appeal for the oversea dominions. No more suitable tribunal for solving deep constitutional problems could be devised.

The lord lieutenant is to be the head of the executive. The authority of the executive is to be coextensive with that of the Irish Parliament. This evidently means that the lord lieutenant by himself shall have no power of veto except such as he exercises by direction of the imperial government. In the British North America act the executive power is said to be vested in the crown, but it is never exercised by the crown, or viceroy, except with the advice of the cabinet. In the Irish bill an attempt is made to reconcile theory and practice. The lord lieutenant, instead of being a deputy king, a viceroy, will be an officer of government.

Next to soothing the fears of British imperialists, the government has seen the importance of meeting, as far as it is possible to do so, the objections which will be urged on behalf of Irish Protestant. The provisions guaranteeing equality of all religions are as strong as they can be made. Ulster, besides, is to have fifty-nine seats in the lower house out of a total of 164.

The financial provisions are curious. The collection of all taxes is to remain in the imperial service, and they will be paid into the imperial exchequer, which is to pay over to the Irish executive an amount equivalent to the expenditure on Irish services at the time of the passing of the act. An additional sum of $2,500,000 is to be paid to Ireland the first year, and this will diminish by $250,000 yearly until it is reduced to $1,000,000. The postal service is to be handed over to Ireland.

Lindsay-Minden Railway Extension.

Minden Echo: -For several weeks, the Echo has been in touch with a proposition which comes from the Muskoka people through the Huntsville Board of Trade, which may mean either an extension of the Lindsay-Minden Railway through to Dorset, Huntsville and westward to a point where two railways come together west of Lake Joseph, or the development of a new company to build to Minden from those points. It is proposed to build from a point west of Lake Joseph, where the C.N.R. and C.P.R. are quite close together, north of the lake to Huntsville, continuing north of lakes 6to Dorset and thence to Minden.

Get Off Like a White Man.

Dick Cornelius got drunk. Dick was accused of being an Indian, and consequently debarred from the privileges (?) of the white usurpers of the country. Dick showed that he got no Government pay or stipend from the Indian Department, so could not be an Indian. Thus he got off with the usual tribute paid by the caucasian race, when they soak up too much booze. Robert Allen, another drunk, was given 10 days to raise $2.

New "Y" on Street Railway.

Things are getting ready for the local street car line, for the "pay-as-you-enter" system. Yesterday work was begun on the construction of a "Y" at the north end of George street, street railway line. With its completion, the line will be ready for the new fare system. The "Y" is an arrangement of track by which the cars can turn round, and is necessary with the new style of cars.

HOW CONSUMPTION RAVAGES QUEBEC

A Royal Commission Finds That Its Victims Include More Women Than Men.

One of the most valuable medical reports ever issued by a province of Canada is that of the Royal Commission on Tuberculosis in Quebec.

In the Province of Quebec the death-rate from tuberculosis is much higher than it is in Ontario and in the neighboring American States, and it is higher among the French-speaking population of the province than among the English-speaking residents of Quebec. It appears to the commissioners that the causes of this remarkable condition are found in the greater poverty of the French-Canadian population, the fact that they neglect or are ignorant of many of the simplest rules of health, and that they form the greater number of artisans and laborers and are thus more exposed to the unhygienic influences of industrial work. The English-speaking population, according to the report, fill the better industrial posts, are better paid in consequence, and live in healthier surroundings. The commissioners say that reform must proceed along the lines of attempting to improve the conditions of industrial work for the French-Canadians, and are disseminating among them a greater knowledge of the laws of health.

More Women Die Than Men.

Regarding the remarkable fact that in Quebec women fall more readily victims to the disease than men, the commissioners say that for the six Winter months the women of the province, as a rule, spend most of their time immured indoors, and to preserve warmth the houses are too frequently sealed against any fresh air. Even in the Summer it is the custom to keep the blinds down and the windows closed, in order to make the houses moderately cool. They mention the fact that the high birth rate among French-Canadian women may also be a factor, since, following childbirth, the resistance to infection of any sort is lowered. There is also to be considered the fact that the larger families of the French-Canadians makes necessary the huddling together of many persons in small rooms, a condition that is highly favorable to the development of the tubercle bacilli. More than twice as many French-Canadian women die of tuberculosis, according to population, as English women. Compared with the incidence of the disease in the male sex, that among the women is as 222 compared with 164.

Climate and Disease.

As regards the relation of climate to the disease, the commissioners find that, apart from the efforts of people keeping too much indoors, it is an insignificant one. The disease is slightly more prevalent in March than in any other month of the year, and is slightly less prevalent in September, October, November and December. They do not fail to point to the probability of the germs of the disease, which manifests itself in the Spring and Summer, having established themselves in the Winter months. Cold in itself is not more favorable to the growth of the bacilli than heat, and the report quotes approvingly the words of Dr. Trudeau, who says: "It is not so much where the consumptive lives as how he lives that is of the most importance." The climate of Quebec is not necessarily more favorable to the spread of the disease than that of British Columbia.

A Very High Death Rate.

Just how serious the problem of tuberculosis is for the Province of Quebec may be judged from the fact that one-third of all deaths in the province are attributed to it. It is more deadly than all other infectious diseases combined. Only infantile diarrhoea of all specific diseases commits greater ravages. In tuberculosis more than half the victims fall between the ages of 15 and 34, and more than one-third between the ages of 20 and 45. Only two States in the Union, which keep accurate records, have a higher death rate; that in Montreal is probably higher than any other city on this continent or in the British Isles, and in comparison with seventeen civilized countries, Quebec stands sixth as regards the death rate from tuberculosis. A first long stride toward improving her position has been made by the publication of the valuable report from which these facts are taken.

STATUE OF COL. GZOWSKI

Words Which Aldershot Officers Have Put on the Monument.

On one side of the memorial erected at Aldershot in memory of Lieut. Gzowski, of the Queen's Own Rifles Toronto, appear the following words:

"This monument was erected by the officers of the Aldershot Command, in honor of their Canadian Comrade, and in token of the fellowship which binds England to Canada, and all soldiers of the Empire to one another." On the other side are these words: "To the glory of God and in memory of Roy Gzowski, Lieut. of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, who died whilst doing duty with his regiment in the Mother Country. Born at Toronto, Jan. 10th, 1890, died at Aldershot, Sept. 25th, 1910." On the edging are these words: "Canada to England, Then lead and your sons will follow, or follow and we will lead, and, side by side, though the world deride, we will show by word and deed that you share with me my youthfulness and I with you your prime, and so it shall be till the sun shall set on the uttermost edge of time."

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

THIN, FRAIL WOMEN WITH PALE CHEEKS

HOW RAPIDLY LEARNING THE WAY TO HEALTH AND VIGOR BY THE USE OF DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS.

Thousands of half-dead, emaciated, worn-out women are dragging out their weary lives simply because they don't know what ails them. Nine times in ten it's indigestion, which directly leads to anaemia, poor circulation, and eventually invalidism.

The first step towards relief is to flush out all wastes and unhealthy matter. Loosen the bowels—stir up the liver—stimulate the kidneys. Once this is done, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will quickly manifest their health-restoring qualities.

"The best way to correct impaired digestion, to cure constipation, headache, liver trouble, and other ailments of the stomach and bowels," writes Mrs. Uriah A. Dempsey, from Woodstock, "is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I didn't know what it was to enjoy a good meal for months. My stomach was sour, I belched gas, was thin, tired, pale, and nervous. I simply housecleaned my system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and have been robust and vigorous ever since."

To keep the machinery of the body in active working order, no remedy is so efficient, so mild, so curative as Dr. Hamilton's Pills—good for men, women and children, 25c. per box, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS IN MARCH.

Industrial accidents occuring to 272 individual workpeople in Canada during the month of March, 1912, were reported to the Department of Labor Of these 90 were fatal and 182 resulted in serious injuries. In the preceding month there were 74 fatal and 178 non-fatal accidents reported, a total of 239, and in March, 1911, there were 104 fatal and 218 non-fatal accidents, a total of 322. The disasters of the month involving more than one fatality were, an explosion in a coal mine at Merritt, B.C., on March 7, which caused the death of 7 miners and the serious injury of two others; accidental falls of coal in the mines at Sydney, N.S., on March 11, and at Springhill, N.S., on the 22nd, each resulting in the death of two miners, a runaway car in a mine at Westville, N.S., on February 26, which jumped the track and struck and killed two miners. On February 29, near Fitzhugh, Alta., a premature explosion of dynamite on the construction line of the Grand Trunk Pacific killed nine employees.

THOSE NOXIOUS WEEDS.

A bulletin has been issued by the Seed Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, giving a full reprint of the law governing the sale of seeds in Canada. This act, names the weeds which are considered most noxious and are particularly legislated against, and defines the standards of quality in regard to purity and germination to which seed of various kinds must conform when sold for seeding purposes. The standards for four grades of timothy, red clover, alsike, and alfalfa seed are given, and full information regarding the law as applied to farmers, and the way in which it may be used for their protection

The second part of the bulletin deals with seed testing work and the application of the law through seed inspection. The largest part of the bulletin, and perhaps that of most interest to farmers, deals with weeds and seeds. About 90 different species are illustrated and described, and with the use of the bulletin the identification of both the growing plants and the seeds should be comparatively easy. The weeds considered noxious under the Seed Control Act are given first, in botanical order. This bulletin will be very interesting and useful to those interested in the identification and control of weeds and the means to adopt to prevent their introduction and spread through commercial seeds.

NATURE'S REBUKE

All the report from the far West, indicate, and the trade of the wheat indicates that March was an exceptionally favorable month for the resumption of the threshing delayed and interrupted in the fall, and that much wheat, gloomily regarded as a total loss, has turned out to be a substantial asset.

In this there is great ground for satisfaction, especially when coupled with good weather for spring work towards this year's crop. It would seem as if nature had proferred a rebuke to those who made the country reverberate with stories of general calamity. Some of those utterances were no doubt due to individual losses and disappointment, some to congenital pessimism, but most were attributed to an ill concealed chagrin at the defeat of their political party. No transportation system in the world could have stood the strain laid upon the Canadian system last year, that of the United States least of all. How remarkably quickly Duluth was choked!

The experience shows that the forwarding of grain is entirely a question of transportation, storage and finance, and the true line is the one now taken, namely, to strengthen and broaden our own Canadian facilities, instead of making the childish and futile attempt to pour it into a hopper which is already full to overflowing. Such an emergency might not occur again for fifty years, but if it does occur, Canada, on present lines, will every year be in a better position to deal with it, instead of being helpless at the mercy of foreign traders However, it is a matter of congratulation that matters have righted themselves to so great a degree. The promise of the rainbow has not failed.

Editorial Notes

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the president of the newest nation in the world—the Republic of China—announces that he will inaugurate the greatest revolution in history, a revolution of civilization. The first move, and one of the most important, will be the adoption of the Henry George system of single tax.

For the benefit of those who are after employment under the Dominion Government, it might be said that Civil Service Competitive examination will be held on Monday the 13th day of May, 1912, and the following days, at Halifax, Yarmouth, Sydney, Charlottetown, St. John, Fredericton, Moncton, Quebec, Sherbrooke, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Sault Ste Marie, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria.

It used frequently to be the custom for hotel keepers of Peterborough to cash the pay cheques of factory employees. In fact, one ex-hotelman of this city, on the C. G. E. Co. pay day, used to draw $1000 to $1500 from the bank to pay such cheques. Whilst he did not charge any interest or commission on these cheques, a comfortable sum came back over the bar. The Ontario Government is now considering an act, whereby no tavern or shop licensee shall be himself, or by any one on his behalf take or receive in payment or part payment for liquor or cash or convert into money any time cheque, pay cheque or order for money, or money's worth issued in payment of wages or as a voucher therefor to any person not in the employment of such licensee.

That old foxy grandpa—multimillionaire John Rockefeller, seems to get the money both coming and going. When the coal mines are running, the mines, steamers and railroads he is interested in, coin money. Then when a strike is on, Mr. Rockefeller figures that the coupons on the Standard Oil Company's bonds will bring in a few more wheel barrow fulls of gold, as oil is now replacing coal for fuel on steamships and war vessels. By a strange coincidence the height of the coal strike saw the arrival on the Thames of the first great motor ship, the Selandia. No one could look at this vessel without seeing that she marked a radical change in shipping construction. She had no funnel, her engines were right aft, and consequently the interior of the ship could be arranged with a degree of comfort impossible in the case of vessels whose centre is occupied by enormous engines. The Selandia is driven by oil.

Now that the price of living is so inordinately high, it is but right that the citizen who pays fancy prices for almost everything, should get, for his money, just what he pays for. The Dominion Government evidently realizes this also. Even in such an article as olive oil, the Ottawa authorities are going to insist on purity. The last issue of the Canada Gazette, referring to that article, says: The following standards of quality are hereby established for "Edible Vegetable Oils":—Olive Oil, Sweet Oil is entirely a product of the fruit of the olive tree. Its specific gravity, at 15.5 C. is not less than 0.9140 nor more than 0.9198. It does not contain above 3.5 p.c. of free fatty acid. Cotton Seed Oil is the oil obtained from the seeds of cotton plants and subjected to refining processes. It is free from rancidity has specific gravity, at 15.5 C., between 0.9216 and 0.9300. Salad Oil. Either of the above may be sold as salad oil; but when Cotton Seed Oil is offered as Salad Oil, the fact that the article is Cotton Seed Oil must be declared on the label. Mixtures of Cotton Seed Oil with Olive Oil must be so declared on the label.

every article which was not absolutely necessary for their existence, placed the sick man in a fur sleeping bag on their sledge and made a gallant effort to drag him to safety. They progressed for four days, and reached Corner Camp on February 18.

Gallant Rescue.

Zood ran short and Crean walked to Discovery Hut—a distance of thirty miles—in eighteen hours, where Dr Arkinson and Demeterie Gerof were sheltered with dog teams. These men travelled through driving snow all night, and reached Lieutenant Evans He was taken back to Discovery Hut in a single journey of five hours.

Mr. Frank Debenham, who was in charge of the Western Geological party, discovered an extinct crater of the later glacier age above the Ferrar Glacier, where he landed in January of last year. A deep, fresh-water lake four miles long, and frozen only on the surface, was found, full of algae, while below was a promising region of limestone, rich in garnets. Some washing for gold has done, but only magnetitte was found.

The party found that a large subterranean stream had its origin on the west coast of the Koettlitz Glacier, and flowed under the moraine and glacier for twenty-five miles to the sea. This is a well-used route for seals, and their blow-holes occur at intervals. Several caves were found along its course, encrusted with beautiful ice crystals.

WOODSTOCK AGAINST CITY HALL BY-LAW

Woodstock, April 16.—By a vote of 493 in favor, and 507 against, the citizens of Woodstock yesterday defeated the by-law to raise $75,000 for a new city hall to replace the present one, which has been in use for the last fifty years. As a result of the close vote it is altogether likely that the question will again be put to the people in the near future.

The by-law to grant aid by way of bonus to the Woodstock Automobile Co. received 901 votes in its favor, and 163 against. On account of the fact that this by-law requires a majority of three-fifths of the total number of voters on the list, will have to be counted before it is known if the by-law passed or not

Ottawa, April 17.—The government is inviting competitive designs for a monument to be erected to his late majesty, King Edward VII. It is provided that the new memorial when completed is not to cost more than $35,000. The competition is open to artsists throughout the empire. The monument when completed will be placed in position on parliament hill. The author of the best design will be awarded the commission for the work and the second best will be given a prize of $1,000.

WINTERED WELL.

Southern Alberta Sheep Men Suffered Slight Loss Last Winter.

Lethbridge, Alta., April 17.—From the point of view of the live stock man, southern Alberta could not have had a better winter. The percentage of loss has been so low in all branches of the industry that a record has probably been set which will stand for many years. This is especially true in regard to the sheep industry. According to the statement made to-day by R. C. Harvie, of Raymond, president of the Southern Alberta Wool Growers' Association the total loss in all flocks in southern Alberta during the winter months was not more than 1 per cent. The average loss of sheep from winter causes is about 5 per cent. At the present time there are between 60,000 and 75,000 sheep in southern Alberta.

25.—CHORUS WITH ORCHESTRA —"O Canada."
26.—"GOD SAVE THE KING."

Miss Flowers proved a very acceptable accompanist.

This, the first annual concert of Peterborough's St. George's Choral Society, reflects no small degree of credit upon all who took part therein, and conductor Thompson is to be highly congratulated upon his admirable training of some 60 or 70 purely English voices. The event was one certainly worthy of repetition, and it is to be hoped that our citizens will in the near future have another opportunity of hearing a second production by this strong aggregation of English vocal talent.

A very graceful and thoughtful act was that of the full company singing the beautiful hymn "Eternal Father, Strong to Save," in sympathy with those bereaved through the deplorable loss of "The Titanic."

PASTOR PUTS END TO HIS OWN LIFE

Wyoming, Ont., April 16.—About eight o'clock yesterday morning, while in a fit of temporary insanity, Rev. J. M. Gunne of this village, got out of bed and with his double-barrelled gun shot himself in the neck, dying almost instantly. The deceased had been brooding over various matters for some weeks, which caused sleeplessness, and undoubtedly unhinged his mind.

ROSENTHAL INQUEST AGAIN ADJOURNED

Toronto, April 16.—Owing to Eli Dunkelman's enforced absence in the General Hospital, no evidence was taken at the adjourned inquiry at the morgue last night into the death of Joseph Rosenthal, who was murdered near the Hydro-Electric Station, Strachan avenue, on Good Friday evening.

Coroner Dr. Cotton, who presided, stated that there was a large number of witnesses to be heard at the next hearing, which was fixed for Monday the 22nd inst. It is expected also that by that time Dunkelman will be sufficiently recovered to attend and tell what he knows about the tragedy.

PRESENCE OF MIND

Coachman—"The horses are running away, and I can't stop them!"

Mr. Stingiman.—"You can't? Well be careful to run into something cheap!"

RATHER SAD.

"Yes," said Binks (the heir to his aunt's estate), "it is sad, but less than two hours after my poor aunt died, her pet parrot died also."

"Of grief?" said a sympathetic friend.

"No, of rat poison," said Binks.

JAP'S WASHING DAY.

Washing is still done in some parts of Japan by getting into a boat and letting the garments drag after the boat by a long string.

It is an economical habit of traveling Japs to get a large amount of washing thus accomplished by a steamboat excursion, and has given rise to the story that once a year they travel to wash.

CREDIT FOR THE WIFE

"Your husband says you proposed to him."

"That's quite right. Everything of importance that my husband ever got credit for doing I either did or showed him how."

TROUSERS TOO SHORT

Customer:—"The trousers are too short for the boy; he would outgrow them in four weeks."

Mr. Klinkinstein:—"Dere is not de least leetle danger, madam; dey von't last all dat time."

A MERRY WIDOW

He:—"What a glum and dismal wife you are! I don't believe you could be lively or pleasant to save your life."

She:—"I may be a dull, but just give me a chance and see what a merry widow I would make."

POOR FELLOW

"The last agony," said a spendthrift to his dissipated companions, "is the way I felt this morning. My wife asked me for a ten-dollar bill, and I cut the matter short by telling her that it could not be done, for the simple reason that I had only a matter of five dollars in my pocket.

"'I knew you'd tell me that,' she said; 'and it's true, too.' And as I looked up in amazement, she added, 'I looked in your pockets last night. I've got the ten-dollar bill.'

"Fancy how I felt! But what could I do?"

Belgium's Population

Belgium, with 643 inhabitants to the square mile, is the most thickly populated country in Europe; England's figure is 557, Germany's 306, France's 302, Russia's 194, and Spain's 161.

Storm of Long Ago

In the great English storm of 1703, which lasted two days, 8,000 people were drowned, 20,000 trees were uprooted in Kent, and two million pounds' worth of damage was done in London alone.

ODD ANIMAL SHOT

Ring-Tailed Cat Was Scrappy and Had to be Shot to Death.

Mr. Geo. Tovey, a young farmer near Perth succeeded in killing a very curious animal. It is somewhat larger than a common domestic cat, light gray in color and on its tail are a large number of dark rings. Its head and ears resemble those of a lynx. When approached it showed fight to such a degree that it had to be shot. Any authorities of this subject who have seen it believe it to be a member of the Ringtail cat family.

It's a small matter of taste whether you would rather have a cold cut from your best girl or a roast.

There are degrees of pride. Even the man with red hair hates to get bald.

SPEECHES OF KING GEORGE

Tribute to Men on the Outposts of Empire—Hard Service Required From the Sons of Britain.

Love of the Empire, a keen knowledge of the work needed to keep it intact, full appreciation of the devotion of those who do so much to that end without the public knowing anything of it, and a perfect faith in religion as the sheet-anchor of the nation—all these appear vividly in the volume of the King's speeches published by Messrs. Williams and Norgate under the title of "The King to His People."

Speaking of India at the Guildhall, His Majesty said: "With the King and Queen just finishing their preparation for their voyage to India for the Delhi Durbar a speech on our great Eastern dependency which His Majesty made at the Guildhall will be read with special interest. In the course of it he said:

I have learnt to appreciate the fact that India cannot be regarded as one country. . . . Quitting Bombay in tropical heat, my thoughts carry me from there over hundreds of miles, almost as far as from London to Constantinople, to the rigorous climate of the Khyber Pass. . . .

At Landi Kotal, the further entrance of the Pass, five British officers and a regiment of Afridis—that tribe which only a few years ago was fighting against us—now garrison this lonely outpost. To the historic stronghold of Ali Musjid came the eladiug Khans, each bringing offerings of goodwill in the shape of the pick of their flocks of sheep, and the finest specimens of their honey. . .

But, among all these varied and striking impressions, none have stirred our hearts as did the Ridge at Delhi, and the grounds and ruins of the Lucknow Residency.

His Majesty added a tribute of thanks to Lord Curzon for his preservation of the priceless architectural monuments of the country.

The defence of Lucknow calls up memories of the defence of Ladysmith, where the banner of England was kept flying, as the King said on his visit, "heroically and with dogged resolve," adding:—

The sacrifices have not been in vain. Never in our history did the pulse of the Empire beat more in unison, and the blood which has been shed on the veldt has sealed for ever our unity.

Not only does King George show his appreciation of the men who have fought and bled for their country—he is equally mindful of the heroism of those who struggle not against their fellow-men, but against the forces of Nature. This it was that led him to express his sympathy with Lieut. Shackleton's "terrible hardships," when he handed him the Royal Geographical Society's medal, with pride in his achievements "as a brother sailor."

"Terrible hardships," yes, but, as King George reminded the Eton boys last July, "The British Empire requires at the present time hard services from all its sons," whether in carrying on the education of the metropolis, "never more efficiently conducted than at the present," or in fighting the White Plague, and teaching the patient in the sanatorium "how to live cleanly, soberly and healthily," or in encouraging rifle shooting throughout the Empire.

His Majesty's interest in the children, to whom we must look as future upholders of the Empire, was further shown in a speech in connection with the Waifs and Strays Society two years ago:—

"To those who treasure with affection the happy memories of childhood, it is difficult to realise how in our very midst there are little ones to whom the joy of home and the love of parents are unknown, and we thank God for the work of this society which finds for these young, ill-fated fellow-beings new homes, good influences, and gives them a fresh start in life."

All will remember, too, the kindly thought which resulted in the entertainment of 100,000 children at the Crystal Palace last summer, when Their Majesties walked among and chatted with their little guests.

The King's deep religious convictions are plainly shown in a speech on the "Perfect Standard":—

"I am fortified by the belief that the ends which we pursue will be achieved only while we seek in faith and humility that perfect standard of conduct and sacrifice which has been revealed to Christian men."

These words show how fully His Majesty believes that the Church is the foundation on which all else must rest.

AN AUTHOR'S GOLD FISH

His Dream That It Was Dead Proved True.

A Paris paper publishes the following story concerning Signor Gabriele d'Annuzio, the famous author:

"When he was finishing at Versailles his play 'Saint Sebastien,' d'Annuzio had on his table a bowl containing a gold fish which he loved because of its profound silence and small size. When he had to proceed to Italy on business the poet was sad because he had to leave the faithful witness of his literary labors. He desired to assure the fish of a happy existence during his absence, and he asked the manager of the hotel at which he stayed to take care of it. The manager of the hotel received the following telegram from Gabriele d'Annuzio:—'I have had a frightful dream to-night. I have seen my fish dead. Is it true?' The manager smiled and immediately sent the poet a reassuring telegram. Afterwards, becoming a little uneasy he went into the office where the bowl containing the fish had been placed and found that it was dead."

LAYS CLAIM TO LAND.

Joseph Elzear Lapointe, of North Bay, is attempting to secure possession of land valued at $400,000, in the parish of Longue Pointe, the property of the Dominion Park Company. The land is the site of Montreal's largest pleasure resort. Lapointe claims that in 1840 the land was left by his grandfather to the religious authorities of the parish of Longue Pointe on condition that a monument be erected to his memory, and that certain masses be sung and certain religious ceremonies be performed for the good of his soul. These conditions, Lapointe claims, have not been carried out, and he is, therefore, taking action to secure possession of the land.

NEW MEMBERS IN LEGISLATURE

A Short Descriptive Note on Men Who Are Making Their Debut in Ontario.

First on the list of new faces in the Ontario Legislature comes the Liberal leader, Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., M.P.P. He is a lawyer and a prominent Methodist.

Anthony Rankin, Fort William, is a big lumber mill owner at Collins Bay.

Alexander Grant, East Hastings, is a farmer.

J. R. Cooke, North Hastings, is a farmer, who makes a specialty of cattle raising. He lives near Stirling, and is reeve of Rawdon Township.

Duncan McArthur, North Middlesex, is a graduate of Toronto University, runs a farm of 1,000 acres, and practices veterinary surgery.

E. A. Peck, Peterborough, is a member of the law firm of Dennistoun, Peck, and Kerr.

Don Hogarth, Port Arthur, is engaged in the real estate business.

E. A. Dunlop, North Renfrew, is a nephew of Hon. Frank Cochrane. He is a hardware and lumber merchant.

J. C. Milligan, Stormont, is a B.A. and B.C.L. of Toronto. He practices law in Cornwall.

Charles McCrea, Sudbury, is a member of the legal firm of McCrea and Valin in Sudbury.

Dr. A. E. Vrooman, West Victoria, is a doctor in Lindsay. He is also proprietor of the "Watchman and Warder" newspaper there.

W. C. Chambers of West Wellington is best known by his connection with the Chambers-Ferland Mines. He was originally a farmer, became interested in mining and then retired with a fortune. He lives in Harriston.

J. T. Regan, South Wentworth, comes of old U.E.L. stock, is a cousin of Judge Snider of Hamilton, and runs a farm near Ancaster.

Chistopher Kohler, who succeeds his brother, Jacob Kohler, in Haldimand is a well-known figure in his part of Ontario. The Kohler brothers, of Cayuga, are among the biggest cattle dealers in Ontario, and are very wealthy. He will be one of the biggest figures, physically at least, in the new House.

W. R. Ferguson, East Kent, is a well-to-do merchant residing in Dresden, and owning a big farm just outside the village. One of Mr. Ferguson's biggest assets in the political field is his wife, who takes a very keen interest in the campaign. Mr. Ferguson is an aggressive young fighter.

Robert Sutherland, East Middlesex, is a substantial farmer living at Dorchester with municipal experience.

Thomas Marshall, Monck, Hon. Richard Harcourt's old riding, is a young man, a Varsity graduate, and a hardware merchant in Dunnville.

Lieut.-Col. T. R. Atkinson, of North Norfolk, is an elderly man with years of Parliamentary experience.

W. E. A. Sinclair, South Ontario, is a young man, a lawyer, and mayor of Oshawa.

Gustave Evanturel of Prescott, is a son of the late Speaker Evanturel of the Provincial House, and is a lawyer in the village of Alfred.

Z. Mageau, Sturgeon Falls, is a young lawyer in that town.

Udney Richardson, East Wellington, is a popular manufacturer in Elora.

Dr. James McQueen, North Wentworth, practices medicine at the village of Freelton.

Napoleon Champagne, East Ottawa, is a familiar figure in the Capital. He has been one of the city controllers since the inauguration of that system there, and is very active in civic affairs.

J. A. Ellis, Ottawa West, is a civic official, who has been prominent in municipal politics for years.

John Benneweiss, South Perth, is a German, as was his opponent. This is the first time in the history of the riding when one German was put up in opposition to another.

H. C. Schofield, South Wellington, is a Toronto man, a former general manager of the Traders Bank, and a wealthy man.

W. R. Black, South Addington, is a farmer at Parham.

John W. Westbrook, North Brant, is reeve of Hereford Township, and a successful farmer.

Arthur E. Ross, Kingston, is a practising doctor and one of the professors of Queen's University.

E. W. Owens, South Toronto, is a well known lawyer and has for years been active in Conservative interests in Toronto.

MOTHER OF TWELVE

Mrs. du Tremblay Dies at the Age of 103 Years.

Mrs. Villebon du Tremblay has passed away at Baie St. Paul, at the age of 103 years. She was the widow of Major du Tremblay, and was born in Ireland, her maiden name being Ann Nugent. She came to Canada from County Wexford when 11 years of age and was married at the age of 17. She was the mother of twelve children, eight of whom are still living.

Greatest Invention of Age for Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered is so Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as CATARRHOZONE.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhozone cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhozone keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—unfitness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhozone, and credit is no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhozone.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH.

"Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the 'Progress' a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God-sent invention, Catarrhozone.

"Believing in the merit of Catarrhozone, I tried it.

"Catarrhozone cured me and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name if it will help relieve some from suffering, and I will always remain.

"Bob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.S."

Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him and his testimonial for Catarrhozone is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhozone is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., or Kingston, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH IS A REAL BIG CITY
WHY ?
Because Peterborough has NATURAL power

That is why any wise man who has a little money to invest should grasp the last real opportunity presented in the great west to obtain an investment in the Peterborough of three immense provinces.

MEDICINE HAT

Think of the money that has been made in Peterborough, and even this city took quite a while to become 22,000. The western Peterborough has 6,000 now. Four new industries coming. Look at your news dispatches which tells of the voting on Friday, April 19th.

300,000

Bushel elevator for Ogilvies goes up in June beside the

3,000

Barrel a day flour mill. It all means that the man who obtains a little property right away will be ready to sell in a few months when the population is 10,000. There must be 2,000 more people in Medicine Hat before Sept. 1st than there is now to handle the work of the factories, and there must be another thousand to build homes for these people, for there is not to-day a house to rent in the city. I have done my part in telling you of the opportunity. Write at once and I will tell you further facts and help you to make money rapidly on investments in a city which is destined to be the only city in the west for industries and manufacturing expansion.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is half gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

Terms

On Lots costing $75 to $125 are: Cash, $10; balance at $5 per month.
On Lots costing $130 to $175 are: Cash, $10; balance at $7.50 per month.
On Lots costing $180 to $250 are: Cash, $10; balance at $10 per month.
On business lots over $250 are: Cash, $10; balance at $15 per month.

NO INTEREST NO TAXES

All future payments cancelled and free deed to your family if purchaser dies after making 25 per cent. of his payments. This is our new insurance feature.

BOTH BREWS AT LOCAL DEALERS
DOMINION BREWERY CO. Toronto Limited

Monday morning another case of "didn't know it was loaded," occurred, when Odely Taylor, 16 years old, of 626 Bethune street, got monkeying with a 22 rifle. As a result the hammer fell, the detonating mass was struck, a small bullet sped at a rate of about 1200 feet a second, and a toe on the boy's left foot got a shock. It might be added, to give full justice to the story, that the matter of being loaded was not so much the cause of the accident, as not noticing that the hammer was at full cock. Dr. Brown was called in and hopes that the foot will not be totally injured for keeps.

Spring's Sure Indication.

Monday afternoon a lady living on Gilmour street, was visiting another lady, her friend on Brock street. Quoth the Brock street madam, "Well this is spring at last! I always look for the blackbirds, and they are thick in the trees round our house. Yes, spring is here in earnest." To her the Brock street lady replied, "Yes, my dear, I do believe that long winter is over. However, I do not judge by the birds, but by the clothes lines. When you see long strings of fine white clothes hanging in the yards, why spring has arrived.

Local Methodists Vote on Union.

The vote in George street Methodist church, on church union, seems to be greatly in favor of that proposition.

The work of taking the vote in St. James' and Charlotte street Methodist churches was completed yesterday. The Quarterly Board of St. James' church voted 19 for and 2 against, while the congregation recorded a vote of 97 for and 12 against the proposed church union. Not more than one-half of the total vote was polled. The vote at Charlotte street church showed a majority of 302 for church union and 6 against. Mark street Methodist church, East City, is not yet completed.

Turf Club and Exhibition Men Meet.

Monday afternoon the members of the resusitated Peterborough Club met a committee of the Peterborough Exhibition Association, and held a conference, with a view to retaining a race track at the present exhibition grounds. The election of officers of the Turf Club will be held on Saturday next. Judging by what "those in the know," say, with the present personnel of the Turf Club, this city can look ahead to good races in the immediate future.

Peterborough Board of Trade and City Fathers might well take example by St. John, N.B. That city has issued an illustrated folder describing present and future conditions there, a copy of which reached The Times [illegible]

Lindsay citizens seem to show little interest in their local Children's Shelter. They should send a deputation to Peterborough to see how destitute children are protected and cared for in this city.

THE HIGH PRICES CONTINUE.

The latest findings of the Department of Labor's prices record show that the past month maintained the exceptionally high point reached in February. The Department's index number was 134.2 for March compared with 134.3 in the preceding month. A year ago the number was 129.3. A feature of the past month was the decline in egg prices; on the other hand animals, meats, vegetables and imported fruits advanced. It is pointed out that the Department's figures are based on observations of the movements of about 200 articles selected for their representative character, and that the price level now shown is the highest in at least thirty years.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Mr. Lundy Buys Rapid Tool Co.

Mr. D. J. Lundy, has once more demonstrated his enterprise and the faith he has in Peterborough's future. Yesterday he purchased the property and plant of the Rapid Tool Company, in public auction for the sum of $4,300. It was learned that the city's interests, which, in the form of a bonus amounting to $7,200, is fully protected.

New Civic Official Honored.

The new local Sanitary Inspector, who entered on his duties yesterday, was honored on Saturday night by the presentation of a handsome pipe, by the staff of the news room of the Examiner. The editorial and office staff, showed their friendship and appreciation of his services, as proofreader, by giving him an elegant umbrella.

FROM A SOUTH WINDOW

IN CANADA

"Love, Laughter and Life"

UNSELFISH LOVERS

It is not all lovers who, in their new-found happiness and interests, are unselfish. In their joy and love for one another they frequently find that they are so absorbed in each other's welfare and interests that their companions of other days are neglected. Little duties that both used to perform for friends or neighbors are now neglected, because there seems no time to consider anyone except he or she, as the case may be.

A man will reverence and love a girl just as much (perhaps even more) if he sees that in spite of her great love for him she does not in the least neglect the old people or those who are dependent on her for little things that make all the difference to their comfort and happiness. By doing this, she will make it all the more plain to her future husband that she has the necessary good and sterling qualities that will make a loving and devoted wife.

Old folk are usually very considerate to lovers; for, to quote the old saying, "All the world loves a lover"—and older folk most certainly do.

Just a little thought, some trifling consideration—that is all it wants on both sides. Will those happy couples who are engaged endeavor to remember this: Try to be unselfish to those who may be very dependent on their help. It will be something for the happy lovers to look back upon when they are married, and each can say: "I never once neglected those who looked to me for help." When the lovers are man and wife, each will immensely appreciate that fact in the other. Love increases by unselfish acts and deeds—nay, the whole world is made the better for them.

WOMEN AND DRESS

Ruskin's Advice on the Subject Followed by the French

Of all questions that vex and disturb humanity—feminine humanity—few are more perplexing or importunate than that of dress. "What shall I wear?" is with thousands of women almost the first thought. Superiority of intellect and education seem powerless to wean women from this absorbing consideration. Witness Queen Elizabeth's eighty wigs and three thousand dresses; and Lady Jane Grey's ruff, necessitating, when she ate, the use of a spoon with a handle quite two and a half feet in length. Still, we do not want women wholly devoid of a spice of vanity. There is a Spanish proverb that says—"A woman without vanity is like a lemon without the juice." Ruskin wrote much on the subject of women's attire, and one piece of advice this sage gave made a deep and lasting impression on the public—"Let the women who can afford it get their gowns made by a good dressmaker, and with the utmost precision and perfection attainable." Those who have followed this advice have found it the greatest economy in the end, and have derived also the greatest satisfaction from doing so. Every Frenchwomen endorses this opinion and experience. She has fewer frocks than an Englishwoman of the same social standing, but then, they are usually made by a first-class dressmaker.

THE ROYAL HOME

The King and Queen Enjoy the Quiet and Peace of Home Life

Home life is as dear to the hearts of the King and Queen as it is to other men and women. Whenever it is possible, when there is no possibility of their Royal presence being required at any State, civic, or private function, they enjoy the quiet and peace of home life.

Sandringham is the favorite country seat of their Majesties. At Sandringham, and in the neighboring villages and surrounding country, tales are told of the ideal home-life led by the King, Queen, and their children. It is here indeed that the highest standard of ideal home-life is reached by King George and Queen Mary. The keynote of that life is simplicity.

Constantly, Queen Mary, sometimes accompanied by little Princess Mary, visits the cottages on the estate, carrying messages of good cheer, bright smiles, and kindly inquiries for any sick folk there may be. It is well known that Queen Mary makes many little personal sacrifices in order to visit the tenants on the estates, and she has beautifully trained her children, and brought them up with the utmost simplicity, so that they may fully understand and appreciate the beauties of a quiet but essentially English home life.

The little Princes and Princesses are daily visited in the nursery and in the school-room when the King and Queen are at home. From early years the Royal children have been lovingly taught the spirit of "give and take," have been trained to give in and obey their elders, their governesses and tutors, have been taught to be unselfish towards one another. And Princess Mary, in the days when she had less pocket-money than now, started an account in the Post Office Savings Bank, and, accompanied by one of the ladies of the Royal household, could be seen paying in money and taking it out.

Thus it will be seen that, in spite of King George and Queen Mary's great and exalted position, they teach their humbler subjects the beauty of home life and home discipline.

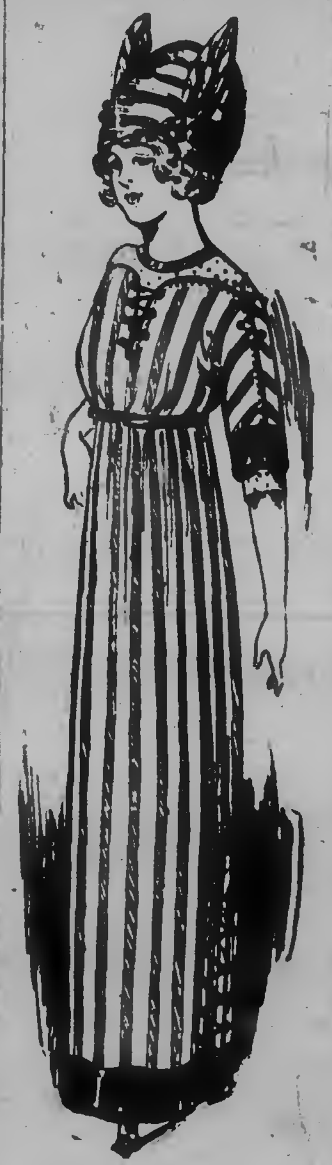
Salt in the Laundry

Salt should be used to fix colors that have softened and run in the washing. It must not be used in the washing water, as it makes soap useless; but the rinsing water ought to be rather salty. A good handful of salt to a gallon of water is the average proportion. Salt should be added to the soaking water for handkerchiefs and lace curtains, as it renders the washing an easier process. Salt and beeswax make rusty flatirons as clean and smooth as glass.

Although Mr. John Flett, representing the American Federation of Laing, so the latter was postponed untill to-morrow night.

Rev. Father Casey, of Campbellford has been presented with a complimentary address, with Rev. Father Meagher in the chair, prior to his leaving for a trip to Ireland.

The brethren of the Knights of Pythias Marathon Lodge, No. 39, will meet in their rooms, to-morrow afternoon, at 1.30, to attend the funeral of the late brother, Mr. Miles D. Lake.



ATTRACTIVE DESIGN FOR STRIPED MATERIAL

The above sketch suggests a charming model for stripes, so popular in all sorts of fabrics and colors. For band on skirt, cuffs, and pipings on bodice choose plain material to match one of the stripes or of a harmonizing shade. Guimpe and undersleeves are of chiffon cloth studded with small crystal beads.

HOLIDAY HINTS

Shady Hats are Better than Sick Headaches

There is apt to be mischief to the eyes during the holidays from glaring sun, loss of sleep, and from excessive reading. Do be careful of these things for your own sake.

Do not allow your skin to get coarse and freckled from exposure. It doesn't pay. You can enjoy yourself perfectly well without incurring blistered arms and a freckled red nose.

Do not forget to take away a bottle of some soothing lotion, with which to hide the ravages of the sun, and do not disdain to wear a shady hat when you are going out; shady hats are usually becoming, and they are certainly more to be desired than a sick headache.

Violet Toilet Water

Take two ounces of best Florentine orris-root, powdered, and six ounces of deodorized alcohol. Put the powder in a bowl, and pour the liquid on gradually until the whole is well mixed. Add six drops of essential oil of violets, pour into a bottle, and cork tightly. It should be kept for three or four weeks before using. A few drops added to a basin of cold water used for the final rinsing leaves the body cool and fragrant in warm weather. It is quite inexpensive to make; the ingredients can be had at any good chemist's for very little money.

These are the days when citizens appreciate work done, during the winter months by live citizens. Along many blocks where snow had been cleaned away, the pavements are dry In other stretches, the pavement is a continued puddle.

The first really-truely thunderstorm this season, kept fidgetty people in trouble Sunday night.

Dr. McPherson has reported to the Water Commissioners, that the city water, during March, showed uniform purity.

A QUERY IN COLORS

Dulliditch had a new Rugby football club, and the players were fifteen of the lustiest, liveliest lads the village could produce.

The day of their first match duly dawned as per programme, but the jerseys failed to turn up from the outfitters.

As a result of this unforeseen tragedy the players took the field in raiment of many hues rivalling the rainbow. The weak November sunlight showed up the weird colouring, making it appear like an artist's paint-bedaubed palette.

Just before half-time two laborers chanced to stop athwart the hedge, and peered over.

"What is it, Bill? asked one, in no little amaze. "Is it a football-match or a bag o' mixed chocolates?"

THE TRUTH—THE WHOLE TRUTH

Papa, severely: "Did you ask mamma if you could have that apple?"

Three-year-old: "Yes, papa."

Papa: "Be careful now. I shall ask mamma, and if she says you didn't ask her, I shall whip you for telling a story. Did you ask mamma?"

Three-year-old: "Yes, papa, truly" (a pause). "She said I couldn't have it."

DELIGHTED.

Rosie—Mary Smith was married this morning.

Josie—Who's the happy man?

Rosie—Her father.

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST.

A certain family were preparing to take their annual week's holiday, with the exception of their son named John, who had to work this particular week. His parents gave him strict instructions not to get too late for work, as he was a very sound sleeper.

The family had a fine time at the seaside, and got home again about twelve o'clock noon the following Saturday. They were surprised to find the blinds drawn, exactly as they had left them the Saturday previous.

After a deal of knocking and hammering at the door, the bed-room window was slowly opened, and John, rubbing his eyes, called out:

"Hello! What's up? Did you miss the train?"

HIS LONG FALL.

"I see," said Mr. Smart, looking up from his paper, "that a man fell three hundred feet from a chimney, yesterday."

"Was he hurt?" inquired Mrs. Smart.

"Eh? Oh, no" said Mr. Smart sarcastically. But I believe he complained of a slight headache."

FOXY.

He—How shall I express my sentiments toward you?

She—On paper, please. Then there can be no chance of your wriggling out of it.

WHY HURRY?

The scorching cyclist was on the road to Stratford-on-Avon. He was bent over the handle-bars, and the beads which bespeak the strenuous toiler were trickling off his face.

"Hi, sonny!" he called to a passing youth, "Am I right for Shakespeare's house?"

"Yes, you're right, mister," was the dreamy reply of the leisurely youth; "but you needn't hurry—Shakespeare's dead."

HARDLY.

"Are you a friend of the groom's family?" asked the usher at the church wedding.

"I think not," replied the lady addressed; I'm the mother of the bride."

THAT LITTLE BIRD.

"Whatever are you doing to the jam cupboard, Teddy?"

"Birdlimin' it."

"What for?"

"Why, to catch that little bird wot's always telling muvver when I goes in it."

LOSING FAITH.

"Why doesn't Jimson call in his family doctor? Has he lost faith in him?"

"No; the family doctor has lost faith in Jimson."

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

There were three more strikes in existence, according to the Department of Labor's monthly record, in Canada during March than in February, and three more than in March, 1911. About 14 firms and 6,000 employees were involved. The loss in working days was estimated at 44,000, compared with 10,000 in February, and 30,000 in March, 1912. The only strike involving more than 600 employees was one of Tailors at Toronto.

First Drive of Season.

The first drive of logs of the season passed Scott's Mills, near Buckhorn, yesterday, and came through into Deer Bay. They belonged to the Baker Lumber Co., Lindsay.

Navigation Opens at Lindsay.

The swing bridges at Lindsay were opened yesterday for the first time this season, and the Baker Lumber Company's tug was locked through, and proceeded up the Scugog for a tow of logs.

Sunday School Convention.

The annual Sunday School Convention of the city will be held on Sunday, April 28th, and Monday, 29th. A rally of the Sunday school workers will be held on Sunday afternoon at 4.15 at Knox church, and the public meeting will be held in Park street church at 8 p.m.

Wild Geese Are Shot.

Large flocks of wild geese, for the past week, have been common in the vicinity of Consecon Lake and have been observed placidly feeding in the meadows, and in last year's grain fields. Some of the sporting farmers have been so fortunate as to secure several of these plump birds.

A St. John's Church Wedding.

A quietly celebrated wedding was solemnized in St. John's church, on Monday afternoon, when Miss Mamie Cooney of this city, became the bride of Mr. Maragos of the Boston Cafe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson in the presence of a few immediate friends and relatives. Mrs. Herb. Cooney was bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Louis Yeotes. The newly married couple left on the 4.28 C.P.R. train on a wedding trip to Toronto. They will reside in Peterborough.

What a Shanty Clerk Does.

Mr. Courthope Pousette, who has been spending a few days in the city, returned yesterday morning to the Cavendish Lumber camps. In response to a question put to him by a Times representative, Mr. Pousette said, "You ask if a bookkeeper in a lumber camp doesn't have an easy time, nothing todo but read novels, and draw his salary, which he cannot spend out there? Let me tell you I have the books of three camps to attend to. Our camp is seven and the other one four miles from my headquarters. I have to visit each of them at least once a week!"

Children's Home Improvements.

A Times reporter had occasion yesterday to visit the Children's Shelter. Mr. and Mrs. Henry, the caretakers, had everything in first-class shape. Mr. Henry is arranging for a complete overhauling of the place. The Board of Management has decided to do considerable papering and painting, particularly the repainting of the inside of the building. There are [illegible] children at present in the Home, ranging from two to fourteen years of age. Some of them are bright, pretty little tots, who are awaiting adoption by some one wanting a child.

Planet Mars to Be Discussed.

The Peterborough Branch of the Royal Astronomical Society will meet on Monday evening, April 22, at the Collegiate Institute. This meeting is not only for the members of the society; the general public is most cordially invited. Admission free. "Mars" will be the subject of the evening. The planet is perhaps the only world, in addition to the earth, in the solar system, where life as we are acquainted with it, is possible. Its formation, development and present condition will be discussed.

Exams for Ministry Began.

Yesterday morning an important event took place in the city. Whilst the examination of candidates for the ministry may seem a passing thought to some people, its significance is far reaching. Yesterday the examination began, in the parlours of the George street Methodist church. The presiding examiners are: Rev. R. Burns, Omemee, chairman, and Rev. J. G. Lewis, of Warkworth, secretary.

The following candidates are writing preliminary First and Second Years:

Ernest Harston, Fort Stewart, Hastings Co.; M. L. Hinton, St. Ola, Hastings Co.; R. M. Patterson, Lifford; A. R. Walsh, Darymple; C. G. Williams, Consecon, Prince Edward Co.; A. C. Hie, Victoria Road; Douglas Dickson, Caernarvon; Harry Wilkinson, Wilberforce, S. H. Nicholson, Monteagle, and L. M. Sharpe, F. G. Joblin, N. C. Parsons.

The Board will sit till Thursday.

The Titanic Compared Locally.

A local citizen, who is somewhat of a statistician, yesterday was speaking of the steamship Titanic disaster To a Times representative, as they stood on the corner of Hunter and George streets, looking towards the block, the corner of which is occupied by Mr. Kempt as a drug store, formerly used by Mr. MacDonald for the same business, the local statician asked, "You have heard of the trouble with the White Star Line Titanic?" "Yes." "How high do you think she would be if, for the sake of argument, set right in Hunter street, as compared with the block mentioned above?" Our scribe, after deep thought, suggested she might be as high as the top of the block referred to. Our reporter's informant smiled, and replied, "Yes; just put 3½ or 4 stores on that block and you would get the depth of the Titanic from keel to top deck. If her stern propellers were at Moore's marble works, corner of Charlotte and George street and her bow pointed north, her bow would just be at the centre of Hunter street."

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

The probs for to-day are northerly winds, mostly cloudy and quite cool.

Another sign of spring! McGuire, caretaker of Victoria Park, is once more on duty at that spot.

Yesterday Mr. Frank Mason, the local florist, shipped some floral designs to L. O. L. No. 49, Tweed.

The Free Masons of the city will hold an emergency meeting to arrange for their attendance at the funeral of the late Mr. Rundle.

The city of Peterborough was dumfounded yesterday when the news came that the Titanic had sunk with 1800 aboard.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be held this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. A large attendance is requested as business of importance is to be transacted.

The Largest and Best Vacuum Carpet Cleaner in the city can be rented by the day. Just the thing for Spring house cleaning. For particulars Phone No. 274.

If you, you Peterborough readers want to see the sun's eclipse, you will have to tumble out of bed at about 5.33 a.m. this morning. Of course you will not have received the Times, in time to get this information. Still that's all we could do.

The press of Belleville is making a story out of a hen's egg laid in that city which measured 8 in. by 6¼ in. Why, a Peterborough hen, about three weeks ago, laid an egg that would allow a cubic inch more space of the material that goes with custards, gin fizzes "and sich."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. W. R. Widdess, of Lindsay, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. M. Mullen, of Belleville, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. G. T. Martin, Smith's Falls, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Lewis Ingram, formerly of the Review reportorial staff, left yesterday for Edmonton, Alta.

Very general regret was expressed yesterday throughout the city on the death of Mrs. Wm. Rundle.

Superintendent Lynch, General Roadmaster Neal and Road Master Bibby, of the G.T.R., passed through the city en route to Belleville.

Mr. Harry Crowe, of Buckhorn, who has been out West on an extended tour, has been in the city for the past few days.

Little Miss Grace Dunsford, Water street, who has been ill for a day or two, was yesterday reported as better.

Mrs. J. W. Miller and Miss Miller, 212 McDonnell street, will receive this afternoon and not again this season.

Mrs. J. W. Miller and Miss Miller, 212 McDonel street, will receive this afternoon (Wednesday) and not again this season.

Mr. Henry Henderson, of Norwich, accompanied by his son, Mr. John Henderson, are in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman, Water street.

Mrs. Brandon, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Robertson, and her granddaughter, Miss Mattie B. Robertson, are spending a few days the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brandon, Fenelon Falls.

Mrs. Frank Pakenham will not receive to-day, nor again this season.

Miss Grace MacLaren, daughter of Mr. Justice MacLaren, Toronto, who has been visiting Miss Leta Denne, has returned home.

Lieut. Allan B. Mann, of Hawthorne Lawn, Smith, who for the past two weeks has been studying at Stanley Barracks, Toronto, has returned home, having been successful in obtaining his commission as lieutenant in the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons.

WOMEN AND PICKET DUTY.

Appeal to Police After Being Drenched With Water From Fire Hose

Aberdeen, Wash., April 16.—After twenty-four women with their baby carriages had been splashed with water from a fire hose at the Slade lumber mills yesterday afternoon after they had attempted to crowd into the mill, they marched to the city hall, invaded the police station and demanded of Chief of Police Templeman that they be given protection. The women were put forward as pickets while the men strikers stood behind them. The women were warned three times not to attempt to enter the mill, and when they persisted they were met by water. The use of women for picket duty is the latest move of the strikers.

WORLD-WIDE STRIKE.

London Labour Leader Promises The Biggest Ever.

London, April 16.—The glamor of the minimum wage idea, recently made a legal principle by the Government in the case of the coal miners, pervaded a demonstration made by workers in many trades in Trafalgar Square yesterday. Shop clerks, bar tenders, milkmen, bakers and waiters were among those who attended. The tenor of the speech was: "If the miners got the minimum wage, why not others."

Mr. Passmore, who was prominent in the late railway strike, reiterated the warning give by other leaders recently of a world eclipsing strike of all industrial workers on May 1.

BELLEVILLE WOMAN BREAKS HER BOND

A Belleville dispatch says that Mrs. Florence Mundville was arrested on Saturday charged with having broken her bond, whereby she was allowed her liberty, after being convicted of keeping a disorderly house. Mr. Anderson, County Crown Attorney, asked for her commitment on the original indictment. Mrs. Mundville's lawyer, although the prisoner admitted breaking her bond, asked for a medical examination, and report, showing she was seriously ill. Dr. Dolan, reported her condition as serious. The court decided that she should be sent to jail for one month on remand to see if she could be sent to the hospital. If this is not possible she might be sent to the Mercer Institute, Toronto.

PUBLIC OPINION

er paying street car fare, I want to be carried as far north as the cars will take me. I understand that the Peterborough Street Car Co., in putting in their "Y," are going to stop their cars there, instead of running them to the place at the end of the line, where they have always ran to. If this distance is to be cut off the Company's run, it looks like spite work, because the city took Hydro-Electric power.

Reply.—The Times called up Mr. Munro, manager of the Peterborough Radical Railway Co., and asked him about the subject matter of the above letter. He explained at some length that, under present conditions, the few feet that will be eliminated from the north part of their Water street line is necessary. Where the "Y" is being placed is the only spot available for such purpose. This explanation is too long and complicated to give here, but is fully conclusive.

CALGARY SENSATION.

Alleged that Smallpox Patients are Not Looked After Properly.

Calgary, Alta., April 17.—Eleven small-pox patients are housed in one of Calgary's isolation hospitals under conditions that are said to be most unfavorable. They are, it is said, without attendance of any sort, without heat, sewer or water supply. They are quarantined in a building on Crescent Heights known as the pest house.

Three women, 3 children all under 3 years of age, and 5 men comprise the unhappy group which now occupies the house. No precaution is taken, it is alleged, to prevent patients leaving or the public entering the premises. An investigation is expected at an early date.

TORONTO MEN INDICTED.

Fake Damage Suits Lead to Trouble For Street Railwaymen.

Calgary, Alta., April 17.—From Toronto this morning came word that Robert J. Fleming, J. W. Curry, K.C., claims Agent Foster and two private detectives of the Toronto Street Railway who have been indicted on six counts in connection with a fake damage suit started in the Toronto courts. The railway employees were charged with conspiracy, contempt of court, and various other crimes.

Incidentally, J. W. Curry, K.C., who held the brief for the street railway company was in Calgary this morning and was interviewed. He said "Of course I will be in Toronto when the case comes up."

CRUISERS RUSH TO AID THE DOOMED STEAMSHIP

Salem and Chester Expected to Reach Carpathia by Noon There Are Over Four Hundred Names Unknown, of Persons Rescued

Wireless Station at Sable Island in Communication for a Time Yesterday Morning With Cunard Line Steamship Carpathia en Route to New York

Wireless Station at Halifax Reported a Violent Electric Storm, Conditions Improved at Daylight

Halifax, N.S., April 17.—The wireless station at Sable Island was in communication for a time this morning with the Cunarder Carpathia en route to New York with the survivors of the Titanic on board. The Cunarder reported that twenty icebergs were sighted off the Banks near the scene where the Titanic sunk but no details of the disaster were sent.

The wireless station here reported a violent electric storm off Sable Island early to-day which cut off communication with the Carpathia at the time. Conditions improved as daylight came and it is possible further news from the Carpathia will be received.

Halifax, N.S., April 17.—Communication with the Carpathia is greatly hampered by the maze of wireless flashes that are being sent out by the fleet of steamers dotting on the ocean all seeking news of the Titanic disaster. Apparently not until the Carpathia gets out of range of these ships will anything filter through.

New York, April 17.—In faintest touch with the wireless station at Sable Island, the Cunard Liner Carpathia, with 868 survivors of the sunken Titanic on board, was creeping down the coast early this morning, making the best time for this port that foggy conditions along the Atlantic shore line would permit.

Speeding up the coast towards the rescue ship and hoping to get within wireless speaking distance of her before very many hours had passed, were the scout cruisers Salem and Chester, ordered by the Government at Washington to make all possible haste in their allotted task in breaking the seal of silence which so far has kept the survivors on the Carpathia from making known to the outside world the thrilling story of the Titanic's last hours afloat and the momentous happenings after she had taken her two mile plunge to the bottom of the Banks of Newfoundland, early Monday morning.

Too Far Off Shore to Send Wireless.

From the Chester at an early hour this message came:

"Expect to be up with Carpathia within three or four hours."

While the scout cruisers expectations on this point were not realized there seemed to be every prospect that through the machinery the Government has set in motion definite word from the Cunarder might be secured within a reasonably short time. The injection of the scout cruisers into the situation indeed, seemed to afford the only hope of opening up communication with the Carpathia until she reached the wireless zone of Nantucket, as she was apparently too far off shore and her wireless apparatus too weak to reach the Sable Island station in a way to admit of the ready transmission of messages.

When She Gives up Tenacious Secret.

Conviction that the Carpathia carried the only key to the details of the Titanic's fate deepened to-day with the practical elimination of all hope that survivors of the disaster would be found on other vessels. That more than 1,300 persons, passengers and crew, had gone down with the giant liner was the belief that grew into almost positive conviction as hour after hour passed. Other sources of possible rescue were eliminated and practically the only hope that remained to friends or relatives of the Titanic's passengers was that those they sought might, after all, be found upon the Carpathia, when that vessel was able fully to give up the secret she had so tenaciously held since the hour early Monday when she picked up the floating remnants of the Titanic's cargo of nearly 2,200 souls.

THE WEATHER.

Mostly fair and cool.

RUSHING TO THE RESCUE.

BODIES WERE PICKED UP BY LINER CALIFORNIAN

On board the steamship Olympic, eastbound, by wireless to Cape Race and land lines, to New York, April 17.—The bodies of at least some of the victims of the lost Titanic will be brought, probably to Boston, on the Leyland liner Californian. Wireless advices, reaching us from the scene of the disaster, say that some have already been recovered. They will be tenderly cared for, and we understand that they will be taken to port as soon as the Californian resumes her interrupted voyage, just when we do not know.

The Olympic is proceeding. She could do nothing. The realization of the tragedy, followed by the knowledge that the younger sister of the Olympic went to the bottom while this great vessel was rushing to her aid at top speed, and hoping against hope that she would get there on time, has stunned all on board.

The captain's seat in the dining saloon, his cabin, everything about the Olympic, is a reminder of Captain Smith, first commander of the Olympic, who lost his life on the bridge of the sister ship. There is little talking among the passengers. In hushed whispers, passengers and sailors alike discuss the tragedy which is brought squarely home to everyone here.

Since the word was received that the Titanic had struck a berg the apprehension has been very great. As soon as Captain Haddock received the first wireless word of the disaster, he turned the Olympic's prow toward the scene and sent her ahead at full speed. There was hope that we might arrive in time. That hope was shattered when we got into wireless reach of Carpathia and the full news of the tragedy was received.

The word of the tragedy shocked and appalled everyone. The Olympic's orchestra was hushed. The instruments were put into their cases, and will not be heard again on this voyage at least.

FIVE TOTS DEAD FROM POISONING

Authorities are Puzzled Over Strange Deaths in Prince Edward Island

DEATH DUE TO FISH

Neither One of the Parents Was Ill—Doctors Mystified — Horrible Story From Prince Edward Island.

Charlottetown P.E.I., April 18. — The death of five children of Patrick McGee, St. Mary's Road, fourteen miles from Montague, all within twenty-four hours, is still a great mystery and the authorities are puzzled over the affair.

After an investigation, which lasted for nearly 12 hours before the coroner, Dr. Allan, of Cardigan, no definite conclusion can be arrived at. The jury heard the evidence of Patrick McGee, his wife, Robert McCarron and Dr. Fraser, who attended the children. Their verdict was that death was due to some form of poison but that a post mortem was necessary to determine the cause of poisoning. A postmortem was then held on the bodies of the five and six year old children. Dark spots on the intestines and interior of the stomach clearly pointed to poisoning. The organs will be forwarded to Montreal for analysis.

McGee and wife testified that on Thursday the family, numbering seven, partook of herring bread and tea for dinner. They ate part of a fish each. In the evening McGee was away, the rest of the family having cornmeal porridge for supper.

Through the night the children all became ill with pains in the head stomach and breast. vomitting continuously. The first to die was the baby, Thomas, aged 5, at 9 Friday morning, Lewis aged fourteen, and Bridget, aged six, died together after midnight, Pansy, aged twelve and George, aged eight, at 8.30 on Saturday.

Dr. Fraser first arrived Friday afternoon, after the baby had died. He worked over the children 12 hours, and was relieved later by another doctor, but nothing could be done.

The parents declared there was no poison of any kind about the house. It was thought that the herring eat-

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—As a temperate, but not a "temperance" man allow me through your columns to congratulate the Ontario Legislature on its recent action in preventing hotelkeepers from cashing cheques given by factories. I have seen, in years gone by, scores of young men, working in local factories, who getting their pay cheques after banks had closed, steer straight for a hotel. A good slice out of these cheques was left in the bar, and an equally big slice of the former cheque owners wit gone the way of the alcohol. Whether Mr. Whitney's treatless bar, or Mr. Rowell's barless treat appeals to the Province at next election, there is no denying the fact that Mr. or rather Sir James Whitney, is in earnest in trying to introduce common sense temperance legislation.

NO CERTAIN WAY TO TELL PRESENCE OF DANGEROUS ICE

New York, April 19.—According to the men in charge of the United States Hydrographic Service, there is no absolutely sure method of determining the approach, under all conditions, of a vessel into dangerous proximity to floating masses of ice. Many instances of disaster are on record where none of the usual precautions had been neglected, and yet collisions with ice bergs had occured with serious results.

Lieutenant John Grady, U.S.N., in charge of the branch hydrographic office in the Maritime Exchange buildinging said yesterday:—"It is clear from the latitude and longitude named as the point where the Titanic was in collision with the iceberg that the great vessel was following the southern route, which is regarded as the safest of the transatlantic lanes during the season of the year, when detached ice is most likely to be encountered. It is fair also to assume considering the long experience of the captain and officers of the White Star Line vessel, that they had neglected none of the precautions which would naturally be observed on the largest and finest vessel in the world, making her maiden voyage with sixteen hundred human lives at stake upon her decks and in her cabins and saloons.

Precaution Sometimes Unavailing.

"On the bridge of a big passenger steamship like the Titanic the system and the discipline are no less perfect than they are on board a warship of the first class. If a dropping temperature or any of the other usual indications of approach to ice had been observable, it is only reasonable to assume that these omens would have been noted in due time. As a matter of fact, we know that collisions have occurred frequently where all such preliminary warnings have failed, despite the utmost vigilance upon the bridge and in the lookout forward. A recent illustration of that fact was the case of the Columbia last August.

"Frequently the temperature of the air falls as ice approaches, but that is not always the case, and it is generally only at an inconsiderable distance from it. The fall of the temperature of the sea water is sometimes a sign of the approximity of ice, although in regions where there

TITANIC WAS SHATTERED FROM BOW TO MIDSHIPS

St. John's Nfld., April 17.—A report is current here which is said to have emanated from the trading vessel, Bruce, which is on the way to Sydney, Cape Breton, giving a version of the Titanic disaster which the trader obtained from various ships. This is to the effect that when the Titanic struck the berg she was going at the rate of 18 knots an hour, and the impact almost rent the big vessel asunder. Her decks, sides and bulkheads were smashed from bow to midships. The bow and upper works were smashed to pieces. The ship struck the berg partially bow on, careening to the portside and almost turning turtle.

The bottom is supposed to have been torn out of the Titanic by submerged icebergs which she was passing over, as every compartment from midships forward was quickly flooded and the ship rapidly settled by the head with a list to port, rolling heavily in the trough of the sea.

The force of the impact was so terrific that it practically rent the ship from stem to stern.

For a short while sufficient order was maintained to allow of the launching in safety of most of the lifeboats and embark about a thousand persons. Then a cry went up that the Titanic was sinking and the frenzied crowd rushed madly for the boats. As the ship settled in the sea many of the boats were smashed to pieces in the davit and some were swamped while they were being launched. The others went down with the ship.

By this time the ship was seen to be settling fast and the water had reached the engine room. The wireless failed through the loss of the motor and all lights went out all over the ship. This added to the gloom and the difficulty of handling the boats.

The source of this version which has the appearance of reliability, gives the number of passengers saved as over one thousand.

BULKHEADS GIVING WAY PROBABLY CAUSED TROUBLE

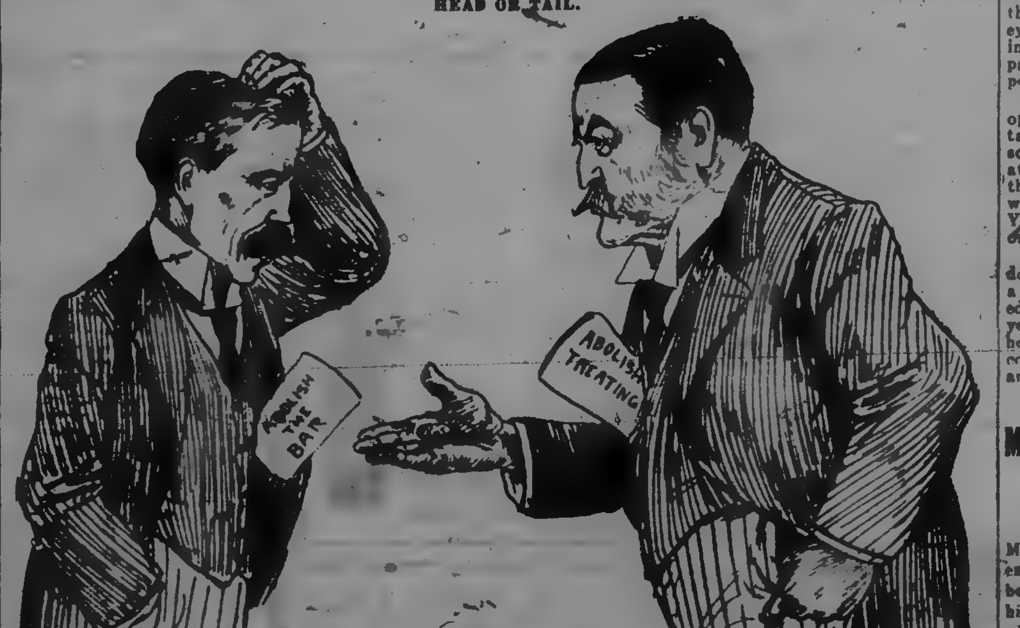
Toronto, April 17.—Until the mystery which shrouds the sinking of the Titanic is cleared away by the stories of survivors, the world must build its theories of the disaster on the flimsiest foundation. As yet, all is conjecture.

But what may have happened was outlined this morning by an experienced marine engineer, Mr. Parker H. Kemble, the general sales manager of the Toronto Electric Light Company. Mr. Kemble was formerly with the Philadelphia shipbuilding firm of Wm. Cramp & Sons, Philadelphia, and was a surveyor for the National Board of Marine Underwriters on damage cases. He is a member of the American Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, and an associated member of the United States Naval Institute.

"It seems incredible that a straight head-on collision, unless it reveals some latent defect in design or construction, should have caused the sinking of the liner in so short a time," he said. "If a glancing blow had been struck on the berg, instead of a straight head-on blow, it is perfectly possible that the damage done to the side would cause a general leakage, but such leakage would manifest itself by a pronounced heeling over, which is at variance with the first wireless that the vessel was sinking by the head, but which would account for the small number of passengers saved, on the supposition that only the boats on one side of the liner could be lowered.

"According to the requirements of the American Government the Titanic would carry boats to accommodate 2,412 people, or 60 boats, having a capacity of 40 passengers each. The total capacity of the Titanic was 2,000 passengers, and 865 crew. Fortunately the ship was not fully loaded."

HEAD OR TAIL.



SIR JAMES—"Do you drink with me, or I with you ?"

CARPATHIA BRINGS BAD NEWS REDUCING NUMBER OF SAVED

New York, April 17.—The Camperdown wireless station at Halifax to-day sent the Associated Press the following despatch:

"We are now in communication with Carpathia and in a position to announce unofficially that the Titanic struck an enormous berg and sank; over 2,000 lost; 700 survivors, mostly women, on Carpathia."

The attention of the Camperdown station was at once called to the obvious error in figures, which would give the total of lost and survived at 2,700, whereas the total number of passengers and crew is about 2,200. In reply to this inquiry the following further explanation was received from Halifax:

"The Marconi station reports that nothing authentic regarding loss is known on board the Carpathia, but the steamer Franconia in relaying the messages from the Carpathia, says that the total number of saved is only 710. There is no list of missing on the Cunarder, and only a rough estimate of her total passenger list. There was probably more than 2,200 on ship, as quite a number boarded her at Cherbourg."

The estimates of 2,200 on board the Titanic have embraced the sailings from all ports including Cherbourg, as far as the company officials have been able to give the information.

The Cunarder Carpathia, bearing the survivors of the sunken White Star Liner Titanic, was less than 600 miles from New York at noon to-day, and word was eagerly awaited that would shed further light on the catastrophe of Sunday night. Sable Island was in brief communication with the rescue ship for a time this morning, but no additional names of survivors were obtained.

Wireless stations along the New England coast were straining to get in communication with the vessel this afternoon and the Scout cruiser Salem was somewhere off Nantucket for the purpose of relaying ashore, through her sister cruiser, the Chester, some connected account of the disaster.

596 MILES FROM NEW YORK.

In New York the White Star Line offices received a brief wireless despatch saying that the Carpathia was 596 miles from the harbor entrance. This should bring her into port either late on Thursday night or early Friday morning.

At Halifax the cable ship MacKay-Bennett has been fitted out to go to the scene of the disaster. Coffins, ice and embalming materials were loaded aboard in the hope that many bodies may be picked up near the scene of the wreck.

WAS PASSENGER BY ILL CHANCE

Dr. Alfred Pain Was Booked on Titanic Because Other Ship Was Filled

PARENTS GRIEF-STRICKEN

They Have Been Unable to Obtain Any Tidings Since Accident.

Hamilton, April 19.

THE overcrowding of the boat by which Dr. Alfred Pain had booked passage to this country was the factor that made him figure in the frightful disaster to the Titanic. His parents, Captain Albert and Mrs. Pain, are greatly distressed to-day. Last evening they were quite hopeful and the whole disaster looked as if it would be nothing more than a thrilling story of a narrow escape at sea. It was early this morning when Captain Pain got the first word of the sinking of the big boat, and he and Mrs. Pain are still wondering if their son was among the saved, although they cannot help but realize that the hope is almost a forlorn one.

When Dr. Pain, who passed his examination with high marks, and was looked on by those who knew him as one of the coming doctors of the province, wrote to his mother that he was coming home by the Titanic, he told her that the boat he first booked passage on was going to Boston and had accepted too many bookings. The Company which owned that boat transferred a number of passengers to the Titanic, paying the passage money, which was several pounds more in each case, in order to oblige the patrons of the line, who were disappointed in their bookings.

Dr. Pain was quite pleased with the opportunity of travelling by the Titanic on her maiden trip. He was also pleased that the Titanic landed at New York instead of Boston, as the first boat he booked on did. He wanted an opportunity to see New York for a few days before coming on to Hamilton.

The parents of the clever young doctor have tried every means to get a complete list of the passengers saved from the disaster, but have not yet been able to do so, and are still hoping that when the returns are complete Dr. Pain's name will figure amongst the names of those saved.

CALGARY'S BIG FUTURE GROWTH

Opportunity to Share in the Great Profits That Will be Made in That Prosperous City

Calgary has long been recognized as the most rapidly developing city in the Dominion of Canada. Situated as it is in the midst of one of the most productive farming and ranching countries in America, and being the centre of the great and unprecedented railroad and commercial development that is now taking place in Western Canada.

It can be said without fear of contradiction that there has been more fortunes made in the city of Calgary by poor men in the last three years than in any city of its size in the world.

Here are a few facts and figures that help to impress upon the mind the great development that has been taking place in Calgary. 38 miles of street railway have been installed at a cost of $1,000,000.00; Mountain gravity water system 147 miles of water mains; 16,000,000 gal. capacity; New wealth realized by tributary area in 1911, $6,000,000.00; One $1,000,000.00 hotel and one $1,500,000.00 store now under construction. Calgary has 150 wholesale houses, employing 800 travellers. The following figures indicate Calgary's building growth: 1907, $2,094,264.00; 1909, $2,420,450.00; 1910, $5,500,480.00; 1911, $12,907,638.00; 1912, estimated, $20,000,000.00. Population 1901, 4,091; 1906, 11,976; 1908,

We Give You a Full Show Every Night. Big Matinee for Ladies and Children.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is half gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

A St. John's Church Wedding.

A quietly celebrated wedding was solemnized in St. John's church, on Monday afternoon, when Miss Mamie Cooney of this city, became the bride of Mr. [illegible] of the Boston Cafe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson in the presence of a few immediate friends and relatives. Mrs. Herb. Cooney was bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Louis Yeotes. The newly married couple left on the 4.28 C.P.R. train on a wedding trip to Toronto. They will reside in Peterborough.

It used frequently to be the custom for hotel keepers of Peterborough to cash the pay cheques of factory employees. In fact, one ex-hotelman of this city, on the C. G. E. Co. pay day, used to draw $1000 to $1500 from the bank to pay such cheques. Whilst he did not charge any interest or commission on these cheques, a comfortable sum came back over the bar. The Ontario Government is now considering an act, whereby no tavern or shop licensee shall be himself, or by any one on his behalf take or receive in payment or part payment for liquor or cash or convert into money any time cheque, pay cheque or order for money, or money's worth issued in payment of wages or as a voucher therefor to any person not in the employment of such licensee.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS IN MARCH.

Industrial accidents occuring to 272 individual workpeople in Canada during the month of March, 1912, were reported to the Department of Labor. Of these 90 were fatal and 182 resulted in serious injuries. In the preceding month there were 74 fatal and 178 non-fatal accidents reported, a total of 239, and in March, 1911, there were 104 fatal and 218 non-fatal accidents, a total of 322. The disasters of the month involving more than one fatality were, an explosion in a coal mine at Merritt, B.C., on March 7, which caused the death of 7 miners and the serious injury of two others; accidental falls of coal in the mines at Sydney, N.S., on March 11, and at Springhill, N.S., on the 22nd, each resulting in the death of two miners; a runaway car in a mine at Westville, N.S., on February 26, which jumped the track and struck and killed two miners. On February 29, near Fitzhugh, Alta., a premature explosion of dynamite on the construction line of the Grand Trunk Pacific killed nine employees.

BELLEVILLE WOMAN BREAKS HER BOND

A Belleville dispatch says that Mrs Florence Mundville was arrested on Saturday charged with having broken her bond, whereby she was allowed her liberty, after being convicted of keeping a disorderly house. Mr. Anderson, County Crown Attorney, asked for her commitment on the original indictment. Mrs. Mundville's lawyer, although the prisoner admitted breaking her bond, asked for a medical examination, and report, showing she was seriously ill. Dr. Dolan, reported her condition as serious. The court decided that she should be sent to jail for one month on remand to see if she could be sent to the hospital. If this is not possible she might be sent to the Mercer Institute, Toronto.

TORONTO MEN INDICTED.

Fake Damage Suits Lead to Trouble For Street Railwaymen.

Calgary, Alta., April 17.—From Toronto this morning came word that Robert J. Fleming, J. W. Curry, K. C., claims Agent Foster and two private detectives of the Toronto Street Railway who have been indicted on six counts in connection with a fake damage suit started in the Toronto courts. The railway employees were charged with conspiracy, contempt of court, and various other crimes.

Incidentally, J. W. Curry, K.C., who held the brief for the street railway company was in Calgary this morning and was interviewed. He said: "Of course I will be in Toronto when the case comes up."

WILD DUCK PLENTIFUL

Large Quantities in England and the North of Ireland

Wild duck, which have entirely avoided many inland spots where a few are usually seen at this season, have appeared in very great quantities along some of their seaside haunts, especially on the east coasts of England and the north of Ireland.

The pursuers of the strange sport of punt gunning have had remarkable experiences. Slipping along in their punts at dawn they have come upon flocks so great that a single shot from the great swivel gun, which is almost a cannon, has bagged more than the 'longshore sportsman could get in a week. Fifty and sixty have been killed at a shot, though the manoeuvres of the shot may have taken a week or so.

Numbers of duck again have been killed in the more formal, artificial shoots of Lincolnshire, Bedfordshire, and other places where the birds are now bred almost as scientifically as pheasant.

A sportsman's bird that seems to increase in numbers and to widen its range is the golden plover, of which numbers are now to be seen in the poulterers' shops of the West End. These plover, which are held by some to be the best bird that comes to table, are seen frequently all over the country. They have been observed in swarms over grass fields in the home counties, as well as in their more normal haunts among the wild places of the coast.

Another bird that appeared at one moment in great quantity was the black duck, of which large numbers were shot over the coast of Norfolk from boats. But he is a brave or very hungry man who would dare to face the bird at table.—London Daily Mail.

FREAK SURGERY

The Vital Organs of Animals Transplanted by Americans.

Some remarkable experiments on the grafting of limbs on animals to which they did not originally belong, and the transference of vital organs, such as the kidney, from one animal to another, are reported, says the "Standard," from Harvard University. Most of them have been carried out by Dr. Carrel, under the direction of Dr. E. E. Tyzzer.

His first successful grafting—or, at any rate, the first that he placed on record—was for the benefit of a fox terrier. This he described before the American Philosophical Society. The terrier, owing to an accident, had to have its leg amputated. A small dog that had just died was pressed into service. Its leg was removed, and grafted on to the stump of the leg of the living dog. Arteries, veins, and nerves were connected by suitable means, and the bones were placed in juxtaposition. As the bones knit the other tissues grew together, and the dog remained perfectly healthy.

But this was only a minor triumph in surgery when compared with those which have come later. From the grafting of limbs Dr. Carrel has moved onward step by step until it would appear that he can transplant and replace almost every organ in the body. He says himself:—

"A dog whose abdominal aorta was replaced by a human femoral artery is still alive in a normal state. The thoracic aorta of another animal was replaced about the same time by a large artery that had been kept several months in cold storage, and the operation was a complete success."

In the transplanting of kidneys Dr. Carrel has been attended with the greatest success in the case of cats, and he has said that possibly the results would have been much better in experimenting with dogs if he had used dogs of the same breed. While he has taken organs from one animal and replaced them in another, he has been uniformly fortunate in reversing the kidneys. In this work he has taken a cat, and, removing the kidneys, has replaced the left kidney in the cavity of the right side and the right kidney in the left cavity.

When one thinks of the complex structure of the kidney, with its nerve supply, its three great connecting vessels—vein, artery, and ureter—and its intimate relations with other organs of the body, such operations as these are truly amazing. Their value in the saving and preservation of human life, if such a thing as the removal of a kidney should be found possible, will be enormous. The removal of a single kidney is a fairly common operation. After it has been performed the patient usually recovers his health, but sometimes in after life the increased demand made on the single remaining kidney may lead to serious trouble.

It is only a month since a wealthy widow, Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of Philadelphia, offered a small fortune to anyone who would sell her an index finger to be grafted on to the stump whence hers has been removed. It would be curious if such advertisements as this went further, and public requests were made for the supply of kidneys, spleen, or even for a new liver. But it is difficult to see where the organs of which persons only possess one each are to come from.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES.

Interesting facts about the inside working of the Bank of England were explained by Mr. Frederick Huth rights of issuing notes, he said, is one of the most important functions of the Bank of England. One rarely sees a dirty Bank of England note. That is because the Bank never reissues a banknote. Even if anyone went into the Bank and demanded a five-pound note in exchange for five sovereigns, and then crossed to another counter and changed the same note back into gold, that note would be destroyed. The system is expensive, but by its means the Bank avoids many of the risks of forgery.

First Drive of Season.

The first drive of logs of the season passed Scott's Mills, near Buckhorn, yesterday, and came through into Deer Bay. They belonged to the Baker Lumber Co., Lindsay.

The press of Belleville is making a story out of a hen's egg laid in that city which measured 8 in. by 6¼ in. Why, a Peterborough hen, about three weeks ago, laid an egg that would allow a cubic inch more space of the material that goes with custards, gin fizzes "and sich."

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

A small block of the stock is offered for public subscription at 10c per share.

A MOTHER'S CARES DESTRUCTIVE TO HEALTH

ANAEMIA, BAD BLOOD, HEADACHES AND LASSITUDE VERY COMMON.

Mrs. Wilkinson's Letter Gives Advice that Every Mother Can Well Follow

From her home in Newton, where she resides with her large family Mrs Wilkinson writes "For years I was pale, anaemic and lacking in vitality. I was a constant sufferer from indigestion, and the distressand pain it caused me, coupled with ever increasing anaemia, made me weaker day by day. Constant headaches, specks before the eyes, and attacks of dizziness made me feel as if life were not worth living. My constitution was completely undermined and the constant pallor and dullness in my eyes showed what a sick woman I was. I began to take Dr. Hamilton's pills and the improvement, although slow was sure.

"I gradually got back my strength and my appetite grew much stronger and I enjoyed my meals thoroughly. I felt happier and more contented and the sickly pallor of my face was replaced by a bright, rosy color that proved that a strong medicine was at work. In a few months Dr. Hamilton's Pills brought me from a condition of deathly pallor to robust health."

THE TITANIC DISASTER.

There may have been some excuse for the suppression of early information which indicated the terrible character of the disaster to the great steamship Titanic. It is explained that this information was withheld from the public in the hope that later information would prove to be untrue or at least exaggerated. If the motive for the suppression was a desire to prevent needless anxiety, it was a mistaken kindness. For the grief of friends of those who have been lost will be all the harder to bear because of the official assurances given out yesterday that no lives had been lost.

There was more than suppression of authentic information. Some of the reassuring reports sent out from the news agencies must have been deliberate investions. There is no excuse for this. It is as cruel as it is dishonest.

This is the most appalling marine disaster of modern times. In loss of life and loss of property no other approaches it. The Titanic herself cost $10,000,000 and the value of the property of various kinds that was lost with her is estimated at fully as much.

The disaster will force revision of opinion on the subject of marine architecture. It is the first great disaster of the sort that has occured to a vessel equipped with water-tight compartments since that device was introduced. The general belief has been that such a vessel, with her compartments closed is practically unsinkable. Perhaps that is so. In the case of the Titanic it is probable that the compartments were not closed because they could not be. What happened, most likely was, that the terrible impact of this huge framework of steel, weighing 45,000 tons, hurled against a solid mass of ice, with the force of a momentum of twenty knots an hour, not only crumpled up the plates at the bow of the ship, but buckled the plates throughout her length, started innumerable seems and damaged her machinery. The jar may have disarranged the machinery for closing the bulk-heads, or the bucked plates prevented them from being closed, and so the entire interior of the hull was left unprotected against the torrent of water.

FIVE TOTS ARE DEAD

en at dinner may have been decomposed, but the fish remaining in the barrel seemed sound. The family had been using them for eight days before with no bad effects. The parents who partook of the same fish with the children were not ill. The woman was all alone attending them during night.

Dr. Fraser testified that if poisoning was caused by fish he would have expected the parents to be affected also. The only surviving child, a boy aged ten, had dinner on Thursday with his uncle, Ambrose Cassidy.

Mrs. McGee testified that two other boys a week ago were ill after eating the herring that day for dinner. Mr. McGee is a lobster fisherman, aged thirty-eight. The family are very poor, but the children were apparently well cared for. When dying they said nothing to furnish any clue, except Pansy's remark to her brother, Johnny, the only survivor, to look out that the horse did not get the paris green can she threw away.

A peculiar fact brought out in the evidence was that when two other children died within eight days of each other last January from what was declared to be pneumonia, the husband was not sent for, although he was working only 13 miles away, at Ung. Bad roads were given as the reason. He came home a fortnight after the funeral. Dr. McIntyre, who also attended the children on Friday last is mystified as to the cause of deaths. He believes it is poisoning of some kine. Dr. Fraser said the decomposed fish might cause symptoms he observed. The illness might begin six or twelve hours after the food was taken.

LOST 20,000 AT CARD GAME

London Youths Victims of West End Gambling

MANY GAMBLING HELLS

The Gilded Youth of the Land are an Easy Mark for the Card Sharks—Duke's Son Got Rid of Over Twenty Thousand Dollars in One Night.

London, April 15.—According to the Daily Express, the recent rapid increase of gambling hells in London has reached the proportion of a grave scandal, which the police, although apparently aware of what is going on, are taking no measures to check.

There are over a score of houses in Mayfair and Belgravia, where all night gambling is indulged in by society persons of both sexes and all ages. Many youngsters, including the sons of men of rank and position, are inveigled to these hells to lose at baccarat, roulette and other games of chance sums which their parents are called upon to pay in order to avoid public scandal.

Duke's Son Loses $20,000.

A Duke's son recently lost $20,000 and a peer's son lost $2,500 in one week. A lad fresh from Eton was induced to play, and lost $2,000. His mother had to redeem his 'I.O.U.'s. A woman well known in society has three sons drawn into the hells. She is responsible for some of the disclosures now made. At many of these so-called "social clubs" a percentage of stakes goes to the person running them. The proprietor of a gambling house near Berkley Square admitted that he had cleared $75,000 out of these percentages alone.

There is no difficulty in obtaining admittance. Many baccarat houses issue a gilt-edged invitation to men and women who are known to "like a game." There is, of course, no mention of baccarat on the cards, but the recipients of the invitation usually know what they are receiving.

Woman Runs Game.

One woman, whose name is well known in racing circles, invites those she meets on the turf and at her sporting club to a "champagne supper." Those who get the invitation know what it means. The champagne supper is prolonged into a baccarat game, which lasts until 6 a.m., if guests will only stay to play.

At many baccarat clubs now flourishing in the West End women are welcomed, and in the small hours, after the theatres and restaurants are closed, taxi-cabs and automobiles bring bevies of women members, some of the highest names, to these private houses, for a "mild flutter."

A man who is familiar with these establishments says:

Surgery Loaned for Game.

"One of the most interesting of these baccarat houses is in New Cavendish street. It is the surgery of a well known medical man, who presumably lends it for the purpose of these parties. The scene there, the last view I had when I visited it was the strangest you can imagine in such a setting.

"The play took place in the large waiting room, in which, as usual in such apartment, the large centre table is littered with books and papers in the day time for the waiting patients. In the surgery and consulting rooms leading from it there were cases of medical instruments and books of the doctor's library, just as they had been left after his last consultation of the day.

"These things struck a bizarre note in the night's play. The waiting room table had been cleared of books and papers; chairs had been drawn up around it, and a banker, with the shoe from which the baccarat cards are dealt, in front of him, was calling on other players to stake. There were nearly fifty guests at this midnight medical party, crowded together in these rooms, and all were taking keen delight in the game and anxiously watching for their turn to play.

Peers Seen at Tables.

"At two of the very best houses, both town mansions in Mayfair, the apartments are as fine as in the home of a wealthy peer, and everything is done quietly and in the best form, because of the distinguished clientele. I myself have seen at one of these parties a number of officers of the Guards, young men of means, with members of Parliaments and peers,' who drive up for a little gamble after some trying debate in parliament.

"One night recently there was a fierce quarrel between two women at a house in Bayswater, where ladies are encouraged to play. The row began when one woman, piqued by the loss of her stake, turned on another and made certain reflections on her past. They were soon at each other's throats, after an exhibition of language which would more often be heard in Billingsgate than any house with claim to respectability."

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Oldunn, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau upon cold beef from the pantry, called Betty and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl readily. "It was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms, but let's have no hims, Betty, no hims mind you; I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied and withdrew, seriously thinking.

ONLY 703 OF THE TITANICS PASSENGER LIST WERE SAVED

New York, April 17.—Fears that the Titanic disaster would be even greater than the wireless dispatches of the past twenty-four hours have indicated were practically confirmed this afternoon when the Cunard line received the following dispatch from Winfield Thompson of The Boston Globe, who is a passenger on the steamship Franconia.

"Steamer Franconia established communication with Carpathia at 8.10 a.m. New York time. The latter was then 498 miles east of Ambrose channel, in no need of assistance, steaming 13 knots. Expect to reach New York late Thursday evening. Has total of 703 survivors aboard. Franconia is relaying personal messages from the Carpathia to Sable Island."

"From absolutely well authenticated sources comes the report that the captain, officers and crew of the Titanic displayed unexampled bravery in face of the most appalling marine catastrophe in the world's history, while endeavoring to maintain order, quell the panic, and launch and man the boats, and embark passengers, assuring all that there was not any immediate danger, while cognizant that they would soon be plunged beneath the waves with their fast sinking ship. The captain and all the principal officers heroically stuck to their posts to the end, encouraging, directing and carrying fainting women and children from the decks and berths to gangways and helping them to the boats. They returned even when the waves had practically submerged the ship to the rescue of passengers, absolutely regardless of their own safety.

Had Bad Sore Four Years

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed.

"I know a lady in the east of the city whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk, with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c a box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Company, Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c tablet.

HER QUIET MAJESTY

Miss Answers Learns Something of the Queen's Taste

"Dressing like a queen" is a phrase usually suggesting an extravagantly gorgeous wardrobe. But in the case of Queen Mary the idea does not hold good. Miss Answers recently had an interesting chat with a member of the firm of Lucile, Ltd., London, and learned some interesting information about Queen Mary's taste in dress.

"In the matter of all four styles of dress—morning, afternoon, evening, and walking costume for country wear—her Majesty's taste lies in the direction of quiet simplicity," said Miss Answers' informant. "For morning wear, her dresses are usually tight-fitting tailor-made in style, and the material is generally tweed or cloth, in either case of fairly fine texture. The Queen prefers tight-fitting clothes of not too soft material and her favorite color is certainly blue. Her morning costumes are sometimes of sapphire-blue, but all shades of that color are both becoming to, and favored by, her Majesty.

Simplicity the Keynote

"No, Queen Mary is not an admirer of the Peter Pan style of neckwear, and invariably wears a high collar.

"In the afternoon you will more often see Queen Mary dressed in pale mauve, or perhaps in white or pale blue. The material varies in accordance with the season of the year.

"For instance, in the summer she will wear crepe-de-Chine, fine voile, or a material composed of silk and cotton, with perhaps a lace jacket of clinging design.

"By the way, her Majesty shows a distinct partiality for embroidery, and will often favor brocade worked in graceful patterns.

"She dislikes the 'floppy' style, and even in full evening attire inclines towards a simplicity which is almost severe. This style of dress sets off her Majesty's figure to advantage, for, as many of her loyal subjects will have noticed, she is built on ideal lines—a slender waist, a full bust, low and gracefully-curved hips, and, above all, a perfectly-formed neck.

Her Favorite Colors

"For evening wear her Majesty is fond of satin, and in colors her choice is frequently a combination of black and white. The chief characteristics as regards the actual adornment of the Queen's evening costume are a few good diamonds or pearls, and a touch of blue somewhere about the dress. This may take the form of a bow of ribbon, possibly a sash or insertion.

"The Queen's hats are usually small; frequently they are toques, usually in dark colors, being of different shades of brown and grey. Sometimes a feather serves as sufficient trimming, or perhaps a small buckle.

"If the Queen wears a large hat, it is generally turned sharply up at one side, the Henri II. style of hat being very popular with her. On this style of hat feathers are usually worn.

"Quiet smartness is the keynote of the Queen's blouses. She is fond of chiffon material. Her belts are usually plain, and always match the costume. Her Majesty's gloves are generally white kid. Black is her favorite color in shoes and stockings.

"In private life, especially in the country, the quietness of her Majesty's dress is even intensified.

"It is a pleasure to make dresses for her Majesty," wound up our informant, "for she is always so thoughtful and considerate."

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Dr. Andrew Macphail Speaks of Conditions in the Island Province

Some of the reasons for the depopulation of Prince Edward Island, and the efforts which will be made to offset it and re-establish the former industries, were recited to a Toronto audience by Dr. Andrew Macphail, of Charlottetown. He called attention to the fact that forty years ago there 94,000 people on the island. In 1881 there were 108,000, and in 1891 109,000. Then the population commenced to decline, and in ten years it had dropped to 103,000, and the last census showed that the population was only 93,000. The industries of the island also had largely disappeared, and it was proposed, in order to regenerate them, to apply to the island the same tariff system as was applied to the Domoinion as a whole, in order to protect the manufactories on the island. It was proposed also to have instead of a Minister of Politics, a Minister of Industries. The fact that both political parties were so strong, or so weak, also had much to do with the lack of development. Forty years ago the island contained more people than it did to-day, said Dr. Macphail, and there must be some reason for it in a province which was one of the best in the world, so far as agriculture was concerned.

In connections with transportation facilities, the speaker said it was possible to send goods from Montreal to Sydney, Cape Breton, the market for Prince Edward Island, for less than half what it cost to send goods from any point on the island to Sydney. Of the 72,000 people who had left the island in the last forty years, 88 per cent. had gone to the United States, and only 12 per cent. to the other provinces in the Dominion. How to get these back was the problem which was confronting the island, and it was thought that the best system would be to apply to the island the same tariff system as was applied to the Dominion as a whole, on the ground that what was good for the whole was good for the part. In the island great quantities of tobacco could be grown, and it was confidently hoped that in ten years no more tobacco would be imported.

PENSIONS AND POLICEMEN

The old age pension officer was questioning the old lady with a zeal worth twice his salary.

"And now," he said, "we come to the important question. Have you ever been in receipt of parish relief?"

"Never!" answered the old lady emphatically.

Foiled, he turned to the last question on the list. "Tell me," he snarled, "have you ever been in the hands of the police?"

She hung her head.

"Come on, come on," he growled, "tell the truth."

"Well then," she said, "I don't see as it's any business of the Government but in my young days I was [illegible], and [illegible]. girls will be girls, but still [illegible] he was a [illegible]

No Need Being Old or Wrinkled Before 75

Lillian Russell says any woman who has wrinkles before she's 75 is herself responsible for them. Sunshine and fresh air she considers more valuable as complexion preservers than nostrums and cosmetics.

The chief objection to cosmetics is that at best they only temporarily cover up defects. There are certain true aids to Nature which may be applied with directly opposite effect. Ordinary mercolized wax, for instance, actually removes a bad or oldish complexion by gradually, almost imperceptibly peeling off the wornout scarf skin. Just one ounce, procurable at any drug store, will soon unveil an entirely new and natural complexion with an exquisite girlish color. Of course cutaneous blemishes like pimples, freckles, fine lines, moth patches, liver spots, disappear with the discarded skin.

To prevent or remove wrinkles, a face bath, which also produces natural results, is made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint witch hasel. It's wonderfully effective.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the City of Peterborough intends after this notice has been posted up for one month in six of the most public places in the immediate neighborhood of that part of Townsend street between Park street and the Monaghan road in the said City of Peterborough, and published weekly for four successive weeks in The Morning Times, being a newspaper published in the City of Peterborough, to pass a By-law for stopping up that part of said Townsend street between the westerly limit of Park street and the easterly limit of the Monaghan road, and authorizing the conveyance thereof when so stopped up to the Canadian General Electric Company (Limited) in exchange for a strip of land fifty feet in width, being the northerly fifty feet of Park Lot Number Seventeen in Township Lot Number Twelve in the Thirteenth Concession of the Township of North Monaghan, now in the City of Peterborough, which said strip of land is to be used as a Public highway in lieu of that part of said Townsend street so stopped up, and it is to be a continuation of and be known by the name of Wolfe street.

AND TAKE NOTICE that the said Council will at the meeting to be held on the 3rd day of June, 1912, hear in person or by Counsel or solicitor any one whose land might be prejudicially affected thereby, and who petitions to be heard.

LAYS CLAIM TO LAND.

Joseph Elzear Lapointe, of North Bay, is attempting to secure possession of land valued at $400,000, in the parish of Longue Pointe, the property of the Dominion Park Company. The land is the site of Montreal's largest pleasure resort. Lapointe claims that in 1840 the land was left by his grandfather to the religious authorities of the parish of Longue Pointe on condition that a monument be erected to his memory, and that certain masses be sung and certain religious ceremonies be performed for the good of his soul. These conditions, Lapointe claims, have not been carried out, and he is, therefore, taking action to secure possession of the land.

ON OTHER WORLDS

Lick Observatory Astronomer Doubts If any of the Planets Could Sustain Intelligent Life.

Under the heading "Life in Other Worlds" Prof. Robert Grant Aitken of the Lick Observatory discusses in the current Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada the probability as to the habitation of the planets. He summarizes all of the latest researches

His conclusions are as follows:

The Moon—It may be that low forms of vegetable life are sustained by water vapor sending through crevices from the moon's interior. But even if this proves true the moon must still be regarded as practically a dead world.

Jupiter, the largest of the planets—It is a semi-sun, probably gaseous throughout, with matter distributed as on the sun. Jupiter has no well defined surface or crust. The conditions there are chaotic. Obviously, in such a world there can be no question of life.

Saturn, the outermost planet known to the ancients—It resembles Jupiter, but is probably not so far advanced and is even less fitted than its larger neighbor to be the abode of life.

Uranus and Neptune—because of their great distance they are only minute disks in the largest telescopes. They present vague markings and they are so far from the sun that is its heat and light can hardly be effective in protecing life upon these two planets even should life in any way originate there.

Satellites of Jupiter and Saturn—It is possible some of them may have water and an atmosphere dense enough for life. This is more conjectural and not probable.

Mercury—It apparently always keeps the same face toward the sun. It gets seven times as much heat as the earth and neither its eternal nor its everlasting roasting day is suitable for any form of life. It seems to have no atmosphere.

Venus—In size, mass, density and surface bravity it greatly resembles the earth. It has a dense, cloud-filled atmosphere. The whole question as to life on Venus turns on the problem as to the length of Venus's day. If its day equals its year that planet must be utterly desolate. The question is still an open one, though the evidence favors the belief that the day and the year on Venus are of equal length.

Mars—There undoubtedly are strong markings on Mars, but astronomers are not agreed as to whether the markings are natural or artificial, canals or mere earthquake cracks. The Martian atmosphere is rare and there are no permanent bodies of water on the planet. There is not enough water on the whole of Mars to fill one of the Great Lakes on the earth. The so-called polar ice caps and "frost" on Mars may be deposits of carbon-dioxide. The best that can be said is that while the temeprature on Mars is very low, there may be on that planet, to a limited extent, the conditions essential to life—probably only vegetable and animal life, but no beings of intelligence.

"A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE.

Customer (looking in mirror): "Great scissors, barber, you've gone and cleared every blessed hair off my head."

Barber: "Isn't that what you told me to do?"

"Told you to do? Why, man, I told you I wanted it cut a la mode."

"I beg pardon, sir. I thought you said you wanted it all mowed."

WHICH?

A lieutenant fired at a rabbit, but did not hit it, and narrowly missed the major of the regiment, who was in front of him. "I say lieutenant," exclaimed the major, "are you shooting for sport or for promotion."

NEW MEMBERS IN LEGISLATURE

A Short Descriptive Note on Men Who Are Making Their Debut in Ontario.

First on the list of new faces in the Ontario Legislature comes the Liberal leader, Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., M.P.P. He is a lawyer and a prominent Methodist.

Anthony Rankin, Fort William, is a big lumber mill owner at Collins Bay.

Alexander Grant, East Hastings, is a farmer.

J. R. Cooke, North Hastings, is a farmer, who makes a specialty of cattle raising. He lives near Stirling, and is reeve of Rawdon Township.

Duncan McArthur, North Middlesex, is a graduate of Toronto University, runs a farm of 1,000 acres, and practices veterinary surgery.

E. A. Peck, Peterborough, is a member of the law firm of Dennistoun, Peck, and Kerr.

Don Hogarth, Port Arthur, is engaged in the real estate business.

E. A. Dunlop, North Renfrew, is a nephew of Hon. Frank Cochrane. He is a hardware and lumber merchant.

J. C. Milligan, Stormont, is a B.A. and B.C.L. of Toronto. He practices law in Cornwall.

Charles McCrea, Sudbury, is a member of the legal firm of McCrea and Valin in Sudbury.

Dr. A. E. Vrooman, West Victoria, is a doctor in Lindsay. He is also proprietor of the "Watchman and Warder" newspaper there.

W. C. Chambers of West Wellington is best known by his connection with the Chambers-Ferland Mines. He was originally a farmer, became interested in mining and then retired with a fortune. He lives in Harriston.

J. T. Regan, South Wentworth, comes of old U.E.L. stock, is a cousin of Judge Snider of Hamilton, and runs a farm near Ancaster.

Chistopher Kohler, who succeeds his brother, Jacob Kohler, in Haldimand is a well-known figure in his part of Ontario. The Kohler brothers, of Cayuga, are among the biggest cattle dealers in Ontario, and are very wealthy. He will be one of the biggest figures, physically at least, in the new House.

W. R. Ferguson, East Kent, is a well-to-do merchant residing in Dresden, and owning a big farm just outside the village. One of Mr. Ferguson's biggest assets in the political field is his wife, who takes a very keen interest in the campaign. Mr. Ferguson is an aggressive young fighter.

Robert Sutherland, East Middlesex, is a substantial farmer living at Dorchester with municipal experience.

Thomas Marshall, Monck, Hon. Richard Harcourt's old riding, is a young man, a Varsity graduate, and a hardware merchant in Dunnville.

Lieut.-Col. T. R. Atkinson, of North Norfolk, is an elderly man with years of Parliamentary experience.

W. E. A. Sinclair, South Ontario, is a young man, a lawyer and mayor of Oshawa.

Gustave Evanturel of Prescott, is a son of the late Speaker Evanturel of the Provincial House, and is a lawyer in the village of Alfred.

Z. Mageau, Sturgeon Falls, is a young lawyer in that town.

Udney Richardson, East Wellington, is a popular manufacturer in Elora.

Dr. James McQueen, North Wentworth, practices medicine at the village of Freelton.

Napoleon Champagne, East Ottawa, is a familiar figure in the Capital. He has been one of the city controllers since the inauguration of that system there, and is very active in civic affairs.

J. A. Ellis, Ottawa West, is a civic official, who has been prominent in municipal politics for years.

John Bennewelss, South Perth, is a German, as was his opponent. This is the first time in the history of the riding when one German was put up in opposition to another.

H. C. Schofield, South Wellington, is a Toronto man, a former general manager of the Traders Bank, and a wealthy man.

W. R. Black, South Addington, is a farmer at Parrham.

John W. Westbrook, North Brant, is reeve of Hereford Township, and a successful farmer.

Arthur E. Ross, Kingston, is a practising docto and one of the professors of Queen's University.

E. W. Owens, South Toronto, is a well known awyer and has for years been active in Conservative interests in Toronto.

When Nostrils Are Plugged Your Catarrh is Bad

BY ACTING TO-DAY YOU CAN QUICKLY CURE CATARRH AND AVOID BRONCHITIS, PERHAPS CONSUMPTION.

Most Agreeable and Surest Cure is Catarrhozone, Which Cures Every Curable Case.

Catarrhozone proves especially good in those cases where mucuous drops down the throat, sickens the stomach and pollutes the breath. When the nostrils are stuffed, only a few breaths through the inhaler are needed to clear the passages, and where there is coughing and sore bronchial tubes the soothing, healing properties of Catarrhozone act almost as magic.

Once you stop taking medicine into the stomach and get the healing oils and pure balsams of Catarrhozone at work you can be sure of quick and lasting cure for nose colds, catarrh weak lungs, bronchitis and speaker's sore throat.

13 YEARS OF CATARRH CURED.

"As Catarrhozone has cured me of a Catarrhal Cough and Asthma that lasted thirteen years, I feel I can honestly recommend it. I really used all kinds o medicine, but Catarrhozone was the only one that did any real good. I am entirely cured—have no cough, no bad breathing spells, not a sign of a cold or catarrh about me. But I will always occasionally use 'Catarrhozone' as I prize it so highly."
—Mrs. E. L. Osgood, Johnson P. O., Ont.

The complete $1.00 outfit of Catarrhozone is sufficient for 2 months' treatment, and is guaranted. Smaller size 50c at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

MEMORIAL TO HIS LATE MAJESTY KING EDWARD VII.

To be erected for the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

Terms of Competition.

SCULPTURAL COMPETITIVE designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa, Canada, to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(1) Competitive designs are invited for a monument to be erected to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(2) The memorial when completed, and in position is not to cost more than $35,000 including pedestal from the level of the ground.

(3) The competition is open to artists resident in the British Empire who are British subjects, and to artists British subjects by birth resident elsewhere.

(4) The site of the monument will be at a point on the Government property at Ottawa to be decided upon hereafter.

(5) Designs shall be in the form of sketch models in plaster made at a uniform scale of 1½ inches to the foot. A description of the design must accompany each model. No name, motto, or other distinctive device is to be attached to the model or description. The competitor must send his name in a sealed envelope without distinctive marks thereon.

(6) The author of the best design shall be awarded the commission of the work and the second best shall be awarded a prize of $1000.00.

(7) All communications regarding this competition shall be addressed to: The Secretary Public Works Department, Ottawa, Canada. All models to be addressed to: Mr. Eric Brown, Director of National Art Gallery, Ottawa, Canada.

(8) The designs must be delivered before the first day of October, 1912. They will be kept from public view until the award has been made. All expenses of delivering the sketch models and accompanying descriptions shall be paid by the competitors. Sketch models will, after the award, and at the expense of the Public Works Dept., be returned upon the request of the competitors, but at the risk of the competitors.

Notice of the award will be sent to each competitor.

The award will only be binding provided the successful competitor is prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence, with security if demanded, that he can execute the work for the sum above mentioned.

By order,

PETERBOROUGH IS A REAL BIG CITY
WHY ?
Because Peterborough has NATURAL power

That is why any wise man who has a little money to invest should grasp the last real opportunity presented in the great west to obtain an investment in the Peterborough of three immense provinces.

MEDICINE HAT

Think of the money that has been made in Peterborough, and even this city took quite a while to become 22,000. The western Peterborough has 6,000 now. Four new industries coming. Look at your news dispatches which tells of the voting on Friday, April 19th.

300.000

Bushel elevator for Ogilvies goes up in June beside the

3.000

Barrel a day flour mill. It all means that the man who obtains a little property right away will be ready to sell in a few months when the population is 10,000. There must be 2,000 more people in Medicine Hat before Sept. 1st than there is now to handle the work of the factories, and there must be another thousand to build homes for these people, for there is not to-day a house to rent in the city. I have done my part in telling you of the opportunity. Write at once and I will tell you further facts and help you to make money rapidly on investments in a city which is destined to be the only city in the west for industries and manufacturing expansion.

THE ENGAGEMENT RING

Girl Must be Careful and Not Display It Too Much

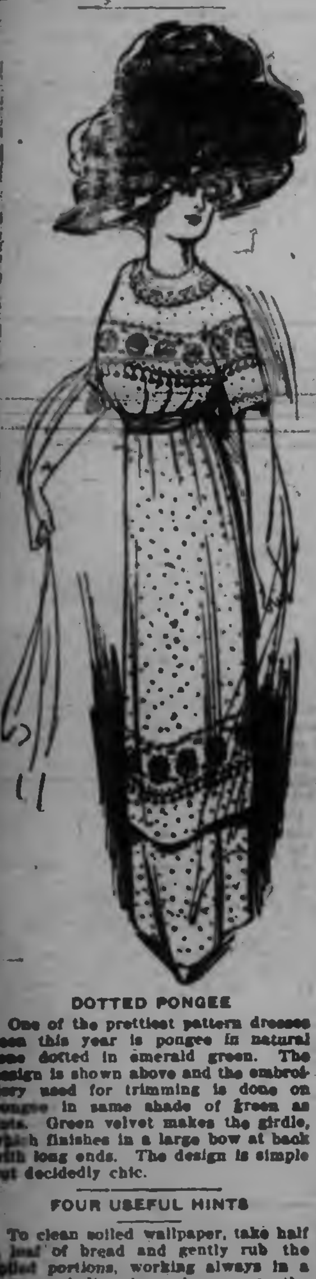
It is a grand moment for both the girl and the man when he slips the little gold and jewelled circle round her third finger. It means so much to both of them—perhaps even more to the girl than the man, because her sex sets greater store by the ring that binds, and she has more sentiment. And, moreover, although the couple may have been mutually engaged without a ring that small emblem of a plighted troth becomes very sacred to a girl. A very great deal must happen before either she returns it or he demands it back.

It is very natural that a girl should be very proud of her engagement ring, but she should be careful not to make it too obtrusive. Even her best friends will get weary of her continual "Oh, isn't it a beautiful ring—and isn't he perfect?" The praise of a man and his token of promise is all very well in moderation, but it can be and often is carried to excess.

A girl can be just as proud and delighted with her ring by a quiet pride and joy as by continually demonstrating her pleasure before her friends.

Nor is it good taste for a man to ask his acquaintances how they like the ring. They are bound to say it meets with their entire approval, whether they think so or not! Courtesy cannot say otherwise.

With regard to the ring, so it is with other little things during the "happy days" of courtship. An engaged couple should be careful not to sing one another's praises too much to their relatives, friends and acquaintances. Let people find out for themselves the sterling qualities of both. Real friends will be quick enough to appreciate their good points, but an engaged couple may rest assured—and eat it with humble pie—that real true friends will find out faults in them that are entirely unsuspected by the owners! But this need not trouble lovers. Everyone knows that it is often the case that it is because of people's faults that they are dear to us.



DOTTED PONGEE

One of the prettiest pattern dresses seen this year is pongee in natural tone dotted in emerald green. The design is shown above and the embroidery used for trimming is done on pongee in same shade of green as dots. Green velvet makes the girdle, which finishes in a large bow at back with long ends. The design is simple but decidedly chic.

FOUR USEFUL HINTS

To clean soiled wallpaper, take half a loaf of bread and gently rub the soiled portions, working always in a downward direction. As soon as the bread is soiled, cut off a thin slice.

To clean picture frames and glasses, wash with warm water with a teaspoonful of ammonia to a quart of water. For gilt frames, use the water in which onions have been boiled, as it will restore their brightness. Loose dust that has settled on frames and mouldings may be removed with a flannel or cheesecloth.

If the seats of caned chairs are sagging, turn them upside down and wash well with soapy water, soaking so as to thoroughly wet them, and in drying they will stiffen to almost, if not quite, their normal condition.

To kill moths in carpets on the floor spread a cold, damp cloth on the carpet, iron it with a hot iron, and the steam thus will kill the moths.

THE IDEAL LIGHT

According to scientists, the least injurious of present-day illuminants is the acetylene flame, for the reason that it is the nearest approach to the character of daylight. For reading or writing purposes the oil lamp or candle are by far the best, because of their soft, yellow light. Daylight, of course, is the ideal. It is a mixture of all colors, and, as far as the eyes are concerned, the green, yellowish rays predominate. It is the invisible and ultra-violet rays that are so harmful.

London Labour Leader Promises The Biggest Ever.

London, April 16.—The glamor of the minimum wage idea, recently made a legal principle by the Government in the case of the coal miners, pervaded a demonstration made by workers in many trades in Trafalgar Square yesterday. Shop clerks, bar tenders, milkmen, bakers and waiters were among those who attended. The tenor of the speech was: "If the miners got the minimum wage, why not others."

Mr. Passmore, who was prominent in the late railway strike, reiterated the warning give by other leaders recently of a world eclipsing strike of all industrial workers on May 1.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antegnolte today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed.

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

MONUMENT FROM S. CAROLINA

State Raises a Shaft to Memory of Women of South Carolina in the Confederacy.

Columbia, S.C., April 16.

JUST as long as the older generation in the Southern States live, just so long will those old veterans of the "Lost Cause" remember those who helped them in their struggle for secession, although America is now one undivided nation. The memorial to the Confederate women of South Carolina, erected by the State, was unveiled here at noon Thursday. The monument erected on the State House grounds is a beautiful work of the sculptors' art and represents the first memorial ever erected independently by a State to women.

General C. Irvine Walker, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, turned it over to the Daughters of the Confederacy and then introduced the orator of the occasion, Major Joseph W. Barnwell of Charleston, S.C., during whose speech the covering was withdrawn. Veterans, members of the Daughters and Sons' organizations, State troops and cadets took part.

The monument was designed by F. Wellington Ruckstuhl, of New York. The central figure is that of a Southern woman, dignified and beautiful, waiting to be crowned with laurel by a figure in the rear. On each side are figures bearing laurel to lay at the heroine's feet. The most important inscription is:

"In this monument generations unborn shall hear the voice of a great people testifying to the sublime devotion of the women of South Carolina in their country's need."

It seems as though either the city of Belleville, or the Anglican church portion of its community, is going backward. St. John's Anglican Church there has locked its doors, which can only be re-opened by the golden key of coin. For some time, owing to the decline in the congregation, that church, through its congregation, felt that such would be inevitable on the retirement of the rector, the Rev. Canon Bogert and it was known that Bishop Mills was inclined to this view. Last Monday evening, however, at the Easter vestry it had been decided to ask the Bishop to send another incumbent as Canon Bogert had promised to send in his resignation as rector, to take place April 15th. It is understood that private individuals had made their promise to guarantee the running expenses of the parish rather than have the church closed. Later, during the evening service, the rector announced that the parish was to be disorganized. The rector noted that he had telephoned to His Lordship at Kingston and found the bishop was ill. However, he was told that the parish must be discontinued. Again, after further correspondence the bishop told the rector he had decided to appoint no new incumbent.

BAN ON STREET CARS.

Government Does not Want Them Near Parliament Hill.

Ottawa, April 17.—The government is unalterably opposed to the laying of the street car tracks permanently on Wellington street, in front of the houses of parliament. A letter received this morning by City Clerk Henderson from F. D. Monk leaves absolutely no room for doubt or speculation as to the attitude of the government on the question.

Some members of the city council asked the government's permission to lay the tracks in front of the house of commons, and this is the result.

TRAPPED.

"Glorious!" cried the Hon. Vere de Vere to the ladies who were [illegible] the law with him in his [illegible].

"Lovely!" shrieked the [illegible].

"Perlice-trap!" yelled a [illegible] ing his arms frantically [illegible] whizzed by.

"Where?" asked the Hon. Vere, pulling up.

"Between 'ere and the second cottage yer come to, sir," [illegible] the youth.

"Thanks," said the Hon. Vere "Here's sixpence for you."

And he started the car at a discreet pace.

"Yer'll find the trap in the second cottage yer comes to!" shouted the youth, as the car drew away. "The perleeceman lives there, and he set it this mornin' to catch mice!"

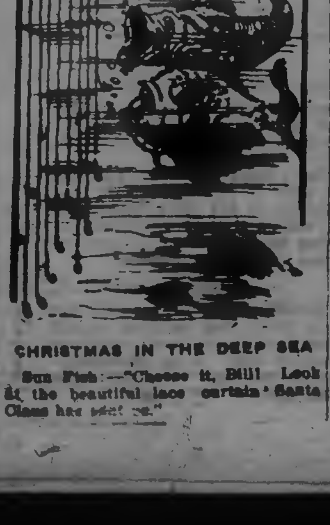
THE PLAINEST GIRL

Miss Plane:—"Didn't you hear Miss Knox tell me yesterday that I was 'the plainest girl in town'?"

Gladys:—"Yes. I gave her a piece of my mind about it afterwards."

"Oh, did you? I hope you weren't too hard on her."

"Well, I told her she ought to consider how sensitive you must be about it."



CHRISTMAS IN THE DEEP SEA

Sun Fish:—"Cheese it, Bill! Look at the beautiful lace curtain Santa Claus has sent us."

INCREASING THE HEIGHT

The Proper Exercise for the Would-be Slim and Tall

Fashion is doing a good thing for womanhood by dictating that the ideal figure must be slim and tall. The point is that Fashion here sets an ideal something which anyone can strive to attain, and in attaining this ideal the general health is bound to be improved. Of course, the really stocky, five-foot-nothing girl cannot hope to convert herself into a willowy Juno of statuesque proportions by any exercises. She can, however, if she has not passed the growing age—that is, up to twenty-five—add at least a little to her stature, and a great deal to her symmetry and grace.

Walking is the best means of adding an inch or two to the stature of the young woman in her teens who fears she is going to be undersized. Remember, though, that the walking must be [illegible] regularly and correctly. If your [illegible] will allow it, try walking [illegible] breakfast, when all the [illegible] and loose after their [illegible] hold the chin up, the [illegible] the chest out, and the [illegible] walk briskly, from the [illegible] swing the arms as [illegible] on the ball of the foot [illegible]. Try a two-minute walk the [illegible] day, and gradually increase it up to half an hour. When you get back to breakfast that feeling of boredom and lack of interest with which one usually views the morning meal will have been replaced by a hearty appetite, which will allow you to digest and enjoy all manner of nourishing and body-building foods. This mere difference between a very skimpy morning meal, quite unrelished, and a hearty breakfast, thoroughly enjoyed, will be the first step towards your goal, a more rapid laying down of new bone tissue.

Exercise of the joints leads to a more rapid growth. The following movement not only exercises the hip-joints, but also every single one of the little discs of bone which makes up the spinal column, and therefore it is most valuable in increasing the height.

In the morning, when you are half dressed, with only a few loose garments on, stand with feet together and the arms straight out in front of you, palms downward with the thumbs touching. Holding the head up and keeping the arms perfectly straight, slowly raise them until they are straight above the head. Then, bending from the hips alone as much as possible, slowly sweep the arms downwards until the fingers almost touch the toes. Then gradually rise up again into the first position. The movement must be slow and gradual, and the knees must be kept perfectly stiff.

At the start, this movement, which will be found very tiring, should be done only two or three times. Later, as the back becomes more supple, increase the number and the amount of bending until you can put your palms flat on the floor without bending the knees.

A few minutes of this exercise, combined with a brisk daily walk before breakfast, will have a sufficiently stimulating effect both on the growing ends of the leg-bones and on the small bones of the spine to increase one's rate of growth up to the highest possible maximum Nature will allow for any particular individual.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WILD GOOSE RAISING

Toronto Man Has Wild Ducks, too. at Farm Near the City

Farming wild animals! What with the rapid decrease in all kinds of game, and especially of the fur-bearing quadruped, it really begins to look as though this might be a sound commercial proposition. That is what the Canadian Government is doing with the last remnant of the big buffalo herds. There will be an addition of two hundred calves in the huge park at Wainwright, Sask.

Not so very long ago some enterprising gentlemen in Minnesota bred wolves. When the pups had grown to big, ugly fellows with an insatiable appetite for dead horse, they were shot and their heads taken to the State authorities for the bounty. A fifteen-dollar per was quite a profitable game until the law found out.

Others go in for foxes or skunks while in an application just come to hand from an American, a request is made for a tract of rough land in Northern Ontario whereon the grantee may farm everything from bears to weasels.

When the Belgian hare craze was rife here some twelve years ago, many Torontonians had hutches in their back yards. Of course these last-named animals can hardly be termed wild, but purchasers of the rodents at $25 a pair were wild enough when they found out what an unprofitable business they had embarked in.

A well-known citizen, a great sportsman with a farm on the Credit, has had wonderful success in raising wild geese and ducks. He is a member of a duck-shooting club, with large leases on Lake Scugog, and here in the fall of the year the wild ducks bred in captivity are made useful for decoying their roving brethren.

Painted wooden imposters are usually anchored out to tempt the wild ducks within range of the blind which the hunters hide. Oftentimes the keen eyes of the birds will detect something wrong in even the best of these decoys. But when a live duck "quacks" and flaps its wings, even the most skeptical of the breed are prone to think all is right. One of these tethered black ducks is a very deadly bait, and the wild ducks very seldom fail to answer his lusty call.

Similarly the wild geese are used in the spring of the year. Just as the ice is breaking up and the warm days of April make one long for outdoors the grey Canada goose in thousands come into the feeding grounds at Lake Scugog to fill their crops with the remnants of last year's wild rice. It is then that Toronto hunters make their bags. Impossible to approach in any other way, the wary wild goose is inveigled to within gunshot of the blind by the blandishments of the tethered captives whose importunate honkings are not to be resisted.

IMPROVE JUAREZ TRACK

Racing Popular in Mexican City, and No Expense Will be Spared

Encouraged by the success of the race meeting, Matt Winn and those associated with him in the management of Jockey Club Juarez are undertaking extensive improvements. The directors of the club are optimistic over the future of the sport in the Mexican city and have given Col. Winn carte blanche to expend any amount necessary for the improvement and embellishment of the plant. The contemplated improvements will cost approximately $50,000, and when the work is completed Col. Winn believes that the course will be one of the beauty spots on this continent. The improvements include the abandonment of the chutes at one mile and one mile and a sixteenth, and the placing of the starting posts for these distances on the main track, where the starts can be better viewed from the stand. The double railing, separating the promenade and the track proper, will give way to rows of hedges and the space between the rows will be planted in clover. Two thousand pear trees will be planted in the space north of the paddock and field. The trees have already been contracted for. The infield will be sown in wheat in winter and oats in the summer. For the protection of the patrons against the sharp winds that are prevalent at certain periods of the year, an adobe wall, twenty feet high, will be constructed around the track at the most effective locations. A ladies' room will be installed under the stand, where the restaurant and kitchen are at present located. The two last named will be moved close to the betting ring.

NEW RACING REGULATION

In introducing his bill to prevent the indiscriminate establishment of race-courses throughout the country, the Minister of Justice made the announcement that the charters applied for two years ago for Thorncliffe Park and the London Jockey Club had been granted, and the act would not apply to them. It provides that the protection of the Miller bill will not apply to new courses established under the easy, and practically secret, method of incorporation under the joint stock companies act. The bill is not retroactive, but it means that in future there can be no legal speculation on the courses of associations which receive their authority by act of Parliament.

REGULATING AIR TRAFFIC

According to the new regulations, all airmen in France must be provided with navigation certificates and with permits for their air-craft. Flights over cities or crowds are prohibited. No explosives, cameras, or wireless apparatus may be carried without special permission. In the near future all air-craft will be expected to carry three lights—a white one in front, a green one on the right and a red one on the left. A horn must be carried for use in foggy weather. Air-craft are expected never to pass within 400 feet of each other.

Quickly-Made Soup

If you want soup in a hurry, try this plan. Put into a saucepan one pound of shin of beef, two ounces of bacon, a carrot and an onion, all cut in small pieces. Add three tablespoonfuls of water, put the lid on the saucepan, and let the meat simmer until it begins to stick to the pan, which will be in about a quarter of an hour. Then pour in a pint of boiling water, and simmer again for three-quarters of an hour. Strain through a sieve, pressing the meat with a wooden spoon; heat up again, and serve with squares of toasted bread. The meat may be used again for soup.

SALE AT RIDEAU HALL

The Vice-Regal [illegible] Brought [illegible] Few Dollars.

[illegible] sale at Rideau Hall [illegible] things which have been used by [illegible] under the [illegible] ber. The sale had been advertised in the public press, but failed to [illegible] a crowd of [illegible]. Some old ladies who have the auction-habit thoroughly established were there, many of them with shawls over their heads. But by far the largest number of prospective buyers were [illegible] who drive rag and bottle carts about Ottawa and deal in junk. The desk used by the Governor-General was one of the first things put up. Why it was sold is not known, for it was a rather handsome thing, and did not appear to be an article which would be required anywhere except at a Vice-Regal establishment. That seemed to be the general impression, as four dollars was all that persuasive auctioneering could get for it, and it was knocked down to a peddler. A hand-carved black walnut sideboard, at least twenty-five feet long, which would make a load for a four-horse team, realised just seven dollars. It cost seven hundred if it cost a cent.

One of the most interesting things which went under the hammer was a lot of visitors' books. When one calls on the Governor-General he or she goes to the front door of Rideau Hall, asks the footman for "the book," and signs his name. The process is so easy that there is a lot of signing, and a pile of name-filled books have accumulated. There are some distinguished names in those books. There are names of titled persons in the books, members of Parliament, Ministers of the Crown, and of the Gospel, and, in fact, the names of everyone worth while who has come to Ottawa since Confederation. They would make fine hunting-ground for the autograph collector. They did not mean much to the auctioneer, or to an old ragman for 25 cents each.

NOTABLE SENTENCES

Truths Tersely Put in Some Speeches of the Day

Popularity is not always a test that a thing is at its best.

Our boasted civilization rests on very insecure foundations.

The only patriotism is not that of men who clamor for other people to fight.

The trend of modern thought is to regard the Bible as literature rather than revelation.

It is a great privilege of any Englishman to be permitted to take part in the government of his country.

The highest aim of the statesmanship of a country ought to be to raise the man who is a menace to society.

Men are growing mightily discontented with selfishness, which is responsible for the grinding misery of poverty.

Parents and children must unite to show children that life does not mean merely drifting along the line of least resistance.

This is the most educated age that ever has been: everybody seems anxious to educate somebody else at a third party's expense.

As long as people put on particularly expensive clothes to go to church it will be very difficult for a large number of people to attend.

An indispensable note in the temper of reformers towards the wrongs of our time is a feeling something akin to personal shame and contrition.

People have been taught to believe that poverty is due to Providence, and when it is not due to Providence, they attribute it to drink.

THE DEPTH OF SLEEP

Interesting Facts Revealed by a "Depth of Sleep Chart."

Scientific investigation of the progress of sleep of the normal person has resulted in the production of a "Depth of Sleep" chart, which shows graphically, almost like a fever chart, how the depth of sleep varies with the different hours of the night. It is suggested that the right time to go to bed is 10 o'clock. If a man or woman retires at that hour the intensity of sleep and soundness of repose increase gradually until 11 o'clock. Then suddenly sleep becomes very profound, and by 11.30 is at its soundest. By 11.45 it begins to decrease slightly, and at 12.30 it is about the same as at 11.15. The soundness of slumber then gradually decreases until 2.30, when it increases again slightly, but at 4 it begins to decrease in soundness until it gradually tapers down to wakefulness at 6 o'clock, when the normal person who retired at 10 is supposed to get up.

Children's Home Improvements.

A Times reporter had occasion Tuesday to visit the Children's Shelter. Mr. and Mrs. Henry, the caretakers, had everything in first-class shape. Mr. Henry is arranging for a complete overhauling of the place. The Board of Management has decided to do considerable papering and painting, particularly the repainting of the inside of the building. There are 14 children at present in the Home, ranging from two to fourteen years of age. Some of them are bright, pretty little tots, who are awaiting adoption by some one wanting a child.

That old foxy grandpa—multimillionaire John Rockefeller, seems to get the money both coming and going. When the coal mines are running, the mines, steamers and railroads he is interested in, coin money. Then when a strike is on, Mr. Rockefeller figures that the coupons on the Standard Oil Company's bonds will bring in a few more wheel barrow fulls of gold, as oil is now replacing coal for fuel on steamships and war vessels. By a strange coincidence the height of the coal strike saw the arrival on the Thames of the first one could look at this vessel without seeing that she marked a radical change in shipping construction. She had no funnel, her engines were right aft, and consequently the interior of the ship could be arranged with a degree of comfort impossible in the case of vessels whose centre is occupied by enormous engines. The Selandia is driven by oil.

WINTERED WELL.

Southern Alberta Sheep Men Suffered Slight Loss Last Winter.

Lethbridge, Alta., April 17.—From the point of view of the live stock man, southern Alberta could not have had a better winter. The percentage of loss has been so low in all branches of the industry that a record has probably been set which will stand for many years. This is especially true in regard to the sheep industry. According to the statement made to-day by E. C. Harvie, of Raymond, president of the Southern Alberta Wool Growers' Association the total loss in all flocks in southern Alberta during the winter months was not more than 1 per cent. The average loss of sheep from winter causes is about 5 per cent. At the present time there are between 60,000 and 65,000 sheep in southern Alberta.

NATURE'S REBUKE

All the report from the far West indicate, and the trade of the wheat indicates that March was an exceptionally favorable month for the resumption of the threshing delayed and interrupted in the fall, and that much wheat, gloomily regarded as a total loss, has turned out to be a substantial asset.

In this there is great ground for satisfaction, especially when coupled with good weather for spring work towards this year's crop. It would seem as if nature had proferred a rebuke to those who made the country reverberate with stories of general calamity. Some of those utterances were no doubt due to individual losses and disappointment, some to congenital pessimism, but most were at at the defeat of their political party. tributed to an ill concealed chagrin No transportation system in the world could have stood the strain laid upon the Canadian system last year, that of the United States least of all. How remarkably quickly Duluth was choked!

The experience shows that the forwarding of grain is entirely a question of transportation, storage and finance, and the true line is the one now taken, namely, to strengthen and broaden our own Canadian facilities, instead of making the childish and futile attempt to pour it into a hopper which is already full to overflowing. Such an emergency might not occur again for fifty years, but if it does occur, Canada, on present lines, will every year be in a better position to deal with it, instead of being helpless at the mercy of foreign traders. However, it is a matter of congratulation that matters have righted themselves to so great a degree. The promise of the rainbow has not failed.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the president of the newest nation in the world—the Republic of China—announces that he will inaugurate the greatest revolution in history, a revolution of civilization. The first move, and one of the most important, will be the adoption of the Henry George system of single tax.

For the benefit of those who are after employment under the Dominion Government, it might be said that Civil Service Competitive examination will be held on Monday the 13th day of May, 1912, and the following days, at Halifax, Yarmouth, Sydney, Charlottetown, St. John, Fredericton, Moncton, Quebec, Sherbrooke, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Sault Ste Marie, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria.

THOSE NOXIOUS WEEDS.

A bulletin has been issued by the Seed Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, giving a full reprint of the law governing the sale of seeds in Canada. This act, names the weeds which are considered most noxious and are particularly legislated against, and defines the standards of quality in regard to purity and germination to which seed of various kinds must conform when sold for seeding purposes. The standards for four grades of timothy, red clover, alsike, and alfalfa seed are given, and full information regarding the law as applied to farmers, and the way in which it may be used for their protection.

The second part of the bulletin deals with seed testing work and the application of the law through seed inspection. The largest part of the bulletin, and perhaps that of most interest to farmers, deals with weeds and seeds. About 90 different species are illustrated and described, and with the use of the bulletin the identification of both the growing plants and the seeds should be comparatively easy. The weeds considered noxious under the Seed Control Act are given first, in botanical order. This bulletin will be very interesting and useful to those interested in the identification and control of weeds and the means to adopt to prevent their introduction and spread through commercial seeds.

Now that the price of living is so inordinately high, it is but right that the citizen who pays fancy prices for almost everything, should get, for his money, just what he pays for. The Dominion Government evidently realizes this also. Even in such an article as olive oil, the Ottawa authorities are going to insist on purity. The last issue of the Canada Gazette, referring to that article, says: The following standards of quality are hereby established for "Edible Vegetable Oils":—Olive Oil. Sweet Oil is entirely a product of the fruit of the olive tree. Its specific gravity, at 15.5 C. is not less than 0.9140 nor more than 0.9196. It does not contain above 3.5 p.c. of free fatty acids. Cotton Seed Oil is the oil obtained from the seeds of cotton plants and subjected to refining processes. It is free from rancidity, has specific gravity, at 15.5 C., between 0.9216 and 0.9300. Salad Oil. Either of the above may be sold as salad oil; but when Cotton Seed Oil is offered as Salad Oil the fact that the article is Cotton Seed Oil must be declared on the label. Mixtures of Cotton Seed Oil with Olive Oil must be so declared on the label.

MEMORIAL TO KING.

Statute of Edward VII to be Placed on Parliament Hill.

Ottawa, April 17.—The government is inviting competitive designs for a monument to be erected to his late majesty, King Edward VII. It is provided that the new memorial when completed is not to cost more than $35,000. The competition is open to artsists throughout the empire. The monument when completed will be placed in position on parliament hill. The author of the best design will be awarded the commission for the work and the second best will be given a prize of $1,000.

SCHOOL TREASURER MISSING

He Cashed a Cheque for $70.00 and Then Disappeared.

Belleville, April 17.—Wm. Holland of Faraday township, in the Northern part of Hastings county, is missing. As secretary-treasurer of school section No. 9, Dungannon, he went to Bancroft and cashed a check for $70. Since then nothing has been heard of him. Holland has a wife and several small children.

THE GROWTH OF CANADA

Industrial Awakening in the East Brings Expansion to Many Industries

Canada, with its seven millions odd of population, already has a home market for her agriculture and manufactures of one-fifth of that of the United Kingdom. When we come to think that the United Kingdom imports her food supplies from all over the world, and that the foodstuffs that Canada sends her is but a drop in the bucket, it will be realised that Canadian agriculturists have already, in their own home market, by far their greatest source of wealth.

The purely consuming class—the urban and industrial class—is far greater in Canada than is generally supposed. For instance, the recent census, which places our total population at just over seven millions, shows that two and a half millions of this population, or considerably more than one-third, are residents of towns and cities of over 4000 population. An absolutely protected market of two and a half millions of towns people—which, after all is only a portion of the consuming class of Canada—is an asset of no mean importance to the agriculturists of the Dominion.

Another noteworthy fact shown by the census is, that although the agricultural population of Western Canada has been increasing at a reasonable rate, the agricultural population in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—taking these as a unit—has remained stationary. Yet, despite the the fact that the agricultural classes of this Eastern part of Canada have not increased, the census shows that of the increase of 1,718,584 in the population of Canada during the past ten years, over one-fifth, namely 375,766, has to be accredited to Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Practically all this increase in the East has been in the urban or consuming population comprised in 32 large towns, which between them shown an increase in population of 316,002.

Now this remarkable increase in the industrial population of Eastern Canada, which has afforded a proportionate increase in the market for the agriculturalists of the Dominion, as well as magnificent opportunities for such of their sons as are fitted by natural endowments for industrial careers has largely taken place during the last five years, as is indicated by the fact that according to the Government census of manufacturers in 1905, the number of industrial employes in Quebec had only increased by 6000 since 1900, in New Brunswick by 3,000 and in Nova Scotia by 500. Most of the 375,766 increase in population which these three Eastern provinces show, therefore, must have taken place in the last five years.

As a matter of fact, a great industrial awakening is taking place in the East. The secret of this awakening is that capitalists have suddenly discovered the industrial resources of these provinces. Money is pouring in, in a flood from Great Britain, from the United States, and from Germany and France for the industrial development of Eastern Canada. Great steel and coal industries are being built up on the very shores of the Atlantic Ocean, and during the past five years these industries have begun to compete in the markets of the world.

Great pulp and paper manufactories are springing up in New Brunswick and Quebec, and already are exporting their products to all parts of the world. Great mining industries are being established all over the East, and Quebec, whose mining resources have remained almost untouched while those of Ontario have been developing, has now entered into the van of progress, a result of a complete revision of her mining laws. These are only a few of the great basic industries. Hundreds of others are following in their wake. The East, in fact, is taking the place that Nature has fitted her to take—that of a great manufacturing country.

The phenomenal progress of some of the larger cities of the East, and notably of Montreal, is well known. But without instancing any of the larger cities, a few examples of lesser known places will illustrate the general progress. Victoriaville, Que., with electrical power from Shawinigan Falls, increased her manufactured products from $374,000 in 1901 to $900,000 in 1909. Three Rivers, Que., with power from natural gas, has increased from 9,000 to 14,000 in population. Fraserville, on the shores of the St. Lawrence, with unlimited timber at its back, increased its manufactured products from $370,974 in 1906 to $600,000 in 1909. Joliette, Que., with power from Shawinigan Falls, increased its manufactured products from $719,000 in 1906 to over $1,000,000 in 1909. Buckingham, Que., with natural resources of lumber, phosphate, plumbago, and mica, increased its manufactured products from $865,980 to $900,000 in 1906.

As far back as 1906—really before the great industrial awakening had begun—over $70,000,000 per annum was being paid out in wages in the factories of Quebec, Nova Scotia, and the Maritime Provinces. Since then this amount has more than doubled. In other words the amount paid out in wages in these provinces, during the past year, must equal an amount sufficient to pay for a wheat crop of 156 million bushels at $1 per bushel.

Considering that factory employees only form a portion of the urban population, it will be seen that this consuming population of the East is a big factor in the well-being of the Dominion as a whole, and presents as it were, a view of the future for such provinces as Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia whose vast resources, now dormant, must inevitably attract and concentrate the industrial classes of the world.

What a Shanty Clerk Does.

Mr. Courthope Poucette, who has been spending a few days in the city, returned yesterday morning to the Cavendish Lumber camps. In response to a question put to him by a Times representative, Mr. Poucette said, "You ask if a bookkeeper in a lumber camp doesn't have an easy time, nothing to do but read novels, and draw his salary, which he cannot spend out there? Let me tell you I have the books of three camps to attend to. Our camp is seven, and the other one four miles from my headquarters. I have to visit each of them at least once a week!"

WOODSTOCK AGAINST CITY HALL BY-LAW

Woodstock, April 16.—By a vote of 493 in favor, and 507 against, the citizens of Woodstock yesterday defeated the by-law to raise $75,000 for a new city hall to replace the present one, which has been in use for the last fifty years. As a result of the close vote it is altogether likely that the question will again be put to the people in the near future.

The by-law to grant aid by way of bonus to the Woodstock Automobile Co. received 901 votes in its favor, and 163 against. On account of the fact that this by-law requires a majority of three-fifths of the total number of voters on the list, will have to be counted before it is known if the by-law passed or not.

PASTOR PUTS END TO HIS OWN LIFE

Wyoming, Ont., April 16.—About eight o'clock yesterday morning, while in a fit of temporary insanity, Rev. J. M. Gunne of this village, got out of bed and with his double-barrelled gun shot himself in the neck, dying almost instantly. The deceased had been brooding over various matters for some weeks, which caused sleeplessness, and undoubtedly unhinged his mind.

ROSENTHAL INQUEST AGAIN ADJOURNED

Toronto, April 16.—Owing to Eli Dunkelman's enforced absence in the General Hospital, no evidence was taken at the adjourned inquiry at the morgue last night into the death of Joseph Rosenthal, who was murdered near the Hydro-Electric Station, Strachan avenue, on Good Friday evening.

Coroner Dr. Cotton, who presided, stated that there was a large number of witnesses to be heard at the next hearing, which was fixed for Monday the 22nd inst. It is expected also that by that time Dunkelman will be sufficiently recovered to attend and tell what he knows about the tragedy.

Exams for Ministry Begun.

Tuesday morning an important event took place in the city. Whilst the examination of candidates for the ministry may seem a passing thought to some people, its significance is far reaching. Yesterday the examination began, in the parlours of the George street Methodist church. The presiding examiners are: Rev. R. Burns, Omemee, chairman, and Rev. J. G. Lewis, of Warkworth, secretary.

The following candidates are writing preliminary First and Second Years:

Ernest Harston, Fort Stewart, Hastings Co.; M. L. Hinton, St. Ola, Hastings Co.; R. M. Patterson, Lifford; A. R. Walsh, Darymple; C. G. Williams, Consecon, Prince Edward Co.; A. C. Hie, Victoria Road; Douglas Dickson, Caenaarvon; Harry Wilkinson, Wilberforce, S. H. Nicholson, Monteagle, and L. M. Sharpe,

COLLIERS RESUME WORK.

The Last Phase of the British Coal Strike.

London, April 17.—The colliery surfacemen's strike in South Wales came to an end to-day with a conference at Cardiff, when it was decided that the men should resume work at once. That is the last of the side issues attending the great coal strike, and will bring the whole coal fields into full operation again.

Sunday School Convention.

The annual Sunday School Convention of the city will be held on Sunday, April 28th, and Monday, 29th. A rally of the Sunday school workers will be held on Sunday afternoon at 4.15 at Knox church, and the public meeting will be held in Park street church at 8 p.m.

Planet Mars to Be Discussed.

The Peterborough Branch of the Royal Astronomical Society will meet on Monday evening, April 22, at the Collegiate Institute. This meeting is not only for the members of the society; the general public is most cordially invited. Admission free. "Mars" will be the subject of the evening. The planet is perhaps the only world, in addition to the earth, in the solar system, where life as we are acquainted with it, is possible. Its formation, development and present condition will be discussed.

WOMEN AND PICKET DUTY.

Appeal to Police After Being Drenched With Water From Fire Hose

Aberdeen, Wash., April 16.—After twenty-four women with their baby carriages had been splashed with water from a fire hose at the Slade lumber mills yesterday afternoon after they had attempted to crowd into the mill, they marched to the city hall; invaded the police station and demanded of Chief of Police Templeman that they be given protection. The women were put forward as pickets while the men strikers stood behind them. The women were warned three times not to attempt to enter the mill, and when they persisted they were met by water. The use of women for picket duty is the latest move of the strikers.

The Titanic Compared Locally.

A local citizen, who is somewhat of a statistician Tuesday was speaking of the steamship Titanic disaster To a Times representative, as they stood on the corner of Hunter and George streets, looking towards the block, the corner of which is occupied by Mr. Kempt as a drug store, formerly used by Mr. MacDonald for the same business, the local statistician asked, "You have heard of the trouble with the White Star Line Titanic?" "Yes." "How high do you

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Girl Wanted.

Experienced girl for general housework, small family. Good wages to competent maid. Apply at Times Office for address.

TO RENT.

Office on George St., $10 per month from April 6th; light, heat and lavatory free. Box 26 Times.

ROOM TO RENT.

Near Central Park; front room with bay window, heated, lighted and use of bath-room. $6.50, with meals, or $2.50 without. Box 26 Times.

Apprentice Wanted.

Apprentice wanted to learn the bookbinding business. A splendid opportunity to learn a good trade. For particulars apply at the Times Bookstore.

Chemong Park Hotel Change.

The hotel at Chemong Park has changed proprietorship. Mr. R. J. Davis of this city, who formerly resided on Rubidge street, will conduct this popular summer resort during the coming season.

Close Season Now On.

Monday, April 15th, was the opening day of the close season for bass and maskinonge. It closes on June 15th. It has been stated that the law will be rigidly enforced, and no pains would be spared to bring violators to justice.

Many New Autos.

Autos are now becoming very numerous on the streets of the city. It is said that over half a hundred new autos will be added to the local list. Mr. J. J. Duffus is doing a land office business with the Ford and the Reo cars, which he is local sales agent.

Small Fire Yesterday.

The fire brigade was called out to a small fire on Park street yesterday. Kindling wood placed in an oven to dry, caught fire. A couple of neighbors kicked the door in and put the fire out. The damage did not amount to much.

Election of Smith Council.

Owing to the retirement of Mr. J. C. McConkey, as Councillor for Smith Township, a meeting of the electors for the nomination of candidates for that office, for the rest of the year will be held on Monday, April 29th, at one o'clock, p.m., in the County Council Chambers.

Object to Garbage By-law.

It seems that objection is being taken throughout the city over the Garbage By-law. There are people who think the tax for collecting garbage should not be levied against property. A petition is being circulated asking that the by-law be amended.

Farmers' Excursion to Guelph.

The Farmers' Institutes of East and West Peterborough and of East Durham, have again arranged with the C.P.R. for their annual trip on Wednesday, June 12th. They have decided to visit Guelph, the Ontario Agricultural College being the particular object of their excursion this year as usual.

The Golf Club Meetings.

On Tuesday the Golf and Country Club held a very satisfactory meeting, a goodly number of directors being present. Another important meeting will be held Tuesday evening next in the Bank of Montreal Chambers at Tuesday's meeting. Mr. T. F. Matthews was appointed a director to succeed Mr. W. H. Denham, who has resigned.

Mr. Calverwell's Enterprise.

Port Hope Guide: Mr. J. A. Culverwell has made an addition to his property "Glenridge Park," on Dorset street by purchasing six more lots on Augusta street, thus giving the full depth of two town blocks and making altogether nearly six acres of hill and valley. This spring further improvements will be made to the house.

A Suggestion for Peterborough.

Kingston Standard: Co-operating with the local improvement committee of the Brockville town council, the property committee of the public school board have now agreed to begin work about the different schools by setting out Boston Ivy. The West Ward schools grounds will also be decorated. Citizens wishing to cover brick or stone buildings with the Boston ivy should get it out now as this is the best time of the year.

Cross Sent Up for Trial.

At yesterday's session of the Police Court, Joseph Cross, who, if the charge is substantiated should get—well enough to keep him repenting. Reporters were debarred from the proceedings. When those faithful servants of the public are shut out, there must be something radically rotten. The victim of his assault was the first witness called, and his evidence, even hear-say is unprintable.

Will Baseball Team Be Delayed.

The fans are now fearing that Riverside Park will be flooded, and consequently the brand new Peterborough baseball team delayed in their practice, just at the time they want to get on to one another's curves. However, Supt. McClellan, of the Trent Valley Canal, whom no one possibly is better acquainted with the water conditions of our Northern Reservoirs, is authority for saying that no such danger need be apprehended.

Peterborough Club will Soon be Here

The Peterborough Baseball Team will be in good shape when they arrive here two weeks hence. Eight of the squad including Manager Templin, are working out daily on the United States League Club's grounds in Reading, and they will be right on edge when they get here. A letter received from Manager Templin says that he may drop into Peterborough any day now. He is waiting to sign up a left handed pitcher who is with the Haverhill club.

Officers of Pearl Mission.

The Pearl Mission Circle of the George street Methodist church, held its election of officers Tuesday night, the following being chosen: Hon. Pres., Mrs. Cruikshanks; Pres., Miss Pearl Hardill; 1st Vice-Pres., Miss Lela Smyth; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss Gladys Pentland; Rec. Sec'y, Hazel I. Pentland; Cor. Sec'y, Miss Alice Clegg; Treas., Miss Ella Outram; Supt., Systematic Giving, Miss Verna Merrill; Supt. Mite Boxes, Miss Verda Hinds; Pianist, Miss Etta Kemp.

Building Operations Booming.

Those pessimists who think Peterborough's progress is stationary, might just consult the appended list of building to be prosecuted here this spring. The Canadian General Electric Company's new building represents quite an item, it being reported slightly less than $45,000. The addition to the J. J. Turner & Sons' factory contributes $1500 and a number of dwellings and smaller items add another $8,000. The following are some of the buildings for which permits have been issued: $2,200, dwelling, Sherbrooke street, T. H. Gillespie; $1,800, dwelling, Dublin street, G. W. Fitzgerald; $1,500, dwelling, Division street, C. Blewett; $5,000, factory, J. J. Turner & Sons; $800, alterations to house, 590 George street, Geo. Powell. Small items total between $2,000 and $3000 and the entire sum for the past two weeks including the C.G.E. building, makes the total for that time about $55,000.

Mr. Crane Resigns From St. Paul's.

It will come as an unpleasant surprise that Mr. John Crane has decided to retire from the position, he has so ably filled, of organist of St. Paul's church. On Tuesday evening last Mr. Crane placed his resignation before the Board of Managers, who are considering it, and, as may well be expected, if they are compelled to accept it, will do so with great regret, which will be shared by the whole congregation of St. Paul's. It will be difficult to replace Mr. Crane who, for nearly a score of years, has given service as organist and choirmaster, as conspicuous for its fidelity as for its high character and appreciation and enthusiasmin respect of the musical demands of the service of praise of the church. Mr. Crane's services, in his official capacity, were by no means all the benefits for which St. Paul's is to be grateful to him.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. George Forbes.

Parry Sound, April 16.—An old resident of the township of Dummer passed away on April 16th, 1912, at Parry Sound, in the person of Jane Bailing, the beloved wife of Mr. Geo. Forbes. The deceased was born in the township of Dummer in 1835. Mrs. Forbes was 70 years old. For a number of years she lived at White Lake with her husband, who predeceased her two years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss four sons and one daughter, as follows: John Hugh and Francis Edward, of Orrville; George, of Alberta, and William and Mrs. Albert Bolton, of Parry Sound.

James Alexander Pilling.

A well known young man passed away yesterday, in the person of Mr. James A. R. Pilling, at Nicholls' Hospital. The deceased was a member of Park street Athletic Club and for one season pitched ball for the Norwood team. He had been ill with pneumonia since last Thursday morning and his demise came as a severe shock to his relatives and friends. He was born in Port Hope, but had been a resident of Peterborough for the space of twelve years. Mr. Pilling is survived by a sorrowing mother, one sister and five brothers, namely, Martha of Kingston, Walter at Port Hope, Edward, Jack, Robert and Ray at home. The remains will be conveyed by the noon train on Saturday to Port Hope, for interment.

William Tighe.

One of Peterborough's oldest citizens, in the person of Mr. William Tighe, passed away at Newcastle on Wednesday, April 10th. The deceased was born in Sligo, Ireland, 86 years ago, and when a boy, came to this country with his parents, settling in Peterborough. He was educated here, and at the time was well known. He was prominent in the Orange Order and was a member of St. John's church. When a young man, he went to Liskeard, where he resided 40 years and held the position of postmaster. Later he moved to Newcastle, where he spent the last 14 years. The late Mr. Tighe is survived by his wife at Newcastle, and a sister, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, 428 Water street, and Mr. George Tighe, at Sutton's Bay.

25,000; 1910, 43,500; 1911, 60,000. Assessments, 1909, $46,005,[illegible].00, 1909, [illegible]321.00; 1910, $80,105,110.00; 1911, $92,[illegible].000.00; 1912, $120,000,000.00.

Calgary is situated on cross roads of the C.P.R., G.T.P., and C.N.R., and has the largest tributary area of arable land of any city on the continent.

Calgary's competitive city is 200 miles. Abundance of coal, water power and natural gas in close proximity. Municipal owned industrial sites available at cost.

At the present rate of development and growth Calgary will have a population of 100,000 in 1915, and an assessed value of $200,000,000.00.

Calgary's development is as yet in its infancy. Many of the shrewdest financiers of the United States and Great Britain are releasing their holdings in the older countries and re-investing in Calgary and vicinity.

Chances for making fortunes out of Calgary Realty has never been so bright as it is to-day.

The east end of Calgary, where all the railroad development is taking place, and where manufacturing plants are being established in great numbers, assures the investors in big returns on his investment.

Among the several propositions that are being offered to the investing public in this section of Calgary, is the splendidly situated suburb known as Gladstone Heights.

This fine property has been placed on the market at prices and on terms of payment that will allow the man of small means (who would like to get his money working for him the same as his wealthy neighbor) to invest and thus participate in the rich harvest of increased Calgary values.

Gladstone Heights is situated on the main line of the Chestermere Surburban Railway Co., between the business section of Calgary and Chestermere Lake, (Calgary's play ground).

It is being sold under a guarantee of every lot being level and a first-class building lot.

The Calgary Nail Co., and the Calgary Manufacturing Co., have secured sites, and propose erecting plants in the near future.

It is understood that the C. N. R. will erect a sub-station near the corner of Gladstone Heights.

It is also understood that the G.T. Railway (who own the adjoining quarter section) will erect extensive car works here.

The head quarters and car barns of the Chestermere Surburban Railway Co., will be located on property adjoining Gladstone Heights.

The closest sub-division to Gladstone Heights is selling at prices fully 50 per cent higher.

One of the best features about Gladstone Heights is that the price is within the reach of the man of moderate means, being from $50.00 to $110.00 per lot, with $10.00 extra per lot for corner pairs; one-fifth in cash, balance 3, 6, 9 and 12 months.

Those who are fortunate enough to secure some of this property now will reap a handsome profit within the year.

DEPARTMENT OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS.

Ontario—St. Lawrence Canals, Cornwall Canal.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Improving Lower Entrance to Lock No. 15," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Friday, April 26th.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after April 8th at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Resident Engineer of the Ontario — St. Lawrence Canals, Cornwall, at which places form of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labor, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $6,500.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By Order,
L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

NO WAY TO TELL PRESENCE OF ICE

is an intermixture of cold and warm currents going on, as at the junction of the Labrador Current and the Gulf stream, the temperature of the sea has been known to rise as the ice is approached.

As is set forth in a paper published by the Hydrographic Office, before ice is seen from the deck the ice blink will often indicate its presence. This is readily understood when it is known that it is caused by the reflection of the rays of light from the sun or moon. On a clear day over the ice on the horizon the sky will be much paler or lighter in color and is easily distinguishable from that overhead, so that a sharp lookout should be kept and changes in the color of the sky noted. On a clear day icebergs can be seen at a long distance, owing to their brightness, and at night to their effulgence. During foggy weather they are seen through the fog by their apparent blackness, if such a term can be applied.

Echoes Bid Location of Ice.

"They can also be detected sometimes by the echo from the steam whistle or fog horn. This should be remembered, since, by noting the time between the blasts of a whistle and the reflected sound, the distance of the object in feet may be approximately found by multiplying by 550. Even this test, however, is not always a sure one, for most mariners are familiar with the common phenomenon known as the aberration of sound.

"The presence of icebergs are often made known by the noise of their breaking up and falling to pieces. The crackling of the ice or the falling of pieces into the sea makes a noise like breakers or the distant discharge of guns, which may often be heard, though not far away. The appearance of herds of seal or flocks of birds far from land is another common indication of the proximity of ice.

"Here in the Hydrographic office our reports of ice have been rather abnormally frequent during recent month. During the first fifteen days of the present month there have been received from incoming vessels twenty-four such reports including those of to-day."

Predicted Great Disaster

Such a disaster that befell the Titanic was predicted by Charles Terry Delaney in a story "The Man on the Bridge," which [illegible]d in the Atlantic Monthly in May, 1910.

In this story was outlined the dangers which beset an ocean liner and the hardships of the overworked master. Captain Delaney is a master of long standing and declared that, under regulations which compel the master to remain sleepless and hollow-eyed at his post for impossible periods, the safety of the passengers is more a matter of chance than wise provision.

Without sleep, says the author, no man is fit to have in his hands the destinies of thousands of fellow beings and the fortunes of a huge vessel. "At times," he insists, "the master is no more fit to be left in charge than a lunatic."

Under the British regulations the master must be upon the bridge at all times during a fog. As the fog often extends from the Banks clear in to New York, it is possible to realize what this means.

"I have seen a master sixty years of age or thereabouts," asserts Delaney, "stand on the bridge for seventy hours with eyes that were useless through strain and hearing impaired through the constant shrieking of the fog whistle. Is it right to expect such a man to command in case of emergency? In justice to the master and passengers alike should not the command be handed over to the second officer?

"I mean nothing derogatory to any master in what I have said. They know and I know that whatever action they take in an emergency will be taken mechanically and without thought."

Annoyance by Passengers.

Delaney explains of the irritating habit of passengers in playing shuffleboard directly under the bridge, while the man above is straining every nerve to discern either by eye or ear floating icebergs and nearing vessels. He refers to weather that, in sailor's parlance, is "one part clear and two parts thick" as the most dangerous of all, on account of the tendency of second officers to cling to their duty on the bridge in order to give the master a rest.

He recounts this experience:

"A narrow escape happened to me about six years ago, when in charge of a ship carrying a full passenger list, the night being hazy and the ship in the ice track. I kept hanging on until finally after giving up hope of the weather's clearing, I did decide to call the master and sound the whistle. The responsibility was his not mine. But before this could be done almost alongside the ship was an iceberg towering up about three hundred feet. The ship passed within twenty feet of it, going at 21 knots; had their been a submerged trailer attached to the berg the bottom of the ship would have been ripped open. Cold as I was at the time, I turned colder still."

The World Anxiously Awaits the Arrival of the Carpathia in Face of Stern Censorship

SAILORS DROWNED LIKE RATS 200 WERE SLEEPING BELOW

Captain of Carpathia Flashes News to Ottawa Citizen---Col. Astor Was Drowned And Mrs. Astor is Sick

Lights of the Titanic Went Out in Four Minutes After the Ship Struck, and Vessel Went Down in Darkness

According to Best Reckoning the Carpathia Will Reach Her Dock Here at One O'clock Friday Morning

Ottawa, April 18.—A special from Highland Light, Mass., to the Ottawa Citizen, says:

(By wireless from Captain Rostron of the Carpathia.)

"I know for sure there were no lives saved except those I have on board.

"I have not the body of John Jacob Astor on board. Mrs. Astor is very sick.

"More than 100 are sick in the hospital.

"When the collision occurred about 200 sailors sleeping in the bow of the Titanic were drowned like rats.

"After the impact the lights of the Titanic went out in four minutes.

"The dynamos lasted about the same time, which caused the wireless operator to abandon his calls for help. As his storage batteries were only capable of carrying from fifty to one hundred miles, the wireless operator was rendered helpless."

Survivors are Due at New York at One O'clock This Morning.

New York, April 18.—According to best reckoning the Carpathia will reach her dock here at one o'clock Friday morning, as she is being delayed by fog. Wireless messages bombarded the Carpathia all last night and this morning, but with little results. Even a message from President Taft asking for news of his aide, Major Butt, remained unanswered, and the indications are that no details of the disaster will be known until the Carpathia reaches port.

Judging from the nature of the few messages received from the survivors aboard the Carpathia, the inference is that most of them are unaware of the awful tragedy that took place aboard the Titanic after she was abandoned. Thus many wives are ignorant that their husbands have perished, and are hoping that they were picked up by some passing liner which subsequently rendered service similar to that of the Carpathia.

All preparations have been made to receive the survivors when they land here. Food, clothing, ambulances, and other necessities and luxuries have been provided. The police protection will be ample and every measure will be taken to protect the unfortunates who have been under such terrific strain. For the women of the steerage a committee of prominent New York women has been formed to house and take care of them until relatives abroad can be notified of their plight.

THE WEST WILL SOON CONTROL

Sir William Whyte Says Fifteen Years Will Swing Balance of Power to Prairies.

Montreal, April 18.—"Transportation is the greatest problem we have to solve in the west, but if the railways and the government handles matters well, fifteen years, or at most twenty, will see more people west of Lake Superior than you have in the east."

Such was the remark of Sir William Whyte at the Windsor to-day, when interviewed. Although Sir William has retired from active operation of the C.P.R., he is still a member of the directorate and takes a great interest in the development of the western provinces.

He declared that with the C. N.R. and G.T.P. completed he had no doubt as to the capacity of the railways to handle the crops for many years to come, and there would be no large quantity of grain damaged owing to the lack of time in which to handle it as there had been this year.

Sir William also remarked that he had been urging mixed farming for years, but evidently with little result. He considered that the position of the west in this respect was ridiculous, as thousands of dollars' worth of produce was being shipped into the prairie provinces each year which could be easily grown there.

He looked to Manitoba to first adopt mixed farming on a large scale but even this could not be expected until the best of the great wheat territories in Saskatchewan and Alberta had been taken up. Sir William leaves for the west on Tuesday.

PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD IN SPECIAL SESSION

A special meeting of the Public Library Board was held last evening. There were present Messrs. W. G. Morrow, chairman, E. H. D. Hall, H. Ritchie, D. Spence, J. Corkery, T. F. Matthews, H. R. H. Kenner, and A. Mowat.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Mr. T. A. S. Hay, with reference to the removal of the curios of the museum to the Library and the placing of same in the building.

Opening of Museum.

It was decided to have the museum open to the public every afternoon during the week from 2 to 6 p.m. and every Saturday from 7 to 10 p.m., and that a formal opening be held on the evening of Tuesday 23rd inst., from 7 to 10 p.m. The arranging for the opening and the programme for the evening was left in the hands of the Property Committee. The general public is cordially invited to be present.

The report of the librarian on the work of the Ontario Library Association meeting held in Toronto Monday and Tuesday, 8th and 9th inst., which on motion was received. Mr. Corkery read the report of the Finance Committee recommending the payment of a number of accounts, which was adopted.

Mr. Matthews reported verbally on several matters in connection with the building and grounds, and the Property Committee was authorized to have the grounds put in shape a temporary fence erected to protect the lawn and some other minor repairs and improvements alluded to.

The Finance Committee was requested to apply to the City Council for the balance of the money derived from the sale of the Mrs. Nicholls' Estate, to be handed over to the Board.

The best way of taking care of the maps received from the Dominion Government from time to time was referred to the Library Committee to consider and report on.

The librarian reported that Dr. King had donated a valuable work Greek and Roman Antiquities, and several other volumes to the Library and the Board desired that their thanks be tendered to Dr. King for these very much appreciated additions to the library.

The meeting then adjourned.

It has been decided that the new union station of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways at Edmonton will be between First and Second streets. The purchase of trackage rights and property has been consummated and the anticipated growth of the city is provided for in the dimensions of the new depot, which, it is promised, will be one of the finest on the prairies west of Winnipeg.

THE SKELETONS TESTIFY

Priest's Case of Suspended Animation Peculiar Apropos.

Paris, April 18.—At the Sarbonne, Professor Thoinot, M.D., declared in a lecture that has created much consternation that there is absolutely no security against being buried alive. "Despite the investigation of learned men all over the world it is impossible to decide on an unquestionable symptom of death, for death and seeming death are twins that puzzle the most experienced.

"I would not dare to say with absolute certainty that a person is dead within three times twenty-four hours after his supposed demise." The lecturer then quoted Dr. Thoret, who superintended the removal of the skeletons from the old Paris churchyard of the Innocents. Thoret made affidavit that many of the skeletons found lay on their sides, or that their knees and hands were pushed a-

VEILED AND SILENT ICEBERGS DEATH SCYTHES OF THE SEA

Floating Mountains, Wrapped in Mist, Have Been the Cause of Thousands of Deaths and Always Are the Greatest Fear of Mariners

Collision with icebergs has always been one of the most deadly of the dangers that confront the mariner. So well recognized is this peril of the Newfoundland Banks, where the Labrador current in the early spring and summer months floats southward its ghostly argosy of icy pinnacles detached from the polar ice caps, that the government hydrographic offices and the maritime exchanges spare no pains to collate and disseminate the latest bulletins on the subject.

That the floating icebergs rank among the most dreaded of sea perils is illustrated by the fact that in cases where vessels have disappeared from the sea, leaving no trace behind to explain their fate, mariners usually incline to the view that they have gone down with all on board after encountering one of these inanimate monsters of the deep.

Such is believed to have been the doom of the fine old side sidewheel packet, the steamship Pacific, of the Collins line, which 1860 was the transatlantic greyhound of her day and wrested the speed supremacy from vessels flying the British flag. The Pacific was a liliputian craft compared with the Titanic of to-day, but she was the best of her kind when she steamed from this port in 1856 carrying 240 passengers bound for Liverpool.

From that day to this no trace of her has ever been foundf Time and again her owners and also the government sent out steamships to hunt for the missing vessel, but not so much as a derelict spar or a bottled scrawl was ever found on which to base a conjecture as to the route by which the Pacific found her way into the port of lost ships.

Fate of the Naronic.

The loss of the White Star ship, the Naronic, is another of the seas' unsolved mysteries, which, in lack of any evidence whatever, is generally ascribed to collision with an iceberg. The Naronic was a fine new ship, having been in commission only a year when on February 11, 1893, she steamed from Liverpool eastward bound with a crew of fifty-four men and a valuable cargo. As passengers she also carried ten wealthy cattle dealers, who were returning from England to America. She never reached any earthly port, and was never reported by any other craft. Several bottle messages were picked up months afterward, all of which were pronounced spurious by those best qualified to judge. An exhaustive investigation by the British authorities threw no light upon the mystery. They determined that the vessel was sound and sea worthy in construction and equipment, and that her cargo had not been of a character to ignite spontaneously nor to explode readily

The Arizona, of the Guoin line, was one of the blue ribbon flyers of the transatlantic course thirty years ago. She was the pioneer ship of the Guion fleet, then destined to compete with the White Star line in fleetness and accommodations. Her length over all, was 464 feet, about one half the length of the mammoth Titanic, and her gross tonnage was 5,400 tons. She was a big ship for her time.

With passengers and crew to the number of three hundred she steamed from New York, November 4, 1879, Captain Thos. Jones

MANY TOURISTS GO TO IRELAND

Home Rule Rumpus Has Caused Increased Interest in Emerald Isle

Dublin, April 18.—One outcome of the home rule rumpus is welcomed by Nationalist and Orangeman alike. The increased interest in Ireland is causing vastly more Englishmen to take a holiday tour in the Emerald Isle.

In the last few weeks the St. George's channel has been crossed by more visitors than in any similar time on record, while the Easter bookings have roused the keenest hopes among hotelmen all over the country.

The fashion was undoubtedly set by the politicians. First the Eighty club the Liberal organization of spellbinders, made a long tour of observation; then the Conservatives sent a company of the opposing orators into Ulster.

To-day there is variety enough of views for the visitors to choose from

BAND PLAYED "NEARER MY GOD TO THEE" AS THE TITANIC SLOWLY WENT DOWN

33 CANADIANS MISSING

The latest reports placed the number of Canadians lost in the Titanic disaster at 33. A passenger's place of residence is not published opposite his name in the customary Atlantic sailing list, and therefore only the prominent ones were listed among the missing. Dispatches from many points in the Dominion, however, serve to identify many more of the lost Canadians.

CAPTAIN AND FIRST OFFICERS COMMITTED SUICIDE

The Titanic Was Travelling at the Rate of 23 Knots an Hour---The Huge Iceberg Was Sighted Quarter of a Mile Away

(Special to The Times.

At 2 o'clock this morning The Times received a special despatch conveying the sad, but startling details of the last moments before the Titanic made her final plunge to her eternal grave, two miles below the surface of the ocean. The band aboard the huge vessel played "Nearer My God to Thee," Thus demonstrating, as she slowly sank, that the old British spirit that actuated Lord Nelson and other heroes, kept courage in the breasts of those facing certain death.

The captain and the first officers, however, committed suicide, the dispatch not stating how.

The Titanic was travelling at the rate of 23 knots an hour as she struck the iceberg, which was sighted a quarter of a mile away, but the momentum of the huge mass of steel and machinery was too great to stop her.

PARISIAN'S OPERATOR SLEPT WHEN TITANIC SENT APPEAL

Halifax, N.S., April 18.—The Allan liner Parisian docked here last night. Captain Hains can tell nothing of the Titanic disaster. He had no intimation of it till Monday morning about 4 o'clock, when it was given him by the Osian, that had taken in tow the disabled Deutschland, which the Parisian also had been trying to pick up. The only communication the Parisian had with the Titanic was on Sunday night at 10.30 when the Canadian liner was in touch with her about 150 miles off, and had asked her to relay a message to the Allan liner in Montreal. This message was accepted and doubtless was forwarded. The Parisian's operator then went to bed, and when the fateful call for help came from the Titanic not long afterwards, it fell on space so far as the Parisian was concerned, and the Allan liner knew nothing of the awful affair till a couple of hours after it was all over and when she was fully 150 miles west of the scene of its occurrence which she had passed 12 hours before Passengers Kept in Ignorance.

Many cross messages were obtained after hearing of the disaster, but none of these were mentioned by the Parisian's master, for he said it would be a violation of the rules. He declined to make any comment.

It is a remarkable thing that the only men on the Parisian who knew of the accident to the Titanic were the captain and the Marconi operator. None of the officers besides these two and not a single passenger knew that the Titanic was lost till they entered Halifax harbor and learned the tragic news.

After landing passengers and cargo the Parisian proceeds to St. John.

Talked to Titanic.

From wireless operator Donald Sutherland little further information could be secured. Sutherland took refuge behind his contract with the Marconi company, and said that it was impossible for him to say anything of what passed between the Parisian and any of the steamers that had been in touch with the Titanic.

That the Parisian had been in communication with the Titanic on Sunday Mr. Sutherland freely admitted. His last communication with the ill-fated steamer, he said, was at 10.30 p.m. (Parisian's time) on Sunday. An official statement of the White Star line is that the Titanic struck at 10.20 p.m., New York time.

BUT W. E. KNOWLES TOOK UP POLITICS INSTEAD.

Western Liberal Came From Ontario and Has Managed to Create a Rumpus Around Ottawa In His Short Experience of Life There—He Is One Who Will Thrive on Being In Opposition.

It is a far call from the decorum of the old-school Presbyterian manse to the hurly-burly of the modern Canadian political warfare. Lord Morley once described himself as "a cautious Whig by temperament, a Liberal by education, and a Radical by observation and experience. And temperament, in the long run, was stronger than anything else. William Erskine Knowles, son of the manse, is a cautious Conservative by upbringing, a Liberal by experience, but a Radical by temperament. Add to this fact his nationality—both his parents were Irish—and one understands what has changed the book-loving divinity student of somewhat more than a decade ago into the ardent, dauntless and militant parliamentarian of to-day.

It is curious how little the public estimation of public men accords with their real character as it is known to their intimates. Everybody thinks he knows Knowles. In reality the real Knowles is as different from the supposed Knowles as the real Laurier is from the blood-thirsty ogre of the Nationalist pre-election romance. The restless active western spirit has enveloped him, but the old eastern love of the library still remains. He retains his devotion to books, his keen perception of the beauties of expression which is almost a genius for rhythm, while deep within him burns that celestial fire of passion, without which poetry is but as the tinkling cymbal.

But, nevertheless, the young Irish-Canadian—he is still on the sunny side of forty and is a native of Alliston, Ontario—found himself "at home" in the clash and clang of parliamentary battle. He was never one of those who "like the drab men best." He responds to the purple patches—he is attracted, rather than repelled, by the men whose heroic or adventurous career makes them stand out from the canvas like scarlet figures in a great painting. He has no morbid horror of violence. He was restless and ill at ease as a curbed and reined supporter of Government. He thrives on Opposition. He is a legalist, if necessary, be is ready to trample upon your parchments without at all feeling that he is offending against the Law of Things.

He is not, however, the creature of moods. His course is governed by well-defined lines. He is the doctrinaire, rather than the opportunist—even in his free trade theories. He thinks out a scheme of political philosophy, and then proceeds to apply it relentlessly, if need be, to the body politic. Whatever won for Knowles his huge majority in Moose Jaw, it was not demagogy, flattery or any other homage to the false gods of the market place.

Australia's Caves.

An interesting article on the Caves of Western Australia appears in the February Windsor Magazine. The writer says: "In Yallingup there is a series of caverns and chambers, all of which are easily traversed by the bridges and footways that have been constructed. The special feature of this cave is undoubtedly the shawl and curtain formation. One way safely conclude that they are the finest examples in the world. Here and there they hang in graceful folds; meanwhile the light scintillates upon them, and when the light is placed behind them we seen the beautiful tints which have been produced by more or less small quantities of oxide of iron. Other features are the crystal floor, at a depth of 400 feet below the surface, and at the marvellously beautiful 'Jewel Chamber.' We peer through a little crevice in the wall and see a small cavity filled with crystalline stalactites, some of which have mushroom ends upon them. The light scorucates from one crystal to another in a truly wonderful manner. A peculiar feature in one part of the cave, is a number of roots of the trees growing far above, which having penetrated the ceiling, hang down like large ropes, and in some places have reached and grown into the floor beneath."

Soft Iron Horseshoes.

In Spain very few horseshoers have forges in their shops. They make their shoes without the aid of a fire, a possibility largely due to the pure, soft, ductile iron primarily manufactured with wood and charcoal.

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Oldunn, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau upon cold beef from the pantry, called Betty, and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl readily, "it was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms but let's have no hims, Betty, no hims mind you; I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied and withdrew, seriously thinking

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

HUMBLE PLANTAGENETS.

Descendants of the Line Have Occupied Lowly Situations.

It is the fashion nowadays for respectable American families to find that one of their ancestral lines is of royal descent. Sometimes there are gaps in the succession, which the genealogist must stop up with ingenious hypotheses. But sometimes, too, the drop of royal blood is really there; for all the descendants of kings are not princes or even peers of the realm. A contributor to The New York Times gives these interesting examples of the humble stations in which they may occasionally be found.

Sir Bernard Burke, in his "vicissitudes of Families," remarks: "What race in Europe surpassed in royal position, personal achievement or romantic adventure our Plantagenets, equally wise and valiant, no less renowned in the Cabinet than in the field? Yet as late as 1637 the great-grandson of Margaret Plantagenet, herself daughter and heir of George, Duke of Clarence (brother of Richard III.) was a cobbler at Newport, in Shropshire.

"Among the descendants of Edward I. was a butcher and a toll-gatherer, and among the descendants of Thos. Plantagenet, Duke of Gloucester, son of Edward III., was a Mr. Penny, sexton at St. George's, London—a strange descent from sword and sceptre to spade and pick."

On December 22, 1550, died an old man, a bricklayer, named Richard Plantagenet, who was believed to be a son of Richard III., King of England. He was a person of education, and read books in the Latin. He said, although shy and uncommunicative, that in his earnest years he boarded with a schoolmaster, and was occasionally visited by a gentleman who paid regularly for his board and education, but did not let him know his parentage.

The gentleman took him when sixteen years old on a journey to a stately house, where another person of distinguished appearance, wearing a star and the Order of the Garter, conversed kindly with him, and then dismissed him. It was not a great while after, he said that he was brought before the King in his tent in the midst of his army, and was surprised to find the same distinguished person he had met before.

The King, Richard III.—for this was on the eve of Bosworth field—embraced him, acknowledged him as his son, and said that if he survived the battle about to be fought the son should be provided for. But he warned the son, in the event of his defeat and death, to conceal the relationship, for it would be sure to be fatal to him. The son said that after the battle he made his way to Leicester and saw a dead man brought in naked, laid across a charger, and learned that it was the monarch he had seen the day before at the head of a gallant army.

Sam Weller's Origin.

Dickens, when he borrowed an idea, generally improved upon it. According to the late E. L. Blanchard, the dramatic critic, he sketched Sam Weller from Sam Vale, a popular low comedian, whose quaint comparisons and droll sayings were well known "over on the Surrey side" long before "Pickwick" appeared. And Sam Vale, it seems, had acquired the habit of uttering them in private life and in theatrical taverns through having played the part of Simon Splatterdash [illegible] farce called "The Boarding House, or Five Hours at Brighton," which was first produced at the Lyceum Theatre on August 27, 1811. This contains many Weller-like sayings, set down for Mr. Simon Splatterdash, such as "Come on, as the man said to his tight boot," "I'm down on you, as the extinguisher said to the candle," "I'm turned soger, as the lobster said when he popped his head out of the boiler." "Where shall we fly, as the bullet said to the trigger," and "Let everyone take care of themselves, as the donkey observed when dancing among the chickens." The Wellerisms of Pickwith are no better than these, only Sam Weller of imagination was better than the Sam Vale of reality. Sam Vale or Samivel Vale as his Surrey admirers styled him, afterwards acted at Covent Garden Theatre. He died in 1848.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

After Five Centuries.

A notable addition has recently been made to the collection of the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh, in the shape of a set of Highland bagpipes, the oldest instrument known of its class, and probably one of the most ancient instruments of wood still capable of being played on. These pipes consist of two small drones and a chanter, the former inserted into one stock or joint, formed from a forked branch of a tree. Carved in relief on the front of the stock are the date MCCCCIX., the letters "R.M'D.," and a lymphad or galley. On the reverse is a triple floriated knot; and the upper ends of the fork and the lower joints are ornamented with bands of interlaced work. The head pieces of both drones at the top are cup-shaped, and both are similarly decorated with bands of interlacing, while the chanter at the head, and also at the lower or bell end, is enriched with similar devices.

A Handy Device.

One of the most striking innovations in a reconstructed London hotel is a signalling apparatus, which does away with indeterminate bell-ringing. By pressing a button in his bedroom the visitor can signal for the waiter, chamber-maid, or valet, a colored light appearing simultaneously over the bedroom-door, in the corridor, in the service room, and in the office, where a staff is always on duty. The light can only be switched off at the bedroom door, so that the office staff is always able to notice if there is any delay in replying to the visitor's signal.

GERMANY COVETS IT

WALFISCH BAY WOULD MAKE A FINE NAVAL BASE.

Poverty-Stricken Spot In the Southern Atlantic Near German Southwest Africa, Has Great Possibilities as a Harbor and General Opinion Is That Great Britain Should Keep It—Trade Has Decayed.

Half-way down the thousand-mile stretch of sandy and desolate coast which German Southwest Africa offers to the stormy surge of the Southern Atlantic lies the harbor of Walfisch Bay, on which the eye of Germany is fixed to-day. It is a small and poor place—a mere hamlet, with a pier 200 yards long and a little narrow-gauge railway twelve miles long, on which tiny trains run, or did run, "as required," to Rooikop, on the German frontier.

The population is insignificant—144 white and 853 colored persons—and is engaged in trade with the German territory about it or in the now decaying whale fishery. The area, as estimated before the recent arbitration fixing the exact frontiers, was 430 square miles.

This British possession, which since 1878 has formed part of Cape Colony, is the last remnant and indication of the British "sphere of influence" which forty years ago was regarded as extending along this coast to the Portuguese frontier. In Cape Colony it was taken as a matter of course that no other power would step in and acquire territory which so obviously formed part of its hinterland.

There was consternation, therefore, in Cape Town when in 1883 Germany annexed the area of 320,000 square miles which now forms German Southwest Africa. Walfisch Bay, was excepted from this annexation, because there the British flag was actually flying, and two or three islands along the coast were also retained for the British crown. Attempts were made in 1883 and 1884 to obtain Walfisch Bay for Germany, but, though the British Government of that period was ready to make almost any surrender, such indignation was aroused in Cape Colony at the mere idea that the negotiations were unsuccessful.

Thus Walfisch Bay became an enclave in German territory, and was cut off from all access to the hinterland. But a great mistake is made if its value and importance are underrated. Though a poor little place in its present undeveloped state, it has great possibilities. It has by far the best harbor on the whole Southwest African coast north of Saldanha Bay, the north till Lagos is reached.

The shape of the harbor is oval, with the seaward opening to the north. It is protected against all the prevalent winds by a long peninsula, Pelican Point, and is safe in all states of the weather. Moreover, it has deep water. Strategically its importance is very great.

It lies close to the main trade routes in the Southern Atlantic, and cruisers operating from it as their base could attack with deadly effect the British food ships steaming from Argentina, one of the main sources of supply, or proceeding by the Cape route from India and Australia. If only for that reason we must be careful what becomes of it

The German idea is to make Walfisch Bay the great port of their Southwest African possessions and a strong naval base. Swakopmund, their present capital and the centre whence the German railways run inland, is a wretched harbor, lying on an open coast; and without enormous expense, running into many millions, it cannot be converted into even a passable port.

It lies, however, only 25 miles to the north of Walfisch Bay, and the evident intention in the selection of such a site was to render the transfer of its trade and commerce to Walfisch Bay as easy as possible, when John Bull and the South African Union should have been coaxed or threatened into the surrender of that port.

In 1908, during Herr Dernburg's visit to South Africa, the question of the cession of Walfisch Bay is said to have been broached by him to Mr. Merriman, then in power in Cape Colony, and Gen. Botha. This has been formally denied by the German Foreign Office and by Herr Dernburg himself, yet The Berlin Post admitted at the time that "the subject of the acquisition of Walfisch Bay was touched upon," though, it added, there had been no formal negotiations.

But the "conversations" did not succeed. Neither Mr. Merriman nor Gen. Botha would hear of the surrender of Walfisch Bay without some far greater equivalent than Germany was then prepared to offer. Nor were they willing to go behind the British Foreign Office, which, it appeared, was ignored in these curious proceedings by the German Colonial Minister.

On the present occasion a campaign has been worked up in the German Press against Great Britain. Day after day the German people have been told by their inspired guides that Britain behaved "treacherously" in supporting France during the Morocco negotiations, that she meditated a lawless attack on the German fleet, and that for these acts of perfidy she owes Germany "compensation."

Britain was bound to support France by the treaty of 1904. She no more acted treacheously to Germany in announcing that fact than did the German Michael when, "clad in shining armor," he intimated to Russia in March, 1909, that he would support Austria in the Bosnian question. As for the perfidious designs against the German fleet, they are disproved by a study of the British naval dispositions, and are known by the German Admiralty and Foreign Office to be absurd and untrue.

The ultimate aim of Germany is beyond question to connect her railways with the Rhodesian system, and to tap and bring down through her Southwest African territory the fast-growing traffic of Rhodesia.

THE TITANIC DISASTER.

There may have been some excuse for the suppression of early information which indicated the terrible steamship Titanic. It is explained that this information was withheld from the public in the hope that later information would prove to be untrue or at least exaggerated. If the motive for the suppression was a desire to prevent needless anxiety, it was a mistaken kindness. For the grief of friends of those who have been lost will be all the harder to bear because of the official assurances given out yesterday that no lives had been lost.

There was more than suppression of authentic information. Some of the reassuring reports sent out from the news agencies must have been deliberate inventions. There is no excuse for this. It is as cruel as it is dishonest.

This is the most appalling marine disaster of modern times. In loss of life and loss of property no other approaches it. The Titanic herself cost $10,000,000 and the value of the property of various kinds that was lost with her is estimated at fully as much.

The disaster will force revision of opinion on the subject of marine architecture. It is the first great disaster of the sort that has occured to a vessel equipped with water-tight compartments since that device was introduced. The general belief has been that such a vessel, with her compartments closed is practically unsinkable. Perhaps that is so. In the case of the Titanic it is probable that the compartments were not closed because they could not be. What happened, most likely was, that the terrible impact of this huge framework of steel, weighing 45,000 tons, hurled against a solid mass of ice, with the force of a momentum of twenty knots an hour, not only crumpled up the plates at the bow of the ship, but buckled the plates throughout her length, started innumerable seams and damaged her machinery. The jar may have disarranged the machinery for closing the bulk-heads, or the bucked plates prevented them from being closed, and so the entire interior of the hull was left unprotected against the torrent of water.

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller. "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is man who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

Little Pushes.

The world's progress is caused not only by the mighty pushes of its heroes, but also by the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker, and every man who refuses to push because his effort would be so small is making a foolish mistake.

Cement Galore.

Millions of tons of the best cement are said to be contained in limestone deposits found along the Skeena river.

FEEDING THE LORDS.

Early Days Were Rioteus Jolly Times In the Upper Chamber.

When the third of our Georges came to his crown the hungry legislator, whether he was coroneted or commoner, was glad, when hunger assailed him, to broil his chop or steak over the fire which was always kept roaring in the adjacent Westminster Hall; for in those days the peer had neither kitchen nor cellar, and the only alternative to the Westminster Hall frying-pan was to make a tiresome journey to his own dining-room or some distant hostelry.

And even when Bellamy came on the scene in 1773—that Bellamy for one of whose succulent pies Pitt called with his last breath—the noble lawmaker was almost as remote from a dignified meal suited to his rank; for he must scramble in Bellamy's kitchen, with a hungry horde of commoners, for a shilling sandwich and a glass of wine and water, for which eighteenpence was demanded.

Dickens draws a graphic picture of this famous kitchen, in which peers and M.P.'s ate their bread and cheese and drank their beer together even in his early days: "The large fire and roasting-jack at one end of the room, the little table for washing glasses and draining jugs at the other, the deal tables and wax candles, the bare floor, and the gridiron over the fire." And the two waiting-maids who ministered to their appetites, the sedate "female in black," and the pert Jane, the "Hebe of Bellamy's," whom the young members chucked under her pretty chin, a familiarity to which she would retort with a playful dig with the handle of a fork.

Happy, free-and-easy times these, when the Lord Chancellor would suck an orange on the Woolsack, and a "belted earl" whiled away the tedium of debate by cracking and eating nuts under his lordship's nose.

Indeed, the Commons had a Kitchen Committee and well-served dining-rooms of their own long before the peers bestirred themselves to follow suit, and engaged one Joseph Bladen, butler to Sir Augustus Clifford, as "Minister of the Interior," thus inaugurating an era of more dignified feeding.

So excellently did Bladen cater for his noble proteges that before he had held his office a year the peers decided to give him a dinner on his own account, and to present him with a piece of plate in token of their gratitude. When Bladen was invited to choose his piece of silver, he promptly plumped for "A loving-cup; and," he added, "let it be big enough to put me 'ead in it." And it was.

Thus, some fifty years or more ago, the Lords at last, like the Commoners, had kitchen and cellars of their own, and were able to fare as becomes the wearers of coronets. Tales are told of these early days—how the minor officials of the noble House used to hold riotous banquets when the peers were away, and tripped it gaily afterwards in that august chamber, the "Moses" Room; and how four peers once had a royal squabble over the best way to cook a leg of mutton before the fire—knuckle-end up or vice versa.

Decries Churchly Garb.

Is revolt against the episcopal hat and gaiters in the air?

The question is suggested by some remarks made in his diocesan visitation by the Archbishop of Canterbury—an informal luncheon table speech.

"Did you ever ask yourselves," said his grace, addressing the clergy and church wardens of the deanery of Croydon, "why it is ecclesiastics wear such extraordinary garb? Do you suppose that gaiters, a hat with strings, and the rest are worn as something peculiarly comforting or beautiful?

"I believe it to be a symbol and outward sign of continuousness with the past, clinging though it does about ecclesiastics in a somewhat inconvenient, not to say strangely uncongenial, form. When you again observe the peculiar garb of some one thus appareiled, the fact that that man is at that moment an object lesson of the way in which one side of our life is keeping touch with things gone will, perhaps, come to you with a new suggestiveness. I imagine that 100 years ago plenty of people—the ordinary doctor or solicitor—wore it."

His grace, in conclusion, told how an American reporter once described him as being "in Highland dress!"

Oldest Holder of Ducal Title.

The venerable Duke of Grafton, whose condition has been causing anxiety to his relatives, is the oldest holder of a ducal title in the peerage, and, with two notable exceptions, the oldest member of the Upper House.

His seniors are the Earl of Wemyss, who enters his ninety-fifth year next August, and the ever-virile Lord Strathcona, who in the same month will be ninety-two.

The Duke of Grafton's activities have been the subject of much comment in quite recent years. In the autumn of 1908 he took part one evening in the extinction of a serious fire which had broken out on his estate at Wakefield Lodge, Northamptonshire. In recent years the venerable duke has only been seen in the House of Lords when specially whipped up for important divisions, such, for instance, as that which took place over the Licensing Bill, and on these rare occasions he always occupied a seat on one of the cross-benches.

His Company.

A party of Fife miners were on a trip to Edinburgh recently and one of them got a little the worse of liquor and had the misfortune to lose the train home. He wandered about the city till a late hour. Arriving at the Castle he commenced hammering at the gates. "Who goes there?" shouted the sentry on duty. "Jock Brown," replied the miner. "What company?" asked the sentry. "Fife Coal Co.," was Jock's reply.

New Anglo-Indians.

The term "Eurasian" has been officially discarded by the Government of India, which has decided to adopt "Anglo-Indian" in the next census.

MAGNIFICENT FILM OF WESTERN LIFE

Mr. Clayton, proprietor of the Red Mill, daily shows that he has great enterprise. His latest feature is the best picture of Western life ever exhibited. This film, which is displayed at the Red Mill on Friday and Saturday of this week, is entitled, "War on the Plains." To see this picture is the same as spending hundreds of dollars on a trip to the wild and wooly West. The scenes are true to life and are all thrillers. Do not miss this picture on Friday.

That old foxy grandpa—multimillionaire John Rockefeller, seems to get the money both coming and going. When the coal mines are running, the mines, steamers and railroads he is interested in, coin money. Then when a strike is on, Mr. Rockefeller figures that the coupons on the Standard Oil Company's bonds will bring in a few more wheel barrow fulls of gold, as oil is now replacing coal for fuel on steamships and war vessels. By a strange coincidence the height of the coal strike saw the arrival on the Thames of the first [illegible]. No one could look at this vessel without seeing that she marked a radical change in shipping construction. She had no funnel, her engines were right aft, and consequently the interior of the ship could be arranged with a degree of comfort impossible in the case of vessels whose centre is occupied by enormous engines. The Selandia is driven by oil.

Mr. Crane Resigns From St. Paul's.

It will come as an unpleasant surprise that Mr. John Crane has decided to retire from the position, he has so ably filled, of organist of St. Paul's church. On Tuesday evening last Mr. Crane placed his resignation before the Board of Managers, who are considering it, and, as may well be expected, if they are compelled to accept it, will do so with great regret, which will be shared by the whole congregation of St. Paul's. It will be difficult to replace Mr. Crane who, for nearly a score of years, has given service as organist and choirmaster, as conspicuous for its fidelity as for its high character and appreciation and enthusiastic respect of the musical demands of the service of praise of the church. Mr. Crane's services, in his official capacity, were by no means all the benefits for which St. Paul's is to be grateful to him.

THE COAL MINER.

The Autocrat of the Colliery Knows His Own Mind.

He is a big, burly man with stern eyes and a firm chin. He can knock out the cleverest boxer in the district. He does not talk much, and what he says is always to the point.

He has worked many men of different colors and creeds in different parts of the world, from the low-caste coolie of the Indian colliery to the dour Scotch miner and the excitable Welshman, and he knows how to rule them.

He has a keen appreciation for the skilled miner, but does not hesitate to tell you that he is glad wherever possible to use the mechanical coal cutter in his place.

"The coal cutter," he says, "does not talk!"

He is the head manager at the colliery, and with him is the last word in all the thousand-and-one problems which arise from time to time in the practical working of the pit. He works harder than any other man in Colliery Row.

If he is not underground inspecting some portion of the workings he is in his office at the pit-head busy with plans for future development. His staff of assistant-managers is large and competent, but he has constantly to receive from them their reports.

The outsider, seeing his life, wonders when he finds time to feed and sleep.

If he leaves Colliery Row, even for a week-end, he must go somewhere where he can be reached by telephone if necessary by his head assistant.

His business in life is to get as many tons of coal as is possible out of the pit every day, and to keep the pit working, and it involves, amongst other heavy responsibilities, that of the safety as well as that of the management of hundreds of men and boys.

If disaster comes and men are entombed in the pit, it is he who heads the rescue party and directs their operations underground. In such circumstances he has been known to work for an incredible number of hours in his skull cap and pit "duds," hardly stopping for food and rarely coming to bank.

He has no illusions about the outlook. He knows that while the strike lasts, he will be the most unpopular man in Colliery Row, and that it is just as likely as not, if bad blood is kindled, that his windows will be stoned and he will have to face a riotous mob.

He has faced a mob before, and he will do it again. He is a stranger to fear.

And he will bear no ill-will to the miners when it is all over and he gets the pit working again, even though he will realise more justly than any other man all that the strike has cost. He knows that the miners have no personal grudge against him, and that many of them respect him. It is as the chief representative in their midst of their opponents, and not as himself, that the miners anathematise him during the strike.

He is the strong man in Colliery Row.

Where Wills Are Kept in Safety.

Year after year cases—often resulting in much litigation—occur of missing wills, the documents either being mislaid or lost through carelessness, or maybe stolen by someone having an interest in their possession. And yet it is quite a simple matter for a testator to have his or her will safeguarded against such mishaps, quite apart from leaving it in the custody of a solicitor or banker.

At Somerset House, London, there is a depository for the safe custody of the wills of living persons. But this fact seems so little known that scarcely more than a dozen people a year take advantage of this depository; and yet it is quite an easy matter to place one's will in the depository at Somerset House for a few shillings and thus safeguard against loss.

Perhaps there are some people who are under the belief that a will deposited at Somerset House restricts them in the matter of making any alteration afterwards. As a matter of fact, a will once deposited at Somerset House is not delivered up, but the testator is free either to have it destroyed in the presence of an official or to alter it by codicil. He may even revoke it by another will which is not deposited. The freedom of the testator to change his mind is, indeed, absolutely untouched.

King George at Home.

When King George entered his private room on his return from his Indian visit he found a mass of correspondence arranged for his examination that made him smile. "Enough work here for a month, I suppose," he remarked to Lord Stamfordham. It was plain that he was only too anxious to get to work. His quick, alert manner of moving about, glancing with pleasure at various objects in his apartments, pausing every now and then to make some brief reference to matters that immediately interested him, was gratifying to behold, since it indicated better than anything else could have done the downright joy that he felt at being back in his London "home," while it equally conclusively demonstrated that his health had not been impaired by the fatigues of the last few months.

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,884 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.57 gallons a day, and that at each house 204.24 gallons were disposed of in the same period.

Mr. Calverwell's Enterprise.

Port Hope Guide: Mr. J. A. Culverwell has made an addition to his property "Glenridge Park," on Dorset street by purchasing six more lots on Augusta street, thus giving the full depth of two town blocks and making altogether nearly six acres of hill and valley. This spring further improvements will be made to the house.

Many New Autos.

Autos are now becoming very numerous on the streets of the city. It is said that over half a hundred new autos will be added to the local list. Mr. J. J. Duffus is doing a land office business with the Ford and the Reo cars, which he is local sales agent.

TO IMPROVE IRELAND

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD IS ORGANIZING THE WOMEN.

Belfast Social Worker Is Hard at Work Turning the Attention of Her Sex in the Green Isle Toward Proper Housing and Better Rural Life—Dancing Parties to Help Home Rule.

Among the newer associations aiming at the development of a new Ireland, with brighter conditions and better administration, none is more active than the "United Irishwomen." This is the women's side of the great national movement that is animating the nation to-day.

The immediate object of the "United Irishwomen" is to get together a substantial volume of opinion that will be representative of the whole of the leading women of Ireland, independent of creed or class, with a view to focussing attention on the need for better housing accommodation and the brightening of rural life.

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD.

The membership is confined to women born in Ireland or women of Irish descent, but financial support is accepted from all who desire to see a happier and more contented Ireland.

The secretary and chief organiser of the United Irishwomen is Miss Edith Crawford, a Belfast woman, who has engaged in improving the social and intellectual side of young Irish women in the northern capital. A branch of the United Irishwomen has been established in Connemara, perhaps out of regard for the sympathetic support of the Duchess of Manchester, while other branches are in process of formation throughout the other three provinces. Dancing parties are part of the means by which the organisers of the movement hope to convert young men from any inclination to oppose Home Rule.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1667, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

An Isolated Colony.

The nearest neighbor of New Zealand is Australia, which is twelve hundred miles distant.

Election of Smith Council.

Owing to the retirement of Mr. J. C. McConkey, as Councillor for Smith Township, a meeting of the electors for the nomination of candidates for that office, for the rest of the year will be held on Monday, April 29th, at one o'clock, p.m., in the County Council Chambers.

Object to Garbage By-law.

It seems that objection is being taken throughout the city over the Garbage By-law. There are people who think the tax for collecting garbage should not be levied against property. A petition is being circulated asking that the by-law be amended.

SINGING DOGS.

Trainer Tells of Remarkable Musical Talent In Animals.

A good many pet-owners may be startled to learn that animals can distinguish between musical notes, says an English trainer in a recent article, and that those of any degree of intelligence may be trained as musical performers. Animals that play musical instruments are by no means uncommon, and a number of seals have before now been equipped with drums, cymbals, horns, and bells, and have made music when instructed by their trainer to do so. If the melody has not been perfect it has been sufficient to prove that the seals have at least some music in their composition.

The majority of wild animals are influenced by music and everyone knows that bears can be taught to dance on their hind legs while holding a pole to sound of music, even if that music is ground out of a common street organ by means of a handle.

Once a circus horse has been taught to do a trick to a certain tune he will do it whenever he hears that tune, and, in consequence, he is the cause of some funny incidents now and again. Once I took a horse into the street for exercise, and as we turned a corner a barrel-organ commenced to grind out its music. The tune was the very one the animal was accustomed to in the circus ring, and he concluded that I was expecting him to go through his usual performance. He broke away from me and gave a free performance in the middle of the road, and I could only call him to order by appealing to the "musician" to stop the organ.

When the ordinary dog howls at music it does not always do so because the notes get on its "nerves," but often because it is striving to imitate them as well as its untrained vocal powers will permit.

I heard a wonderful story of a singing dog the other day. A handsome collie, named Sammy, the property of a Mr. Carlson, is a tenor soloist. Every morning, when a bell on a church near his master's home rings, Sammy takes up a position close by and begins an accompaniment, which blends remarkably well with the deep notes of the bell. A musician has declared that the dog is exactly in tune with the metallic sounds that come from the church belfry. Later in the day—at noon—Sammy goes off to a lumber plant operated by his master. Here the animal accompanies the whistle, achieving perfect harmony, it is said.

It might be remembered that some years ago a singing dog created a furore amongst scientific men in Paris. This animal, which belonged to a Dr. Bennati, could sing the scale perfectly without any assistance from the human voice or a musical instrument. Moreover, it could imitate a new tune with extraordinary accuracy after hearing it played two or three times.

The philosopher Leibnitz declared that he knew a dog which was not only a remarkably fine singer, but could actually talk. All the letters of the alphabet, with the exception of "m," "n," and "h," it could articulate quite clearly, and could give its master, when spoken to, a suitable answer.

Lions, elephants, and monkeys are fond of music. I have seen an elephant play a whole band of music at once, using its trunk and fore feet to play the various instruments. Lions will often forsake their meals to listen to a tune, and this applies also to tigers and others of the fierce cat tribe.

Historic Homes.

The Petre family, the head of which, Lord Petre, is now staying in London with his mother and sisters, is one of the oldest in England, and shares with the Duke of Norfolk the headship of Catholic society.

The real founder of the family was Sir William Petre, one of the principal Secretaries of State in the reign of Henry VIII., but actually the Petres were people of importance two centuries before his time.

There is romance in plenty of the family. The fourth peer died in the Tower through being implicated in the Titus Oates plot, and the seventh baron was the Peer of Pope's "Rape of the Lock"; while the two homes of the family—Ingatestone and Thorndon, both close to Chelmsford—have most interesting associations.

Ingatestone is the Audley Court of "Lady Audley's Secret," and it has a curious "priest's hole," discovered nearly sixty years ago. In it was an old chest, with curious locks, that had been used for keeping the sacred vessels.

Barrie's Recipes.

Now that J. M. Barrie has told the story of "Peter Pan" in book form, writers and readers alike are once more asking what is his method of work.

The novelist himself has partly answered this question in a note to a magazine editor who wanted the recipe "My readers wish to know how you write," said the editor, "please tell them."

Barrie accordingly formulated his reply into a kind of prescription, which read: "Journalism—two pipes—one hour; two hours—one idea; one idea—three paragraphs; three paragraphs—one leader."

Fiction—"Eight pipes—one ounce; seven ounces—one week; two weeks—one chapter; 20 chapters—one nib; two nibs—one novel."

A Famous Warden.

Lord Brassey, who as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports is going to occupy Walmer Castle, is perhaps the best-liked and the most genial individual who has ever held that ancient office.

Lord Brassey follows many distinguished men at Walmer Castle—Lord Curzon, Lord Salisbury, Lord Dufferin, Mr. W. H. Smith, Lord Granville, and the great Duke of Wellington. It is doubtful, however, whether any of his predecessors ever possessed, as he does, a master's certificate to control a ship. Lord Brassey's home is at Battle Abbey, which is in the neighborhood of the ports.

Farmers' Excursion to Guelph.

The Farmers' Institutes of East and West Peterborough and of East Durham, have again arranged with the C.P.R. for their annual trip on Wednesday, June 12th. They have decided to visit Guelph, the Ontario Agricultural College being the particular object of their excursion this year as usual.

Small Fire Yesterday.

The fire brigade was called out to a small fire on Park street yesterday. Kindling wood placed in an oven to dry, caught fire. A couple of neighbors kicked the door in and put the fire out. The damage did not amount to much.

Back Full of Aches Headaches and Depression

Much of Women's Suffering is Needless and Can Be Prevented by the Use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

That Stab-like Pain in the Back is Sure Indication of Kidney Trouble

Mrs. Anna Rodrigues writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys, and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic and strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

No greater medicine exists than Dr Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00. at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Co.

THE MORNING TIMES

FRIDAY, APRIL 19th, 1912.

THE GOVERNMENT IN EARNEST.

Sir James Whitney's announcement in the Legislature regarding English-French schools should meet with universal approval from one end of the Province to the other, says the News. The measures of reform decided upon by the Government and specified by the Premier are surely drastic enough to meet the situation. English Protestants and English Roman Catholics will now be satisfied that no section of Ontario is to be Gallicized, while all French speaking citizens are assured that their children will receive a good education in the prevailing language of the Province in which they purpose to make a living and live their lives.

In a sense the Government is not engaging in a new departure. A year ago it placed on record its determination to make English the language of instruction in the schools. It then sent out Dr. Merchant to make an exhaustive study of existing conditions in the hundreds of schools involved. Having received and digested the inspector's findings the Government was ready to propound its solution of the problem. This it did on Saturday, and the News is in a position to say that the work of reform was inaugurated this morning.

The staff of inspectors is to be so strengthened as to insure a constant and thorough Departmental supervision of all the schools attended by both French-speaking and English-speaking children. Thus the strict enforcement of the regulations will be secured. Each school board must employ teachers capable of efficiently imparting instruction in English or the annual grant of Government money will be withheld. In cases where school sections are unable to pay sufficient salaries to secure the specified type of teachers the Government will come to their assistance with extra money grants.

The inspectors are to see that no text books other than those authorized by the Department are utilized. They will also see that every child's instruction in English shall begin the day it starts to school. The use of French, even as the medium of instruction and communication is to be employed in no school beyond the first form. If the experience of the coming year should reveal the need of further legislation to secure the desired end the Government will ask the House to enact such legislation. The Premier admits that he has a difficult task in hand. He has evinced a thorough-going determination to carry it through to a successful issue and partisan bias should prevent no class in the community from lending him sympathy and support.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SEPARATE SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned will be received until 4.00 p.m., Tuesday, April 30th, 1912, for the supply of hardware, brushes, manilla rope, packing, paint and paint oil, hose, wire rope, oils and greases, steam pipe, chain and steam fittings for the departmental dredging plant.

Each tender must be sent in a separate envelope and endorsed "Tender for Hardware," "Tender for Brushes," etc., as the case may be.

Tenders will not be considered unless made upon forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for the amount mentioned in the tender.

By order,

R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

Editorial Notes

The Sudbury Star has an advertisement regarding a local hotel, in which the main feature is that the dining room "is in charge of a Chinaman." Well! Well! When a Canadian hotel has to use a chink as a drawing card, things are coming to a pretty pass!

The people of the Pacific coast cities think that the action of the the Vancouver police in suppressing illicit trading by Chinese is wholly commendable. The presence of the Chinaman on this continent is a subject upon which opinion is divided — they are here on sufferance, and should be made to respect the laws of this country. No Oriental smoothness should be tolerated for a moment.

It seems, from the Sudbury Star, that the town of that name and the C. P. R. are at logger-heads over a piece of ground owned by the railroad, and wanted by the town for a school site. The C.P.R. is asking $10,440 for sixteen building lots on the corner of Elm and Regent streets. It would seem that Sudbury does not realize its great future and is thus denying the value of her property, and also does not understand how its future depends upon the C. P. R.

Judging by Dun's Bulletin, one of the most accurate authorities in Canada on mercantile manufacturing conditions, things ahead look bright That sheet says, "The outlook generally is considered very encouraging. Immigrants are coming into the west in great numbers and the land is being prepared for seed. The number of immigrants coming into Ontario is also large, and labor well employed. Manufacturers are busy and the tone of the markets firm. Supplies of goods generally are comparatively small. The millinery trade is fairly active, and ready-made wear in active request. Building material of all kinds in good demand with a large amount of construction work under contract"

That old saying, "the devil finds mischief for idle hands to do," is one of the tritest and truest ever made. Take for instance, the pool and billiard rooms. There, every day, hour after hour, may be seen cigarette smoking, callow youths, whose fingers are yellow from the smoke of these objectionable parodies on tobacco, are in hand. Let any one, undrejudicial, listen for a few minutes to the language of the average young fellow, "playing that three ball combination," or "sinking the blue" and he will naturally wonder "why." If these young men were at work they would not be paying 40 cents an hour for pool, from funds earned at 15 cents an hour. Again, when the average miner is working, he comes home after his day's employment, with money in his pocket or owing to him by the mine. Let a strike come along and then, just when money is wanted most for the home he is apt to frequent the red light district, and leave his hard earned savings with the saloon keeper. Yes! Work is the salvation of mankind.

TEA AND COFFEE HURTS

One in Three.

It is difficult to make people believe that tea and coffee are a poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact.

A New York hotel man says: 'Each time after drinking coffee I became restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit for five minutes in one place, was also inclined to vomit and suffered from loss of sleep which got worse and worse.

"A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum." (Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug as found in coffee). "I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared. I began to sleep perfectly, and the Postum tasted as good or better than the coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was injuring me?

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken Postum. She had gained a number of pounds, and her former palpitation of the heart, humming in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs, and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared. She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum, and was very much surprised to find that I had already made the change.

"She said her brother had also received great benefits from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum." Theres a reason gainst the coffin lid, sure indications of burial alive.

Hero of Moscow Victim.

The lecturer further told of the case of Napoleon's general, D'Ornano who was buried for dead on the retreat from Moscow. After lying six hours in a snow grave, his Adjutant Tasher, heard of the case and caused the body to be disinterred and placed in a cart.

The jolting of the cart revived the body after a while. The general recovered completely and twenty years later attended the funeral of Tasher, his rescuer.

Finally the lecturer quoted from the records of the French Senate, of Feb. 29, 1866:

Superhuman Efforts Saved Him.

"To-day Senator Cardinal Donnet made the following statement: 'In the beginning of the year 1826, a young priest, while singing mass, fell down at the altar, apparently dead. A physician, quickly summoned, wrote out the death certificate and the burial within the legal time was decided upon. As usual there were elaborate church ceremonial, and the bishop himself officiated on this occasion.

" 'The apparently dead priest heard all the preparations, he distinctly felt when he was measured for the coffin, he listened to the expressions of regret and to some sneers indulged at his expense, yet try as he might he was unable to move a muscle, to speak, or even turn an eye. The bishop had just pronounced the de profundis, and the chorus answered, when the apparently dead priest recognized in the voice one that belonged to his dearest friend and schoolmate. It stirred him so that he made a last grand effort and cried out 'Henri.' If it hadn't been for Henri he would have been buried alive. As it was, he celebrated mass the day after the one set for his burial.

" 'And this young priest, so nearly buried alive, stands now before you,' said the cardinal, 'and I ask you Senators to amend the law determining death.' "

Opening of Museum.

At a meeting of the Public Library Board last night, it was decided to have a formal opening of the museum on Tuesday April 23rd. The rooms will be thrown open from 7 to 10 p.m., and an orchestra will be in attendance. It is hoped that a large gathering will be present, not only to show interest in the exhibits, but also as a tribute to Mr. T. A. S. Hay, to whom the City of Peterborough is indebted more than words can adequately express for the vast amount of labor ungrudgingly given during past years to the curatorship of this very interesting collection.

VEILED AND SILENT ICEBERGS

in command. Among her distinguished saloon passengers were her owner, S. E. Guion, who had with him his sister and two young nieces; J. Pierrepont Edwards, British Vice Consul to New York; J. B. Colgate, banker and yachtsman; L. Coudert, a well known lawyer, and many other distinguished men. The Arizona had been in service only since the previous June and was a favorite ship.

Fearful Crash at Night.

She was steaming at her usual speed at ten minutes past 9 o'clock in the evening of Friday, November 7, off the Banks, in latitude 47 degrees north and longitude 53 degrees west. There had been no drop in temperature, and none of the other indication of the approach of ice masses. The passengers were diverting themselves in the social hall and in the smoking room when a terrific crash and shock sent them sprawling among the scattered pieces of furniture. The ship had plunged her bows into a mountain of ice and she was stove in as though she had been built of cardboard.

As she slid back from the collision, tons of shattered ice blocks fell upon her deck. Fifteen feet of her iron work had been crumpled back, bent, twisted and forced inward, leaving a gaping chasm in her bows, through which the waves were beating. But her collision bulkhead held true, and the crippled ship managed to reach the port of St. John's, N. F. When the passengers found that nobody had been hurt, and that their danger was not imminent they assembled on the deck and sang in chorus, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." The accident was attributed to a faulty and negligent watch.

The Anchor line steamship, the City of Rome, another record-maker of her time, probably was saved from serious disaster by the fact that the thermometer had given warning of approaching danger from ice. She had a thousand persons aboard, and was bound from Glasgow to New York on August 31, 1899, when she struck an ice berg off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. Captain Hugh Young fortunately had noted the ominous lowering of the temperature some hours before and had reduced to half speed. When the great mass of ice loomed up the signal, "full speed astern" resulted in so slight a contact that the most serious damage sustained were broken bobstays and a crushed figurehead, though the bow of the ship was lifted ten feet as she slid upon the heel of the berg, and she careened sharply to port as she backed off.

Veiled by a Fog.

The City of Rome was steaming through dense fog when she struck. An incipient panic among her passengers was allayed promptly, a troop of negro singers contributing valiantly to that end by starting to sing plantation melodies. The passengers afterward adopted resolutions, praising the Captain, officers and crew for their seamanship, courage and discipline.

The difference between the experiences of the Arizona and the City of Rome well illustrates the fact that the approach to dangerous ice masses is not always indicated by the thermometer readings. Hydrographic authorities agree that the temperature test is one that is by no means infallible.

The anchor liner Columbia last August rammed a berg while bound for this port. The fact that she was under very moderate speed probably saved her from more serious disaster. The iceberg she encountered, moreover, was almost rotten, and the vessel escaped with a smashed bow. Her officers agreed that there had been no drop in the recorded temperatures up to the time the Columbia struck.

The North German Lloyd steamship, the Kronprinz Wilhelm, had a similar mishap in 1907, but the ice she struck was soft. Twenty tons o it dropped upon her deck in shattered masses, but she was not seriously crippled. Perfect discipline prevailed, and her compartment bulkheads were closed automatically from the bridge within thirty seconds after the crash.

The Parisian Hits Berg.

The Allan line steamship, the Parisian, one of the vessels which was among the first to start to the aid of the Titanic, had an encounter with ice in May, 1890, while proceeding cautiously at a rate of not more than six miles an hour off the Newfoundland banks. Her lookout did not sight the iceberg until it was about forty yards dead ahead. The engines were reversed immediately, but the vessel ran up on a portion of the berg to a distance of about twelve feet. For nearly a minute the Parisian lay almost upon her beam ends, and Captain Ritchie ordered all hands on deck, while the crew stood by ready to lower the boats. The vessel, however, soon settled back into clear water, comparatively uninjured.

The Ethopia, of the Anchor line, stove in her bows on June 6 1894, while steaming ahead through a dense fog on her voyage from this port to Glasgow. There was a slight panic on board, until the pumps had been sounded and no water found in the hold.

Fishermen have succumbed in hundreds to the ice perils at sea. Sixty-nine of the seventy-three persons aboard the French brigantine Vaillant were lost when she struck an iceberg and foundered on April 16, 1897. They were fishermen coming from their homes in France to engage in the season's catch off the Banks. Only one of the small boats was ever picked up. It was found long afterward by the French barkentine Victor Eugene. Its four survivors had their arms frozen and their bodies wasted and pinched from hunger which had driven them to cannibalism before their rescue.

In June, 1894, the schooner Rose, Henry Gosse, master, bound for the summer's fishing, hit an iceberg off Partridge Point, north of St. John's, N.F., while sailing through a blanket of fog. She foundered within ten minutes and of the forty-five members of her fishing crew who were aboard, twelve went down with the schooner. The remaining forty-three managed to clamber upon the berg, which was low and flat. There they were found and rescued by the Irene. Among the lost were two women and two boys.

The unreliability of the thermometer test in some cases was again illustrated by the experience of the new tank ship, the Bacon Light, owned by the Stewart Oil Company, of Liverpool. On May 14, 1890, she was in collision with an iceberg 840 miles east of Nova Scotia. The blow was a glancing one, but it put several ugly punctures in her bottom and stove through her forecastle deck on the starboard side a big hole ten feet square. Her pumps kept her afloat until she made port. Her officers reported that the berg they hit rose ninety feet above the water, and that fifty tons of ice some of it in huge blocks of eight cubic feet in size, crashed down upon the forecastle head.

Although the Bacon Light was a staunch vessel 332 feet long and of 2,107 tons gross, the weight of falling ice sent her over on her beam ends, nearly capsizing her. Captain Elliott and his officers said there had been no change of temperature to warn him of the proximity of ice. The water temperature at midnight had been fifty-four degrees. The vessel struck a short time afterwards.

The Moldava, a British tramp, westbound with a cargo of coal from Cardiff, went down bows first after collision with an ice berg off the Banks in August, 1896. She was a good vessel, only four years old, and of 1,477 tons register. Her collision bulkhead kept her decks above water until her crew of twenty four men could take to their boats. After thirty-six hours at sea they were picked up by the Anchor line steamship Circassia. There had been no warning of ice. At the moment of collision according to the testimony, Captain Burnside had been keeping a sharp lookout from the starboard side of the bridge, while Second Officer Wade was peering into the murk from the opposite side.

MANY HAD ENGAGED PASSAGE FOR RETURN

Lord Ashburton, Governor Dix, and Others Had Arranged to use the Titanic.

New York, April 19.—There called at the White Star line offices in the Bowling Green Building, No. 11 Broadway, many citizens of New York and neighboring cities who had engaged passage on board the Titanic for her voyage from this port next Saturday. They expressed disappointment that they were unable to avail themselves of the opportunity of travelling abroad on board the new vessel.

None at that time had any inkling of the true state of affairs, and none seemed to think that she was in serious peril. They made arrangements for leaving on board other vessels of the associated lines.

Big Demand For the Cat.

The other night a young man from Pierce City was peacefully slumbering in a room in a Carthage hotel when he was awakened by the noise of a rat. Hastily he rang the bell and was surprised by having the bellboy run up and throw a cat into the room. Soon the young man went to sleep again. Then there came a tremendous pounding at the door. "Who is that?" he asked. "It's me," said the bellboy. "Has the cat caught the rat yet?" "No," replied the guest. "Well," came the voice from the other side, "let's have him. There's another rat in room 24."—Monett (Mo.) Times.

MODERN TREASURE VAULTS.

Armor Plated Rooms in Which Rockefeller's Securities Repose.

Besides re-enforced construction, extraordinary protective measures surround the private vaults leased by John D. Rockefeller and other millionaires in New York's financial district. In the great treasure house where the Rockefeller securities are held twenty or thirty millionaires and rich corporations lease individual vaults at rentals varying from $500 to $5,000 a year.

The Rockefeller vault consists of an armor plate inclosure big enough to hold a dozen men. Along a passageway within it extends a row of great steel vaults on either side. In these vaults are the Rockefeller securities, which are numerous enough to require a small army of trusted clerks to "cut coupons" on interest day. The great vault thus includes a collection of small vaults, and, since it was completed only a few months ago, it provides every safeguard known to the modern art of protecting valuables.

The Rockefeller vault is surrounded by a dozen others almost as large, each of which is for the exclusive use of some man or some great corporation, the tenants enjoying special privileges with commodious coupon rooms, insuring absolute privacy.

It is a common thing to see some well known rich man walk in and, with a nod to the detectives, ask to be left there with half a dozen clerks. Then one of the huge private vaults will be opened quietly, and at the five or six tables within the partitioned inclosure fronting the door of the vault the click of the scissors can be heard as the coupons are cut off. This happens every week or two, for the securities in the vaults of that safe deposit company come from all parts of the world and represent both foreign and home governments.—New York Post.

INKLESS PRINTING.

A Process by Which, It Is Said, Electricity Will Do the Work.

It is very possible that before long newspapers will be printed without the use of printing ink. Even the colored supplements are to be printed without ink. A German publication, Die Welt der Technik, devoted to scientific matters and inventions, credits the discovery of the inkless printing process to an English inventor.

In the course of some electrical experiments, it says, he accidentally pressed a coin which had fallen on to the table and was rolling off, against a metallic plate covered with a piece of paper and at the same time against an insulated electric line. To his amazement he saw a sepia print of the coin impressed upon the paper. This happened about twelve years ago. Since then the inventor has followed up this observation and has now developed a process for printing without printing ink. He uses dry paper impregnated with certain chemicals, the nature of which is not disclosed.

In the process of printing the paper travels over a metal plate and the type is applied on the opposite side, a current of electricity passing through the paper. According to the particular metal used for the substratum and according to the mode of impregnation of the paper, a great variety of different colors can be produced so that multicolor printing becomes an easy matter.—New York World.

Puffed Up Whales.

The use of the modern whaling cannon in place of the old fashioned and more picturesque hand harpoon has been familiar for a good many years, but it is probably not widely known that another modern invention has been pressed into service. Compressed air is now pumped into the whale's carcass until it resembles a toy balloon and the hole filled with oakum, so that the whaler may set the carcass afloat with a buoy to mark it without danger of its sinking. In this way time can be saved in starting on the pursuit of other whales which may be in sight.—Springfield Republican.

Sartorial Frog Pond.

The frog pond had dried up to a mere puddle when two frogs met who had not seen each other since the merry days of spring.

"I hardly recognize you," said the one who had been hailed. "You've changed since I saw you in the spring."

"Of course I have," answered the other. "I was only a tadpole then."

"Ah, that accounts for it! It does make a remarkable difference, doesn't it, changing from the hobble to the harem skirt!"—Boston Traveler.

tendent's office on that road. In 1878 he was promoted to the position of secretary of the general manager of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which position he held for six years. In 1884 he was engaged as secretary to the general manager of the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific Railway, and in 1886 he was made assistant general manager of the road. In the following year he assumed a similar position on the Wabash Western, in 1889 he became general manager of the reorganized Wabash system, and five years later was appointed vice-president.

Sixteen years ago Mr. Hays commenced his connection with the Grand Trunk Railway in Canada. He was appointed General Manager in January, 1896. He relinquished the position, however, in 1901 to become president of the Southern Pacific Railway. He remained in the south hardly a year, and returned to the Grand Trunk as second vice-president and general manager. At the much-talked of meeting of Grand Trunk directors in London in October, 1909, when Sir Charles Rivers Wilson resigned the presidency, Mr. Hays was made president. In 1905 he was made president of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway also. Mr. Hays was also president of all the smaller roads controlled by and run in conjunction with the Grand Trunk Railway system, both in Canada and the United States. In addition he was president of many industrial concerns and a member of many charitable organizations and clubs. He was one of the founders of the Mount Royal Club, the wealthiest and most exclusive in Montreal.

It is said that Mr. Hays refused to accept a Knighthood in 1910. His home was in Montreal, and Charles M. Hays was a well known figure in the industrial and social circles of the city. His wife was the daughter of William H. Gregg, of St. Louis, Mo. He had one daughter, who became the wife of Mr. Thornton Davidson, of Montreal.

BRITAIN FEARS GERMAN GUNS

Great Improvement in Rivals Co-Incident With Less Efficiency in British Marksmanship

London, April 18.—Grave uneasiness has been caused in naval circles by the reports which have reached England of the progress of the German fleet in gunnery. The particulars are of an indefinite character, as the results of firing are jealously guarded, but it is believed that in this — the most important of all naval exercises—the German navy has greatly advanced in efficiency, and that it is now superior to the British service.

The German Emperor was so impressed by the late firings that he awarded prizes and other marks of distinction to four battleships and five cruisers—an unprecedented event, reflecting in a most marked manner his majesty's favor.

The feeling of anxiety has been increased by the recent figures of the results of the battle practise in the British fleet which have just been issued. The contrast between the worst and best firing ships is indeed so marked as to occasion misgivings if absolutely nothing were known of the German progress. It looks as though the gunnery "boom" has exhausted itself. The vessels of the dreadnought type have done particularly badly.

The points secured by these ships compare very badly with the results obtained by many of the pre-dreadnought vessels with mixed armaments.

On the other side of the North Sea there is every indication of high enthusiasm, largely owing to the personal encouragement of the German emperor and the results are remarkable. In the new issue of the "Fleet Annual" it is stated that the German Battleship Hanover at a range of 6,000 yds., and under battle practice conditions, fired twenty rounds with her 11-inch guns and scored 18 hits, one being a ricochet, while out of eighty rounds from her six-inch guns, sixty-one were direct hits and six rocochet hits.

In the same test the battleship Deutschland made twelve consecutive hits.

In Dublin they can have an easy-going acceptance of the home rule proposals outlined by Winston Churchill in Belfast; in the west they may hear sturdy Sinn Feiners declaring that to accept such safeguards as that speech indicated for Ulster, would be to show black teachery to Ireland. Taking north and south there is hardly less difference for while Cork is demanding devolution, Belfast pledges itself to "die in the last ditch" rather than accept orders from a Dublin parliament.

But meanwhile, before that last ditch arrives, Dublin, Cork, Galway, and Belfast are waiting to welcome the tourists and to organize a body through which public money may be utilised for publicity and development purposes. In this lies considerable sign of hope for the Ireland of the future, with all parties and creed joining forces to further the social and industrial betterment of the land that will no longer merit the title of "the distressful isle."

MANY GERMAN WOMEN WORK

Six Million of Them Now Unwed and Wage Earners

ENTERED MANY FIELDS

Don't Like Domestic Service; Prefer to Go Into Factories—Crowding Men and Boys Out.

Berlin, April 18.—The German woman is commonly supposed to be a domesticated person, occupied in the ordering of her household and the care of her children. This view must be abandoned, for as a matter of fact, only forty per cent of the women of Germany between the ages of sixteen and thirty are married. A very large proportion of the other sixty per cent earn their livelihoods by professional or manual work. They have grave problems to face, which are becoming every year more urgent.

There are 22,000,000 females in Germany, above the age of fourteen; 11,851,000 of these are not wage earners, but among them must be reckoned many peasant women, who help their husbands in the fields, and are accustomed to daily work of an arduous kind. Over 10,000,000 women are doing paid work. Of these 4,000,000 are married women or widows, and there are thus 6,000,000 unmarried women in Germany who are wage earners.

FIELDS THEY LABOR IN.

What is the work of the ten millions? One hundred and sixty thousand are shop assistants, 695,000 have shops or businesses of their own, and 297,000 are members of the liberal professions. There are about 1,300,000 domestic servants. The remaining seven millions and a half are chiefly engaged in manual work, for which small wages are paid. Their earnings as a rule do not exceed $10 to $15 a month. After years of hard work they may make $20, or even $22.50 a month. Two and a half dollars a week earned by a girl living with her parents is a valuable addition to the family budget; but it is a wage that will not support her if she is alone in the world. Her chances of marriage are small if she has no dowry.

The growing number of women entering into competition with men in the higher professions is very remarkable. The number of women students at the universities is increasing with great rapidity. The following statistics of the women students at one Prussian university speaks for themselves:—

1910-11	1,458

It is also interesting to note that the women students are recruited from those parts of Germany where life is freer and broader than in police ridden Prussia.

RELIGIOUS STATISTICS.

This is proved by the religious statistics. The religion of Germany are represented among the students in the following proportions:—

Portestant	140
Jewish	62
Roman Catholics	400

In Prussia the women's movement is frowned at. In Bavaria and Baden woman is treated with greater respect, and is not regarded as a creature on a lower scale to man; hence the large proportion of Roman Catholic women among the students at Germany.

The advance of education among women has had its influence on the vexed servant question. A German girl prefers to go into a factory than to enter domestic service. In 1905 there were 1,340,000 women employed as servants in Germany. In 1907 the number had fallen to 1,264,000, and the difficulty of obtaining good cooks and housemaids is increasing.

Homeseekers' and Settlers' Special Trains to Western Canada.

Via Chicago and St. Paul, April 16th, 23rd, and 30th, and every second Tuesday thereafter until Sept. 17th, inclusive. Tickets will also be on sale on certain dates via Sarnia and Northern Navigation Company. Special train will leave Toronto at 10.30 p.m. on above dates for Edmonton and points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, stopping at all points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg. Through coaches and Pullman Tourist Sleepers will be carried fully equipped with bedding and porter in charge. Berths may be secured in sleepers at a low rate. This is an exceptional opportunity for those wishing to take advantage of the remarkably low one-way Settlers' rates or round trip Homeseekers' excursions through the American cities. No change of cars. Secure tickets and berth reservations from any Grand Trunk Agent, or write A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto.

Headaches Over the Eyes Mean Frontal Catarrh

APT TO GET INTO EARS, CAUSING DEAFNESS, OR TO REACH THE LUNGS AND END IN CONSUMPTION.

You Can Cure Catarrh in Any Stage by Breathing the Healing Balsamic Fumes of Catarrhozone, and Here is Proof.

Mr. Uric Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetsburg, Que., inherited catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me, and the doctor so well that I used it continuously, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Everyone in town knows I was just about dead with catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

Two months' treatment, large size, price $1, and guaranteed. Small size 50c, all reliable dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont. Beware of dangerous substitutes and imitations for Catarrhozone.

DEPARTMENT OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS.

Ontario—St. Lawrence Canals, Cornwall Canal.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Improving Lower Entrance to Lock No. 15," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Friday, April 26th.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after April 8th at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Resident Engineer of the Ontario — St. Lawrence Canals, Cornwall, at which places form of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labor, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $6,500.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By Order.
L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

PETERBOROUGH IS A REAL BIG CITY
WHY?
Because Peterborough has NATURAL power

That is why any wise man who has a little money to invest should grasp the last real opportunity presented in the great west to obtain an investment in the Peterborough of three immense provinces.

MEDICINE HAT

Think of the money that has been made in Peterborough, and even this city took quite a while to become 22,000. The western Peterborough has 6,000 now. Four new industries coming. Look at your news dispatches which tells of the voting on Friday, April 12th,
300,000
Bushel elevator for Ogilvies goes up in June beside the 3,000
Barrel a day flour mill. It all means that the man who obtains a little property right away will be ready to sell in a few months when the population is 10,000. There must be 2,000 more people in Medicine Hat before Sept. 1st than there is now to handle the work of the factories, and there must be another thousand to build houses for these people, for there is not to-day a house to rent in the city. I have done my part in telling you of the opportunity. Write at once and I will tell you further facts and help you to make money rapidly on investments in a city which is destined to be the only city in the west for industries and manufacturing expansion.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is hal gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

William Tighe.

One of Peterborough's oldest citizens, in the person of Mr. William Tighe, passed away at Newcastle on Wednesday, April 10th. The deceased was born in Sligo, Ireland, 86 years ago, and when a boy, came to this country with his parents, settling in Peterborough. He was educated here, and at the time was well known. He was prominent in the Orange Order and was a member of St. John's church. When a young man, he went to [illegible], where he resided 40 years and held the position of postmaster. Later he moved to Newcastle, where he spent the last 14 years. The late Mr. Tighe is survived by his wife at Newcastle, and a sister, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, 426 Water street, and Mr. George Tighe, at [illegible] Bay.

Building Operations Booming.

Those pessimists who think Peterborough's progress is stationery, might just consult the appended list of building to be prosecuted here this spring. The Canadian General Electric Company's new building represents quite an item, it being reported slightly less than $45,000. The addition to the J. J. Turner & Sons' factory contributes $1500 and a number of dwellings and smaller items add another $8,000. The following are some of the buildings for which permits have been issued: $2,200, dwelling, Sherbrooke street, T. H. Gillespie; $1,800, dwelling, Dublin street, G. W. Fitzgerald; $1,600, dwelling, Division street, C. Blewett; $5,000, factory, J. J. Turner & Sons; $800, alterations to house, 500 George street, Geo. Powell. Small items total between $2,000 and $3000 and the entire sum for the past two weeks including the C.G.E. building, makes the total for that time about $65,000.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Cross Sent Up for Trial.

At Wednesday's session of the Police Court, Joseph Cross, who, if the charge is substantiated should get—well enough to keep him repenting. Reporters were debarred from the proceedings. When those faithful servants of the public are shut out, there must be something radically rotten. The victim of his assault was the first witness called, and his evidence, even hear-say is unprintable.

FINANCIAL MAN QUITS

CHARLES MAGEE WILL END HIS BUSINESS CAREER SOON.

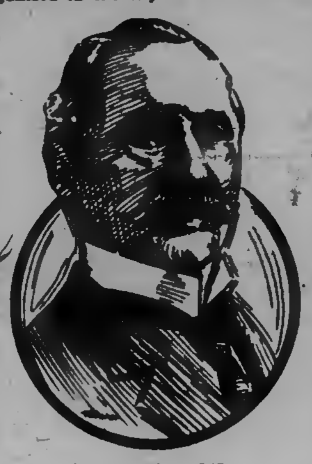
President of the Union Trust Co., at the Age of Seventy, Is Still Active and Attributes His Health to His Annual Trips Across the Atlantic—Has Kept Them Up For Forty Years—A Busy Life.

In perusing the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Union Trust Co., Limited, held in Toronto recently, we notice it was stated that the president of the company, Mr. Charles Magee, in acknowledging his re-election to the office of president, announced his probable retirement from the position before the end of the current year.

Mr. Magee's name has been so intimately connected with the financial, commercial and political affairs of Canada for so great a time that it is a far cry since the public first heard of him. Anyone who had business to do with the Bank of Ottawa for nearly a quarter of a century previous to 1908 got to believe that the name of the bank and that of Charles Magee were almost synonymous.

Mr. Magee is now about seventy years of age, but is still as young and active as many men under sixty and he attributes his good health in a great measure to his yearly trips across the Atlantic, which he has been taking for the last forty years.

Away back in 1863, there was organised in the city of Ottawa a firm which entered into the importing dry goods business under the name of Magee and Russell. Mr. Magee was the organizer of the business and the senior member of the firm. It continued a very successful career until 1875. In 1873 Mr. Magee became one of the organizers of the Bank of Ottawa and retired from mercantile business in 1875, having been made vice-president of the bank two years previously, and on the death of the president, the late Mr. James Maclaren, of Buckingham, he was elected president, which position he held until 1901, when he retired to give more attention to his own private affairs.



MR. CHARLES MAGEE.

There is probably no man in the city of Ottawa who has been more public-spirited or who has done more for the improvement of the city than Mr. Magee. He owned the Russell House away back in the early eighties and re-built all the Sparks and Canal street fronts, and subsequently, after converting the property into a joint stock company, built the Russell Theatre.

The choicest residential district of that city in a great measures owes its present condition to the good judgment of Mr. Magee and the late Mr. James Maclaren, who, together with the late Mr. Robert Blackburn, in 1876, purchased all the vacant lands in the city of Ottawa south of the present Laurier avenue and from the Rideau river on the east to Bronson avenue on the west. Mr. Magee undertook the supervision and laying out and sale of this tract of land, and by reason of his foresight it has now become the choicest residential district of the capital.

The city of Ottawa and county of Carleton is indebted to Mr. Magee as one of the organizers of the Central Canada Exhibition Company. He was their first president, which position he retained for a number of years, in fact, until the exhibiton became firmly established as one of the institutions of the province.

Subduer of Delhi.

One of the few survivors of the siege of Delhi, in the person of Gen. Sir Alexander Taylor, has passed away in England, at the age of eighty-seven.

He went to India in 1844 as a subaltern in the Bengal Engineers, took part in the two Sikh wars, and was the moving force of the engineering operations against Delhi during the Mutiny of 1857.

Night after night, while the batteries were building before Delhi, Taylor, who was second in command of the Engineers under Baird, studied the ground and perfected the final plans for the assault. He virtually directed the whole of the operations in the field, and Nicholson, hearing on his deathbed that the credit was being bestowed elsewhere, is said to have exclaimed, "If I get through this I shall let the world know it was Alex. Taylor who took Delhi."

Lord Lawrence, who knew more than anyone of the inner history of the camp, wrote in 1858 to Lord Dalhousie: "To Nicholson, Alex Taylor of the Engineers, and Neville Chamberlain the real merit of our success is due."

During the street fighting which followed the assault, Taylor showed extraordinary resource, and when our troops began to display signs of demoralization it was he who suggested that the Engineers should break internal passages from house to house. The plan succeeded, and two days later Delhi was in the hands of the British.

A Suggestion for Peterborough.

Kingston Standard: Co-operating with the local improvement committee of the Brockville town council, the property committee of the public school board have now agreed to begin work about the different schools by setting out Boston Ivy. The West Ward schools grounds will also be decorated. Citizens wishing to cover brick or stone buildings with the Boston ivy should get it out now as this is the best time of the year.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

A small block of the stock is offered for public subscription at 10c per share.

Fire Brigade Have a Run.

At 4.50 yesterday afternoon the fire brigade had a run to 336 Water street. The house is occupied by Mr. J. Corbett and owned by the Campbell Estate. It was only a chimney fire and no damage ensued.

A Maple Sap Accident.

As Miss Nancy Post, of Oak Lake, near Havelock, was boiling maple sap, a few days ago, her clothing caught fire. She was at once removed to Havelock. Her limbs, back and shoulders were badly burned.

Getting Ready for Navigation.

Although the ice is not fully out of the Northern Lakes, Manager Frank Young, of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, is preparing for the coming season. He was in the city yesterday on business. He gave The Times a friendly call.

"Crucifixion" for Norwood.

The choir of St. John's church met last night at 8 o'clock, and the boys met at 7.30. A joint practice with the choir of All Saints' church was held at 9 o'clock, preparatory to the presentation of "The Crucifixion" in Norwood, April 26th.

Marlborough Club Changes Name.

The Marlborough Club At-Home, Wednesday night was a great success. It was decided to change the name to that of West End Athletic club. The committee in charge were Messrs W. Pratt, R. Langford, W. Thornton R. Wotten, N. Laing and R. H. Hogan.

Former Local Banker Promoted.

Mr. W. Harper, who, until recently was accountant in the local branch of the Royal Bank, and who was moved to Edmonton, has been promoted to Managership of the Scott, Sask., branch of the bank. His many friends here will be pleased to hear of his promotion.

Oratory Contest at Collegiate Institute.

A splendid concert is promised for to-night in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall by the students of the P.C.I. A feature of the concert will be the final speeches in the Senior Oratorical contest, and the announcement of the winner of the Junior contest, which is already decided.

Black Bass for Pigeon Lake.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has arranged with the Department of Marine and Fisheries to have aquantity of black bass fry, from the Dominion Hatcheries, placed in Pigeon Lake. This will greatly assist Bobcaygeon as a summer resort. That village has always been noted for its black bass fishing, which of late years was somewhat declining.

Bridges in Danger.

The bridge over the Otonabee River at Nassau, and also the bridge at Burleigh, are in eminent danger of being carried away by high water. A force of men were engaged all day yesterday, in weighting down these structures with stones. It is hoped that the water has reached its highest point, although this is by no means certain.

Sad Case of Destitution.

A sad case of destitution has been brought to the notice of the city officials. It seems that a Mr. and Mrs. John Trotter, came to the city about a year ago. The husband is an invalid from paralysis, and now Mrs. Trotter is confined to bed by illness. There are four children, who are practically dependent upon kindness of the neighbors.

New Y.M.C.A. Secretary.

Mr. Alonzo A. Hainsworth, who has been general secretary of the Batavia N.Y. Young Men's Christian Association, has resigned his position to succeed Mr. H. M. Gilchrist, general secretary of the local branch. That he is energetic and capable is evidenced in the fact that since his connection with the Batavia Y.M.C.A., a building fund of $50,000 was raised.

Park Street Church.

Special meeting of football clubs to-day, at Church, to re-organize the Church League.

The subjects for next Sunday will be:

Morning—"The true estimate of Christian service."

Evening—"Are the members of the C.G.E. brass department really undefeated champions?" A special message to men.

Local Motor-Cyclists to Compete.

Some of the local motor cyclists have expressed their intention of entering the competition held next summer, under the auspices of the C.W.A. It is the intention of Mr. McPherson, who is in charge of all arrangements for the meet here in August, to have a number of lady motor cyclists compete, and their race will not be the least interesting of the events of that day. It is further anticipated that if the track can be put into condition automobile races will be a feature of the meet.

Rev. P. Morgan at Park St. Church.

The anniversary services in Park street church on Sunday and Monday May 12th and 13th, promise to be of exceptional interest. An invitation has been sent to Rev. Patrick Morgan, which he has accepted. This eloquent divine will take part in the services of Sunday and the following Monday night. Rev. Mr. Morgan will occupy the pulpit at both services on Sunday and will address a mass meeting in the afternoon in the church. He will also give an address at the congregational rally on Monday night.

The Titanic Disaster.

All members of the Sons of England are requested to attend a requiem service to be held in St. John's church on Sunday evening next. This is in connection with the Titanic disaster. Members will kindly meet at the lodge room at 6.30 sharp. A cordial welcome is extended to members of other fraternal societies to join with the S.O.E. for this service. The St. George's Society is already co-operating with the S.O.S. Members are requested to wear reversed badges.

Local Man's Son on Titanic.

The son of Mr. James Gates, Dunlop street, was to have sailed on either the Megantic or Titanic. As he seems to have missed the Megantic, Mr. Gates fears his son was a passenger on the ill-fated Titanic.

How Do Peterborough Girls Walk.

A fashionably dressed lady preambulated on Kent street to-day, who was admired by many of the sterner sex. She was dressed regardless of expense, white dress and gloves, and brown jacket with black picture hat and dark veil. She had a physical culture walk, like the Peterborough virgins and was quite aremarkable figure. Later on it was found out that "cutey" was advertising a white wear sale for one of the dry goods houses and was of male persuasion.

W.A. of P. Health Ass'n. Meet.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough Health Association will meet on Saturday at 3 p.m., in the Council Chamber to discuss business connected with the coming "Made-in-Peterborough" exhibition. It is requested that there be a full attendance. The cause, that of obtaining funds for a trained district nurse to look after tuberculous patients among the poor is worthy of every support, and the means, to obtain the funds, a "Made-in-Peterborough" exhibition, is equally worth every consideration. Peterborough's future depends on her manufacturers.

A Bold Tramp for Lindsay.

Lindsay seems to have a slight tramp scare. A genuine hobo, of the oak staff, and tomato can attachment on his belt, appears to be working towards that town. The Warder says the tramp broke into a school house in the township of Ops and proceeded to use the wood belonging to the school. Then he made demands upon a farmer for breakfast. His next act was at a vacant brick house, on the next farm, owned by Mr. John McClory, and though furnished was unoccupied at the time by the owner. As the door was locked, Weary Willie smashed a large pane of glass in a window, crept through the opening, availed himself of such hospitality as a vacant house could grant, and went to bed. He slept till morning unmolested, when he once more started on his itinery. Though search has been made no one knows where the wanderer has disappeared to, but it is said that some children saw a man who answers the tramps description making for Lindsay. A sharp lookout will be kept for the outlaw, who will most likely receive a hot reception and be placed in the hands of the law, as many of the farmers have telephones and are determined to apprehend him.

WEDDING BELLS.

Christie—Hogan.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral Wednesday, when Mr. Joseph Christie, son of Mr. John Christie, of Norwood, and Miss Minnie Hogan, of East City, were united in marriage by Rev. Father McColl. The bride, charmingly attired in ivory satin, with pearl trimmings, and carrying a spray of orange blossoms, traversed the aisle, leaning on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away. Mr. Hugh Kelly, of Norwood, was best man, and the bridesmaid, Miss Annie Hogan. Miss Geraldine Hogan acted as flower girl. After a dainty wedding repast the bridal party left for Buffalo, and on their return will reside in Norwood.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Sanitary Inspector Spence has begun on his new duties.

St. George's Society held their regular monthly meeting last night in the Sons of England Hall.

The Public Library Board met last night with ex-Mayor Morrow in the chair.

The firm of R. Hicks & Co., coal and wood dealers, has dissolved. Mr. R. Hicks is continuing the business.

The City Ladies' Aid Society met in their rooms on Simcoe street yesterday afternoon and spent the time sewing for the poor.

The photographs of the eclipse of the sun taken by Rev. D. B. Marsh, of Springville, are on exhibition at Roy's studio, Hunter street.

Albert Jarvis, who was deported from Peterborough, will be allowed to fulfil his promises to the Government.

A Peterborough landlord, because of the 15 cents a month tax for the garbage by-law, has raised the rent of his tenant $1.00 a month. That's finance (of a kind).

The fourteen Hebrew families of the city, have met for worship in the Knights of Pythias Hall. They now intend, however, to erect a tabernacle in the city.

Mr. John A. Flett was unable to be present at the Labor gathering Wednesday night, but he will be on hand sure next Wednesday evening to give his address.

Only six dog tags have been taken out so far. Last year 630 were issued. Dog owners had better get busy, or carry a $2 bill to pay their fine.

A violin recital is to be given by Mr. Wm. Wilson in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Tuesday evening, April 23rd, assisted by Mrs. Jardine, reader, and Mr. Asa Huycke, bass soloist.

Possibly the only time on record that Peterborough had cause to be thankful that her population is no greater than at present, was the Titanic disaster. If we had 50,000 population, Peterborough would inevitably be in mourning.

The North American Life Assurance Co. issues policies second to none. The profits given to policyholders are equal to those of the very best. Insure your life in the North American Life Assurance Co. Office. 187 Charlotte Street. (6t-A6t18)

Tramps are prevalent in East City. One of these hobos tried to get into a house there a few nights ago, but the dog seen him first, and scared him away. A tramp and a dog assimilate about as well as water and vinegar.

Notices are now out that dog taxes are due on May 1st, and that after that date, no dog without having the city's tag on its collar will be allowed the privileges of the streets. It is to be hoped that this law will be strictly enforced.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. "BE BRITISH!" Was Captain's Magic Call That Pierced Fearful Clamor of That Hour And Officers and Crew, Millionaires and Immigrants, Took Heart and Played the Game

"BE BRITISH"! SAID CAPTAIN SMITH AS STEAMER SANK

Scenes of Unparalleled Self Sacrifice and Heroism in Closing Hours of the Great Tragedy—Iceberg, Causing Disaster Was 90 Feet High

Total Death List Now Appears to be Sixteen Hundred and One, Including Six Who Died on Steamship Carpathia

Band Continued to Play "Nearer My God to Thee" as Ship Sank to Her Last Dock in the Atlantic

New York, April 19.—But for the unparalleled self-sacrifice and heroism of Capt. Smith and the Titanic's officers the sea would have claimed an even greater toll when the gigantic ship went down. From the Bridge Capt. Smith called through his megaphone, "Be British!" And that became the rallying cry of officers and crew.

Such was the graphic description of the conduct of men responsible for the saving of human souls on the smitten Titanic as told to-day by John Johnson, a member of the crew Johnson said a cook tried to pull the Captain into a lifeboat, but Smith said "No, no, I must go down with her."

He then mounted the bridge and stood watching the loading of the boats. That was the last Johnson saw of him.

"Men, You Have Done Your Duty—Every Man Faithfully."

About two o'clock Capt. Smith, who had been standing upon the bridge with a megaphone to his mouth, again went to the wireless Cabin. "Men," he said to Phillips and Bride, in a broken voice, "you have done your full duty. You can do no more. Abandon your cabin for it is now every man for himself."

Bride left the cabin, but Phillips still clung to the keys. He perished.

New York, April 19.—The Titanic was written into history to-day by many of the 639 survivors, accounts for the loss of 1,595 persons at sea off the Newfoundland Banks early on Monday morning and the subsequent death of six persons who had been rescued, bring the total of lives lost to 1,601.

The official figures magnify greatly estimates which had come by wireless and the stories which survivors tell make certain, as had already been judged from the meagre wireless reports that the disaster is the greatest that ocean travel has ever known

The big facts which came to the surface in the flood of narratives are that 1,601 persons met their death; that there is hardly the shadow of a hope that this grand total will be curtailed by a single additional survivor; that several men of wealth and world-wide prominence are, as had been feared for several days among those who perished: that practically the only women that were not saved were those who chose to die in their husband's embrace; that nearly all of the survivors saw the Titanic sink and heard the band play "Nearer my God, to Thee" and the shrieks of those whom the sea claimed, as the vessel sank in 2,000 fathoms.

Berg Was 90 Feet High.

The Titanic struck an iceberg about 90 feet high which ripped the liner's sides open and made the watertight compartments useless and while the vessel was gradually sinking the icy waters reached her steaming boilers causing an explosion which sent her to the bottom.

From the stories told by the survivors, it is now possible to reconstruct the tragedy. It would appear that the liner rushed upon a submerged iceberg on a clear night about 11.30 on Sunday last. The shock was so slight that people playing cards in the smoking room continued their game without paying any heed to the jar thinking a large wave had been passed.

A few minutes later the boat began to settle, her bottom having been ripped out, and information was brought to the captain that water was rushing into the engine rooms. The captain ordered the closing of the water tight compartments which are said not to have acted, the electrical equipment which operates them having been disturbed by the collision.

Captain Ordered Band to Play.

While an investigation was taking place, Captain Smith personally told passengers that there was absolutely no need for fear and advised those women who had got up out of bed to return.

He also ordered the liner's band to start playing and it continued to do this as the liner took her last plunge.

Once the women had been assured that there was no danger, the greatest difficulty was found in getting them into the boats when it was finally discovered that the liner was doomed. Many had to be thrown overboard, on to the overloaded boats and rafts, loss of life ensuing, while in other cases boats were lowered half empty.

Several sensational stories were told by survivors. One was that at the end Captain Smith turned the revolver he had been brandishing to keep order upon himself, and was dead before the waves closed over his ship.

Another was that Major Butt, attache to President Taft, shot both John Jacob Astor and Isidor Strauss two millionaires, who were trying to get into the boats before all the women were saved.

A LESSON IN SPELLING.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—As my father takes the Times and I am going in for my matriculation examination, I would like your advice on a matter of spelling. I always have trouble in spelling words that have "e-i, or i-e," and often have difficulty in knowning whether to use the "e" or the "i" first. Is there any rule to guide one in this troublesome little etymological trap?

—Student.

Reply—This is a difficulty that sometimes bothers the best educated men. There is a homely old rhyme that applies to nearly all such words, in fact, we believe there are not more than eight or ten exceptions. The rhyme runs, "I before E. except after C." Take the word "receive," here this combination comes after the C, [illegible] correct to write e-i. Then take "[illegible]ve," i here comes before e. Among the very few exceptions are the words either, neither, eight, eikon, eider-down and a few more. Still the little rule works in 99 out of 100 cases of doubt.

THE DOG TAX.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see that notices are out advising owners of dogs that unless such animals wear a tag, on and after May 1st, the said dogs will not be allowed to run at large. Now, Mr. Editor, this same law has been in force before, and I venture to say that not twenty per cent of the useless curs that range our streets wear such tags, and I further venture to say that not over thirty per cent of them have paid, or paid for them, the annual tax. I myself am a lover of a good dog, and have always paid my little share of the dog tax. Still when one sees the hundreds of curs on our streets, dogs that might be a cross between a St. Charles spaniel and bull dog, with traces of coach dog ancestry, yelping and barking, both by day and by night, and wearing no tags, it looks as though the by-law, excepting the few dollars paid in licenses, is a farce. Every one knows the scare Western Ontario has had from hydrophobia. In fully eighty per cent of the cases of rabies, the mad dogs are just such curs as I have mentioned. I hope, Sir, that the dog by-law will be strictly enforced. Let the city employ a dog catcher for a few weeks, and weed the curs out. If every untagged dog were caught by a net and placed in a temporary pound the owners of enough of the untag-

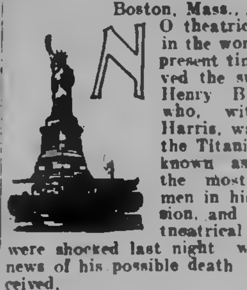
HARRIS DROWNS IN TITANIC

World's Greatest and Most Popular Theatrical Leader Gone.

Boston, Mass., April 17



NO theatrical leader in the world, at the present time, achieved the success of Henry B. Harris, who, with Mrs. Harris, was aboard the Titanic. He is known as one of the most popular men in his profession, and Boston's theatrical circles were shocked last night when the news of his possible death was received.

Mr. Harris was born in St. Louis, Dec 1st, 1866, the son of Wm. Harris, of the theatrical firm of Charles Frohman, Rich & Harris. He received his early education in the schools of his native city, but yet a young lad the family moved to Boston, where his father at that time was manager of the Howard Athenaeum. Young "Harry" broke into the game when only 14, and under the able tutelage of his father, made rapid strides in the theatrical profession.

His first big exploit as manager was with May Irvin, and later he became manager of Pete Daly, Lily Langtry, Amelia Bingham, and was the first to recognize the histrionic ability of Robert Edeson. Recently he has been connected with "The Country Boy," of which he was the original producer, and "The Talker" a New York success. Rose Stahl and Elsie Ferguson have also been under his management during the past few seasons. Three of the greatest successes of the past decade have been produced by Mr. Harris. They are: "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Travelling Salesman," and "The Third Degree."

He has been manager of the Hudson, the 42nd Street and the Fulton Theatres in New York for several years, and has also been president of the Henry B. Harris Co., National Producing Managers of America; director of the Association Metropolis Theatre Co., and of the Theatre Managers' Association of Greater New York; Treasurer of the Actor's Fund of America; and trustee of the Hebrew Infant Asylum of New York. He is a member of the Lambs' Club and Green Room Club o New York.

He was married to Miss Irene R. Wallach, of Washington, on Oct. 22. 1898. The couple have had no children.

Thomas B. Lothian, business manager of the Colonial Theatre, who broke into the business with Mr Harris at the Howard Athenaeum, in 1890, was grieved last night when he learned that Mr. Harris's rescue was in doubt. "We have been pals for over 20 years," he said.

MAJOR PEUCHEN WAS ASKED TO HELP MAN A LIFE BOAT

"Major Arthur Peuchen was ordered to the boat by me owing to the fact that I required a seaman, which he proved to be as well as a brave man.

(Signed) "C. H. Hyhloelu,
2nd Officer."

New York, April 19.—"Ordinary caution and seamanship and the accident would never had occurred. When I got aboard the Titanic at Southampton I was more than pleased with her, but when I heard that the officer in command was Captain Smith my heart went down into my boots."

Major Peuchen, of Toronto, in relating the horrors of the experience blamed the captain for the calamity. He told the story to his family rejoicing at his safety, at the Waldorf Astoria, immediately after his arrival on the Carpathia. The Major appears not much the worse for the harrowing scenes he has witnessed and participated in. He looks strong and wears an early tan.

The fact that he is a survivor, he attributes to the note of the second officer written on a sheet of a note book which he naturally treasures as a valuable document.

Bravery of the Passengers.

He told with some feeling of his last words with Mr. Hays, Mr. Ross Mr. Beattie, Mr. Molson and others, and was loud in his appreciation of the bravery displayed by the passengers and denunciation of reprehensible conduct of the quarter-master of the ship whom he had with him in the lifeboat.

ISMAY JUMPED INTO ONE OF FIRST BOATS LOWERED

New York, April 19.—J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine, owners of the White Star Line, testifying under oath before the United States Senate Committee investigating the Titanic disaster, swore that at the time the liner crashed into an iceberg off Newfoundland, she was making 21 knots an hour, or 26 miles.

This confirms the statement of Quartermaster J. H. Moody, who stated to-day that the Titanic was making 21 knots, travelling at high speed when she hit the iceberg.

It has been charged that the high speed at which the Titanic was travelling was responsible for the terrific crash which sent the vessel to the bottom.

One of the First to Escape.

Mr. Ismay admitted that there was no life rafts on board the vessel when she sank. He also admitted that he left the vessel in one of the first boats lowered. He said that he jumped into it.

In explaining his theory that a side blow was the cause of the loss of the gigantic liner, Mr. Ismay said:

"The ship was especially constructed so that she would float with any two of her compartments filled with water.

"I think I am right in saying that very few ships have ever had that capacity. If she had hit the iceberg head-on, in all human probability she would be afloat to-day."

New York, April 19.—The investigation of the Titanic disaster, ordered by the United States Senate was begun here to-day by the senatorial investigation committee headed by Senator Smith of Michigan.

The first session was held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. The investigation will be the most thorough ever instituted by the American Government.

FOUR PERSONS DEAD ON RAFT

New York, April 19.—Cohn R. Joyce, a banker of Carlsbad, N.M., a passenger on the Carpathia, said: "When the Carpathia reached the scene of the wreck, we saw eighteen boats and one raft on the water. Four persons on the raft were dead. The survivors said that everybody could have been saved if there had been enough lifeboats.

A huge cake of ice was the means of aiding Emilo Portaluppi, of Ariogabo, Italy, in escaping death when the Titanic went down. When the explosion occurred he hurried to the deck and strapping a life preserver around him, leaped into the sea. With the aid of the preserver and by holding to a cake of ice, he managed to keep afloat. He was seen by one of the lifeboats and picked up.

MRS. ALLISON DIES A REGULAR HEROINE

New York, April 19.—Major Arthur Peuchen, of Toronto, was able to tell the Allison brothers something about their brother and his description of his last meeting with the Montreal capitalist and his wife indicated that Mrs. Allison died a heroine, steadily refusing to save herself without her husband. The Major said, half an hour later, when the Titanic was leaning steadily over to one side, he saw the Allisons. They had their little girl with them. Mrs. Allison was distracted about her baby. Mr. Allison said that he had urged his wife to go, but she had refused.

A member of the crew then called the girl, and she ran to the side of the ship, which was several feet under water by this time. Both mother and father went after her, and that was the last the Major saw of them. Afterwards he made enquiries to see if they had got off in the boats, but found they had not, and he does not doubt but that father, mother and child went down together.

TALES THAT ARE TOLD.

"I was one of the kind that wouldn't believe that coffee was hurting me," says a N.Y. woman. "You just couldn't convince me its use was connected with the heart and stomach trouble I suffered from most all of the time." (Tea contains caffeine —the same drug found in coffee, and is just as harmful). "My trouble finally got so bad I had to live on milk and toast almost entirely for three or four years. Still I loved the coffee and wouldn't believe it could such damage.

"What I needed was to quit coffee, and take nourishment in such form my stomach could digest. I had read much about Postum, but never thought it would fit my case until one day I decided to quit coffee and give it a trial and make sure about it. So I got a package and carefully followed the directions.

"Soon I began to get better and was able to eat carefully selected foods without the aid of pepsin or other digests and it was not long before I was really a new woman physically.

"Now I am healthy, hearty and sound, can eat anything and everything that comes along, and I know this wonderful change is all due to my having quit coffee and got nourishment I needed through this delicious Postum in place of the dangerous coffee and tea.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTER

Deals Out a Farther Supply of Juicy Lemons.

The Catholic Register, the organ of the R.C. Church in Ontario, has no love for certain Protestant ministers, as will be seen by the following taken from this week's issue:

The name of the pastor of the New York Fifth Avenue Baptist church is Dr. Wolfkin. The sectarian ministers have very suspicious names indeed.

Toronto is having its share of murder and scandal these days, and Toronto is the home of the Evangelical and the centre of Orangeism. Without the old church what true moral teaching could be found here!

The Boston Pilot notes that somebody has presented to the Episcopal Cathedral in New York an open air pulpit. An ideal presentation to Messrs. Hincks, Stauffer and Johnston, of Toronto, would be a hot-air pulpit. Also a gas-fixture for Odlum, Batty and Pogue.

"Toronto the Good has plenty of opportunity to become Toronto the Better. This city supplied ten out of the sixteen divorce cases that came before the Senate at the last session." This from the smug old Globe should satisfy the hottest Pope baiter in the city that there is need of more decrees than the "Ne Temere" right here in our midst.

What next? The Methodist Book Room has been turning out books not fit to read. Two of its books been excluded from the library as unfit for perusal. Methodist morality was always secondary to Methodist profit—and the ugly things sell. Anyway, some of the Methodist preachers, notably C. O. Johnston, are only preparing the way for immoral reading by their immoral preaching.

"Teach the high destiny of your country; teach that the greatest national product is good men and women; teach that the ideal of greatness is a far higher ideal than that of bigness, and you join the noble army of teachers of you who sought to keep the soul of the nation alive." The gentleman who got off this well-worn platitude at the Educational meet here last week was no other than Ven. Archdeacon Cody—the self-same gentleman who made a lying and malicious charge against Catholic theologians and when stumped for his authority funked miserably. Surely this is the sort of exhorter to place before the youth of Ontario. Name, game and doctrine indicate a claim to teach, empty as air.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors, as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

BY RAIL TO EUROPE.

It Would Be a Costly Luxury Should Bering Strait Be Bridged.

Some projects, even in this age of engineering achievements, may fairly be called audacious, and of these none is more startling than the suggested building of a railway from the United States to Europe by way of a bridge across Bering strait.

The width of the strait from the extremity of East cape, on the Asiatic side, to the point of Prince of Wales cape, on the American side, is not more than forty-five miles, and within this distance, placed almost in a straight line as if to supply the foundation for the abutments of a bridge, are the three Diomede islands.

Moreover, the waters of the strait are shallow, and it is claimed that caissons for the foundation of a great bridge could be sunk to a considerable depth.

The two continents are, in fact, joined by submarine banks, and it is known that at a former time this connection was still closer, so that animals and species of plants crossed from one continent to the other. The natives of the region still preserve the tradition of this joining of the land.

More than one engineer has held that it would be practicable to construct a bridge across this strip of water disconnecting America from Asia and the old world from the new. But a railway journey from New York to Paris, even if the [illegible] should make it [illegible] take a much longer time even on the fastest trains than a voyage across the Atlantic on a swift liner and would probably cost very much more. It would be a luxury to be enjoyed only by wealthy persons who strongly dislike ocean travel.—Harper's.

RIDDLE OF THE PLANETS.

The Question of Inhabitants and the Limits of Astronomy.

We shall never be able to say positively, be the advance in astronomy what it may, that any of the other planets are actually inhabited. Such is the conviction of that competent student of the heavens, Professor H. C. Wilson, who lately elaborated his ideas on the whole subject before the Astronomical Society of the Pacific.

We shall, he says, by no increase of magnifying and defining power in the telescope, ever be able actually to see the inhabitants. This is not because we have reached the limit of magnifying power, but because of the great turbulent ocean of atmosphere through which we must look and which is almost incessantly in motion, bending and intermingling the rays of light which come to us so that the minute details of a planet's surface are hopelessly blurred.

The more we magnify these details of a planet's surface, adds Professor Wilson, the more they are blurred. On [illegible] rare occasions the sea of air quiets down and permits the astronomer to use the full power of his instrument. The astronomer is happy if at these times he is free to devote his attention to those objects which are most attractive to the sight. —Current Literature.

Beavers Attract Attention.

Tourists in the Yellowstone National park have shown so much interest in the beavers that inhabit the streams that the department of the interior is considering the advisability of placing colonies of the animals in some of the other national parks. The beaver has been one of the most potent factors in the exploration of the Rocky mountain region, because the early trappers were generally searching for beaver when they first penetrated the fastnesses of the mountains. The zigzag dams constructed by these busy animals are familiar sights in the Yellowstone National park. The beaver seems to be particularly adapted to the Platte, the Yosemite and Mount Rainier national parks.—Portland Oregonian.

New Way to Repair Old Bridges.

At Hamburg there are two bridges the masonry of which was threatening to fall in ruins, being traversed by innumerable cracks of varying size. A remarkable process has just been made use of to rejuvenate these bridges. A number of holes were bored throughout the structure so as to give access to the interior and cement was injected by pumps under pressure. Reports on the present condition of the two bridges are favorable.—Chicago News.

Ex-Presidents.

Under Polk four ex-presidents were living—Adams, Jackson, Van Buren and Tyler. Under Buchanan were Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore and Pierce. Lincoln's first term saw Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan still alive and out of office. Since Grant's first term there never have been more than two former presidents living. And now we have only Theodore Roosevelt.

High Prices in Germany.

Since 1900 the price of bread has risen 11 per cent in Germany, the price of beef 18 per cent and pork 38 per cent. In Essen, by the figures of the Krupp Co-operative society, since 1900 the price of black bread has risen 60 per cent, potatoes 30 per cent, veal 34 per cent and bacon 30 per cent.

Possibly the only time on record that Peterborough had cause to be thankful that her population is no greater than at present, was the Titanic disaster. If we had 50,000 population, Peterborough would inevitably be in mourning.

Tramps are prevalent in East City. One of these hoboes tried to get into a house there a few nights ago, but the dog seen him first, and scared him away. A tramp and a dog assimilate about as well as water and vinegar.

Notices are now out that dog taxes are due on May 1st, and, that after that date, no dog without having the city's tag on its collar will be allowed the privileges of the streets. It is to be hoped that this law will be strictly enforced.

THE KING'S SERGEANT.

He Is Quite an Important Official When His Majesty Travels.

The Sergeant Footman at Buckingham Palace is an important personage, he is the chief of the indoor footmen, and acts as an independent official, taking orders only from the Master of the Household.

His ordinary duties consist in detailing the footmen to duty at the palace entrances and for daily attendance in the ante-rooms of the personal apartments of the King and Queen, and in the morning-rooms of the equerries and ladies-in-waiting. The Sergeant Footman—he is, by the way, addressed by all members of the Household as "Sergeant"—is usually in attendance at the equerries' entrance to the palace, where he shares a waiting-room with the palace steward.

At one o'clock half the staff of footmen come off duty for dinner, and go on duty again at two, when the other half come off duty until three. When the footmen come on duty they must report themselves to the Sergeant.

The Sergeant Footman has to look after the footman accompanying a royal visitor, allot them rooms in the servants' apartments, arrange whether they are to "mess" with the royal servants or by themselves—a matter left usually to the choice of the visiting servants—and settle precisely the hours at which they will be in attendance on their royal master and mistress. Supposing, for example the footmen of a visiting royalty desires to be freed from attendance between three and six in the afternoon, the Sergeant Footman would have to detail a certain number of the palace footmen to take their place during these hours.

At Buckingham Palace the electric bells in any of the royal visitors' rooms can be directly connected with any of the servants' rooms. This is done by means of what is called a transfer switchboard, which is placed in the Sergeant Footman's office. On the switchboard are marked the numbers of all the royal visitors' apartments, and opposite these are the numbers of the servants' rooms, from 1 to 100.

Now, supposing the Kaiser were to use Room No. 4 in the royal visitors' suite of rooms for a bedroom, as he usually does and his personal valet were to occupy No. 30 in the servants' rooms, the Sergeant Footman would connect these two rooms on his switchboard, so that when the Kaiser touched his bell it would ring the bell in Room 30.

The Sergeant Footman and one of his assistants always travel with the King. The former occupies a compartment next to the royal saloon, and acts as attendant to his Majesty during the journey. Among his duties the Sergeant has to see that Buckingham Palace is kept properly lighted.

The electric light in all the corridors at Buckingham Palace must be switched on at a certain hour every day, that varies, of course, according to the time of year, but in dull, foggy weather the light may possibly have to be switched on early in the morning, and the Sergeant has to take care to see that this is done if necessary.

Eight of the indoor footmen are on duty at Buckingham Palace when the King is in residence throughout the night. The Sergeant Footman himself goes off duty usually at midnight. The footmen for night duty are changed every week.

Damp Salt Before Rain.

Very few persons know that when the salt gets damp it is either because it is too near the sea or because it is going to rain. It is very hard to keep the salt cellar dry at the seashore, as there is so much moisture in the air all the time, but in other places it is usually a sign of rain when the salt gets damp. Things that help themselves to the water in the air are called "deliquescent," and salt is one of them. When water is in the air in the form of gas it sometimes become too plentiful for the air to hold, and then we get what is called "precipitation," or rain. But long before the water vapor in the air is heavy enough to fall in rain there is enough of it to spare to make salt damp.

When Robespierre Was "Stung."

Under the terror Robespierre used to play a peaceful game of chess at the Cafe Regence, and the story is told of a youth who once challenged him and beat him twice. Robespierre after his defeat asked how much he owed, no stakes having been previously fixed. The supposed youth, who in reality was a girl in man's clothes, presented an order for the release of her lover from prison, and Robespierre signed it. Napoleon Bonaparte during his consulship was seen at the same cafe, but he showed himself no tactician at chess.

No Fear of Thieves.

Some years ago a London merchant sent a cargo of goods to Constantinople. After the supercargo saw the bales and boxes safely landed he inquired where they could be stored.

"Leave them here—it won't rain to-night," was the reply.

"But I dare not leave them thus exposed. Some of the goods might be stolen," said the supercargo.

The Mohammedan merchant burst into a loud laugh as he replied:

"Don't be alarmed. There isn't a Christian within fifty miles of here."—London Chronicle.

Government Anatomy.

"Father," inquired the small boy making his first visit to the army post, "what house is that over there?"

"That's the Government's headquarters, Jimmy."

A long puzzled silence, then:

"Father, where are its hindquarters?"

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

Health for Every Woman No More Headaches

From Weakness and Despair Thousands have Been Restored to Robust Good Health by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

That sick women are made well by Dr. Hamilton's Pills is proved in the following letter:

"For years I was thin and delicate. I lost color and was easily tired; a yellow pallor, pimples and blotches on my face were not only mortifying to my feelings, but because I thought my skin would never look nice again. I grew despondent. Then my appetite failed. I grew very weak. Various [illegible] pills tonics and tablets I tried without permanent benefit. A visit to my sister put into my hands a box o Dr. Hamilton's Pills. She placed reliance upon them, and now that they have made me a well woman I would not be without them whatever they might cost.

"I found Dr. Hamilton's Pills, by their mild yet searching action very suitable to the delicate character of a woman's nature. They never once griped me, yet they established regularity. My appetite grew—my blood red and pure—heavy rings under my eyes disappeared, and to-day my skin is as clear and unwrinkled as when I was a girl. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

The above straightforward letter from Mrs. J. Y. Todd, wife of a well-known citizen in Rogersville, is proof sufficient that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. Use no other pill but Dr. Hamilton's 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1912.

CHICAGO'S NERVE.

Some few years ago, the city of Chicago, with a blare of trumpets, announced to the world that her engineers had accomplished two modern miracles. Chicago had turned the course of the river of that name, so it ran South instead of North; it also was proud that this same Chicago river, which, in its sluggish passage through the warehouse linen streets of the city, was of about the consistency of rich pea soup, was changed to a clear stream. Now, the Chicago river empties into the Mississippi river per the Drainage Canal, the latter dug by the city. Since representations have been lodged with the Government at Washington by the Canadian Government to the effect that this Drainage Canal is lowering the waters of the Great Lakes, and consequently interfering with, if not, ultimately, sadly injuring the vast shipping industry, Chicago blandly says. "The health of Chicago is of more consequence than the shipping of the Great Lakes." Good Lord! That prairie, upstart, overgrown, western metropolis, with their motto of "I will" should be disciplined by the whole continent, whose watercourse they try to change for selfish reasons.

LIBERALISM AND CLERICALISM.

Liberalism both in Canada and in Great Britain has cast the old traditions and the old principles adrift, says the News. In the Mother Country it has united with a faction supported by foreign money to establish clerical ascendancy in Ireland. In Canada it vested inalienable privileges in the Roman Catholic hierarchy over the enormous areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta. For years its leaders dared not extend the boundaries of Manitoba because the church demanded special recognition in Keewatin. Under the frank of former Liberal Ministers of the Crown literature is now going out from the Parliament buildings at Ottawa designed to excite racial and religious prejudices in Quebec, because the Borden Gorden Government would not establish Roman Catholic schools in that territory. For the Roman Catholic Church as a religious institution there is amongst Canadians nothing but regard and good will. For some of its nursing and benevolent orders there is reverence. In its history there are splendid stories of endurance and self sacrifice. But we become increasingly vigilant against clerical interference in the sphere of the State, and more and more distrustful of Liberalism in bonds to clericalism.

W. T. STEAD.

(Contributed.)

Among those who went down with the Titanic, probably no name ranks higher than that of William T. Stead. Certainly to none could the tragic end have come as so fitting a close to a conspicuous and strenuous career. Many have known him in more recent years as a species of spiritualist. As a matter of fact he was one of the best type of British [illegible] a virile character, whose sympathies were mainly devoted to the causes of humanity and religion. His father was a Congregational minister at Howdon on Tyne, and a man of much more than the average ability. His mother a woman of culture and refinement with a rare skill in the management of men, was an invalid for many years, and in her physical weakness made the manse more than ever a sanctuary for her children and the choice circle of friends who came to it. The salary of the Church was painfully small, to meet the requirements of a delicate wife and a large growing family. It was only four hundred dollars. This discipline of poverty which bore hardly on the mother, was a blessing in disguise for William. Since the domestic exchequer would not afford a daily paper, and the pastor and his wife were both deeply interests in the affairs of the outside world, William was commissioned to go daily to a public reading room there to gather the news of the day and purvey it for the benefit of the rest at the dinner, or tea table. He was the centre of interest at that daily feast, and got his first lesson as to how to select news to suit his constituency. The choice of his audience was for the items connected with the world of men which had special reference to the uplift of humanity and made for the welfare o nations.

Among his father's congregation were several young Scotchman who had settled on the Tyne around its rising industries. As they were thriving themselves, they were prompted by one of their number to deal more generously by their minister, and in consequence the salary was doubled. This permitted of more extensive education for the children. William was sent to Silcoates, near Wakefield, in Yorkshire, a high school supported by the Congregationalists, in which their sons could get an education away from the snobbishness, and to them offensive Episcopalian influences which prevailed in most of the public high schools. After his course there he made choice of journalism as a profession, and before long was seated in the editorial chair of the Northern Echo, o Darlington.

He has always been avowedly and enthusiastically religious, and believed that the secular press was one of the most effective means for advancing moral and spiritual interests. To him, religion was more than preaching and praying, it included politics, socialism, civil purity, international comity, anything which could be brought into the common brotherhood of man. The Salvation Army, for instance, had a great attraction for him. He was often inclined to don the officer's uniform and take a place in its ranks. Only he distrusted its underlying military notion, which repressed the individual and sacrificed to disciplined those members who deserved more patient and compassionate treatment. And like every other knight of the pen he had his eye on London, the El Dorado of every old country journalist. It was not long before he entered upon his desired field. His ambition was gratified when he became editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, a paper which under his direction speedily came to be recognized as the organ of all the great causes of liberty and philanthropy of the day. When he was in this position Mrs. Booth, the mother of the Salvation Army, was beginning that heroic crusade which has revealed at once the blackest stains and the brightest spots in the general life of the metropolis of Britain She had taken up arms against the white slave traffic. Baffled to get public opinion properly aroused she determined to enlist, if she could, the support of the editor of the Pall Mall. When she called to tell her pitiful and painful story she had a most respectful hearing, but the only comment at first made upon it was the single word, "Damn." This was a cause, however, to which Stead could bend all his energy, but the ramifications of the vice were so numerous and extended so far through the upper circles of society that nothing but the most conclusive evidence would convince the apathetic world of the existence and extent of the evil. While he urged and promoted legislation to deal with the matter, he also got the necessary proof by himself procuring a young girl through accredited agencies who was practically sold to him for immoral purposes. This proceeding was seized upon by the enemies of the purity measures, and Stead was brought before the authorities and sentenced to a term of imprisonment. He was put into the second division, as a technical rather than an actual criminal, and edited his paper from his prison room. The scourge was not removed from London, but the movement which Stead began so exposed that it was driven into obscurity and was to a large extent cleared out altogether.

He was not able to put into operation his ideal daily paper while in the service of owners. But he attempted with success the establishment of a monthly on the lines he had in his mind when he began the Review of Reviews. It was a financial success almost from the first, but he had to become the owner as well as the editor before he could get his plan completely into operation. By its means he entered into a close connection with people in all parts of the world. The journal came, in time, to have editions in America and Australia. The writing in it was of his own brilliant, dashing style, and it was designed to keep its readers in touch with all the magazines, as well as with everything likely to advance the best and noblest ideals of the best and noblest men. The one cause which never fell into the background of his mind was that of universal peace. His office window for many years overlooked the Thames embankment. He wrote with that mighty waterway which his friend John Burns said was liquid history, before his eyes, a river which suggested big things to his imagination. Into that office came men from every part of the civilized world to discuss all sort of affairs of mankind with him.

A few years ago he tried to start a daily paper of the kind he had been dreaming, speaking and writing about for many years. The plan failed chiefly because he took a serious illness just when he was most needed to put the scheme into shape. While his plan miscarried many of the ideas it expressed are being incorporated into progressive journalism in the British Isles today. His spiritualism was due to a desire to know just what there is in occult physic phenomena. He contributed little of value to the sum of knowledge on the subject but he provoked expert scientists to begin a study which is steadily pushing back the veil of ignorance.

The history of the Hague Tribunal has not been written yet. When it is it will be found that it owes its inception more to a London journalist than to all the thrones and foreign offices in Europe. This is no mean monument to a life.

John Harlaw.

Editorial Notes

Minority members of the steel trust investigation committee cannot get together on a report. Too independent to combine?

An active volcano is announced from Panama. But it is as nothing compared to the isthmian eruption in Germany.

J. P. Alexander, Ex-M.P.P., dropped dead yesterday at Boissevain, Man., when told of the Titanic disaster. He was troubled with heart disease.

With her numerous watertight compartments closed, it will remain a mystery, until more definite information has been received, how the Titanic could have sunk so quickly. The blow must have been tremendous, so great, in fact, as to break her back.

That turkey trot episode demonstrates that T. R. is not the only one of the family who can stir up Washington.

Chinese Mohammedans are preparing to resist the Republic. It will probably be Allah samee to Yuan.

Awful as was the calamity, when some 1500 people, in health and in the midst of enjoyment, went to their death aboard the Titanic, still how infinitely worse it is for the wives, husbands, fathers, mothers, daughters, sons, and other relatives of this list. For every one of those 1500 persons drowned there would probably be at least three broken-hearted people of consanguinity ashore, on two continents.

In view of the appaling disaster to the Titanic, it would seem that the various Governments should take active and immediate steps to provide safety for trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific liners. Why should 2500 or 3000 expensive tickets be sold for a trip when there is manifestly not nearly enough boats to save passengers in case of accident? Even the authorities of the steamship companies have to admit that they carried many more passengers and crew than their boats could possibly hold. Supposing the accident to the Titanic had occurred during a storm. Instead or 900 being saved, the loss would have been even more terrible. The greed o big corporations; for big money seems to over-ride their thoughts for public life or limb.

Mr. Lucius E. Wilson, President of the American Association of Commercial Executives, and Secretary of the Detroit Board of Trade, for whom a special train was put together by the Grand Trunk Railway, in order that he might be present at the annual banquet of the Sherbrooke Board of Trade, where he was the chief guest, has just written Mr. D. E. Galloway, Assistant to the President of the G.T.R., as follows: "Upon my return from a prolonged eastern trip, I feel impelled to express my appreciation of the courtesy shown me by the Grand Trunk management on the night of Tuesday, February 6th.

In furnishing the special train to carry me to Sherbrooke from Montreal, the Grand Trunk management extended such a substantial kindness that I am at a loss to know just how to acquaint you with my sense of the obligation. The event has convinced me that "G.T." are the initials for both "Grand Trunk" and "Get There."

No one feels the inadequacy of my attempt to express my appreciation of your kindness more than the writer himself. At the same time I am somewhat relieved by the thought that the special train was only another evidence of the energy of a great and growing Railway system—that it was part o your policy of doing what you set out to do."

MR. PARKER'S EXPLANATION.

Editor Morning Times

Dear Sir,—In the issue of your paper dated April 10th, in the article "Christian Scientists appeal against New Medical Bill," you say "that those practitioners who bring about cure through appeal to Almighty God," etc., and concluding the article you say "that when the committee meets there will be suggestions made that the Christian Scientists be permitted to engage in Cure through mental suggestion," etc.

Permit me to correct the wrong impressions these statements convey. Christian Scientists do not "bring about cure through appeals to Almighty God." They recognize that God is perfect, eternal, "the same yesterday, to-day and forever," as the Scriptures declare Him to be and that He "is no respecter of persons" and therefore cannot be influenced or induced to do more than He always has done, and is doing, for mankind everywhere. God does not need "to be reconcilled to (or made to agree with) man," but man does need to be reconcilled to (or made to agree with) God, by having that "Mind in him which was also in Christ Jesus." This mind destroys all manner of evil and disease, as demonstrated by the Almighty works of Jesus, and is "the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus, which taketh away the law of sin and death" spoken of by the Apostle Paul. Saint Paul also says "The carnal mind is enmity towards God." "It is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be." This carnal mind is the human mind or fleshly kind, and Mental Suggestion is the use of this mind to suggest to, or control other minds, which is the direct opposite of Christian Science teaching and practice. Christian Science is "the law of the Spirit of life," which taketh away the law of sin and death, and all the evil effects of the human or carnal mind, and man becomes conscious of the ever-present power of God to deliver him from evil, in proportion to his understanding of this law, and as he lives in accordance with its demand: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

Yours truly,

—W. H. Parker.

BE BRITISH SAID CAPTAIN

A quaint touch to a night of horror is lent by the performance of the infant child of two Montreal people who were drowned, which slept peacefully in its nurse's arms throughout the entire night.

Five of the steerage passengers who escaped died from exposure before they could be picked up by the Carpathia.

Slowly, as if bearing the dead of the Titanic instead of the miserable remnant of those who escaped when she went down, the Carpathia nosed her way through the darkness of New York harbor to her dock last evening.

For hours an expectant crowd of relatives and friends had gathered within the dock shed and the approaches to it, buoyed up against the fatigue of their long vigil by the necessity for being patient and resolute as an offset to the weakness sorrow and misery of those they were to meet.

Unprofitable Misery.

A Boston professor comes out of his insulation and remarks that a pleasure loving woman cannot be beautiful, because suffering is essential to true beauty.

It used to be said that no woman could be a great actress until she had suffered.

And yet actresses continue to marry and divorce and undergo all sorts of humiliations and tribulations without the slightest indication of artistic improvement.

What do these alleged wise men know about it anyway?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Br'er Williams and the Legislature.

"I hear tell," said Brother Williams, "dat de legislatur' won't be wid us mo'n long 'nuff ter say good mawnin' an' goodby."

"Well, that's long enough, isn't it?"

"No, suh, kaze I wuz thinkin' 'bout axin' it fer a job. I wanted ter be one er dem messengers what day hires."

"What! And you so old?"

"Yes, suh," he said reflectively, "I knows I'm old enough to know better, but needin' de money ez I does I could even make up my mind ter go in de legislatur'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Cooked 1,500,000 Chops.

Of very few men can it truthfully be said, "He has cooked a million chops." Yet William, of Edwards', in Fishmonger Alley, London, who will presently celebrate the jubilee of his professional career, is believed to have cooked a million and a half. About ten thousand of these he has eaten himself.

The calculation was made one day on the table cloth by a distinguished statistician, who was so shocked by the figures that he dared not go on to estimate the tons of steaks, the mountains of kidneys, and the miles of sausages. "I wonder, William," he said, "that you are not ashamed to look a flock of sheep in the face."

"I have not eaten a steak for twenty-five years," he said, "but I have eaten a chop every day. Some people say you cannot live on one thing, but I still manage to keep alive. Sixty-six, that is my age."

Colds

Don't trifle with a cold; no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, catarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with

as a quick cure for colds and grip, and by its use the more serious diseases may be avoided.

SILVER AND GOLD MARKS.

Marking Made Compulsory In Great Britain In 1363.

Silver and gold articles made in Great Britain and Ireland from the year 1363 were required to be marked with a maker's symbol or initial letters, says The Queen. In addition it had been ordained in the year 1300 that a leopard's head, or, more accurately, a lion's head, should also be stamped on every piece. This head bore a crown until the year 1821.

In the year 1545, in addition to the maker's mark and lion's head, it was ordained that a lion passant should be placed on all silver. From March 1696, to June, 1720, Britannia and lion's head erased were substituted for the leopard's head and lion passant.

In addition to these marks, the assayer impressed a date letter from about 1438. The date letter began with A, and went onward with each successive letter of the alphabet for a cycle of twenty years. Each cycle was distinguished by a different form of letter and different shape of the enclosing shield. As far as has yet been discovered, the earliest dated piece is of the year 1479, though we find instances of silver with the date of nearly all subsequent years.

It must not, however, be forgotten that much beautiful gold and silver work is still in existence which was made in England and Ireland long before the regulations for marking it existed. It may seem remarkable that it is in Ireland that we find the finest work in metals, and that from the fifth to the tenth century Irish work is found in the highest perfection and equal to any made in Europe. Two most beautiful specimens, both of which can be seen in the Royal Irish Academy, are the Ardagh chalice and the Tara brooch.

In considering plate, there is that important section, ecclesiastical plate, and it is sad to think how few and comparatively unimportant are the specimens of church plate made prior to the Reformation that still exist. We read, for instance, that St. Olave's, Southwark, in the year 1552 possessed more than 1,000 ounces of silver — chalices, crosses, basins, pyxes, chrismatory, censers, cruets, etc. These have all disappeared, and in like manner the silver plate, almost without exception, which formed a precious possession in every parish throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland.

In the last year of King Edward VI. instructions were issued by which all church plate was seized and confiscated, excepting one or two chalices, according to the population. All the rest were seized for conversion to the King's use. No doubt some pieces were hidden away in their respective parishes; but at any rate when Mary came to the throne all these precious relics, however preserved, came into use again. On Elizabeth coming to the throne, all the former prohibitions came into force, and we find inquiries made to each parish whether they possessed "any prophane cups, bowls, dishes or chalices heretofore used at masse."

Bank's Odd Callers.

The Bank of England has just dispensed with the services of the two detectives who have stood sentry at its front door for over a quarter of a century. During that period many were their odd experiences, for there are many people at large who think they own the Bank of England or part of it, and they call periodically with the idea of making an inspection of the premises. Then there is the individual who would go up to the sentry-box, tap the detective on the arm, and ask in an undertone "Which is the way to the cashier's desk? I want to change a check for a million pounds." Another would ask to be directed to the strong room, "where my large diamond collection is kept, by permission of His Majesty." Then there were the "claimants" — those who imagined they were heirs to the throne, and that the bank would be theirs as soon as they had proved their claim. Even visitors in rags would call and demand to be allowed to count over their securities!

"TO THEM THAT HATH"

A SHORT SERMON TO FAT FOLKS

"To them that hath shall be given' is a sentence that applies to fat people very neatly. It is common knowledge that once a human being begins to fatten up, to what they have already is added more than they want until finally a stage is reached where reduction must be made or decided disadvantage results.

Then comes forward the ages-old query, "reduce—but how?" To the uninformed nothing suggests itself, but the (to them) twin evils—less eating—more activity. They contemplate a more or less lengthy stage of dieting and exercising. So it may be said safely that every man or woman in the land now undergoing the fattening-up process has his or her mental eye fixed dubiously on that not far distant day when he or she will have to don the "ashes and sackcloth of reduction."

This is not an enlivening prospect, and so it is with considerable satisfaction that we announce the emancipation of the fat. Nowadays one may reduce much or little, a pound a day if desired, or hold their fat in check, absolutely stationery without doing a tap o exercise, missing a single meal, doing a particle of harm, or causing a solitary wrinkle. All that's required, as hundred's testify, is the taking after meals and at bedtime of one Marmola Prescription Tablet, which tablets are sold by the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit. Mich., or any good druggist at the uniform price of 75 cents, this sum being accepted for a case of tablets, so well and generously filled that even one produces desirable results.

John McElroy's Heart Trouble Cured By Dodd's Kidney Pills

Could Not Work All Summer, and Doctor Failed to Help, but Cure Was Quick when He Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Benton, N.B., April 19.—(Special).—Bordering on the miraculous is the cure of John McElroy, a young man well-known here. He was suffering from heart-trouble and was so bad that all last summer he was not able to do a day's work. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. In telling the story of his cure Mr. McElroy says:

"I went to a doctor who said I had palpitation, but his medicine did not seem to reach the spot. I suffered for over a year and all last summer I was not able to do a day's work. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I felt heavy and sleepy after my meals, and I was always tired and nervous. I perspried freely nervous. I perspired freely with the least exertion.

"After I had finished taking the doctor's medicine and as I felt no better I read in an almanac what Dodd's Kidney Pills could do and made up my mind to try them. Before I had finished the first box I felt different and by the time the second was half gone I was working in the woods and doing good work."

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Medical Treatment Is Crude, and Adapted to Local Conditions.

Business is brisk at the trading store. A group of Kaffirs, with their horses grazing nearby, are seated together laughing and talking in that high pitched, but not unpleasant, tone that is the attribute of the South African native.

A line of women, with baskets of mealies and Kaffir corn for sale fill the stoep, jostling and pushing against each other to get in first and be attended to. Inside the store there is a mass of men and women, and the din they make is indescribable, and behind the counter are the trader and his assistant, both doing their utmost to attend to a dozen people at the same time.

The store has only just been opened, for it is still early, and all this business will have been got through within a couple of hours. The rest of the day will be as quiet as it is the opposite now, but the customers all wish to settle their affairs at once, so as to be able to loaf about for the rest of the day.

A white man rides up, scattering the group in front of the building, and there is a general volley of exclamations, for the people know that now it is no use their pushing forward, for until the white man has been attended to they cannot be served, and how long that may take is very uncertain.

The white man looks haggard and drawn, and his first question, "How's the doctor getting on?" hardly comes as a surprise. There is no medical man within a day's ride, but his deputy is here — the medicine chest—and what the questioner is inquiring about is as to the contents of this most useful receptacle. "All right," says the trader, in reply to the question. "Have a look at the book." The white man takes the little volume and opens it, whilst the natives stand round and stare at him. They, in all probability, know him very well, but still he is a white man, and therefore a fit object for curiosity.

It is a quaint little work, this volume, methodically arranged, with all the ills and pains that poor humanity is heir to plainly set out, and the remedy or remedies facing the ailment.

The compilers of this work are fully aware of the drawbacks to life up country; they realise that communication with the world below is sometimes cut off through the swollen rivers and other obstacles, so wherever possible they give an alternative remedy; thus, if the supply of one drug is exhausted, the patient can have a substitute to fall back upon.

The white man goes over the list until he comes across his own particular ailment. "Have you any No. 10 left" he asks. The trader luckily has, so a draught is taken, and the patient takes a seat on the counter whilst the other customers are attended to.

On one of the shelves is a bewildering array of patent medicines. The names of many of the medicines are household words, but you would not recognize them from their outside wrappers, for these are of the most gaudy description imaginable—it being considered necessary by many manufacturers to use very vivid coverings for the native trade. The white man glances up at them.

He cannot purchase anything from the medicine chest, as the supply is not large enough for that, but he can, of course, buy any of the contents of the shelves. Many of these remedies are reliable ones, but the contents of the medicine chest all figure in the British Pharmacopoeia, and this makes all the difference—or seems to. The Kaffir is imitative to an extreme, and it is as certain that the sun is shining outside that some will now come forward and ask for medical attention.

"I feel ill," says one, "give me some medicine out of the box," but the request goes unheeded, though if a native is really ill he is as welcome to the services of the medicine chest as anyone else. The white man gets down from the counter and expresses his intention of going home. "Come over to-morrow for another dose if you're not better," says the trader, then they shake hands, and the patient goes outside and mounts his horse, and the Kaffirs follow him with their eyes until he is out of sight.

A WORD OF ADVICE

"At the present time Winnipeg is importing $40,000 worth of cream per week. The prairie farmer finds it easier to produce wheat, a crop of which the entire work can be done in a few months of summer. There is no need of argument, however, to show how desirable it is that all the daily products required in Western Canada should be produced in it, and that the farmers of the West ought to devote themselves more largely to dairying operations. In Ontario when the farmers were all growing wheat and shipping it out of the country they were almost all poor. Since they have gone into dairying, especially into the production of cheese, they have become very prosperous."—Sir William Whyte.

Want Shakespeare Exhumed.

For the last five years M. H. Spielmann has been preparing a book about Shakespeare's portraits, calculated, when completed, to settle the much vexed question of the poet's authentic likeness.

It has yet to be decided whether the famous Droeshout engraving in the first folio or the Chandos portrait in the British National Gallery, is to be accepted as the true and speaking likeness of the Bard of Avon. M. H. Spielmann sees no reason why Shakespeare's body should not be exhumed, his skull examined, a course which would prove beyond all doubt which of the well-known portraits gives the truest impression, as in one portrait the skull is perpendicular in shape, while in the other it recedes.

But Stratford-on-Avon is not at all likely to consent to the exhumation, and Mr. Spielmann will have to pursue his researches without the aid of the bard's bones. The last movement to disinter his mortal remains was thirty years ago, when the campaign never got beyond the discussion stage

Navy Not Popular.

Alarmed at the number of foreigners serving on ships sailing from the port of London, and the decrease in British seafarers, the London County Council, the education authority for the metropolis, is seeking to find a remedy.

Forty years ago one man in 28 born in England was in the mercantile marine. To-day the proportion is not more than half that, while the number of Lascars and other Asiatics has more than doubled.

A report has now been presented to the London County Council recommending a training ship for the production of officers, in which a two-years' course will be given to boys from 15 years of age.

Chronic Throat Trouble Permanently Cured

Seven Days' Use of Catarrhozone Performed Regular Miracle.

Miss Counter's Case Proves the Wonderful Efficacy of Catarrhozone in all Throat and Nose Diseases.

Windsor, Ont., April 19. — Miss Counter's case will prove of great interest to everyone troubled with sore throat, bronchitis or weak lungs.

When asked for a statement Miss Counter said "About seven years ago I contracted a heavy cold that settled on my lungs and resisted all treatment. After I had tried several doctors here and specialists in Detroit without benefit, I went to my druggist and asked him for the best remedy he had for cold on the lungs. He recommended Catarrhozone, which cured my cold in one week. It brought back my voice and I have been ever since free from my old trouble. For coughs, colds and lung trouble I am sure that Catarrhozone is the best remedy. It goes right to the sore spot, gives quick relief, and makes a lasting cure."

Catarrhozone cures because its healing vapor is inhaled to the very places that are sore and inflamed.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only. 50c and $1.00 at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LIFE IN TURKISH CAMP

COMPRESSED DISCOMFORT DESCRIBES IT ACCURATELY.

The Turks Are Not Very Clean, But They Have Plenty of Food and Are Bubbling Over With High Spirits — The Depot at Azizieh Grows Continually to Accommodate Arab Reinforcements.

Turkey and Italy are still at war, although Canada hears very little about it. In this contest for Tripolitan supremacy the big engagements have been few and far between. Yet there has been considerable loss of life occasioned by the numerous petty, but still deadly forays, between small desperate bands of Arabs and the Italian outposts.

Amongst the snows of a Canadian winter it is hard to conjure up vision of a camp, situated in the heart of a tropical oasis, all typical of heat and of the Orient.

The only way to really understand the Turkish-Italian contest is to know the national life as lived in Tripoli. The following is written by an expert on the subject, and gives the reader the necessary information to understand how hopeless is the task that the Italians have taken to themselves.

Jebel Zoweiah, a veritable Acropolis rising from the surrounding plains, had long been visible before our eyes beheld the goal of our long and difficult journey, the Turkish camp at Azizieh, which lie at the foot of the hill. We found ourselves in the midst of a wonderfully busy scene. In a large open space, surrounded by irregular buildings, squatted hundreds of Arabs chattering like magpies and carrying on a brisk trade with officers and men.

There appeared to be no lack of food for the Sultan's fighting men in Tripoli. On every side were sacks and baskets full of onions, potatoes, chillies, dates, lemons, eggs, rice, mutton or goats' flesh, sugar, and native bread; there was even a fair number of rather lean fowls, but no trace of coffee. Apart from tobacco, which was scarce and costly, one could see no sign of famine prices. Potatoes were selling at three pounds for 4 cents, eggs 16 cents a dozen, meat about 8 cents a pound. As far as food is concerned, the war might last for years in the interior of Tripoli.

The market is bounded on the south by one of the big "konaks" or military quarters typical of Tripoli—a central courtyard filled with Arabs and camels and very filthy. On the upper storey runs a large broad terrace loopholed for rifle fire and commanding fine views of the desert and the Gharian Mountains. The Turkish officers experience at Azizieh the very minimum of personal comfort.

Still, one never hears a word of complaint, and everybody seemed in a good temper and excellent spirits; yet what a signal contrast exists between the conditions of active service in the British Army and those which prevail at Azizieh! Here in a small room in the tumble-down konak sleep the Commander-in-Chief, Fethi Bey, and Djevad Bey. The writing of numerous despatches, the issue of daily orders, the holding of courts-martial, the reception of Arab deputations have all to take place in this one apartment, which also serves as the mess for all the meals of the staff. If ever I saw compressed discomfort I saw it in that untidy room.

The borders of the camp have been continually enlarged since the beginning of December by the arrival of Arab contingents from east, south and west. A war drum would be heard in the distance, and gradually a column would appear over the gentle undulations of the desert. The Arabs advanced in ragged "fours," the result of the elementary drill provided by a couple of Turkish regulars who marched with them. At the head of the columns rode the sheikhs, splendidly mounted, and crescent flags, embroidered with Koran texts, waved in the air.

Amid loud shouts of welcome the new arrivals would march round the camp, and then, taking up their bivouac ground, settled down in colored masses "like garden beds," in the words of the Gospel narrative. At other times they ranged themselves in big semi-circles, with the mounted chiefs in the centre and the standard-bearers moving to and fro along the lines.

The spectacle was really magnificent in its display of elemental vigor and passion. Suddenly in resonant tones some Arab would chant the refrain, "We are warriors, we fear not death for our fatherland"; and then the massed ranks raised their rifles and swords and shouted with one accord, "We are true sons of our father"—i.e., in colloquial English, "chips of the old block." The enthusiasm was tremendous and the occasion worthy of a great artist's brush.

For some time after the turning of the Turkish left on Dec. 4 and the consequent removal of their headquarters to Azizieh, the Italians appear to have been living in a fool's paradise of security. They received a rude shock on Dec. 19, when a brigade under Col. Fava set out for a small oasis to clear out some alleged marauders.

It is difficult to estimate the actual losses of the Italians in this disastrous engagement. In no modern campaign has there ever been exhibited so barefaced a disregard for statistical accuracy as is found in Tripoli to-day.

However, in the present instance, the straggling fight and final rout took place within a short distance of where I was, and Turkish officers who had means of discovering the enemy's losses with some degree of accuracy estimated that several hundred of the Italian infantry and gunners had been killed and wounded. At any rate, 200 rifles were actually collected and brought in. Ammunition, boots, helmets, and hats stripped from the dead or found on the field of battle were exposed for sale in the market.

The Turkish casualties were eleven killed and 40 wounded.

The Sudbury Star has an advertisement regarding a local hotel, in which the main feature is that the dining room "is in charge of a Chinaman." Well! Well! When a Canadian hotel has to use a chink as a drawing card, things are coming to a pretty pass?

The people of the Pacific coast cities think that the action of the the Vancouver police in suppressing illicit trading by Chinese is wholly commendable. The presence of the Chinaman on this continent is a subject upon which opinion is divided — they are here on sufferance, and should be made to respect the laws of this country. CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

THE WET BLANKET LEGION.

When as for fishing I am fain
 And avid of the rod and reel
I take me to a lake in Maine
 And hearken to the woods' appeal.
Daily I fling my futile line,
 Employing all mine art and reason,
"You should," they say when I repine,
 "Have tried earlier in the season."

When as I take an ocean trip
 The waves are ninety cubits high,
The vessel does the mortal dip,
 And I, affrighted, yearn to die.
"Some storm, eh, what?" I gasp, as who Should say, "That statement is [illegible]."
Says one, "Why, this storm is nothing to
 A storm I saw on the Pacific."

I make a journey in July
 Through fairy forests lined in green,
Above me is the summer sky—
 A wondrous day, a perfect scene.
I praise the picture. "Oh, tut, tut!"
 Replies my friend, the village printer,
"The woods is nice in summer, but Ye oughter see 'em in the winter."

And thus it is where'er I go.
 I fail to find the perfect state,
Whether my step be swift or slow,
 I go too soon or come too late.

These random rimes, I own, may be
 A piece of pleasant versifying.
But, bless my soul, you ought to see
 What I can do when I am trying!

SLAVING IN NIGERIA.

Wiles of Traders Nullified by British Agents.

Late one afternoon a large canoe from up-river came slowly alongside and made fast. In it were a man, a woman, a lad, and a small child.

The man and the lad were working the canoe, and as they came up, the man shouted some order to the lad at the stern. He repeated it more than once, and the lad at each repetition, started some new act. It struck me as curious that the lad failed to understand what was said to him.

I recognized the language in which the man spoke as being Nupe. He told me that he was a Nupe, and that the woman was his wife, mother of the lad and of the wee girl.

As neither he nor his wife could make any sort of conversation with either of the children, though these talked freely one to the other, it was reasonably clear that the claim to be their parents was to be accepted in the Pickwickian sense only.

My own interpreter, a worthy fellow with command of seven languages, could do nothing with them. Amateur interpreters, speaking all manner of curious dialects, tried, without success, to interest the "pikhins."

Ultimately, a woman was found in the native town who was able to talk their language, and then all was plain sailing. They came from a pagan district a couple of hundred miles or more above Rama, on the river, and, owing to famine had been sold for three bags of corn to the canoeman and his wife three weeks before we met.

Later on, they were returned to their people. Ere that, they appeared in court to testify against their purchasers. These were convicted, and are at this present time engaged in building operations on his Majesty's behalf at no great distance from Rama.—World's Work.

Let's Talk About the Women.

If some girls practiced more on the gas range and less on the piano this would be a happier world.

If a man wants to put his wife in right with Cupid in case of emergencies let him take out a roll of life insurance.

"Her color came and went," declared the popular novelist. But he failed to state that it went away on the hero's shoulder.

Beauty may be skin deep. No one objects to that. It's the fact that most of it is bought at the drug store that makes the thing a skin game.

Flattery may turn a woman's head, but usually it's peroxide.

Don't beg a pretty girl for a kiss. Thieves get away with it where beggars fail.

Origin of Bridescake.

The ornate and profusely decorated bridescake of to-day is another instance of the elaboration of the simple customs of our ancestors. It had its origin in "Confarreation," a Roman mode of marriage, made in the presence of the high priest and ten witnesses, at which bread made of spelt (commonly known as German wheat) was eaten together. One old writer, Dr. Moffat, says: "The English when the bride comes from church, are wont to cast wheat upon her head." Herrick says, speaking to the bride,

"While some repeat
Your praise, and bless you, sprinkling you with wheat."

Nowadays it has developed into an heterogeneous aggregation of indigestible comestibles, which love-sick maidens put under their pillows o' nights, and none but the bravest submit to gastric assimilation.

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior tender chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by woolen blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

The building will be lined throughout with a thick layer of lead, which is impenetrable to radium rays.

How the Hotel Guest Killed One of the "Help."

A St. Louisan who has recently returned from the isthmus of Panama tells this story of the canal zone:

One day his wife discovered a huge tarantula in the bathroom. The creature was almost as big as the palm of one's hand and presented a truly terrible aspect.

The lady fled in terror, and her husband went in and crushed the big spider with the heel of a boot.

On going down to dinner they encountered the proprietor.

"We have just killed a tremendous tarantula up in our room," said the American.

The proprietor started excitedly and clutched at his hair.

"Great Scott," he cried, "you shouldn't have killed it!"

"Why not?" asked the American.

"We keep them all over the hotel," he explained. "They catch the flies and the other insects. Why, that one you killed was on the payroll!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS.

Quaint Usages and Superstitions Connected With Stockings.

Stockings figure in some curious superstitions touching old customs, especially those connected with marriage. Every one knows that there are actions both lucky and unlucky. Among the former, it is commonly held that to put on any article of clothing wrongside out is decidedly a sign of good luck; but it must be done accidentally, and when the mistake is found out no change must be made, else the luck will immediately vanish. This idea is very firmly held about stockings, probably because it is more easy to make such a mistake in putting than in donning other garments.

Another superstition touching the use of hose is connected with dreaming. This is a Scotch notion. If a person be about to sleep in a bed that he or she has never slept in before, the certainty of dreaming can be assured by placing the stocking taken off the right foot under the head. Not only will the sleeper be sure to dream, but the dream will certainly come to pass.

Of the superstitions attached to marriage ceremonies, most people have heard of "throwing the stocking." This rite would hardly be regarded now as consistent with modern notions of decorum, but it was highly popular in days gone by. The ceremony was performed at the conclusion of the wedding-day's festivities, by young men and girls seated at the bed-foot—the former have the bride's and the latter the groom's stockings—whose object in throwing the hose backwards over their heads was to hit, if possible, the head, and especially the nose, of one or other of the newly-married couple. A successful shot meant marriage at an early date for the thrower.

A pleasant association connected with stockings is familiar to all households at Christmas time. Children still hang up their stockings at Christmas Eve in the simple faith that Santa Claus will fill them during that night of wonder; or, if the little people are too sophisticated to believe in the stories of St. Nick's peregrinations, they still retain a firm faith in the goodness of his domestic representatives, and duly hang up their stockings as their predecessors have done for generations. And not children alone hung up their hose of old, Grown-ups, as well as the small folk, used to observe this custom most conscientiously. But in the old days the hanging up of the stocking took place not on Christmas Eve, but more appropriately on the eve of St. Nicholas' Day, which falls on the fifth of December.

Another old custom, which the superstitious sometimes remember when they get married, is to wear one old stocking and one new one following the thought, perhaps, that every bride should wear "something old; something new." To this day many brides adhere to this old habit, or superstition, but they do not confine the apparel to stockings.

Peers' Confusing Titles.

Reference is made in the new issue of "Debrett's Peerage" to the multiplication of the titles of peers with the same or a similar sounding designation.

This year the title of Mr. Gair Ashton gives us Lord Ashton, Lord Ashtown, and Lord Ashton of Hyde, while Lord Brassey's heir is now Lord Hythe, and we also have Lord Hardinge and his brother—the Viceroy of India, Lord Hardinge of Penshurst.

Then there are Lord Strafford and Lord Stafford, while there is another which "Debrett" does not mention—Lord Stafford, the son of the Duke of Sutherland. Lord Arundel (the Duke of Norfolk's heir) has to be distinguished from Lord Arundell of Wardour, and Lord Clifford of Chudleigh from Lord de Clifford.

Confusion, too, sometimes arises between Lord Curzon of Kedleston and Lord Curzon (Lord Howe's heir); indeed a "correction" appeared in a paper a little while ago that there was no Lady Curzon, as Lord Curzon of Kedleston was a widower!

Indifferent handwriting sometimes leads to Lord Home appearing as Lord Howe, and to the mixing up of Lord Manners and Lord Manvers, while great care has to be taken to distinguish between Lord Hampton and Lord Hampden, Lord Lindsay and Lord Lindsey, Lord Longford and Lord Langford, and Lord Middleton and Lord Midleton.

Too Much For Censor.

The battle against the dramatic censorship continues in England with vigor. Denunciations of the tyranny exercised over the production of new plays by the Lord Chamberlain's department are of daily occurrence. But it is open to doubt if the publication in book form of Zangwill's censored play, "The Next Religion," helped the cause of freedom, as the passages the author was asked to delete are, in the opinion of a good many people, sufficiently offensive to warrant the Lord Chamberlain's action.

The play is a scathing indictment of orthodox Christianity. The passages to which official objection was taken are not very startling, however, to the impartial observer. In one place the Creator is spoken of as "The God who will send tuberculosis even through the Communion chalice," and in another place Westminster Abbey is called "that shrine of superstition."

On the Jump.

One of Lord Charles Beresford's tenants who conducted a small undertaker's establishment in Waterford was one day asked how the business was getting along.

"Grand, me lord!" he exclaimed. "I now have the luckiest little hearse you ever saw. Glory be to goodness, it was never a day idle since I got it." —Tit-Bits.

Sarcastic.

Buggins—See here, porter, this mirror is so dusty I can't see myself in it. Porter (who has been tipped by Buggins)—Strikes me you ought to be mighty thankful, 'stid o' makin' a fuss about it.—Tit-Bits.

Judging by Dun's Bulletin, one of the most accurate authorities in Canada on mercantile manufacturing conditions, things ahead look bright. That sheet says, "The outlook generally is considered very encouraging. Immigrants are coming into the west in great numbers and the land is being prepared for seed. The number of immigrants coming into Ontario is also large, and labor well employed. Manufacturers are busy and the tone of the markets firm. Supplies of goods generally are comparatively small. The millinery trade is fairly active, and ready-made wear in active request. Building material of all kinds in good demand with a large amount of construction work under contract."

Rev. P. Morgan at Park St. Church.

The anniversary services in Park street church on Sunday and Monday May 12th and 13th, promise to be of exceptional interest. An invitation has been sent to Rev. Patrick Morgan, which he has accepted. This eloquent divine will take part in the services of Sunday and the following Monday night. Rev. Mr. Morgan will occupy the pulpit at both services on Sunday and will address a mass meeting in the afternoon in the church. He will also give an address at the congregational rally on Monday night.

A Maple Sap Accident.

As Miss Nancy Post, of Oak Lake, near Havelock, was boiling maple sap, a few days ago, her clothing caught fire. She was at once removed to Havelock. Her limbs, back and shoulders were badly burned.

Local Motor-Cyclists to Compete.

Some of the local motor cyclists have expressed their intention of entering the competition held next summer, under the auspices of the C.W.A. It is the intention of Mr. McPherson, who is in charge of all arrangements for the meet here in August, to have a number of lady motor cyclists compete, and their race will not be the least interesting of the events of that day. It is further anticipated that if the track can be put into condition automobile races will be a feature of the meet.

Former Local Banker Promoted.

Mr. W. Harper, who, until recently was accountant in the local branch of the Royal Bank, and who was moved to Edmonton, has been promoted to Managership of the Scott, Sask., branch of the bank. His many friends here will be pleased to hear of his promotion.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Girl Wanted.

Experienced girl for general housework, small family. Good wages to competent maid. Apply at Times Office for address.

Apprentice Wanted.

Apprentice wanted to learn the bookbinding business. A splendid opportunity to learn a good trade. For particulars apply at the Times Bookstore.

Apsley Acts.

Mr. W. Gallon, the well known township clerk at Apsley, has lately been very busy with sales.

Mr. Gallon has recently had a letter from Mr. T. G. Eastland, who has left Collingwood for Calgary.

Narrowly Missed the Titanic.

Mr. H. J. Baker, who was in the city yesterday, en route, from England to Calgary, had intended to sail per steamship Titanic. However he took a C.P.R. steamship to St. John's N.B., thus avoiding the awful disaster.

Local Man Knew Captain Smith.

Mr. John Sairns, of Simcoe street, has repeatedly met and conversed with Captain Smith, of the ill-fated ocean Leviathan the "Titanic," having been an engineer on the "Baltic" when Captain Smith was in charge of that vessel.

Requiem Service in St. John's.

A requiem service in connection with the Titanic disaster will be held in St. John's church at 7 p.m. Officers of St. John's, Sons of England and St. George's Society met last night to make arrangements. The 57th Band will take part in the service.

Local Musicians for Toronto.

Among our local people who will attend the concert in Massey Hall, given next Thursday, by the London Symphony Orchestra, are Miss Choate, Miss Dean, Mr. M. Wilson, Miss Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon, all of the Conservatory of Music staff. Others will also attend being drawn by the famous orchestra, on that rare opportunity to hear it.

Good Comes From School Fire Drill.

A gentleman yesterday remarked to The Times, "I see that it was discipline aboard the Titanic that saved those hundreds rescued from death. Now the very fire drills in our schools is good training towards just such discipline." The man making this remark while speaking on the spur of the moment struck a key note of truth.

When the Grass is Green.

An esteemed contemporary, referring to the spring weather in their particular town, says, "the grass is springing up verdantly." Now would that not jar you? How would grass spring up? Azurely, or oscurely? when grass grows it is usually verdant or green, grass green! not azure or sapphire.

Yesterday was Primrose Day. In London, Eng., on April 19th, thousands of people decorate the statue of Benj. Desraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, the said monument being in Trafalgar square.

All the Anglican churches in Toronto, like St. John's of this city, will hold memorial services, in addition to the great mass meeting in Massey Hall to-morrow.

Mr. Wilt. Metheral to Quit.

It is understood that Mr. Wilt. Metheral, who for the past year or two, has acted as caretaker of the Armouries, has had it intimated to him, that after May the 1st another caretaker will perform the duties. It is said that Mr. Geo. Grange, deputy chief of the fire brigade, will get the position. It is further intimated that Mr. Metheral's severance from his former duties at the Armouries, was not due to any action of the Government, but that the regiment asked for his resignation.

St. George's Society Will Attend.

All members are invited to attend Divine Service at St. John's church, on Sunday evening next, in conjunction with the members of the Sons of England Benefit Society, as a mark of respect to the victims of "The Titanic" disaster. A special service will be conducted by Rev. Canon Davidson. It is earnestly hoped that all members of the society and other men in sympathy with the movement will endeavor to be present. Procession will be formed at Sons of England Hall at 6.30 p.m.

Crossen Car Co. to Leave Cobourg.

A Hamilton dispatch says that the big Crossen Car Co., Cobourg's biggest factory is to move to the ambitious city. Although it is not definitely known whether it will remove its entire plant to that city, it is understood that it will erect large buildings and employ a lot of men. The company's object in locating there, is said to be to get more of the electric car business of that city and western Ontario, as well as some of the C.N.R. work. The only matter at present unsettled is the deal for a site.

Gun Clubs First Shoot.

The Peterborough Gun Club have had their first practice shoot of the season, with the following result:

C. Wood	19
H. C. Hill	17
C. Gutterson	17
H. Cook	16
H. Routley	16
J. Harris	15
C. James	13
C. Hall	11
C. Mills	10
J. Brightman	9

The next shoot which will be the regular shoot of the season, will be held on Thursday, May 2nd, at 6 p.m.

Probationers Examinations Over.

The dozen probationers for the Methodist ministry, who were trying their examinations in George street Methodist church on Tuesday, and Wednesday, finished their examinations on Wednesday night, and returned to their respective homes. The examiners were Revs. Marin, S. C. Moore, H. S. Spence, R. Burns, M. E. Sexsmith, J. G. Lewis, S. T. Tucker, R. Bamforth and W. S. Boyce.

Prizes for Field Crops.

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition opens this year on September 12th. A letter has been received from J. Lockiee Wilson, superintendent of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in reference to the field crop competition this year.

Last year there were 104 societies competing in field crop competitions. The total prizes to be offered this year by the society is $75 instead of $50 as in past years. Of this amount $50 is contributed by the Dominion Government and the remaining $25 by the Agricultural societies. The division of prize money is as follows:

First, $20; 2nd, $15; 3rd, $12; 4th, $10; 5th, $8; 6th, $6; 7th, $4.

Medal for Oratory.

Last night a most interesting concert was held in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall. The final speeches for the medal donated by Mr. Kenner were heard with great attention. There were three speakers—E. Langford on "Home Rule," M. Huyoke, on "Conservation of Natural Resources," and H. Hill, on the "Peace Movement." The winner of the handsome medal for the junior oratorical contest, donated by Mr. S. J. Stubbs, was presented with the reward. Mr. W. I. Chisholm of the Normal school acted as judge. The result of the oratory competition was: Senior, Mr. Harold Hill, son of Mr. W. H. Hill; Junior, Mr. Jas. Milloy.

Grand Music at Conservatory.

Last night a grand musical treat was enjoyed by the audience at the Conservatory of Music. Whilst the concert was informal, in that there was no chairman, the class of music both vocal and instrumental, was away above the average heard in this city. Mr. Redford Hollinshead, the great Canadian tenor, in the Aria "On Away, Awake Beloved," from Hiawathas wedding feast (Coleridge) Taylor, "Macushla" (McMurrough, "For You Alone," (Geehl) and other selections displayed the marvellous pitch and sweetness that has always characterized his voice. Leo Smith, of Toronto Symphony Orchestra, cello, in Beckers Minuet, the Spanish Dance (Popper), Schuman's "Adagio," "By the Fountain" and other pieces showed his complete and sympathetic control of the violin-cello. The Conservatory Orchestra also contributed a number of selections, that delighted the audience and displayed their perfect training.

Mud Lake Narrows Bridge.

Lindsay Post: Plans have just been filed with Mr. McNeillie, County Clerk, for the reconstruction of Mud Lake Narrows Bridge, in the township of Carden. The plans have been prepared by Mr. G. Smith, O.L.S., of Lindsay, County Engineer, and approved by the Provincial Engineer of Highways, disclose new ideas in the construction of highway bridges.

Instead of building high concrete piers in the bridge site basin, and spanning these with steel trusses, as has been formerly done, the scheme is to fill the basin 14 feet deep, with riprap, up to the elevation of the adjoining bottom of the lake. A dry wall of flat stone 18 feet wide on top is then built upon this riprap fill, through which are three openings, spanned by "Penforced Concrete Slab Top Beam Span Bridges."

There is no metal exposed to view in this bridge, with the exception of the railings which consist of lines of tubing secured to metal railing posts set in concrete, which lend a handsomely finished appearance to the structure. The main feature in the design of this bridge, is maximum durability at a minimum of expense, the cost being only one-third of that originally estimated.

Peterborough Stallion Show.

The farming community of West Peterborough seem alive to their own interests. The Peterborough Spring Stallion Show will be held at the Fair Grounds on May 4th, the judging to commence at 1.30 in the afternoon, sharp. Entries will be received by the secretary up to noon on the day of the show. The secretary will be at R. Denne's store, George street, up to that hour. All intending exhibitors must have membership tickets for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition for 1912, and no entry fee will be charged exhibitors.

A first-class prize list with substantial money prizes has been offered. There will be eight classes in the stallion exhibit, first, second and third prizes.

The stallion classes with prizes are

1. Clydes Shires or other heavy draught breeds, imported, $5, $3 and $2.
2. Clydes, etc.; imported, three years or under—Diploma.
3. Clydes, Shires or other heavy breeds, Canadian bred—$5, $3 and $2.
4. Clydes, etc., Canadian, 3 year old, and under—Diploma.
5. Percharons—$5, $3, and $3.

MURDOCK SHOT HIMSELF AS SHIP PLUNGED DOWN

Second Officer Did Everything in His Power to Save Passengers Committed to His Charge

Captain Smith Called So Hurriedly From Dining Table He Left Behind a Memorandum Book From Which He Was Quoting to Mr. Ismay.

One Feature of the Enquiry Will Bear Upon the Subject of Firearms Among Passengers Aboard Ships.

New York, April 20.—The Senate investigating committee before it concludes its labors will have accumulated a volume of interesting data bearing on the wreck of the steamship Titanic.

One noted incident was the reported suicide of First Officer Murdock just before the sinking of the vessel. Murdock immediately after the Titanic struck the iceberg sent calls for Captain Smith, who joined his second officer on the bridge. Thomas Wiggley, of London, a waiter on the Titanic, who was serving the dinner to Captain Smith and J. Bruce Ismay and friends at the time the ship struck the iceberg, tells a graphic story of the incident following the accident. Wiggley is at St. Vincent Hospital suffering from a fractured leg.

Captain Hurried Away.

"When Captain Smith was called away from the dinner table to the bridge," said Wiggley, "he left so hurriedly that he overlooked a memorandum book from which he had been quoting to Mr. Ismay. I was told to take the book to Captain Smith and did. This was some time after the accident, and little alarm was then manifested. I gave the book to Captain Smith, who was in earnest conversation with Second Officer Murdock on the bridge, where he remained until near the end.

"I plainly saw the mountainous iceberg we had struck and assisted in lowering the boats. I was in the last that left the ship. I jumped overboard and swam to the lifeboat, and after a fierce fight was pulled aboard. My leg was fractured by the jump. As we pulled away officer Murdock left the bridge and came to the rail. He tried to get some verbal message to us, but I did not catch it.

"Murdock was an Englishman and a giant in stature. As he stood beside the rail, he was certainly a heroic spectacle. After doing everything he could to save people committed to his charge he waited until the final plunge and then calmly blew out his brains to obviate great suffering in the icy water. We saw the flash."

Others say that they think Murdock went to the bottom clinging to the rail of the bridge.

Firearms on High Seas.

One of the features of the enquiry will bear upon the subject of firearms among the passengers aboard the ship. This question will doubtless form a part of the international pact that will prevent the carrying of deadly weapons by persons on the high seas.

The many reports of suicide by passengers who saw death staring them in the face, have reached the senatorial investigating committee. There is now no question that several men in the steerage and a few of the crew were shot down in the first few minutes of the panic. Survivors declare that there was fierce fighting in the scramble to save their lives among not only the steerage passengers, but among those of all classes aboard the Titanic. There are many conflicting reports as to the use of revolvers on the sinking vessel. Some state they were used as a means to force obedience in keeping order, others were use to subdue unruly members of both crew and passengers and again for self-murder.

MORE BOATS ON THE GERMAN LINE

Hamburg, April 20.—The Hamburg-American line has been quick to draw a lesson from the Titanic catastrophe It has decided to increase the number of lifeboats on its steamers, although they already carry more than are required by the German law and it will also improve all life-saving appliances so that under any circumstances every person on board can be accommodated.

LIQUOR LICENSES GRANTED FOR THE ENSUEING YEAR

The License Commissioners of West Peterborough, held a meeting on Saturday night. There were present, Inspector Stewart and Messrs. Jas. Kendry, R. Sheehy and M. A. Morrison, chairman. The minutes of the last meeting were confirmed. The principal business transacted was to consider the issuing of licenses for 1912-13. The following licenses were granted: Geo. N. Graham, Oriental Hotel; D. B. Denison, National Hotel; Robt. P. Gollop, Snowden House; Chas. R. Nixon, Grand Hotel; Frank Montgomery, Montgomery House; Gus White, White House; F. Blastorah, Palace Hotel; R. J. Munro, Munro House; J. B. Laroque, King George Hotel; A. T. Johnston, Windsor Hotel; Sam. Long, Peterborough House; Patrick Hogan, Albion Hotel; The following liquor shops received licenses. Mrs. Ellen Brennan, Simcoe street; John C. Sullivan, Hunter street, East City; J. J. R. Mitchell, George street; Peterborough Club. The twelve hotels and three shops were all recommended to the Commissioners by Inspector Stewart.

SAW BERG A MILE AWAY BUT THE CRASH CAME TOO QUICK

New York, April 20.—Encouraged by the great mass of facts already unclaimed, the subcommittee of the senate committee of commerce which is investigating the Titanic catastrophe, resumed their enquiry to-day at the Waldorf Astoria to-day.

The plain blunt recitals of the bronze men of the sea had a capacity audience when Senator Smith of Michigan, chairman of the committee, opened the session. On the list of witnesses was Howard T. Cotton, wireless operator on the Carpathia; Third Officer H. J. Pitman, Fourth Officer J. R. Boxhall, Fifth Officer G. Lowe, and eleven members of the crew. Ismay took a seat in a corner behind the chairs set for the committee. The witness chair was within two feet of him as he sat facing a room full of the ship's survivors, among whom were women and friends of those who sent down on the Titanic. Wireless operator Cotton told how by the merest accident he caught Titanic's distress call. He said that he was just about to retire at the time, when he thought he would put the receiver to his head for a last listen. "I had waited about five minutes," he testified, "and was just about to give up when the Titanic's "C.Q.D." came."

Come at Once Old Man.

Cotton said that the message read: "Come at once, old man." He notified Captain Rostran and the Carpathia went to the Titanic.

Senator Smith asked Cotton if he had received any orders suggesting that the sinking of the Titanic be kept quiet.

"No sir," he said, "I told the whole story to the Baltic." Cotton denied that he had sent any message that all the passengers on the Titanic had been saved or that the ship was being towed to Halifax.

Cotton said he was on duty from Sunday night constantly, but on Wednesday night he fell asleep at his instrument and slept until dawn. He testified that no messages had been handed to him by the survivors previous to that announcing they had been rescued. In fact all of the business transacted by him was company's telegrams.

Harold S. Bride was the next witness called. His chair was wheeled to the [illegible] place of the witness chair. He propped himself up in the [illegible]ted plush chair with his feet resting on cushions placed upon two gilt chairs. He surprised his hearers by the statement that he was twenty-two years old. He had been to America three times—twice on the Lusitania, and three times to Brazil. Bride admitted that the Titanic received warnings of ice ahead. He denied, however, that Captain Smith had received any messages from Southampton regarding the speed of the ship.

Warnings of Ice Ahead.

Senator Smith dwelt a great deal on the warnings of ice ahead, also icebergs, but Bride testified that Phillips, the other wireless operator was on duty at the time, that he knew nothing about any such messages.

Bride said that he didn't hear the collision, as he was asleep at the time. An hour later he went to the wireless room and then Phillips told him that the Titanic had hit something. Just about then Captain Smith came into the room and told Phillips he had better call for help. Phillips, he said, sent the "C.Q.D." message six times. The steamer Frankfort answered it and told them to stand by. They lost the Frankfort's signals for twenty minutes, in the meantime they picked up the Olympic's. The Frankfort again picked up the Titanic.

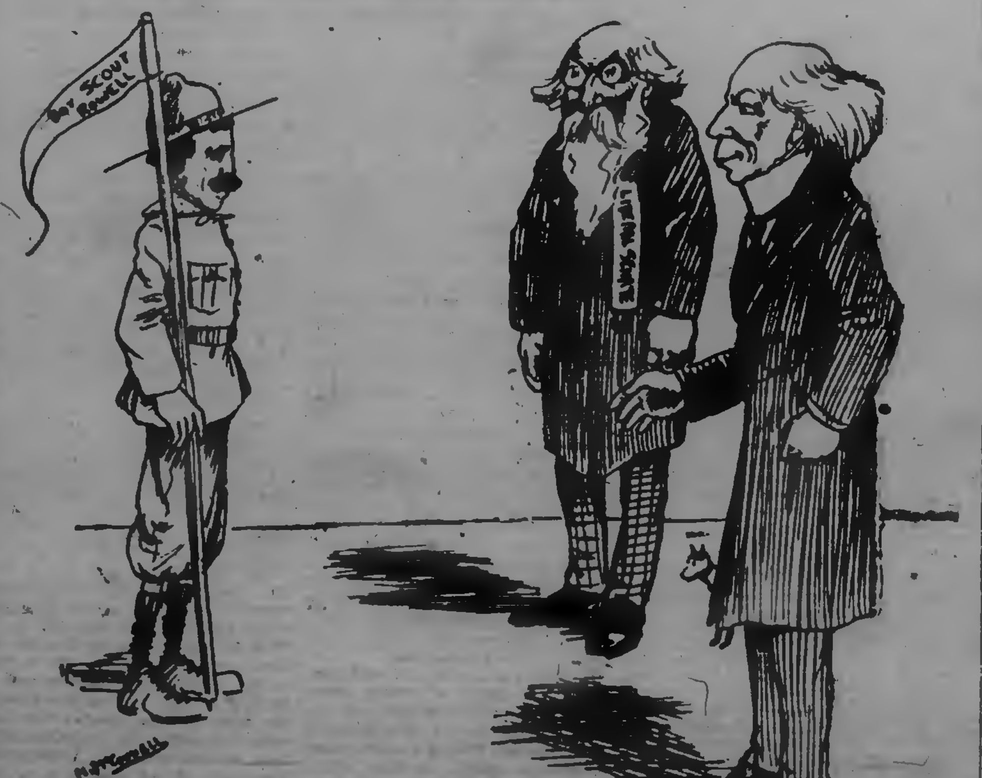
AN ANGRY JOURNAL.

Le Temps, of Ottawa, After Sir James Whitney.

Ottawa, April 20.—Le Tremps, the French-Canadian organ here, commenting on the new policy regarding the use of French in Ontario public schools, says:

"After the fanatical utterances of Sir James Whitney's colleagues, after the Premier's own statements, before the last elections, nothing else could be expected than such measures as this, inspired by that Orange fanaticism which appears to have such a strong grip on the Ontario Government.".

REINFORCEMENTS.



At your service, gentlemen.

ENGINEERS STAYED BY PUMPS WHILST THE SHIP WENT DOWN

New York, April 20.—There was some criticism among the survivors here to-day of the Titanic's crew in handling the lifeboats. "The crew of the Titanic was a new one of course" declares Mrs. Geo. N. Stone, of Cincinnati, "and had never been through a lifeboat drill, or any training in the rudiments of launching, manning and equipping the boats. Scores of lives were thus ruthlessly wasted, a sacrifice to inefficiency. Had there been any sea running, instead of the glassy calm that prevailed, not a single passenger would have safely reached the surface of the water. The men did not know how to lower the boats; the boats were not provisioned; many of the sailors could not handle the oars with reasonable skill.

Engineers Remained.

—It had been necessary to take the coal out of sections 2 and 3 on the starboard side, forward, and when the water came rushing in after the collision with the ice, the bulkheads would not hold because they did not have the supporting weight of the coal. Somebody reported to Chief Engineer Bell that the forward bulkhead had gone. Still engineers, firemen and stokers stuck bravely to their posts at engines and pumps till the ship went down.

ISMAY EXPLAINS WHY HE LEFT THE SHIP TITANIC

New York, April 20.—J. Bruce Ismay discussed with interviewers to-day the work of the senate investigation committee, which he characterized as "brutally unfair." He said:

"I cannot understand this senatorial enquiry. They are going at it in a manner that seems unjust, and the injustice lies heaviest upon me. Why, I cannot even protect myself by having my counsel ask questions. Don't misunderstand me by thinking I mean questions calculated to twist witnesses up. On the contrary, questions intended to simplify involved meanings."

Discussing his departure from the Titanic, Mr. Ismay said:

"I have searched my mind with deepest care I have thought long over each single incident that I could recall. I am sure that I did nothing that I should not have done. My conscience is clear, and I have not been a lenient judge of my acts.

"I tell you that If I thought that in the slightest way I had done anything wrong, I would never have another happy moment. I took the chance of escape when it came to me I did not seek it. Every woman and child had been cated for before I left the boat.

"And more, all the men within reach had been taken care of before I took my turn. And why shouldn't I take my turn? There are only two classes on a ship—the crew and the passengers. I was a passenger.

"It is true, I am president of the company, but I didn't consider myself any different from the rest of the passengers. I took no other man's place."

MORE SOUTHERLY ROUTE WILL BE TAKEN ACROSS ATLANTIC

New York, April 20.—The Titanic's fate has already resulted in prompt action by the Trans-Atlantic lines to insure liners hereafter taking a course far to the south, where the icebergs danger will no longer be present. The various lines it is announced, have agreed on a new "long" course, which dips far to the south of the course upon which the Titanic met disaster.

There is little disposition to criticize Captain Smith for following the ocean lane in which he met disaster. He showed unusual caution, according to the naval hydrographers, in steering a course well to the south of the regular southern lane. The northern course used by vessels from July to January, crosses the Grand Banks in latitude 45 north, four degrees further up the map than the southern or "long course," in which the Titanic met its fate.

As a matter of fact, the Titanic was sixty miles south of the regular southern course and was even in danger of collision with eastbound steamers, which are entitled to right of way there by the rules of the sea.

Will Take Nine to Fourteen Hours Longer.

The new route eastbound provides that steamships shall dip to Latitude 38.20 on the first third of their course, making a total distance from New York to Fastnet of 3,080 miles, whereas the distance is now reckoned as 2,858 miles. Liners will thus be carried 270 miles below the route heretofore followed. The loss of time on the new course will be about nine hours for a 24-knot boat. Boats of the Olympic class may be eleven or fourteen hours longer crossing. They again, however, in having clear weather most of the time, avoiding delays from fog.

MAN TELLS OF HIS CRIMES

Left Long Letter to His Counsel Before Going to Guillotine

WHAT SCHOOL TAUGHT

Led to Believe All Men Equal—There Should Be No Rich.

Paris, April 19.—It would be difficult to find any sadder reading than the letter addressed to his counsel by one of the young soldiers who was guillotined at Mans recently with a comrade for a particularly brutal and cold-blooded murder of a defenceless old woman. No comment can add much to the miserable truths it tells. It was a few seconds only before the knife fell that Tisseau cried to his lawyer: "Above all, remember my letter." Here is the text, in its plain and horrible simplicity:—

"I send these lines to my counsel, who did all that he could to save me. They will use them if they wish to forewarn and safeguard others. Wherefore these words have no other object but to set forth that I, the son of honest parents, have fallen so low, it is only through the teaching I was given in my youth. At school we were told that our parents had but a limited authority over us; that to rob them was not stealing, and that we could not be legally punished for it.

Had Idea There Should Be No Rich Men.

"Consequently, being already by nature rather viciously inclined, all the ideas that I heard expressed — that all men were equal, and there ought to be no rich men—only excited me, who was already too ready to accept them, and it is from this that came my first fault. For this I was sent to a house of correction, where I was doomed to pass many years of suffering, for the director of this establishment, instead of doing all he could to bring back so many young people to the right path, on the contrary, left nothing undone to make us feel his contempt for us and for the slightest fault it was dry bread, irons and the cells. And this director, who ought to have been like

ISMAY ABOVE THE CAPTAIN WHY DIDN'T HE STICK?

London, April 20.—Alfred Stead, brother of W. T. Stead, said to-day: "The whole case naturally excites conjecture. People are asking why the Olympic played so puzzling a part in connection with the tragedy. They are asking why a ship with a long range wireless equipment turned the rescue work over to a weaker vessel with a Marconi range of 150 miles. It may be answered that the Olympic was a mail boat, under contract to deliver the mails promptly and subject to heavy penalties in default, while the Carpathia was a pleasure craft with no such responsibilities.

"Then should any company shirk the responsibility or expense? Left alone the Captain of the Olympic surely would have gone to the Titanic even if he had heard his going was considered useless. Some person high in authority must have ordered the Captain of the Olympic to proceed on his voyage, leaving the Titanic's possible survivors to the other ships. Could it have been because of the Olympic's adeqaute preparations to give all the news quickly to the world?

"The silence of the Carpathia seems insolent and inexplicable. Did J. Bruce Ismay bully the captain? Mr. Ismay was the biggest man on the Carpathia and must be held responsible for that ship's amazing behavior.

"Speaking of Mr. Ismay, by what right was he saved? He was higher in the White Star service than the Captain of the Titanic. Why did he not stick to the ship and share the fate of the victims of the lines faults and misfortune'". If he had been picked out of the water one could excuse him, but it is stated, he took a place in a boat—place which certainly belonged to some woman or man for whose life the White Star line was responsible.

ANOTHER BIG OCEAN LINER

New Ship to Exceed in Tonnage Any Boat Afloat.

New York, April 20.—A contract for the building of a 54,000 ton trans-atlantic liner, which means a ship that will be 4,000 tons larger than the Hamburg-American liner Imperator, now in process of construction, and nearly 8000 tons larger than the Olympic and Titanic, was let by the North German-Lloyd line yesterday, and it is stated that the letting of this contract is probably the forerunner of several other similar contracts, which will mean that by 1915 the great German Company will own a fleet o these giant liners.

The exact tonnage of the new liner which has been designed to be the speediest of its type afloat, is not given, but it is stated that her tonnage will be about twice that of the George Washington. The latter is a 27,000-ton vessel. The name of the new liner is also not announced, but the understanding is that one of the great names in American history will be chosen.

DIVERS CAN NEVER REACH THE TITANIC

London, April 19.—A hydrographic authority gives the following information:

The Titanic lies, roughly, 12,000 ft. deep, or considerably over two miles below the surface of the water. At that depth the pressure of the water is about 2¼ tons to the square inch. The conditions of pressure at this depth, as far below the surface as the average height of the Swiss Alps are extraordinary.

At 12,000 feet deep a man would bear upon his body a weight equal to that of twenty locomotive engines each with a good long train loaded with pig iron.

Under this enormous pressure, the luxurious fittings of the gigantic liner are probably crushed like so much tissue paper; the watertight doors of the unflooded part of the vessel—are smashed in like so much matchwood, and the very woodwork of the furniture is possibly compressed out of shape.

Strange tricks must have been played with the rich decorations and elaborate effects of the saloons and cabins.

In the absolute stillness of the depths of the ocean, where there is perpetual night, the Titanic must remain. Any attempt at salvage is utterly out of the question

At a depth of about 200 feet divers suffer great hardships. At the depth at which the Titanic is resting diving is absolutely impossible.

Only by some strange and mighty upheaval of nature can the lost liner ever be exposed again to the gaze of human beings.

DETECTIVES SEE ELI DUNKLEMAN

Toronto, April 20.—For the purpose, it is stated, of obtaining a statement from Eli Dunkelman, the surviving victim in the Good Friday tragedy, in the Hydro-Electric yards at the foot of Strachan avenue, Detectives Cronin and Mitchell visited the General Hospital this morning.

The officers were accompanied by Mr. Jacob Cohen, J.P., but whether they were successful in obtaining any information from the injured man is a matter which the police are keeping to themselves.

It was said that Dunkelman would not be in a condition to speak to any person of the affray until the first of the week, but in view of the favorable reports concerning the progress he is making towards recovery it is possible that the authorities at the hospital sanctioned the holding of an interview at an earlier date than at first anticipated.

KILLED CHILDREN FOR "CURES"

Sensational Tragedies Revealed by Arrest of Woman.

Paris, April 20.—There are further revelations concerning the woman Enriqueta Marti, who is accused of having stolen children at Barcelona, and of having put them to death in order to make potions of their blood for the curing of diseases.

She is now accused of having stolen eight children, only two of whom were found alive in her house. The examining magistrate who is enquiring into the case order architects to examine the house in Poniente street. They found bones and human hair concealed in the wall. In a house previously occupied by the woman a partition was demolished. A cupboard was revealed, and in it were a large number of human bones. A little girl named Nagelita has told a startling story to the Magistrate.

In the house in Poniente street, a notebook was discovered. In it were specified the maladies which could be cured by the potion. The woman's husband had, it is alleged, offered to cure a barber, who suffered from consumption for $200—an offer which was refused.

The woman is in a state of dejection. It is stated that she has attempted to take her life in prison. On lists of names found at her house were those of several well-known people, who were requested to attend the office of the examining magistrate. They declared they did not know the woman. So far twelve arrests have been made in connection with the affair.

RELATIVE USE OF TOBACCO.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—To settle an argument, which involves a small wager, would you kindly answer a few questions regarding the consumption of tobacco in England, as compared with Holland. A few Englishmen, in company with a gentleman from Amsterdam last night, had this subject enter our line of conversation. Will you kindly let us know approximately the amount of tobacco consumed in England and in Holland. Then let us know whether the smoking habit originated in America or in China. Your reply will greatly oblige.

Prizes for Field Crops.

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition opens this year on September 12th. A letter has been received from J. Lockiee Wilson, superintendent of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in reference to the field crop competition this year.

Last year there were 104 societies competing in field crop competitions. The total prizes to be offered this year by the society is $75 instead of [illegible] as in past years. Of this amount $50 is contributed by the Dominion Government and the remaining $25 by the Agricultural societies. The division of prize money is as follows:

First, $20; 2nd, $15; 3rd, $12; 4th, $10; 5th, $8; 6th, $6; 7th, $4.

Mud Lake Narrows Bridge.

Lindsay Post: Plans have just been filed with Mr. McNeillie, County Clerk, for the reconstruction of Mud Lake Narrows Bridge, in the township of Carden. The plans have been prepared by Mr. G. Smith. O.L.S., of Lindsay, County Engineer, and approved by the Provincial Engineer of Highways, disclose new ideas in the construction of highway bridges.

Instead of building high concrete piers in the bridge site basin, and spanning these with steel trusses, as has been formerly done, the scheme is to fill the basin 14 feet deep, with riprap, up to the elevation of the adjoining bottom of the lake. A dry wall of flat stone 18 feet wide on top is then built upon this riprap fill, through which are three openings, spanned by "Penforced Concrete Slab Top Beam Span Bridges."

There is no metal exposed to view in this bridge, with the exception of the railings which consist of lines of tubing secured to metal railing posts set in concrete, which lend a handsomely finished appearance to the structure. The main feature in the design of this bridge, is maximum durability at a minimum of expense, the cost being only one-third of that originally estimated.

Although it is not definitely known whether it will remove the entire plant to that city, it is understood that it will erect large buildings and employ a lot of men. The company's object in locating there, is said to be to get more of the electric car business of that city and western Ontario, as well as some of the C.N.R. work. The only matter at present unsettled is the deal for a site.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

One Egg Cake.

Cream a half cupful of butter, work in one cupful of sugar, then one egg yolk. When smooth stir in one cupful of milk and gradually two cupfuls of sifted flour, with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Flavor with vanilla, bake and ice with the following: Beat one cupful of confectioner's sugar slowly into the white of one egg and flavor with a half teaspoonful of vanilla. Stir over the fire a half cupful of grated chocolate, two tablespoonfuls of confectioner's sugar and one tablespoonful of hot water until smooth, then add one more tablespoonful of hot water and stir into the sugar and beaten egg. Nuts may be added, whole or chopped.

Veal Croquettes.

Mince fine one cupful of cold veal, add a half cupful of cooked sweetbreads, also cold and minced, one cupful of cooked rice, a few drops of onion juice and minced parsley, celery or thyme to season. Moisten with a little veal stock and heat over the fire. Add salt and pepper and beaten egg yolk. Cook for one or two minutes and pour out on a dish to cool. When firm and cold form into croquettes, egg shape, roll in bread crumbs, then in beaten egg, to which a tablespoonful of milk has been added, again in the crumbs and fry in hot fat until a rich brown. Minced chicken may be substituted for the veal and sweetbreads.

New Scrambled Eggs.

The member of your family who scorns scrambled eggs may enjoy them in a new, glorified form. Cut thin slices of ham in strips like matches. Mince an onion. Fry both in butter seasoned with salt and pepper, and when nearly done add three or four slices of mushrooms. Make a circle of the ham and onions and place the scrambled eggs in the center, garnishing with parsley.

Another variation is to spread round croutons with a layer of sweet red pepper cooked, then the scrambled eggs, then a springling of truffles. All scrambled eggs must be served at once and must not be tough.

Banana Croquettes.

Peel six bananas, cut a slice from each end, then cut into crosswise sections. Dredge well with powdered sugar and marinate one hour in the juice of two oranges, turning the sections over now and then. Roll in beaten egg, then in grated crumbs, and fry in deep hot fat. For the sauce, strain the sirup after the bananas have been taken out, bring just to boiling point, then thicken with one tablespoonful cornstarch stirred smooth in a little cold water. Cook until clear, take from the fire and add a half teaspoonful of orange extract.

ANCIENT WILLS.

The Mohammedan Says Adam Left a Record One.

The Mussulman claims that our forefather Adam left a will, and that seventy legions of angels brought him sheets of paper and quill pens, nicely nibbed, all the way from Paradise, and that the Archangel Gabriel set his seal as a witness.

Jacob, the third of the Hebrew patriarchs died in Egypt at the age of 147, but was buried by his sons in the Cave of Machpelah at Hebron in Palestine, the traditional burial place of the prophets and other Biblical characters of their time.

It can be stated that the very earliest reference to an actual testamentary disposition is by the words of this patriarch:

"And Israel said unto Joseph, Behold, I die; but God shall be with you and bring you again unto the land of your fathers.

"Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above my brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my sword and with my bow.

"And Jacob called unto his sons, and said, gather yourselves together, that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days.

In the forty-eighth and forty ninth chapters of Genesis are these words of the dying patriarch, and here is found not only the disposition of "portion" to Joseph, but the character of each son is shown, the virtue or fault of each is described, to each a symbolic emblem is assigned, and to each a future is prophesied.

Here is a will, in fact, and in prophesy.

Homer cites this will, made in favor of Piraeus, to whom Telemachus bequeaths all the presents that had been made to him by Menelaus, lest they fall into the hands of his enemies, but he adds: "In case I should slay them and survive, you are to restore them to me in my palace, a task as joyous to you to accomplish as to myself to profit by." Perhaps, however, this may be objected to as proceeding from fabulous history. In Biblical tradition, however, we find very early evidence of oral bequests.

To Lucian we are indebted for the noble, touching, and certainly eccentric will of Eudamidas of Corinth.

This philosophical individual, who was extremely poor, was on terms of close and intimate friendship—friendship in the full and true acceptance of the terms — with Arethaeus and Charixenes of Sycion. Finding himself on his deathbed, he made a will, which while exciting only the ridicule of the thoughtless or the worldly wise, calls for respect and admiration in the breasts of those who know the value of real cordiality, and can appreciate his simple confidence in its sincerity.

"I bequeath to Arethaeus my mother to support; and I pray him to have a tender care for her declining years.

"I bequeath to Charixenes my daughter to marry, and to give her to that end the best portion he can afford."

When this will, continues the narrator, was read in the public square (this being the accepted mode of proceeding at that time) all those who were aware of the poor circumstances of the testator, but were incapable of recognizing the ties which linked them to his friends, turned these unusual clauses into a joke, and there was not one who did not go away laughing and observing: Arethaeus and Charixenes will be lucky fellows if they accept their legacies, and he's no fool to have made himself their heir, though he be dead and they living."

But these honest legatees no sooner learned what was expected of them by their deceased friend than they hastened to put his wishes into execution.

Charixenes, however, only survived Eudamidas five days; and then Arethaeus, acting in exact conformity with the will he had undertaken to execute, assumed the share bequeathed to his co-executor. He supported the mother of Eudamidas; and in due time found a suitable husband for his daughter.

Fire Under Water.

Fire under water may be produced by placing some small pieces of phosphorus in a conical shaped tumbler and then covering them with the crystals of chlorate of potash. Next fill the glass with water and then add a few drops of sulphuric acid, the acid to be applied directly to the phosphorus and potash crystals by means of a long tube. If the experiment is properly carried out tongues of bright red flame can be seen flashing up through the water, the intense chemical heat produced by the action of the sulphuric acid on the potash and phosphorus being sufficient to inflame the latter, although entirely covered with water.

Without Ceremony.

More or less ceremony usually attends the laying of a corner-stone, but in one case at least it was laid quite simply.

Two men were talking of the fortune of a third when on said:

"He made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage and sold them at a profit of more than 300 per cent. That was the corner-stone of his present fortune."

"Ah," exclaimed the other man. "Then the hens laid it!"

A Reform Movement.

Mrs. Benham—When we women get to running the Government we'll do a thing or two.

Benham—Such as what?

Mrs. Benham—We'll make a man take out a hunter's license before he can look for a collar button, and in his application he will have to certify that he doesn't swear.

A Practical View.

"Father," said the inquistive boy, "what is a genius?"

"A genius, my son, is a man who gets a whole lot of advertising without being able to do any profitable business with it."

Silk Imports.

Silk goods from France, Switzerland, and Germany to the annual value of thirteen million pounds are imported into Great Britain.

Mr. Wilt. Metheral to Quit.

It is understood that Mr. Wilt. Metheral, who for the past year or two, has acted as caretaker of the Armouries, has had it intimated to him, that after May the 1st another caretaker will perform the duties. It is said that Mr. Geo. Grange, deputy chief of the fire brigade, will get the position. It is further intimated that Mr. Metheral's severance from his former duties at the Armouries, was not due to any action of the Government, but that the regiment asked for his resignation.

Ambition of M. Madarass.

The oldest member of parliament in the world, the Hungarian deputy, M. Joseph Madarass, who is now in his ninety-ninth year, issues a denial of the statement that he is about to retire into private life. M. Madarass says that he means to retain his mandate till he has completed his 100th year, if not longer. He carries a list of all the centenarians in the world constantly with him and marks them off as they die. He is determined to outlive them all and some day to have the distinction of being the oldest man in the world.

$2,000,000 Worth of Junk.

A statement compiled at the war department in Washington shows that from sales of scrap iron and other unused material which was left on the isthmus of Panama by the Frenchmen who did work on the canal fifteen years ago the government has already realized the sum of $2,112,000. Over 29,000 tons of metals from these abandoned plants have been shipped to the United States, and there is much work yet to be done. Some of the abandoned machinery has been put in order and is being used.—Railway Age Gazette.

Wireless Stopped by Mountain.

It has been observed repeatedly on board vessels stationed west of Cape Otway (at the southern tip of Australia) that it was impossible to communicate with vessels situated in the port of Melbourne. This has been attributed to the fact that the mountain which forms the cape contains large quantities of metallic minerals which [illegible] electric waves.—Chicago [illegible]

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

THE DANGER OF GIANT SHIPS.

The disaster which overwhelmed the Titanic, the Gargantua of ocean liners, raises the question whether the practicable limit in the size of steamships has not already been reached. It is the same old question which was answered in the affirmative after a limited number of voyages of the famous Great Eastern, a vessel which was shorter by 196 feet than the unfortunate Titanic.

The problems of constructing vessels which would make the Olympic and the Titanic seem mere pygmies in comparison can be easily solved solved by the engineers. Far more troublesome are the problems which already arise after the launching of such floating monsters. One is how to make the giants pay for the cost of construction and for the expense of fuel. Another is how to control the ponderous bulk of the leviathans so that they may dock, weigh anchor and proceed on their courses without danger to themselves and other vessels.

The Olympic, which lacks several feet of being as long as the Titanic, looks cumbersome and out of place in New York harbor, for when she docks her stern projects far beyond the pier-head into the East River. The Titanic proved to be so huge and clumsy at Southampton, just as she was starting on her maiden voyage, that she nearly wrecked herself and another vessel at its moorings. It is possible that if the Titanic had been a little more easy to control that the collision with the iceberg might have been avoided or rendered less serious.

The rivalry of the steamship lines to see which can build the largest and the fastest boats is likely to lead to further disasters until such time as the great harbors are enlarged and improved to accommodate safely the new style steamers.

Editorial Notes

Dr. Lizzie Shapleigh, a graduate of Boston University, is a suffragette who already wears a few daubs of war paint on her face. She has delivered her more or less charming self of the following opinion: "After women get a little more political power in their hands I shouldn't be surprised if they abolished a few men. There are too many men in the world anyway. They are not nearly so important as they think they are."

The first monument erected by any Southern State to its women of the Confederacy was unveiled in Columbia, S. C., last week, in the presence of one of the greatest assemblages the State has ever known, and which paid hushed and solemn tribute to the heroic and splendid womanhood that glorified the Lost Cause.

An English typist who stated her earnings and expenditures in answer to the London Board of Trade's circular, sent $2 for eight volume of Grote's "History of Greece." Her weekly wage was $6.25. During the year she spent $5.50 on eleven birthday presents. A girl who earned $4.25 a week bought pamphlets describing the English poor law commission.

As there seems to be some misunderstanding or dispute about the garbage by-law, it being claimed that a tenant might leave large masses of garbage on his premises, for which the property owner is responsible, surely this is a matter that landlords and tenants can easily adjust between them. Surely also, the health of the tenant and that of his family counts with him. For no such petty disputes can the health of this city be endangered. Get rid of garbage and you get rid of eighty per cent of house flies, the most prevalent source of propogation and dissimination of disease of all kinds.

The International Harvester Trust which has had a monopoly of practically every implement used in the farming industry, has been forced to kow-kow to the Government and is to undergo the process known as "unscrambling" its eggs. While it is admitted that the dissolution of this trust, like others which has preceded it, is not all that might be desired in the way of correcting the evils of monopoly, yet it disclosed secret individual parts which can be more easily supervised whenever Congress drafts an effective plan of regulation, and which cannot act as a unit except through a conspiracy which is punishable by law.

New York despatches say that Harry K. Thaw may be released from the Mattewan Asylum. What's the good? A young man with more money than brains, spoiled by an indulgent parent, and used to getting anything his vagrant desires pointed to, kills a man. Had he not been a millionaire, or the son of a millionairess, what would have been the result of his revolver practice. Why the electric chair or the rope! Why should this gilt-edged youth, whose usefulness in the world seems simply the squandering of money in the tailor shops and the chorus girl, haunted lobster palaces of the "Great White Way," New York, short a man escape the chair, be sent to an asylum, and then released to pursue his gold scattering course?

a father to us, had only one very tender word for us: 'Yield or die!'

"I left this house very ill, after several years, during which I had done nothing but suffer, with hatred at my heart for that society which was the cause of all my misfortune. Without a trade, and left to my own instincts and misery, like many another, I succumbed. But this crime, which has cut me off from the world, has been turned into a blessing for me, for it is in this prison of Mans, where I am writing these lines, that I have found a priest who has taught me what life really is, for I confess I never understood it before. Unfortunately these counsels have come too late, for at this moment the sentence under which I lie may perhaps prevent me from putting into practice the counsels given to me, which I have sworn to follow.

A Lesson for Young Men.

"Alas I would that these lines could serve as a lesson to many young men who, like myself, allow themselves to be deluded by lying ideas that are forever being repeated to us! How many are there like myself, who let themselves be deceived by these false principles, and will one day be reduced to despair? If I am to die, I will die courageously, in the certainty that God, more merciful than men, will forgive my errors and I have a comforting trust that he will receive me at last. But my heart bleeds at the thought of my poor dear parents, who will never console themselves. For pity's sake go to them and tell them of my repentance and my great grief. My last thought will be for them, whom I hope to meet again above, where I shall never cease to pray for them until we have joined together."

Philanthropists and jurists are always arguing over the causes of the perpetual increase of juvenile criminality in France, and here is the opinion of one of the criminals who has just paid the penalty of his life. It is the absence of moral teaching that is often supplemented by the most immoral instruction, that breeds the modern "Apache" such as the two young soldiers, Tisseau and Nolot, and the more formidable ruffians of the stamp of Bonnot, Carouy and Garnier, and the example of Tisseau and his testament are melancholy evidence which cannot be controverted of the danger of purely lay education entrusted too often to teachers who openly scoff at all religion.

STEALS A BABY.

Demented Girls Queer Freak in New York City Hospital.

New York, April 20.—A primitive mother instinct, which has developed into a mania, led 15-year-old Annie Bovarsky, her mind weakened by long illness, to steal a baby from Mount Sinai Hospital, according to the theory upon which the police are working in their search for her and the infant. With the babe in her arms she is believed to be crooning to it somewhere in Central Park Saturday, and the police have thrown a dragnet out to search for her.

The girl lives in poor circumstances in East New York and told her mother Thursday that she was going to Mount Sinai hospital to get a baby. The mother thought her remark was merely another whim of her daughter who, she said, had been talking continually since her illness of her love for babies.

KAISER MAY FIGHT OUT MEN

Thinks of Establishing a State Monopoly of Petroleum

Berlin, April 20.—There are circumstantial reports that the German government seriously contemplates the establishment of a state monopoly of petroleum, with a view to providing fresh revenue for dreadnoughts and other "national" purposes.

The only official intimation is that recently made in the reichstag by Dr. Delburk, imperial secretary of the interior, who said that the Government "might" find it desirable to convert several industries now in private hands into state monopolies. The newspapers amplify this cryptic ministerial utterance by stating that the chancellor of the exchequer, Herr Wermuth, actually has plans and specifications in hand for nationalizing the oil trade.

At present the trade is practically in the hands of the Standard Oil Co., Mr. Rockefeller's combine works in Germany through several branch companies, ostensibly German, but actually American owned, and by means of a splendidly organized scheme of distribution, controls the German market almost completely.

It is estimated that the Government might derive an annual revenue of $15,000,000 from a petroleum monopoly.

EMBEDDED IN THE ICE

Marvellous Recuperative Powers of Certain Kind of Fish.

Canandaigua, N.Y., April 20.—Residents of the upper end of Canandaigua Lake, who came to town today upon the first boat to run since the ice broke up, told a remarkable story revealing the recuperative powers of the German carp

The severe winter caused the marshes at the head of the lake, where the carp thrive, to freeze solidly to the bottom. When the spring rains came the ice was loosened, and floated away, to be driven high upon the shores by the winds. Jacob Sanderson, who lives near the shore, found among the huge cakes of ice, shoved high and dry upon the shore, one in which an immense carp was solidly frozen. Mr. Sanderson hewed the cake down to about the size of a washtub, which had been placed to catch the rain water from his roof, and put it in the tub with its cold storage fish intact. Imagine his surprise the next morning, after an all night's rain to find the ice entirely disappeared and the carp lazily browsing around in the tub for his breakfast. Mr. Sanderson proposes to keep the fish alive and train it to assist him in fighting the locust invasion expected this summer. The German carp is said to be very fond of the locust, and sometimes leaves their native habitat to wander afield in search of them.

traveller, who traversed China and the far east, does not mention its use in these countries. As is well known, he travelled right across Asia to China in the thirteenth century; and, had tobacco and smoking been in evidence then, he, an acute observer and recorder of all things new to him, could not, surely, have failed to make note of such a strange custom. So then, the idea of attempting to disprove the old belief in the absolute American origin—a proposition I once cherished—must be abandoned as futile, and we must instead content ourselves with a contemplation of the marvel of the now worldwide distribution. Statistics of no very old date, recorded in Penn's History of Tobacco, show the world's acreage under the plant to be one thousand millions, the annual value of the product being forty-five millions sterling. The revenue from duty in Great Britain is stated to amount to eleven millions sterling. In this connection it should be remembered that we as a nation are by no means to be accounted particularly heavy smokers. Our average, for instance, is only one and a half pounds per head per annum; whereas the Dutchman gets through seven pounds. But, then, he easily beats creation in this respect. To give the extreme illustration. It is recorded of one old sportsman—Mynheer van Klaes by name—that throughout his life he kept up the astounding average of three pounds consumption a week, or four tons during the sixty years he smoked.

ORANGEISM AND FREE METHODISTS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—About a week ago I sent a letter to the Peterboro Review, which letter was published with quite a number of changes, and was followed by a reply from the Rev. C. Cunningham, pastor of the Free Methodist Church, bringing me for a second time before the public. To this letter I sent a reply to the Review, which the Editor, to please the Rev. C. Cunningham, refused to publish. So I now request space in your valuable paper to make the following explanation, viz., that I did not go to the Free Methodist Church on probation, but on a certificate of membership, and that the Rev. C. Cunningham held that certificate from Feb. 16th until April 6th. I cannot understand how any person, who claims to be educated, can say that a pastor, or elder either separately or together, is not responsible to the Church for what is done by that body. It is just as well to be plain and give the reason for the difficult between the Rev. C. Cunningham and myself. I was offered the position of local preacher if I would withdraw from the Orange Order, and other societies which I positively refused to do, believing that the Orange Order is founded on the word of God, and is as much, if not a great deal more, benefit to the Protestant religion than the Free Methodist Church.

Being a stranger in this country I did not know the standing of the Free Methodist Church, when I thought of connecting myself with it, and was only anxious to do anything in my power to advance Christ's cause. The more information I obtain about that body, convinces me that I was guided by the Almighty in making the choice of the Orange society in preference to the Free Methodist Church, for the qualification required for the Orange Order, and the religious ceremony conducted in the lodges is far in advance of the Free Methodist Church. Thanking you Mr. Editor for this space in your paper.

S. M. Dayzers,
Dutch-British Orange-man.

Tiny Complete Watch Contained in a Pearl.

An example of ingenious craftsmanship in watchmaking is shown in the accompanying illustrations of a watch contained in a pearl, the illustrations showing about its actual size. It took fifteen months of the time of the best workmen employed by a French jewelry firm to complete it. The pearl in its native state weighed forty-five grains and measured 0.57 of an inch in diameter. The movement, which is 0.45 of an inch in diameter, is of special construction, of course, and represents the most patient and minute care. The piercing of the pearl, for instance, was exceptionally difficult. The watch is valued at $6,000.—Popular Mechanics.

The Game of Cherry.

If you intend having a few of your friends at your house on the afternoon of Washington's birthday send out your invitations on cardboard cut in the shape of a little hatchet. In one corner paint a little cherry tree and then write your invitation. Some fun can be had if, after your guests arrive, you play the game of "cherry." Buy a candy basket and fill it with candy cherries. Suspend the basket from the ceiling by a long string and let your guests, with hands tied behind them, try to catch the swinging basket with their mouths. The successful one gets the basket of cherries as a prize. Another form of this game is to hang the individual cherries from strings and allow the children to try to catch them in their mouths. Still another "cherry" game is to place a box on a chair at each end of the room and give each child a half dozen candy cherries, which he, at a distance, tries to throw in the basket.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

Conundrums.

When did Ruth treat Boaz badly? When she pulled his ears and trod on his corn.

Why is a convivial man like a Quaker? Because he is fond of the society of friends.

What is that which we all eat and drink, though it is sometimes a woman and sometimes a man? A toast.

Why would a tanner make a good chemist? Because he understands ox (hide)s.

When is soup likely to run out of the saucepan? When there's a leek in it.

What is that which you must keep after giving to another? Your word. —Philadelphia Ledger.

A Suggestion.

The next time the snow drifts into your yard instead of making a snow man try to make a snow pig. An oblong mass of snow forms the body, and the legs, nose and ears are made of sticks surrounded by snow. A bit of rope nicely curled will make a good tail. Various pigs can be shaped and carved, according to the skill of the young artist, and will give a lively and sociable appearance to your yard and cause the neighbors a great deal of amusement—at your expense perhaps.

Frost Pictures.

The other children like to write
Their names upon the pane
That's frosted over in the night,
Where you can see them plain.

They draw all sorts of awkward things,
But I would rather see
The pictures that the white frost kings
Have painted there for me.

I am afraid the fairy folk
That in these woods might play
By these ungainly crooked strokes
Will all be scared away.

You can't buy SPEARMINT there!

Where?

In the woods—take a box along. On the fishing trip—take a box along. On the links—take a box along. On the farm—take a box along.

It costs little by the package, but less by the box. It's portable—beneficial—enjoyable—cheap.

It's the goody that's good for you because it preserves teeth—sharpens appetite—aids digestion—purifies breath.

So get enough of it while you're near it so you'll have it when you want it!

Look for the spear. The flavor lasts.

STOCK STORIES.

The Same Anecdotes Do For Various Distinguished Personages.

When that distinguished but eccentric politician and journalist, Mr. Labouchere, died, the newspapers were flooded with stories about him. A well-informed friend of his rather spoiled their effect by declaring that most of them had been invented on the Stock Exchange, or were second-hand.

As a matter of fact, there are not nearly enough good stories to go round. When a new figure become prominent an economical press usually fathers on him anecdotes that have done good services years ago about other people.

There is really a sort of stage army of stories. Each one gets a few years' rest now and again, but good anecdotes are so few that they are seldom permitted to go into permanent retirement. A few modernizing touches, and they are as good as new, fitting the new father as well as they did the old. The new father may smile, but so long as the supposed offspring of his brain is a credit to him he seldom objects.

Lately, for instance, a story has appeared here and there in print about Pavlova, the famous dancer. A millionaire's wife is said to have asked her to dance at a party, Pavlova said she would, and mentioned casually that her terms were $1,500.

"Isn't that rather high for a dancer?" the lady asked haughtily. "Couldn't you make it $1,200?"

Pavlova shook her head.

"I could not possibly dance less."

A Sandwich Novelty.

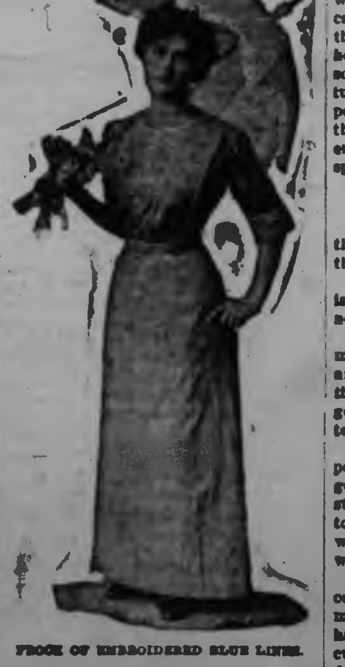
White bread sandwiches sprinkled with sugar are a delight in one household where everybody has a sweet tooth. It may be that the fashionable "nervous stomach" has been cultivated as much by the goodies in the way of cakes and bonbons served at daily teas as anything else. Sweet sandwiches are twice as healthy and to most persons are a welcome relief from the universal American cake habit.

Southern Johnnycake.

For southern johnnycake make a batter of half a cupful of sugar, an egg, four tablespoonfuls of drippings or butter, a level teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a cupful of sour milk, a cupful of cornmeal and a cupful of flour. Put a large tablespoonful of lard into an iron frying pan, and when it is very hot turn in the batter and bake in a hot oven. Southern cooks scorn a tin baking dish for this cake.

Kimono Sleeves Are Out.

Kimono sleeves are out of the running in spring fashions, and set in sleeves are the order of the day in all the new models, the armhole usually being emphasized by special trimming. The charming gown of embroidered blue linen illustrated has the new set in sleeve.



FROCK OF EMBROIDERED BLUE LINEN.

Evening Frocks.

Authorities are divided on one important item—the length of evening frocks. In spite of the fact that most of the new models this year are made with a ten or twelve inch pointed train, one of the greatest Paris houses shows a majority of its new evening gowns with the short skirt just instep length.

Since there is this division of opinion among the great originators of fashion it would seem that each young woman may choose for herself as to whether she will cling to the youthful round length skirt or will prefer the more formal trained effects worn by the older women. Some wonderful new black jet trimmings are used this season, and white and colored spangles, bugles and brilliants are strongly in evidence. A black velvet evening frock cut on surprise has the deep V yoke of cream white maline lace. This corsage is outlined with a narrow row of brilliants and trimmed with a cut jet motif which extends down into the skirt to the lower edge.

Nose and Goggle Party.

A family of fun loving girls recently gave an amusing party. It was called a nose and goggle party and helped a number of young people to pass an evening very merrily without much expenditure of energy and thought in the matter of a disguise.

Each guest wore a false nose and goggles. The noses were purchased or made by clever fingers of heavy cardboard covered with chamois and were not removed until after refreshments were served.

As the guests arrived each was given a card perforated with ribbon run through in order to wear the card around the neck, so that every one could see it.

The cards had on one side a number by which each guest was known, on the other side a list of figures—1, 2, 3, etc. (as many figures as there were guests)—with a space opposite each figure for a name.

In the social conversation which followed each guest guessed who his or her entertainer was. Of course, with intimate friends the familiar voice revealed the personality, but in many cases this was not easily done, if they attempted to disguise the voice, and much amusement and many absurd guesses were made.

As each guess was made the name was placed opposite the number on the card of the guesser corresponding to the number of the person with whom he or she was talking. For instance, if some one thought he knew No. 4 he turned his card and wrote the name opposite No. 4, etc. It was voted by all the gay people who were present as no end of fun and a most original way of spending a jolly evening.

When Cutting Striped Material.

One of the most difficult things for the home dressmaker to accomplish is the proper cutting of striped materials.

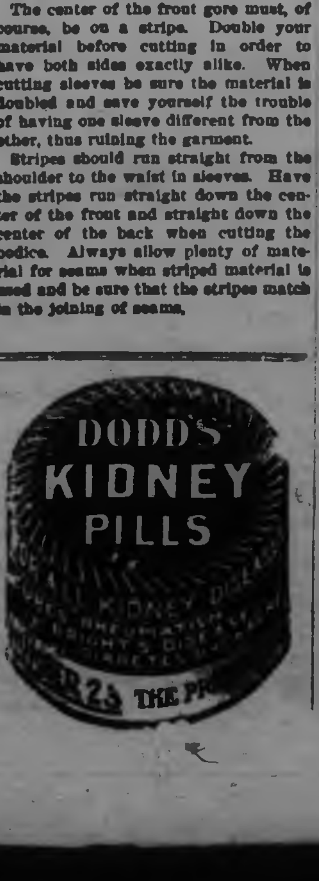
To be able to cut a striped dress well is a proof that you are by no means a novice at the art of dressmaking.

Skirts are always cut first. Lay the material out flat on the cutting table, and if there is no "up and down" to the material you will be able to fit the gores into each other, cutting the material in an economical way.

Remember to have the line of small perforations found in the center of each gore of the pattern run straight with a stripe. This will cause each cut edge to be slightly bias and when joined will look far better than if a bias edge was joined to the straight.

The center of the front gore must, of course, be on a stripe. Double your material before cutting in order to have both sides exactly alike. When cutting sleeves be sure the material is doubled and save yourself the trouble of having one sleeve different from the other, thus ruining the garment.

Stripes should run straight from the shoulder to the waist in sleeves. Have the stripes run straight down the center of the front and straight down the center of the back when cutting the bodice. Always allow plenty of material for seams when striped material is used and be sure that the stripes match in the joining of seams.



A Veteran of the Light Brigade

A War Story

By F. A. MITCHEL

During the war between the states an Englishman named Larkins, who had been a sergeant in the British army, came over to America to seek service with the Federal army. If he failed he would try the Confederacy. A soldier of fortune, he had no preferences, though in England the people were overwhelmingly in favor of the south.

Larkins had papers to prove his British citizenship, which enabled him to sojourn either in the north or in the south, as he pleased. He came over in a blockade runner to Charleston, S. C., and, going to Richmond, Va., made application for a commission. He was offered one, but by this time exhaustion had begun to show itself in the Confederacy, especially in a financial way, and Larkins was not pleased with the want of prospect of emolument in its service. So he concluded to try for a commission in the Federal army.

Having declined the southern offer, he asked for a pass to go through the lines to Washington, telling the authorities in Richmond that he had been called home to England. It was furnished him, and he left for the Army of Northern Virginia, at that time encamped between the two capitals, intending, after having been passed through the lines, to work his way northward. The route he desired to take lay through Fredericksburg, and encamped upon the road was a division commanded by a general whom I will call Beaumont. When Larkins presented his pass to the officer, telling him at the same time that he was a British subject, he was treated with consideration for the reason that the southerners were constantly hoping that the British government would interfere in their behalf, and they were always ready to show attention to such English persons as came among them.

General Beaumont showed great interest in John Larkins, regretting that his recall to England had deprived the south of his services. The general told him that if he would remain and accept a commission he would appoint him to a position on his staff. The Englishman was tempted; but, knowing that he must take his pay in depreciated Confederate currency, he adhered to his resolution, assuring the general that his recall was imperative.

A number of officers were introduced to Larkins, who looked upon him with considerable interest. This he attributed to the fact that he had told the general that he had fought in the Crimean war and took part in the celebrated charge of the Light brigade, of which he gave a vivid description. Whatever the cause, the ex-British soldier was much pleased with his treatment, and when he was urged not to hurry away he felt disposed to linger in his pleasant surroundings. Every one had heard of the charge that had thrilled the world and had been commemorated by the British poet laureate Alfred Tennyson, so that one who had taken part in it was especially interesting to soldiers.

Larkins had reached General Beaumont's headquarters in time for luncheon and was invited by the general to lunch with him and his staff. During the afternoon Beaumont invited the Englishman to ride with him on a tour of inspection of his division, and in the evening the chief of staff, Captain Carter, asked the visitor if he would not like to call upon a southern family living in the vicinity. Larkins was not what would be considered in England a gentleman and demurred at the invitation, but the general urged him to make the acquaintance of at least one household of southern ladies while in America, and he consented.

Larkins that evening met Caroline Fletcher, a captivating southern girl, who had only to smile upon him to make him fancy that she had been smitten with him. When he told her that he was simply passing through the lines and would go north the next day she pouted and insisted on a promise that he would call upon her the next evening. Gallantry led Larkins to promise, and he left her not quite knowing whether he was standing on his heels or his head.

The next day he was shown more attentions by the officers and in the evening called on Miss Fletcher. She received him on a veranda rich with the perfume of flowers. She was carefully attired and looked bewitching. She flirted with Larkins for awhile, then began to ask him on which side of the American conflict his sympathies were enlisted. He assured her that he had no preference, whereupon she coquettishly asked him if he would do her a service. Having declared that he would be glad to accommodate her, she told him that she belonged to a Union family and was bound up in the success of the Union arms. She confided to him that she was sending information to Washington and ended by asking him if he would carry a written communication for her to President Lincoln.

Larkins knew well that if caught by the Confederates with such information on his person his British citizenship would not save him from the gallows. He declined to be the bearer of the message. The lady looked much disappointed, but forebore to press the matter and begged that he would not betray her. Larkins promised, and that ended the episode.

The next day the Britisher said he would take his departure. He was informed that he must be sent through the lines with a flag of truce, and the situation was not just then fitted for the dispatching of such a flag. The enemy was restless, and there might be fighting at any moment. So Larkins was obliged to content himself at headquarters, which were not so agreeable as before the attentions that had been showered on him were discontinued—that is to say, he did not seem to excite the same interest as formerly.

During that day one of the officers brought up to him a citizen whom he introduced, expatiating on the ex-sergeant's experience in the Crimea. The man looked at him closely, made some commonplace remarks and withdrew. From that time Larkins began to realize that he was under surveillance. He had been furnished with a tent, which he occupied alone, and during the night was awakened by men talking outside. Curious to know what was going on, he got off his cot and looked out. Several privates were sitting on the ground close by his tent, smoking. He was surely under guard. What could it mean?

He lay awake the greater part of the night wondering what object the general could possibly have in treating him, a British subject, as a guest, but really depriving him of his liberty.

The next morning when he awoke the men had gone. An officer came in and told him that a breakfast would be sent in to him. During the day he noticed that this same officer never lost sight of him. To kill time he thought he would go and call on Miss Fletcher.

"Where are you going?" asked his shadower.

"I'm going to pay a visit at the Fletchers'. I expect to be going as soon as the general will send me through, and I think I'll say goodby to them."

"You won't find the Fletchers at home today."

This was said in a half commanding tone, as if meaning, "Stay where you are." Larkins said nothing, but turned and retraced his steps.

He was sitting in a camp chair that afternoon near General Beaumont's tent when an officer rode up, threw himself from his horse and went in to see the general. There being nothing but canvas to intercept the sound, Larkins could hear a part of what was said. After some talk that he could not make out:

"He's the man," the inferior officer said.

"Are you sure?" asked the general.

"Yes, general; the same fellow, playing a different game."

"When will he be here?"

"Within an hour."

"Very well. We'll be ready for him."

This was Greek to Larkins, but the treatment he had received and the fact of his being under surveillance, taken with the words "playing the same game," made him uneasy. As soon as the officer had left the general Larkins went into his tent and said:

"See here, general, I wish to go through the lines at once. If I am purposely detained I desire to know the cause."

"I'll send you through tomorrow morning," said the general, speaking in a tone to indicate that he meant to do what he said.

"Am I detained in your camp?"

"No. Go where you like."

"Very well, I'll wait till tomorrow. If I am detained longer I shall telegraph the British consul at Richmond to come out here at once."

"You'll not be detained—that is, unless a battle opens."

The next morning at daylight Larkins was awakened by General Beaumont's orderly, who said that the general would like to see him in his tent. Still uneasy, he arose and went to the general. An officer was there waiting.

"This is Major Clayton, Mr. Larkins. If you will go with him he will show you something to explain our reception and treatment of you since you have been with us. On your return I will be pleased to have you breakfast with me, and a flag of truce is ordered for 10 o'clock to escort you through the lines."

Larkins went with Major Clayton, walking down the road till they came to a clearing. A file of soldiers were standing, resting on their arms. Seeing the major approach, an officer went to a tent surrounded by a guard, led forth a man pale as death in citizen's dress and placed him before the soldiers.

He looked enough like Larkins to be his brother.

The Britisher knew at once that a spy was to be executed. Turning, he walked back to the general's headquarters.

"Permit me to offer my apologies," said the latter. "The man you saw taken out for execution is a northern man who was spying on us under cover of forged papers of British citizenship. This coincidence and the fact that he resembles you caused us to believe we had got one we have been looking for. Our catching him is a blessing to you, for we had about made up our minds to try you by drumhead court martial and shoot you."

Larkins now saw through all that had occurred. The most mortifying circumstance was his realization that the southern beauty had been set upon him to endeavor to tempt him to betray himself as a spy if he really was one. Satisfied with his experience, he returned to England without service in either the Federal or Confederate army.

Pot Roast.

Use any kind of meat. Put into an iron pot a tablespoonful of meat fryings or butter; let it brown; wash off the roast and put into the pot. After it begins to fry, pour in enough water to half cover the meat; season with pepper and salt; cover and stew slowly. As the meat begins to fry, add more water; turn it often, and cook about three hours. A half hour before serving add either Irish or sweet potatoes or turnips; allow to brown with meat. If turnips are added prepare browned sweet potatoes separately.

On Shaking Hands.

The woman who offers her hand upon accepting an introduction conveys thereby a sign of cordial welcome of the acquaintance, but in formally fashionable society none but the hostesses pursue this course. The inclination of the head, a smile and a murmur of the name constitute a full recognition of an introduction in the eyes of many who regard their bearing as the expression of the best form. In a rather crowded drawing room this mode is to be commended, but at other times a woman, whose prerogative it is to take the initiative on this point, will not greatly err in almost unvaryingly offering her hand.

A Novel Catarrh Remedy Cures Without Drugs

The real danger of Catarrh lies in putting off treatment. You may have Catarrh yourself, but you may not know it. Before the disease spreads from your nose to the stomach, lungs or bronchial tubes, root it out—cure it with Catarrhozone. Look over the following symptoms—then examine yourself:

Bad Breath	Stuffy Nostrils
Frequent Sneezing	Ears Buzzing
Watery Eyes	Hacking Coughs
Bad Taste	Droppings
Raising Phlegm...	Difficult Breathing

Don't continue to burden your system for another day when the germs of such a filthy, loathsome disease as Catarrh. Get Catarrhozone to-day — inhale its soothing vapor, fill your breathing organs with its balsamic essences, and all traces of Catarrh will forever depart. Read what Elwood S. Lee, of Sydenham, Ont says of his cure with Catarrhozone:

"I was a chronic sufferer from continuous colds in the throat and nose, and for many years have constantly had Catarrh. I was recommended to try Catarrhozone, and find that by using the Inhaler on the first touch of a cold or la grippe I am able to stay it in a few hours. I have been able to breath through my nose freely since using Catarrhozone; in fact, I am completely cured. (Signed ELWOOD S. LEE."

Once you try Catarrhozone you'll realize how indispensable it is — the large dollar size contains an indestructible hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient medication to last for two months. Beware of the substitutor and imitators of Catarrhozone — use the genuine and you'll get cured. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

LOVE OF PUBLICITY.

All Who Profess Indifference Love To Be Mentioned In the Press.

No wonder editors, reporters, and journalists generally are cynical They see so much of the inner side of things. The public see Lord Blank, the cold, austere statesman, who cares nothing for the praise or blame of the newspapers, who "does not advertise"—in Kipling's famous phrase.

The editor knows Lord Blank to be a fussy old gentleman, who is furiously angry if his name is not in the account of any function he has happened to attend, if only as a spectator, and sends his chief private secretary to the newspaper in a swift motor-car in order that he may insist on the omission being rectified.

This writer once interviewed, for a London evening paper, a member of Parliament who had been making himself rather conspicuous by his attitude on Indian affairs. At the interview the M.P. was very condescending, and tried to give the impression that he cared nothing for publicity, and that he was merely giving the information "to oblige," so to speak. It will hardly be believed that that condescending legislator was so impatient to see what the paper said that he called at the office at the publishing hour in order to obtain a copy at the earliest possible moment!

A lady prominent in philanthropic and "social reform" circles was once made the object of a little gentle journalistic chaff by a colleague of the writer's. How angry she was! She called at the office, accompanied by a mild and down-trodden-looking husband, for the express purpose of rating him. After pouring out the vials of her wrath on the offending—but, one is afraid, quite unrepentant—scribe, she swept towards the door, which gave her husband a chance to whisper, with a stealthy wink: "The best advertisement my wife has ever had!"

Many people would rather be abused by the press than ignored altogether. There is one class, at least, that resents disparagement most bitterly, and that is the theatrical folk. As a dramatic critic and theatrical paragrapher this writer has noticed one curious fact. Mention to an actor of your acquaintance that you have given him a good notice, and he professes the utmost indifference—"hasn't seen it," and so forth. Give him a bad notice, and he sees it at once, and takes the trouble to seek you out and remonstrate with you personally.

In this connection here is another funny story. An eminent actor-manager once went to the United States with his company, and in due course "opened" in New York. The New York critics were very unkind, and next morning's paper contained a series of the most terrible slatings. The great man's manager went into his room at the hotel, where he was still in bed, to see how he was taking his "roasting." "Seen the papers? No! What do I care about papers?" said the actor languidly, turning over as if to sleep again and show his indifference. Alas, on that action there followed a most portentous rustling and crackling. He had got all the papers underneath the bedclothes!

One of these "hate-publicity" people once gave the present writer some information for an article, and on being asked, said he did not care about his name being mentioned, one way or the other. As the editor of the paper was down on anything that looked like a free "ad.," the name was accordingly omitted from the article. But the person who, on his own showing, was utterly indifferent to publicity, took the trouble to write a furious letter, roundly abusing the journalist for his "bad faith in leaving out his name!

Thimbles.

The thimble was at first worn on the thumb, and for that reason was called thumb bell, which later became thumble and finally thimble. It was invented by the Dutch and brought to England in 1695.

The first thimbles were made of iron or brass; later came those of silver, gold, steel, horn, ivory, pearl and glass. The Chinese make beautiful thimbles of carved pearl, with gold binding and ends.

One of the most gorgeous thimbles ever seen was a bridal gift from the King of Spain to his Queen; it was made of gold, shaped like a lotus bud, and was thickly studded with diamonds, arranged so as to spell the Queen's name.

The New and the Old.

Governor Foss of Massachusetts tells of a well known divine who came visiting a state prison when he came across a prisoner whose features were familiar to him. "What brought you here, my poor fellow?" he asked.

"You married me to a woman a little while ago, sir," the prisoner replied, with a sigh.

"Ah, I see," said the parson. "And she was domineering and extravagant, and she drove you to desperate courses, eh?"

"No," said the prisoner, "my old woman turned up."

Job Got His.

"You know Job was a very patient man," said the Sunday school teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," said the little scholar.

"And you know he had many, many afflictions come to him."

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, what do we learn from Job's life?"

"That everything comes to him who waits, ma'am."

Her Reason.

"Mabel proposed to me last night."

"What did you say?"

"I asked her if she was sure I am the only man she ever loved."

"Did she say that you are?"

"Not exactly. She said that I am the only man she ever loved that she thought she could manage."

Looking Backward.

Pelatiah Webster gnashed his teeth. "If I had dreamed they wanted to erect a statue to me I would have made it unconstitutional," he snorted. Sadly he gazed at current specimens of art.

That turkey trot episode demonstrates that T. R. is not the only one of the family who can stir up Washington.

Chinese Mohammedans are preparing to resist the Republic. It will probably be Allah same to Yuan.

Awful as was the calamity, when some 1500 people, in health and in the midst of enjoyment, went to their death aboard the Titanic, still how infinitely worse it is for the wives, husbands, fathers, mothers, daughters, sons, and other relatives of this list. For every one of those 1500 persons drowned there would probably be at least three broken-hearted people of consanguinity ashore, on two continents.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

TEMPER AND GREEN TULLE

And a Ring That Was Thought to Be Lost.

By SARA M'CONNELL.

He was busy getting the thought of her out of his mind, sore put to it to be free and his own man again. She was capricious, inconstant, vain; she was self willed and full of wiles; she was—oh, she was Alexandra Lee. He would not think of her.

A great deal that had happened that night was blurred to him. But the bang of the carriage door as they started home reverberated in his mind like the crack of doom. It had slipped from his hand and swung to with a crash. Alexandra's laugh mocked him. "With any one else, George, I'd have said the door slammed."

He remembered how she looked as he turned, something strange in her eyes that matched, in impression, the misty multitudinous rufflings and billowings of her gown—that frivolous, fluttering, elusive green tulle he had watched all evening as she danced with every other man in the room—with Herbert Hartley, a dawdling, gangling derelict, a signpost to every path but that of rectitude—of all men in the world, Herbert Hartley!

From her carriage corner Alexandra sighed. "I've had such a good time, and now I suppose there's the piper to pay."

"If you mean there is Hartley to settle for"—

"Herbert? You've a tone that hints at 'thirdly and fourthly, brethren,' and poor Herbert! He's so much more of a song than a sermon."

That began it. He had never meant to quarrel, only to deal with her in a firm, prompt fashion, as a man should. But he lectured her.

She bent down as he ended. "Are you there, Alexandra?" she asked of the floor. "Poor dear, there is nothing left to pick up. Oh, I'm tired, tired! I'm stifled. I can't breathe. There, take it back!" And she tossed the ring across to him. "Now one can draw a free breath."

"Alexandra!" he begged.

But he had cut, and she meant he should pay. And hers was a pretty gift of table turning.

He held his anger down. No more doors should slam by chance about him, and it was only as they neared the house that he interrupted:

"We haven't gained anything this way. Discuss me again. The point is Herbert Hartley."

"Then I must put on my bonds again? Where is the ring?"

But he hadn't the ring.

"You had it last."

"I laid it in your lap."

But it was not in her lap, on the seat nor in the carriage. Alexandra laughed. "Oh, thrifty George, are you sure you've not taken it back for safe keeping?"

He stood a long moment at her door. "And Hartley?" he said.

Insistence was match to her powder. "How can I answer unless we're engaged? And people can't be engaged without rings, can they, George? You seem to think with mine on that I fail to remember. Bring it back to me and—good night."

After a week of wrath mingled with pain he got himself under control and wrote her. But the answer came back the same absurd, maddening, almost insulting reiteration—the ring, always the ring. A perversity first or a pretext, did she use it now as a weapon? He hadn't the ring, she knew.

Life was turmoil once Alexandra entered, and he remembered with what perverse astuteness she had said herself: "I'm like a mustard plaster on your mind. You'd better take me off before I raise a blister."

But she was in every wind that blew, and without her nothing was worth while that once had been.

So for a fortnight he had gone about his accustomed ways, and, though many a flutter of familiar skirts had set his heart a-jump, yet he never had met Alexa since that night. Then a case of some importance took him out of town with such sharp demand upon all his faculties that he had known a sort of respite.

But back in the town his work was all to do again. He went his way down to his office. He bowed to people who drove past with a swift hope that Alexa would not be with them. And then unexpectedly with a group near the Hurds—there was Alexa!

Yes, it was Alexandra and Evelyn Hurd and with them Herbert Hartley.

The group stood until he had almost reached them, when Hartley turned, and Evelyn went back to the house, while Alexa stopped by the Hurds' waiting carriage.

He knew she had seen him long before, but—it was one of her insincerities he most disliked—she acted out acute surprise. He put a stiffer guard upon himself.

A stiffer guard! She called it by another name. She hated him when he was like that. How futile he made her feel, how trivial, how vain! Well, at least she would make him feel once more and betray it. She would wring out of him a protest.

And then her mind misgave her. Was she being left with the situation on her hands? Would he accept without protest? Would he never speak? She looked up and then down again to her ungloved hand on which his eyes were fixed. A seal ring of Herbert's took the place of the one that was lost. A joke—a stupid joke—but stupidity lent her a stammering tongue.

"George, George!" she called after him, but she entreated only an inflexible back. With Herbert's name on her lips and Herbert's ring on her finger, she was indeed left committed to the situation the last of her desiring.

• • • • • • •

Alexandra flaunted Herbert Hartley in Greenfield's face. She waved him abroad like a banner. If the town hummed with rumors of her, she helped the rumor wax, but helped it to no explanation.

But with her family there was one topic that, like the weapon used in committing a crime, seemed always impossible to dispose of. The nile green tulle—why didn't she wear it? And that was the one thing she couldn't do.

It was their house dressmaker that in a measure vanquished her at last. "One, two, three," measured the woman. "That's only once and a quarter, and I'll need as much again. Those ruffles on your nile green underpetticoat—they're a match, Miss Alexandra, and we're in a hurry."

Alexandra went into her room, shutting the door behind. The tulle hung upon the hooks with a kind of defiant grace, as if it still held something of its owner's quality. She took the gown down slowly and spread it gently out upon the bed. How happy she had been when she had worn it—the last time she had been happy!

She had meant they should have a memorable evening, she and George and the gown. And how had it so fallen out? Coquetry? What did it mean except that if it were good to be with George it was a joy still subtler to dance away with some one else knowing his eyes held her, followed her, and that for each the crowded room held only the other? Provocation, alluring, half a mystery to herself, it was like a fold of the silk that shimmered over its silk lining.

She slipped down upon the floor by the bedside and began to rip the flounces. What was it he said that had made her so angry? Her vanity was as endless as her caprice. He shouldn't have said it, and yet—it was true enough. Well, she had warned him. He was well rid of her. He had come out of the matter with a better grace than she had, except about the ring. No doubt it had been found long ago. It angered her afresh to think how stubborn he had been not to have told her. The way to make her feel how small she was was not to tell her so—that never served—but to take the big way and put her in the wrong by being generous. If he had given her a chance, half a chance—

The scissors snipped, snipped. It was thus she had laid a sharp tool on her happiness. She was cutting the stuff, but what did it matter? She was always cutting and tearing something dear to her.

And the ruffles must come off, they said. She bent nearer. She might as well tear and be done.

What was this hard thing on which the scissors struck and caught? Not, surely not— In her hand lay the ring.

• • • • • • •

"Alexa!" He had come at her urgent summons, but hotly rebellious. And yet Alexa, there before him—a curious figure hung about with green silk ruffles—Alexa, grieved, remorseful, pouring her heart out. How was it possible to withstand her?

"And I suppose," he said, the ring half back in its place again—"I suppose I'll have to marry you to save you from"—

But she would not let him speak the obnoxious name.

"You'll have to marry me to save me from Alexandra Lee."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Order of the Garter.

It is certainly to Edward III. that England owes the existence of the Order of the Garter with its motto, "Honi soit qui mal y pense," commonly but rather freely translated as "Evil to him who evil thinks." A more literal reading would be, "Shamed be he who thinks evil of it." The order was established on April 23, 1349. This is indubitable, but it is uncertain why the garter was selected as its name and symbol and what is the special significance of the motto. Polydore Vergil, whose history appeared in 1536, nearly 200 years after the event, is the earliest authority for the familiar story that the Countess of Salisbury, one of the king's favorites, dropped her garter at a ball and that Edward picked it up and handed it back with the remark that is now proverbial. Unfortunately for this story, it is known that "Honi soit qui mal y pense" was a familiar proverb long before Edward's day.—St. Louis Republic.

Caught the Crowd.

At nightfall the junior partner's exultation of the day changed to chagrin, and he clamored noisily for the errand boy's dismissal.

"Better think it over," the senior partner advised.

"Why waste time in thinking," the junior partner retorted, "when he's got to go? Here I am, lying awake every night for a week planning an effective window decoration, which is turned into a laughing stock the first day by the stupidity of that boy, who leaves three yards of blue woolen dust rag draped around silver tankards and trays of diamonds."

"Well," said the elder jeweler, "people stopped and looked, didn't they?"

"Yes, but what at—that dust rag?" growled the junior.

"That's why I advise you to keep the boy," advised the senior mildly. "If it hadn't been for him I am afraid nobody would have looked at all."—New York Sun.

A House That Can Fly.

A flying machine which can be rapidly converted into a neat little two-story cottage has been invented by Mr. H. G. Turner of Eldon Grove, Manchester, England.

The inventor asserts that this new departure in aviation will make the flying man independent of hotel accommodation, and enable him to guard his machine at night by sleeping, as it were, on the premises.

The aviator of the future, it is understood, will sweep a hawk-like glance over the landscape for a healthy gravel site, direct his volplane so as to alight with a south view, and then, by an adjustment of the planes, convert the aeroplanes into a neat little homestead. In the morning he will peer out to see if the weather holds good, and then make a quick change from health and home to planes and petrol.

Mr. Turner describes his machines as a tri-monoplane, and says that one or two minutes will suffice to convert the planes into a two-story structure, with a couple of cabins for sleeping and cooking. Oil stoves and bedding can be carried on the machine.

Dried Fruit.

Dried fruit tastes just as good when stewed in the oven, and this method has its advantages—the fruit will not dry and burn, it will remain whole and may be cooked while roasting or baking. Wash the fruit, pour boiling water over it and let it stand in a covered dish until ready to put in the oven. Then add the sugar, cover lightly and let the heat of the oven do the cooking. Prunes are always delicious when stewed in this way.

A Delicious Rabbit.

A treasured rule for Welsh rabbit in a girl's recipe book calls for a quarter of a cupful of milk, three ounces of Cheddar cheese cut into small dice, an egg, a tablespoonful of butter, salt, a little mustard and a shake or two of paprika. Bring the milk to a boil, put in the cheese and stir until it is melted. Then add the egg and seasonings, stir until the mixture is creamy and turn over toasted bread or crackers.

In view of the appalling disaster to the Titanic, it would seem that the various Governments should take active and immediate steps to provide safety for trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific liners. Why should 2,000 or 3000 expensive tickets be sold for a trip when there is manifestly not nearly enough boats to save passengers in case of accident? Even the authorities of the steamship companies have to admit that they carried many more passengers and crew than their boats could possibly hold. Supposing the accident to the Titanic had occurred during a storm. Instead of 900 being saved, the loss would have been even more terrible. The greed of big corporations for big money seems to over-ride their thoughts for public life or limb.

Mr. Lucius E. Wilson, President of the American Association of Commercial Executives, and Secretary of the Detroit Board of Trade, for whom a special train was put together by the Grand Trunk Railway, in order that he might be present at the annual banquet of the Sherbrooke Board of Trade, where he was the chief guest, has just written Mr. D. E. Galloway, Assistant to the President of the G.T.R., as follows: "Upon my return from a prolonged eastern trip, I feel impelled to express my appreciation of the courtesy shown me by the Grand Trunk management on the night of Tuesday, February 6th.

In furnishing the special train to carry me to Sherbrooke from Montreal, the Grand Trunk management extended such a substantial kindness that I am at a loss to know just how to acquaint you with my sense of the obligation. The event has convinced me that "G.T" are the initials for both "Grand Trunk" and "Get There."

No one feels the inadequacy of my attempt to express my appreciation of your kindness more than the writer himself. At the same time I am somewhat relieved by the thought that the special train was only another evidence of the energy of a great and growing Railway system—that it was part of your policy of doing what you set out to do."

HOW TO CARE FOR BOOKS.

They Should Be Protected From Gas, Heat and Light.

It is surprising how few of the many owners of books are aware of the simple means required to preserve them in a useful condition and what astonishment is felt when a book removed from the shelf leaves one side behind or dangling by the hinge.

Heat, gas, light and, by no means least, electricity are the chief disintegrating influences upon leather bindings. Books bound previous to 1850 have the advantage over more modern ones, as most if not all of the tanners of that earlier time used tanbark. Since that date the use of sulphuric and oxalic acids has been almost universal, and so insidious are their effects that they can hardly be realized until the damage is done.

Old books brought from other countries are apt to succumb very quickly to the altered climatic conditions. Lack of moisture in the air, together with our modern system of heating, as well as gaslight, "central" heat and electricity, has a very injurious effect upon them in a few years. The use of lubricant or food is almost essential to offset this. A large importer has expressed a wish that every imported book of value might be so treated at once to fortify it in its new environment. Even under the most favorable conditions the need of some such treatment is becoming recognized, for the Vatican and other noted libraries are being treated to prevent dry rot, the leather's greatest enemy. Years of drying out of the natural oil in the skin and the total absorption of such oil where the tanning is done with acids have brought the conviction that some means must be resorted to by which the life of the leather can be restored.

Very few think of placing leather bound books on the lower shelves to avoid the greater heat above; of preventing sunlight from striking them, for, like electricity, it burns and fades the leather if concentrated upon it for any length of time; of giving them light and air, with plenty of circulation. Bindings suffer far more from being shut behind glass doors than from the accumulation of dust or even from careless handling by ignorant servants. The dusting of books is something which should be trusted to careful or expert hands only, for the hinges can easily be broken by dropping or the corners knocked off, particularly if the leather be dry. The vacuum cleaner, of course, does away with such disasters in the electrically equipped house.

Overcrowding the shelves is another cause of damage. It not only rubs the sides, but prevents the proper circulation of air.

A Move Impending.

It was after morning school, and the teacher was in such a good temper that little Tommy sidled up to him to discuss a decidedly personal matter.

"Please, teacher," the small boy began, "I fancy I shall be leaving this school soon."

The tutor looked interested and hazarded a query as to the reason for this parting of the ways.

"Well, sir," continued the pupil, "mother burnt the door of the coal-house and the lid of the copper, and father's started chopping down the stairs."

"Yes, my boy," said the schoolmaster kindly. "But what makes you imagine you'll be leaving the district?"

"Well, you see, teacher," continued the boy, "when we've burnt the stairs we always move!"—Answers.

Saved by a Snake.

Count Zinzendorf, the founder of the Moravians, visited North America in 1742 and for a short time labored as a missionary among the Shawnee Indians. When he first went to them they received him with coldness, and a plot was formed to assassinate him. The count was sitting one evening in his wigwam upon a bundle of dry weeds which he had gathered for his bed. While he was writing by the light of a small fire a rattlesnake, warmed into activity, crawled over one of his legs. Just then the murderous savages lifted the blanket that served for a door and looked in. They stood motionless for some minutes watching the aged man and then, gliding from the scene, fled into the forest. From that night the missionary found them friends and listeners.

An Almanac Started In 1686.

The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanach National," which has been issued by the French Government since 1686. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career. Originally the "Almanach Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1805 and reverted to its original name nine years later. Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort, the "Almanach National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages, as compared with 1,580 pages now.—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Keep It Quiet.

Being called to his feet unexpectedly at the gathering and asked to respond informally to the toast "The Ladies," Mr. Gillers hemmed and hawed and began:

"My friends, all that I am, all that I have in the world, I owe to a woman—my wife."

Here he was interrupted by that lady herself, who arose and said:

"I told you when you put the property in my name you'd give it away the first time you opened your mouth."

Too Ready With Assistance.

Smith—Goldmore is a very generous old fellow. Do you know, he's always helping somebody out.

Jones (sadly)—Yes, I know. I was down to see his daughter the other night, and he helped me out too.

One Kind.

"Pa, in this book it speaks about a necessary evil. What is a necessary evil?"

"The bridegroom at a wedding is one kind."

An active volcano is announced from Panama. But it is as nothing compared to the isthmian eruption in Germany.

J. P. Alexander, Ex-M.P.P., dropped dead yesterday at Boissevain, Man., when told of the Titanic disaster. He was troubled with heart disease.

With her numerous watertight compartments closed, it will remain a mystery, until more definite information has been received, how the Titanic could have sunk so quickly. The blow must have been tremendous, so great, in fact, as to break her back.

A big real estate deal was put through in Norwood Thursday morning when the Reynolds property on the corner of Colborne and Peterborough streets changed hands, the purchasers being Messrs. John Whyte and John Baskin.

The consolidation of the city's by-laws is a proposal that Ald. Gordon is considering and will likely introduce at a council meeting in the near future. This would mean that the by-laws would have to be printed and prepared in booklets.

Residents along Chambers street complain of the filthy condition of that alley. Ashes, garbage and filth are piled high along the sides. As a matter of fact the stench along that street is an offence to the nostrils of any man.

The Methodist Church at Millbrook is being wired for electric light by Mr. Ash, of this city. The Board has ordered some handsome fixtures. This will make a great improvement in the Church.

Flags at Half Mast.

The flags on the public buildings at Lindsay are at half mast as a mark of respect to the victims of the Titanic disaster. Why cannot this city show an equal amount of respect to those who died so bravely?

Bridge At Nassau Unsafe.

Rumors were current on Saturday that the County bridge over the Otonabee at Nassau, was in danger, and that Mr. J. H. Garbutt, chairman of the County Committee on Roads and Bridges had closed the bridge to traffic.

Harvey People Object to Grant.

The people of Harvey township, according to reports, are very wrathy over the action of the Council which passed a by-law authorizing the reeve to sign the receipt for $950 as the amount in full for all damage through drowned lands. It is said that the $950 is far below the actual loss.

Winnipeg Singer at Murray St.

Mrs. T. L. Waldon, soprano soloist of Winnipeg, delighted the large congregation at both morning and evening services at the Murray street church yesterday. Mrs. Waldon is the possessor of a remarkably pure, and sweet soprano voice, and is a most popular vocalist in Winnipeg.

Of Interest to Steamboat Men.

Bobcaygeon Independent: In a paragraph last week concerning the opening of navigation last year, either Capt. Geo. Hamilton of this great journal got a trifle off on dates. By reference to the issue of April 28th, last year, it is stated that the ice on Sturgeon Lake broke up on the 20th, and the Arthur C. made the first trip to Lindsay on that date.

Special Music at St. John's.

At the massed memorial service, held in St. John's Church last night, the music (other than hymns) was as follows: Requiem "Sleep, the last sleep," Sullivan; "Crossing the Bar," Tennyson (Sir Frederick Bridge) by St. John's Choir; "Dead March," in Saul, Handel; "Marche Funebre," Chopin, by 57th Regimental Band.

South Beach Summer Resort.

Mr. W. E. Brooks, the popular proprietor of the South Beach Summer Resort, was in the city on Saturday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Brooks is making preparations for the season, and there is every expectation of this being a very busy one, as he has already had some applications for American tourists for accommodation.

Insurance Men Meet.

The regular meeting of the Life Underwriters of Central Ontario was held Friday evening in Hooper's Grill Room, where an excellent spread was placed before a large assembly. Mr. John Rothwell gave an interesting address on Industrial Insurance. Mr. G. I. Allen also briefly reviewed Industrial Insurance. Mr. Thos. Warke, president of the Life Underwriters, presided, the only out-of-town visitor was Mr. P. A. Ferguson of Lindsay.

Public School B. B. Club.

The Public School Baseball League has been reorganized for the season, with every prospect of a most successful season. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Vice-Pres.—Mr. D. Walker.
President—Mr. Neal.
Secretary treasurer—Mr. M. H. Park.

Executive Committee—The above officers and Messrs. Rouzel, Stacey, Kerr, Richardson and Downie.

It was decided to have two series—Senior and Junior.

Requiem Service at St. John's.

Yesterday evening a special service was held under the auspices of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 26, S.O.E., and the St. George's Society of this city. Representatives from other local fraternal societies participated. The representatives of the societies taking part, met at the S.O.E. Hall and headed by the 57th Band, marched to St. John's church. Here Rev. Canon Davidson, gave an impressive and touching address, based on the loss of the Titanic. The hymns and the whole service was specially arranged to suit the occasion.

Apsley Horse and Auto.

Apsley horses and automobiles do not seem to assimilate. On Saturday afternoon as Mr. Robt. Anderson of that burg, was driving his horse past a bubble cart, the horse took fright. It turned quickly and Mr. Anderson was thrown from his vehicle. The horse was captured near the canoe works. Mr. Anderson sustained a sever scalp wound in addition to several minor bruises. He was able to proceed to his home without assistance. The top of the buggy was all but demolished, but beyond this the outfit was intact.

Suckers Bit, Advertiser Fled.

Here is seemingly a new one, in the way of extracting the unearned increment, from confiding people's pockets. Frank Andrews, Norwood, advertised fancy chickens at fancy prices, and a few confiding victims fancied his literature and bit. They sent sums from $5 to $15 to this smooth advertizer, but never a chicken did they get. High County Constable Geo. Cochrane went to that village, with a warrant for Andrew's arrest. However, this smooth man had taken train for Vancouver, B.C.

Park St. Church Club Officers.

The Park street Baseball Club has been reorganized for the season, the following officers being elected:

President—J. W. Cook.
Vice-Pres.—W. Brown.
Secretary—P. G. Webb.

Executive Committee—Alex. McArthur, (Knox); H. Flowers, (St. John's); H. Turner (St. James); J. Theobald (Park St.).

Four teams were represented viz.: St. John's, St. James', Knox and Park street.

A special meeting is called for next Friday night at the Y.M.C.A., at 8 o'clock, sharp, when representatives of all teams wishing to join, and the managing committee are expected to be present.

OBITUARY.

William Udy.

On Friday evening last, a well known resident of Bridgenorth, in the person of Mr. William Udy, passed away. Mr. Udy was eighty-six years of age, and had lived in the district for a half a century. The late Mr. Udy is survived by a sorrowing wife, four sons and three daughters, namely, William and Norton, of London, Ont., Dean of French River; Percy of Bridgenorth, Mrs. Robinson, living in the West, Pauline and Lily living at Bridgenorth.

The funeral will be held at the family residence, Bridgenorth, at 2 p.m. to-day. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

More Water Mains.

At the meeting of the Water Commissioners, held Friday evening with Mr. T. F. Matthews in the chair, the secretary reported that he had been served with a writ of the suit of the Bishop Construction Co. against the city for $23,000, and on instructions from the chairman, had given it to the City Solicitor.

The acting superintendent reported on the petition for a main on Cross street from Cedar to McDonnell street; that the cost would be $508.25, and revenue $63.15. He was authorized to lay the main.

He was also authorized to lay a main on King Edward street, where the cost would be $481.60, and revenue $84.46. Another main will be proceeded with on Carlisle avenue, 132 feet east of the end of the present main; cost will be $161.20, and revenue will be $16.25.

This Not a Record for High Water.

Garnet Nicholl, who farmed on the shores of Ennismore, forty two years ago, says that the water this year is not as high as then. In that year he conveyed his seed potatoes in a log canoe across the fields of his neighbor, and fish were speared that spring around the stone piles in the fields. That was the spring that Mr. Sam Dixon, the lumberman of Peterboro, was drowned off his own dam. The river flooded over the floors of the lower story of Mr. M. Boyd's house at that time. Those of our older citizens who read this will remember that in the year mentioned, the river ran completely over the top of the locks, near the Little Lake Cemetery, and that a ferry service was necessary to enable people living in the south ward to go shopping and return home. The ferry in question began about where the Ackerman factory is located, and extended to where the new Government dam, or McDonald's mill now stands.

And the Cat Came Back.

A family living on George street has a cat of the Thomas persuasion. It was lost for several days, but returned last night, seemingly, for its customary milk and scraps of meat. The small boy of the house, who had mourned "Tom's" absence, was delighted. The rest of the family, however, were not so delighted when "Tom," instead of stopping at his saucer of milk proudly deposited the head and front quarters of a big gray rat on the parlor sofa.

Salvation Army Honored the Dead.

Yesterday evening a memorial service was held in the Salvation Army Temple in memory of the dead aboard the Titanic. The subject of the discourse was "Lessons from the Loss of the Titanic." Appropriate music was rendered. Prior to this service the usual open air meeting was held on the market square, at 6.30, and the Temple Silver Band played the "Dead March in Saul," as well as on the march to the Temple.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Rev. Canon Davidson yesterday presented the annual statement of the Churchwardens of St. John's.

Butter on Saturday's market, ran from 29c to 31c per pound. Eggs were somewhat lower in price, ranging from 19c to 20c a dozen.

Mink are said to be scarce this year down the river, and in the Kawartha Lakes. Their pelts bring from $5 to $6 each.

The Orangemen of Tweed are looking for a site in that town on which to erect a splendid new Orange Temple.

A building permit was issued on Saturday for an addition to the Peterborough Club's building, Water street.

The members of the T.A.S. attended Holy Communion in a body at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning.

Several hundred people were unable to gain admission to the requiem service held in St. John's church last night.

"Is Mars Inhabited?" will be the subject discussed Monday evening at the Collegiate Institute by local members of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Francis McGuer, a regular boarder at the Castle Nesbitt for the past five years, on Saturday morning in the Police Court, got another six months hoist.

The fine Salvation Army Band played the Dead March from Saul on George street last night. The crowd surrounding them with reverently bowed heads.

Peterborough certainly showed her sympathy for the victims of the Titanic disaster yesterday. Flags flew at half mast and the services at all the churches, feeling references were made to the most awful occurrence of modern marine history.

The North American Life Assurance Co. issues policies second to none. The profits given to policyholders are equal to those of the very best. Insure your life in the North American Life Assurance Co. Office, 187 Charlotte Street. (6t-A8t18)

DIED.

UDY—On April 19th, 1912, William Udy, of Bridgenorth. Funeral on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, Bridgenorth, to Little Lake cemetery.

RUSSIA SCENE MANY SUICIDES

Youthful Self-Murder Common in Land of Czar

Odessa, April 20.—One of the three local suicides recently reported was that of a boy of twelve and a half years, named Prokofi Moltchanovski, the son of a well-to-do parents, by hanging himself. The cause was of an extremely trivial nature—a days delay in a tailor's delivery of a new costume. Prokofi is described as having been a very bright, healthy and intelligent little fellow, and head of his form in the fourth class of the Odessa National School.

The number of youthful suicides in the country are shockingly numerous. One frequently hears of young students of both sexes between the ages of 15 and 17 taking their own lives for no more serious reason than that of having failed to pass their sessional examinations. It is unwise for the parents and teachers of children of nervous temperaments, in the way of an incentive to industry, to impress upon them the dire disgrace of being plucked by the examiners and set back a year in their courses.

On the part of the education authorities it is also a foolishly religious regulation that penalizes by a year's backwardation the failure in two or three subjects out of a score. The boy or girl naturally feels the disgrace of being kept a second term in the same class, and school diplomas, which are of primary importance and value, are unobtainable until after the six classes have been passed; otherwise the pupils are debarred entry into the higher institutes and the universities, and are ineligible for many grades in the civil service.

A deplorably greater number of youthful suicides occur among the "intellectuals" which are directly attributable to what is generally and conventionally described in the press reports as romantic causes. Measured by the shocking frequency of felo de se, there must assuredly, be more youthful romances in Russia than in any other country in the civilized world.

RUNAWAY KILLS ROLAND CARTER

Toronto, April 20.—Roland Carter, a driver for the Borthwick Baking Co., Limited, was almost instantly killed when the horse which he was driving ran away on Severn avenue, shortly after noon on Saturday.

When at the corner of Severn avenue and Yonge street the horse took fright at a newspaper blown along the roadway by the wind and suddenly bolted down Severn avenue. The unexpected jolt threw Carter to the pavement and he fell between the wheels, one of the rear wheels passing over his head.

He was picked up unconscious and died before the arrival of the police ambulance. His body was later removed to the morgue where an inquest will be opened on Monday.

There is a movement on foot at Bobcaygeon to get a special train on the C.P.R. from Toronto, during the tourist season.

White Star People Considered That the Titanic Herself Was a "Great Big Lifeboat"

WHITE STAR LINE KNEW THAT BOATS WERE PICKED UP

Washington, April 22.—In the caucus room of the Senate office building was staged to-day the epilogue of the Titanic tragedy. The Senate's probe of the world's greatest sea disaster reconvened here before an audience that jammed every inch of room Crushed in with the rough-clothed seamen witnesses from the Titanic, were scores of richly-dressed society women, anxious to hear the dread story of the wreck. There was scarcely a handful of legislators in the big chambers at either end of the Capitol, most of them being in constant attendance at the hearings.

Meanwhile agents of the Senate committee are searching newspaper files for the exact details of the tragedy with which certain survivors may be familiar. Senator Smith, chairman of the committee, declared to-day that the hearings would be continued "indefinitely," although he refused to confirm it. The belief here is that already several of his agents are preparing to interview the Titanic's survivors throughout the country, with the idea of summoning all those to Washington who may be able to shed additional light on the foundering of the leviathan.

Major Peuchen to Testify.

Major Arthur Peuchen of Toronto, Canada, wrote the committee that he had some sensational evidence to give, and would appear in Washington this afternoon.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer has directed that the wireless operators on the scout cruisers Chester and Salem be held subject to the committee's call. He is incensed at the criticism of the wireless men of the Carpathia that the navy operators were "incompetent."

In connection with the investigation of wireless reports from the rescue ship Carpathia, the committee expects to investigate orders to the operators on that vessel from Marconi agents in New York that "they keep their mouths shut" and sell their "stories" of the Titanic's wreck and the rescue of her passengers and crew by the Carpathia.

Senator Smith stated to-day that he would welcome the appearance here of any survivor able to give any new evidence of the Titanic disaster. The committee's agents are overwhelmed with the magnitude of their task of classifying the evidence which it is hoped to secure from witnesses already located, and the Senator intimated that he would be glad to receive suggestions from all survivors. The committee met informally yesterday at Senator Smith's home, and was in session until late in the night mapping out the enquiry.

To Call Women Passengers.

Just as soon as the interrogation of officers and seamen of the Titanic, now held here, is completed, it is planned to have here a number of the women survivors. Senator Smith said to-day that already he expected to call Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Geo. D. Widener, Mrs. John Thayer, and probably Mrs. Henry B. Harris. All of these, it is understood, have written the Senator voluntarily offering assistance.

Governmental experts on shipbuilding will be called to explain the technical side of naval construction, and to act as aides to the committee None of the committee men to-day would say when the British officers and crew of the Titanic, held here as witnesses, will be excused.

Because of the fact that at least two survivors have already been quoted as saying that several members of the lifeboat crews were drunk and brutally forced women survivors to work, it is believed here that until their stories can be probed and repeated under oath, none of the crew at present held here will be released.

The four survivors, and 32 sailors, stewards, and waiters, held here are exceedingly wrathy at the prospect of an indefinite detention here and sullenly refused all interviews here to-day.

FORMER MRS. ASTOR NOW RETURNING TO NEW YORK

New York, April 22.—Confined to the bed, where she reviews with tears, the horrors of the Titanic disaster, and her parting with her husband on the icy seas, the young widow of John Jacob Astor learned today that her predecessor, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, is returning to America to comfort her son Vincent, who at the age of twenty-one becomes head of the house of Astor.

Since Madeline Force married John Jacob Astor she has not met his former wife. It may be forced to choose between his mother and the charming girl who became his stepmother.

Dr. Reuel E. Kimball, Mrs. Astor's physician, said to-day that he had little fear for his patient. She is a robust young woman, and the physician thinks she will recover rapidly.

Piecemeal descriptions of the sinking Titanic and her parting with her husband have been given the Astor family by the bride-widow. She was in one of the last boats to leave the liner, and she declared emphatically that her husband made no attempt to accompany her. The place he might have taken was filled by a man who fought his way through the crowd and leaped into the boat as it was lowered away, she said.

This man appropriated all of the blankets he could find and cowered in the bottom of the boat.

FEES FOR GARBAGE COLLECTION CHARGEABLE TO LANDLORDS

PETITION THAT TENANTS BE HELD RESPONSIBLE, NOT GRANTED.

The City Council Regret That These Fees Must Go on the Tax Bills, But Can See no Other Practicable Manner of Collection. Ald. Duffus Contends That Some Petitioners Not Owning Property to be Affected by the By-law Signed Petition Under a False Impression.

A strongly signed petition against the intention that fees for the collection of garbage shall be charged against the owners of properties served, was submitted to the City Fathers last night.

Was Petition Padded.

In regard to this petition, Ald. Duffus offered that the petitioners come before Council and explain some other workable scheme for this collection. Again, on the petition are a number of signatures of property owners not within the present garbage limit. These people had been persuaded that under the by-law they would have to contribute toward the privileges afforded a district in which they are not directly interested. One such South-Ward victim is hot foot after the man who inveigled him into signing the petition under misrepresentation. In such manner he has reason to believe the petition had been materially padded.

Aldermen Johnston, Graham and Morgan strongly opposed the charges for garbage collection going on the tax bills, and urged that a man collect such fees from the tenants served.

Aldermen Gordon and Duffus contended that by that system of collection it would cost such a sum to collect 15c a month as would not justify Council in the eyes of the people.

The Council as a whole could see no other reasonable solution of this knotty question. They would all prefer keeping these fees off the tax bills but could not justify themselves in either having the Sanitary Inspector collect for garbage, which would take up considerable of his time, or in paying a special collector.

Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Johnson.—That the garbage by-law be amended to provide for the fees being collected from the tenants—Lost, only mover and seconder and Ald. Morgan voting for the resolution.

The garbage by-law accordingly stands as originally passed and charges for garbage collection will be billed against the property affected.

The City Solicitor thought the matter would work out satisfactorily to property owners, who must raise their rents per month in accordance with the garbage fees.

In the case of leases, such tenants will simply have to pay the garbage assessment to the property owner.

VICE-PRESIDENT ADMITS THAT MESSAGES SENT UNFOUNDED

Washington, April 22.—Vice-President R. A. S. Franklin, of the International Mercantile Marine Company told the Senate Investigating Committee to-day how he had asked to have the earlier reports of the Titanic disaster held up to avoid unnecessary alarm. He denied any knowledge of the message addressed to Representative Hughes, of West Virginia, about the ship being towed to Halifax and gave other details. Bit by bit he contributed to the evidence the Senate is seeking to throw light on the catastrophe that sank the Titanic, the pride of the seas, sent almost 1,600 people to their death, and plunged the world into mourning.

Sent Out False Statement.

After denying that officials of the White Star Line had any knowledge of a misleading telegram to Mr. Hughes, it was acknowledged by Mr. Franklin that he had issued reassuring statements which he had no facts on which to base them. Mr. Franklin was the first witness. The witness read from a great sheaf of wireless telegrams received Monday morning. None of them contained any information of value, but it was upon this data that the line issued its statements in an effort, said Mr. Franklin to reassure inquirers. Later when the news came, he said he sent immediately for the reporters and proceeded to begin reading to them the lengthy Marconigram from the Carpathia giving the gruesome news in considerable detail.

When the Reporters Rushed Out.

"I began to read," said Mr. Franklin, "Titanic went down this morning at 2.20 o'clock, and then I looked up. There was not a reporter in the room. They were all racing for telephones to get the news out to the world."

Mr. Franklin denied that the White Star Company had any intention to spirit away from the country any Titanic officers or crew or that the plans to return the survivors of the crew were prompted by any desire to suppress the facts. He said that nothing that the officers or crew could tell could effect what might be told by surviving passengers.

WAR SCARE ONLY IN JINGO PRESS

Strassburg, April 21.—The French poet and politician, Loyson, has arrived here after making a tour of Germany and of Alsace-Lorraine. He says his investigations show that the German people, as a whole, are peacefully inclined and abhor war, even though a number of reckless newspapers try to stir up war.

The most outspoken of them is the Berlin Post, a paper without circulation except in official circles. The Kaiser himself reads it religiously every day, but seems to take no notice of what it says. The Post persistently stirs up trouble, both with England and France—on paper, but having no circulation, its diatribes fall flat.

"We have just such criminally foolish papers in France, but the people do not respond. For forty years the French people have demonstrated that they do not want war with Germany. All they want is to be prepared."

SCHOONER HURT IN A FOG

Seven Survivors of the Uranus Brought Into Port of Gloucester, Mass.

Boston, April 22, 1912.

TELEGRAMS from the fishing port of Gloucester say that with bowsprit and the forward rigging gone, as the result of a collision in a heavy fog off Sable Island Tuesday morning, the fishing schooner, John Hays Hammond came into Gloucester harbor to-day bringing seven of the crew of the Canadian schooner Uranus.

Whether the seven other members of the crew of the Uranus were drowned, and whether the vessel foundered, Capt. Lemuel Spinney, of the Hammond, cannot say. He and the others still hope that the Uranus which drifted off and was swallowed up in the fog, was not so badly damaged as to be unable to make port, even with her short crew.

The Hammond was returning from a trip after fresh mackerel. At 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, with Capt. Spinney at the wheel, she was feeling through a thick blanket of fog twenty miles west of Sable Island. The Hammond was sailing west on the port tack. Capt. Spinney says that the Uranus suddenly loomed out of the fog, sailing southeast by east, and on the starboard tack. The two vessels had room to pass each other other comfortably.

Evidently the helmsman of the Uranus lost his head. Just as she came close to the Hammond her course was changed, she swung before the

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

MR. VINETTE EXPLAINS

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—There has been correspondence in the Examiner, in regard to the washout at Roger's dam last January. I saw that the Examiner tried to blame Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., for this accident. This accusation is too ridiculous for serious consideration. Mr. Burnham is neither an engineer nor a dam builder. His time is occupied, and will be used in the many duties of his Parliamentary work. It would be just as fair to blame Mr. Burnham if a horse belonging to the Dominion Government got the glanders.

Now the Examiner seems to blame me for such fault, if any, that may have led to this washout. I would like, Mr. Editor, through your columns, to explain that I was, and am merely a foreman on the Trent Canal work. I take my orders from my superiors on the Canal. I have done my best during my period of service, with the canal, and cannot, in reason, be blamed for any trouble that may arise from work done, under my supervision, so long as I strictly follow the orders of my superiors. In fact, last December, when the work was temporarily shut down, for lack of appropriations, I went to my superior officer and warned him that this dam would not stand the pressure of the high water in the spring He assured me that he had superintended the building of other dams and would take all responsibility. Surely this lets me out. When the washout came in January, I went to my superior officer and told him. "If you had let me finish the dam as I suggested to you, the water would have been controlled." All the answer I got was "The water might as well run through that washout as anywhere else." I will simply conclude by saying, I have had practical experience in dam building for some thirty-four years. In the Rogers Dam. I simply acted under orders, could not change the place of a timber or a stone, so how could I, after giving advice, that might have saved the dam, be blamed?

—Ed. Vinette.

50 BODIES SO FAR FOUND NEAR SCENE OF DISASTER

St. John's, Nfld., April 22.—The work of picking up bodies of the victims of the Titanic disaster was continued to-day by the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett, according to meagre wireless despatches received here.

No details of the results of the Mackay-Bennett cruise have come ashore yet, further than the statement that most of the bodies cannot be identified because clad only in sleeping garments. A number of bodies, however, have been identified and placed in coffins. Nothing regarding the identifications is obtainable here as yet.

Fifty bodies of Titanic victims were recovered by the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett, according to a telegraph message received at the White Star offices here to-day by wireless. The message read as follows:

"Latitude 41.58, longtitude 49.21 . . . heavy south-west squall has interferred with operations. Fifty bodies recovered. All not embalmed will be buried at sea 8 p.m., with divine service. Can only bring embalmed bodies to port."

The message was dated Sunday, and it is believed a number of bodies of the Titanic victims have already been committed to the deep from the morgueship.

Word by wireless from the cableship Mackay-Bennett, which has been searching the vicinity of the Titanic disaster and has reported the recovery of 64 bodies was eagerly awaited here to-day, as the cable ship is under instructions to send forward immediate identifications of the dead and any other information obtainable.

The White Star officials said that any information from the Mackay-Bennett, which is under orders to remain in the vicinity of the wreck for a week, will be made public on receipt. Only those bodies that have been identified or admit of being identified will be brought back by the Mackay-Bennett. Some of the victims have undoubtedly been mutilated by ice so that identification is impossible.

CITY WILL CREATE A FUND IN AID OF SUFFERERS THROUGH SINKING OF THE TITANIC

His Worship Mayor W. H. Bradburn, and the City Council will head a fund in aid of the bereaved widows orphans and other dependent kin of those unfortunates who lost their lives in the "Titanic" disaster. The city treasury will also be drawn on as liberally as warranted by circumstances in this connection.

Representatives of the St. George's Society and the Sons of England waited upon the City Fathers last night in connection with the foregoing and urged the Council to actively interest themselves in the matter.

Ald. Gordon, while strongly in sympathy with the proposition, but offered that the White Star Company's liability for damages for the loss of life in regard to the crew and possibly the passengers, would materially affect the situation in regard to the amount of aid needed. He therefore moved, seconded by Ald. Buller, that the Finance Minister, Aldermen Morgan, Graham, Johnston and Brown be a committee to report at the next Council as to extent to which the city shall contribute to this worthy object, and also to report on the scheme in general.—Carried.

Mr. A. Read, on behalf of the St. George's Choral Society, offered to the city, the services of the society in repeating their late concert in contribution to the proposed fund

PEOPLE WILL VOTE ON BY-LAW TO PURCHASE FAIR GROUNDS

THE FIXED PRICE TO BE $30,000.00.

If the Ratepayers Approve of Scheme Exhibition Association Will Pay the Interest and the City Take Care of the Sinking Fund—Property Not to be Purchased Now, But at the Expiration of Present Five Years' Lease—By-law For Bridge in Neighborhood of Dalhousie or Sherbrooke Streets to Be Submitted to the Ratepayers.

The City Fathers met in special session last night. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Morgan, Anderson, Graham, Johnston, Brown, Duffus, Gordon, Duncan and Buller.

Refuse Grounds Rented.

In regard to a refuse ground for the city, Ald. Duncan reported that the best proposition before the special committee appointed to look into this question was that of Mr. Smith, to rent his lot, situated three lots below the McWilliams' property, in North Monaghan, and take care of the refuse dumped therein, for $300 a year.

Mr. Sucee expressed to Council his willingness to sell the city a 20-acre lot in North Monaghan for this purpose.

McGregor Bros., offered a lot in North Monaghan at a rental of $425 a year, they to take care of all the refuse dumped thereon.

Moved by Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That for this season, Mr. Smith's offer be accepted, on the same conditions covering the late agreement with Mr. McWilliams to apply.—Carried.

In the rental and care of this refuse ground the city is saving $200, Mr. McWilliams, who has held the contract for years past having jumped his price until this year it reached the $500 mark.

The city will probably buy a lot by next year, and,

Ald. Gardon moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That Ald. Duncan and Brown be a committee to report on the prospective purchase of permanent refuse grounds.—Carried.

It's Up to the People.

The Industrial Exhibition directors are anxious that the city should purchase the present exhibition grounds at the price of $30,000 offered by the present owner, Mr. R. A. Morrow. The directors hold a lease of this property at a rental of $500 per annum, with the option of purchase at the lease's expiration in five years.

The directors of the exhibition appeared before Council last night in regard to the foregoing. Their spokesman, Mr. R. Neill, submitted that the city's assurance to purchase would be an incentive for the directors to at once go ahead with improvements in the shape of new buildings. They could not, however, see

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, American Wife of Irish Leader.

MRS. T. P. O'CONNOR.

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, wife of the famous Irish member of parliament, is in this country for a short stay and has recently made a tour of the south gathering material for a book to be called "My Beloved South."

Mrs. O'Connor is herself a daughter of the southland and as Miss Pascal spent most of her young life in Texas, but for the past decade or so she has been a brilliant figure in the literary and social life of London.

The wife of the great Nationalist is the author of several interesting books, but as a playwright she has gained most distinction, her latest play, "The Stronger Sex," having met with great success both in America and in London.

Mrs. O'Connor is a woman of wonderful charm and has the fire, active brain, dark hair and eyes, olive skin and comely figure of the southern American lady. A fluent talker, she has a delightful fund of anecdote; a woman of sound common sense and Ambition of M. Madarasz.

The oldest member of parliament in the world, the Hungarian deputy, M. Joseph Madarasz, who is now in his ninety-ninth year, issues a denial of the statement that he is about to retire into private life. M. Madarasz says that he means to retain his mandate till he has completed his 100th year, if not longer. He carries a list of all the centenarians in the world constantly with him and marks them off as they die. He is determined to outlive them all and some day to have the distinction of being the oldest man in the world.

$2,000,000 Worth of Junk.

A statement compiled at the war department in Washington shows that from sales of scrap iron and other unused material which was left on the isthmus of Panama by the Frenchmen who did work on the canal fifteen years ago the government has already realized the sum of $2,112,000. Over 20,000 tons of metals from these abandoned plants have been shipped to the United States, and there is much work yet to be done. Some of the abandoned machinery has been put in order and is being used.—Railway Age Gazette.

Wireless Stopped by Mountain.

It has been observed repeatedly on board vessels stationed west of Cape Otway (at the southern tip of Australia) that it was impossible to communicate with vessels situated in the port of Melbourne. This has been attributed to the fact that the mountain which forms the cape contains large quantities of metallic minerals which absorb electric waves.—Chicago Tribune.

On Shaking Hands.

The woman who offers her hand upon accepting an introduction conveys thereby a sign of cordial welcome of the acquaintance, but in formally fashionable society none but the hostesses pursue this course. The inclination of the head, a smile and a murmur of the name constitute a full recognition of an introduction in the eyes of many who regard their bearing as the expression of the best form. In a rather crowded drawing room this mode is to be commended, but at other times a woman, whose prerogative it is to take the initiative on this point, will not greatly err in almost unvaryingly offering her hand.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE DANGER OF GIANT SHIPS.

The disaster which overwhelmed the Titanic, the Gargantua of ocean liners, raises the question whether the practicable limit in the size of steamships has not already been reached. It is the same old question which was answered in the affirmative after a limited number of voyages of the famous Great Eastern, a vessel which was shorter by 196 feet than the unfortunate Titanic.

The problems of constructing vessels which would make the Olympic and the Titanic seem mere pygmies in comparison can be easily solved by the engineers. Far more troublesome are the problems which already arise after the launching of such floating monsters. One is how to make the giants pay for the cost of construction and for the expense of fuel. Another is how to control the ponderous bulk of the leviathans so that they may dock, weigh anchor and proceed on their courses without danger to themselves and other vessels.

The Olympic, which lacks several feet of being as long as the Titanic, looks cumbersome and out of place in New York harbor, for when she docks her stern projects far beyond the pier-head into the East River. The Titanic proved to be so huge and clumsy at Southampton, just as she was starting on her maiden voyage, that she nearly wrecked herself and another vessel at its moorings. It is possible that if the Titanic had been a little more easy to control that the collision with the iceberg might have been avoided or rendered less serious.

The rivalry of the steamship lines to see which can build the largest and the fastest boats is likely to lead to further disasters until such time as the great harbors are enlarged and improved to accommodate safely the new style steamers.

Dr. Lizzie Shapleigh, a graduate of Boston University, is a suffragette who already wears a few daubs of war paint on her face. She has delivered her more or less charming self of the following opinion: "After women get a little more political power in their hands I shouldn't be surprised if they abolished a few men. There are too many men in the world anyway. They are not nearly so important as they think they are."

The first monument erected by any Southern State to its women of the Confederacy was unveiled in Columbia, S. C., last week, in the presence of one of the greatest assemblages the State has ever known, and which paid hushed and solemn tribute to the heroic and splendid womanhood that glorified the Lost Cause.

Cooked 1,500,000 Chops.

Of very few men can it truthfully be said, "He has cooked a million chops." Yet William, of Edwards', in Fishmonger Alley, London, who will presently celebrate the jubilee of his professional career, is believed to have cooked a million and a half. About ten thousand of these he has eaten himself.

The calculation was made one day on the table cloth by a distinguished statistician, who was so shocked by the figures that he dared not go on to estimate the tons of steaks, the mountains of kidneys, and the miles of sausages. "I wonder, William," he said, "that you are not ashamed to look a flock of sheep in the face."

"I have not eaten a steak for twenty-five years," he said, "but I have eaten a chop every day. Some people say you cannot live on one thing, but I still manage to keep alive. Sixty-six, that is my age."

Public School B. B. Club.

The Public School Baseball League has been reorganized for the season, with every prospect of a most successful season. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Vice-Pres.—Mr. D. Walker.

President—Mr. Neal.

Secretary treasurer—Mr. M. H. Park.

Executive Committee—The above officers and Messrs. Roszel, Stacey, Kerr, Richardson and Downie.

It was decided to have two series—Senior and Junior.

Good Form

The Well Bred Voice.

One of the elementary laws of good manners prescribes that we shall practice self control, says Florence Howe Hall. Cultivated society goes a step further and demands of us personal refinement. Americans understand this very well so far as dress and outward appearance go. There is perhaps no other nation that pays so much attention to dress as we do. Our countrywomen are admired in Europe for their well made clothes, as well as for their own good looks.

But when they open their lips to speak, alas, all is changed! The harsh nasal tones jar most unpleasantly on the ear. The truth is we do not pay proper attention to the way in which we speak. We do aim at distinctness of utterance, and this we usually achieve. Speech should above all be intelligible, and Americans endeavor always to be understood. This is an excellent thing so far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. Why should we be more slovenly in speech than we are in dress?

The woman who has her hands manicured, her hair and face massaged, but who utterly neglects the cultivation of her voice, has not a proper appreciation of values, as the artists say. She should take lessons in singing or in voice culture, and she should have for a text in her boudoir the lines:

Her voice was ever soft,
Gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman.

When we hear Englishmen or Frenchmen talk it is evident that they have a respect and admiration for their own language. They try to pronounce it so that it will sound well. They seem to understand instinctively that beauty of speech is as great a pleasure to the ear as a beautiful object is to the eye.

If the American woman is wise she does not adopt the British peculiarities of intonation and accent. Nor does she endeavor to make her vocabulary agree with that of the English. She understands that our common language has developed along different lines in the two countries. "Apothecary" and "lawyer" are old Shakespearian words quite as good if not better than the modern British "chemist" and "barrister."

The endeavor to make oneself heard above the din of traffic and conversation is in part responsible for our natural harshness of utterance. At an afternoon tea, where the voices of the women soar higher and higher till they almost reach the screaming point in the vain effort to make themselves heard, the result is disastrous. The habit of calling up and down stairs is also very bad for the voice.

Entertaining Guests.

There are some strict rules indorsed by those who know what is "good form" and others who do not concerning the entertaining of a guest.

A hostess should not accept any invitation that does not include her guest, and she may with propriety (if cards of invitation are received not including a guest) let the prospective hostess know that an invitation is expected. This can be done by telephone or note, simply stating that "I have a young lady (or a man) friend visiting me and should like a card of invitation for her (or him) to your dinner (or ball or whatever) for such and such a date."

If there are callers who are not aware of the presence of a guest a hostess may say she has a friend visiting; then the caller asks to meet whoever it may be. An excellent plan and one generally adopted by those who entertain a great deal and are consequently invited out often is to give an afternoon "high tea," when simple refreshments are best form and everybody in the line of acquaintances invited to meet "Miss Dash."

In the case of a man guest the men of the family see that he has a chance of meeting other men. There may be an evening arranged as well as "bachelor" affairs, where he can be delightfully entertained.

It is good form to just inform a hostess when invitations are received to a dinner, a card party or an affair when special arrangements are to be necessary that one will bring a visiting guest. This is all that is needed.

If one has a reception or affair of any sort the hostess should see that her guest of honor, the one that is visiting her, meets every one present if possible. If a dance the guest should have the men brought to her to fill her dance card and the host sees that she is cared for in every way.

Also a hostess should defer to the wishes and plans of a guest. There may be friends the latter wishes to see that her entertainer is not acquainted with.

Apsley Horse and Auto.

Apsley horses and automobiles do not seem to assimilate. On Saturday afternoon as Mr. Robt. Anderson of that burg, was driving his horse past a bubble cart, the horse took fright. It turned quickly and Mr. Anderson was thrown from his vehicle. The horse was captured near the canoe works. Mr. Anderson sustained a sever scalp wound in addition to several minor bruises. He was able to proceed to his home without assistance. The top of the buggy was all but demolished, but beyond this the outfit was intact.

Suckers Bit, Advertiser Fled.

Here is seemingly a new one, in the way of extracting the unearned increment, from confiding people's pockets. Frank Andrews, Norwood, advertised fancy chickens at fancy prices, and a few confiding victims fancied his literature and bit. They sent sums from $5 to $15 to this smooth advertizer, but never a chicken did they get. High County Constable Geo. Cochrane went to that village, with a warrant for Andrew's arrest. However, this smooth man had taken train for Vancouver, B.C.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

MEN WHO DON'T EXERCISE

Nothing So Sure to "Set Up" a Man, Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock. In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well. I was always tired and languid had no energy and spirit, found it difficult to sleep for more than five hours. My appetite was so fickle that I ate next to nothing, and in consequence lost weight and strength. I was pale, and had dark rings under my eyes that made me look like a shadow.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old-time vigor and spirits To-day I am well — thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25 c per box or five boxes for $1.00 by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

TUESDAY, APRIL 23, 1912

TO CHECK MISS "I WILL"

We were yesterday in receipt of a booklet, issued by the Government, regarding the Commission of Conservation, and protest against the diversion of water from Lake Michigan for the Chicago Drainage Canal. This pamphlet should make every Canadian and every American resident along, or mariner on the Great Lakes "sit up and take notice."

Just think! The great city of London, with a population of seven and one-third millions, filters its water supply and treats its sewage, but Chicago urges that it is impossible for her to do either. Her extravagance is put forward as an excuse for a diversion that injuriously affects the water-line on four thousand miles of shore—an action that injuriously affects a multitude of interests in two nations, and that injuriously affects the riparian rights in a vast territory.

If imposing upon Chicago filtration of her water supply, and sterilization of her sewage, results in checking or reducing the present extravagant use of water and, if it results in preventing the present unchecked discharge of wastes from stock yards, glucose factories, etc., refusing her application for an increased diversion of water will prove a blessing in disguise.

Gen. W. H. Bixby, in his report to Congress, on February 9, 1911, stated that: "The War Department while awaiting the definite action of Congress, has, so far, permitted the diversion of 4,167 second-feet and the Sanitary District is understood to be using 7,000 second-feet."

Evidently, therefore, the Sanitary District is, without any permit or authority whatsoever, diverting 3000 second-feet in excess of the authorized amount.

In terms of comparison, the Sanitary District is, at present, diverting from the St. Lawrence system an amount equal to the extreme low water flow of the Ottawa river at the City of Ottawa, where it carries the drainage of 34,600 square miles of territory. It is proposed to divert, in a few years, one and one-half times, this flow, and the Sanitary Canal has been constructed to carry an amount equal to double the low-water flow of this, the greatest tributary of the mighty St. Lawrence.

Chicago's crest is a determined looking female, who looks as though she had successfully been through the divorce court a dozen times, and won out by the respondent dodging the sheriff when asked to give evidence, and her motto is "I will ! ! ! The "I will" always appears in black type of bold front. Now that lady who says "I will" may be a corker as far as getting her own way goes; but there are others! Why should the States adjoining the Great Lakes and Canada submit to having the water required for shipping purposes, stolen, to wash Chicago sewage down the Mississippi? A few years ago the Chicago river, to the absolute knowledge of the writer, slunk (not ran), northwards, to Lake Michigan. The water of that river was the color of a nigger dying from asphyxiation, and of the consistency of thick pea soup. Now the river runs South to the Gulf of Mexico. Who pays for it? Incidentally Chicago paid for the engineering task, which was admittedly a modern miracle, but the Canadian marine pay and suffer, more and more each year, by the turning of the Great Lakes. Miss Chicago must be shown that if she wants a clear back yard she must not interfere with her neighbors.

EGYPTIAN OIL FIELDS RICH

Promise a Revolution in the Production of Coal Oil

Cario, April 21.—Anglo-Egyptian financiers see big things in the development of the oilfields that lie near the Suez Canal. This year they say nearly half a million tons of crude oil will be produced along the Red Sea area.

Refineries are now being erected on the Egyptian coast, and meanwhile big consignments of the oil are being refined in Asiatic plants. The movement has given a tremendous fillip to oil prospecting in Egyptian and Turkish territory, helped by the rapid development of oil engines for ships. Such new supplies adjacent to the Suez Canal are being viewed with the keenest interest by shipowners, who consider the provisions of crude oil at the economical running of freight vessels with internal combustion engines.

Such an equipment would enable an enormous saving to be effected, for while at present vessels have to carry enough coal for eastward voyages to last out and home, with oil engines oil would be loaded at Suez to last till the return trip, when a fresh supply would be shipped for the westward voyage.

SCHOONER HURT IN A FOG

wind, swept straight down on the Hammond, and crashed into the Gloucester schooner forward. The men asleep below were thrown from their bunks, while the bowsprit of the Hammond snapped off and the forward rigging was torn away.

HELMSMAN LEAVES WHEEL

Swinging around the Hammond hit the Uranus on the starboard side and the two schooners, both crippled and their decks littered with spars and rigging, crunched as they rolled in the waves side by side. In the darkness and thick fog neither could make out what the damage was.

TThe helmsman of the Uranus dropped the wheel, took a run across the deck and leaped for the Hammond, gaining safe footing on the Gloucester vessel. Four men and two cabin boys, dazed and battered by being thrown from their bunks, rushed from the forecastle of the Uranus, caught a glimpse of the helmsman as he peaped, and promptly followed his example, all gaining the Hammond safely.

The schooners fell apart. Capt. Spinney and his crew, fearing the Hammond might be fatally damaged made a hasty examination and soon found that the damage would not prevent the schooner from making port easily. Then they turned to give aid to the Uranus, if needed, but the Canadian schooner had been swallowed up in the fog and had disappeared. For four hours Capt. Spinney tacked back and forth through the fog, trying to locate the other schooner. Finally giving up, the Hammond laid her course for Gloucester.

PEOPLE WILL VOTE ON THE BY-LAW

their way clear to expend money in this direction under an uncertainty of having the use of the grounds at the expiration of the present lease. The purchase of this property would enable the directors to "boost" the annual exhibition in the interests of the city in general. The purchase price is reasonable and the property would materially increase in value in five years.

The directors had previously discussed with the Manufacturers' Committee this proposition, resulting in Ald. Gordon submitting the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Manufacturers' Committee beg leave to report as follows:

We were waited upon by the representatives of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition to ask that the Council purchase Mr. R. A. Morrow's property for the exhibition grounds, and that the exhibition would pay the sinking fund required to pay the debentures when issued as rental and that the property should be held under the present lease at a rental of $500 per annum until it expires in five years, then the payment of the sinking fund to commence.

We recommend that the Council submit a by-law to the ratepayers to provide for the purchase of the property for $30,000, and to issue debentures to pay for it.

Finance Minister Anderson expressed his sympathy with the proposition, but was afraid that present demands upon the city's resources would barr any further issue of debentures. Two bridges are promised for this year, the Board of Education is going to expend $85,000, and contemplated street paving will materially increase our debenture debt. Then $5,000 has been expended for a park in South City and the East and West are also seeking park provisions. He thought the directors might struggle along for two or three years, by which time the city would be in a better position to enter into the scheme. He would like to see the grounds city property and regretted that they had not been purchased years ago when land was cheap.

Mr. Neill here pointed out that the directors did not wish the city to purchase these grounds now, but only to "assure" their purchase at the expiration of the five years' lease. [illegible] would warrant immediate improvements in preparation for the fall exhibition.

Mayor Bradburn—"Would the Association pay for submitting this by-law to the people?"

Mr. Neill—"I don't see why they should. None of the directors get anything out of the exhibition. It is an annual event in public interest."

The Mayor—"Why not wait until another by-law is being submitted, which would be economized? It costs from $250 to $300 to submit a by-law to the people."

Mr. Neill—"We are anxious to have this question settled now and get busy on new buildings."

Ald. Duffus advanced that were the city to agree to purchase these grounds at $30,000, their value in five years would be increased by at least $5,000 or $6,000. The city must get busy in this connection or it will be shortly outclassed by other towns and cities. He was in favor of a by-law being submitted at an early date.

Ald. Gordon, while recommending the reports' adoption, was dubious of the by-law passing. Much land in a valuable growing district would be tied up and not available for expansion purposes. Then he was not optimistic of the loss in five or ten years' interest being outweighed by dividends from the exhibition.

To Ald. Duffus, Mr. Neill replied that both property and buildings would belong to the city to use for any other purpose they thought fit. The city would have absolute ownership and could close up the exhibition if such a step was thought expedient.

Ald. Duncan favored the proposition and advanced that in five years the sale of building lots off the western limit of the grounds would net more than $30,000.

Mr. W. E. Conway offered that were the city to own these grounds, citizens would subscribe liberally toward the erection of new buildings.

The report was here adopted.

The Mayor contended that were the proposition that the exhibition committee pay the interest on the purchase price and the city take care of the sinking fund, the by-law would have a better chance of carrying with the people. The taking care of the sinking fund to be in lieu of the city's annual grant to the exhibition.

Mr. Neill could not see the point of cutting off the annual grant: otherwise, the directors agreed to his Worship's suggestion

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Brown.—That the report as adopted be changed to provide that the Association take care of the interest and the city the sinking fund.—Carried Bridge By-Law.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That a by-law be prepared and submitted to the people, providing for the erection of a bridge across the Otonabee in the neighborhood of Dalhousie or Sherbrooke streets.—Carried.

The Ball Team.

Representatives of the Peterborough professional baseball team, headed by Mr. W. H. Denham, waited upon Council, and asked that a board sidewalk from Hunter street into the Riverside Park, where the games will be played.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Anderson,—That this matter be left with the chairman of the Board of Works, with power to act.—Carried.

Better Stationery.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Anderson,—That the Mayor be authorized to purchase stationery with appropriate crest thereon, for the Mayor, Clerk and Council chamber.—Carried.

By-Laws.

A by-law to provide for an additional $100 to the $5000 appropriation for improvements to the Police Station, passed the several readings.

This was necessitated by reason of the tenders for the work exceeding by $1000 the $5000 provided.

A by-law executing an agreement with F. W. A. Smith for a release ground, at a rental of $390 a year passed its required readings.

The Garbage Contract.

Ald. Duffus asked the chairman of the property committee if the contract for removing garbage has been signed and the necessary bonds furnished.

Ald. Duncan replied that the contract is signed, but the city is awaiting arrival of the bonds.

Crossing to Murray St. Church.

Ald. Duffus moved,—That a crossing be laid from the north side of Murray street to the new Baptist church, which will shortly be opened.

Ald. Buller assured Ald. Duffus that this matter is being looked after by the Board of Works, who will lay the crossing at the most advantageous point to all concerned.

To Grade Park.

The chairman of the property committee was authorized to have recent addition to King Edward Park plowed up and levelled.

EIGHTY MILLIONS

This Sum Annually Gambled Away By the French

Paris, April 21.—Though the law of June 5th, 1907 expressly forbids gambling, the State collects 15 per cent of all the winnings in the various "Casinos." The companies owning the Casinos, on their part, profess to collect as their profit from one-tenth to one-twentieth part of all money staked at tables. And these profits are large enough to allow the companies to pay for the parks, the street railways, the theatre and in some cases for the schools of the towns or villages where the gambling house is located. Frenchmen stake about four hundred million francs ($80,000,000) per annum on roulette, little horses and similar devices. About the same amount is placed with the bookmakers on horses. But to this must be added the enormous sums staked at the private clubs in Paris and all big towns. These gambling clubs are known as "cercles," and the police dare not interfere with them. Finally, there are in Paris any number of unrecognized Cercles, which occasionally are raided to protect the recognized ones.

The Government makes its profit in both kinds of Cercles, as it imposes a tax of 30 cents on each deck of cards. The same cards can be bought by private parties for fifteen cents. When the game requires more than 30 [illegible]. Last year the Government received taxes on 3,050,614 decks of cards.

It is remarkable that all the countries of the world, except Spain and Cuba, import their playing cards from France. The tax on playing cards was introduced by Henry III in 1563, consisting of one "sol parisis," a copper.

Fire Under Water.

Fire under water may be produced by placing some small pieces of phosphorus in a conical shaped tumbler and then covering them with the crystals of chlorate of potash. Next fill the glass with water and then add a few drops of sulphuric acid, the acid to be applied directly to the phosphorus and potash crystals by means of a long tube. If the experiment is properly carried out tongues of bright red flame can be seen flashing up through the water, the intense chemical heat produced by the action of the sulphuric acid on the potash and phosphorus being sufficient to inflame the latter, although entirely covered with water.

A Move Impending.

It was after morning school, and the teacher was in such a good temper that little Tommy sid'ed up to him to discuss a decidedly personal matter.

"Please, teacher," the small boy began, "I fancy I shall be leaving this school soon."

The tutor looked interested and hazarded a query as to the reason for this parting of the ways.

"Well, sir," continued the pupil, "mother burnt the door of the coalhouse and the lid of the copper, and father's started chopping down the stairs."

"Yes, my boy," said the schoolmaster kindly. "But what makes you imagine you'll be leaving the district?"

"Well, you see, teacher," continued the boy, "when we've burnt the stairs we always move!"—Answers.

Saved by a Snake.

Count Zinzendorf, the founder of the Moravians, visited North America in 1742 and for a short time labored as a missionary among the Shawnee Indians. When he first went to them they received him with coldness, and a plot was formed to assassinate him. The count was sitting one evening in his wigwam upon a bundle of dry weeds which he had gathered for his bed. While he was writing by the light of a small fire a rattlesnake, warmed into activity, crawled over one of his legs. Just then the murderous savages lifted the blanket that served for a door and looked in. They stood motionless for some minutes watching the aged man and then, gliding from the scene, fled into the forest. From that night the missionary found them friends and listeners.

An Almanac Started In 1686.

The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanach National," which has been issued by the French Government since 1686. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career. Originally the "Almanach Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1805 and reverted to its original name nine years later. Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort, the "Almanach National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages, as compared with 1,500 pages now.—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Keep It Quiet.

Being called to his feet unexpectedly at the gathering and asked to respond informally to the toast "The Ladies," Mr. Gilfers hemmed and hawed and began:

"My friends, all that I am, all that I have in the world, I owe to a woman—my wife."

Here he was interrupted by that lady herself, who arose and said:

"I told you when you put the property in my name you'd give it away the first time you opened your mouth."

Too Ready With Assistance.

Smith—Goldmore is a very generous old fellow. Do you know, he's always helping somebody out.

Jones (sadly)—Yes; I know. I was down to see his daughter the other night, and he helped me out too.

One Kind.

"Pa, in this book it speaks about a necessary evil. What is a necessary evil?"

"The bridegroom at a wedding is one kind."

AWAIT THE VERDICT OF BRITISH COURT

London, April 22.—The Financial Times has a special obituary of C. M. Hays. It says though his life work has been brought to so premature a close, the example of his influence as an organizing power has secured a succession of officers to the G.T.R., capable of continuing the work in a way altogether worthy of its designer. The Times deprecates strongly the growing tendency on both sides of the Atlantic to prejudice the circumstances of the disaster. We owe it to ourselves as a nation to await a proper verdict with something of the calm which dignified our fellow countrymen in the actual terrors of the wreck. We shall pass no verdict until a full enquiry is held by a qualified British Court.

POLICE HAVE SOME NEW EVIDENCE

Toronto, April 22.—At the adjourned inquiry at the morgue to-night into the circumstances surrounding the tragic death of Joseph Rosenthal at the Hydro-Electric plant on Good Friday evening, the police will produce evidence, which, it is believed, will throw some light on the movements of Charles Gibson now in custody on a charge of murder, prior to the occurrence of the tragedy.

This morning it was stated that Dunkelman's condition would not permit of any interview for at least a week, and failing to obtain information from the surviving victim, the officers have sought elsewhere.

That they have secured valuable information is not denied, and it is expected that the proceedings at tonight's investigation will be marked with sensational features.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:

South Lancaster, Gananoque, Kingsville, Blind River, Cobourg, Honey Harbour, Port Hope, Deseronto, Trenton.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 20, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

Several hundred people were unable to gain admission to the requiem service held in St. John's church last night.

HOW TO CARE FOR BOOKS.

They Should Be Protected From Gas, Heat and Light.

It is surprising how few of the many owners of books are aware of the simple means required to preserve them in a useful condition and what astonishment is felt when a book removed from the shelf leaves one side behind or dangling by the hinge.

Heat, gas, light and, by no means least, electricity are the chief disintegrating influences upon leather bindings. Books bound previous to 1800 have the advantage over more modern ones, as most if not all of the tanners of that earlier time used tanbark. Since that date the use of sulphuric and oxalic acids has been almost universal, and so insidious are their effects that they can hardly be realised until the damage is done.

Old books brought from other countries are apt to succumb very quickly to the altered climatic conditions. Lack of moisture in the air, together with our modern system of heating, as well as gaslight, "central" heat and electricity, has a very injurious effect upon them in a few years. The use of lubricant or food is almost essential to offset this. A large importer has expressed a wish that every imported book of value might be so treated at once to fortify it in its new environment. Even under the most favorable conditions the need of some such treatment is becoming recognized, for the Vatican and other noted libraries are being treated to prevent dry rot, the leather's greatest enemy. Years of drying out of the natural oil in the skin and the total absorption of such oil where the tanning is done with acids have brought the conviction that some means must be resorted to by which the life of the leather can be restored.

Very few think of placing leather bound books on the lower shelves to avoid the greater heat above; of preventing sunlight from striking them, for, like electricity, it burns and fades the leather if concentrated upon it for any length of time; of giving them light and air, with plenty of circulation. Bindings suffer far more from being shut behind glass doors than from the accumulation of dust or even from careless handling by ignorant servants. The dusting of books is something which should be trusted to careful or expert hands only, for the hinges can easily be broken by dropping or the corners knocked off, particularly if the leather be dry. The vacuum cleaner, of course, does away with such disasters in the electrically equipped house.

Overcrowding the shelves is another cause of damage. It not only rubs the sides, but prevents the proper circulation of air.

Without Ceremony.

More or less ceremony usually attends the laying of a corner-stone, but in one case at least it was laid quite simply.

Two men were talking of the fortune of a third when on said:

"He made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage and sold them at a profit of more than 800 per cent. That was the corner-stone of his present fortune."

"Ah," exclaimed the other man. "Then the hens laid it!"

A Reform Movement.

Mrs. Benham—When we women get to running the Government we'll do a thing or two.

Benham—Such as what?

Mrs. Benham—We'll make a man take out a hunter's license before he can look for a collar button, and in his application he will have to certify that he doesn't swear.

A Practical View.

"Father," said the inquisitive boy, "what is a genius?"

"A genius, my son, is a man who gets a whole lot of advertising without being able to do any profitable business with it."

Silk Imports.

Silk goods from France, Switzerland, and Germany to the annual value of thirteen million pounds are imported into Great Britain.

Skin Peeling Nature's Aid to New Complexion

Mercolized wax is a natural beautifier. By flaking off the devitalized surface skin, it merely hastens Nature's work. The second skin layer, brought gradually to view, exhibits the healthy, youthful color produced by capillary circulation. This because the capillaries are thus brought nearer the surface; also because the new skin is unsoiled by dirt and dust. This wax, to be had at any drug store (an ounce will do) is put on nightly like cold cream, washed off mornings with warm water. Its work usually is completed in from seven to ten days, long enough not to show too marked results from day to day, or cause pain or detention indoors.

A face bath to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint with hazel, is another natural beautifier, since its astringent and tonic effects smooth out the wrinkles in accordance with Nature's own process.

Up Saltpeter Creek

A Story of Ranch Life

By CLARISSA MACKIE

The Chinese cook had spilled hot bean soup on Harry Barry's immaculate white shirt front, and the scared Celestial had escaped from the room under a fusillade of pistol shots that all found lodgment in the oak beamed ceiling.

"You ought not to put on that biled shirt till after supper," admonished the Crane as the wrathful Harry wiped the soggy mess from his bosom. "It's taking a risk wearing anything decent at this table nowadays."

"And why?" exploded Harry, mindful of the fact that this was his only clean white shirt and his call upon the pretty Widow Clancy must lack that sartorial compliment.

"The chink's in love," was the Crane's reply.

"In love?"

"Who with?"

"Didn't know there was a Chinese girl within a thousand miles of the Lone Bull."

"Can't he find any other way of expressing his love than by acting like a blamed idiot?"

Of course this last remark came from Harry Barry, who was consuming what remained of the soup in his plate.

"They generally do—only it takes different forms," observed Gabriel mildly.

A chuckle ran around the table. Under cover of its good nature Wah Sung pushed open the swinging door, peered fearfully around the edge and sidled in with a great dish of steaming hot potatoes.

Perhaps he was nervous, it might be that he was in love. At any rate, when his mild brown orb met the steely glare of Harry Barry's usually amiable eyes he set the dish of potatoes upon the table with such frantic haste that the largest and hottest rolled from the pyramid and landed upon Mr. Barry's hand.

Wah Sung emitted a desolate wail as Harry Barry leaped from his chair and caught him by the neckband of his cotton blouse and shook him vigorously.

"Suffering cats! What's the matter with you?" yelled Mr. Barry excitedly. "Can't you throw down a dish of potatoes without stampedin' 'em all over the table?"

"Me solly—velly solly," moaned Wah Sung.

"That helps a lot," observed Harry bitterly.

"Me sick in the head—velly sick in the head; me do' know what to do," added Wah Sung pitifully.

The cattleman's quick sympathy was to the fore at once. "What's the matter, boy? Have you told the boss that you're sick?"

"No, no; me no tell anybody. Me velly sick here." Wah Sung placed both yellow hands over his heart. "It go what you call lickerty splitty—lickerty splitty all time."

"It's your heart, boy, not your head. You want to see doctor, eh?"

Wah Sung writhed bashfully under the gaze of seven pairs of eyes. "No—no see doctor," he mumbled, edging toward the door. "Me allee light velly soon. Me go for walk. Excuse, I get rest supper."

"Going for a walk, eh?" questioned Gabriel sharply. "You think a walk up Saltpeter creek do you good, Wah Sung?"

The Chinaman shivered as with ague, and his countenance turned from yellow to gray. His lips parted in an attempted smile as he shook his head. "Oh, no, no, me no never walk up Salpeder creek! Me walk velly diffunt way!"

"Humph! Let him go, Harry," was Gabriel's advice. When the Chinaman's slippers were once more slapping around the kitchen floor Harry Barry resumed his seat and joined the broad grin that went around the table.

"What is it—love?" he inquired.

"You oughter know, being a sort of judge of symptoms," commented Jim Lewis dryly.

"What about yourself?" retorted Harry Barry. "You oughter know—been married three months, haven't you?"

"Stop your wranglin', boys," interpolated the Crane, unjointing his lean form and taking advantage of Wah Sung's absence from the room to express his opinion. "Listen to me. I've seen the chink going up the creek every afternoon after dinner."

"What is there up Saltpeter creek?" asked Jim Lewis, lighting a cigarette.

"Nothing but the springs that I know of."

"Anybody ever been beyond the springs?"

It seemed that none of them had ever followed the rocky trail beyond the springs that gave name to the creek.

"Somebody told me that there used to be a prospectors' hut up there in the thicket. I've never been there, though, and couldn't say."

"If Wah Sung's in love why don't he marry his girl and live happily ever after?" commented Harry impatiently.

"Afraid of the boss probably. You know Chinese families are not very popular hereabouts."

"Plenty of room on the ranch. There's that little cabin down in the three mile pasture. It's not far from the bunkhouse, and Wah Sung could cook just the same and not act so confoundedly idiotic over it."

"You're appointed a committee of one to see Wah Sung and straighten the matter out," observed Gabriel as he followed the rest of the cattlemen out of doors, and, although Harry Barry made no assent, he was very thoughtful while he went upstairs to his room and removed the soup laden shirt and put on a gray flannel one, which after all was much more becoming to him than the glossy white one.

On his way out he stopped in the kitchen where Wah Sung was frantically washing dishes.

"You married, Wah Sung?" he asked sharply.

The Chinaman jumped nervously at the question and shook his head in such rapid negatives that his cue lashed back and forth like the tail of an angry cat.

"Mallied? Me? Oh, no, no, no, no! Me no like gals—me not mallied, oh, no!"

"You got a girl?"

"Oh, no, no, no!"

"Why not? You think boss not like you have a girl?"

"Oh—he not like Chinese gal. Me no have gal till me go back to Canton some day."

"I don't think he'd care if you wanted to get married, Wah Sung. There's a nice little house down in the pasture, and you could come up and cook every day. Why don't you tell the boss?"

"Me no like gals—me no want get mallied," persisted Wah Sung.

As he rode over the well worn trail that led to the Widow Clancy's ranch, Harry Barry was firmly convinced that the Chinaman had been lying to him. It was a bright moonlight night, and he resolved to ask Mrs. Clancy to ride with him up Saltpeter creek and investigate what lay beyond. The romance involved might lure her into the evening ride.

It did. She was warmly interested in the story of the despairing Chinaman, and the suspected love affair that might be at the bottom of his erratic actions.

"How long has he acted that way, Harry?" she asked, as they rode side by side up the trail, her hand in that of her sweetheart's.

"About three months. Ever since he came back from a month's leave of absence. He went to San Francisco, and he's acted like a crazy flea ever since," and he told her the story of the bean soup, and the conversation that followed.

"Poor fellow," sighed Mrs. Clancy, and Harry Barry leaned over and kissed her lips.

When they reached the springs they [illegible] of thorns, but Harry investigated and found that the way had been cunningly cleared of thorns, so that a person might pass through. They left their horses at the springs, and Harry, leading the way, they pushed through the thicket to emerge on the other side into an open sandy space dropping down the hillside that formed one boundary of Lone Bull ranch.

A faint light pricking through the gloom of another thicket on the hillside lured them down until they stood before a small cabin thatched with branches and almost concealed from the view of the casual passerby.

"There is a window. You look, dear," said Harry Barry, and as his sweetheart hesitated he added: "You know it's to help 'em along if it's necessary."

Then Mrs. Clancy looked through a corner of the pane from which the calico inner curtain had swung back, revealing the interior of the one roomed cabin. She looked and looked, finally reaching out and drawing Harry toward her until their faces touched.

They looked upon a little home. It might have been picked up out of any city in China and dropped there on this lonely Montana hillside. What marvelous force had enabled the small Chinaman to secretly bring from great distances all the little household gods that meant home to him? Love, of course.

The walls were hung with gayly printed cottons, and in one corner where a small altar had been erected for his ancestral tablets there was a square of rich silk embroidery. Little bronze vessels stood on the altar, and on a bracket there was an image of a favorite household god, with an offering of incense smoking before it. A roll of quilts was on the built in bed or bunk in one corner, matting covered the rough floor, a couple of Chinese chairs were there and a low table. There was a row of quaint oriental porcelain dishes on a shelf and odd cooking utensils of copper and a brand new American cook stove of the smallest dimensions.

That was not all. There in one of the chairs sat the daintiest little Chinese woman you ever saw. In her arms she held a yellow morsel of babyhood, who was staring up at Wah Sung with beady black slanting eyes and sucking its thumb contentedly.

Last of all there was Wah Sung—not the craven, panic stricken cook of the Lone Bull ranch, but a Chinaman invested with the dignity of the head of a household. He was smiling down at the baby, with nothing but love in his mild brown eyes.

"Poor devil!" whispered Harry Barry crossly, because his own eyes were full of tears and his sweetheart was wiping the tears from her pretty blue eyes.

"Poor!" challenged Mrs. Clancy, drawing him back to the springs and their waiting horses. "Man alive, Wah Sung is rich! Let us go straight to Boss Clintock and tell him that Wah Sung is married and that he must give them the cabin in the pasture."

"Of course he'll do it. But if he shouldn't?" teased Harry.

"I'll hire Wah Sung myself and build a Chinese temple for them to live in and dedicate it to the god of love," declared the Widow Clancy.

Her Reason.

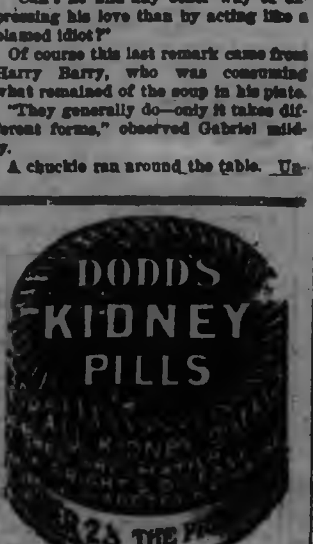
"Mabel proposed to me last night."

"What did you say?"

"I asked her if she was sure I am the only man she ever loved."

"Did she say that you are?"

"Not exactly. She said that I am the only man she ever loved that she thought she could manage."



5 Years' Throat Trouble And Influenza Cured

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

This Case Does Prove That When Catarrhozone is Breathed Every Trace of Catarrh Disappears

Milford, Haven, April 22.—Everyone in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering from influenza and catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney. To-day she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh, in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for for five years. My life was despaired of Catarrh was undermining my strength very fast. I used treatment from eminent doctors, but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever being well. Then I read of a wonderful cure made by Catarrhozone. I immediately sent for Catarrhozone, and before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. To-day I am cured.

"We would not be without Catarrhozone in our home—it's so sure in colds, coughs, bronchial and throat trouble. I feel its my duty to recommend Catarrhozone."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrhozone; it contains a beautiful hard rubber inhaler, and medicine that lasts two months. Smaller sizes 25c, and 50c each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrhozone, sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstratethe efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Where He Was

On St. Patrick's Day In the Morning

By NORA B. SHEA

It was the evening before St. Patrick's day, 1765, in Ireland. The moon was at the full and shone with unusual brightness. Dennis O'Donohue, a young man of twenty-two, mounted on a black mare, was trotting on a road between Killarney and Tralee on his way to a ball at the latter place. Suddenly catching sight of a light some distance from the road, he drew rein and thrust his hand in under his waistcoat to pull his watch from his fob. It was not there, and he remembered that he had left it at home.

Now, what he wished his watch for was to note the time that he might decide whether to attempt something that popped into his head at seeing the light referred to. In the house where it shone lived Eileen Mavourneen, a young girl whom Dennis would have gladly wooed had he been permitted to do so. Dennis was inclined to be a trifle wild, and Eileen was warned by her parents to have nothing to do with him.

Nevertheless the young man was especially attractive to girls. He was tall and lithe, and a mass of light curls fell down over his shoulders. Tender hearted to a fault, it was suspected that for the benefit of others in distress he had trespassed on the law by taking a purse on the highway. The O'Grady, a rich landowner, had been stopped one night on the road, and later one of his tenants, a poor woman for whose eviction he had given orders, paid the rent in coins, one of which, a pocket piece, The O'Grady recognized as having been taken from him by the highwayman. The story got abroad that Dennis O'Donohue, sympathizing with the woman, had robbed the landlord and given the money to his tenant to save her from eviction. That the robbery had taken place for that very purpose was true, but Dennis O'Donohue had nothing to do with it.

It occurred to Dennis that he would love to take Eileen with him to the ball at Tralee. Her father and mother were elderly people, and it was their custom to go to bed at 9 o'clock every night. It might be possible to take her with him and bring her back without their knowing of her absence. The hour was about 9, but he did not know whether it was a little before or a little after 9. He dare not go before and did not like to lose time by going too long after.

While he was deliberating he heard the sound of horse's hoofs coming from the direction of Tralee. He would await the rider's coming and ask the time. A man on horseback drew near, and when he came up Dennis said in a mild voice:

"I beg your pardon for stopping you, sir, but would you tell me what o'clock it is?"

Dennis' back was to the moon, while the horseman faced it, and Dennis recognised The O'Grady. The O'Grady hesitated. The voice sounded like that of O'Donohue, by whom he believed he had been robbed. Dennis' horse was restless and, turning, exposed Dennis' face to the moon. The O'Grady thrust his hand under his coat as if to take out his watch, but instead drew a pistol and, pointing it at Dennis' head, said:

"It is time for you to move on, Dennis O'Donohue, and I would advise you to go to one of the American colonies, for if you ever appear in Killarney again I'll bring you up for highway robbery. Twice is once too often for you to rob the same person!"

With this, still covering Dennis with his pistol, he urged on his horse, leaving Dennis standing in the road mute with astonishment. Dennis knew at once that this evidence against him, taken with the suspicion of another robbery, would convict him of being a highwayman, and that meant either a long imprisonment or death. He thought of taking The O'Grady's advice and, riding over to Cork, take ship for Virginia. Instead he concluded to ride over to see Eileen and tell her what had occurred. This would lessen the blow to her, and she could explain the matter to his father and mother.

The hour now made no difference to him, so he put spurs to his horse and on reaching the gate threw the bridle rein over a picket and went up the walk to the house. Tiptoeing on to the porch, he saw Eileen sitting alone in the living room. A tap on the window arrested her attention, and, turning, she saw Dennis' face against the pane. Putting her finger to her lips, she went softly to the door and led him into the room.

"What is it, Dennis?" she asked, alarmed at his rueful appearance.

"Have your father and mother gone to bed?" he whispered.

"Yes."

Dennis told his story, finishing by saying that he saw no hope for him but to go to Virginia. Eileen's countenance fell at this. She stood thinking.

"Why don't you prove an alibi, Dennis?" she asked presently.

"An alibi?"

"Yes. The magistrate will have only The O'Grady's word that he met you on the road. If you can prove you were somewhere else his evidence will be worthless."

"But how can I do that?"

"Have you a good horse?"

"No better in Ireland. I borrowed my friend Mike Shaunessy's mare. She's not only won races for him, but has great endurance."

"Well, ride all night, and in the morning talk with some one you can get for a witness to testify that you were with him."

"On the morning of St. Patrick's day! Ah, Eileen you're a jewel!"

And so after a dozen kisses Dennis remounted the mare and away he went in the moonlight. Riding on to Tralee, which place he made in half an hour, he took a road leading northeastward to Limerick. It is just fifty miles from Tralee to Limerick. It would not do to ask for relays of horses, for this might give away the secret of his ride. It was 10 o'clock when he started. He rode thirty miles of the distance, rested his horse for two hours, then went on, reaching Limerick at 7 in the morning. But instead of going into the town he left it on his right and, crossing the river Shannon, struck out for Ennis, some twenty miles farther on. But he had no idea of using the mare to do this distance and, now that he was so far from home, concluded to leave her with a farmer and take a fresh mount. This he did and at 10 o'clock in the morning rode up to an inn in Ennis.

The bells were ringing for mass, and Dennis joined a throng going to the church. Seeing a priest going from his house to the church, Dennis joined him and said:

"Father, I desire to make a contribution on this blessed day of our patron saint, and I beg of you to receive it."

To this the priest agreed, and Dennis gave him his contribution.

"Now, father," said Dennis, "will you tell me the time?"

"There's a clock in the tower of the church beyond. You can see for yourself."

"I'm nearsighted. Will you use your own eyes for me?"

"It's 10 o'clock and 25 minutes."

"Are you sure?"

"I am."

"And I'm giving you 20 shillings for a contribution to the church at twenty-five minutes past 10 on the morning of St. Patrick's day, and don't you forget it."

"I'll not do that," said the priest.

Dennis went back to the inn, ate a good breakfast and, his horse having been fed, mounted and rode back to where he had left the mare. She, too, had been rested sufficiently to go on toward home, but at a slow gait. Dennis reached Killarney that night and the next morning appeared on the street laughing and talking with his friends with his usual good nature.

When The O'Grady heard that Dennis had remained to face a charge of robbery on the highway he made a charge against him, and Dennis was arrested, much to his apparent surprise. When the prisoner was brought before the magistrate for examination the charge was read and he was asked whether he pleaded guilty or not guilty.

"I could hardly be guilty, your worship," replied Dennis, "seeing that I was not where the charge specifies at a time when my accuser was stopped."

"Where were you?"

"I was in Ennis, your worship."

"That's seventy miles away. At what time were you in Ennis?"

"I was there on the morning of St. Patrick's day."

"Can you prove that?"

"Yes, your worship."

"By whom?"

"By a witness who saw me there at the time."

Dennis was given opportunity to bring his witness to Killarney, and when a priest of the church testified that the prisoner gave him on St. Patrick's day, at 10:25 in the morning, 20 shillings, no one dared gainsay the truth of the statement. There was but one inference to be made, which Concerning Women.

Miss Louise F. Brown, an instructor at Wellesley college, is the first woman to receive the Herbert Baxter Adams prize of $200 offered every two years by the American Historical association for the best essay on European history. Miss Brown's essay was one of a very large number submitted by representatives of many leading colleges throughout the country.

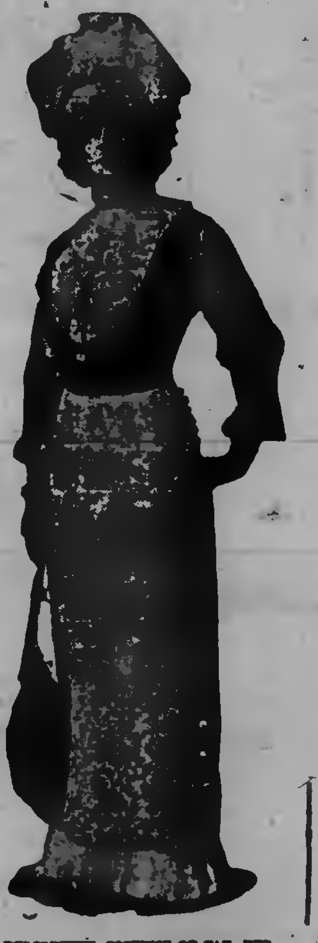
The Countess of Warwick is planning a lecture tour in the United States and Canada, for which she has prepared three subjects. One deals with woman suffrage and the other two are on communism and celebrities she has met.

Miss Harriet Keeler has recently been appointed superintendent of schools in Cleveland, O. A woman is tenement inspector in that city, having charge of the sanitary policemen; a woman is assistant librarian, a woman has charge of outdoor relief, two women are on the school board, one having been elected clerk, making six important positions filled by women in a city which two years ago had but one woman in public office, a member of the board of education.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Denver, ex-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and a possibility as United States senator, in a recent interview said that a woman's party is under consideration in Colorado, as they have found both of the old political parties permeated with corruption.

BASQUE EFFECTS.

Lace an Important Factor of Summer Frocks.



DELIGHTFUL COSTUME OF TAN NET.

Basque effects are being pushed by designers of costumes this season, but it remains to be seen whether the idea is going to "take" with their patrons. The gown illustrated shows the basque notion in its incipient stage. The material employed in this costume is a pale tan net trimmed with bands of venise lace. The lace of the bodice is also mounted on the tan net. A very modish touch is to be found in the plaited frill at the foot of the skirt and the slashed trimmed velvet coat, with button trimmed coattails at the back.

For the Girl Who Sews.

A bright young girl whose pet fad is harmony in the matter of the little details of dress, devising always some original touch which will tell those who see that her costume was designed as a whole, not being merely a chance collection of dress and accessories, evolved a charming and graceful fichu and cuff set to which any color touch desired can be added, according to the dress with which it is to be worn.

The fichu itself is of the usual draped surplice shape, curved to fit over the shoulders and trimmed with dainty lace frills. The inner edge is also of lace. Along the middle of the fichu following its longest line is a strip of velvet ribbon or folded satin, of a tint to match the gown, that is held in place by little cross straps of lace about three inches apart, out from which it can be drawn when the fichu is laundered or when it is to be replaced by some other color.

The cuffs to match this were deep ones, turned back, with double rows of lace frills an inch deep at the upper edge. Around the body of each cuff went the strip of satin or velvet to match that used on the fichu, and this again was apparently secured by the tiny straps of lace which crossed it, but which was also, as in the case of the fichu, caught here and there by an invisible stitch to prevent any accident or slipping from place. The narrow girdle was also of the same material as the colored "inset."

Flags at Half Mast.

The flags on the public buildings at Lindsay are at half mast as a mark of respect to the victims of the Titanic disaster. Why cannot this city show an equal amount of respect to those who died so bravely?

Bridge At Nassau Unsafe.

Rumors were current on Saturday that the County bridge over the Otonabee at Nassau, was in danger, and that Mr. J. H. Garbutt, chairman of the County Committee on Roads and Bridges had closed the bridge to traffic.

Maskinonge Spawn Destroyed.

There is danger that the maskinonge, next season, or rather in the coming season, will be greatly depleted on account of the high water this spring. These splendid game fish, go up above the submerged meadows and spawn. The unusually high water will recede, and millions of ova will be destroyed. This difficulty is being experienced at Sturgeon Lake, and very likely along the whole route of the Kawartha Lakes.

A Peterborough Epigram.

On Saturday morning one of the chief officials of a big local factory found one of his men sound asleep, with the neck of a Corby flask sticking from his coat pocket. Shaking the slumberer by the shoulder he ejaculated, "Look here, You're nothing but a human hog. I got you this job. I got your wages raised. You think of nothing but yourself. About the only difference between you and a real hog is that the hog wallows in the mire, and you daily wallow in the unspeakable nastiness of your selfishness. Now get!"

Peterborough Summer Fair.

Well, it seems that the people of this city, most vitally interested in such a movement have not come financially to the aid of the Peterborough ladies, who have used their time, money and social influence to get up a "Made-in-Peterborough" Exhibition. As the exhibits and the money are not forthcoming, the exhibition to pay for a trained nurse for tuberculosis patients, has been changed to a "Peterborough Summer Fair." Still—no matter what the name, the object is a most commendable one, and the ladies who have worked up the scheme should be backed up the last firing line. Anyhow, the Peterborough Summer Fair should bring in hundreds of outsiders and make a stir in this city.

George St. Church on Church Union.

George street church, through its pastor, Rev. I. Couch, has published its vote on Church Union, as follows:

Officials—

This vote shows that 829 members and adherents voted and that their sentiment in favor of Church Union is over 52 to 1.

A Bobcaygeon Romance.

Bobcaygeon has had a little tempest in a teapot scandal. Last Friday a young man of that village, only 20 years of age, was accused before the Magistrate of abducting a young girl under 16 years of age. It appears that the girl's parents have been absent from the village for some time, and that she was induced to go with the young man to the home of his sister-in-law, where she remained for two days, when relatives demanded that she return home. The young man denied that she was on the premises, and as a consequence the relatives had a warrant sworn out and the young girl was removed. His Worship decided that the young man must either marry the unfortunate girl or serve a lengthy term in prison. A wedding certificate was produced.

That New Zealand—Lindsay Butter.

Lindsay Harder has a three column article on the high cost of living and how New Zealand butter was served at a recent dinner there. Some of that New Zealand, per Lindsay, butter was sent to this city for sale. Say, the smell of that butter was a little stronger than the taste. A member of the staff of this g. f. j., a few days ago bought three pounds of the New Zealand oleo-de-cow. By the time this butter reached the kitchen, his wife remarked: "Whew! What's the matter. I wonder if that cat has killed a mouse and left it in the cupboard?" At last the smell was traced to the butter, which was hastily put in a back shed. A few minutes later a Jew, sack over his shoulder, came into the yard. He came to the door and began to ask, "Any rags, bones. . . ." Then he exclaimed "excuse me!" and flew for the gate. Shortly afterwards one of Peterborough's mongrel pups came in, looking for a garbage pail. The dog smelt the butter, drooped its tail, yelped and fled.

SEVERAL DRUNKS AT POLICE COURT

At yesterday's session of the Police Court, it seemed that the balmy spring weather must have awakened slumbering desires for the red-eye liquor. William Bruce of Millbrook, charged with being drunk and disorderly paid $2 and costs, amounting to $5.65 for his abuse of Peterborough stimulants.

The next case was where John Dunford claimed that another local man struck him and used abusive language. The defendant pleaded guilty and was assessed $5 and costs, amounting to $8.75.

Another visitor pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly. His Worship imposed the usual fine of $2 and costs.

Jim. Hayes, an old offender, pleaded guilty to being drunk. Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $2 to be paid in ten days, or Jim will spend fifteen days on the hill.

Still another pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place. He paid $2 for his fun, like the other fellows who drank too freely of the flowing bowl.

The proprietor of a George street billiard saloon and tobacco store was charged with selling liquor. Whilst some of the witnesses probably swore according to their memories, the testimony practically was that a black bird is a white and a snow bird black. The case was dismissed.

A BIG ROUND-UP OF BAND OF POACHERS

Toronto, April 22.—As a result of a raid made at the mouth of the Humber on Saturday afternoon, Game Warden Terry and Constable Beach, sixteen persons will appear in afternoon court to-morrow to answer the charge of poaching.

The raid was the most successful the authorities have yet made, but the men's names were not secured without considerable difficulty, some of the poachers putting up a fight.

Others fled along the river banks for upwards of two miles before the Warden and Officer succeeded in overtaking them.

The officers secured no less than 1,600 yards of dip nets, 3 sacks full of pike and four double-barrelled breech-loading guns.

Summons were issued in every case and the matter will be threshed out before Magistrate Kingsford in the police court.

UNKNOWN SHIP WAS 5 MILES FROM THE SINKING TITANIC

Washington, April 23.—The Senate Committee's hearing yesterday into the Titanic disaster developed the fact that a vessel was within sight of the great White Star liner when it came into fatal collision with the berg. This unidentified vessel was headed towards the Titanic. So close was she that her lights were easily discernable from the Titanic's bridge. Yet this mysterious ship failed to respond to the burning rockets that were sent up for more than an hour as signals of distress, or to the urgent electric flashes which in the Morse code spelled the words: "Come at once; we are sinking."

Could not See the Berg.

In the opinion of some of the Titanic's officers who stood on the bridge on that fatal night of April 14, this vessel within sight of the Titanic acknowledged the signals but sailed away unheeding. This startling information was imparted to the committee by J. G Boxhall, former Fourth Officer of the Titanic, who also gave impressive details of what occurred on the bridge of the Titanic just preceding and following the collision with the berg.

According to this officer Captain Smith himself was on the bridge when the big liner plunged into the great mass of ice, but conditions were such that it was impossible to see the berg even after the ship had come into contact with it.

All Messages Submitted.

Besides Officer Boxhall's dramatic story the Senate Committee heard an impressive account of the uncertainty and the fears that attended the efforts of the officials of the White Star line to ascertain just what had happened to the great Titanic. All the messages that flashed from the White Star line officers in those hours of uncertainty were introduced in evidence, and also the wireless despatches that came back bearing only the meagre news of the sea tragedy. The messages introduced in evidence for the White Star people tended strongly to support their contention that they had no definite knowledge that the Titanic had gone to the bottom until 6.30 o'clock on Monday evening.

Distress Calls Disregarded.

The ship sighted, declared Officer Boxhall, was within five miles of the Titanic when that vessel struck the berg that sent her to the bottom.

Not only was this ship within five miles of the Titanic at the moment of the latter's impact upon the iceberg, but according to Boxhall, she was headed toward the liner. Despite the fact that for more than an hour the Titanic sent up signals of distress from her bridge, this unidentified ship went on her way and never even answered the liner's calls for help. Boxhall declares that he spent most of his time after the accident on the bridge sending up rockets and calling for assistance by means of the electric light in the hope of attracting the attention of the unknown vessel.

HOME RULE MEASURE SUITS EVEN EXTREME NATIONALISTS

Dublin, April 23.—The Nationalist Convention assembled to-day under the presidency of John E. Redmond, leader of the Nationalist party in the House of Commons, and its first act was to pass a resolution expressing sorrow at the disaster to the Titanic. Mr. Redmond moved the resolution and the whole of the members of the convention stood up as a tribute to the victims.

Although the acceptance in principle of the Home Rule bill was a foregone conclusion, there was plenty of enthusiasm among the delegates and salvos of cheers broke out as the leader of the party described the third Home Rule bill as the most satisfactory measure ever offered to Ireland.

Mr. Redmond declared that under the Government's bill Dublin Castle with its evil and blood-stained traditions would disappear. The Irish would be a nation of fools not to accept the bill which gave Ireland immediate control of nine-tenths of the Irish revenues and eventually of the whole.

The financial provisions of the bill, he said, were better than those of either of the two previous measures.

Mr. Redmond concluded by moving a resolution accepting the bill, which was seconded by the Lord Mayor of Cork, and carried amid a scene of wild enthusiasm and the unfurling of the green flag.

INCREASED AERIAL MILITARX FORCES

New York, April 23.—An urgent demand that Congress take immediate action to increase the aerial military forces of the country is on its way to Washington Thursday, signed by the Board o Governors of the Aero Club of America.

Their official resolution declares that France, Russia, England, Germany, Italy, Austria, and Japan have already recognized the value of the aerial arm of the service and have taken steps to equip themselves suitably. The United States, however has shown little disposition to follow suit, and the governors declare "that it is of the utmost importance to the welfare of our country that a suitable measure should be promptly adopted."

BRAINS CONTROL LABOR FORCES

The New Force Directing Workers in Old Country Is Education

COLLEGE MEN LEADERS

No More the Appeal to Brute Force But Splendidly Organised, Combined Action Workers' Weapon.

London, April 23.—The prevalent spirit of discontent among the organized forces of labor in Britain has brought a number of interesting points to light, but probably the most significant is the demonstrated fact that a new spirit—a new intellectual force—is dominating the men.

This is manifested in a number of ways. There are far-reaching influences at work, the importance of which cannot be over-estimated. A few years ago it was thought that the day of strikes was over. A new plan of campaign was formed, a new movement initiated. The whole trade union world has been stirred by the decision of the judges in the Taft-Vale case in 1901. This judgment practically rendered peaceful picketing an illegal act and made the trades unions, as such, responsible for the unconstitutional actions of their individual officers.

Added to the deep resentment felt by trade unionists against the Taft Vale decision was the result of the strenuous agitation of the militant socialists in favor of political methods of labor warfare and the disturbing fact that the sectional strikes then being waged generally ended in a victory for the masters.

The natural result of this combination of circumstances was the formation of the [illegible] party and the election of [illegible] independent Labor representatives to the 1906 Parliament.

For a time this labor party exercised some power over legislation. The members of the other political parties awakened to the fact that their handling of the Parliamentary machinery did not satisfy the workers, and a number of bills of direct interest to labor were forced from the Liberal government.

The more militant trade unionists were not content with this, however. It had no effect on the matters most important to labor :: wages did not rise, prices of necessaries in life increased, and numbers of men, able and willing to work, were continually out of employment.

Whether the Labor party justified its existence as a separate parliamentary party in other ways I am not concerned to argue just now. It is sufficient to state that it had no influence on these vital changes.

Then came a change in the tactics of some divisions of the industrial forces. They made what was considered by the politicals as a step backward and appealed to the old method of force; they struck work for higher wages, and paid no attention to the commands or entreaties of the old "leaders."

Series of Strikes.

The first outbreaks were marred by the old weakness, they were sectional in character; but the new ideas of combination had taken root, and on June 14 of last year the Seamen's and Firemen's union called a general strike and tied up the shipping in nearly every port of the country.

Then came the dockers' turn, when every section of the hundred thousand strikers on Thames side refused to return to work until the demands had all been met.

The seamen's and dockers' strike were grave enough, but the railway strike last August brought the country to the verge of civil war. It was one of the greatest demonstrations of the effectiveness of combination in the history of trade unionism, eclipse-

AWFUL MOMENTS BEFORE GOING DOWN

Washington, April 23.—That those on the Titanic knew not only that there was ice, but approximately where it was, was testified by the Third Officer H. J. Pittman before the Senate Investigation Committee to-day.

Fourth Officer Boxhall, he stated had worked out the position of some bergs from information furnished by the California, and had marked it with a cross on the chart.

Death cries of the Titanic's 1,400 victims re-echoed through the building when he vividly described the sinking of the great ship. Prayers, cries, moans, a mighty chorus of woe arose from the trapped victims. The British officer told the pathetic story in an almost stolid manner. But even he begged the committee not to press him along that line.

"It was a continual moan for about an hour," he said. "It died away gradually."

"Is that all you care to say about the aspect?" he was asked.

"I'd rather you'd left that out all together," the big brawny Briton pleaded, as his voice choked in emotion of recollections. Tears welled to the eyes of many women in the room. Even Senators shaded their eyes as Pittman described the scene of midnight terror.

Thought They Were Anchoring.

"The collision woke me up, it sounded like a ship coming to anchor—I didn't quite wake up, but it made me wonder where we were anchoring."

Pittman rushed on deck without dressing. He did not see anything wrong, and went back to his bunk, believing he had been dreaming.

WINNIPEG LADIES SAY THEY SAW ISMAY LEAVE EARLY

New York, April 23.—Mrs. Mark Fortune and her daughters, Ethel, Alice, and Mabel, survivors of the Titanic; H. C. Hutton and his wife who was formerly Miss Clara Fortune, leave New York this morning on a special train for Montreal, whence they will proceed to their homes in Winnipeg.

From Mr. Alice, who is the grandson of Sir John Allen, formerly Lord Chief Justice of New Brunswick, the following statement was given out last night at Hotel Belmont, where the family has been staying.

"Both Mr. and Mrs. Hutton and myself who came to this city to meet Mrs. Fortune and her daughters have refrained from asking any questions as to the circumstances surrounding the wreck of the Titanic because every reference to the disaster causes the women to become hysterical. They are still grief stricken and physically prostrated. The only story which we have been able to get has been gathered from disconnected remarks made by them at various times.

"They declare that Mr. Fortune, Charles, the son, Mrs. Fortune, and the three girls were in adjoining rooms reserved by them in the first cabin of the Titanic when the vessel struck. The women knew nothing of the accident until they had been informed by Mr. Fortune, who awakened them. When they reached the deck they heard the cry, "All women this way."

"They joined the line of women and saw the first few lifeboats filled.

"Before they left the ship a boat containing a number of men passengers was lowered on the starboard side. Among those in the boat was a gentleman who had distributed hymn books to the first cabin passengers on Sunday. This gentleman had been pointed out to the men as Bruce Ismay. The boat in which this man, supposed to be Ismay, left was only partly filled.

"Mrs. Fortune and her daughters left the Titanic on lifeboat 10, which was the sixth boat to be lowered.

"They were unwilling to leave the vessel without father and brother, but Charlie reassured them by taking possession of the valuables which his mother carried, declaring, 'I'll take care of these. We're going on the next boat.'

"In the boat in which Mrs. Fortune and her daughters left the ship were a number of men passengers, as well as an officer, two stokers, a Chinaman, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dick of Calgary, Alta., and a number of women and children."

ROYAL GEORGE SENDS WORD THAT 77 BODIES ARE FOUND

New York, April 23.—An additional list of fifteen names of persons who perished in the Titanic disaster, and whose bodies have been recovered, was made public to-day by the White Star line. The list was received in a wireless telegram from the cable ship Mackay.Bennett which also announced that a total of seventy-seven had been recovered to date.

Of the fifteen names, twelve are those of passengers.

Orders were sent to the Mackay-Bennett by the White Star Line to steam for Halifax with the bodies which have been recovered, and the ship was notified at the same time, that the Western Union cableship Minia would be despatched to the scene to relieve her.

A FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR PROPOSITION IN LACROSSE

St. Catherines, April 23.—Billy Fitzgerald, after being several times claimed by Vancouver and the Toronto lacrosse teams, will after all be seen at Scarboro Beach again this year. Last night he wired Con Jones that he had changed his mind and would not go west this year. It is understood that the proposition from the Torontos that cinched Fitz was an offer of $5000 for the services of Billy and his brother Tom, with an opportunity to slip over home occasionally during the summer. "There is no backing out this time" said Fitz the elder, last night. "I'm with the Torontos."

AUTOMOBILE SPEED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—The season for automobiles is just opening up. I would suggest, in fact earnestly urge, the absolute necessity for control of these machines within the city limits. Fortunately, so far the owners of these machines have used a good deal of common sense in the matter of speed, and no accidents have happened. However, this spring I understand a number of men, new to autos, have bought such machines. From them is a possible danger, through inexperience. Again, those who had autos last year being now more familiar with their machines, may be prompted, at times, to develop too great a speed. The whole thing is to have a proper control at the beginning of the season and save hospital cases or undertakers' jobs of an unnecessary character.

THE HOTEL LICENSES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—I saw in your paper of Monday morning that, not only had all the twelve local hotels had their licenses renewed, as well as the liquor shops, but that Inspector Stewart, in each and every case, reported favorably to the License Commissioners. When one considers that the hotel accommodation of Peterborough, is altogether inadequate for a city of 18,000 people, and the consequent temptation to those in possession of licenses to make a few more dollars, (for human nature, particularly the hotel end of it, is apt to look for all there's in it) this is a splendid record for Peterborough's sobriety, and throws great credit upon the local license holders. Inspector Stewart is a man too well known in the city and county to bring up the remote hint of leniality. When that officer reported favorably, anyone can believe his report was the truth, and nothing but the truth. In the face of such a report, and its consequent results, what need is there of local option?

—Ratepayer.

As a further evidence of the precautions taken by the Grand Trunk railway to ensure the safety of the lives and property entrusted to its care, it may be said that plans are now being made to instal the automatic block signalling system, now being used extensively in Great Britain and heavy traffic districts of the United States, on the lines between Toronto and Niagara Falls, which is the heaviest traffic line in Canada; and also between Hamilton and Lynden Junction, where the main lines diverge to Harrisburg and Brantford. The G. T.R. is also planning to instal this system on the 26th district track in Indiana. Incidentally, this is the first important example of automatic block system to be installed by a Canadian company in Canada.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY HOLDS A SUCCESSFUL BANQUET

Yesterday was St. George's Day. This Saint's day, celebrated in Peterborough, is one of the oldest in history. Many hundreds of years ago, in the latter part of the second century, there was born in Cicilia, a man, concerning whom the only information is imparted in legends. The persecution of his co-religionists by Diocletian compelled St. George to resign his commission and upbraid the emperor for his cruelty. This conduct cost him his head and won his saintship in the year 303 A.D. Whatever the real character of St. George was, there is no doubt that his memory has been held in great honor by the English people from a very early period.

The Banquet.

Last night the St. George's Society of Peterborough held a banquet in Coleman Bros. fine dining parlors, themselves enthusiastic British subjects, had adorned the dining room appropriately. The grand old emblem of England, fluttered above the chairman's head. About 7.40, some 76 members of the order and their friends entered. Mr. G. N. Gordon, the local barrister, made a most efficient chairman. Messrs. Coleman had arranged for and presented a typical English meal. Among the items on the card were "English roast beef, with horse raddish sauce;

NEW BATTLESHIPS FOR U. S. LESSENED

Washington, April 22.—The naval committee of the House Thursday voted against battleships and cruisers as part of this year's addition to the American fleet. The following programme was agreed upon by the committee:

Two fuel ships, $630,000 each, four submarines, $300,000 each; six torpedo boat destroyers, $568,000 each, and a tender for the destroyers.

A direct vote upon the question of building battleships resulted in the defeat of the proposition which has already been turned down by the House Democratic caucus.

The proposed naval program is $5-000,000 less than last year. The committee will recommend an appropriation of $700,000 to convert the colliers, Vestal and Prometheus into repair ships.

GALICIANS RESIST THE POLICEMEN

Portage La Prairie, Man., April 23.—Three Galicians were this morning before Magistrate Marshall on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, and were fined $4 and costs, amounting in all to $6.35.

Yesterday afternoon they were in the Merchants Hotel and in some manner a fight started, with the result that they were put out of the building. This seemed to add to their fighting spirits, and they again made their way into the building only to meet with the same results. The doors were barricaded on the inside, by employees of the hotel, but the three men wanted to fight, and going around to the front they succeeded in getting in, and only after a nasty struggle were they again put out. Their actions brought a couple of hundred spectators to the scene, and the police were called. The three men all resisted arrest, two in particular having to be handcuffed together.

THAW HOPES FOR HIS RELEASE IN TEN DAYS

Mattewan, N.Y., April 23.—That Harry K. Thaw will be out of Mattewan within ten days was declared to be certain by attaches of the State asylum for the criminal insane here late this afternoon.

Dr. Russell was asked late this afternoon what he intended doing. He said that he will make his report on his return to Carmody on Wednesday.

Dr. is Reticent.

"What will you recommend in Thaw's case?" was asked.

"I will tell only the court," he replied.

"Thaw and his friends have said that you will report that he is now recovered from his insanity and that anyhow, he is harmless and could safely be discharged. Will you say whether that is true or not?"

"I will report faithfully, the condition, but cannot indicate what that report will be," replied the doctor.

A close friend of the Thaw family offered to bet $500 to $100 this afternoon that Thaw will go free.

THE WEATHER.

West winds, and a little warmer.

INSURANCE LOSSES TOTAL $15,000,000

New York, April 23.—Insurance men estimate that the total losses to be paid by the various life, accident and marine companies as a result of the sinking of the Titanic will reach approximately $15,000,000. Two-thirds of this will fall upon the Marine Insurance Companies. Several American companies which do all classes of business, have been hard hit. All the marine insurance was carried abroad, but the risk is distributed largely in this country by means of what the insurance men call "re-insurance." That is, the company issuing the policy re-insures a part of its risk in other companies.

"Insurance Field," a trade journal published here, asserts that "nowhere in the annals of insurance is there a parallel for the loss of property, occasioned by the sinking of the ocean liner Titanic." The journal makes the following estimates of the total loss:

Life insurance, $2,193,000.
Accident insurance, $2,203,000.
Marine insurance, ship, $5,000,000.
Marine insurance cargo, $5,000,000.
Total, $14,406,000.

WEAVING WEB AROUND GIBSON

Toronto, April 23.—The hammer with which Joseph Rosenthal is believed to have been battered to death and the rope encircling the neck of his body when it was found muddy and almost unrecognizable in the yards of the Hydro-Electric plant at the foot of Strachan avenue on Good Friday evening, were two exhibits produced at the adjourned inquiry at the Morgue last night. Freed of the blood stains with which they were marked when first they came into the possession of the police, the gruesome relics were handled by three of the witnesses who gave their testimony, and who explained to Coroner Dr. Cotton and his jury the part which these grim agents had played in the encompassing of Rosenthal's murder.

Eight witnesses in all were heard, ranging from the Hydro employees, who first found the body of the victim to the Chief Coroner, who described in detail the injuries which had caused death.

Accused Present.

Charles Gibson, who faces a charge of murder, was present. He sat on the north side of the court room close to the witness stand, and was guarded by a police officer. Slight, well-dressed, a boy in years, but perfectly self-possessed, he followed every word with the keenest interest. He sat unmoved while he heard his chum of seven years' standing, William Britt, recapitulate his (Gibson's) movements prior to the tragedy and immediately after it. Only once did he show the slightest embarrassment. That was when Mrs. Caplin positively identified him as the man who had called at her husband's store on York street, prior to Good Friday and asked for Rosenthal.

"I asked him for his name," she said, and he replied "Smith." "And that is the man," she added, pointing to Gibson.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Paris, April 21.—Though the law of June 5th, 1907 expressly forbids gambling, the State collects 15 per cent of all the winnings in the various "Casinos." The companies owning the Casinos, on their part, profess to collect as their profit from one-tenth to one-twentieth part of all money staked at tables. And these profits are large enough to allow the companies to pay for the parks, the street railways, the theatre and in some cases for the schools of the towns or villages where the gambling house is located. Frenchmen stake about four hundred million francs ($80,000,000) per annum on roulette, little horses and similar devices. About the same amount is placed with the bookmakers on horses. But to this must be added the enormous sums staked at the private clubs in Paris and all big towns. These gambling clubs are known as "cercles," and the police dare not interfere with them. Finally, there are in Paris any number of unrecognized Cercles, which occasionally are raided to protect the recognized ones.

The Government makes its profit in both kinds of Cercles, as it imposes a tax of 30 cents on each deck of cards. The same cards can be bought by private parties for fifteen cents. When the game requires more than 36 Last year the Government received taxes on 3,050,614 decks of cards.

It is remarkable that all the countries of the world, except Spain and Cuba, import their playing cards from France. The tax on playing cards was introduced by Henry III., in 1583, consisting of one "sol parisis," a copper.

That New Zealand—Lindsay Butter.

Lindsay Harder has a three column article on the high cost of living and how New Zealand butter was served at a recent dinner there. Some of that New Zealand, per Lindsay, butter was sent to this city for sale. Say, the smell of that butter was a little stronger than the taste. A member of the staff of this g. f. l., a few days ago bought three pounds of the New Zealand olio-de-cow. By the time this butter reached the kitchen his wife remarked: "Whew! What's [illegible] cupboard?" At last the smell was traced to the butter, which was hastily put in a back shed. A few minutes later a Jew, sack over his back, came into the yard. He came to the door and began to ask, "Any rags, bones . . ." Then he exclaimed "excuse me!" and flew for the gate. Shortly afterwards one of Peterborough's mongrel curs came in, looking for a garbage pail. The dog smelt the butter, drooped its tail, yelped and fled.

SLAVING IN NIGERIA.

Wiles of Traders Nullified by British Agents.

Late one afternoon a large canoe from up-river came slowly alongside and made fast. In it were a man, a woman, a lad, and a small child.

The man and the lad were working the canoe, and as they came up, the man shouted some order to the lad at the stern. He repeated it more than once, and the lad at each repetition, started some new act. It struck me as curious that the lad failed to understand what was said to him.

I recognised the language in which the man spoke as being Nupe. He told me that he was a Nupe, and that the woman was his wife, mother of the lad and of the wee girl.

As neither he nor his wife could make any sort of conversation with either of the children, though these talked freely one to the other, it was reasonably clear that the claim to be their parents was to be accepted in the Pickwickian sense only.

My own interpreter, a worthy fellow with command of seven languages, could do nothing with them. Amateur interpreters, speaking all manner of curious dialects, tried, without success, to interest the "pikbina."

Ultimately, a woman was found in the native town who was able to talk their language, and then all was plain sailing. They came from a pagan district a couple of hundred miles or more above Rama, on the river, and, owing to famine had been sold for three bags of corn to the canoeman and his wife three weeks before we met.

Later on, they were returned to their people. Ere that, they appeared in court to testify against their purchasers. These were convicted, and are at this present time engaged in building operations on his Majesty's behalf at no great distance from Rama.—World's Work.

WAR SCARE ONLY IN JINGO PRESS

Strassburg, April 21.—The French poet and politician, Loyson, has arrived here after making a tour of Germany and of Alsace-Lorraine. He says his investigations show that the German people, as a whole, are peacefully inclined and abhor war, even though a number of reckless newspapers try to stir up war.

The most outspoken of them is the Berlin Post, a paper without circulation except in official circles. The Kaiser himself reads it religiously every day, but seems to take no notice of what it says. The Post persistently stirs up trouble, both with England and France—on paper, but having no circulation, its diatribes fall flat.

"We have just such criminally foolish papers in France, but the people do not respond. For forty years the French people have demonstrated that they do not want war with Germany. All they want is to be prepared."

A Bobcaygeon Romance.

Bobcaygeon has had a little tempest in a teapot scandal. Last Friday a young man of that village only [illegible] under 16 years of age. It appears that the girl's parents have been absent from the village for some time, and that she was induced to go with the young man to the home of his sister-in-law, where she remained for two days, when relatives demanded that she return home. The young man denied that she was on the premises, and as a consequence the relatives had a warrant sworn out and the young girl was removed. His Worship decided that the young man must either marry the unfortunate girl or serve a lengthy term in prison. A wedding certificate was produced.

Local Insurance Man Gets News.

Among those lost on the Titanic, who carried heavy insurance was the late Chas. M. Hays. Yesterday Mr. H. Cyril Hill, local representative of the Travellers' Insurance Company, received a wire, informing him that over $1,000,000 insurance risk was wiped out by the "Titanic" disaster, represented by the passenger list. The loss will exceed any previous calamity recorded.

THE KING'S SERGEANT.

He Is Quite an Important Official When His Majesty Travels.

The Sergeant Footman at Buckingham Palace is an important personage, he is the chief of the indoor footmen, and acts as an independent official, taking orders only from the Master of the Household.

His ordinary duties consist in detailing the footmen to duty at the palace entrances and for daily attendance in the ante-rooms of the personal apartments of the King and Queen, and in the morning-rooms of the equerries and ladies-in-waiting. The Sergeant Footman—he is, by the way, addressed by all members of the Household as "Sergeant"—is usually in attendance at the equerries' entrance to the palace, where he shares a waiting-room with the palace steward.

At one o'clock half the staff of footmen come off duty for dinner, and go on duty again at two, when the other half come off duty until three. When the footmen come on duty they must report themselves to the Sergeant.

The Sergeant Footman has to look after the footman accompanying a royal visitor, allot them rooms in the servants' apartments, arrange whether they are to "mess" with the royal servants or by themselves—a matter left usually to the choice of the visiting servants—and settle precisely the hours at which they will be in attendance on their royal master and mistress. Supposing, for example the footmen of a visiting royalty desires to be freed from attendance between three and six in the afternoon, the Sergeant Footman would have to detail a certain number of the palace footmen to take their place during these hours.

At Buckingham Palace the electric bells in any of the royal visitors' rooms can be directly connected with any of the servants' rooms. This is done by means of what is called a transfer switchboard, which is placed in the Sergeant Footman's office. On the switchboard are marked the numbers of all the royal visitors' apartments, and opposite these are the numbers of the servants' rooms, from 1 to 100.

Now, supposing the Kaiser were to use Room No. 4 in the royal visitors' suite of rooms for a bedroom, as he usually does and his personal valet were to occupy No. 30 in the servants' rooms, the Sergeant Footman would connect these two rooms on his switchboard, so that when the Kaiser touched his bell it would ring the bell in Room 30.

The Sergeant Footman and one of his assistants always travel with the King. The former occupies a compartment next to the royal saloon, and acts as attendant to his Majesty during the journey. Among his duties the Sergeant has to see that Buckingham Palace is kept properly lighted.

The electric light in all the corridors at Buckingham Palace must be switched on at a certain hour every day, that varies, of course, according to the time of year, but in dull, foggy weather the light may possibly have to be switched on early in the morning, and the Sergeant has to take care to see that this is done if necessary.

Eight of the indoor footmen are on duty at Buckingham Palace when the King is in residence throughout the night. The Sergeant Footman himself goes off duty usually at midnight. The footmen for night duty are changed every week.

Damp Salt Before Rain.

Very few persons know that when the salt gets damp it is either because it is too near the sea or because it is going to rain. It is very hard to keep the salt cellar dry at the seashore, as there is so much moisture in the air all the time, but in other places it is usually a sign of rain when the salt gets damp. Things that help themselves to the water in the air are called "deliquescent," and salt is one of them. When water is in the air in the form of gas it sometimes become too plentiful for the air to hold, and then we get what is called "precipitation," or rain. But long before the water vapor in the air is heavy enough to fall in rain there is enough of it to spare to make salt damp.

When Robespierre Was "Stung."

Under the terror Robespierre used to play a peaceful game of chess at the Cafe Regence, and the story is told of a youth who once challenged him and beat him twice. Robespierre after his debeat asked how much he owed, no stakes having been previously fixed. The supposed youth, who in reality was a girl in man's clothes, presented an order for the release of her lover from prison, and Robespierre signed it. Napoleon Bonaparte during his consulship was seen at the famous cafe, but he showed himself no tactician at chess.

No Fear of Thieves.

Some years ago a London merchant sent a cargo of goods to Constantinople. After the supercargo saw the bales and boxes safely landed he inquired where they could be stored.

"Leave them here—it won't rain to-night," was the reply.

"But I dare not leave them thus exposed. Some of the goods might be stolen," said the supercargo.

The Mohammedan merchant burst into a loud laugh as he replied:

"Don't be alarmed. There isn't a Christian within fifty miles of here."

Government Anatomy.

"Father," inquired the small boy making his first visit to the army post, "what house is that over there?"

"That's the Government's headquarters, Jimmy."

A long puzzled silence, then:

"Father, where are its hindquarters?"

Fine Mink Trapped.

On Sunday morning a trapper, whose range is from Hiawatha to several miles north of the Otonabee delta, found two fine mink in his trap on the East shore of the Otonabee, nearly opposite Wedlock's summer resort. These mink are worth approximately $6 each.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

DIZZY HEADACHES CURED IN ONE NIGHT

If Troubled With Head-Fulness, Ringing Noises, Specks Before the Eyes, the Stomach is at Fault.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made as strong, ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

WHY WAS THE NEWS HELD BACK

What motives actuated the White Star Line officials to go to the lengths which they did in suppressing the news of the disaster to the great ship Titanic have not yet been disclosed. Suffice it to say that the public, and its ears and eyes in the shape of press representatives, were for 12 hours badly misled as to the real proportions of the calamity. Its view doubtless was that until the worst could be definitely known it would be a needless cruelty to invite the friends of the passengers to share in the dread suspense. But this benevolent theory can be carried too far. Popular alarm in consequence welled up like water behind a dam, until with redoubled force it broke all intended bounds. Last night was one of great apprehension in many quarters and of a hurrying and scurrying, accentuated by the impression that the steamship officials had not been frank with the public, and were liable not yet to be telling the whole truth.

CLEANSING THE PANAMA.

In a recent issue of the American Medical Association Journal will be found an article on the cleansing of the Isthmus of Panama. The wonderful work accomplished is summarized by Colonel Gorgas, wherein the conditions are contrasted as at present under American regime, and what existed under French occupancy. The French, with an average force of 10,200 men, lost in nine years on the Isthmus of 22,189 men. The United States, with an average working force of 33,000 men during practically the same length of time has lost only 4,000. The annual death rate amongst the French employees reached the gigantic figure of 240 per thousand. The maximum death rate amongst employees since United States occupancy, and during the early days of the work before the sanitary plans were completed, was 40 per thousand. The present annual death rate is only 7.50 per thousand, or lower than the death rate in an American city. Yellow fever has entirely disappeared. Malaria has been curbed so that there are less than one-quarter as many cases as there were during the early days.

It is well for Panama and the workers on the canal under the new regime, that the task was entrusted to a man who was master of his business and of himself. The reign of terror that was periodically renewed in these tropical countries where malaria fever was deemed inevitable, is no longer to be feared. The awful menace spread by the approach of yellow fever from the La Plata to the Hudson, has ceased to scare the millions whose decimation was not to be escaped.

The sanitary work accomplished has been of the greatest value to the world, showing, as it does, that that health can readily be preserved in the tropics under modern sanitation.

The cleaning of the canal zone will have a beneficial effect.

Editorial Notes

If the number of candidates for seats in the British House of Commons continues to increase, this country will soon have a fair sized representation in the Imperial Parliament. The best o it is that all the Canadians who contest constituencies in Great Britain are successful.

As a comparison between the actions of those with and without pluck, in the face of disaster, one cannot help commending the pluck of Lady Duff Gordon, a delicately raised scion of the aristrocracy, who took one of the heavy oars of the life boat she was in, whilst the officer on the bridge shot himself as soon as he realized the full extent of the disaster. If he was determined to use a revolver he should have waited and helped the passengers under his care, and for whom he was, in part, responsible.

Although so many hundreds of lives were lost in the Titanic wreck, the hundreds saved, plus so many of their respective relatives, have reason to nurse a life long debt of gratitude towards Sig. Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph system. By a fortunate accident, the wireless operator aboard the Carpathia happened to wait ten minutes longer than his regular time. Still, without the science of the wireless, it is safe to say that not a score of people aboard the Titanic would ever have lived to tell the tale.

Mr. Roosevelt, above all else, is an advocate of individuality. Why then, does he so often liken himself to Lincoln? Whatever has been accomplished by Mr. Roosevelt, and it is only blindness which can make even his most hostile critic deny that this is much, has been done by methods peculiarly his own. Lincolnian he was not; Lincolnian he is not; nor can a careful analyist find much similarity between the two men. One most fundamental difference lies in the proportions which the "ego" assumes. Lincoln was among the most egotistical of men. His speeches, his acts, his policies, are all luminous with the principle and eliminate the personal. Is this true of Mr. Roosevelt? His most ardent admirer cannot claim it.

A Suggestion.

The next time the snow drifts into your yard instead of making a snow man try to make a snow pig. An oblong mass of snow forms the body, and the legs, nose and ears are made of sticks surrounded by snow. A bit of rope nicely curled will make a good tail. Various pigs can be shaped and carved, according to the skill of the young artist, and will give a lively and sociable appearance to your yard and cause the neighbors a great deal of amusement—at your expense perhaps.

Frost Pictures.

The other children like to write
Their names upon the pane
That's frosted over in the night,
Where you can see them plain.

They draw all sorts of awkward things,
But I would rather see
The pictures that the white frost kings
Have painted there for me.

I am afraid the fairy folk
That in these woods might play
By these ungainly crooked strokes
Will all be scared away.

WHAT YOU HEAR IN OLD QUEBEC

"I am well, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills"

Mrs. Gagnon, Riviere au Dore, one of those who raise the glad shout of good health.

Riviere au Dore, Chicoutimi, Co., Quebec, April 23.—(Special).—"Yes, I am well, and I give all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills." Those words have been uttered time and again in almost every corner of the Province of Quebec. This time they come from Mrs. Joseph Gagnon, a well known young married woman of this place.

"My back and head ached and my limbs would swell," Mrs. Gagnon continues. "I always had a bitter taste in my mouth, and especially in the morning. Twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Mrs. Gagnon's symptoms showed beyond a doubt that her trouble was from the Kidneys. Naturally she turned to the old reliable Kidney cure that had proved its worth in thousands of other cases. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills and she is well.

Kidney Disease is the greatest enemy the women of to-day have to fight. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure it. That's why they have earned the name "suffering woman's best friend."

ANCIENT CUSTOMS.

Quaint Usages and Superstitions Connected With Stockings.

Stockings figure in some curious superstitions touching old customs, especially those connected with marriage. Every one knows that there are actions both lucky and unlucky. Among the former, it is commonly held that to put on any article of clothing wrongside out is decidedly a sign of good luck; but it must be done accidentally, and when the mistake is found out no change must be made, else the luck will immediately vanish. This idea is very firmly held about stockings, probably because it is more easy to make such a mistake in putting than in donning other garments.

Another superstition touching the use of hose is connected with dreaming. This is a Scotch notion. If a person be about to sleep in a bed that he or she has never slept in before, the certainty of dreaming can be assured by placing the stocking taken off the right foot under the head. Not only will the sleeper be sure to dream, but the dream will certainly come to pass.

Of the superstitions attached to marriage ceremonies, most people have heard of "throwing the stocking." This rite would hardly be regarded now as consistent with modern notions of decorum, but it was highly popular in days gone by. The ceremony was performed at the conclusion of the wedding-day's festivities, by young men and girls seated at the bed-foot—the former have the bride's and the latter the groom's stockings—whose object in throwing the hose backwards over their heads was to hit, if possible, the head, and especially the nose, of one or other of the newly-married couple. A successful shot meant marriage at an early date for the thrower.

A pleasant association connected with stockings is familiar to all households at Christmas time. Children still hang up their stockings at Christmas Eve in the simple faith that Santa Claus will fill them during that night of wonder; or, if the little people are too sophisticated to believe in the stories of St. Nick's peregrinations, they still retain a firm faith in the goodness of his domestic representatives, and duly hang up their stockings as their predecessors have done for generations. And not children alone hung up their hose of old. Grown-ups, as well as the small folk, used to observe this custom most conscientiously. But in the old days the hanging up of the stocking took place not on Christmas Eve, but more appropriately on the eve of St. Nicholas' Day, which falls on the fifth of December.

Another old custom, which the superstitious sometimes remember when they get married, is to wear one old stocking and one new one following the thought, perhaps, that every bride should wear "something old; something new." To this day many brides adhere to this old habit, or superstition, but they do not confine the apparel to stockings.

Peers' Confusing Titles.

Reference is made in the new issue of "Debrett's Peerage" to the multiplication of the titles of peers with the same or a similar sounding designation.

This year the title of Mr. Gair Ashton gives us Lord Ashton, Lord Ashtown, and Lord Ashton of Hyde, while Lord Brassey's heir is now Lord Hythe, and we also have Lord Hardinge and his brother—the Viceroy of India, Lord Hardinge of Penshurst.

Then there are Lord Strafford and Lord Stafford, while there is another which "Debrett" does not mention—Lord Stafford, the son of the Duke of Sutherland. Lord Arundel (the Duke of Norfolk's heir) has to be distinguished from Lord Arundell of Wardour, and Lord Clifford of Chudleigh from Lord de Clifford.

Confusion, too, sometimes arises between Lord Curzon of Kedleston and Lord Curzon (Lord Howe's heir); indeed a "correction" appeared in a paper a little while ago that there was no Lady Curzon, as Lord Curzon of Kedleston was a widower!

Indifferent handwriting sometimes leads to Lord Home appearing as Lord Howe, and to the mixing up of Lord Manners and Lord Manvers, while great care has to be taken to distinguish between Lord Hampton and Lord Hampden, Lord Lindsay and Lord Lindsey, Lord Longford and Lord Langford, and Lord Middleton and Lord Midleton.

Too Much For Censor.

The battle against the dramatic censorship continues in England with vigor. Denunciations of the tyranny exercised over the production of new plays by the Lord Chamberlain's department are of daily occurrence. But it is open to doubt if the publication in book form of Zangwill's censored play, "The Next Religion," helped the cause of freedom, as the passages the author was asked to delete are, in the opinion of a good many people, sufficiently offensive to warrant the Lord Chamberlain's action.

The play is a scathing indictment of orthodox Christianity. The passages to which official objection was taken are not very startling, however, to the impartial observer. In one place the Censor is spoken of as "The God who will send tuberculosis even through the Communion chalice," and in another place Westminster Abbey is called "that shrine of superstition."

One of Lord Charles Beresford's tenants who conducted a small undertaker's establishment in Waterford was one day asked how the business was getting along.

"Grand, me lord!" he exclaimed. "I now have the luckiest little hearse you ever saw. Glory be to goodness, it was never a day idle since I got it."—Tit-Bits.

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,384 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.57 gallons a day, and that at each house 204.94 gallons were disposed of in the same period.

BRAINS CONTROL LABOR FORCES

ed only by the general coal strike of the present month.

Now why is it that the malcontent forces of labor have so suddenly turned to the strike weapon and refashioned it in such a form that it now practically delivers the country into their hands? Why are the strikers so successful in their immediate aim—the dislocation or temporary paralysis of industry.

The uninformed condemn the leaders. But in most cases the leaders have been conspicuous in their efforts to keep the men back instead of forcing them forward. There is also ing them forward. There is also some talk of Syndicalism. This is, in a sense justified, although there has been little conscious effort to spread syndicalist doctrines in this country—little, that is, compared with the amount of agitation generally needed to get the working classes to move in any particular direction. In fact, the majority of British workers do not know what the word syndicalism means, although their present tactics of a general strike in one industry are identical with the French Syndicalists' first step in their scheme of revolution.

Education the Means.

The reason for the drastic changes in the policy of labor is, in a phrase the spread of education. The rudiments of an education which were thrust upon the workers by the education act of 1870 led to serious results in an unlooked for direction. It could not be expected that any workers' child with a yearning for knowledge—and there are thousands of them—would be satisfied with a mere glimpse of the glories of literature, science and art and then enter the mill or mine to spend the rest of its life and promises of childhood. Night schools were opened where the tuition of early years could be continued. There was technical education calculated to make the student worker more fit to contend with others in the struggle for existence, and gradually a new conception of the mental requirements of the worker as a militant unit in the frequent struggles with the masters came into being.

Numbers of young men arrived at the conclusion that to make any lasting change in the complex fabric of modern society some knowledge of the social sciences was required, and owing to the generosity of a wealthy American the Ruskin college was opened in Oxford in 1899.

For numbers of years the flowers of the youth of labor studied such important subjects as political economy industrial history, and a dozen other calculated to train them as worthy representatives of working class aspirations.

But four years ago the most revolutionary section of the students and their supporters with the principal lecturer, Dennis Hird, M.A., at their head, decided that Ruskin had fallen away from its original object and become useless so far as a training ground for fighting trade unionists was concerned, and a new college the C. L. C., (Central Labor College) was formed. The work of the C. L. C. is frankly revolutionary in tendency. It states that labor must achieve its own liberty and its own rights, and that, as education must play an important part in the work of labor, it sets out to give the necessary training.

Its Subjects.

The subjects it teaches are all approached from this view point. The theory of economics is expounded according to the work of Karl Marx. Its teaching of history is devoted to showing the past struggles of the various social groups on society. It claims that the interests of capital and labor are diametrically opposed, that i, at any time the workers take more than heretofore of the aggregate amount of wealth produced, the profits of the masters must necessarily be less; both cannot get more, consequently masters and men can never make common cause with each other.

It says, in effect, we are concerned with the man as a worker, not with the worker as a man; consequently we are not out to manufacture "citizens." The "citizen" is an empty abstraction. To us our students are not students, they are wage earners, and as wage earners we educate them. This insistence of the teachings of the C. L. C. on the necessity for a general recognition of class interests among the workers is having a tremendous influence. By means of its corresponding classes established in numerous industrial centres throughout the country, a host of trade unionists are being taught that relation between capital and labor must be one of unceasing antagonism.

In the present coal war the C. L. C. men have played an important part. Vernon Hartshorn, one of the heads of the South Wales miners—who have held out so stubbornly against any compromise on the minimum wage question—has stated that the real force behind the South Wales movement is the group of C. L. C. men who have been trained by Dennis Hird and are now most uncompromising in their hostility to the owners. Speaking at the opening of the new C. L. C. premises at Earl's Court last November, Mr. Hartshorn said "It is delightful to sit on the miner's conferences and listen to the way in which those who have been trained in the Labor colleges expose the old fallacies. It is not the men who are at present at the head of the industrial movement who are responsible for the coming contest, but those who have been doing the quiet intellectual work of training the young men." Thus the third division of the labor forces—the education—has begun to play its part.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:

South Lancaster, Gananoque, Kingsville, Blind River, Cobourg, Honey Harbour, Port Hope, Deseronto, Trenton.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order.

GERMANY COVETS IT

WALFISCH RAY WOULD MAKE A FINE NAVAL BASE.

Poverty-Stricken Spot In the Southern Atlantic Near German Southwest Africa, Has Great Possibilities as a Harbor and General Opinion Is That Great Britain Should Keep It—Trade Has Decayed.

Half-way down the thousand-mile stretch of sandy and desolate coast which German Southwest Africa offers to the stormy surge of the Southern Atlantic lies the harbor of Walfisch Bay, on which the eye of Germany is fixed to-day. It is a small and poor place—a mere hamlet, with a pier 200 yards long and a little narrow-gauge railway twelve miles long, on which tiny trains run, or did run, "as required," to Roolkop, on the German frontier.

The population is insignificant—144 white and 853 colored persons—and is engaged in trade with the German territory about it or in the now decaying whale fishery. The area, as estimated before the recent arbitration fixing the exact frontiers, was 430 square miles.

This British possession, which since 1878 has formed part of Cape Colony, is the last remnant and indication of the British "sphere of influence" which forty years ago was regarded as extending along this coast to the Portuguese frontier. In Cape Colony it was taken as a matter of course that no other power would step in and acquire territory which so obviously formed part of its hinterland.

There was consternation, therefore, in Cape Town when in 1883 Germany annexed the area of 320,000 square miles which now forms German Southwest Africa. Walfisch Bay, was excepted from this annexation, because there the British flag was actually flying, and two or three islands along the coast were also retained for the British crown. Attempts were made in 1883 and 1884 to obtain Walfisch Bay for Germany, but, though the British Government of that period was ready to make almost any surrender, such indignation was aroused in Cape Colony at the mere idea that the negotiations were unsuccessful.

Thus Walfisch Bay became an enclave in German territory, and was cut off from all access to the hinterland. But a great mistake is made if its value and importance are underrated. Though a poor little place in its present undeveloped state, it has great possibilities. It has by far the best harbor on the whole Southwest African coast north of Saldanha Bay, the north till Lagos is reached.

The shape of the harbor is oval, with the seaward opening to the north. It is protected against all the prevalent winds by a long peninsula, Pelican Point, and is safe in all states of the weather. Moreover, it has deep water. Strategically its importance is very great.

It lies close to the main trade routes in the Southern Atlantic, and cruisers operating from it as their base could attack with deadly effect the British food ships steaming from Argentina, one of the main sources of supply, or proceeding by the Cape route from India and Australia. If only for that reason we must be careful what becomes of it

Billiard Balls.

Billiard balls are always cut from the finest ivory, but usually they are not cut from the largest size of tusks. The moderately small tusk yields the best results so far as billiard balls are concerned.

Likely Enough.

Condescending Chappie—I weally can't wemember your name, but I've an idea I've met you before.

Nervous Host—Oh, yes; very likely! It's my house.—London Sketch.

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller. "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is man who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

Little Pushes.

The world's progress is caused not only by the mighty pushes of its heroes, but also by the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker, and every man who refuses to push because his effort would be so small is making a foolish mistake.

Cement Galore.

Millions of tons of the best cement are said to be contained in limestone deposits found along the Skeena river.

On Shaking Hands.

The woman who offers her hand upon accepting an introduction conveys thereby a sign of cordial welcome of the acquaintance, but in formally fashionable society none but the hostesses pursue this course. The inclination of the head, a smile and a murmur of the name constitute a full recognition of an introduction in the eyes of many who regard their bearing as the expression of the best form. In a rather crowded drawing room this mode is to be commended, but at other times a woman, whose prerogative it is to take the initiative on this point, will not greatly err in almost unvaryingly offering her hand.

A Handy Device.

One of the most striking innovations in a reconstructed London hotel is a signalling apparatus, which does away with indeterminate bell-ringing. By pressing a button in his bedroom the visitor can signal for the waiter, chamber-maid, or valet, a colored light appearing simultaneously over the bedroom-door, in the corridor, in the service room, and in the office, where a staff is always on duty. The light can only be switched off at the bedroom door, so that the office staff is always able to notice if there is any delay in replying to the visitor's signal.

Trainer Tells of Remarkable Musical Talent In Animals.

A good many pet-owners may be startled to learn that animals can distinguish between musical notes, says an English trainer in a recent article, and that those of any degree of intelligence may be trained as musical performers. Animals that play musical instruments are by no means uncommon, and a number of seals have before now been equipped with drums, cymbals, horns, and bells, and have made music when instructed by their trainer to do so. If the melody has not been perfect, it has been sufficient to prove that the seals have at least some music in their composition.

The majority of wild animals are influenced by music and everyone knows that bears can be taught to dance on their hind legs while holding a pole to sound of music, even if that music is ground out of a common street organ by means of a handle.

Once a circus horse has been taught to do a trick to a certain tune he will do it whenever he hears that tune, and, in consequence, he is the cause of some funny incidents now and again. Once I took a horse into the street for exercise, and as we turned a corner a barrel-organ commenced to grind out its music. The tune was the very one the animal was accustomed to in the circus ring, and he concluded that I was expecting him to go through his usual performance. He broke away from me and gave a free performance in the middle of the road, and I could only call him to order by appealing to the "musician" to stop the organ.

When the ordinary dog howls at music it does not always do so because the notes get on its "nerves," but often because it is striving to imitate them as well as its untrained vocal powers will permit.

I heard a wonderful story of a singing dog the other day. A handsome collie, named Sammy, the property of a Mr. Carlson, is a tenor soloist. Every morning, when a bell on a church near his master's home rings, Sammy takes up a position close by and begins an accompaniment, which blends remarkably well with the deep notes of the bell. A musician has declared that the dog is exactly in tune with the metallic sounds that come from the church belfry. Later in the day—at noon—Sammy goes off to a lumber plant operated by his master. Here the animal accompanies the whistle, achieving perfect harmony, it is said.

It might be remembered that some years ago a singing dog created a furore amongst scientific men in Paris. This animal, which belonged to a Dr. Bennati, could sing the scale perfectly without any assistance from the human voice or a musical instrument. Moreover, it could imitate a new tune with extraordinary accuracy after hearing it played two or three times.

The philosopher Leibnitz declared that he knew a dog which was not only a remarkably fine singer, but could actually talk. All the letters of the alphabet, with the exception of "m," "n," and "h," it could articulate quite clearly, and could give its master, when spoken to, a suitable answer.

Lions, elephants, and monkeys are fond of music. I have seen an elephant play a whole band of music at once, using its trunk and fore feet to play the various instruments. Lions will often forsake their meals to listen to a tune, and this applies also to tigers and others of the fierce cat tribe.

Historic Homes.

The Petre family, the head of which, Lord Petre, is now staying in London with his mother and sisters, is one of the oldest in England, and shares with the Duke of Norfolk the headship of Catholic society.

The real founder of the family was Sir William Petre, one of the principal Secretaries of State in the reign of Henry VIII., but actually the Petres were people of importance two centuries before his time.

There is romance in plenty of the family. The fourth peer died in the Tower through being implicated in the Titus Oates plot, and the seventh baron was the Peer of Pope's "Rape of the Lock"; while the two homes of the family—Ingatestone and Thorndon, both close to Chelmsford—have most interesting associations.

Ingatestone is the Audley Court of "Lady Audley's Secret," and it has a curious "priest's hole," discovered nearly sixty years ago. In it was an old chest, with curious locks, that had been used for keeping the sacred vessels.

Barrie's Recipes.

Now that J. M. Barrie has told the story of "Peter Pan" in book form, writers and readers alike are once more asking what is his method of work.

The novelist himself has partly answered this question in a note to a magazine editor who wanted the recipe "My readers wish to know how you write," said the editor, "please tell them."

Barrie accordingly formulated his reply into a kind of prescription, which read: "Journalism—two pipes—one hour; two hours—one idea; one idea—three paragraphs; three paragraphs—one leader."

Fiction—"Eight pipes—one ounce; seven ounces—one week; two weeks—one chapter; 20 chapters—one nib; two nibs—one novel."

A Famous Warden.

Lord Brassey, who as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports is going to occupy Walmer Castle, is perhaps the best-liked and the most genial individual who has ever held that ancient office.

Lord Brassey follows many distinguished men at Walmer Castle—Lord Curzon, Lord Salisbury, Lord Dufferin, Mr. W. H. Smith, Lord Granville, and the great Duke of Wellington. It is doubtful, however, whether any of his predecessors ever possessed, as he does, a master's certificate to control a ship. Lord Brassey's home is at Battle Abbey, which is in the neighborhood of the ports.

Big Demand For the Cat.

The other night a young man from Pierce City was peacefully slumbering in a room in a Carthage hotel when he was awakened by the noise of a rat. Hastily he rang the bell and was surprised by having the bellboy run up and throw a cat into the room. Soon the young man went to sleep again. Then there came a tremendous pounding at the door. "Who is that?" he asked. "It's me," said the bellboy. "Has the cat caught the rat yet?" "No," replied the guest. "Well," came the voice from the other side, "let's have him. There's another rat in room 18."—Monett (Mo.) Times.

Nasal Discharge Proves Catarrh is Active

THE PURE BALSAMIC ESSENCES OF CATARRHOZONE AFFORD SUREST AND QUICKEST CURE

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath direct to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing winter ills—that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear of changeable weather — those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung chilling surroundings, where dust, impure air, fog, or damp affect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

BAD CASE CURED IN TWO DAYS.

"I was unfortunate enought to catch a bad cold from sitting in a draught in my bare head" writes Miss Nora E. Jamieson, well known in Sangre Grande, Td. "An acute condition of catarrh developed in my nostrils, and for three days my eyes and nose ran most copiously. The usual remedies entirely failed to relieve. I read in the Mirror newspaper about Catarrhozone and sent to Smith Bros. drug store for a dollar outfit. In two days Catarrgozone cleared out my nostrils, cured the sneezing, coughing and all traces of catarrh."

Large size Catarrhozone, sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations, and substitutors, and insist on getting Catarrhozone only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., or Kingston, Ont.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.
Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00
Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

TO CHECK MISS "I WILL"

We were yesterday in receipt of a booklet, issued by the Government, regarding the Commission of Conservation, and protest against the diversion of water from Lake Michigan for the Chicago Drainage Canal. This pamphlet should make every Canadian and every American resident along, or mariner on the Great Lakes "sit up and take notice."

Just think! The great city of London, with a population of seven and one-third millions, filters its water supply and treats its sewage, but Chicago urges that it is impossible for her to do either. Her extravagance is put forward as an excuse for a diversion that injuriously affects the water-line on four thousand miles of shore—an action that injuriously affects a multitude of interests in two nations, and that injuriously affects the riparian rights in a vast territory.

If imposing upon Chicago filtration of her water supply, and sterilization of her sewage, results in checking or reducing the present extravagant use of water and, if it results in preventing the present unchecked discharge of wastes from stock yards, glucose factories, etc., refusing her application for an increased diversion of water will prove a blessing in disguise.

Gen. W. H. Bixby, in his report to Congress, on February 9, 1911, stated that: "The War Department while awaiting the definite action of Congress, has, so far, permitted the diversion of 4,167 second-feet and the Sanitary District is understood to be using 7,000 second-feet."

Evidently, therefore, the Sanitary District is, without any permit or authority whatsoever, diverting 3000 second-feet in excess of the authorized amount.

In terms of comparison, the Sanitary District is, at present, diverting from the St. Lawrence system an amount equal to the extreme low water flow of the Ottawa river at the City of Ottawa, where it carries the drainage of 34,600 square miles of territory. It is proposed to divert, in a few years, one and one-half times this flow, and the Sanitary Canal has been constructed to carry an amount equal to double the low water flow of this, the greatest tributary of the mighty St. Lawrence.

Chicago's crest is a determined looking female, who looks as though she had successfully been through the divorce court a dozen times, and won out by the respondent dodging the sheriff when asked to give evidence, and her motto is "I will ! ! !" The "I will" always appears in black type of bold front. Now that lady who says "I will" may be a corker as far as getting her own way goes; but there are others! Why should the States adjoining the Great Lakes and Canada submit to having the water required for shipping purposes, stolen, to wash Chicago sewage down the Mississippi? A few years ago the Chicago river, to the absolute knowledge of the writer, slunk (not ran), northwards, to Lake Michigan. The water of that river was the color of a nigger dying from asphyxiation, and of the consistency of thick pea soup. Now the river runs South to the Gulf of Mexico. Who pays for it? Incidentally Chicago paid for the engineering task, which was admittedly a modern miracle, but the Canadian marine pay and suffer, more and more each year, by the turning of the Great Lakes. Miss Chicago must be shown that if she wants a clear back yard she must not interfere with her neighbors.

HOW TO CARE FOR BOOKS.

They Should Be Protected From Gas, Heat and Light.

It is surprising how few of the many owners of books are aware of the simple means required to preserve them in a useful condition and what astonishment is felt when a book removed from the shelf leaves one side behind or dangling by the hinge.

Heat, gas, light and, by no means least, electricity are the chief disintegrating influences upon leather bindings. Books bound previous to 1860 have the advantage over more modern ones, as most if not all of the tanners of that earlier time used tanbark. Since that date the use of sulphuric and oxalic acids has been almost universal, and so insidious are their effects that they can hardly be realised until the damage is done.

Old books brought from other countries are apt to succumb very quickly to the altered climatic conditions. Lack of moisture in the air, together with our modern system of heating, as well as gaslight, "central" heat and electricity, has a very injurious effect upon them in a few years. The use of lubricant or food is almost essential to offset this. A large importer has expressed a wish that every imported book of value might be so treated at once to fortify it in its new environment. Even under the most favorable conditions the need of some such treatment is becoming recognized, for the Vatican and other noted libraries are being treated to prevent dry rot, the leather's greatest enemy. Years of drying out of the natural oil in the skin and the total absorption of such oil where the tanning is done with acids have brought the conviction that some means must be resorted to by which the life of the leather can be restored.

Very few think of placing leather bound books on the lower shelves to avoid the greater heat above; of preventing sunlight from striking them, for, like electricity, it burns and fades the leather if concentrated upon it for any length of time; of giving them light and air, with plenty of circulation. Bindings suffer far more from being shut behind glass doors than from the accumulation of dust or even from careless handling by ignorant servants. The dusting of books is something which should be trusted to careful or expert hands only, for the hinges can easily be broken by dropping or the corners knocked off, particularly if the leather be dry. The vacuum cleaner, of course, does away with such disasters in the electrically equipped house.

Overcrowding the shelves is another cause of damage. It not only rubs the sides, but prevents the proper circulation of air.

Maskinonge Spawn Destroyed.

There is danger that the maskinonge, next season, or rather in the coming season, will be greatly depleted on account of the high water this spring. These splendid game fish go up above the submerged meadows and spawn. The unusually high water will recede, and millions of ova will be destroyed. This difficulty is being experienced at Sturgeon Lake, and very likely along the whole route of the Kawartha Lakes.

Lindsay is to have a baseball League this season.

Mr. Jas. Graham has been awarded the contract for extensions to the Peterborough Club.

A Move Impending.

It was after morning school, and the teacher was in such a good temper that little Tommy sidled up to him to discuss a decidedly personal matter.

"Please, teacher," the small boy began, "I fancy I shall be leaving this school soon."

The tutor looked interested and hazarded a query as to the reason for this parting of the ways.

"Well, sir," continued the pupil, "mother burnt the door of the coal-house and the lid of the copper, and father's started chopping down the stairs."

"Yes, my boy," said the schoolmaster kindly. "But what makes you imagine you'll be leaving the district?"

"Well, you see, teacher," continued the boy, "when we've burnt the stairs we always move!"—Answers.

Saved by a Snake.

Count Zinzendorf, the founder of the Moravians, visited North America in 1742 and for a short time labored as a missionary among the Shawnee Indians. When he first went to them they received him with coldness, and a plot was formed to assassinate him. The count was sitting one evening in his wigwam upon a bundle of dry weeds which he had gathered for his bed. While he was writing by the light of a small fire a rattlesnake, warmed into activity, crawled over one of his legs. Just then the murderous savages lifted the blanket that served for a door and looked in. They stood motionless for some minutes watching the aged man and then, gliding from the scene, fled into the forest. From that night the missionary found them friends and listeners.

An Almanac Started In 1686.

The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanach National," which has been issued by the French Government since 1686. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career. Originally the "Almanach Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1806 and reverted to its original name nine years later. Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort, the "Almanach National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages, as compared with 1,500 pages now.—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Keep It Quiet.

Being called to his feet unexpectedly at the gathering and asked to respond informally to the toast "The Ladies," Mr. Gillers hemmed and hawed and began:

"My friends, all that I am, all that I have in the world, I owe to a woman—my wife."

Here he was interrupted by that lady herself, who arose and said:

"I told you when you put the property in my name you'd give it away the first time you opened your mouth."

Too Ready With Assistance.

Smith—Goldmore is a very generous old fellow. Do you know, he's always helping somebody out.

Jones (sadly)—Yes, I know. I was down to see his daughter the other night, and he helped me out too.

One Kind.

"Pa, in this book it speaks about a necessary evil. What is a necessary evil?"

"The bridegroom at a wedding is one kind."

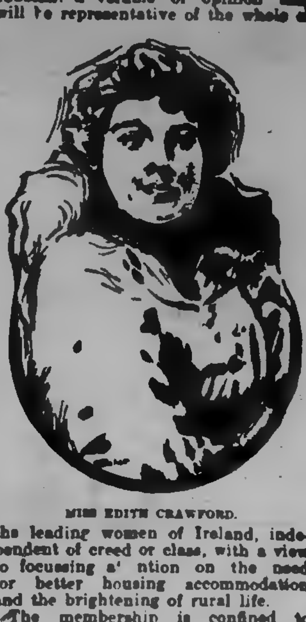
TO IMPROVE IRELAND

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD IS ORGANIZING THE WOMEN.

Belfast Social Worker Is Hard at Work Turning the Attention of Her Sex In the Green Isle Toward Proper Housing and Better Rural Life —Dancing Parties to Help Home Rule.

Among the newer associations aiming at the development of a new Ireland, with brighter conditions and better administration, none is more active than the "United Irishwomen." This is the women's side of the great national movement that is animating the nation to-day.

The immediate object of the "United Irishwomen" is to get together a substantial volume of opinion that will be representative of the whole of the leading women of Ireland, independent of creed or class, with a view to focussing attention on the need for better housing accommodation and the brightening of rural life.



MISS EDITH CRAWFORD.

The membership is confined to women born in Ireland or women of Irish descent, but financial support is accepted from all who desire to see a happier and more contented Ireland.

The secretary and chief organizer of the United Irishwomen is Miss Edith Crawford, a Belfast woman, who has engaged in improving the social and intellectual side of young Irish women in the northern capital. A branch of the United Irishwomen has been established in Connemara, perhaps out of regard for the sympathetic support of the Duchess of Manchester, while other branches are in process of formation throughout the other three provinces. Dancing parties are part of the means by which the organisers of the movement hope to convert young men from any inclination to oppose Home Rule.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1657, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name, for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

An Isolated Colony.

The nearest neighbor of New Zealand is Australia, which is twelve hundred miles distant.

Peterborough Summer Fair.

Well, it seems that the people of this city, most vitally interested in such a movement have not come financially to the aid of the Peterborough ladies, who have used their time, money and social influence to get up a "Made-in-Peterborough" Exhibition. As the exhibits and the money are not forthcoming, the exhibition to pay for a trained nurse for tuberculosis patients, has been changed to a "Peterborough Summer Fair." Still—no matter what the Pastor Made an Omission.

Rev. G. W. Henderson, on Sunday, gave a well tuned and sensible address, which included the evil results of cigarette smoking by young men and boys. The Reverend gentleman, whilst treating his subject in a masterly manner seemingly omitted one point: that is the offense to the nostrils and health of innocent victims who do not indulge in these paper covered abominations.

Traders Bank Still Trades.

It was reported yesterday throughout the city that the Traders Bank had been absorbed by the Bank of Montreal. Inquiries, however, failed to corroborate the truthfulness of the rumor.

A George Street Episode.

Last night, a young fellow belonging to one of the local schools, seemingly as an adv. for the Red Mill Theatre, started out on George street in disguise. His make up, as a girl, was so complete, that, at least ten George street loungers tried to make a mash. One of the George street men came up to the student and remarked, "Hello, Birdie! Can I see you home?" The pseudo girl responded, "Go way you saucy thing." However, the George street man bought tickets for the theatre.

Coming Social Events.

The Peterborough Collegiate Institute boys and some of their male friends have issued invitations for a dance to be held in the Conservatory of Music on Friday night. Miss Gladman will preside at the piano. The ladies of St. John's church, Lakefield are arranging for a dance for next Monday night, the proceeds to be applied towards church purposes. The dance is to be held in the Lakefield town hall. Mr. Musgrave will furnish the music. It is expected that a special train will be run from the city to accommodate Peterborough guests.

The Times Was Late.

On account of an accident to our machinery about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, a portion of the day's edition was delayed. The city subscribers were naturally the greatest sufferers. The accident, whilst only of a trifling nature was sufficient to retard the paper until about 9 o'clock in the forenoon. A majority of our carriers are students at the Collegiate Institute and consequently delivery was greatly retarded. The telephone in the office was steadily kept ringing, our somewhat irate subscribers being very much disappointed over not getting their usual breakfast appetizer.

S. S. Census Taken.

Last night one hundred and fifty workers from the various Sunday Schools of the city took a census of boys between the ages of ten and eighteen on specially prepared cards, containing such questions as: name, address, name of parents or guardian living at home or boarding, church attended, been at Sunday school this year, day or night school attended, and a few others, all intended to give the United Sunday schools' Association and its band of workers a good foundation upon which to build in commencing an aggressive campaign in the interests of boys. The result was very satisfactory and demonstrates that those working on the cause have not had their labors in vain.

The Seashore Booklet.

Great interest is being taken by the Canadian people in connection with the new seashore resorts at New London, Conn., that will be reached by special train service this summer over the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont Railways. A handsome booklet has been issued describing this popular locality, and a copy may be had free by application to A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto, Ont. Mr. W. E. Duperow has been appointed General Agent, Passenger Department, of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and Coast Steamships and Grand Trunk Railway System, with office at Vancouver, B.C. Mr. Duperow for several years past has been the city Passenger and Ticket Agent of the same lines at Victoria, B.C., prior to which he occupied various positions in the passenger and transportation departments of the Grand Trunk lines in Eastern Canada.

EDWARD THE "PEACEMAKER."

Names of the Judges Who Are to Make Important Awards.

In this issue of The Times appears an advertisement of the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, inviting competitive designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa in honor of his late Majesty, King Edward VII. In the advertisement, by some mistake, the names of the jury, which will make the awards, were inadvertently left out of the various Canadian papers authorized to publish the item. The Times was yesterday in receipt of a communication from the Department requesting us to insert the names of the jury, as above noted. They are entitled "The Advisory Arts Committee," and composed of Sir Edmund Walker, Toronto; Dr. Francis J. Shepherd, Montreal; and Senator Arthur Boyer, of Montreal. As every Canadian reverences the memory of the "Peacemaker," and this city has a sculptress of world-wide reputation, Miss Katherine Wallis, Peterborough will look forward towards the personnel of the applicants.

THANKSGIVING PSALM.

A Rhythmical and Grateful Chant.

A teacher in a Terre Haute public school joins in the chorus:

"Teaching is a business which requires a great deal of brain and nerve force. Unless this force is renewed as fast as expended the teacher is exhausted before the close of the year. Many resort to stimulating tonics for relief.

"For three years I struggled against almost complete exhaustion, getting what relief I could from doctor's tonics. Then in the spring of 1903 I had an attack of la grippe and malaria which left me too weak to continue my work. Medicine failed to give me any relief, a change of climate failed, I thought I should never be able to go back in school again.

"I ate enough food (the ordinary kind—white bread, vegetables, etc.) but was hungry after meals.

"I happened at this time to read an article giving the experience of another teacher, who had been helped by Grape-Nuts Food. I decided to try Grape-Nuts and cream, as an experiment. It was a delightful experience, and continues so after a year and a half of constant use.

"First, I noticed that I was not hungry after meals.

"In a few days that tired feeling left me, and I felt fresh and bright, instead of dull and sleepy.

"In three months, more than my usual strength returned, and I had gained 15 pounds in weight.

"I finished the year's work without any kind of tonics—was not absent from duty even half a day.

"Am still in the best of health with all who know me wondering at the improvement.

"I tell them all, 'Try Grape-Nuts.' Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

MRS. MAJ. PEUCHEN IS A LOCAL GIRL

Lindsay Post: The wife of Major Peuchen, of Toronto, one of the few Canadian men to escape from the ill-fated Titanic, is a former Peterborough girl.

Mrs. Peuchen, formerly Miss Thompson, and her father, who was engaged in the lumber business while living there some years ago, were both well known and many of the older citizens will remember them well.

Mrs. Peuchen, it will be remembered, was among the large number of friends of the Titanic passengers allowed a place on the wharf in New York when the Carpathia with the survivors of the wreck docked. Mr. George Thompson, ex-Mayor of Orillia, is a brother of Mrs. Peuchen.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY HOLD A BANQUET

boiled leg mutton with caper sauce; old fashioned English plum pudding and brandy sauce. These typical English viands, are only a slight sample of the spread set forth last night. A small, but significant feature of the banquet, was that the table napkins each bore the grand old Union Jack. After the good fare had been consigned to the department of the interior, chairman Gordon arose and introduced the speech list. Mr. Gordon, though a comparatively young man, though a rising barrister, made a rattling pro-British speech, and which the speaker showed conclusively that the King of England represents British interests throughout the wide world. He then referred to the Titanic disaster, which showed clearly that the Anglo-Saxon race and character was prominently displayed and demonstrated the old traditions of "Merrie England." This disaster will lead to a better feeling between the cousins across the sea. King Edward's whole reign displayed that the deplored Lost Monarch, was the latest foundation stone of British liberty. Mr. Gordon then paid a well worded tribute to the Peacemaker's successor, our present Monarch, King George V.

Mr. Gordon was heartily applauded as he resumed his seat.

Mr. Devey assisted in making the banquet a success by his expert rendition of selections on the piano. Mr. F. H. Dobbin gave a patriotic speech, which was well received. Mayor Bradburn, in a terse, but patriotic address replied to the toast "Our City." Other citizens also gave patriotic speeches, all of which are worthy of warmest commendation, but which our space debars giving full particulars. The evening wound up with the usual patriotic singing of "God Save the King."

FIFTH OFFICER ORDERED ISMAY AWAY FROM THE LIFE BOAT

Mr. Low Claims Ismay Was Interfering With the Lowering of the Boats

Washington, April 24.—A caustic statement believed to be aimed at J. Bruce Ismay and other White Star officers, was the early sensation today of the Senate Titanic hearing. Senator Smith openly charged that an attempt to shape the course of the enquiry had been made, and would not be longer tolerated by the committee. He exonerated the officers and crew of the Titanic from such interference, but gave a veiled hint that the shaft was directed at the White Star line official.

Senator Smith, after his statement refused to put J. Bruce Ismay on the stand as Ismay had requested. Instead he called Fifth Officer H. J. Lowe, leaving Ismay to cool himself, and await the committee's pleasure.

Frederick Fleet, one of the Titanic's lookouts, was the first witness. He was called for cross-examination on his story given yesterday that the officers of the ill-fated boat would not furnish him with binoculars.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Rep. Berger were on hand early. A group of vivacious, chattering seminary girls lent a lively touch of color to the scene.

Didn't Wait for Chairman.

The hearing began when Senator Burton, of Ohio, impatiently ordered the lookout on the stand. Burton refused to wait until Senator Smith, chairman, arrived. Fleet told of his eye tests he had undergone a year ago.

"On this trip you had the use of glasses?" asked Burton.

"Yes, sir," the seaman said positively.

"We had eye-sight tests, too, every year or so."

Fleet said the lookouts had no glasses or lights in the "crew's nest." He said he did not see the lights of the "ghost ship" which several witnesses said they discerned near the Titanic, until after he had got into a lifeboat. He said Quartermaster Hitchen believed he saw the lights of the distant ship on board the Titanic. Fleet then re-told of his first sighting the iceberg from the Titanic's "crew's nest." He could give no opinion as to its distance ahead of the liner.

"It was just seven bells when I saw the ice," he said. "That's about 11.30 p.m."

Pressed by Senator Burton, Fleet could give no idea of the time between his sighting the ice island and when the collision occurred. Fleet said he was told by the relief watch in the "crew's nest" to look out for the small ice—not icebergs.

"I gave the three bells signal when I saw the iceberg," said Fleet, "to let them know it was right ahead. Then I telephoned the bridge."

After Fleet phoned the first officer, the Titanic changed her course two or three points to port, he said.

Impact Below Water.

Questions by Senator Fletcher brought out the fact that the greater part of the impact was below the wattr. The witness was unable to give any estimate of the iceberg's size except that it was not as high as the crow's nest.

Fleet made the statement that his lifeboat was about a mile from the Titanic when the latter sank.

"How do you pnow?" questioned Senator Smith.

"I heard others say so."

"But what is your own judgment?" Smith persisted.

The witness caused a titter by replying: "I have no judgment."

Smith Makes Statement.

Senator Smith then took occasion to vent his displeasure at what he inferred was the attempt of certain interests to dictate how the inquiry should be conducted and to announce that he wanted to meet an inquiry that had arisen as to the purpose of the committee.

"It is to get all of the facts attending this catastrophe," he said. "The surviving officers and men of this ship are not shipbuilders and if we can get from them what they know it is all that we can expect. Now, a word as to plan. It is the intention of the committee to enquire of all subjects of Great Britain who may be in this country and who may know anything of the disaster, and to hold them here until we have learned all that we can.

"This course will be pursued until the committee conclude they have obtained all accessible and useful information to a proper understanding of this disaster.

Resents Interference.

"Now, a word about the difficulty. To the credit of most of the officers and members of the crew we have experienced little difficulty in securing such witnesses as we thought necessary, but from the beginning until now there has been a voluntary, gratuitous meddlesome attempt upon the part of certain persons to influence the course of the committee and to shape its procedure.

"Misrepresentations have been made, I have heard. I have not, however, read the newspapers because I did not wish to be prejudiced."

MUST A WOMAN REMAIN WITH HER LEGAL HUSBAND

"To have and to hold from this day forward, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, till death us do part."

Should this wifely vow uttered in reverent sincerity at the marriage altar end, when husband and wife stand on the sinking deck and the lifeboat calls for "women only," or is it not, as a reader asks, the duty of a woman to stand by her husband even unto the end?

The Titanic disaster off the Newfoundland Banks left many widows, rich and poor, women who left the sinking liner in lifeboats while their husbands remained behind that they and other women might be saved.

Toronto women when interviewed this morning as to the duty of women in such trying circumstances regarded the subject from different angles.

A Question of Family.

"I think that the woman should base her conduct on whether there were children at home or not," said Mrs. Archibald M. Huestis. "If she had little children which needed her care, she should take to the boats. Otherwise, I think she should remain with her husband. Every woman would have to decide the question for herself."

Miss Constance Boulton thought that it was a question of individual responsibility. Each should decide for herself at the moment. No abstract rule of duty could be formulated.

ITALY'S ARMY IS HARASSED

Fanatic Moslems are Waging Deadly War in the East

TURKS IN BAD PLIGHT

Looks as Though Italy Has Taken Up a Costly and Impossible Work—Terrible Suffering Amongst the Italian Troops at Tripoli.

London, April 24.

THE war which Italy is waging against Turkey is far from being satisfactory to the former. What causes General Caneva the chief commander of the Italian forces, in Tripoli, the greatest perplexity and anxiety, and what seriously embarrasses his military operation, is the mysterious tribe of the Senussi. They are gathering now in thousands from their far-off centre on the oasis of Kufra, in the Lybian Desert from many another distant oasis of North Africa, from the Sudan, from Arabia and from Egypt to wage the Holy War, against detestable "Macaroni," polluting with their unholy boot-clad feet the sacred territory of the Mahdis. And of all the innumerable Moslem sects and tribes, none can wage self-abnegation, with more terrible fanaticism and ferocity, than the Senussi.

Many are the stories concerning this most extraordinary of Islamite brotherhoods. Some assert that they are Freemasons with a constitution and the rites very much resembling European Masonic fraternities.

Password of the "Rose."

One thing seems to be perfectly certain, the Senussi symbolism of the "Rose," the secret password of the Mahdi's emissaries, has worked a veritable miracle. By means of it alone, the present Sheikh of the tribe Sidi Amed El-Mohdi, the grandson of the founder of the sect, was able in a very short space of time to gather from distant parts a formidable army of fanatical warriors, ready to face General Caneva's forces with all the crushing resolution of religious frenzy fighting for Alah and Islam.

A Big Force.

From an excellent source I gather that the number of these warriors, amounts at present to about 100,000 men. All of them are exceedingly well armed. Their amunition is of a most modern type. Their leaders or Sheikhs possess about £2,000,000 sterling. It is the name of the 'Rose' that keeps them together and infuses them with unswerving enthusiasm. It is the "Rose" that is influencing the whole of Tripoli. And it will be the "Rose" it is asserted by those who know, that will finally carry victory over the invading infidels.

A Religious War.

That remarkable Sudanese woman, herself a member of the Senussi sect, styled by the enthusiastic and grateful warriors "The Jeanne d'Arc of the Desert," with a lacerated left arm, waving high in the air, and with fierce outcries of religious fana-

REGARDING THE DEAD

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—A few friends, in conversation the night before last, happened to speak of the Titanic disaster. One of those present made a somewhat slurring remark about one of the dead. This led to our trying to recall some Greek or Latin expression, often quoted in the papers, which says something like "speak well of the dead" or "do not speak badly of the dead." Can you, for our information, give us the expression?

—J. L. Taylor.

Reply. We think the expression you refer to is the old latin saying "De Mortuvis nil nisi bonum," which literally translated means "concerning the dead say nothing but what is good or kind."

VICTORIA PARK BAND CONCERTS

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—I saw in your plucky paper, and in using the word "plucky" I think I write advisedly, that work has been begun on Victoria Park. Mr. Editor, as you and your readers know, thousands of our citizens enjoy the music of our fine regimental band every week through the summer months. However, their pleasure, particularly that of people who attend the concerts for the music, is greatly marred by boys who rush around the band stand playing tag and yelling and shouting so that in the dimuendo parts, the finer features of the pieces played are absolutely destroyed. I would respectfully suggest that the police this year put a stop to this disturbance, absolutely. If the boys want to play tag or other games, let them work of their excess of animal spirits in the rear of those attending the concerts. The boys who play tag and rush around the grand stand yelling and screaming are evidently not on the park to hear the music, so that, by keeping them in the background they will lose nothing, the general adult ratepayers will enjoy the concerts and the boys will have more room to play.

SAW FLOATING BODIES OF OVER A HUNDRED VICTIMS

New York, April 24.—Over one hundred bodies of the Titanic dead were seen floating on the water by the steamship Bremen, which arrived to-day. The German liner on April 20th passed over the place where the Titanic went down.

From the bridge officers of the ship saw over a hundred bodies floating on the sea a boat upside down together with a number of small pieces of wood, chairs and other wreckage. As the cableship Mackay-Bennett was in sight, and having word that her mission was to look for bodies no attempt was made by the Bremen's crew to pick up the Titanic dead.

To Identify Bodies.

New York, April 24.—The White Star line announced to-day that they have sent two men to Halifax to look after the recovered bodies of the Titanic victims now on board the cableship Mackay-Bennet, with instructions to send the identifications as quickly as possible.

Relatives Are Insistent.

There have been numerous inquiries as to the disposal of the bodies and the means of identification, but nothing has been definitely decided by the White Star officials.

It is expected that as soon as the Minia gets in touch with the Mackay-Bennett, that the latter will be asked to return to Halifax with the bodies recovered, while the Minia will continue the search over the area where the ship went down.

The Mackay-Bennet has on board one hundred coffins for the bodies that may be recovered, while the Minia has one hundred and fifty.

MEN PLAYED BRIDGE TO ALLAY FEARS AS BOAT WAS SINKING

New York, April 24.—How a group of men passengers on the Titanic kept a card game going for three-quarters of an hour after the steamer struck the iceberg, to allay the fears of others, was told to-day by George Bradley, one of the first cabin passengers. Bradley, with several friends, was playing bridge whist in a room far aft on the ship and felt only a slight shock from the collision. Henry B. Harris, the theatrical man, was in another party in the same room. Bradley says, and left his game to go on deck with Bradley to investigate. Mr. Harris, Bradley says, found his wife, saw her to one of the boats, and then came back to the room to which Bradley already had returned.

"He told me there was danger," said Bradley, "but for the sake of the women and children to make no sign. The orchestra struck up 'Alexandra's Ragtime Band.' We went on playing cards. There was not a man in the game who did not realize the stakes we were playing for; there wasn't a man who didn't know what those hysterical musicians were playing for. They played on, playing any thing they had a mind to, and finally struck up 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'

"Then we knew that the time had come and that it wasn't any use to bluff any longer. People had crowded around us and watched us playing the game out, feeling that there could be no danger. When that old hymn sounded, a different feeling possessed them, they knew that it was time to go if any one of us hoped for a chance to get off the ship.

"How any man was going to save himself not one of that bunch knew. It took only a few moments on deck to realize that we were all too late for the lifeboats. The last ones were being lowered."

Bradley said that he ran between decks and managed to get into a boat as it was being lowered. The boat was not a bit crowded, he said, and it was not more than 100 yards from the Titanic when the steamer went down.

OTTAWA LOST TEN PROSPECTIVE CITIZENS

Ottawa, April 24.—That many persons living in Canada besides the relatives of a dozen prominent men, were bereaved by the loss of the Titanic in very evident. Particularly is this true of foreigners. Harry Bullis employed at the Rankin Hotel, Chatham, has word that his wife, his nine-year-old daughter, and five-year-old boy, all coming from Mount Lebanon, in Syria, were drowned.

Mrs. Marian Aasaf, a steerage passenger who reached Ottawa last night, who says ten foreigners who were to live in Ottawa, died on the ship and that most of the 123 Syrians on board went down. These included Solomon Kalili, the son of an Ottawa resident; and Joseph Kureem a wealthy Gowganda man, who had gone home to bring out his bride, who found death with him.

One of the bodies picked up was that of William Sage. The identification of his body is the first positive evidence of the loss of a whole family of eleven persons. The father, John Sage, had gone to England from Saskatchewan to bring out his wife and family of nine children.

ROYALTY AT PAWN SHOP

Strange Case of Royal Philanthropy Is that of Roman Princess.

Rome, April 23.—The royal pawn-office has lent $50,000 on a lot of old fashioned jewelery belonging to one of the grande dames of the aristocracy. Her highness, it seems, needed the money for a charitable object and not having the cash, pawned her jewelery to get it quickly. Since then she is wearing paste jewelry, but being reputed very wealthy no one knows the difference or suspects her.

HANGED HIMSELF IN MONTREAL PRISON

Montreal, April 24.—Stanislaus Radishefsky, a Pole, serving a sentence of eight months for the stealing of money from a fellow boarder, after which he was to have been deported, this morning committed suicide by hanging himself with a strap in the lavatory of the jail.

LONDON AUTO PARTY HAVE SEVERAL HURT

London, Ont., April 24.—Miss Hattie Rooney, Miss Leah C. Westland and Miss Mary Graham, members of the London Conservatory of Music Dramatic Club, which presented "Mr. Bob," at Ailsa Craig on Tuesday night, were injured, and the other members of the company, Miss Jean Carmichael, Mr. F. Linworth, Will Good, D. Carlyle Hannah and Robert Hannah, had narrow escapes from death when an auto in which they were driving overturned in a ditch this side of Ailsa Craig about 11.30 o'clock.

Miss Westland is suffering from a broken arm, Miss Mary Graham's back is injured, and Miss Rooney is suffering greatly from shock. The others are bruised, but are not seriously hurt.

The machine was in charge of a chauffeur from a local garage, and soon after leaving the village trouble was experienced with the headlights. An effort was made to fix them, and the machine was started. They had gone a short distance when they went out again, and before the motor could be stopped it ran into a ditch overturning and pinning some of the company underneath.

300 MEN DESERT OLYMPIC DISLIKE THE COLLAPSIBLES

Deputation Saw Officers and Insisted on Wooden Lifeboats Being Carried—Wanted Two Additional Seamen

Southampton, April 24.—Three hundred of the firemen and greasers belonging to the crew of the Olympic, struck five minutes before the White Star liner was due to sail to-day for New York. The men deserted the ship in a body. They gave as their reason for striking that the collapsible lifeboats installed on the vessel were unseaworthy.

A deputation of men employed in the engine room of the Olympic waited on the officers of the ship, and on Commander Clarke, the chief of the emigration office in Southampton, to whom they declared that the collapsible craft on the Olympic were flimsy.

They refused to sail unless wooden boats were substituted for the collapsible ones, and also demanded that two additional seamen be signed on for each boat.

Commander Clarke argued with the men, explaining that it was impossible to procure wooden lifeboats in time. He assured them that he had previously officially examined all the collapsible boats, and was perfectly satisfied with them.

Commander Clarke offered to take the Olympic to Cowes Roads and allow any of the crew to select any boat or boats on board and he would prove by demonstration that they were absolutely safe. The men refused to be convinced by Commander Clarke and left the ship in a body. They attempted to get all the seamen to leave the liner, but this moved was checkmated by the White Star officials, who removed all the gangways.

Put His Thumb Through Canvas.

By pressing into service all the available engine room hands on the other White Star and American liners in port, the Olympic was able to leave dock just before 2 o'clock this afternoon and proceed down Southampton Water, where she awaits a fresh batch of firemen and greasers.

One of the strikers alleged that he put his thumb through the canvas of the new collapsible boats.

The White Star officials later declared that the requisite complement of firemen, greasers, and crew is aboard the Olympic. The Olympic has 1,400 passengers on board.

SIDELIGHTS ON NESBITT'S QUARREL WITH TRAVERS

Toronto, April 24.—What caused the split between Dr. Beattie Nesbitt and Bank Manager W. R. Travers was a subject Dr. Beattie Nesbitt declined for the present to discuss, when he was asked about it in the Chicago jail a few days ago, but there seems no doubt that the enmity has been exceedingly bitter.

There is a story to the effect that Dr. Nesbitt was frozen out of the Keeley mine deal through Travers and a New York financier, on one occasion when it is claimed that a $750,000 offer for the property was declined much to the doctor's disgust and the rupture ensued. Subsequently the doctor is said to have evened up to some extent with the bank manager in regard to a patent porcelain bath project that looked good as a money maker.

Inventor Was Broke.

An inventor of a bath that could be manufactured at half cost of the ordinary bath and be sold at a much higher profit came to Canada and endeavoured to raise money on his idea. The success of it was particularly assured because he had started to manufacture his bath in the United States with such good results that a large concern bought him out for a small fortune and gave him a position.

He was unwise, however, in the investment of his money and when he came here was practically stranded.

He had not disposed of the rights of his patent in Canada or in England, and when he took his case to Travers, the manager looked favorably on it, but did not advance the necessary money.

Took It to The Doctor.

The man then took his proposal to Dr. Nesbitt, who in turn took it to Travers, not knowing that the promoter had already seen him about it. Travers again declined to advance the money requested.

Then the story goes, Travers went over to England with another financier and floated a porcelain bath company. He had not, however, secured the formula which was still in the possession of the inventor, who advised Dr. Nesbitt that such was the case. The doctor agreed to advance the necessary money, providing that he get possession of the formula in an agreement with the inventor that a company should be formed, the doctor to have fifty-one per cent. of the stock. Dr. Nesbitt hustled around and got the money and secured the formula.

This, it is said, was the condition of affairs that faced Travers on his return from the Old Land, and which was emphasized by the doctor, who, it is supposed, still has the key to the bath tub situation in his possession.

Claim He Was Not Warned.

Intimate friends of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt maintain that the first knowledge the doctor had that there was a warrant out for his arrest in connection with the Farmers' Bank wreck was when he was informed of it while standing on the verandah of the Chicago Automobile Club and that following it he went to Alaska, returning to Chicago, where they agree that he has made his home for the past thirteen months.

Inspector Duncan still stoutly claims that the doctor received a warning while on his Muskoka Island and that they even discovered tracks of the man who had given him the information. The doctor strenuously denied that he had any such a warning and stated that he went on to the States as was his intention when he left Toronto.

DO YOU OWN THE AIR?

Aviation Case in Paris Promises to Settle Novel Question—This is a Question That Will Have to be Answered by Courts.

Paris, April 23.—To whom does the air belong above your garden? The question is to be tried definitely in the Paris law courts and will no doubt become a legal precedent in the course of time. Action has been taken by a number of gardeners in the neighborhood of Buc, near Versailles, against M. Maurice Farman, the aviator. His aeroplanes, and those of his pupils, say the plantiffs, damage their fields and interfere with their enjoyment, and they are claiming very heavy damages and asking for a definite decision forbidding M. Farman to allow his aeroplanes to fly over their property at a less height than 700 feet.

An amusing feature in the procedure is that the lawyers on both sides have been up in aeroplanes and flown over the fields and gardens of the plantiffs to see just how and why the aeroplanes interfere with the comfort of people below. The lawyers of the Aero Club are intervening in the case with the claim that the air is free to all. The case will be heard on June 15 and it will be interesting to see what the lawyers decide.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Last night he wired Con Jones that he had changed his mind and would not go west this year. It is understood that the proposition from the Torontos that cinched Fitz was an offer of $5000 for the services of Billy and his brother Tom, with an opportunity to slip over home occasionally during the summer. "There is no backing out this time" said Fitz the elder, last night. "I'm with the Torontos."

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller. "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is man who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

Traders Bank Still Trades.

It was reported yesterday throughout the city that the Traders Bank had been absorbed by the Bank of Montreal. Inquiries, however, failed to corroborate the truthfulness of the rumor.

Mr. Roosevelt, above all else, is an advocate of individuality. Why then, does he so often liken himself to Lincoln? Whatever has been accomplished by Mr. Roosevelt, and it is only blindness which can make even his most hostile critic deny that this is much, has been done by methods peculiarly his own. Lincolnian he was not; Lincolnian he is not; nor can a careful analyist find much similarity between the two men. One most fundamental difference lies in the proportions which the "ego" assumes. Lincoln was among the most egotistical of men. His speeches, his acts, his policies, are all luminous with the principle and eliminate the personal. Is this true of Mr. Roosevelt? His most ardent admirer cannot claim it.

If the number of candidates for seats in the British House of Commons continues to increase, this country will soon have a fair sized representation in the Imperial Parliament. The best o it is that all the

As a comparison between the actions of those with and without pluck, in the face of disaster, one cannot help commending the pluck of Lady Duff Gordon, a delicately raised scion of the aristrocracy, who took one of the heavy oars of the life boat she was in, whilst the officer on the bridge shot himself as soon as he realized the full extent of the disaster. If he was determined to use a revolver he should have waited and helped the passengers under his care, and for whom he was, in part, responsible.

Although so many hundreds of lives were lost in the Titanic wreck, the hundreds saved, plus so many of their respective relatives, have reason to nurse a life long debt of gratitude towards Sig. Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph system. By a fortunate accident, the wireless operator aboard the Carpathia happened to wait ten minutes longer than his regular time. Still, without the science of the wireless, it is safe to say that not a score of people aboard the Titanic would ever have lived to tell the tale.

MRS. MAJ. PEUCHEN IS A LOCAL GIRL

Lindsay Post: The wife of Major Peuchen, of Toronto, one of the few Canadian men to escape from the ill-fated Titanic, is a former Peterborough girl.

Mrs. Peuchen, formerly Miss Thompson, and her father, who was engaged in the lumber business while living there some years ago, were both well known and many of the older citizens will remember them well.

Mrs. Peuchen, it will be remembered, was among the large number of friends of the Titanic passengers allowed a place on the wharf in New York when the Carpathia with the survivors of the wreck docked. Mr. George Thompson, ex-Mayor of Orillia, is a brother of Mrs. Peuchen.

LIFE IN TURKISH CAMP

COMPRESSED DISCOMFORT DESCRIBES IT ACCURATELY.

The Turks Are Not Very Clean, But They Have Plenty of Food and Are Bubbling Over With High Spirits — The Depot at Azizieh Grows Continually to Accommodate Arab Reinforcements.

Turkey and Italy are still at war, although Canada hears very little about it. In this contest for Tripolitan supremacy the big engagements have been few and far between. Yet there has been considerable loss of life occasioned by the numerous petty, but still deadly forays, between small desperate bands of Arabs and the Italian outposts.

Amongst the snows of a Canadian winter it is hard to conjure up vision of a camp, situated in the heart of a tropical oasis, all typical of heat and of the Orient.

The only way to really understand the Turkish-Italian contest is to know the national life as lived in Tripoli. The following is written by an expert on the subject, and gives the reader the necessary information to understand how hopeless is the task that the Italians have taken to themselves.

Jebel Zoweiah, a veritable Acropolis rising from the surrounding plains, had long been visible before our eyes beheld the goal of our long and difficult journey, the Turkish camp at Azizieh, which lies at the foot of the hill. We found ourselves in the midst of a wonderfully busy scene. In a large open space, surrounded by irregular buildings, squatted hundreds of Arabs chattering like magpies and carrying on a brisk trade with officers and men.

There appeared to be no lack of food for the Sultan's fighting men in Tripoli. On every side were sacks and baskets full of onions, potatoes, chillies, dates, lemons, eggs, rice, mutton or goats' flesh, sugar, and native bread; there was even a fair number of rather lean fowls, but no trace of coffee. Apart from tobacco, which was scarce and costly, one could see no sign of famine prices. Potatoes were selling at three pounds for 4 cents, eggs 18 cents a dozen, meat about 8 cents a pound. As far as food is concerned, the war might last for years in the interior of Tripoli.

The market is bounded on the south by one of the big "konaks" or military quarters typical of Tripoli—a central courtyard filled with Arabs and camels and very filthy. On the upper storey runs a large broad terrace loopholed for rifle fire and commanding fine views of the desert and the Gharian Mountains. The Turkish officers experience at Azizieh the very minimum of personal comfort.

Still, one never hears a word of complaint, and everybody seemed in a good temper and excellent spirits; yet what a signal contrast exists between the conditions of active service in the British Army and those which prevail at Azizieh! Here in a small room in the tumble-down konak sleep the Commander-in-Chief, Fethi Bey, and Djevad Bey. The writing of numerous despatches, the issue of daily orders, the holding of courts-martial, the reception of Arab deputations have all to take place in this one apartment, which also serves as the mess for all the meals of the staff. If ever I saw compressed discomfort I saw it in that untidy room.

The borders of the camp have been continually enlarged since the beginning of December by the arrival of Arab contingents from east, south and west. A war drum would be heard in the distance, and gradually a column would appear over the gentle undulations of the desert. The Arabs advanced in ragged "fours," the result of the elementary drill provided by a couple of Turkish regulars who marched with them. At the head of the columns rode the sheikhs, splendidly mounted, and crescent flags, embroidered with Koran texts, waved in the air.

Amid loud shouts of welcome the new arrivals would march round the camp, and then, taking up their bivouac ground, settled down in colored masses "like garden beds," in the words of the Gospel narrative. At other times they ranged themselves in big semi-circles, with the mounted chiefs in the centre and the standard-bearers moving to and fro along the lines.

The spectacle was really magnificent in its display of elemental vigor and passion. Suddenly in resonant tones some Arab would chant the refrain, "We are warriors, we fear not death for our fatherland"; and then the massed ranks raised their rifles and swords and shouted with one accord, "We are true sons of our father"—i.e., in colloquial English, "chips of the old block." The enthusiasm was tremendous and the occasion worthy of a great artist's brush.

For some time after the turning of the Turkish left on Dec. 4 and the consequent removal of their headquarters to Azizieh, the Italians appear to have been living in a fool's paradise of security. They received a rude shock on Dec. 19, when a brigade under Col. Fava set out for a small oasis to clear out some alleged marauders.

It is difficult to estimate the actual losses of the Italians in this disastrous engagement. In no modern campaign has there ever been exhibited so barefaced a disregard for statistical accuracy as is found in Tripoli to-day.

However, in the present instance, the straggling fight and final rout took place within a short distance of where I was, and Turkish officers who had means of discovering the enemy's losses with some degree of accuracy estimated that several hundred of the Italian infantry and gunners had been killed and wounded. At any rate, 200 rifles were actually collected and brought in. Ammunition, boots, helmets, and hats stripped from the dead or found on the field of battle were exposed for sale in the market.

The Turkish casualties were eleven killed and 60 wounded.

Lindsay, like Peterborough, held memorial services in requiem of the Titanic victims.

Possibly the only man, outside a messenger from Mars, who can tell whether Bruce Ismay acted rightly is Dick McBride, the local phrenologist.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

COULDN'T GET STRONG

SEEMED TO HAVE LOST ALL AMBITION, WAS PALE AND ANAEMIC.

Made Wonderful Recovery When Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick" writes Mrs. La Pierre, wife of a well-known resident of Labemiene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow blood rich and red I could never make When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. They do good to parts in ways I need not mention in this letter, but I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used at regular intervals by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

No medicine invigorates a woman like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1912.

EXAMINER AND A. H. STRATTON.

When J. R. Stratton appointed his own brother to the Postmastership of Peterborough, there was much head-shaking. Now that he has been relieved of that situation the Examiner is doing the head-shaking. It charges Mr. Burnham and the Government with all sorts of unfairness, because the "investigation" was not to its liking. To begin with, if Mr. Stratton had any fault to find, all he had to do was to bring the matter before the House o, Commons (a very easy matter), which was then in session and for weeks afterwards. Did he do it? He did not. But Mr. Burnham has said that if Mr. Stratton wants to bring the matter before the House, even next session, he will help him to do so. The charge that Mr. Burnham not only held the investigation, but pronounced the judgment is most unfair. The House of Commons expressly empowers its members to hold investigations and if necessary to pronounce judgment also. It puts all power and discretion in these matters in the members' hands, and has always done so. But Mr. Burnham simply forwarded the evidence in writing to the Department and the Minister pronounced the judgment, and is alone responsible therefor. Mr. Stratton, therefore, had an investigation which the Government adopted and pronounced upon. At no time did Mr. Stratton ask to be present or to be represented at that investigation and his blanket denial was taken as all the evidence he had to give. Surely it was enough. If Mr. Stratton had had pluck enough to demand an investigation by the House of Commons he would have got his fill of it, and doubtless knew it very well.

THE BERLIN POCKET TELEPHONE.

Pocket telephones weighing only seven ounces and of which both receiver and transmitter fit into a circular nickel box two and a half inches in diameter and three-quarters of an inch thick are being supplied by the thousands in Berlin. According to Telephony, contact devices have been provided on every street in the German city at short distances, sometimes three on a block.

These devices are fastened to walls, lamp posts and doors, and in the parks to trees, hence the new system is held to be a great safeguard everywhere, but especially in the sparsely settled districts. Every policemen in Berlin is now provided with a pocket telephone and can communicate either with his headquarters, with his station, or with a hospital or other city departments at any moment, night or day.

The lines and contacts have been carried into the environs of Berlin, and one may travel far into the woods or fields and yet be in immediate reach of the city. The pocket telephone is so delicately constructed that a very low tone of voice is heard distinctly, hence its importance should be very quickly appreciated.

THE WIRELESS AT SEA.

One of the most surprising facts brought out by the investigation of the Senate Committee into the Titanic horror is the fact that only partial use of the wireless is being made by the steamship companies.

"Our wireless operator was not on duty," said Capt. Rostron, of the Carpathia, "but as he was undressing he had his apparatus to his ear. Ten minutes later he would have been in bed, and we never would have heard."

In other words there was only one operator on this great Cunard liner, and the "Save our Souls" signals of a sinking ship might flash to no purpose during the hours the operator was asleep, or at meals, or otherwise engaged.

When Mr. Marconi was put on the stand he said only the larger ships, like the Titanic, carry two operators and the only explanation offered was that the companies do not care to go to the expense of keeping the wireless constantly manned.

It is evident, therefore, that the international agreements to make ocean travel safer, particularly on passenger vessels, must include also the item of wireless service.

The Titanic disaster means unquestionably that either leviathans of its dimensions will no longer be permitted to be constructed, or that they will be forbidden to leave the international ports unless their complement of lifeboats and liferafts is ample to remove every person from the ship in times of emergency such as that which overtook the ill-starred White Star liner.

So also it should have as its sequel a rigorous rule, criminally penalizing the companies in cases of violation, requiring the manning of the wireless at all hours of the day and night.

The question of expense ought not to be considered where human life is involved, and more especially where the expense is trifling and so easily to be provided. Salaries of operator are not so large, and an additional operator on each ship inadequately equipped would figure a relatively insignificant annual fixed charge. The travelling public would undoubtedly willingly submit to the taxation. It would involve but a slight increase in the rate of passenger tickets.

The magnitude of the Titanic disaster, in its toll of human life, is three times as great as any similar marine disaster. It shocked the civilized world. But it will not have been in vain if, as a consequence of it, the steamship companies are compelled to provide in the future such elemental safeguards for ocean travel as will make any repitition of this awful tragedy of the seas impossible.

THE KAISER'S MILITARY PROGRAM.

The armament proposals which the German Government has submitted to the Reichstag indicate little disposition on the part of the Kaiser to follow the lead of England and the United States in limiting the increase of military expenditure. Instead, the administration has made an appeal to the Reichstag to increase the army by some 30,000 men and to provide for an additional naval squadron to be formed out of old and new vessels.

Germany makes these proposals in the way that is calculated to attract the least attention abroad. In enlarging the army the administration does not ask directly for the 30,000 additional men. It requests the Reichstag to make the increase which last year's army law provided for 1914 and 1915 effective in October of this year. The net result of such action would be the immediate creation of two new army corps in Prussia and the addition of a machine gun company to every infantry regiment.

As to the fleet, the method of procedure is somewhat similar. By virtue of a law passed some years ago, Germany has provided for the automatic replacement of all vessels now composing her navy, the life of a warship being estimated at 20 years. All increases refer to new vessels additional to those which are required to maintain the navy in status quo. The proposed third active squadron is to be formed by including in it five battleships and eight cruisers, now listed with the reserve fleet and through the construction of three new battleships and two more cruisers. The addition to the navy during the current year will require the services of 1700 more officers and men. Expressed in money, the increases involve an addition of some $25,000,000 to the budget for this year. By 1913 the increase will have reached $32,000,000. Because of the automatic replacement provisions of the law the naval budget is sure to increase at an enormous rate.

It is already evident that no amount of flag waving and war talk are going to make the Reichstag accede quietly to these extravagant demands. They are opposed by the Liberal and Socialist press, and even such conservative organs as the Frankfurter Zeitung object seriously to the endeavour to rush through such increases without discussion. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg has the big fight of his career on his hands, and the prediction that the armanent debate will result in his retirement is freely ventured by the anti-administration press. For he must not only secure the additional appropriations, but he must also devise some method for raising the needed sums that will be acceptable to the Reichstag majority. Up to the present no one has suggested a new form of taxation that is likely to be approved by more than one of the Reichstag's three minority divisions.

Editorial Notes

Mr. William Wainwright, first vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, has been made acting president since the death of Mr. Hays. The name of Mr Wainwright has already been mentioned as the successor of his late chief, and no more appropriate reward could be given by the Grand Trunk Company as a recognition of forty years of efficient service.

The idea propounded by some of the members of the U. S. senatorial investigating committee in connection with the Titanic disaster, that watertight compartments are refuges to prevent passengers from drowning would indicate that the members are more familiar with crossing the bars and unloading prairie schooners than ocean liners.

It seems that the old saying, "stolen fruit is the sweetest" would apply in some measure. Take the town of Orillia, where local option is pretty rigidly enforced, as an example. Within a short run is Barrie, under license. It is safe to say that not a train from Barrie enters Orillia without a greater or less number of bottles, flasks, demi-johns and drunks.

It now seems that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, alleged to have helped in wrecking the Farmers Bank, has decided to return to Canada for trial, waiting extradition. For a man of his intellect, intelligence and business capacity, the wonder is that he did not take this action before. The arms of justice are long reaching, and with the modern police and telegraphic system, it is practically impossible for a wrong doer to ultimately escape.

Dr. George H. Locke, Toronto's librarian and an eminent educator, in an address before the Ontario Teachers' Association, denounced home work in strong terms as "arid and inhuman," and again as "the most futile educational method ever perpetrated." Interest in study was fundamental to education, he said. It was wrong to tell a child what to do, without trying to find out what it loves to do. The fault with much home work was that the child had no interest in it. Education without interest fails.

It has not yet been explained whence came the circumstantial false news issued to the press of the world regarding the Titanic. Evidence was given at the investigation that the operator on the latter vessel was in communication with the Olympic up to within a few moments before she sank and that the last message sent to the Olympic was a statement that the Titanic was sinking. Later on the Olympic was in communication with the Carpathia early on Monday morning, and was so thoroughly informed of the completeness of the disaster that she continued on her way without visiting the scene.

Homely, Yet Admired and Envied; Her Secret

The convention crowd in the lobby made a path for her, cast admiring side glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the elevator. It was at the Ponchartrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across the table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? She was not handsome; she was lacking in form and figure. Yet she did seem marvellously fascinating. Her complexion must be the secret. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintance-hip, I learned the reason.

"I know I'm not built for beauty," she confided, "but I've tried to make the most of my one charm. I've learned that men abhor make-ups and artificiality. I bar cosmetics; there are just two things I use and they promote natural loveliness and youthful appearance.

"When my complexion begins to age, I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off in the morning. This gradually flakes off the outer skin; then I have a brand new complexion, magnetically beautiful, as you see.

"Wrinkles never bother me. At their inception I bathe my face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. It works like magic."—Mona Morrow in Town Tattler.

ITALY'S ARMY IS HARASSED

ticism fired, the other day, the men of her tribe to an assault upon the strong entrenchments of the Italians. She accomplished the defeat of the numerically stronger enemy, in spite of the thunder of their cannon, only through the miracle working mystery of the password of the "Rose."

The political significance of the Senusai came into prominence when they began to fight against the corrupt system of the old bureaucratic administration. This is one of the chief reasons why they were disliked by the former Sultan and could never obtain, during his regime, a firm footing in Constantinople itself. They are most enthusiastic champions in the cause of freedom and of enfranchisement from every form of despotism. K

The present Chief Sidi Amed El-Mahdi (Mahdi means "He who is led by Allah") is described as a very pious man, full of strength and courage. He has already fought and very successfully, too, in many a difficult campaign. The fight in Tripoli will be hot and long, and the Italians will perhaps arrive at the melancholy conviction that between the proclamation of the annexation and the actual possession of Tripoli is a wide and insurmountable gulf.

Will Italy Conquer?

Berlin, April 23.—The leading newspapers in Berlin are careful as to their comments regarding the war the feeling being that Italy has her hands full. If she fails in quickly forcing Turkey to submit, trouble is sure to eventuate in Rome, and another republic may be born. This Germany does not want.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

THE COAL MINER.

The Autocrat of the Colliery Knows His Own Mind.

He is a big, burly man with stern eyes and a firm chin. He can knock-out the cleverest boxer in the district. He does not talk much, and what he says is always to the point.

He has worked many men of different colors and creeds in different parts of the world, from the low-caste coolie of the Indian colliery to the dour Scotch miner and the excitable Welshman, and he knows how to rule them.

He has a keen appreciation for the skilled miner, but does not hesitate to tell you that he is glad wherever possible to use the mechanical coal cutter in his place.

"The coal cutter," he says, "does not talk!"

He is the head manager at the colliery, and with him is the last word in all the thousand-and-one problems which arise from time to time in the practical working of the pit. He works harder than any other man in Colliery Row.

If he is not underground inspecting some portion of the workings he is in his office at the pit-head busy with plans for future development. His staff of assistant-managers is large and competent, but he has constantly to receive from them their reports.

The outsider, seeing his life, wonders when he finds time to feed and sleep.

If he leaves Colliery Row, even for a week-end, he must go somewhere where he can be reached by telephone if necessary by his head assistant.

His business in life is to get as many tons of coal as is possible out of the pit every day, and to keep the pit working, and it involves, amongst other heavy responsibilities, that of the safety as well as that of the management of hundreds of men and boys.

If disaster comes and men are entombed in the pit, it is he who heads the rescue party and directs their operations underground. In such circumstances he has been known to work for an incredible number of hours in his skull cap and pit "duds," hardly stopping for food and rarely coming to bank.

He has no illusions about the outlook. He knows that while the strike lasts, he will be the most unpopular man in Colliery Row, and that it is just as likely as not, if bad blood is kindled, that his windows will be stoned and he will have to face a riotous mob.

He has faced a mob before, and he will do it again. He is a stranger to fear.

And he will bear no ill-will to the miners when it is all over and he gets the pit working again, even though he will realise more justly than any other man all that the strike has cost. He knows that the miners have no personal grudge against him, and that many of them respect him. It is as the chief representative in their midst of their opponents, and not as himself, that the miners anathematise him during the strike.

He is the strong man in Colliery Row.

Where Wills Are Kept In Safety.

Year after year cases—often resulting in much litigation—occur of missing wills, the documents either being mislaid or lost through carelessness, or maybe stolen by someone having an interest in their possession. And yet it is quite a simple matter for a testator to have his or her will safeguarded against such mishaps, quite apart from leaving it in the custody of a solicitor or banker.

At Somerset House, London, there is a depository for the safe custody of the wills of living persons. But this fact seems so little known that scarcely more than a dozen people a year take advantage of this depository; and yet it is quite an easy matter to place one's will in the depository at Somerset House for a few shillings and thus safeguard against loss.

Perhaps there are some people who are under the belief that a will deposited at Somerset House restricts them in the matter of making any alteration afterwards. As a matter of fact, a will once deposited at Somerset House is not delivered up, but the testator is free either to have it destroyed in the presence of an official or to alter it by codicil. He may even revoke it by another will which is not deposited. The freedom of the testator to change his mind is, indeed, absolutely untouched.

King George at Home.

When King George entered his private room on his return from his Indian visit he found a mass of correspondence arranged for his examination that made him smile. "Enough work here for a month, I suppose," he remarked to Lord Stamfordham. It was plain that he was only too anxious to get to work. His quick, alert manner of moving about, glancing with pleasure at various objects in his apartments, pausing every now and then to make some brief reference to matters that immediately interested him, was gratifying to behold, since it indicated better than anything else could have done the downright joy that he felt at being back in his London "home," while it equally conclusively demonstrated that his health had not been impaired by the fatigues of the last few months.

A Suggestion.

The next time the snow drifts into your yard instead of making a snow man try to make a snow pig. An oblong mass of snow forms the body, and the legs, nose and ears are made of sticks surrounded by snow. A bit of rope nicely curled will make a good tail. Various pigs can be shaped and carved, according to the skill of the young artist, and will give a lively and sociable appearance to your yard and cause the neighbors a great deal of amusement—at your expense perhaps.

Frost Pictures.

The other children like to write
Their names upon the pane
That's frosted over in the night,
Where you can see them plain.

They draw all sorts of awkward things,
But I would rather see
The pictures that the white frost kings
Have painted there for me.

I am afraid the fairy folk
That in these woods might play
By these unsightly crooked strokes
Will all be scared away.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris, has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1667, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller. "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is men who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

Little Pushes.

The world's progress is caused not only by the mighty pushes of its heroes, but also by the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker, and every man who refuses to push because his effort would be so small is making a foolish mistake.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:

South Lancaster, Gananoque, Kingsville, Blind River, Cobourg, Honey Harbour, Port Hope, Deseronto, Trenton.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS
m Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 20, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

Telegrams received here say that next week, every wheel on the Grand Trunk System, will be stopped during a memorial service, in honor of the late Chas. M. Hays.

FEEDING THE LORDS.

Early Days Were Riotous Jolly Times In the Upper Chamber.

When the third of our Georges came to his crown the hungry legislator, whether he was coroneted or commoner, was glad, when hunger assailed him, to broil his chop or steak over the fire which was always kept roaring in the adjacent Westminster Hall; for in those days the peer had neither kitchen nor cellar, and the only alternative to the Westminster Hall frying-pan was to make a tiresome journey to his own dining-room or some distant hostelry.

And even when Bellamy came on the scene in 1773—that Bellamy for one of whose succulent pies Pitt called with his last breath—the noble lawmaker was almost as remote from a dignified meal suited to his rank; for he must scramble in Bellamy's kitchen, with a hungry horde of commoners, for a shilling sandwich and a glass of wine and water, for which eighteenpence was demanded.

Dickens draws a graphic picture of this famous kitchen, in which peers and M.P.'s ate their bread and cheese and drank their beer together even in his early days: "The large fire and roasting-jack at one end of the room, the little table for washing glasses and draining jugs at the other, the deal tables and wax candles, the bare floor, and the gridiron over the fire." And the two waiting-maids who ministered to their appetites, the sedate "female in black," and the pert Jane, the "Hebe of Bellamy's," whom the young members chucked under her pretty chin, a familiarity to which she would retort with a playful dig with the handle of a fork.

Happy, free-and-easy times these, when the Lord Chancellor would suck an orange on the Woolsack, and a "belted earl" whiled away the tedium of debate by cracking and eating nuts under his lordship's nose.

Indeed, the Commons had a Kitchen Committee and well-served dining-rooms of their own long before the peers bestirred themselves to follow suit, and engaged one Joseph Bladen, butler to Sir Augustus Clifford, as "Minister of the Interior," thus inaugurating an era of more dignified feeding.

So excellently did Bladen cater for his noble proteges that before he had held his office a year the peers decided to give him a dinner on his own account, and to present him with a piece of plate in token of their gratitude. When Bladen was invited to choose his piece of silver, he promptly plumped for "A loving-cup; and," he added, "let it be big enough to put me 'ead in it." And it was.

Thus, some fifty years or more ago, the Lords at last, like the Commoners, had kitchen and cellars of their own, and were able to fare as becomes the wearers of coronets. Tales are told of these early days—how the minor officials of the noble House used to hold riotous banquets when the peers were away, and tripped it gaily afterwards in that august chamber, the "Moses" Room; and how four peers once had a royal squabble over the best way to cook a leg of mutton before the fire—knuckle-end up or vice versa.

Decries Churchly Garb.

Is revolt against the episcopal hat and gaiters in the air?

The question is suggested by some remarks made in his diocesan visitation by the Archbishop of Canterbury—an informal luncheon table speech.

"Did you ever ask yourselves," said his grace, addressing the clergy and church wardens of the deanery of Croydon, "why it is ecclesiastics wear such extraordinary garb? Do you suppose that gaiters, a hat with strings, and the rest are worn as something peculiarly comforting or beautiful?

"I believe it to be a symbol and outward sign of continuousness with the past, clinging though it does about ecclesiastics in a somewhat inconvenient, not to say strangely uncongenial, form. When you again observe the peculiar garb of some one thus apparelled, the fact that that man is at that moment an object lesson of the way in which one side of our life is keeping touch with things gone will, perhaps, come to you with a new suggestiveness. I imagine that 100 years ago plenty of people—the ordinary doctor or solicitor—wore it."

His grace, in conclusion, told how an American reporter once described him as being "in Highland dress!"

Oldest Holder of Ducal Title.

The venerable Duke of Grafton, whose condition has been causing anxiety to his relatives, is the oldest holder of a ducal title in the peerage, and, with two notable exceptions, the oldest member of the Upper House.

His seniors are the Earl of Wemyss, who enters his ninety-fifth year next August, and the ever-virile Lord Strathcona, who in the same month will be ninety-two.

The Duke of Grafton's activities have been the subject of much comment in quite recent years. In the autumn of 1908 he took part one evening in the extinction of a serious fire which had broken out on his estate at Wakefield Lodge, Northamptonshire. In recent years the venerable duke has only been seen in the House of Lords when specially whipped up for important divisions, such, for instance, as that which took place over the Licensing Bill, and on these rare occasions he always occupied a seat on one of the cross-benches.

His Company.

A party of Fife miners were on a trip to Edinburgh recently and one of them got a little the worse of liquor and had the misfortune to lose the train home. He wandered about the city till a late hour. Arriving at the Castle he commenced hammering at the gates. "Who goes there?" shouted the sentry on duty. "Jock Brown," replied the miner. "What company?" asked the sentry. "Fife Coal Co.," was Jock's reply.

New Anglo-Indians.

The term "Eurasian" has been officially discarded by the Government of India, which has decided to adopt "Anglo-Indian" in the next census.

Billiard Balls.

Billiard balls are always cut from the finest ivory, but usually they are not cut from the largest size of tusks. The moderately small tusk yields the best results so far as billiard balls are concerned.

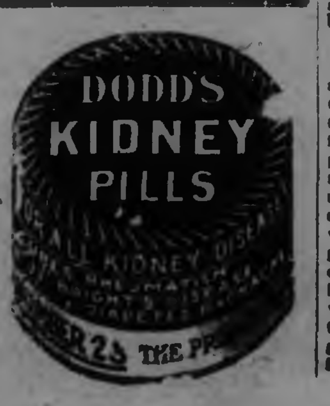
Fire Under Water.

Fire under water may be produced by placing some small pieces of phosphorus in a conical shaped tumbler and then covering them with the crystals of chlorate of potash. Next fill the glass with water and then add a few drops of sulphuric acid, the acid to be applied directly to the phosphorus and potash crystals by means of a long tube. If the experiment is properly carried out tongues of bright red flame can be seen flashing up through the water, the intense chemical heat produced by the action of the sulphuric acid on the potash and phosphorus being sufficient to inflame the latter, although entirely covered with water.



SINGING DOGS.

Trainer Tells of Remarkable Musical Talent In Animals.

A good many pet-owners may be startled to learn that animals can distinguish between musical notes, says an English trainer in a recent article, and that those of any degree of intelligence may be trained as musical performers. Animals that play musical instruments are by no means uncommon, and a number of seals have before now been equipped with drums, cymbals, horns, and bells, and have made music when instructed by their trainer to do so. If the melody has not been perfect, it has been sufficient to prove that the seals have at least some music in their composition.

The majority of wild animals are influenced by music and everyone knows that bears can be taught to dance on their hind legs while holding a pole to sound of music, even if that music is ground out of a common street organ by means of a handle.

Once a circus horse has been taught to do a trick to a certain tune he will do it whenever he hears that tune, and, in consequence, he is the cause of some funny incidents now and again. Once I took a horse into the street for exercise, and as we turned a corner a barrel-organ commenced to grind out its music. The tune was the very one the animal was accustomed to in the circus ring, and he concluded that I was expecting him to go through his usual performance. He broke away from me and gave a free performance in the middle of the road, and I could only call him to order by appealing to the "musician" to stop the organ.

When the ordinary dog howls at music it does not always do so because the notes get on its "nerves," but often because it is striving to imitate them as well as its untrained vocal powers will permit.

I heard a wonderful story of a singing dog the other day. A handsome collie, named Sammy, the property of a Mr. Carlson, is a tenor soloist. Every morning, when a bell on a church near his master's home rings, Sammy takes up a position close by and begins an accompaniment, which blends remarkably well with the deep notes of the bell. A musician has declared that the dog is exactly in tune with the metallic sounds that come from the church belfry. Later in the day—at noon—Sammy goes off to a lumber plant operated by his master. Here the animal accompanies the whistle, achieving perfect harmony, it is said.

It might be remembered that some years ago a singing dog created a furore amongst scientific men in Paris. This animal, which belonged to a Dr. Bennati, could sing the scale perfectly without any assistance from the human voice or a musical instrument. Moreover, it could imitate a new tune with extraordinary accuracy after hearing it played two or three times.

The philosopher Leibnitz declared that he knew a dog which was not only a remarkably fine singer, but could actually talk. All the letters of the alphabet, with the exception of "m," "n," and "h," it could articulate quite clearly, and could give its master, when spoken to, a suitable answer.

Lions, elephants, and monkeys are fond of music. I have seen an elephant play a whole band of music at once, using its trunk and fore feet to play the various instruments. Lions will often forsake their meals to listen to a tune, and this applies also to tigers and others of the fierce cat tribe.

Historic Homes.

The Petre family, the head of which, Lord Petre, is now staying in London with his mother and sisters, is one of the oldest in England, and shares with the Duke of Norfolk the headship of Catholic society.

The real founder of the family was Sir William Petre, one of the principal Secretaries of State in the reign of Henry VIII., but actually the Petres were people of importance two centuries before his time.

There is romance in plenty of the family. The fourth peer died in the Tower through being implicated in the Titus Oates plot, and the seventh baron was the Peer of Pope's "Rape of the Lock"; while the two homes of the family—Ingatestone and Thorndon, both close to Chelmsford—have most interesting associations.

Ingatestone is the Audley Court of "Lady Audley's Secret," and it has a curious "priest's hole," discovered nearly sixty years ago. In it was an old chest, with curious locks, that had been used for keeping the sacred vessels.

Barrie's Recipes.

Now that J. M. Barrie has told the story of "Peter Pan" in book form, writers and readers alike are once more asking what is his method of work.

The novelist himself has partly answered this question in a note to a magazine editor who wanted the recipe. "My readers wish to know how you write," said the editor, "please tell them."

Barrie accordingly formulated his reply into a kind of prescription, which read: "Journalism—two pipes—one hour; two hours—one idea; one idea—three paragraphs; three paragraphs—one leader."

Fiction—"Eight pipes—one ounce; seven ounces—one week; two weeks—one chapter; 20 chapters—one nib; two nibs—one novel."

A Famous Warden.

Lord Brassey, who as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports is going to occupy Walmer Castle, is perhaps the best-liked and the most genial individual who has ever held that ancient office.

Lord Brassey follows many distinguished men at Walmer Castle—Lord Curzon, Lord Salisbury, Lord Dufferin, Mr. W. H. Smith, Lord Granville, and the great Duke of Wellington. It is doubtful, however, whether any of his predecessors ever possessed, as he does, a master's certificate to control a ship. Lord Brassey's home is at Battle Abbey, which is in the neighborhood of the ports.

On Shaking Hands.

The woman who offers her hand upon accepting an introduction conveys thereby a sign of cordial welcome of the acquaintance, but in formally fashionable society none but the hostess pursue this course. The inclination of the head, a smile and a murmur of the name constitute a full recognition of an introduction in the eyes of many who regard their bearing as the expression of the best form. In a rather crowded drawing room this mode is to be commended, but at other times a woman, whose prerogative it is to take the initiative on this point, will not greatly err in almost unvaryingly offering her hand.

SLAVING IN NIGERIA.

Wiles of Traders Nullified by British Agents.

Late one afternoon a large canoe from up-river came slowly alongside and made fast. In it were a man, a woman, a lad, and a small child.

The man and the lad were working the canoe, and as they came up, the man shouted some order to the lad at the stern. He repeated it more than once, and the lad at each repetition, started some new act. It struck me as curious that the lad failed to understand what was said to him.

I recognized the language in which the man spoke as being Nupe. He told me that he was a Nupe, and that the woman was his wife, mother of the lad and of the wee girl.

As neither he nor his wife could make any sort of conversation with either of the children, though these talked freely one to the other, it was reasonably clear that the claim to be their parents was to be accepted in the Pickwickian sense only.

My own interpreter, a worthy fellow with command of seven languages, could do nothing with them. Amateur interpreters, speaking all manner of curious dialects, tried, without success, to interest the "pikhins."

Ultimately, a woman was found in the native town who was able to talk their language, and then all was plain sailing. They came from a pagan district a couple of hundred miles or more above Rama, on the river, and, owing to famine had been sold for three bags of corn to the canoeman and his wife three weeks before we met.

Later on, they were returned to their people. Ere that, they appeared in court to testify against their purchasers. These were convicted, and are at this present time engaged in building operations on his Majesty's behalf at no great distance from Rama.—World's Work.

Let's Talk About the Women.

If some girls practiced more on the gas range and less on the piano this would be a happier world.

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior tender chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

The Paris Radium Palace.

Mme. Curie's "radium palace" promises to be one of the most interesting buildings in the world. Foundations for it have been laid at great depth in the Rue Pierre Curie, in southern Paris. All her laboratories will be located there, and she will carry on the researches which she began with her late husband. The building will be lined throughout with a thick layer of lead, which is impenetrable to radium rays.

STOPS A COUGH IN ONE NIGHT

CATARRH AND WEAK THROAT NOW CURED WITHOUT SWALLOWING DANGEROUS DRUGS.

By Breathing the Soothing, Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone All Throat and Catarrhal Trouble is Quickly Cured.

It's simply wonderful to think how quickly a bad throat or catarrh can be cured with Catarrhozone. Its rich balsamic vapor is carried along with the breath into the innermost recesses of the lungs, bronchial tubes and chest, making it impossible for the germ of any disease to live. Thus soreness in the chest is at once alleviated—phelgm is loosened and ejected from the throat, old-standing coughs are removed.

"I suffered from an irritable, weak, throat for three years. I had a severe cough, pain over the eyes, constant bad taste in my mouth and noises in my ears. It was chronic catarrh. Nothing gave permanent relief till I used Catarrhozone. In one hour it relieved, and in a few weeks drove all trace of catarrh from my system.

"TIMOTHEUS A. SALMON
"No. 6 Lopez street, Kingston, Ja."

REMEMBER THIS—You breathe Catarrhozone and it will cure any throat, chest or bronchial cold. Large size, guaranteed, costs $1.00 and lasts two months; smaller sizes, 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations and insist on "CATARRHOZONE" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

FIREPROOF FRAME BUILDINGS

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control, or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHY WAS THE NEWS HELD BACK

What motives actuated the White Star Line officials to go to the lengths which they did in suppressing the news of the disaster to the great ship Titanic have not yet been disclosed. Suffice it to say that the public, and its ears and eyes in the shape of press representatives, were for 12 hours badly misled as to the real proportions of the calamity. Its view doubtless was that until the worst could be definitely known it would be a needless cruelty to invite the friends of the passengers to share in the dread suspense. But this benevolent theory can be carried too far. Popular alarm in consequence welled up like water behind a dam, until with redoubled force it broke all intended bounds. Last night was one of great apprehension in many quarters and of a hurrying and scurring, accentuated by the impression that the steamship officials had not been frank with the public, and were liable not yet to be telling the whole truth.

CLEANSING THE PANAMA.

In a recent issue of the American Medical Association Journal will be found an article on the cleansing of the Isthmus of Panama. The wonderful work accomplished is summarized by Colonel Gorgas, wherein the conditions are contrasted as at present under American regime, and what existed under French occupancy. The French, with an average force of 10,200 men, lost in nine years on the Isthmus of 22,189 men. The United States, with an average working force of 33,000 men during practically the same length of time has lost only 4,000. The annual death rate amongst the French employees reached the gigantic figure of 240 per thousand. The maximum death rate amongst employees since United States occupancy, and during the early days of the work before the sanitary plans were completed, was 40 per thousand. The present annual death rate is only 7.50 per thousand, or lower than the death rate in an American city. Yellow fever has entirely disappeared. Malaria has been curbed so that there are less than one-quarter as many cases as there were during the early days.

It is well for Panama and the workers on the canal under the new regime, that the task was entrusted to a man who was master of his business and of himself. The reign of terror that was periodically renewed in these tropical countries where malaria fever was deemed inevitable, is no longer to be feared. The awful menace spread by the approach of yellow fever from the La Plata to the Hudson, has ceased to scare the millions whose decimation was not to be escaped.

The sanitary work accomplished has been of the greatest value to the world, showing, as it does, that that health can readily be preserved in the tropics under modern sanitation.

The cleaning of the canal zone will have a beneficial effect.

Ringland's circus will not visit the Midland district this year.

Thank the Lord! The probs for to-day are west winds and a little warmer.

HOW TO CARE FOR BOOKS.

They Should Be Protected From Gas, Heat and Light.

It is surprising how few of the many owners of books are aware of the simple means required to preserve them in a useful condition and what astonishment is felt when a book removed from the shelf leaves one side behind or dangling by the hinge.

Heat, gas, light and, by no means least, electricity are the chief disintegrating influences upon leather bindings. Books bound previous to 1830 have the advantage over more modern ones, as most if not all of the tanners of that earlier time used tanbark. Since that date the use of sulphuric and oxalic acids has been almost universal, and so insidious are their effects that they can hardly be realized until the damage is done.

Old books brought from other countries are apt to succumb very quickly to the altered climatic conditions. Lack of moisture in the air, together with our modern system of heating, as well as gaslight, "central" heat and electricity, has a very injurious effect upon them in a few years. The use of lubricant or food is almost essential to offset this. A large importer has expressed a wish that every imported book of value might be so treated at once to fortify it in its new environment. Even under the most favorable conditions the need of some such treatment is becoming recognized, for the Vatican and other noted libraries are being treated to prevent dry rot, the leather's greatest enemy. Years of drying out of the natural oil in the skin and the total absorption of such oil where the tanning is done with acids have brought the conviction that some means must be resorted to by which the life of the leather can be restored.

Very few think of placing leather bound books on the lower shelves to avoid the greater heat above; of preventing sunlight from striking them, for, like electricity, it burns and fades the leather if concentrated upon it for any length of time; of giving them light and air, with plenty of circulation. Bindings suffer far more from being shut behind glass doors than from the accumulation of dust or even from careless handling by ignorant servants. The dusting of books is something which should be trusted to careful or expert hands only, for the hinges can easily be broken by dropping or the corners knocked off, particularly if the leather be dry. The vacuum cleaner, of course, does away with such disasters in the electrically equipped house.

Overcrowding the shelves is another cause of damage. It not only rubs the sides, but prevents the proper circulation of air.

Maskinonge Spawn Destroyed.

There is danger that the maskinonge, next season, or rather in the coming season, will be greatly depleted on account of the high water this spring. These splendid game fish, go up above the submerged meadows and spawn. The unusually high water will recede, and millions of ova will be destroyed. This difficulty is being experienced at Sturgeon Lake, and very likely along the whole route of the Kawartha Lakes.

Lindsay is to have a baseball League this season.

Mr. Jas. Graham has been awarded the contract for extensions to the Peterborough Club.

A Move Impending.

It was after morning school, and the teacher was in such a good temper that little Tommy sidled up to him to discuss a decidedly personal matter.

"Please, teacher," the small boy began, "I fancy I shall be leaving this school soon."

The tutor looked interested and hazarded a query as to the reason for this parting of the ways.

"Well, sir," continued the pupil, "mother burnt the door of the coal-house and the lid of the copper, and father's started chopping down the stairs."

"Yes, my boy," said the schoolmaster kindly. "But what makes you imagine you'll be leaving the district?"

"Well, you see, teacher," continued the boy, "when we've burnt the stairs we always move!"—Answers.

Saved by a Snake.

Count Zinzendorf, the founder of the Moravians, visited North America in 1742 and for a short time labored as a missionary among the Shawnee Indians. When he first went to them they received him with coldness, and a plot was formed to assassinate him. The count was sitting one evening in his wigwam upon a bundle of dry weeds which he had gathered for his bed. While he was writing by the light of a small fire a rattlesnake, warmed into activity, crawled over one of his legs. Just then the murderous savages lifted the blanket that served for a door and looked in. They stood motionless for some minutes watching the aged man and then, gliding from the scene, fled into the forest. From that night the missionary found them friends and listeners.

An Almanac Started In 1699.

The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanach National," which has been issued by the French Government since 1699. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career. Originally the "Almanach Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1805 and reverted to its original name nine years later. Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort, the "Almanach National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages, as compared with 1,500 pages now.—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Keep It Quiet.

Being called to his feet unexpectedly at the gathering and asked to respond informally to the toast "The Ladies," Mr. Gilfers hemmed and hawed and began:

"My friends, all that I am, all that I have in the world, I owe to a woman—my wife."

Here he was interrupted by that lady herself, who arose and said:

"I told you when you put the property in my name you'd give it away the first time you opened your mouth."

Too Ready With Assistance.

Smith—Goldmore is a very generous old fellow. Do you know, he's always helping somebody out.

Jones (sadly)—Yes, I know. I was down to see his daughter the other night, and he helped me out too.

One Kind.

"Pa, in this book it speaks about a necessary evil. What is a necessary evil?"

"The bridegroom at a wedding is one kind."

Conundrums.

When did Ruth treat Boaz badly? When she pulled his ears and trod on his corn.

Why is a convivial man like a Quaker? Because he is fond of the society of friends.

What is that which we all eat and drink, though it is sometimes a woman and sometimes a man? A toast.

Why would a tanner make a good chemist? Because he understands all (h)ides.

When is soup likely to run out of the saucepan? When there's a leek in it.

What is that which you must keep after giving to another? Your word.

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Medical Treatment Is Crude, and Adapted to Local Conditions.

Business is brisk at the trading store. A group of Kaffirs, with their horses grazing nearby, are seated together laughing and talking in that high pitched, but not unpleasant, tone that is the attribute of the South African native.

A line of women, with baskets of mealies and Kaffir corn for sale fill the stoep, jostling and pushing against each other to get in first and be attended to. Inside the store there is a mass of men and women, and the din they make is indescribable, and behind the counter are the trader and his assistant, both doing their utmost to attend to a dozen people at the same time.

The store has only just been opened, for it is still early, and all this business will have been got through within a couple of hours. The rest of the day will be as quiet as it is the opposite now, but the customers all wish to settle their affairs at once, so as to be able to loaf about for the rest of the day.

A white man rides up, scattering the group in front of the building, and there is a general volley of exclamations, for the people know that now it is no use their pushing forward, for until the white man has been attended to they cannot be served, and how long that may take is very uncertain.

The white man looks haggard and drawn, and his first question, "How's the doctor getting on?" hardly comes as a surprise. There is no medical man within a day's ride, but his deputy is here — the medicine chest— and what the questioner is inquiring about, is as to the contents of this most useful receptacle. "All right," says the trader, in reply to the question. "Have a look at the book." The white man takes the little volume and opens it, whilst the natives stand round and stare at him. They, in all probability, know him very well, but still he is a white man, and therefore a fit object for curiosity.

It is a quaint little work, this volume, methodically arranged, with all the ills and pains that poor humanity is heir to plainly set out, and the remedy or remedies facing the ailment.

The compilers of this work are fully aware of the drawbacks to life up country; they realize that communication with the world below is sometimes cut off through the swollen rivers and other obstacles, so wherever possible they give an alternative remedy; thus, if the supply of one drug is exhausted, the patient can have a substitute to fall back upon.

The white man goes over the list until he comes across his own particular ailment. "Have you any No. 10 left" he asks. The trader luckily has, so a draught is taken, and the patient takes a seat on the counter whilst the other customers are attended to.

On one of the shelves is a bewildering array of patent medicines. The names of many of the medicines are household words, but you would not recognize them from their outside wrappers, for these are of the most gaudy description imaginable—it being considered necessary by many manufacturers to use very vivid coverings for the native trade. The white man glances up at them.

He cannot purchase anything from the medicine chest, as the supply is not large enough for that, but he can, of course, buy any of the contents of the shelves. Many of these remedies are reliable ones, but the contents of the medicine chest all figure in the British Pharmacopoeia, and this makes all the difference—or seems to. The Kaffir is imitative to an extreme, and it is as certain that the sun is shining outside that some will now come forward and ask for medical attention.

"I feel ill," says one, "give me some medicine out of the box," but the request goes unheeded, though if a native is really ill he is as welcome to the services of the medicine chest as anyone else. The white man gets down from the counter and expresses his intention of going home. "Come over to-morrow for another dose if you're not better," says the trader, then they shake hands, and the patient goes outside and mounts his horse, and the Kaffirs follow him with their eyes until he is out of sight.

Cooked 1,500,000 Chops.

Of very few men can it truthfully be said, "He has cooked a million chops." Yet William, of Edwards', in Fishmonger Alley, London, who will presently celebrate the jubilee of his professional career, is believed to have cooked a million and a half. About ten thousand of these he has eaten himself.

The calculation was made one day on the table cloth by a distinguished statistician, who was so shocked by the figures that he dared not go on to estimate the tons of steaks, the mountains of kidneys, and the miles of sausages. "I wonder, William," he said, "that you are not ashamed to look a flock of sheep in the face."

"I have not eaten a steak for twenty-five years," he said, "but I have eaten a chop every day. Some people say you cannot live on one thing, but I still manage to keep alive. Sixty-six, that is my age."

Peterborough Summer Fair.

Well, it seems that the people of this city, most vitally interested in such a movement have not come financially to the aid of the Peterborough ladies, who have used their time, money and social influence to get up a "Made-in-Peterborough" Exhibition. As the exhibits and the money are not forthcoming, the exhibition to pay for a trained nurse for tuberculosis patients, has been changed to a "Peterborough Summer Fair." Still—no matter what the Y.M.C.A. Notes.

The Y.M.C.A. swimming campaign has opened with a big rush. Over 50 boys who could not swim were given their first lesson. Quite a few of the older boys (men) turned up for their class in the evening. This will be continued for the next two weeks.

Judging by the Blackbirds.

An old citizen remarked to The Times yesterday that the blackbirds this spring, are fewer than usual and do not seem to make the raucous noise that generally characterizes their nest building. He claims that this means a late summer and probably an unprofitable one as far as agriculture is concerned.

T. HURLEY,

First Boat From Rice Lake.

The steamer "Geneva," Captain W. C. Harris, arrived from Gore's Landing at Peterborough on the 23rd instant, and returned yesterday, with a full load of merchandise. It is expected that the steamer "Geneva," and the steamer "Rainbow," Captain Burnett, will begin the regular trips next Saturday, the 27th instant, between Rice Lake and Peterborough. In 1911, the first boat arrived in Peterborough on the 15th April. Navigation opened about a week earlier than this year.

Ice Trouble at Chemong Bridge.

Chemong Bridge seems able to resist the high water. The water is still above the level of the approaches and old residents of the vicinity state that the water is one foot higher than it was ever known to be before. The bridge is open for traffic and teams are crossing daily. It is impossible to open the bridge to allow the accumulation of ice to pass through as the ice is crowding the structure on both sides. It will probably be the first of May before conditions get down to a normal basis.

Many Muskrat Skins Sold.

Muskrat skins yesterday brought an average of seventy three cents. The Hiawatha stage brought several bundles of pelts from Indian village on Rice Lake yesterday, and the Indians began the round of buyers to investigate the prices offering. Quotations ranged from 71 cents to 75 cents. The number of pelts brought in yesterday morning was large, considering the rather unfavorable conditions this year. There are still 400 pelts or more in the village and the season does not close until Tuesday, April 30th.

Police Court Notes.

The boy, who as noted in yesterday's issue, masqueraded as a girl to advertise the Red Mill, yesterday morning pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, and was fined $2. W. Anthony also paid in two simoleons for imbibing too freely, particularly as he was on the Indian list. McIntosh Roberts was accused of supplying Anthony with the booze, but was discharged. Two men from Norwood, evidently did not know the strength of Peterborough's whiskey and after getting a load aboard, were run in. They paid $2 each for the privilege.

All Lindsay Licenses Renewed.

The hotelmen of Lindsay, like those of Peterborough, must have been on their good behaviour, as all those holding licenses last year, got renewals. The Post commenting on this fact says:

"The Inspector and Commissioners speak highly of the standard of our hotels, and of the anxiety of their proprietors to observe the law. If all Ontario possessed such model hotel men there would be less talk of local option, and abolish the bar crusades. There were eight hotels and one liquor license granted."

If Lindsay, with about half Peterborough's population has eight hotels this city seems rather poorly provided for accommodation of the travelling public, with only twelve.

A Small Fire on Water Street.

Early yesterday morning a fire broke out in the home of Mr. Wm. Greene, 326 Water street. The occupants on either side of the building, which is a terrace, had noticed about ten o'clock Tuesday night an unusual quantity of smoke was coming from the house, but were unable to locate the cause. During the morning, however, the flames burst out in the cellar of the house. The smoke was seen coming out of the cellar grating by the policeman on duty, who rang in the alarm. The brigade responded promptly, and the chemical did the work. No damage.

Golf Club Committees Appointed.

At the last meeting of the players of the Golf Club, the following committees were drawn up to serve during the coming season:

Greens Committee—Mr. Stratton, chairman, Mr. Ritchie, Mr. R. Cameron.

House Committee — Mr. Campbell, chairman, Mrs. Travers, Miss Belle Morrow.

Tennis and boating—Mr. Ritchie, chairman, Mr. Rackham, Miss N. Hall.

Men's Captain—Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Ladies' Captain—Mrs. Aylmer.

Men's Handicapping Committee — Mr. Wainwright and Mr. Neill.

A Case of Trespass.

At yesterday's session of the County Court, James P. Dickson was charged with having trespassed upon the lands of Frederick Eason, for the purpose of hunting, contrary to the provisions of the Ontario Game Protection Act.

Magistrate Dumble presided in the absence of County Magistrate Edmison.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Jas. J. Dickson, defendant in the case and F. D. Kerr acted on behalf of the complainant, Frederick Eason. Both parties in the case reside in the vicinity of Keene.

Mr. Gordon would not elect to plead, the complainant was not the owner of the property upon which the alleged offence was committed. Furthermore it was a navigable stream and is therefore out of the jurisdiction of the province.

Mr. Gordon submitted that the title of the land was in question and the case was beyond the jurisdiction of the court. The navigable stream in question is known Indian River.

His Worship noted the objection and called for the examination of witnesses.

The case was adjourned until next Tuesday for argument.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

APSLEY

Spring seems to have got here at last, and many of the farmers are ploughing and getting ready for the seeding. It was not a very good season for maple syrup.

Snow nearly all gone and fine warm rains.

Quite a number of our farmers have sold out and moved away, but only one has gone to the north west. Mr. Wm. Peters, of Chandos, sold his house and lot, and has come to reside in Apsley. Walter Windsor sold his stock, implements etc., by auction and farm by private sale, and moved to Peterborough. F. J. Bullied, of Clydesdale, sold his large stock of cattle, horses, sheep, implements etc. by auction last Friday. The sale was one of the best this spring, many buyers from a distance attending, and prices realized were good, some cows fetching as high as $50.00, and everything in proportion. Fred is moving to Coe Hill. There is a railroad there.

Norman is getting his cheese factory in shape for the summer's make of cheese, and hopes for a good patronage from the farmers.

If you hear a noise in your city this week like an earthquake don't be alarmed; it's only the axe falling on our postmaster. But Duncan says it had to fall sometime, as the faithful must be rewarded. Its the first change in the post office here in nearly forty years, and in that time there were several changes in the Government.

We were pleased to see our old friend Ned Wigg again. He went through here last week to take charge of a summer camp for the Peterborough Lumber Co., in the northern part of Anstruther.

Housecleaning is the order of the day now, meals at all hours and anywhere. Ben is having his hostelry repapered and painted throughout.

The drive will soon start, as the creek is open and men are commencing to break the dumps. There will be about 126,000 logs go down this spring from this section of the Peterborough Lumber camps.

The ring of the electric car bell has not been heard yet. Perhaps some of the children born here this year may live to hear it. Who knows? Peterborough is such a progressive city.

WIRELESS OPERATORS GOT PAID FOR KEEPING NEWS

Signor Marconi Says They Did It With His Full Consent, But Not to Keep Back News For Big Money

Washington, April 25.—Guglielmo Marconi, head of the Marconi Company, who testified at the hearing in New York, came to Washington at the request of Chairman Smith, and was the first witness called when the Senate Committee resumed its hearing of the Titanic disaster to-day.

Before taking the stand, Mr. Marconi frankly discussed the message sent from New York to the wireless operators on the Carpathia by Chief Engineer Sammis, of the Marconi Co. asking them to hold out their news when they reached port for "four figures."

"Yes, that message was sent by Sammis," said Mr. Marconi, "but I knew nothing about the message until afterward. There is this about it, that I want to say. The message was not sent while the Carpathia was at sea. It was not sent until the Carpathia had passed Sandy Hook, and was nearing the port."

When Senator Smith reached the committee room, messages from Ottawa awaited him containing the information that despositions of the officers and crew of the steamer Mount Temple would be taken to-day by the Canadian authorities at St. John, N B., and would be forwarded to Washington.

Representatives of the White Star Company said they would try to have Fourth Officer Boxhall before the committee to-morrow. He has been ill.

Connected With England.

Senator Smith asked Mr. Marconi what he had to do with the wireless apparatus, ashore and afloat, and whether he selected the operators.

"I am consulted as to the installation of the apparatus," he said. "I do not dictate the style of apparatus but am on call to advise. I travel round the world a good bit on just this work."

"What is your official connection with the British Government?"

"I have no official connection, except for consultation. Our company has a contract with the Government for the extension of wireless in the British Empire. The work will take up at least eighteen years."

The contract, the witness said, was made under the British postal service Mr. Marconi told the committee the general scope of the contract with the British Government.

"Have you the exclusive right to equip the British wireless stations?"

"We have that right so far as the courts protect our patents in England." said Marconi.

Need of Constant Attention.

Senator Smith asked Mr. Marconi if there was any arrangement which gave an alarm on board ships when called by wireless. He said that an old equipment used on ships was a bell arrangement which did not work well, because it alarmed operators on all ships as well as the one called.

"Then there is no alarm signal on instruments now?"

"No, but it may be possible to devise one."

"Then unless an operator sits constantly with the receiver on his head he would not get a signal?" the Senator continued.

"That is correct."

"Then ships should have operators continuously, on duty, you think?"

"Yes, if the wireless is to be of service to others; as in cases of distress."

Asked as to pay of the operators. Mr. Marconi said that in England the pay ranged from $4 to $12 a week with board and lodging.

"It is easy to get operators at these wages," he said, because the sea is attractive to young men." The wages in America, Mr. Marconi said were slightly higher.

"Where were you on Sunday and Monday, April 14 and 15th?"

"New York."

"Did you have any communication personally or by your order with the Carpathia Sunday or Monday?"

"No."

MAJOR PEUCHEN REPEATED HIS CHARGES AGAINST THE CAPTAIN

Toronto, April 25.—I, Andrew Macdonald, of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, do solemnly declare that:

1. I am a reporter for the Toronto News, and on Saturday, April 20, 1912, I boarded the New York train on which Major Peuchen was travelling to Toronto, at Sunnyside, and I had an interview with him in the Pullman car while the train was travelling between Sunnyside and the Union depot.

2. I had read the article published on the first page of the News on Saturday the 20th, April, under the heading, "Major Peuchen says he was not the first man off the Titanic, and I say that the language attributed to Major Peuchen in said article, as follows:

"When I first went on board I felt proud of the forward steps made in shipbuilding, as the boat looked so luxurious and staunch. But when I heard that Mr. Smith, the ill-fated Captain of the Olympic when she rammed the British cruiser Hawk for which he was found wanting, and was severely criticized by the Court of Investigation, my heart went down into my boots.

"Even at the commencement of the the voyage he had trouble in manoeuvring the gigantic ship, the suction from her screws drawing the steamship New York from her mooring."

was used by him at that interview, and was taken down verbatim by me. There is a mistake in the article in omitting the words, "Was in command," after the word investigation, in the last line of the first paragraph These words were in my notes, but were omitted by the printers. And I make this solemn Declaration conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under an oath, and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act. Declared before me at the City of Toronto, in the County of York, this 25th day of April, A.D. 1912. ANDREW MACDONALD

A. W. Ballantyne, A Commissioner, etc.

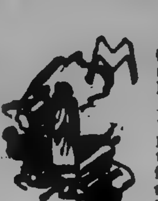
HAVELOCK MAN DEAD.

Mr. R. Phillips, of Havelock, Found Dead in His Bed.

Havelock, April 25.—Mr. R. Phillips, hardware merchant, of Phillips Bros., was found dead in bed this morning between eight and nine o'clock. Death was due to a stroke. Deceased was in excellent health and spirits apparently at ten o'clock on Wednesday night, when he retired.

FIRST PREMIER IN IRELAND

Asquith Will Visit Erin Whilst Holding the Reigns of Government.



Dublin, April 20

MUCH COMMENT is being made on the talked of visit by Premier Asquith to Ireland, which would if it came to pass, create an interesting precedent, for her would, in this case, be the first Prime Minister to visit Ireland while holding that office, on a distinct political mission. It is true that many Prime Ministers have visited Ireland before, but always either before or after their occupancy of that office, with the sole exception of Lord Palmerston, who was the owner of large landed estates in Ireland, and who visited the country once or twice during his premiership, though in a strictly unofficial capacity.

Warned Not to Listen to Socialists.

The attempt of Mr. Larkin to carry the industrial war into the town of Sligo has drawn forth a remarkable letter from the Roman Catholic Bishop of Elphin. Mr. Larkin is the chief official of the Irish Transport Workers' Union, which has already been responsible for several strikes in Dublin. A meeting to be addressed by him was announced in Sligo. The Bishop promptly wrote a pastoral letter, which was read in all the Roman Catholic Churches that morning. In this Dr. Clancy said that Mr Larkin's public utterances were distinctly of a Socialistic tendency, that he was distrusted by the members of the Irish Parliamentary Party, and that his name was associated in many minds, with incidents which rendered it highly undesirable that the people of Sligo, should allow themselves to be allured into a false position by his pretended sympathy with [illegible]

"I therefore expect and hope that no respectable citizen of our town or country, and no faithful member of the Church, will take part in the meeting at which this man is advertised to speak. Socialism pretends to find a panacea for poverty, and all other social evils, but its remedies are at best the unsound and unscientific prescriptions of the quack. The principles of Socialism as a system of economics have been condemned by two Popes in succession as contrary to the moral law, and as manifest from the present condition of industrial life in England and Germany, the evils which it brings in it's train are far greater than those it proposes to redress."

THE MAYOR DEFIED MOVING PICTURE ON

New Iberia, La., April 24.—Manager Julius Scharff, of the Elk's Theatre, presented the motion pictures of the Beulah Binford-Beattie tragedy last night in defiance of the mayor's announced decision that he would not allow its presentation.

Mr. Scharff claimed that there was no ordinance prohibiting the showing of this picture. An action is expected to follow in the courts.

The Mayor had been waited upon by the Civic League and others and asked not to allow this picture to be shown.

A similar attempt to show the pictures complained of was made in New Orleans some weeks ago by the management of the No Name, a Canal street house. The character of the pictures called forth a complaint which was investigated by the police department, with the result that Mayor Behrman ordered further exhibitions of the picture discontinued, on pain of the manager's arrest.

THE WEATHER.

Fine and warm.

THE REAL REASON

Mr. A. H. Stratton is grumbling about the investigation not having been to his liking. Mr. Stratton should have taken his case before the House of Commons, as all dissatisfied employees do. No one who is displeased with the conduct of any M.P. need grumble at injustice when the whole machinery of Parliament in session is at his disposal. But that was not what Mr. Stratton wanted apparently. He seems to have preferred to let the opportunity slip. The Department looked into the evidence and pronounced judgment. Mr. Burnham had very little to do except as agent of the Department. The evidence appears to have been conclusive. At any rate, one single question by a Liberal M.P. would have ensured a full investigation and discussion on the floor of Parliament and with the press gallery looking on. Why wasn't it brought up? There would then have been a lot of interesting correspondence to go into, that could not have been brought forward in any other way. Was that the reason? Some people seem to want everything done just to suit them. But in most cases there are two opinions about that, and this seems to have been one of them.

PASSENGER SAYS DISTRESS SIGNALS WERE IGNORED

Strathcona, Alta., April 25.—What may amount to a very serious charge against Captain Moore, of the Canadian Pacific liner, Mount Temple, which passed close to the Titanic during four hours preceding the ill-fated steamer's sinking, is contained in a statement made here yesterday by E. W. Zurich, who crossed from Antwerp on the Mount Temple. According to Mr. Zurich, passengers heard of the Titanic's distress at 12.15 o'clock Monday morning, when a wireless message for help was caught.

Captain Moore changed his vessels course at once and headed for the Titanic, lifeboats being swung from davits meanwhile, and other preparations being made for lending assistance. The northern course was not held long, however, says Mr. Zurich, because of a great field of ice looming up ahead. It was reported among the crew and passengers that the captain refused to make any further efforts to penetrate the floes, asserting that he could not afford to take the risk of endangering the two thousand souls aboard his ship.

Talked of Mutiny.

The statement of Dr. Quitzeau to the effect that passengers and crew believed they could see the lights of the unfortunate Titanic is borne out by Mr. Zurich. With two companion passengers he disobeyed the captains orders which forbade passengers' entrance to the upper decks at any time. He is fairly positive that they saw the masts of the Titanic and is not ready to accept the assertion that their ship was at least thirty miles from the wrecked liner at the time. At any rate he thinks that the Mount Temple might have reached the spot before the Titanic sank and this opinion seems to have been entertained by others on board. In fact says Mr. Zurich, it was rumored among the crew that the ship's officers ever discussed the advisability of taking temporary command from the captain and making an attempt to answer the wireless call for help that were being received. Their vessel sighted the Carpathia next morning and they were keeping in touch with wireless communications to land, were conversant with the whole story of the wreck, even hearing that Captain Smith and two officers had shot themselves. Where this information came from out of the Atlantic adds mystery to the already most peculiar circumstances surrounding the first wireless reports of the disaster.

WOMAN GIVEN FIVE YFARS FOR THROWING CARBOLIC ACID

Toronto, April 25.—After pleading guilty to-day of throwing carbolic acid in the face of Gustave Hilleken, while they walked in College street last Thursday morning, Madame Madaline La Lamonde pleaded justifiable circumstances. The woman, speaking with a decided French accent, told a pathetic story of having lived a proper life in Montreal, and, then upon the instance of Hilleken having come to Toronto and been with him in improper relations,

"I left my good home in Montreal for him," Madame La Lamonde declared dramatically. "He said he would do the proper thing by me. He promised to have a home for me but never did it."

The circumstances were that the girl showed a letter to the police which she had received from Hilleken asking that she call at his house on Wednesday night. Instead she went the next morning, called Hilleken to the street then dashed him with carbolic acid from a bottle.

"Except for his glasses he would have been blinded," the Crown offered. "His face is still burned. What did you want to do?"

"I went to see what he would say for himself," was the answer.

"She said she would blind or kill me," Helleken said in the course of his story, which was to the effect that he had avoided the woman ever since she came to this city.

At this point the magistrate was minded that the possible sentence was for life.

"She will go to the penetentiary for five years," Magistrate Denison concluded.

It took a moment for the woman to realize the term, then she fell upon her knees, burst into sobs, and cried in a shrill voice:

"Mon Dieu! I would rather be killed! I would rather be killed!"

Madame La Lamonde is a young woman, giving her age as 30. She is decidedly sharp featured, with a French appearance, and was dressed in black with flowing plumes and a boa.

MEXICO TO FLOAT BONDS FOR ARMY

Laredo, Texas, April 25.—Mexico's army is to be increased to 60,000, and maintained through a bond issue of 20,000,000 pesos ($10,000,000), according to a cousin of President Madero, who was here Wednesday. The bond issue is to be taken up by Mexican capitalists. The issue is to be financed through an additional tax of 20 per cent on spirituous liquors and other luxuries. The bonds will be payable sixty days after date of issue.

Senators have been called to Mexico city to confirm this bond issue, which is expected to augment the Mexican revenue greatly through the contemplated tax.

THE REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

DEATH INSTANTANEOUS IN VORTEX OF SINKING SHIP

"Morgue Ship" Flashes Word That Doctors Think Most of Titanic Victims Killed by Pressure

New York, April 25.—Two hundred and five bodies of the victims of the Titanic disaster have been picked up at sea by the cable steamer, Mackay-Bennett, and are being brought back to Halifax.

The captain of the Mackay-Bennett confirms the identification of George D. Widener, son of P. A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia, in a wireless despatch to-day to the White Star Line and gives the further information that the majority of the bodies will never come to the surface of the sea.

The following despatch was received to-day by the White Star Line, through the Cape Race, Nfld., wireless station:

"Drifting in dense fog since noon yesterday. Total picked up 205. We brought away all embalming fluid to be had in Halifax, enough for seventy. With a week's fine weather I think we would pretty well clean up the relics of the disaster. It is my opinion that the majority will never come to the surface."

Another wireless despatch from the Mackay-Bennett received to-day says:

"Bodies are in latitude 41.35 north longitude 48.37 west, extending forty miles east and west. Mail ships should give this a wide berth. MEDICAL OPINION IS THAT DEATH MUST HAVE BEEN INSTANTANEOUS IN ALL CASES, OWING TO PRESSURE WHEN BODIES WERE DRAWN DOWN IN VORTEX."

The White Star line to-day received a wireless list of identified dead from the Mackay-Bennett cable ship in response to a request by the company's officers, who desire to check off the names contained in the first list sent Monday. To-day's list confirms all names in the first wireless with but one exception.

SAD EYED SAM SING MISSES 16-YEAR-OLD WHITE BRIDE

Toronto, April 25.—Sad eyed Sam Sing is a lovelorn Celestial, who is searching the city for his lost sixteen year-old white bride, of one day. He does not know where she is, but the Commissioner of the Juvenile Court does, and he seems to be somewhat at a loss what to do with the girl, owing to the peculiarly interesting circumstances surrounding the case.

The couple were married in Hamilton on Good Friday, the girl having herself procured the license, swearing that she was of the full age of 18 years, and that her father and mother were dead. The Chinaman gave a sort of guarantee to the clergyman, that he only desired the girl for his wife in the course of true love, and not for any other purposes. For all the authorities know, this is quite true.

Mr Starr, the Commissioner of the Juvenile Court, when questioned by The News concerning the case, volunteered the following facts, and admitted that the Department was puzzled.

Department in a Quandary.

"The girl" he said, "was not quite 16 years old, when she came to my notice, but a short time ago. She is small, but inclined to be pretty with skin like a peach. I would like you to see her. Her father is a Russian refugee living here with his wife, who is the girl's step-mother."

ELI DUNKELMAN IS NOW ABLE TO SPEAK

Toronto, April 25.—That Eli Dunkelman will be able to tell his story of the happenings in the Hydro-Electric yards at Strachan avenue on the evening of Good Friday when he was beaten into unconsciousness and Joseph Rosenthal to death, and that it will probably be told to-morrow was the information received by the News this afternoon.

Dunkelman's recovery has been singularly rapid in view of the terrible nature of the injuries he received, and though it was first thought that his memory might be impaired, it is now stated that he will be able to supply the police with the vital details of the tragedy.

To-morrow the detectives assigned to the case will visit the hospital in company with Mr. J. Cohen, J.P. for the purpose of interviewing the injured man and obtaining his statement.

GENEVA HAS NEW KIND OF TRUST

Geneva, April 25.—A curious kind of trust has just been put into operation by house builders and contractors in Geneva. They have increased the rent of their tenants in flats and villas by 10 per cent, and the extra money from this source is to be "pooled" in order to recompense the builders for their unlet flat and houses.

Naturally the population are up in arms against this measure, but as all the big firms of builders and house agents have come to an agreement the private householders has no hope of success and must pay.

In the meantime houses and flats in large buildings are springing up like mushroooms in all parts of the town The inhabitants intend to appeal to the government against this objectionable legislation.

WILL THE EXAMINER ANSWER?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—The Examiner, in a long editorial in Wednesday's issue, appears very anxious to revive the memory of Wr. Newman, the Equal Rights' candidate at the time of the Hall-Kendry election. While in the mood for recalling past elections I might desire information and answer three questions, viz: Who arranged to bring Mr. Newman to Peterborough to be a candidate? Why was he brought here? and, Who put up the $200 deposit for his nomination? An honest answer to the above questions will be appreciated by the public. More anon.

TRY TO BOOM PETERBOROUGH.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—The spring days are rapidly slipping away, and summer is at hand. What, if anything, is being done to bring visitors, excursionists, and tourists to the city? Can we afford to let all the excursion tickets sold by G. T. R. and C. P. R. during the summer months read FROM Peterborough? Why cannot some arrangement be made to get excursions run TO Peterborough? Every excursion that brings, say, one thousand visitors to the city, means the expenditure of from $1200 to $200. Every merchant and every property owner benefits directly in this money. It would pay to have the Council send a good live man to all the towns and cities within a radius of one hundred miles from here, to work up excursions to Peterborough.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Chemong Bridge seems able to resist the high water. The water is still above the level of the approaches and old residents of the vicinity state that the water is one foot higher than it was ever known to be before. The bridge is open for traffic and teams are crossing daily. It is impossible to open the bridge to allow the accumulation of ice to pass through as the ice is crowding the structure on both sides. It will probably be the first of May before conditions get down to a normal basis.

First Boat From Rice Lake.

The steamer "Geneva," Captain W. C. Harris, arrived from Gore's Landing at Peterborough on the 23rd instant, and returned yesterday with a full load of merchandise. It is expected that the steamer "Geneva," and the steamer "Rainbow," Captain Burnett, will begin the regular trips next Saturday, the 27th instant, between Rice Lake and Peterborough. In 1911, the first boat arrived in Peterborough on the 15th April. Navigation opened about a week earlier than this year.

HUMBLE PLANTAGENETS.

Descendants of the Line Have Occupied Lowly Situations.

It is the fashion nowadays for respectable American families to find that one of their ancestral lines is of royal descent. Sometimes there are gaps in the succession, which the genealogist must stop up with ingenious hypotheses. But sometimes, too, the drop of royal blood is really there; for all the descendants of kings are not princes or even peers of the realm. A contributor to The New York Times gives these interesting examples of the humble stations in which they may occasionally be found.

Sir Bernard Burke, in his "Vicissitudes of Families," remarks: "What race in Europe surpassed in royal position, personal achievement or romantic adventure our Plantagenets, equally wise and valiant, no less renowned in the Cabinet than in the field? Yet as late as 1637 the great-grandson of Margaret Plantagenet, herself daughter and heir of George, Duke of Clarence (brother of Richard III.) was a cobbler at Newport, in Shropshire.

"Among the descendants of Edward I. was a butcher and a toll-gatherer, and among the descendants of Thos. Plantagenet, Duke of Gloucester, son of Edward III., was a Mr. Penny, sexton at St. George's, London—a strange descent from sword and sceptre to spade and pick."

On December 22, 1550, died an old man, a bricklayer, named Richard Plantagenet, who was believed to be a son of Richard III., King of England. He was a person of education, and read books in the Latin. He said, although shy and uncommunicative, that in his earliest years he boarded with a schoolmaster, and was occasionally visited by a gentleman who paid regularly for his board and education, but did not let him know his parentage.

The gentleman took him when sixteen years old on a journey to a stately house, where another person of distinguished appearance, wearing a star and the Order of the Garter, conversed kindly with him, and then dismissed him. It was not a great while after, he said that he was brought before the King in his tent in the midst of his army, and was surprised to find the same distinguished person he had met before.

The King, Richard III.—for this was on the eve of Bosworth field—embraced him, acknowledged him as his son, and said that if he survived the battle about to be fought the son should be provided for but he warned the son, in the event of his defeat and death, to conceal the relationship, for it would be sure to be fatal to him. The son said that after the battle he made his way to Leicester and saw a dead man brought in naked, laid across a charger, and learned that it was the monarch he had seen the day before at the head of a gallant army.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Sam Weller's Origin.

Dickens, when he borrowed an idea, generally improved upon it. According to the late E. L. Blanchard, the dramatic critic, he sketched Sam Weller from Sam Vale, a popular low comedian, whose quaint comparisons and droll sayings were well known "over on the Surrey side" long before "Pickwick" appeared. And Sam Vale, it seems, had acquired the habit of uttering them in private life and in theatrical taverns through having played the part of Simon Splatterdash

Without Ceremony.

More or less ceremony usually attends the laying of a corner-stone, but in one case at least it was laid quite simply.

Two men were talking of the fortune of a third when on said:

"He made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage and sold them at a profit of more than 300 per cent. That was the corner-stone of his present fortune."

"Ah," exclaimed the other man. "Then the hens laid it!"

A Practical View.

"Father," said the inquisitive boy, "what is a genius?"

"A genius, my son, is a man who gets a whole lot of advertising without being able to do any profitable business with it."

Rev. Canon Davidson seems strongly in favor of the formation of the 57th Chapter, Daughters of the Empire.

A number of Peterborough Knights of Templars were in Toronto to-day, attending the meeting of the Grand preceptory.

At the adjourned vestry meeting of St. John's church, a vote of thanks was carried unanimously to Mr. John E. Belcher, C.E., for his services to the church.

It will interest the many friends of Mr. Rufus Stevenson, an old Peterborough boy, but now in charge of the gas plant at Brazil, Ind., to learn that the plant he manages, is being doubled in size and capacity.

All Lindsay Licenses Renewed.

The hotelmen of Lindsay, like those of Peterborough, must have been on their good behaviour, as all those holding licenses last year, got renewals. The Post commenting on this fact says:

"The Inspector and Commissioners speak highly of the standard of our hotels, and of the anxiety of their proprietors to observe the law. If all Ontario possessed such model hotel men there would be less talk of local option, and abolish the bar crusades. There were eight hotels and one liquor license granted."

If Lindsay, with about half Peterborough's population has eight hotels this city seems rather poorly provided for accommodation of the travelling public, with only twelve.

Many Muskrat Skins Sold.

Muskrat skins yesterday brought an average of seventy-three cents each. The Hiawatha stage brought several bundles of pelts from Indian village on Rice Lake yesterday, and the Indians began the round of buyers to investigate the prices offering. Quotations ranged from 71 cents to 76 cents. The number of pelts brought in yesterday morning was large, considering the rather unfavorable conditions this year. There are still 400 pelts or more in the village and the season does not close until Tuesday, April 30th.

EXAMINER AND A. H. STRATTON.

When J. R. Stratton appointed his own brother to the Postmastership of Peterborough, there was much headshaking. Now that he has been relieved of that situation the Examiner is doing the head-shaking. It charges Mr. Burnham and the Government with all sorts of unfairness, because the "investigation" was not to its liking. To begin with, if Mr. Stratton had any fault to find, all he had to do was to bring the matter before the House o, Commons (a very easy matter), which was then in session and for weeks afterwards. Did he do it? He did not. But Mr. Burnham has said that if Mr. Stratton wants to bring the matter before the House, even next session, he will help him to do so. The charge that Mr. Burnham not only held the investigation, but pronounced the judgment is most unfair. The House of Commons expressly empowers its members to hold investigations and if necessary to pronounce judgment also. It puts all power and discretion in these matters in the members' hands, and has always done so. But Mr. Burnham simply forwarded the evidence in writing to the Department and the Minister pronounced the judgment, and is alone responsible therefor. Mr. Stratton, therefore, had an investigation which the Government adopted and pronounced upon. At no time did Mr. Stratton ask to be present or to be represented at that investigation and his blanket denial was taken as all the evidence he had to give. Surely it was enough. If Mr. Stratton had had pluck enough to demand an investigation" by the House of Commons he would have got his fill of it, and doubtless knew it very well.

THE BERLIN POCKET TELEPHONE.

Pocket telephones weighing only seven ounces and of which both receiver and transmitter fit into a circular nickel box two and a half inches in diameter and three-quarters of an inch thick are being supplied by the thousands in Berlin. According to Telephony, contact devices have been provided on every street in the German city at short distances, sometimes three on a block.

These devices are fastened to walls, lamp posts and doors, and in the parks to trees, hence the new system is held to be a great safeguard everywhere, but especially in the sparsely settled districts. Every policemen in Berlin is now provided with a pocket telephone, and can communicate either with his headquarters, with his station, or with a hospital or other city departments at any moment, night or day.

The lines and contacts have been carried into the environs of Berlin, and one may travel far into the woods or fields and yet be in immediate reach of the city. The pocket telephone is so delicately constructed that a very low tone of voice is heard distinctly, hence its importance should be very quickly appreciated.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

STARTED FOR PULPIT

BUT W. E. KNOWLES TOOK UP POLITICS INSTEAD.

Western Liberal Came From Ontario and Has Managed to Create a Rumpus Around Ottawa In His Short Experience of Life There—He Is One Who Will Thrive on Being In Opposition.

It is a far call from the decorum of the old-school Presbyterian manse to the hurly-burly of the modern Canadian political warfare. Lord Morley once described himself as "a cautious Whig by temperament, a Liberal by education, and a Radical by observation and experience. And temperament, in the long run, was stronger than anything else. William Erskine Knowles, son of the manse, is a cautious Conservative by upbringing, a Liberal by experience, but a Radical by temperament. Add to this fact his nationality—both his parents were Irish—and one understands what has changed the book-loving divinity student of somewhat more than a decade ago into the ardent, dauntless and militant parliamentarian of to-day.

It is curious how little the public estimation of public men accords with their real character as it is known to their intimates. Everybody thinks he knows Knowles. In reality the real Knowles is as different from the supposed Knowles as the real Laurier is from the blood-thirsty ogre of the Nationalist pre-election romance. The restless active western spirit has enveloped him, but the old eastern love of the library still remains. He retains his devotion to books, his keen perception of the beauties of expression which is almost a genius for rhythm, while deep within him burns that celestial fire of passion, without which poetry is but as the tinkling cymbal.

But, nevertheless, the young Irish-Canadian—he is still on the sunny side of forty and is a native of Alliston, Ontario—found himself "at home" in the clash and clang of parliamentary battle. He was never one of those who "like the drab men best." He responds to the purple patches—he is attracted, rather than repelled, by the men whose heroic or adventure career makes them stand out from the canvas like scarlet figures in a great painting. He has no morbid horror of violence. He was restless and ill at ease as a curbed and reined supporter of Government. He thrives on Opposition. He is a legalist, if necessary, he is ready to trample upon your parchments without at all feeling that he is offending against the Law of Things.

He is not, however, the creature of moods. His course is governed by well-defined lines. He is the doctrinaire, rather than the opportunist—even in his free trade theories. He thinks out a scheme of political philosophy, and then proceeds to apply it relentlessly, if need be, to the body politic. Whatever won for Knowles his huge majority in Moose Jaw, it was not demagogy, flattery or any other homage to the false gods of the market place.

Australia's Caves.

An interesting article on the Caves of Western Australia appears in the February Windsor Magazine. The writer says: "In Yallingup there is a series of caverns and chambers, all of which are easily traversed by the bridges and footways that have been constructed. The special feature of this cave is undoubtedly the shawl and curtain formation. One way safely conclude that they are the finest examples in the world. Here and there they hang in graceful folds; meanwhile the light scintillates upon them, and when the light is placed behind them we seen the beautiful tints which have been produced by more or less small quantities of oxide of iron. Other features are the crystal floor, at a depth of 400 feet below the surface, and at the marvellously beautiful 'Jewel Chamber.' We peer through a little crevice in the wall and see a small cavity filled with crystalline stalactites, some of which have mushroom ends upon them. The light coruscates from one crystal to another in a truly wonderful manner. A peculiar feature in one part of the cave, is a number of roots of the trees growing far above, which having penetrated the ceiling, hang down like large ropes, and in some places have reached and grown into the floor beneath."

Soft Iron Horseshoes.

In Spain very few horseshoers have forges in their shops. They make their shoes without the aid of a fire, a possibility largely due to the pure, soft, ductile iron primarily manufactured with wood and charcoal.

Sleep Spectacles.

Spectacles with a white spot in the centre of a black disk on each lens, the invention of an English doctor, are said to induce drowsiness in a wearer, curing insomnia.

Dr. George H. Locke, Toronto's librarian and an eminent educator, in an address before the Ontario Teachers' Association, denounced home work in strong terms as "arid and inhuman," and again as "the most futile educational method ever perpetrated." Interest in study was fundamental to education, he said. It was wrong to tell a child what to do, without trying to find out what it loves to do. The fault with much home work was that the child had no interest in it. Education without interest fails.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES,

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reech the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

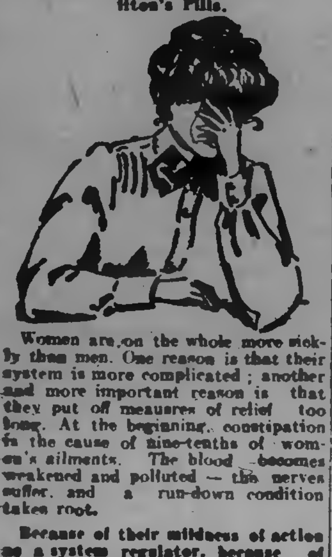
WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

Are Quickly Cured and Robust Sound Health Restored by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.



Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is that they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted — the nerves suffer, and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, because of their undoubted power to remove constipation, irregularities, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kindeys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect—pain in the back and side, shortness of breath and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented and perfect health returns

Thousands of happy women say Dr Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer; the most certain regulating medicine known. All dealers, in 25c boxes, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

THE JESUITS IN BAVARIA.

As an instance of the dogged pertinacity and undying desire to control the destiny of the world, displayed by the Roman Catholic Church, it is interesting to follow recent political affairs in Bavaria. In 1872, Germany expelled the Jesuits from the Empire They were not allowed to return, even when Bismarck was forced to recall other religious orders. They have occasionally been allowed to lecture in secular buildings in the Bavarian towns, but never since 1872 have they been associated with any religious ceremony.

The Bavarian government is accused of driving a coach and four through the imperial law, and a want of loyalty to the Empire The truth is that the radicals and socialists, who have been gaining ground in the cities o Bavaria, are greatly annoyed that the members of an order noted for its learning should be given an opportunity to eradicate the poison which has been gradually sapping the nation's life. The government, keenly alive to the danger of the persistent preaching of the doctrines of Socialism, is glad to welcome men whose training best suits them to combat them. The Russian government adopted a similar course when a revolution was expected in Poland in 1905. The Jesuits, who had been forbidden to enter Russia, were allowed to preach at Warsaw.

THE MONEY MARKET.

With the banking institutions at New York holding less than $2,000,000 in reserve above legal requirements last Saturday, continued firmness in money is to be expected, especially since activity in the stock market has not abated. There was no repetition of the 5 per cent charge for call loans that was established last week, but lenders received an average of 3½ per cent for their offerings, and time facilities developed a stronger undertone. It is generally the rule when accommodation here becomes higher than funds are attracted in volume from outside points, yet this has not been so noticeable in the present instance because the interior banks are apparently occupied with the customary spring demands for crop planting, etc. Hence, there have not been the usual heavy offerings to depress rates, so that moderately firm money is likely to last for some time to come. The regular statement of the Clearing House members last Saturday presented features of interest, and emphasized the drastic measures adopted to prevent a deficit in the surplus. It was only by calling loans on a large scale—this item being reduced fully $26,500,000—that such a contingency was avoided, since there was a further substantial loss over $8,700,000 in cash holdings. The liquidation in deposits exceeded $32,000,000 and reserves were consequently built up about $1,450,000 under the actual figuring; in the previous week the total stood below $500,000. After an early decline to the lowest point on the current movement, foreign exchange subsequently rallied and sign drafts again crossed 4.87. The depression at the start was explained by the recall of funds recently loaned abroad, but this factor was offset by a rise in English discounts, and a demand for cable remittances in connection with the settlement at London. These influences prompted the short account to cover, but toward the close the market again became heavy. Most of the $3,500,000 new South African gold went to the Bank of England at the minimum mint price, and this institution reported a gain of about $2,000,000 in bullion on Thursday together with a large contraction in loans. These changes served to raised the ratio of reserve to liabilities about 3½ per cent.

Editorial Notes

The last British census shows that Edinburgh has 46,806 bachelors, and 66,292 spinsters. Looks as if the Canadian Minister of the Interior might find a good field there for getting exactly what he needs for the West and would supply a long felt want, by many a lonely rancher, darning his own socks and frying his own pork.

The Ottawa mint will commence next month to coin five and ten dollar gold pieces. Why not stamp the present one cent coin as a penny, and a smaller one cent. To have penny postage and no corresponding coin is an uneconomic anomaly that should be rectified. The seinorage to the Government alone would amount to a tidy sum.

It seems almost incredible, as reported on seemingly undeniable authority, that a ship should have passed within sight of the Titanic's lights, and saw her distress signals, saying: "We are sinking, come at once," but still continue on her way without offering any assistance. Such heartlessness is beyond human belief, especially when one recognizes the dependency that exists between mariners. If the ship, thus passing, can be identified, her officers should have their certificates cancelled, and given long terms of imprisonment.

The press of England seems to uphold Mr. Ismay, president of the White Star line, for leaving the Titanic, instead of sharing the Captain's fate. Opinion in this country seems to be divided on that subject. Many seem to think that, as Ismay was theC aptain's superior officer he should have remained aboard. This is a subject easily settled as a few sit in front of a grate. Let the man who condemns Ismay, or any other man, on a dark night, be awakened from sleep, rush to the deck and find the ship he is aboard can only float for a few minutes. What would that man do? Would the quick rush of thoughts of wife and family, or the glory of a few lines of newspaper commendation or the possibility of a glorious and eulogistic epitaph control his actions. Or, on the other hand, to take a broader view, once the women and children were aboard the life boats, would he deliberately throw away his life? What would you have done, Mr. —?

U. S. PAYS TRIBUTE TO GALLANT PAUL JONES

Washington, April 25.—The grim-visaged statute of John Paul Jones, first great commander of the American navy, molded to show him as he stood on the deck of the Bon Homme Richard in her terrible fight with the Seraphis off the coast of England more than 120 years ago, was unveiled here Wednesday. After more than a century of apparent indifference, honor was paid to the memory of that Scotch-American who spread terror turoughout England when she was mistress of the sea, and who taught the world that the thirteen colonies had a right to a place among the nations.

Most of the dignitaries in Washington were included in the plan to honor the memory o John Paul Jones.

President Taft and General Horace Porter were the only speakers on the program. George Von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy, was given the place as presiding officer, and to Admiral Dewey was assigned the task of pulling the cords that released the flags about the heroic figure.

In addition to the presence of the Dolphin and Mayflower, a touch of military pomp was added by both the army and navy. Practically all the available military forces near Washington, more than 1,000 men had been directed to participate in the parade before the unveiling, and to pass in review before President Taft afterwards.

BRITISH ADMIRALTY BUY A BIG BASE

London, April 24.—As the result of a special committee which sat to discuss the question of the establishment of a new naval base and docyard at Rosyth, some 1184 acres of land, with nearly 300 acres of foreshore, were acquired by the Government for the purpose of establishing a naval base and dockyard in this locality.

According to the plans drawn up the works proposed were to include a basin with an area of 52½ acres, a wharf of considerable length, a double dry dock, a basin for submarines, a floating dock, and various jetties.

It is understood that the admiralty have now decided to increase the value o this base by establishing a large coaling station at Rosyth and it is reported that arrangements will made so that a considerable number of battleships can be berthed simultaneously for coaling purposes.

Certain boring operations have recently been carried out at Rosyth, and it is reported that they are in connection with the proposed coal and fuel station. Tenders will in all probability be called for by the admiralty in the near future for construction of the station referred to. In view of the great change which has recently taken place in the design of marine engines, notably in the more prevalent use of liquid fuel, provision will be made for the storage of considerable quantities of oil as well as coal.

A Wonderful Discovery

An eminent scientist, the other day gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single, thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or sore, such injury is insured against blood-poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound, or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh, healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimer Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day— over three years after his cure of a disease he had for over twenty-five years—he is still cured and has had no trace of any return of the eczema.

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

GIVES UP TITLES TO WED JEWESS

Vienna, April 25.—Prince Egon Alexander Hohenlohe-Waldenburg-Schillingsfurst has decided to renounce all his rights and to marry a Jewish lady without a title.

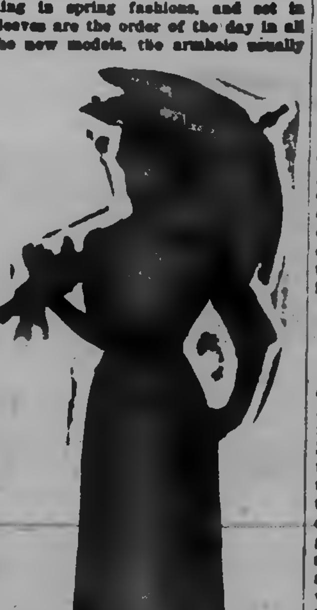
The prince, who is now 33 years of age, was a lieutenant in the Austrian navy, but has resigned his commission and lives in Prague, mixing only with the ordinary bourgeoisie, and and avoiding people of his own class. Not long ago he fell in love with the wife of a lawyer named Dr. Freund. Frau Freund is a woman of singular beauty, and as she returneh his affection, it was decided she should obtain a divorce and marry the Prince.

Splendid Rehearsal.

St. John's and All Saints' choirs held a splendid rehearsal of Stainer's Crucifixion last night. The choir will put on the production at Norwood to-night at 8.30, under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey of St. John's church.

Kimono Sleeves Are Out.

Kimono sleeves are out of the running in spring fashions, and set in sleeves are the order of the day in all the new models, the armhole usually being emphasized by special trimming. The charming gown of embroidered blue linen illustrated has the new set in sleeve.



FROCK OF EMBROIDERED BLUE LINEN.

Evening Frocks.

Authorities are divided on one important item—the length of evening frocks. In spite of the fact that most of the new models this year are made with a ten or twelve inch pointed train, one of the greatest Paris houses shows a majority of its new evening gowns with the short skirt just instep length.

Since there is this division of opinion among the great originators of fashion it would seem that each young woman may choose for herself as to whether she will cling to the youthful round length skirt or will prefer the more formal trained effects worn by the older women. Some wonderful new black jet trimmings are used this season, and white and colored spangles, bugles and brilliants are strongly in evidence. A black velvet evening frock cut on surprise has the deep V yoke of cream white maline lace. This corsage is outlined with a narrow row of brilliants and trimmed with a cut jet motif which extends down into the skirt to the lower edge.

$2,000,000 Worth of Junk.

A statement compiled at the war department in Washington shows that from sales of scrap iron and other unused material which was left on the isthmus of Panama by the Frenchmen who did work on the canal fifteen years ago the government has already realized the sum of $2,112,000. Over [illegible] tons of metals from these abandoned plants have been shipped to the United States, and there is much work yet to be done. Some of the abandoned machinery has been put in order and is being used.—Railway Age Gazette.

TO IMPROVE IRELAND

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD IS ORGANIZING THE WOMEN.

Belfast Social Worker Is Hard at Work Turning the Attention of Her Sex In the Green Isle Toward Proper Housing and Better Rural Life—Dancing Parties to Help Home Rule.

Among the newer associations aiming at the development of a new Ireland, with brighter conditions and better administration, none is more active than the "United Irishwomen." This is the women's side of the great national movement that is animating the nation to-day.

The immediate object of the "United Irishwomen" is to get together a substantial volume of opinion that will be representative of the whole of the leading women of Ireland, independent of creed or class, with a view to focussing attention on the need for better housing accommodation and the brightening of rural life.

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD.

The membership is confined to women born in Ireland or women of Irish descent, but financial support is accepted from all who desire to see a happier and more contented Ireland.

The secretary and chief organiser of the United Irishwomen is Miss Edith Crawford, a Belfast woman, who has engaged in improving the social and intellectual side of young Irish women in the northern capital. A branch of the United Irishwomen has been established in Connemara, perhaps out of regard for the sympathetic support of the Duchess of Manchester, while other branches are in process of formation throughout the other three provinces. Dancing parties are part of the means by which the organizers of the movement hope to convert young men from any inclination to oppose Home Rule.

Ambition of M. Madarasz.

The oldest member of parliament in the world, the Hungarian deputy, M. Joseph Madarasz, who is now in his ninety-ninth year, issues a denial of the statement that he is about to retire into private life. M. Madarasz says that he means to retain his mandate till he has completed his 100th year, if not longer. He carries a list of all the centenarians in the world constantly with him and marks them off as they die. He is determined to outlive them all and some day to have the distinction of being the oldest man in the world.

Order of the Garter.

It is certainly to Edward III. that England owes the existence of the Order of the Garter with its motto, "Honi soit qui mal y pense," commonly but rather freely translated as "Evil to him who evil thinks." A more literal reading would be, "Shamed be he who thinks evil of it." The order was established on April 23, 1349. This is indubitable, but it is uncertain why the garter was selected as its name and symbol and what is the special significance of the motto. Polydore Vergil, whose history appeared in 1536, nearly 200 years after the event, is the earliest authority for the familiar story that the Countess of Salisbury, one of the king's favorites, dropped her garter at a ball and that Edward picked it up and handed it back with the remark that is now proverbial. Unfortunately for this story, it is known that "Honi soit qui mal y pense" was a familiar proverb long before Edward's day.—St. Louis Republic.

Caught the Crowd.

At nightfall the junior partner's exultation of the day changed to chagrin, and he clamored noisily for the errand boy's dismissal.

"Better think it over," the senior partner advised.

"Why waste time in thinking," the junior partner retorted, "when he's got to go? Here I am, lying awake every night for a week planning an effective window decoration, which is turned into a laughing stock the first day by the stupidity of that boy, who leaves three yards of blue woolen dust rag draped around silver tankards and trays of diamonds."

"Well," said the elder jeweler, "people stopped and looked, didn't they?"

"Yes, but what at—that dust rag?" growled the junior.

"That's why I advise you to keep the boy," advised the senior mildly. "If it hadn't been for him I am afraid nobody would have looked at all."—New York Sun.

Couldn't Keep It Quiet.

Being called to his feet unexpectedly at the gathering and asked to respond informally to the toast "The Ladies," Mr. Gilfore hemmed and hawed and began:

"My friends, all that I am, all that I have in the world, I owe to a woman—my wife."

Here he was interrupted by that lady herself, who arose and said:

"I told you when you put the property in my name you'd give it away the first time you opened your mouth."

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1657, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller. "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is man who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:

South Lancaster, Gananoque, Kingsville, Blind River, Cobourg, Honey Harbour, Port Hope, Deseronto, Trenton.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS
Secretary.

SINGING DOGS

Trainer Tells of Remarkable Musical Talent in Animals.

A good many pet-owners may be startled to learn that animals can distinguish between musical notes, says an English trainer in a recent article, and that those of any degree of intelligence may be trained as musical performers. Animals that play musical instruments are by no means uncommon, and a number of seals have before now been equipped with drums, cymbals, horns, and bells, and have made music when instructed by their trainer to do so. If the melody has not been perfect, it has been sufficient to prove that the seals have at least some music in their composition.

The majority of wild animals are influenced by music and everyone knows that bears can be taught to dance on their hind legs while holding a pole to sound of music, even if that music is ground out of a common street organ by means of a handle.

Once a circus horse has been taught to do a trick to a certain tune he will do it whenever he hears that tune, and, in consequence, he is the cause of some funny incidents now and again. Once I took a horse into the street for exercise, and as we turned a corner a barrel-organ commenced to grind out its music. The tune was the very one the animal was accustomed to in the circus ring, and he concluded that I was expecting him to go through his usual performance. He broke away from me and gave a free performance in the middle of the road, and I could only call him to order by appealing to the "musician" to stop the organ.

When the ordinary dog howls at music it does not always do so because the notes get on its "nerves," but often because it is striving to imitate them as well as its untrained vocal powers will permit.

I heard a wonderful story of a singing dog the other day. A handsome collie, named Sammy, the property of a Mr. Carlson, is a tenor soloist. Every morning, when a bell on a church near his master's home rings, Sammy takes up a position close by and begins an accompaniment, which blends remarkably well with the deep notes of the bell. A musician has declared that the dog is exactly in tune with the metallic sounds that come from the church belfry. Later in the day--at noon--Sammy goes off to a lumber plant operated by his master. Here the animal accompanies the whistle, achieving perfect harmony, it is said.

It might be remembered that some years ago a singing dog created a furore amongst scientific men in Paris. This animal, which belonged to a Dr. Bennati, could sing the scale perfectly without any assistance from the human voice or a musical instrument. Moreover, it could imitate a m. tune with extraordinary accuracy after hearing it played two or three times.

The philosopher Leibnitz declared that he knew a dog which was not only a remarkably fine singer, but could actually talk. All the letters of the alphabet, with the exception of "m," "n," and "h," it could articulate quite clearly, and could give its master, when spoken to, a suitable answer.

Lions, elephants, and monkeys are fond of music. I have seen an elephant play a whole band of music at once, using its trunk and fore feet to play the various instruments. Lions will often forsake their meals to listen to a tune, and this applies also to tigers and others of the feline tribe.

Historic Homes.

The Petre family, the head of which, Lord Petre, is now staying in London with his mother and sisters, is one of the oldest in England, and shares with the Duke of Norfolk the headship of Catholic society.

The real founder of the family was Sir William Petre, one of the principal Secretaries of State in the reign of Henry VIII., but actually the Petres were people of importance two centuries before his time.

There is romance in plenty in the family. The fourth peer died in the Tower through being implicated in the Titus Oates plot, and the seventh baron was the Peer of Pope's "Rape of the Lock"; while the two homes of the family--Ingatestone and Thorndon, both close to Chelmsford--have most interesting associations.

Ingatestone is the Audley Court of "Lady Audley's Secret," and it has a curious "priest's hole," discovered nearly sixty years ago. In it was an old chest, with curious locks, that had been used for keeping the sacred vessels.

Barrie's Recipes.

Now that J. M. Barrie has told the story of "Peter Pan" in book form, writers and readers alike are once more asking what is his method of work.

The novelist himself, has partly answered this question in a note to a magazine editor who wanted the recipe. "My readers wish to know how you write," said the editor, "please tell them."

Barrie accordingly formulated his reply into a kind of prescription, which read: "Journalism--two pipes --one hour; two hours--one idea; one idea--three paragraphs; three paragraphs--one leader."

Fiction--"Eight pipes--one ounce; seven ounces--one week; two weeks--one chapter; 20 chapters--one nib; two nibs--one novel."

A Famous Warden.

Lord Brassey, who as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports is going to occupy Walmer Castle, is perhaps the best-liked and the most genial individual who has ever held that ancient office.

Lord Brassey follows many distinguished men at Walmer Castle--Lord Curzon, Lord Salisbury, Lord Dufferin, Mr. W. H. Smith, Lord Granville, and the great Duke of Wellington. It is doubtful, however, whether any of his predecessors ever possessed, as he does, a master's certificate to control a ship. Lord Brassey's home is at Battle Abbey, which is in the neighborhood of the ports.

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior tender chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

COMPRESSED DISCOMFORT DESCRIBES IT ACCURATELY.

The Turks Are Not Very Clean, But They Have Plenty of Food and Are Bubbling Over With High Spirits -- The Depot at Azizieh Grows Continually to Accommodate Arab Reinforcements.

Turkey and Italy are still at war, although Canada hears very little about it. In this contest for Tripolitan supremacy the big engagements have been few and far between. Yet there has been considerable loss of life occasioned by the numerous petty, but still deadly forays, between small desperate bands of Arabs and the Italian outposts.

Amongst the snows of a Canadian winter it is hard to conjure up vision of a camp, situated in the heart of a tropical oasis, all typical of heat and of the Orient.

The only way to really understand the Turkish-Italian contest is to know the national life as lived in Tripoli. The following is written by an expert on the subject, and gives the reader the necessary information to understand how hopeless is the task that the Italians have taken to themselves.

Jebel Zoweiah, a veritable Acropolis rising from the surrounding plains, had long been visible before our eyes beheld the goal of our long and difficult journey, the Turkish camp at Azizieh, which lies at the foot of the hill. We found ourselves in the midst of a wonderfully busy scene. In a large open space, surrounded by irregular buildings, squatted hundreds of Arabs chattering like magpies and carrying on a brisk trade with officers and men.

There appeared to be no lack of food for the Sultan's fighting men in Tripoli. On every side were sacks and baskets full of onions, potatoes, chillies, dates, lemons, eggs, rice, mutton or goats' flesh, sugar, and native bread; there was even a fair number of rather lean fowls, but no trace of coffee. Apart from tobacco, which was scarce and costly, one could see no sign of famine prices. Potatoes were selling at three pounds for 4 cents, eggs 16 cents a dozen, meat about 8 cents a pound. As far as food is concerned, the war might last for years in the interior of Tripoli.

The market is bounded on the south by one of the big "konaks" or military quarters typical of Tripoli--a central courtyard filled with Arabs and camels and very filthy. On the upper storey runs a large broad terrace loopholed for rifle fire and commanding fine views of the desert and the Ghurian Mountains. The Turkish officers experience at Azizieh the very minimum of personal comfort.

Still, one never hears a word of complaint, and everybody seemed in a good temper and excellent spirits; yet what a signal contrast exists between the conditions of active service in the British Army and those which prevail at Azizieh! Here in a small room in the tumble-down konak sleep the Commander-in-Chief, Fethi Bey, and Djevad Bey. The writing of numerous despatches, the i... of daily orders, the holding of courts-martial, the reception of Arab deputations have all to take place in this one apartment, which also serves as the mess for all the meals of the staff. If ever I saw compressed discomfort I saw it in that untidy room.

The borders of the camp have been continually enlarged since the beginning of December by the arrival of Arab contingents from east, south and west. A war drum would be heard in the distance, and gradually a column would appear over the gentle undulations of the desert. The Arabs advanced in ragged "fours," the result of the elementary drill provided by a couple of Turkish regulars who marched with them. At the head of the columns rode the sheikhs, splendidly mounted, and crescent flags, embroidered with Koran texts, waved in the air.

Amid loud shouts of welcome the new arrivals would march round the camp, and then, taking up their bivouac ground, settled down in colored masses "like garden beds," in the words of the Gospel narrative. At other times they ranged themselves in big semi-circles, with the mounted chiefs in the centre and the standard-bearers moving to and fro along the lines.

The spectacle was really magnificent in its display of elemental vigor and passion. Suddenly in resonant tones some Arab would chant the refrain, "We are warriors, we fear not death for our fatherland"; and then the massed ranks raised their rifles and swords and shouted with one accord, "We are true sons of our father"--i.e., in colloquial English, "chips of the old block." The enthusiasm was tremendous and the occasion worthy of a great artist's brush.

For some time after the turning of the Turkish left on Dec. 4 and the consequent removal of their headquarters to Azizieh, the Italians appear to have been living in a fool's paradise of security. They received a rude shock on Dec. 19, when a brigade under Col. Fava set out for a small oasis to clear out some alleged marauders.

It is difficult to estimate the actual losses of the Italians in this disastrous engagement. In no modern campaign has there ever been exhibited so barefaced a disregard for statistical accuracy as is found in Tripoli to-day.

However, in the present instance, the straggling fight and final rout took place within a short distance of where I was, and Turkish officers who had means of discovering the enemy's losses with some degree of accuracy estimated that several hundred of the Italian infantry and gunners had been killed and wounded. At any rate, 200 rifles were actually collected and brought in. Ammunition, boots, helmets, and hats stripped from the dead or found on the field of battle were exposed for sale in the market.

The Turkish casualties were eleven killed and 40 wounded.

On Shaking Hands.

The woman who offers her hand upon accepting an introduction conveys thereby a sign of cordial welcome of the acquaintance, but in formally fashionable society none but the hostesses pursue this course. The inclination of the head, a smile and a murmur of the name constitute a full recognition of an introduction in the eyes of many who regard their bearing as the expression of the best form. In a rather crowded drawing room this mode is to be commended, but at other times a woman, whose prerogative it is to take the initiative on this point, will not greatly err in almost unvaryingly offering the hand.

SLAVING IN NIGERIA.

Wiles of Traders Nullified by British Agents.

Late one afternoon a large canoe from up-river came slowly alongside and made fast. In it were a man, a woman, a lad, and a small child.

The man and the lad were working the canoe, and as they came up, the man shouted some order to the lad at the stern. He repeated it more than once, and the lad at each repetition, started some new act. It struck me as curious that the lad failed to understand what was said to him.

I recognised the language in which the man spoke as being Nupe. He told me that he was a Nupe, and that the woman was his wife, mother of the lad and of the wee girl.

As neither he nor his wife could make any sort of conversation with either of the children, though these talked freely one to the other, it was reasonably clear that the claim to be their parents was to be accepted in the Pickwickian sense only.

My own interpreter, a worthy fellow with command of seven languages, could do nothing with them. Amateur interpreters, speaking all manner of curious dialects, tried, without success, to interest the "pikhins."

Ultimately, a woman was found in the native town who was able to talk their language, and then all was plain sailing. They came from a pagan district a couple of hundred miles or more above Rama, on the river, and, owing to famine had been sold for three bags of corn to the canoeman and his wife three weeks before we met.

Later on, they were returned to their people. Ere that, they appeared in court to testify against their purchasers. These were convicted, and are at this present time engaged in building operations on his Majesty's behalf at no great distance from Rama.--World's Work.

Let's Talk About the Women.

If some girls practiced more on the gas range and less on the piano this would be a happier world.

When it comes to removing wrinkles photographers make the best beauty doctors.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future.

Fire Under Water.

Fire under water may be produced by placing some small pieces of phosphorus in a conical shaped tumbler and then covering them with the crystals of chlorate of potash. Next fill the glass with water and then add a few drops of sulphuric acid, the acid to be applied directly to the phosphorus and potash crystals by means of a long tube. If the experiment is properly carried out tongues of bright red flame can be seen flashing up through the water, the intense chemical heat produced by the action of the sulphuric acid on the potash and phosphorus being sufficient to inflame the latter, although entirely covered with water.

Cooked 1,500,000 Chops.

Of very few men can it truthfully be said, "He has cooked a million chops." Yet William, of Edwards', in Fishmonger Alley, London, who will presently celebrate the jubilee of his professional career, is believed to have cooked a million and a half. About ten thousand of these he has eaten himself.

The calculation was made one day on the table cloth by a distinguished statistician, who was so shocked by the figures that he dared not go on to estimate the tons of steaks, the mountains of kidneys, and the miles of sausages. "I wonder, William," he said, "that you are not ashamed to look a flock of sheep in the face."

"I have not eaten a steak for twenty-five years," he said, "but I have eaten a chop every day. Some people say you cannot live on one thing, but I still manage to keep alive. Sixty-six, that is my age."

Natural Cure for Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

It Has Superseded the Old-fashioned Stomach-dosing Remedies, and Invariably Cures Quickly

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is, that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone, and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wasson
Blair P.O., Queen's Co., N.B.

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right; no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial, and chest colds. Get the large size, lasts months, is sure to cure you, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample or trial size, 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

FINANCIAL MAN QUITS

CHARLES MAGEE WILL END HIS BUSINESS CAREER SOON.

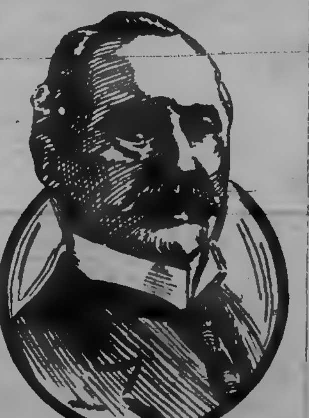
President of the Union Trust Co., at the Age of Seventy, Is Still Active and Attributes His Health to His Annual Trips Across the Atlantic—Has Kept Them Up For Forty Years—A Busy Life.

In perusing the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Union Trust Co., Limited, held in Toronto recently, we notice it was stated that the president of the company, Mr. Charles Magee, in acknowledging his re-election to the office of president, announced his probable retirement from the position before the end of the current year.

Mr. Magee's name has been so intimately connected with the financial, commercial and political affairs of Canada for so great a time that it is a far cry since the public first heard of him. Anyone who had business to do with the Bank of Ottawa for nearly a quarter of a century previous to 1908 got to believe that the name of the bank and that of Charles Magee were almost synonymous.

Mr. Magee is now about seventy years of age, but is still as young and active as many men under sixty and he attributes his good health in a great measure to his yearly trips across the Atlantic, which he has been taking for the last forty years.

Away back in 1863, there was organised in the city of Ottawa a firm which entered into the importing dry goods business under the name of Magee and Russell. Mr. Magee was the organizer of the business and the senior member of the firm. It continued a very successful career until 1875. In 1873 Mr. Magee became one of the organisers of the Bank of Ottawa and retired from mercantile business in 1875, having been made vice-president of the bank two years previously, and on the death of the president, the late Mr. James Maclaren, of Buckingham, he was elected president, which position he held until 1901, when he retired to give more attention to his own private affairs.



MR. CHARLES MAGEE.

There is probably no man in the city of Ottawa who has been more public-spirited or who has done more for the improvement of the city than Mr. Magee. He owned the Russell House away back in the early eighties and re-built all the Sparks and Canal street fronts, and subsequently, after converting the property into a joint stock company, built the Russell Theatre.

The choicest residential district of that city in a great measures owes its present condition to the good judgment of Mr. Magee and the late Mr. James Macleren, who, together with the late Mr. Robert Blackburn, in 1876, purchased all the vacant lands in the city of Ottawa south of the present Laurier avenue and from the Rideau river on the east to Bronson avenue on the west. Mr. Magee undertook the supervision and laying out and sale of this tract of land, and by reason of his foresight it has now become the choicest residential district of the capital.

The city of Ottawa and county of Carleton is indebted to Mr. Magee as one of the organizers of the Central Canada Exhibition Company. He was their first president, which position he retained for a number of years, in fact, until the exhibition became firmly established as one of the institutions of the province.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Subduer of Delhi.

One of the few survivors of the siege of Delhi, in the person of Gen. Sir Alexander Taylor, has passed away in England, at the age of eighty-seven.

He went to India in 1844 as a subaltern in the Bengal Engineers, took part in the two Sikh wars, and was the moving force of the engineering operations against Delhi during the Mutiny of 1857.

Night after night, while the batteries were building before Delhi, Taylor, who was second in command of the Engineers under Baird, studied the ground and perfected the final plans for the assault. He virtually directed the whole of the operations in the field, and Nicholson, hearing on his deathbed that the credit was being bestowed elsewhere, is said to have exclaimed, "If I get through this I shall let the world know it was Alex. Taylor who took Delhi."

Lord Lawrence, who knew more than anyone of the inner history of the camp, wrote in 1858 to Lord Dalhousie: "To Nicholson, Alex Taylor of the Engineers, and Neville Chamberlain the real merit of our success is due."

During the street fighting which followed the assault, Taylor showed extraordinary resource, and when our troops began to display signs of demoralization it was he who suggested that the Engineers should break internal passages from house to house. The plan succeeded, and two days later Delhi was in the hands of the British.

An example of ingenious craftsmanship in watchmaking is shown in the accompanying illustrations of a watch contained in a pearl, the illustrations showing about its actual size. It took fifteen months of the time of the best workmen employed by a French jewelry firm to complete it. The pearl in its native state weighed forty-five grains and measured 0.57 of an inch in diameter. The movement, which is 0.45 of an inch in diameter, is of special construction, of course, and represents the most patient and minute care. The piercing of the pearl, for instance, was exceptionally difficult. The watch is valued at $6,000.—Popular Mechanics.

The Game of Cherry.

If you intend having a few of your friends at your house on the afternoon of Washington's birthday send out your invitations on cardboard cut in the shape of a little hatchet. In one corner paint a little cherry tree and then write your invitation. Some fun can be had if, after your guests arrive, you play the game of "cherry." Buy a candy basket and fill it with candy cherries. Suspend the basket from the ceiling by a long string and let your guests, with hands tied behind them, try to catch the swinging basket with their mouths. The successful one gets the basket of cherries as a prize. Another form of this game is to hang the individual cherries from strings and allow the children to try to catch them in their mouths. Still another "cherry" game is to place a box on a chair at each end of the room and give each child a half dozen candy cherries, which he, at a distance, tries to throw in the basket.

It was after morning school, and the teacher was in such a good temper that little Tommy sidled up to him to discuss a decidedly personal matter.

"Please, teacher," the small boy began, "I fancy I shall be leaving this school soon."

The tutor looked interested and hazarded a query as to the reason for this parting of the ways.

"Well, sir," continued the pupil, "mother burnt the door of the coalhouse and the lid of the copper, and father's started chopping down the stairs."

"Yes, my boy," said the schoolmaster kindly. "But what makes you imagine you'll be leaving the district?"

"Well, you see, teacher," continued the boy, "when we've burnt the stairs we always move!"—Answers.

Saved by a Snake.

Count Zinzendorf, the founder of the Moravians, visited North America in 1742 and for a short time labored as a missionary among the Shawnee Indians. When he first went to them they received him with coldness, and a plot was formed to assassinate him. The count was sitting one evening in his wigwam upon a bundle of dry weeds which he had gathered for his bed. While he was writing by the light of a small fire a rattlesnake, warmed into activity, crawled over one of his legs. Just then the murderous savages lifted the blanket that served for a door and looked in. They stood motionless for some minutes watching the aged man and then, gliding from the scene, fled into the forest. From that night the missionary found them friends and listeners.

An Almanac Started In 1686.

The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanach National," which has been issued by the French Government since 1686. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career. Originally the "Almanach Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1805 and reverted to its original name nine years later. Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort, the "Almanach National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages, as compared with 1,500 pages now.—London Chronicle.

Lick Observatory Astronomer Doubts If any of the Planets Could Sustain Intelligent Life.

Under the heading "Life in Other Worlds" Prof. Robert Grant Aitken of the Lick Observatory discusses in the current Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada the probability as to the habitation of the planets. He summarizes all of the latest researches.

His conclusions are as follows:

The Moon—It may be that low forms of vegetable life are sustained by water vapor exuding through crevices from the moon's interior, but even if this proves true the moon must still be regarded as practically a dead world.

Jupiter, the largest of the planets—It is a semi-sun, probably gaseous throughout, with matter distributed as on the sun. Jupiter has no well defined surface or crust. The conditions there are chaotic. Obviously, in such a world there can be no question of life.

Saturn, the outermost planet known to the ancients—It resembles Jupiter, but is probably not so far advanced and is even less fitted than its larger neighbor to be the abode of life.

Uranus and Neptune—because of their great distance they are only minute disks in the largest telescopes. They present vague markings and they are so far from the sun that its heat and light can hardly be effective in protecting life upon these two planets even should life in any way originate there.

Satellites of Jupiter and Saturn—It is possible some of them may have water and an atmosphere dense enough for life. This is mere conjectural and not probable.

Mercury—It apparently always keeps the same face toward the sun. It gets seven times as much heat as the earth and neither its eternal nor its everlasting roasting day is suitable for any form of life. It seems to have no atmosphere.

Venus—In size, mass, density and surface gravity it greatly resembles the earth. It has a dense, cloud-filled atmosphere. The whole question as to life on Venus turns on the problem as to the length of Venus's day. If its day equals its year that planet must be utterly desolate. The question is still an open one, though the evidence favors the belief that the day and the year on Venus are of equal length.

Mars—There undoubtedly are strong markings on Mars, but astronomers are not agreed as to whether the markings are natural or artificial, canals or mere earthquake cracks. The Martian atmosphere is rare and there are no permanent bodies of water on the planet. There is not enough water on the whole of Mars to fill one of the Great Lakes on the earth. The so-called polar ice caps and "frost" on Mars may be deposits of carbon-dioxide. The best that can be said is that while the temperature on Mars is very low, there may be on that planet, to a limited extent, the conditions essential to life—probably only vegetable and animal life, but no beings of intelligence.

A Small Fire on Water Street.

Early Wednesday morning a fire broke out in the home of Mr. Wm. Greene, 326 Water street. The occupants on either side of the building, which is a terrace, had noticed about ten o'clock Tuesday night an unusual quantity of smoke was coming from the house, but were unable to locate the cause. During the morning, however, the flames burst out in the cellar of the house. The smoke was seen coming out of the cellar grating by the policeman on duty, who rang in the alarm. The brigade responded promptly, and the chemical did the work. No damage.

Judging by the Blackbirds.

An old citizen remarked to The Times yesterday that the blackbirds this spring, are fewer than usual and do not seem to make the raucous noise that generally characterizes their nest building. He claims that this means a late summer and probably an unprofitable one as far as agriculture is concerned.

The matter has been in litigation for some days, and the judge, after hearing the contentions of the two parties, advised them to come to some agreement, with the above result.

Local Man's Wedding Announcement.

Referring to the well known Park street grocer, of this city, the Youngstown, O., Vindicator, of April 8th says: "Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Obernauf, Delason Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Emma, to Thomas William Dawson, Peterborough, Canada. The wedding will be an event of the early summer." Mr. Obernauf is one of Youngstown's best known citizens, and a very wealthy man.

Latest Labor Notes.

Mr. James Simpson, of Toronto, prominent in Labour Union affairs, will deliver an address to the Trades and Labour Council in this city on May 9th.

The plans in regard to the convention to be held here on May 24 are materializing. A large number of delegates are expected from Western Ontario, and the day promises to be a big one for the Peterborough Labor Council.

Church Football League.

A meeting of the Peterborough Church Football League will be held this evening at the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock prompt. All delegates are asked to be present. Any clubs wishing to join the league will be welcomed, and all information will be cheerfully given by the Secretary and others. The Church League extends a cordial invitation to clubs to join before the season's schedule is made up. Percival G. S. Webb, Sec'y-treas., 252 Charlotte-st.

Pretty Wedding at St. Paul's Manse.

St. Paul's Manse was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, when Miss Mary Jane Ashford became the charming bride of Mr. Harry Copson. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Robert Pogue. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook, of East City, where a dainty dejeuner was participated in and a pleasant evening spent in music and convivality. Mr. and Mrs. Copson will reside in the city.

Local Musicians to Toronto.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon, Miss Choate, Miss Dean, the Misses Logan, Miss Wilson and Mr. Wilson, left for Toronto to represent the Peterborough Conservatory of Music at the London Symphony Concert, held in Massey Hall. When Mr. Gliddon was in Leipsig he had the privilege of attending the rehearsals of the orchestra of the Gawaundhaus, the premier orchestra in Germany. The rehearsals were conducted by Prof. Nikisch, leader in Toronto, and for three years Mr. Gliddon enjoyed this weekly treat.

Knights of Columbus Smoker.

A pleasing function was the smoker given Peterborough Council, Knights of Columbus, on Tuesday night. The winners of the progressive euchre prizes were Mr. George Giroux, who won the first prize, and Mr. John Clancy, one of the younger members, secured second. Speeches were delivered by the Grand Knight, Dr. McNulty, Mr. Daniel O'Connell, Mr. V. J. McElderry and Mr. Jas. J. Lena. Mr. George Lynch gave several recitations, and the musical section of the programme was provided by Mr. George Daly and Mr. Eddie Hanrahan.

Small Blaze at Shovel Factory.

During the wee sma' hours of the morning a fire broke out in the Lundy Tool & Shovel Co. It seems that some oil had reached one of the annealing machines and caught fire. The watchman, after telephoning the fire hall, set to work with the Companys hose and a watchman from a neighbouring factory came to his assistance. On the arrival of the brigade the flames were almost subdued, and gave little subsequent trouble. The floor under the above mentioned machine was somewhat charred, but very little damage will result.

Local Merchant and His Auto.

A well-known George street merchant is the proud possessor of a brand new automobile. Last Sunday he undertook to be the "Captain, crew, and the boatswain tight" or, to be accurate, the chauffeur, of his new machine. He started to wind up the crank handle. It stuck fast. More muscle was called into use. A vigorous twist and the handle went as easily around as do the hands of a dollar watch. The merchant, not expecting that the handle would turn so easily, lost his footing as he turned and struck one of the headlights with his own forehead. He now carries a black and blue bump on his head and also a fixed determination to handle the crank-handle more carefully.

Re-forestration for This Country.

The Dominion Government has awakened to a long-needed public want. That is, reforestration of waste lands. Forestry is a comparatively new science. Municipal forestry, in so far as Canada is concerned is newer still. It was only a year ago that the Ontario Government passed an Act which empowered Municipalities to engage in forestry. As a result the county of Hastings has already taken the steps to acquire waste lands for the purpose of reforesting them. During the coming summer the Commission of Conservation will supervise a survey of the county of Haliburton, and the northern portion of the County of Peterborough in Ontario. This survey is to furnish a detailed description of economic and natural resources and conditions of the watershed in Peterborough and Haliburton counties feeding the Trent canal waters, and to serve as a basis for a plan of management.

DO BIRDS THINK?

Curious Story From London Regarding a Greenfinch.

London, April 24.—Are birds able to think and remember where they have been well cared for? A gentleman living in Lieth is in the habit of feeding the birds which frequent his garden during the winter months. Sometime in January, 1911, he enticed a greenfinch to enter a cage and so captured it. It was wearing a ring on its leg marked "Aberdeen University, 7186." In the following March he set it at liberty. He was much surprised when on January 13, 1912, the bird returned. On his cage being presented to him, the bird hopped contentedly into it and settled down for the severe season. An examination of the ring left no doubt as to the identity of the bird.

No Autograph Fiends.

Cape St. Martin, April 25.—A well known Hungarian autograph fiend, who persuaded most of the royalties of Europe to part with their signatures and some stupid sentiment for his benefit, had the audacity to call at the villa of the Empress Eugenie. He begged an audience to persuade Her Majesty to add her signature to the others.

The ex-Empress, now 86 years old, listened to the prayer, then, without betraying any sort of emotion, said: "Tell him I am dead," which certainly shows that Eugenie is not superstitious.

Pres. Taft's Design Was To Make Canada An Adjunct Of The United States

RECIPROCITY'S HISTORY NOW KNOWN IN CANADA

In Confidential Letter To Roosevelt He Said That Canada's Business Would Go to New York---Scores Roosevelt for "Change Of Front" now that the American Campaign is On.

President Taft at Boston devotes a long attack to Expresident Roosevelt, making known correspondence that passed between them on Reciprocity.

Boston, Mass., April 26.—At a campaign meeting here last night in which he devoted his whole speech to an attack on Col. Roosevelt, President Taft made public correspondence between himself and the ex-President on the subject of the reciprocity negotiations which has created a sensation among the Canadians in this city.

He was charging Roosevelt with a change of front. The Rough Rider candidate who is pressing him for the Republican nomination, was, he said, appealing to the farmers and condemning the reciprocity agreement This, in the face of the fact that Roosevelt, in reply to a confidential letter of the President before the agreement was made, has approved thoroughly of the terms, declaring that they were admirable "from every standpoint."

Taft also submitted his own letter to Roosevelt, in which he declared that the agreement would make Canada an "adjunct of the United States;" with their bank credits and everything else.

Change of Front on Roosevelt's Part

"Mr. Roosevelt," said Taft, "now seeks to take advantage of the supposed feeling among the farmers of the country against the reciprocity agreement with Canada which I made and induced Congress to adopt, but which Canada finally rejected. I would not object to this as legitimate argument in a political controversy against me and in his favor if the fact were not that I consulted him ten days before I made the agreement, explained to him in full its probable terms, stated the arguments pro and con, especially the effect of it on agricultural products, and asked him to confer with his colleagues of the Outlook as to its wisdom and public benefit and let me know his and their judgment. He replied approving the agreement in the most enthusiastic terms and compli-

CANADA NOW KNOWS WHAT TAFT MEANS

The following is an extract from a letter written ten days before Taft signed the agreement : " It (reciprocity with Canada) might at first have a tendency to reduce the cost of food products somewhat. . . . Meantime the amount of Canadian products we would take would produce a current of business between Western Canada and the United States that WOULD MAKE CANADA ONLY AN ADJUNCT OF THE UNITED STATES. It would transfer all their important business TO CHICAGO AND NEW YORK WITH THEIR BANK CREDITS AND EVERYTHING ELSE, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is an argument against reciprocity made in Canada, and I think IT IS A GOOD ONE."—Made public by President Taft at Boston last night.

CITY COUNCIL WILL HEAD TITANIC RELIEF FUND WITH $100

The special committee of Aldermen appointed to enquire into conditions in regard to relief funds for those bereaved through the Titanic disaster, met last night. There were present Mayor Bradburn, Chairman Ald. Gordon, Aldermen Morgan, Anderson Brown, Johnston and Graham.

In regard to the proposition that the Council create a fund in relief of the relatives of those who lost their lives with the sinking of the "Titanic," Alderman Gordon reported that at present over a million dollars had already been subscribed. Without taking into consideration the passenger loss of life, there are some thousand families of the drowned crew of the ill-fated steamer to be provided for. Ald. Gordon did not know exactly what the steamship companies liability would be, nor how the compensation act works in Great Britain. Under the Ontario Compensation Act, each family would be entitled to $1500, which in the case of the bereaved families of the 1000 lost crew alone would amount to $1,500,000.

Ald. Anderson offered that in consideration of the wide-spread interest in this disaster an immense amount of relief money would be subscribed, hence it would not be necessary for the Corporation to head Peterborough's list with an abnormally large amount.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, it was decided to recommend that the Council establish a relief fund for those dependent upon the unfortunates who lost their lives in the "Titanic" disaster, and that contribution lists be left in such newspaper offices and each bank in the city. The Mayor, City Trustees and Ald. Gordon to be trustees of the fund created. And that the Corporation head this fund with $100—Carried unanimously.

TITANIC RELIEF FUND

London, April 26.—The extraordinary flow of money to the Titanic relief fund is proof of the wide-felt sympathy. The total fund, including that in New York, is approaching $1,000,000. Perhaps the most noteworthy is the Daily Mail Fund, which has been contributed exclusively by women, and already amounts to $120,000. The Lord Mayor's fund reached $545,000, and the Daily Telegraph's $87,775.

The fund at Southampton amounts to $72,000, and that at Liverpool to $64,500. A large number of special performances have been arranged at various music halls and theatres for the benefit of the sufferers.

Subscriptions to the Titanic fund received yesterday were : The Allan Line, £500; Bank of Montreal, 500 guineas; Massey-Harris, Toronto, £300.

TEN THOUSAND A DAY FOR WEEKS

Washington, April 26.—In forwarding a special additional estimate of $207,121 required by the War Department for the subsistence of destitute flood sufferers along the Mississippi, Secretary of War Stimson today stated that there are 83,000 persons who must be rendered assistance To do this, he said, will require an expenditure of $10,000 a day, and the destitute will have to be cared for from three to six weeks. A telegram from Major Normoyle, quartermaster at Memphis, says the number of destitute is increasing daily.

SAFE IS BLOWN $800 TAKEN

Two Explosions Heard—Police Think An Electric Drill Was Used.

Boston, April 26. HE safe of D. and F. Luciano, bankers at 133 North street was dynamited last night by cracksmen, and late yesterday afternoon, getting money and jewelry, all valued at about $800. The police think an electric drill was used. This instrument never used in Boston before, is worked by power got from an electric light wire. This drill was taken away by the burglars who left six drill points and a heavy stonecutter's hammer. The drill points and the hammer were stolen from an adjoining building.

The opened safe was found by John Lusiano, junior member of the firm, yesterday afternoon. He notified the police and Frank Lusiano. When the latter appeared at the store and learned of the loss he collapsed and Dr. Dunn was sent for. It was stated that the loss was $200 worth of jewelry and $600 in cash.

Heard a Report.

The job was probably started very shortly after midnight Saturday. Just before 1 o'clock Sunday morning Sergt. Murphy and Patrolman Flavin o. Station I were standing at Cross and North Streets, near, when they heard what sounded like a shot from a revolver. They had searched through several buildings when an alarm was sounded for a fire on Endicott street.

They went to the fire and came back an hour later. At that time they could find no one who had heard the report.

It is supposed there were two explosions. The dial of the safe was evidently knocked off, and the drill started working at a point just below where the combination lock had been. This door was then blown open and after a similar process on the inside door there was another explosion and three strong-boxes were in the men's possession. They were forced open and the content's taken

MR. DIXON WAS NOT DROWNED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—I have seen in the local paper and also in a Bobcaygeon paper, which referred to the big flood here some forty years ago, that the late Mr. Sam Dixon was "drowned" that year. I think that is a mistake. My memory is that Mr. Dixon fell in the river and sustained such injuries that he died a few few days later at his own home.

ORIGIN OF MARATHON.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—One often sees in the sporting news accounts of various races which are often referred to as "Marathon." Could you kindly let me know the meaning and source of the word Marathon: Thanking you in advance,

—Subscriber.

Reply.—The word Marathon comes originally from a plain in Attica, in the North East part of Greece. Here in the year 492 B.C., the Athenians under Miltiades, defeated the overwhelming army of the invading Persians. The connection of the name with racing, we understand, was due to the great speed at which a young Greek ran to give notice of the advancing Persian army, which saved Athens.

CONNAUGHT AND KERR JOIN MOVEMENT FOR GOOD ROADS

Patron and President of the Canadian Highway Association

His Royal Highness Interested in Good Roads

They Are a Social and Economic Necessity

Moved by the same high public spirit and the single purpose of bringing the roads of Canada up to a standard that will be a credit to the nation, and an example to the world at large, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, and W. J. Kerr, hold the two highest positions in the gift of the Canadian Highway Association, that of Patron and President respectively.

The Canadian Highway will be an accomplished fact within the next few years, and the outside world will then know that in this broad Dominion there is a road more than 3,000 miles long, over which an automobile can travel from coast to coast in safety and with comfort. The country that offers the wealthy tourist the splendid roads that Canada will have, the magnificent scenery, and exceptional opportunities of investment, will reap a large harvest from its visitors.

This Association was formed in New Westminster, B.C., last November, and it was at this meeting that Mr. Kerr, a wealthy resident of the coast and the principal mover in the convention that resulted in the formation of the Association, was elected President. Some time later the Governor-General of Canada, whose activities in the cause of good roads is well known to those interested in this work, was approached and requested to permit his name to be used as that of Patron, the following resolution being forwarded to him after a meeting of the executive of the Association :—

Moved by President W. J. Kerr, seconded by vice-president A. E. Todd,

"His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, having in many ways shown his interest in good roads, and more particularly by his speech from the

DO OUTSIDERS REAP UNFAIR ADVANTAGE IN CONNECTING WITH CITY'S WATER MAINS?

THIS QUESTION RAISED BY CITY ALDERMEN LAST NIGHT.

Ald. Brown Defends the Principle on the Ground That Water Commissioners are Justified in Accepting All the Revenue Attainable. The Old Rates are Charged Users Outside the Corporation—Ald. Buller Insists Upon Board of Works having Exclusive Use of Their Horse in Fire Station. Cannot get Him When Wanted—Ald. Buller Has Waited Four Years, He Says, for a light, and Now Sees a Chance to Get It.

The City's Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, Chairman Ald. Johnston, presiding.

A petition for a hydrant on Dufferin street, East City, was to hand.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That a hydrant be placed on Dufferin street in accordance with the chairman's judgment as to position.—Carried.

A petition for two hydrants on Bonacord street was to hand.

Two hydrants are asked for as the Water Commissioners refuse to undertake construction work unless a 10 per cent. revenue therefrom is assured. And one hydrant would not assure this amount.

Discussion on the matter raised the question of outside residents adjacent to the city's boundaries taking advantage of the city's mains to secure water service.

Majority of the committee were of the opinion that such a procedure is manifestly unfair to the city, the out side people thus served with water paying their taxes into another municipality. Byersville residents were singled out as taking advantage of the close proximity of our water mains.

Ald. Brown took exception to this. He thought the commissioners warranted in availing themselves of any revenue in sight, and commended them as capable business men in working upon a 10 per cent revenue. He wished the city could work on such a basis.

The Mayor—"The Corporation could, were it now bound down by conditions not affecting the Water Commissioners."

Ald. Brown here pointed out that Byersville ratepayers paid more for their water than Peterborough citizens. The former did the digging themselves and paid for laying the

BODIES OF A DOZEN MEN HUDDLED ON AN ICEBERG

New York, April 26.—Officers of the North German Lloyd liner Prinzess Irene which docked just before midnight, told to-day of a wireless message which they intercepted on Wednesday in which a ship—the name not leaned—reported that in passing fifty miles from the scene of the Titanic disaster she had sighted an iceberg on which were the bodies of more than a dozen men. All wore life belts and the bodies were huddled in groups at the base of the berg. It was the opinion of officers of the ship that the men had climbed on the mass of ice and had frozen to death as they were swept southward. No attempt was made to take off the bodies.

THE KAISER NOT PLEASED

Said That the Titanic Disaster Was Only Natural

New York, April 27.—The American this morning publishes the following despatch from its Berlin correspondent :—

According to a report current in court circles, Emperor William made the following comment on the Titanic disaster at a military luncheon of officers at which he was present :

"This is another monumental example of British incompetency. The British nation is living on its past instead of keeping pace with the general efficiency of the twentieth century.

"This British blunder goes along with the antiquated methods of the nation, and the result was to be expected sooner or later.

"There is no doubt about the bravery of the British crew and men on the ship. But British bulldog pluck is a poor compensation for the loss caused by British stupidity."

How Build Today To Replace the Worn-out Parts of Yesterday?

Each day THINKERS use up cells of the Brain.

Each day active workers destroy cells in the nerve centres.

If the food lacks the things Nature demands for rebuilding, Nervous Prostration and Brain-fag result.

Suppose a bricklayer tried to build a wall and the boss furnished brick, sand and water, but left out the lime ?

Suppose you eat plenty of albumin and take sufficient water, but neglect food which contains Phosphate of Potash ?

Nature cannot rebuild gray matter in nerve centres and brain without Phosphate of Potash which binds together albumin and water to make it.

Phosphate of Potash, as grown in the grains by Nature, is more than half the MINERAL SALTS in Grape-Nuts.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Knights of Columbus Smoker.

A pleasing function was the smoker given Peterborough Council, Knights of Columbus, on Tuesday night. The winners of the progressive euchre prizes were Mr. George Giroux, who won the first prize, and Mr. John Clancy, one of the younger members, secured second. Speeches were delivered by the Grand Knight, Dr. McNulty, Mr. Daniel O'Connell, Mr. V. J. McElderry and Mr. Jas. J. Doas. Mr. George Lynch gave several recitations, and the musical section of the programme was provided by Mr. George Daly and Mr. Eddie Hanrahan.

Mr. Hayes Wins Out.

Norwood Register: We understand a settlement has been reached between Mr. L. E. Kitloran and the owner of the corner hotel, Mr. L. M Hayes, of Peterborough, whereby Mr Killoran has consented to give up possession on 1st of May. The matter has been in litigation for some days, and the judge, after hearing the contentions of the two parties, advised them to come to some agreement, with the above result.

STRUGGLES OF GENIUS.

Professor Who Addressed Envelopes at 60 Cent Per Thousand.

In the annals of literature are to be found many poignant stories of struggles for existence on the part of men whose writings ultimately made their names household words, but it is doubtful if any author had a more uphill fight than the late Prof. John Churton Collins, who was professor of Literature in Birmingham University in 1908, when he met with a tragic death in a ditch on a farm at Lowestoft. The professor had been taking sedatives to ease pain, and was supposed to have slipped into the water when unconscious.

A striking description of the professor's hard life is contained in the story of his career, written by his son, L. C. Collins, and published by John Lane.

When he was leaving Oxford, the professor wandered into St. Giles' Church and went up to the Bible lying on the lectern, opened it, and put his finger at random on a passage on the page. It read: "Arise, go into the city and it shall be told thee what thou must do." Shortly afterwards he came penniless to London, where, for a time he addressed envelopes at 60 cents per thousand.

When he obtained a recognized position as journalist, lecturer and professor, he was always haunted with the thought of his health or his work failing. He toiled for fourteen hours a day, and seemed never able to take a rest.

Depression was his bane; all his life he suffered from this mysterious malady, which, it is said, was purely physical, and was no doubt due to the excessive mental strain. His tragic end may have been due indirectly to the wearing out of his nervous force.

The story of his life is full of interesting gossip. His son tells how Princess May (the present Queen), listened to the professor's lectures at Richmond, and how the late Duchess of Teck was much taken by a well-known couplet from Spenser, he quoted:

Sleep after toyle, port after stormie seas,
Ease after warre, death after life does greatly please.

The Queen, in a letter, says she "well remembers the incident of the quotation."

An Army Sculptor.

Captain Adrian Jones, the well-known sculptor, whose great bronze quadriga, weighing about [illegible] tons, is shortly to surmount the Wellington Arch at the top of Constitution Hill, in London, was for many years in the army as a veterinary surgeon.

Captain Jones has given years of work to this chariot group, which London will owe to the munificence of Lord Michelham. He is probably the only living sculptor who understands the horse from tail-tip to nostrils. Of his capacity as a sculptor, the late General Sir Redvers Buller—whose famous Exeter statue was the work of Captain Jones—had the highest opinion. When asked by the Devonians if he could suggest any sculptor to whom his equestrian statue should be entrusted he at once replied emphatically, "Yes, Adrian Jones, for he is only sculptor I know of who understands a horse, and is likely to model one properly."

Captain Jones served many years in the army before he had sufficient confidence in himself to discard the sabre for the clay. Throughout his career in the service he practiced assiduously at both painting and sculpture, and still wore spurs when, in 1883, he made a modified sensation at the Royal Academy with his first exhibit.

In Wildest India.

Lord Hindlip, who is one of Britain's richest peers, has compressed a good deal of adventure into the thirty-four years which he completed recently. He has traveled pretty nearly all over the world, made some notable sporting tours in Abyssinia and the White Nile country, has done exploration work in Central Africa, and has been after big game in some of the wildest jungles of India.

While Lord Brassey was Governor of Victoria, Australia, he acted as his aide-de-camp and took part in the South African war, during which he was present at the relief of Mafeking. Lady Hindlip was Miss Agatha Thynne, a kinswoman of Lord Bath, and since her marriage she has inherited a very large fortune from the late Mr. Charles Ellis. Lady Hindlip has won much praise as an amateur actress, and, like her husband, she is devoted to big game hunting. She is said to be the only lady in society who has shot a giraffe.—Ideas.

Tees Transporter Bridge.

Prince Arthur of Connaught opened the great transporter bridge which has been constructed by the Middlesbrough County Borough to facilitate traffic across the Tees between the city and the adjoining county of Durham.

The total length of the bridge and approach span is [illegible] feet, the span across the water between the centre of the towers being 570 feet, while the extreme height of the bridge from high water to the top of the main posts of the cantilever girders is 225 feet. The traveling car will complete the journey from shore to shore under two minutes and can accommodate between 500 and 600 passengers and six vehicles. It is the third transporter bridge in Great Britain.

Murdering Shakespeare.

What, we wonder, would happen to the London manager nowadays who should dare to put on the stage such a version of a Shakespearean tragedy as was played in Ireland over a hundred years ago? Mrs. Earle in her book, "Memoirs and Memories," gives a Dublin playbill of 1793 which is well worth quoting.

The play was "the tragedy of 'Hamlet,' originally written and composed by the celebrated Dan Hayes of Limerick and inserted in Shakespeare's works." The title role is taken by a gentleman "who between the acts will perform several solos on the patent bagpipe which performs two tunes at the same time."

Character in Backs.

If your back is straight and upright you are correspondingly straight in your conduct. You will hold your head up, for you are not afraid to look the whole world in the face.

Even when you're sitting you keep your back straight. There is an air of real strength about you—both physical and mental. In short, you have plenty of backbone. You are determined, energetic and to be relied upon.

If your back is stooping and rounded you are a creature as weak as you look you are prone to lolling about and too lazy or too feeble to take a front rank in the battle of life. The tramp is an excellent example.

If you are a criminal your back is stooped or round, but the scholarly stoop of the bookworm must not be confounded with the foregoing.

If you are mean and covetous your back is narrow and rounded and your shoulders are high. You are sly—very sly. You generally have the appearance of drawing yourself up into as small a compass as possible. You are always yourself, so to speak, and people should give you the cold shoulder.

Are you too straight backed—that is, do you hold your head so high that there is a preposterous fall in the small of your back? Then you are so puffed up with self esteem that you carry your chest out so far it's absurd.

HAVELOCK MAN DEAD.

GERMANY COVETS IT

WALFISCH BAY WOULD MAKE A FINE NAVAL BASE.

Poverty-Stricken Spot In the Southern Atlantic Near German Southwest Africa, Has Great Possibilities as a Harbor and General Opinion Is That Great Britain Should Keep It—Trade Has Decayed.

Half-way down the thousand-mile stretch of sandy and desolate coast which German Southwest Africa offers to the stormy surge of the Southern Atlantic lies the harbor of Walfisch Bay, on which the eye of Germany is fixed to-day. It is a small and poor place—a mere hamlet, with a pier 200 yards long and a little narrow-gauge railway twelve miles long, on which tiny trains run, or did run, "as required," to Rooikop, on the German frontier.

The population is insignificant—144 white and 853 colored persons—and is engaged in trade with the German territory about it or in the now decaying whale fishery. The area, as estimated before the recent arbitration fixing the exact frontiers, was 430 square miles.

This British possession, which since 1878 has formed part of Cape Colony, is the last remnant and indication of the British "sphere of influence" which forty years ago was regarded as extending along this coast to the Portuguese frontier. In Cape Colony it was taken as a matter-of-course that no other power would step in and acquire territory which so obviously formed part of its hinterland.

There was consternation, therefore, in Cape Town when in 1883 Germany annexed the area of 320,000 square miles which now forms German Southwest Africa. Walfisch Bay, was excepted from this annexation, because there the British flag was actually flying, and two or three islands along the coast were also retained for the British crown. Attempts were made in 1883 and 1884 to obtain Walfisch Bay for Germany, but, though the British Government of that period was ready to make almost any surrender, such indignation was aroused in Cape Colony at the mere idea that the negotiations were unsuccessful.

Thus Walfisch Bay became an enclave in German territory, and was cut off from all access to the hinterland. But a great mistake is made if its value and importance are underrated. Though a poor little place in its present undeveloped state, it has great possibilities. It has by far the best harbor on the whole Southwest African coast north of Saldanha Bay, the north till Lagos is reached.

The shape of the harbor is oval, with the seaward opening to the north. It is protected against all the prevalent winds by a long peninsula, Pelican Point, and is safe in all states of the weather. Moreover, it has deep water. Strategically its importance is very great.

It lies close to the main trade routes in the Southern Atlantic, and cruisers operating from it as their base could attack with deadly effect the British food ships steaming from Argentina, one of the main sources of supply, or proceeding by the Cape route from India and Australia. If only for that reason we must be careful what becomes of it

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reech the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

A small block of the stock is offered for public subscription at 10c per share.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1912.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES.

Mr. M. L. Stewart has been sent by the Philippine government as a commissioner to the United States, and he brings the information that the American people are quite ignorant of their island possessions. Among other things he says that experiments in rubber culture have been made with highly satisfactory results, and in the near future the Philippines will be producing a good supply.

We are told that the island government is now self-sustaining and the people have practically self-government; that the number of natives who speak English now is greater than the number who spoke Spanish when the Americans went in after 300 years of Spanish occupation. There are 6000 public schools with 620,000 pupils, and the University of the Philippines, at Manila, has 1400 students.

Another interesting bit of information is that there are 11,000,000 acres of virgin hardwood forests, and 4,000,000 acres of the best sugar land, capable of producing enough sugar to supply the United States. The climate is said to be comfortable and healthful—the death rate among the white population being smaller than in New York. Before 1898 smallpox was the scourge of the islands, carrying off about 40,000 of the native population every year, but vaccination was introduced and the disease has disappeared.

In commenting on the commercial possibilities Mr. Stewart directed attention to the fact that one-half the population of the world resides within 1900 miles of Manila, and that city would, if American manufacturers had not neglected their opportunity, be the distributing point for American products. He also called attention to the fact that while China last year spent $900,000,000 for manufactured goods, only 10 per cent. came from the United States.

The gentleman, however, seems not to be aware of the fact that the American manufacturer is so busy getting tariff laws and "doing up" the buyers in the home market that he has no time to extend his trade to the markets of the world.

A DESERVED AMERICAN VERDICT

The New Orleans, La., United States a Southern paper, pays a deserved and manly tribute to the late John Jacob Astor. Of course, any multimillionaire is open to censure by everyone. The United States, however, handles his death, on the Titanic, as follows:

Reading the stories of the survivors of the Titanic disaster, the world is likely to soften its judgment of John Jacob Astor. Where the testimony is so general and the temptation to exaggeration so small, the verdict must be that he died as a hero and a gentleman.

No one on the great liner had more to live for. To none was life sweeter. But he recognized the inexorable law of the sea, did his share to stay the panic, helped the women and children to their places in the lifeboats, and then went down with the ship.

His recent divorce and marriage, sensationalized because of his great wealth, had not commended him to public esteem. Many very harsh and bitter things has been said against him. The popular notion of him probably was that he was an idler and a cad.

In the light of his conduct on the Titanic and the tragedy of his death, however, says The Baltimore Sun, we see things in a better perspective. We recall new facts about his life which we had forgotten, or learn facts we never knew.

He was neither an idler nor a cad. He was born to great wealth. He had not, therefore, the incentive that so often brings success in business, the arts or the sciences; and yet he lived a life of great activity and much usefulness, and was a patriot when the occasion arose.

He liked adventure. He was not afraid to take his chances in seeking it. On the deck of the Titanic was not the only instance in which he carried his life in his hands nor yet on El Paso hill.

When a young man he invented a pneumatic device for renovating macadam roads which won him a first prize at the Chicago Exposition. He had to his credit a number of other inventions which he gave to the world.

He was a deep student and the author of several books, one of them a highly imaginative work dealing with life on Jupiter and Saturn. He was a successful business man. Inheriting great wealth, he managed it so judiciously as to add enormously to its volume, not by stock speculation but by his investments in real estate, and at least five of the greatest hotels in New York or the world, were erected by him.

At the breaking out of the Spanish war he patriotically raised and equipped a battery with smokeless powder guns and sought only a subordinate position in it. He might have stayed at home and watched the conflict from that distance; but he went with the troops to Cuba, participated in the battle of Santiago, had a horse he was riding killed by shrapnel, showed the same coolness and courage in the fight on El Paso hill as he did on the deck of the Titanic and was commended in the official reports for "faithful and meritorious service."

His life was a triumph over environment. It had a fitting climax in the greatest maritime tragedy of the centuries.

The water already diverted at Chicago has caused serious loss to navigation and other interests by virtue of the fact that the levels of the Great Lakes have been lowered.

Underneath the surface of the earth is a vast body of water which may be likened to an underground lake, called the ground-water. It is into the upper surface, frequently termed the water-table, of this ground-water that wells are sunk for domestic and other water supply. It has been estimated that, if all the moisture resident in the upper 100 feet of the ground were collected, the amount would be the equivalent of a lake of water some 17 feet deep, i.e. the equivalent of about 7 years' rainfall.

The announcement is made at Toronto that at the next session of the Legislature, the Ontario Medical Council examinations will likely be abolished. So far so good. But there have been specific charges made in connection with the operations of the Medical Council which will not be sufficiently met by merely abolishing the right of that body to override diplomas granted by the medical section of Ontario universities. These charges have been of a very grave character, and in the press of Canada correspondents have volunteered to prove the charges if an investigation is held.

Holders of liquor licenses will, hereafter, be impelled to watch carefully the condition of their patrons, as per the following amendment to the Liquor License Act: "Where in a municipality in which a by-law passed under section 141 of the Liquor License Act is in force, a person is found upon a street or in any public place in an intoxicated condition owing to the drinking of liquor, he shall be guilty of an offence against the said Act, and upon any prosecution for such offence he shall be compellable to state the name of the person from whom and the place in which he obtained such liquor, and in case of his refusal to do so he shall be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three months or until he discloses such information."

SHE FOUND THE SECRET OF YOUTH

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MADE HER A NEW WOMAN.

Mrs. Tremblay, sixty-one years of age, finds a cure for Headaches, Sleeplessness and Kidney Troubles in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Allen's Mills, Portneuf, Co., Que., April 26.—(Special)—That years do not make a person old if perfect health is that person's portion, is shown in the case of Mrs. Eustache Tremblay of this place.

"I am a new woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it." Mrs. Tremblay explains. "Yes, I am sixty-one years old. But now that the headaches, from which I suffered, are gone, my Kidney trouble has disappeared and I can sleep at night, I do not feel my age. Yes, it was Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else that took away my pains and aches and made me a new woman."

Perfect health means perpetual youth. And perfect health can only be obtained by keeping the mainspring of health, the Kidneys, in order. The one sure way to do this is to use the old reliable Kidney cure, Dodd's Kidney Pills. It never fails.

throne at the last formal opening of Parliament, be it therefore,

"Resolved, that the secretary extend to His Royal Highness the thanks of the officers of the Canadian Highway Association, for lending his influence to the cause of roads improvement, and further,

"That the Secretary respectfully informs His Royal Highness that it is the earnest desire of the members of this association that His Royal Highness should consent to become Patron of the Canadian Highway Association."

The following reply was received a few days ago by P. W. Luce, secretary of the Association:

"Government House, Ottawa

"Dear Sir,—I am desired by the Governor-General to acknowledge receipt of your letter, and to inform you in reply that His Royal Highness will be pleased to become Patron of the Canadian Highway Association as requested by your Executive Committee.

"His Royal Highness is much interested in the subject of good roads, and wishes your association every success. I am.

Yours faithfully,

Arthur F. Sladen,

Private Secretary."

The Duke of Connaught has long been interested in good roads, and has shown in many ways that he is strongly in sympathy with any movement that will tend to better the transportation facilities of this or any other country. Travelled man as he is, and trained in the observation of things that make for the public weal, His Royal Highness has put to practical use the knowledge gained in Canada, England, on the continent, and in foreign countries, and he believes that he has acted wisely in allowing his name to become associated with the enterprise fathered by the Canadian Highway Association.

"Good roads are a social and economic necessity, and good roads we will have all over Canada before I am ready to acknowledge that the work of the Canadian Highway Association is finished," says President W. J. Kerr. And he means every word of it.

Reciprocity's History Known

menting me for having brought it forward.

Mr. Taft's Letter.

I submit our correspondence on the subject of reciprocity:

". . . Just at present I am in the midst of reciprocity matters, and it would gratify me a great deal to talk over with you this issue. I have as you have known, always been a low-tariff and downward revision man, and the reason why I favored the last tariff bill and praised as the best one we ever had was: That the consideration of it on its passage and the efforts of those who defended it afterwards to show that it was a downward revision were all a concession by the Republican party that downward revision was necessary, and that the rule by Shaw and Cannon and other standpatters of the orthodox type that no tariff could be too high, because what you needed was a Chinese wall, had been departed from. Now the probability is that we shall reach an agreement with our Canadian friends by which all natural products—cereals, lumber dairy products, fruits, meats and cattle—shall enter both countries free and that we shall get a revision—not as heavy a one as I would like, but a substantial one, and equivalent certainly to the French reciprocity treaty and probably more—on manufactures.

In Natural Products.

"The truth is that the minute we adopt in convention the proposal that our tariff should be measured, we necessarily adopt a rule which would lead us straight to reciprocity in natural products with Canada, because the conditions in the two countries are so similar that there is substantially no difference in the cost of production. Possibly labor is slightly lower in some parts of Canada than in the United States, but it is also higher in some parts and the adoption of free trade would rapidly increase the cost of labor in those parts where it is cheaper in Canada, so that the conditions would be the same.

"It might at first have a tendency to reduce the cost of food products somewhat; it would certainly make the reservoir much greater and prevent fluctuations. Meantime the amount of Canadian products we would take would produce a current of business between Western Canada and the United States that would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. I would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York, with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is an argument against reciprocity made in Canada, and I think it is a good one.

The Proposition.

"The proposition is to make an arrangement by which we shall present to both Houses of Congress an identical bill, and pass it as an agreement for joint legislation. In this way we would avoid the necessity for two-thirds in the Senate, and would secure at once the consent of the House, which in tariff matters is generally regarded as necessary, at any rate. This will cause a great commotion I presume. It will be unpopular in New York because of certain lumber-manufacturing interests and the dairy interests. It will be unpopular in Minnesota because of the wheat: but on the other hand, free lumber will be popular in some places and free wood pulp we may count on the fairly good support of the press.

Might Break Republican Party.

"This letter, of course, I must ask you to regard as confidential, though I would be glad to have you discuss with your colleagues on the Outlook such a proposition, and should be glad to hear from you as to your judgment of it. I think it may break the Republican party for a while. As Elihu Root said when I talked with him yesterday, it may be an entering wedge against protection, although it is not inconsistent with the principle of protection as we laid it down in Chicago. Of course it will be said against it that we are taking agriculture and making it suffer first before we tackle wool and cotton. The bill is not likely to pass the present Congress, and before the new Congress comes together I think I shall be able to make some recommendations as to the wool and cotton schedule and present a problem to the Democrats which they are not likely to find an easy one. At least it will show the hypocrisy of some people. Of course this is no ground whatever for introducing and pressing such a measure. I believe it to be right, and if it leads, on the other hand, the reduction in wool and cotton manufactures, to the lowest figures and to what is a real measure of the difference in the cost of production so much the better.

"I shall be glad to hear from you as soon as you can conveniently write on this subject, because the matter is just at hand, and it is quite likely that within ten days we shall reach an agreement."

The announcement that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will this summer begin to run a series of Observation Car Services on the Austrian State Railways through the Tyrol, marks an epoch in the growth of the importance of Canada in the old world. Under a contract with the Austrian State Railways, the Canadian Pacific has arranged to build several observation cars in Austria on Canadian Pacific plans. The design is that of Mr. Vaughan, head of the C.P.R. Angus shops at Montreal who has made a personal visit to Austria to study local conditions. They will differ slightly from the type as used in Canada, and each car will have platforms at both ends. The cars will be the longest four axle cars in Europe. They will have a very spacious interior, and will seat thirty-two passengers. There will be accommodation for a typist, whose services will be at the disposal of the passengers: and an up-to-date library with all the latest magazines, just as on the C.P.R. transcontinental trains, will be among the features of the cars.

Both Austria and the Canadian Pacific Railway will benefit from the consolidation of the new scheme. The attention of vast numbers of travelling Canadians and Americans will be diverted from other parts of Europe to Austria, not only to see that interesting country, but to learn how these Canadian Pacific observation cars fulfill their mission. There will be three observation services to begin with. By arrangement with the Swiss Government, the first of these will run between Zurich and Innsbruk over the Arlberg Route, via Landeck. The second will be between Innsbruck and Vienna via Zell-am-Zee and Salzburg. The third will be from Salzburg, to Trieste over the Tauern and Karawanken Railways by way of Badgastein, Villach, Veldes, and the Valley of the Isonzo. This last is a new route only recently completed by the Austrian Government, which has spent immense sums of money to provide a short cut from the north of Trieste, its greatest seaport.

The Austrian State Railway is particularly well favored in the country it feeds as regards scenery, and seen as it will be under the most favorable auspices in these new C.P.R. observation cars, the beauty of the land will be a most interesting part of any European tour.

MEN-YOU NEED NERVE

Wonderful Nervous System

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early Indiscretions and Excesses have ruined thousands of promising young men. Unnatural Drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically and sexually. How you feel? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, etc.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:

South Lancaster, Gananoque, Kingsville, Blind River, Cobourg, Honey Harbour, Port Hope, Deseronto, Trenton.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 20, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

Telegrams received here say that last week, every wheel on the Grand Trunk System, will be stopped during a memorial service, in honor of the late Chas. M. Hays.

Transformation.

Father's in a dress suit—
Doesn't it seem strange?—
Togged out like a merchant prince.
My, but it's a change!
Just a year or two ago
Overalls for him.
Now since he has struck it rich
Father's in the swim.

But we had an awful fight.
How he did protest!
Said he never would go out
In a waiter's vest;
Common clothes were good enough
For a common man,
But he's gone and put them on,
New and spick and span.

When the subject first was broached
Father had a fit.
Said it was no use to talk;
He would not submit.
But the girls kept after him—
Girls have such a way!—
And he's put them on at last
Spite of all his nay.

Father's looking very cute
There in black and white.
Awkward he will feel at first,
But he'll come out right.
After he has tried them once
Then the bluff he'll make
That he's worn them all his life
When he was awake.

Not Suitable.

"Why didn't Mrs. Jones keep her new cook? I thought she brought such good recommendations."

"She did, but she was too stout."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Everything. You see, when the cook got out of temper over too much company Mrs. Jones could not coax her with one of her old gowns."

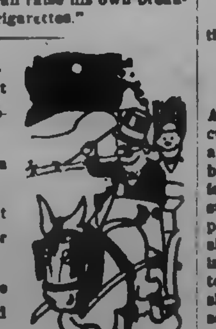
Economy.

"I hear that young Tightwad has gone into ranching."

"What's the impetus to the new movement?"

"Thrift. He thinks that on an alfalfa ranch he can raise his own breakfast food and cigarettes."

Slow, but Sure.



"Why don't you get an automobile?"

"I prefer a horse."

"But isn't that too slow for you?"

"Well, I've been driving old Jim for fifteen years and he never got a puncture yet."

"How excited the lady looks."

"Yes. She belongs to the get busy circle."

"What is that?"

"An association for the promotion of personal knowledge concerning one's neighbors."

Time Full.

"How many men are you engaged to, Maudie?"

"Only six."

"Couldn't you find any more?"

"Well, I want one evening in the week to myself."

Manifest Destiny.

"I always have to get back at somebody or kill myself trying."

"Just why do you do that?"

"I dare say it is because I was born to get back at some one."

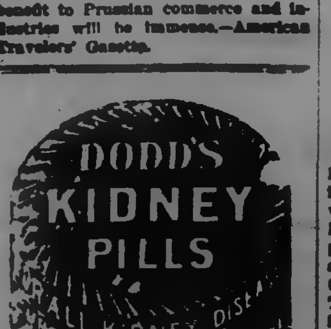
The Sixth Sense.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences M. Kunz discussed the phenomenon of "feeling at a distance," to which the power of blind people to avoid nearby obstacles is ascribed. M. Kunz believes that such a power exists and that it is not peculiar to the blind. It seems to be shared by others who possess a peculiar constitution. The faculty appears to reside in the skin, for experiments show that it is not connected with the sense of hearing. As to its nature, little knowledge has been obtained. There is a tendency to ascribe obscure phenomena of this kind to electrical action, but the mode of operation remains unknown.

A Baltic-Black Sea Canal.

It is stated that the old project for uniting the Baltic with the Black sea is at last to be put into operation. By utilizing the rivers Dwina and Dnieper a navigable waterway 1,000 miles long can be constructed without any great engineering problems, extending from the port of Riga on the Baltic to Kherson on the Black sea. The cost is estimated at about $250,000,000, but the benefit to Prussian commerce and industries will be immense.—American Travelers' Gazette.



A VICIOUS COLONY

England's Penal Settlement in the Andaman Islands.

LIFE CONVICTS FROM INDIA.

Often the Most Desperate Prisoners Kill One Another, While Others Fall Victims to the Native Head Hunters, to Whom Murder Is Sport.

Frederick Taylor, F. R. G. S., writing in the Century Magazine about life in the Andaman islands, says:

"The sailing of the Maharaja from Calcutta for the Andaman islands was not accompanied by the usual goodbys and handkerchief waving, for of my fellow passengers there were seventy to whom no one wished bon voyage or a safe return. These were convicts, all murderers under life sentences, who for some reason had escaped the death penalty, and included six women, for the Maharaja is the ship used by the colonial Indian government to transport convicts to the penal settlements near Port Blair, South Andaman island, a distance of 650 miles from Calcutta.

"The prisoners were all manacled and shackled about the ankles, with chains fastened to bands at the wrist. They were a despicable lot. At night a continual moaning and cursing and hopeless sobbing came up from the hatches and made sleep out of the question for me, though the European officer in the steamer's cabin apparently slept undisturbed. Early the first morning I went on deck and learned that two of the male prisoners were ill and had been brought up to the deck for air. They were closely guarded, and raw recruits were stationed at the railing to prevent them from committing suicide by jumping overboard into the Hugli river.

"The Andamans are literally the homes of murderers. The inhabitants are the most vicious members of an older civilization and the uncivilized head hunters, among whom murder is a sport and a pastime. In the settlement are about 1,700 prisoners, including 800 women. On arriving at Port Blair the prisoners first spend six months in solitary confinement in the cellular jail of Viper island. They are then transferred to one of the associated jails and the comparative blessing of hard labor in company with others, though still occupying separate cells at night. After a year and a half of this they become slaves, working in and about the settlement during the day and sleeping in barracks at night, always closely guarded. At the expiration of five years a convict becomes eligible to join the colony of 'self supporters' and live in the village, where he earns his living in his chosen way, lives in his own house and can send for his wife and children or marry a convict woman. In a limited sense he becomes a paterfamilias, but is always carefully watched and cannot leave the settlement without permission.

"Despite the rigid discipline and the vigilance of the authorities the communal life is far from harmonious, and the more vicious often rebel. The murderers kill one another and are in turn murdered by the treacherous Andamanese, who regard the hapless convicts and their guards as their natural prey. Occasional attempts at escape are made by the prisoners, but the efforts inevitably prove disastrous. The fugitive, finding his conditional freedom worse than servitude, either dies at the hands of the Jarawa warriors, falls a victim to fever or other disease or starves. There is also a system in vogue by which the more friendly tribes of savages co-operate with the authorities in capturing escaped convicts and receive rewards for the return of the unhappy deserters. More often, however, the head hunters kill the fugitive and return only the head, receiving the reward just the same, the killing adding zest to the chase and the return of the head being the easiest and quickest way of earning the reward.

"Under these conditions there are few attempts at escape, though many remarkably hazardous dashes for liberty have been made from time to time, which, though futile, were most daring. Some time ago the steamer Fulata picked up a poor, emaciated wretch who was sighted on a small bamboo raft off the Arakan coast. He was later found to be an escaped convict. When picked up he had been on the raft for twenty-nine days during one of the southwest monsoons and had secured water by catching the rain and sucking it from his turban and loin cloth. He lived upon flying fish that flew aboard the raft, eating them raw. He was swept off the raft many times by the waves, but had managed to cling to it. After a month in a hospital at Rangoon he was returned to prison and solitary confinement.

"Another daring attempt at escape was made by a party of six convicts who were sent with two native policemen to a small island off the middle Andaman to work. They managed to escape from the guards and, hoisting the sail of the small boat, started out in a gale. After seven days of heavy weather they were dashed upon the rocks of the Tenasserim coast, and the boat was wrecked. All escaped with their lives and eventually reached the [illegible] border, where they were apprehended by the local authorities and returned to the prison."

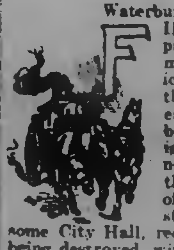
[illegible] value of a thing is the peace of [illegible] gives you.

Big Demand For the Cat.

The other night a young man from Pierce City was peacefully slumbering in a room in a Carthage hotel when he was awakened by the noise of a rat. Hastily he rang the bell and was surprised by having the bellboy run up and throw a cat into the room. Soon the young man went to sleep again. Then there came a tremendous pounding at the door. "Who is that?" he asked. "It's me," said the bellboy. "Has the cat caught the rat yet?" "No," replied the guest. "Well," came the voice from the other side, "let's have him. There's another rat in room 16."—Monett (Mo.) Times.

THE FIRE-BUGS CARNIVAL

Mysterious Series of Fires, Culminating in Burning of City Hall.



Waterbury, Ct., April 26.—FIRES that have puzzled the department and the police have startled this city. These fires—all believed to be of incendiary origin — caused a night of anxiety in this city. Only one of the fires was destructive, the handsome City Hall, recently remodelled, being destroyed, with a loss of $200,000.

The burning of the City Hall brought out a croud of more than 1,000 spectators, and with the continual turning in of alarms, Mayor Reeves called out the three militia companies to preserve order. The militia men, with bayonets attached to their guns, patrolled the streets and drove the crowds home. There was no disorder.

The police made two arrests. One man was later released, and a local character, "Jacky" Lane, who had been arrested many times for sending in false alarms, is held pending an investigation.

The fires started in basements or in clothes closets, and in many instances oil-soaked rags were found. The first fire was at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Platt building on Bank street. The fire started in the janitor's closet, and the damage was slight. Half an hour later another alarm was turned in, a fire having been discovered in the rear of an undertaker's shop. Alarms then came in quick and fast.

The City Hall was found to be on fire at 5.30 o'clock. The blaze, which started in the basement, made great headway, and the firemen were unable to control it. The fire alarm office, which was in the building, was put out of commission, and all alarms were later sent to the various fire halls by telephone.

From 7.15 till 9 o'clock there were six fires. In most cases the blaze was discovered in closets under stairways.

Outside of City Hall, the property loss will not exceed $2,500.

TO PROBE CAUSE ROXBURY STRIKE

Boston, Mass., April 17.—An order was introduced into the House yesterday by Representative McGrath of Roxbury, calling for an investigation by a committee of three to be appointed by the Speaker, into the causes of the Roxbury Mills carpet strike, to determine the responsibility therefor, and to endeavour to effect a settlement. The order was referred to the Committee on rules.

The resolve for a constitutional amendment to permit the Legislature to levy a uniform tax on personal property throughout the State was ordered to a third reading.

The peaceful persuasion bill was ordered to a third reading without debate.

The amendments to the Boston charter to provide for a larger city council, which was rejected in the Senate last week, were rejected in the House yesterday.

The House, by a vote of 48 to 76 refused to reject the bill extending the widows' pension law to those who married Spanish war veterans previous to April 11, 1905, as recommended by the committee on ways and means.

The resolve appropriating $15,000 a year for three years, to be expended by the State board of agriculture for the encouraging of dairying by the offering of prizes for the best farm products, was killed by a voice vote.

A bill authorizing the town of Framingham to enlarge its source of water supply by taking water from the metropolitan reservoir in the town, was substituted for the adverse report of the committee on water supply, on a voice vote.

An effort to substitute for the adverse committee report a bill prohibiting the use of the waters of Lake Cochituate for domestic purposes until they have been purified, failed on a rising vote of 26 to 46.

Cooked 1,500,000 Chops.

Of very few men can it truthfully be said, "He has cooked a million chops." Yet William, of Edwards', in Fishmonger Alley, London, who will presently celebrate the jubilee of his professional career, is believed to have cooked a million and a half. About ten thousand of these he has eaten himself.

The calculation was made one day on the table cloth by a distinguished statistician, who was so shocked by the figures that he dared not go on to estimate the tons of steaks, the mountains of kidneys, and the miles of sausages. "I wonder, William," he said, "that you are not ashamed to look a flock of sheep in the face."

"I have not eaten a steak for twenty-five years," he said, "but I have eaten a chop every day. Some people say you cannot live on one thing, but I still manage to keep alive. Sixty-six that is my age."

You May Havh Catarrh And Not Know It

HEAD AND THROAT BECOME DISEASED WITH CATARRH FROM NEGLECTING COLDS AND BAD COUGHS.

Catarrh is Treacherous—When Fully Developed is a Horror—Note its Symptoms.

"Is your breath bad?"
"Is your throat sore?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Is your voice raspy?"
"Does your nose stop up?"
"Have you nasal discharge?"
"Do you spit up phlegm?"
"Has your nose an itchy feeling?"
"Have you pain across the eyes?"
"Is your throat irritable, weak?"
"Do you sleep with your mouth open?"
"Are you subject to sneezing fits?"
"Do your ears roar and buzz?"
"Are you hard of hearing?"

If you have any of these indication of Catarrh cure the trouble now — stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone," a direct, breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by catarrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrhozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from the very first days' use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly.

Get Catarrhozone, use it, and you are sure of cure—beware of imitations and substitutes. Large size Catarrhozone, with large rubber inhaler, lasts two months, and is guaranteed. Price $1.00 at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

order for Antignol

Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

THE JESUITS IN BAVARIA.

As an instance of the dogged pertinacity and undying desire to control the destiny of the world, displayed by the Roman Catholic Church, it is interesting to follow recent political affairs in Bavaria. In 1872, Germany expelled the Jesuits from the Empire. They were not allowed to return, even when Bismarck was forced to recall other religious orders. They have occasionally been allowed to lecture in secular buildings in the Bavarian towns, but never since 1872 have they been associated with any religious ceremony.

The Bavarian government is accused of driving a coach and four through the imperial law, and a want of loyalty to the Empire. The truth is that the radicals and socialists, who have been gaining ground in the cities o Bavaria, are greatly annoyed that the members of an order noted for its learning should be given an opportunity to eradicate the poison which has been gradually sapping the nation's life. The government, keenly alive to the danger of the persistent preaching of the doctrines of Socialism, is glad to welcome men whose training best suits them to combat them. The Russian government adopted a similar course when a revolution was expected in Poland in 1905. The Jesuits, who had been forbidden to enter Russia, were allowed to preach at Warsaw.

THE MONEY MARKET.

With the banking institutions at New York holding less than $2,000,000 in reserve above legal requirements last Saturday, continued firmness in money is to be expected, especially since activity in the stock market has not abated. There was no repetition of the 5 per cent charge for call loans that was established last week, but lenders received an average of 3½ per cent for their offerings, and time facilities developed a stronger undertone. It is generally the rule when accommodation here becomes higher than funds are attracted in volume from outside points, yet this has not been so noticeable in the present instance because the pied with the customary spring demands for crop planting, etc. Hence, there have not been the usual heavy offerings to depress rates, so that moderately firm money is likely to last for some time to come. The regular statement of the Clearing House members last Saturday presented features of interest, and emphasized the drastic measures adopted to prevent a deficit in the surplus. It was only by calling loans on a large scale—this item being reduced fully $26,500,000—that such a contingency was avoided, since there was a further substantial loss over $6,700,000 in cash holdings. The liquidation in deposits exceeded $32,000,000 and reserves were consequently built up about $1,450,000 under the actual figuring in the previous week the total stood below $500,000. After an early decline to the lowest point on the current movement, foreign exchange subsequently rallied and sign drafts again crossed 4.87. The depression at the start was explained by the recall of funds recently loaned abroad, but this factor was offset by a rise in English discounts, and a demand for cable remittances in connection with the settlement at London. These influences prompted the short account to cover, but toward the close the market again became heavy. Most of the $3,500,000 new South African gold went to the Bank of England at the minimum mint price, and this institution reported a gain of about $2,000,000 in bullion on Thursday together with a large contraction in loans. These changes served to raised the ratio of reserve to liabilities about 3½ per cent.

The last British census shows that Edinburgh has 45,808 bachelors, and 66,292 spinsters. Looks as if the Canadian Minister of the Interior might find a good field there for getting exactly what he needs for the West and would supply a long felt want, by many a lonely rancher, darning his own socks and frying his own pork.

The Ottawa mint will commence next month to coin five and ten dollar gold pieces. Why not stamp the present one cent coin as a penny, and a smaller one cent. To have penny postage and no corresponding coin is an uneconomic anomaly that should be rectified. The seinorage to the Government alone would amount to a tidy sum.

It seems almost incredible, as reported on seemingly undeniable authority, that a ship should have passed within sight of the Titanic's lights, and saw her distress signals, saying: "We are sinking, come at once," but still continue on her way without offering any assistance. Such heartlessness is beyond human belief, especially when one recognizes the dependency that exists between mariners. If the ship, thus passing, can be identified, her officers should have their certificates cancelled, and given long terms of imprisonment.

The press of England seems to uphold Mr. Ismay, president of the White Star line, for leaving the Titanic, instead of sharing the Captain's fate. Opinion in this country seems to be divided on that subject. Many seem to think that, as Ismay was the Captain's superior officer he should have remained aboard. This is a subject easily settled as a few sit in front of a grate. Let the man who condemns Ismay, or any other man, on a dark night, be awakened from sleep, rush to the deck and find the ship he is aboard can only float for a few minutes. What would that man

THE COAL MINER.

The Autocrat of the Colliery Knows His Own Mind.

He is a big, burly man with stern eyes and a firm chin. He can knockout the cleverest boxer in the district. He does not talk much, and what he says is always to the point.

He has worked many men of different colors and creeds in different parts of the world, from the lowcaste coolie of the Indian colliery to the dour Scotch miner and the excitable Welshman, and he knows how to rule them.

He has a keen appreciation for the skilled miner, but does not hesitate to tell you that he is glad wherever possible to use the mechanical coal cutter in his place.

"The coal cutter," he says, "does not talk!"

He is the head manager at the colliery, and with him is the last word in all the thousand-and-one problems which arise from time to time in the practical working of the pit. He works harder than any other man in Colliery Row.

If he is not underground inspecting some portion of the workings he is in his office at the pit-head busy with plans for future development. His staff of assistant-managers is large and competent, but he has constantly to receive from them their reports.

The outsider, seeing his life, wonders when he finds time to feed and sleep.

If he leaves Colliery Row, even for a week-end, he must go somewhere where he can be reached by telephone if necessary by his head assistant.

His business in life is to get as many tons of coal as is possible out of the pit every day, and to keep the pit working, and it involves, amongst other heavy responsibilities, that of the safety as well as that of the management of hundreds of men and boys.

If disaster comes and men are entombed in the pit, it is he who heads the rescue party and directs their operations underground. In such circumstances he has been known to work for an incredible number of hours in his skull cap and pit "duds," hardly stopping for food and rarely coming to bank.

He has no illusions about the outlook. He knows that while the strike lasts, he will be the most unpopular man in Colliery Row, and that it is just as likely as not, if bad blood is kindled, that his windows will be stoned and he will have to face a riotous mob.

He has faced a mob before, and he will do it again. He is a stranger to fear.

And he will bear no ill-will to the miners when it is all over and he gets the pit working again, even though he will realise more justly than any other man all that the strike has cost. He knows that the miners have no personal grudge against him, and that many of them respect him. It is as the chief representative in their midst of their opponents, and not as himself, that the miners anathematise him during the strike.

He is the strong man in Colliery Row.

Where Wills Are Kept In Safety.

Year after year cases—often resulting in much litigation—occur of missing wills, the documents either being mislaid or lost through carelessness, or maybe stolen by someone having an interest in their possession. And yet it is quite a simple matter for a testator to have his or her will safeguarded against such mishaps, quite apart from leaving it in the custody of a solicitor or banker.

At Somerset House, London, there is a depository for the safe custody of the wills of living persons. But this fact seems so little known that scarcely more than a dozen people a year take advantage of this depository; and yet it is quite an easy matter to place one's will in the depository at Somerset House for a few shillings and thus safeguard against loss.

Perhaps there are some people who are under the belief that a will deposited at Somerset House restricts them in the matter of making any alteration afterwards. As a matter of fact, a will once deposited at Somerset House is not delivered up, but the testator is free either to have it destroyed in the presence of an official or to alter it by codicil. He may even revoke it by another will which is not deposited. The freedom of the testator to change his mind is, indeed, absolutely untouched.

King George at Home.

When King George entered his private room on his return from his Indian visit he found a mass of correspondence arranged for his examination that made him smile. "Enough work here for a month, I suppose," he remarked to Lord Stamfordham. It was plain that he was only too anxious to get to work. His quick, alert manner of moving about, glancing with pleasure at various objects in his apartments, pausing every now and then to make some brief reference to matters that immediately interested him, was gratifying to behold, since it indicated better than anything else could have done the downright joy that he felt at being back in his London "home," while it equally conclusively demonstrated that his health had not been impaired by the fatigues of the last few months.

The dates of the Peterborough Summer Fair have been decided upon. The fair will begin on Monday May 27th and continue until Saturday, 1st of June. This means that a month remains for the final preparations for this event.

THE VOICES AT THE OUTPOSTS

You can hear 'em in the darkness
 Of the far Alaskan wild;
You can hear Caruso singin'
 Or the chatter of a child;
You can hear the band a-playin'
 Or the burst of darky song.
No hike's too far for packin'
 A phonograph along.

If you snowshoe to the summit
 Of the continent's divide
You will hear from out some cabin
 A sound that stirs your hide
With that prickly, strange sensation
 That comes when home has spoke.
It's a phonograph a-callin',
 And you stop and blink and choke.

On the wildest reservation,
 At the Injun trader's store,
'Mong the islands of the south seas,
 Soundin' o'er a pearly shore;
Everywhere that white men follow
 O'er dim trails with pack and staff
You can hear the callin', callin',
 Of the friendly phonograph.

Missouri Horse Talk.

Speaker Champ Clark enjoys telling of an incident that occurred in a circuit court of Missouri during a "horse case" in which a horseman well known throughout the state for his expert knowledge was called as a witness.

"You saw this horse?" asked counsel for the defendant.

"Yes, sir, I"—

"What did you do?"

"I opened his mouth in order to ascertain how old he was, and I said to him, I said, 'Old fellow, I guess you're a good horse yet.'"

At this juncture opposing counsel leaped to his feet. "Your honor," he cried, "I object to the statement of any conversation between the witness and the horse when the plaintiff was not present."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

Protestant Home Opening.

The formal opening of the new Protestant Home Building will take place on the evening of Tuesday next, April 30th. Arrangements are being made for a program suitable for the occasion.

Carters Must Drive Slowly.

Teamsters having occasion to use Hunter street bridge, are warned against driving over the structure at a faster rate than a walk. Signs are conspicuously displayed, but for some time past teamsters have been disregarding these warnings. Parties caught driving over the bridge at a faster pace than a walk, will render themselves liable to prosecution.

More clothes are rubbed out than worn out. GOLD DUST saves rubbing and saves your clothes

Small Blaze at Shovel Factory.

During the wee sma' hours of the morning a fire broke out in the Lundy Tool & Shovel Co. It seems that some oil had reached one of the annealing machines and caught fire. The watchman, after telephoning the fire hall, set to work with the Companys hose and a watchman from a neighbouring factory came to his assistance. On the arrival of the brigade the flames were almost subdued, and gave little subsequent trouble. The floor under the above mentioned machine was somewhat charred, but very little damage will result.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Local Merchant and His Auto.

A well-known George street merchant is the proud possessor of a brand new automobile. Last Sunday he undertook to be the "Captain, crew, and the boatswain tight" or, to be accurate, the chauffeur, of his new machine. He started to wind up the crank handle. It stuck fast. More muscle was called into use. A vigorous twist and the handle went as easily around as do the hands of a dollar watch. The merchant, not expecting that the handle would turn so easily, lost his footing as he turned and struck one of the headlights with his own forehead. He now carries a black and blue bump on his head and also a fixed determination to handle the crank-handle more carefully.

Get Ready for Garbage Man.

It is well for our readers to note that under the new law, garbage collection begins on Wednesday next. Refuse must be deposited in boxes or barrels of convenient dimensions, that is, of a size that can be handled easily.

Y.M.C.A. Boys Banqueted.

Last night Mayor Bradburn and Inspector Hughes of Toronto, delivered addresses at the annual banquet of the Junior Department of the Y.M.C.A. The dinner which was daintily served, and thoroughly appreciated by all present, was given to the boys and their parents.

Kickers Getting Ready for Season

The Midland Football League will hold its annual meeting at the Y.M.C.A. at 1:30 sharp to-day. Representatives from Bowmanville, Whitby, Oshawa, Lakefield, Havelock, Bethany, and two Peterborough teams will be present. General business will be gone over, after which the election of officers will take place.

Boy Scouts Meet To-night.

Members of the 1st and 3rd troops Boy Scouts, will meet to-night in the Armouries. As business of importance is to be discussed a full attendance is requested. Arrangements will be made for a scouting expedition to the woods on Saturday afternoon. The proposal to establish a summer camp will also be dealt with at this meeting. W. J. Miller, district commissioner.

A full line of camping material, aluminum utensils, etc. Apply to J. E. Haggart, 191 Lock street or phone No 563

Public Garbage Collection to Begin.

The first collection of garbage to take place under the by-law will be on Wednesday next, May 1st, when the following route will be covered by the wagons, starting at 8 a.m.: All the hotels, fruit and fish stores and restaurants in the district lying between Smith and Dalhousie streets and Reid street and the river; the premises on Charlotte, Simcoe, Hunter and Brock between Water and Aylmer from Charlotte to Murray.

St. Marks Church Vestry Meeting.

St. Mark's church, Otonabee, held their annual vestry meeting this week when a satisfactory financial statement was presented. Mr. Chas. Graystock was re-elected people's warden and the rector nominated Mr. John Thorn as his warden. Lay delegates to the synod were elected as follows: Dr. Geo. Burnham, Mr. Barlow Cumberland, Mr. Joshua Smithson.

Peterborough's Health is Good.

Judging by the returns of the Provincial Board of Health, Peterborough is O-K. As regards the rate per 1000 of typhoid cases, see the following comparative statement:—Hamilton 13, Guelph 13, Peterborough 15, London 17, Belleville 19, Stratford 20, St. Thomas 20, Toronto 20, Kingston 26, Montreal 26, Windsor 27, Chatham 29, Brantford 33, Fort William 34, Woodstock 40, St. Catharines 60, Port Arthur 83, Niagara Falls 89, Ottawa 96, Sarnia 147.

Pigeon Creek Bridge in Danger.

It is claimed that Pigeon Creek Bridge is in danger from high water, and the damage done by ice. This bridge has been closed to traffic for some days, and is likely to remain so for some time to come. Large sections of the structure may be found floating on the lake, and will later be salvaged as driftwood. The ice on Mud Lake shows little signs of decomposition, and should the wind veer around and increase in velocity, serious damage would undoubtedly result.

Trouble in Back Country.

There has been a lot of talk about the high water this spring. Last Tuesday Mr. Jack Hardill, traveller for P. Kinnear & Co., with Mr. Sherwood, another traveller, started out for Apsley driven by Ernest Lawrence, driver for Gibbs' Livery. Just after arriving at Buckhorn the rig was in three feet of water, which flowed over the road. At Mississagua Creek the water was two and a half feet over the road. At Burleigh Falls, the occupants of the rig had to sit on the cover of the vehicle to keep their feet dry.

The Boating Season is Open.

Navigation on the Otonabee River is on again. This is officially shown by the arrival of the steamer Geneva from Gore's Landing. The river near Wolf street bore a number of canoes and launches, whose owners were evidently anxious to force the season. There is every reason to expect that Peterborough, acknowledged by the magazines of the whole world, as the Mother of Canoe building will this year sustain her reputation, and not only entertain thousands of visitors, but supply a large percentage of them with Peterborough made canoes.

FISHERY INSPECTOR GRANDY DROWNED.

News comes from Omemee that Mr. E. Grandy, recently appointed assistant fishery inspector, at Emily Creek, has been drowned. It seems that Mr. Grandy, with a Mr. Everett, drove out to the creek on Wednesday morning. Mr. Grandy, started in his canoe for an island in the creek. Some trappers telephoned that they had found his upturned canoe, and his goods in the water. Although Mr. Grandy was a good swimmer and an expert canoeist, the water was very rough. Mr. Grandy is a brother of the Postmaster at Omemee. Mr. Grandy's body was found in Emily Creek Thursday morning. Very general regret is felt over this sad occurrence. The deceased leaves a heart-broken widow.

Local Human Nature.

A member of The Times staff, who is somewhat of a statistican turn of mind, within the past few days happened into two or more local photograph galleries. What what struck him, and may strike you, as funny, were the photographs of babies. There were naked babies, there were babies in very diminutive shirts, not long or broad enough to cover "les convenances," or in plain English decency. There were babies smiling, and babies howling. There were (very few) thin and fat babies, there were blonde and brunette babies. Our representative traced up the history of as many as he could of these babies. Most of them now are working in stores or banks, practising law, medicine or a pick and shovel. Still the funny part, is that the fond mothers of these babies, just as Peterborough matrons and owners of babies do to-day figured then as they think now, that the babies "in camera" are the only human beings worth notice since Eve stole that apple or monkeys changed to man.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

The lumber mills at Lindsay are both shut down on account of the high water.

The Rev. H. O. Ben Oliel delivered his clever address on the "Holy Land," in St. Luke's Sunday school last night.

The probs for to-day are: Strong south westerly and westerly winds, clearing, and warm during the day, becoming cooler at night.

The Largest and Best Vacuum Carpet Cleaner in the city can be rented by the day. Just the thing for Spring house cleaning. For particulars Phone No. 274.

A recent issue of the Ontario Gazette gives notice that the Quaker Oats Company is authorized to increase the amount of its capital which it may use in Ontario from $1,250,000 to $2,000,000.

The North American Life Assurance Co. issues policies second to none. The profits given to policyholders are equal to those of the very best. Insure your life in the North American Life Assurance Co. Office, 187 Charlotte Street. (6t-A8218)

The Peterborough man, who building a home for himself, invests $4000 or $5000, is liable to have trouble when he wants to sell. The great demand for property in Peterborough is for houses and lots running at from about $1800 to $2500.

Farmers have been receiving $18 a load for hay during the past week, which is considerable of an advance over the price they have been receiving. It is not a scarcity in this city that has caused the raise in price. It is the price of the rise as well as the rise in the price.

Colds

Don't trifle with a cold; no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, catarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

as a quick cure for colds and grip, and by its use the more serious diseases may be avoided.

S.S. CONVENTION OPENS HERE ON SUNDAY

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

pipes. Apart from this they do not enjoy the advantage of our reduced water rates, paying under the old schedule enforced by the late Water Works Company.

Returning to the Bonacord street question, his worship thought the Commissioners might stretch a point in this particular case and install one hydrant; especially so as in some localities they derive 25 per cent. revenue.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by the Mayor,—That the chairman interview the Water Commissioners respecting the placing of one hydrant in Bonacord street.—Carried.

More Light Wanted.

Ald. Brown asked for an incandescent light on Thomas street. Ald Morgan, for one on Concession street and Ald. Buller for one on King street.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Buller,—That committee make an inspection and report on whole scheme of arranging for new lights—Carried.

Ald. Buller willingly consented to second the foregoing resolution on the ground that he had waited for another light on King street four years now, and it would do no harm to be patient a few weeks longer.

Must Have His Horse.

Ald. Buller here insisted that the Board of Works have the use of their horse now monopolized by the Fire Department.

One of the horses in the fire station is granted to be for the Board of Works' use only, but Ald. Buller claims that his men can never get the animal when wanted, and his services are much in requisitian these days. Ald. Buller insisted upon conditions being changed in this respect even should it be necessary to buy another horse for the Fire Department.

Ald. Johnston promised to see that the horse in question, "Jerry," by name, is at the Board of Works' exclusive disposal.

Street Railway Curve.

At adjournment of Committee, Ald. Johnston informally raised the question of the Street Railway Co. making a wider curve at the corner of Smith and George streets. He did not see why it could not have been done. This is a danger spot, he urged.

Ald. Buller—"The City Engineer contends that it is impossible to change that curve only by shifting the track over to the west side of the street on George street, which would create another danger point for equestrians."

A brief discussion on this question resulted in no official action, although Mr. Munro will be interviewed in connection therewith.

HERDED IN SULTAN'S MENAGERIE THEIR QUARTERS ARE BURNED

Fez, Morocco, April 26.—The Jewish quarter of Fez presents a lamentable spectacle as a result of the recent pillaging and looting by the revolting populace and mutinous Moorish soldiers. On the occasion of the last ravaging of the quarter, the scenes enacted did not approach in horror and devastation those which occurred during the past week.

Of the 12,000 Jewish residents of the capital, no fewer than 7,000 have been rendered homeless by fire, and these have now taken refuge naked, and hungry, in the gardens of the Sultan's palace.

A terrifying scene is presented there. Hundreds of emaciated human beings are huddled together in empty cages of the Sultan's menagerie, and these are surrounded with cages containing wild beasts, which, maddened by the sight of human flesh, fill the gardens with their roars

When they attacked Mellah, or the Jewish quarter, the people composing the infuriated mob were chiefly actuated by pillage. They tore the clothing from men, women and children alike, and these shrieking with terror, raced for refuge into the palace gardens. The mob then sacked and burned at its leisure, destroying everything that came in its way. The synagogues were wrecked and the sacred books and parchments torn and burned.

PORT PERRY MAN'S DEATH BY POISON

A young man named McDermott, of Port Perry, died from accidental poisoning a few days ago. The young fellow, who used to clerk in a drug store in that town, was not feeling well, and previous to the arrival in the morning, of the druggist, went into the store and asked a boy, who was sweeping out, for some whiskey. The boy did not know where to locate the whiskey, so McDermott helped himself from a bottle resembling the one that used, in his time to contain whiskey, and that then held a fluid smelling like whiskey. He took a good big drink, and throwing down ten cents, left the shop. The druggist shortly afterwards met McDermott, who told him that he had taken something at his drug store for a cold, but that it did not sit right on his stomach. Mr. Flint at once went across to the drug store to find out if possible what the young man had taken. Upon examining the bottle, which was still standing upon the ledge, he found that the drink had been tincture of aconite, instead of whiskey, as was supposed by McDermott. The bottle was plainly labelled Tr. Aconiti. At once the druggist told McDermott he had better come to the doctor's right away, as he had taken the wrong stuff. The unfortunate young man did not seem to realize that he was in serious danger, and objected to any drastic measures being taken to remove the poison. The earlier action of this poison gives but slight warning to the victim, who merely felt a tingling sensation and a slight numbness in certain parts of his boyoung man at this time was healthy dy. The general appearance of the and bright.

When they reached the doctor's office the druggist briefly related the circumstances of the case as already outlined. This was done in the presence of McDermott, who made no attempt to deny any part of the story and confirmed it.

Dr. David Archer was out at the time, and the office was in charge of his temporary assistant, Dr. Colvill, who applied every possible remedy but without success. Dr. Mellow was called in consultation, and shortly after Dr. David Archer came in. The three doctor's worked with the patient, who was now unconscious, but death shortly followed.

MAYOR OF BOSTON SNUBS CHAMP CLARK

Boston, Mass., April 25. — Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday turned down Congressman Curley's invitation to preside at the Champ Clarke rally at Faneuil Hall on Friday evening, on the ground that he is with Governor Foss for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, and propose to vote for Massachusetts' "favorite son" at the Baltimore convention.

The Mayor told the Congressman, who is the recognized Champ Clark manager for New England, that the State should present a candidate for the convention, and should unite upon Gov. Foss, who represented the progressive Democracy of this section of the country.

Congressman Curley told the Mayor that a careful canvass by the Clark managers shows that he will win the nomination on the second, if not the first, ballot; and the Clark leaders want to see Gov. Foss given second place.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, BART.

Health of the Aged Statesman Continues to Improve.

London, April 27.—Mr. James Ross is now on his way to London from Gibraltar by a P. & O. steamer.

Mr. R. B. Angus left London for Vienna yesterday, to join his daughter Mrs. Martin and Mr. Martin.

Mr. C. R. Hosmer arrives in London to-night from Paris.

A friend of Sir Charles Tupper was surprised and delighted to-day to receive a four-page letter from him from Bexley Heath, written by his own hand, on personal and political matters.

Though able to drive out and to take the keenest interest in public affairs, Sir Charles has had to resign himself to the fact that he may never see London again. Many of his friends, however, go down to Bexley Heath for a chat with him.

ORIENTAL HOTEL TO CLOSE ON THE FIRST DAY OF MAY

The Times has it on undeniable authority, that Peterborough's leading hotel, the Oriental, will be closed up on May 1st. It seems that, whilst Mr. Geo. Graham was given a license by the Commissioners Mr. Graham's lease expires on May 1st. As the owners of the property refuse to grant an extension of the lease, the Oriental will simply go out of business on May 1st. Of course, Mr. Graham has the license as noted, which he can have transferred to any suitable site he may secure, that will be approved by the Commissioners. This is a serious matter for Peterborough. The hotel accommodation in this city is now altogether inadequate on excursion or busy days to fill the wants of the travelling public. There is no doubt, but that Mr. Graham will secure, or have built, premises to take the place of the moribund Oriental. As before stated this is a serious matter for the commercial and industrial future of the city. In another column of this issue, appears an adv. of the sale of the Oriental furniture and appurtenances. Mr. Graham has always carried a high class hotel, known everywhere throughout the Dominin as one of Canada's leading commercial houses.

SOLDIERS TO GUARD DOCK WHEN DEATH SHIP COMES

Halifax, N.S., April 27.—The citizens of the United States here representing the families and relatives of the victims of the Titanic disaster, were successful yesterday in extracting the program that will be carried out by the White Star Line's officials when the Mackay-Bennett, the "death ship," arrives here.

All day they were around the officials with enquiries, and finally, not getting what they considered satisfactory answers to their questions, they held an indignation meeting, invited Mayor Chisholm of the city the coroner, the United States consul and the White Star officials here to attend it, and demanded the announcement of the arrangements made for the receipt of the bodies of the victims. The United States citizens were inclined to be ugly, but Mr. Mitchell, assistant Manager of the White Star Line in Montreal was able to placate them by a recital of the program to be put in force. In the end everybody was satisfied, but the reporters, who, under Mr. Mitchell's scheme, are to be kept off the dock when the boat arrives.

Soldiers to Guard Dock.

The approaches to the dock are to be protected by a guard of soldiers, a number of sailors from H.M.C.S. Niobe and the local police. Nobody but those possessing passes will be admitted. The shells will be landed as quickly as possible and conveyed to the morgue. Here a formal inspection will be made of them by a coroner's jury. Already verdicts of "Accidental death" have been inscribed on a number of papers, to which the names of the drowned will be added later.

DIDN'T INTEND TO TAKE BROWN'S LIFE

Albany, N.Y., April 26.—John V. McStea to-day continued his evidence as a witness in his own defence for the killing of Arthur Brown.

McStea said he had carried a revolver because he was a special officer and had charge of the receipts of the theatre of which he was manager. He did not draw the weapon, he said, until attacked by Brown, after entering the room where the shooting occurred. Brown attacked him as soon as he entered, and he used his revolver in self-defence. He did not shoot to kill, and did not know the wounds he had inflicted were mortal ones.

He did not come here to kill Brown but to take his wife to New Orleans, intending to send her and her mother to a summer resort in that vicinity. He said he had received a threatening letter from Brown, which had disappeared at the time Mrs. McStea left August, Ga. She had asked him to destroy it.

McStea told of his married life, saying he met his wife in New Orleans in 1906, and they were married the following year in the Church of St. John the Baptist, New Orleans, Rev. Father Malone officiating.

MIDLAND LEAGUE FOOTBALL OFFICERS

Saturday afternoon the annual meeting of the Midland Football Association was held in the Y.M.C.A. The past season, and the prospects for that coming were discussed. Everything pointed to an awakened interest in this splendid game.

Bowmanville, Oshawa, Bethany, Warsaw, All Saints' and C.G.E. clubs were represented. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Hon. J. R. Stratton.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—Dr. McPherson, Peterborough.

President—Geo. James, Bowmanville.

1st Vice-Pres.—P. D. Fitzgerald, Peterborough.

2nd Vice-Pres.—C. Morton, Bethany

Secretary—E. E. Brumwell, Royal Bank, Peterborough.

Executive—President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, W. Bell, Warsaw, W. Heavens, Oshawa, and W. Patterson, Peterborough.

AMERICANS IN MEX. TORTURED;

Desperadoes Chop Off a Man's Head When They Get No Money

Galveston, Texas, April 25.—Forty-seven passengers, all but one citizens of the United States, who arrived on Tuesday morning from Vera Cruz on the steamer Texas, tell of alleged torture and assissinations of Americans in the Republic. All the refugees left their lands, homes, furniture, and everything they possessed, except enough money for passage and the clothes on their backs. Among the entire number there were only four or five trunks.

M. H. Ish tells of the murder of an American citizen named Wait.

"Mr. Wait was a neighbor to me," said Mr. Ish. "He had sold several head of cattle and hidden the money. A band of desperadoes came to his hacienda and demanded money. Failing to get it they deliberately beheaded him with their machetes, herded his cattle together and drove them off. There are many instances just like this.

"We lived in a little settlement where a colony of eleven American families had founded the town of Sanburn. All of these eleven families left because we were afraid to remain longer, knowing we would all be killed or tortured. I am sixty-four years old. I went to Mexico one year put all I had, $1,660 in land and improvements there, and to-day I have only this (showing his two hands), and the clothes on my back.

Before leaving we filed our claims for damages with the American consul in M[illegible]y."

Women Cruelly Treated.

John T. McGee, a wealthy planter, who went to Mexico two years ago returned to America minus more than twenty thousand dollars, and left behind land, cattle and live stock. Mr. McGee tells of cruelties practised on an American woman now in the hospital at Mexico City.

"The bandits visited the home of Mr Shay, one of my neighbors, about a week before I left the settlement," said Mr. McGee, "and demanded money and guns. He gave them about $12 and the gun, saying that was all he had on the place.

"The band then left, but returned to Shay's place and demanded more money and arms. Not being given the money and guns they took Mrs. Shay tied her down, and began beating her feet.

"Mr. Shay and his son, to stop the torture, gave four guns and $800 in money to the desperadoes, who after a final beating of the women, left the place Mrs. Shay was badly injured, and she had to be carried to the hospital at Mexico City, where it was found that nearly every bone in her feet had been broken. She is in a serious condition.

"What has been true of the Shea family has been likewise true of scores of other Americans, and by staying there we took our lives in our hands. The bandits are every-

ANOTHER NE TEMERE CASE

A man in Ireland bearing the honorable name of Ussher attempted on the ground of the Ne Temere decree to sneak out of his marriage to a woman to whom he had solemnly pledged himself. When non-suited in one court he carried his base proceeding to appeal, and now he has learned from the Lord Chief Justice that, though his marriage was irregular canonically, it was certainly a bona-fide marriage, solemnly entered into. He took that woman to be his wedded wife with all the promises required, and he cannot be released, on the score of the revival of an ecclesiastical form, from the troth he plighted to one who trusted him. This man was married to one of his own servants, in his own bed room, by a priest whom he himself had summoned for the purpose. If there had been any falsity on the part of the woman it certainly would have come to light. Nothing has been alleged. The priest's bishop stepped in and declared that there had been no marriage. It was the part of a pastor in such a case to insist that there should be one. And if the man believed that he had misled the woman into thinking he had married her, it was his duty if he was a man at all to have all omitted requirements fulfilled.

AIR PRESSURE WILL MAKE WAR SHIPS SAFE

System Installed on American Cruiser Makes Her Unsinkable.

Portsmouth, N.H., April 26. A compressed air system, designed to make the vessel practically unsinkable, is being installed on the armored cruiser North Carolina, at the Portsmouth navy yard, under direction of Capt. C. C. Marsh, commanding the vessel. Capt. Marsh believes that the apparatus would keep the cruiser afloat in case of a collision with an ice berg such as sunk the Titanic or any similar accident which might damage her hull. He said that he did not originate the basic idea of the system, which is that underlying the apparatus whereby the cruiser Yankee was raised from the bottom of Buzzards Bay by means of compressed air.

The principle, Capt. Marsh said, is the creation of such an air pressure within the vessel that water cannot enter. That is, if the hull should be punctured, the compartment affected would immediately be filled with air driven at such a pressure as to force the water away from the vessel and keep it out until temporary repairs could be made.

A firm of New York engineers is installing the apparatus, and after experiments which Capt. Marsh expects to extend over several months, will be begun within a few days.

LOCAL ODDFELLOWS ATTEND SERVICE

Yesterday evening, shortly after 6 o'clock, the members of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges, I.O.O.F., gathered at Oddfellows' Hall, corner George and Hunter streets. The brethren with their badges and regalia, made a notable turnout, a long procession of them marching to the George street Methodist church. Here the members of the Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, had already assembled in the Sunday school. Seats had been reserved in the centre of the church for the visitors. Rev. I. Couch, pastor of the church, delivered an eloquent and appropriate sermon, dealing with the objects of the triple linked fraternity. The music was particularly good, the many male voices of the visitors, blending well with the choir. About four hundred of the local and visiting brethren, marched in the procession, which was three blocks in length.

A YOUNG GIRL HAS DISAPPEARED

Brantford, Ont., April 27.—Following the disappearance of Lottie Gibson, who it is believed has committed suicide, Reginald Robbins, a Holmesdale young man, is being detained on the charge of sending threatening letters. This morning Chief Lewis and a number of the firemen were called out to search the bottom of the mill race for the body of the young girl.

Mother Found a Letter.

Mrs. Gibson, mother of the missing girl, discovered the letter alleged to have been sent by Robbins. The letter threatened to expose the girl and the writer complained of her failure to keep an appointment with him. Friday at noon she left for her work at the mill in Holmedale without hat or without money. When she failed to arrive home last night her parents became alarmed with the result that a search of the mill race was instituted this morning. It was found that she had not gone to her work as usual. The river is also close by and it is possible if suspicions are confirmed the girl's body may be in the Grand. Robbins denied writing the letter and says he has no idea where the girl is. The Gibson girl, it is said, was betrothed to a young man out west, and her parents say that Robbins was continually waiting for her in the vicinity of their home.

Robbins is 26 years of age.

Body Not Yet Found.

The body of Lottie Gibson has not been found in the mill race up till noon to-day, although firemen used the dragnet the complete length of the race. The girl was last seen by Engineer Webster at the pumping station between the race and the Grand river. Her hair was dishevelled and she was without a hat.

U. S. TO ARBITRATE WITH BRITAIN ABOUT THE CLAIMS

Washington, April 27.—In an unostentatious way the British and American Governments have put into operation a scheme for the settlement by arbitration of a large number of pecuniary claims preferred by individual citizens and corporations against both Governments.

This is regarded as a striking and important illustration of the applicability of the principle of arbitration to the settlement of international claims of this kind. Already the two governments by this arrangement have agreed to arbitrate 302 claims of American citizens against Great Britain and 92 claims of British subjects against the United States.

The Secretary of States and the British Ambassador have just placed a time limit of four months upon the presentation of other claims of a like character which may be submitted to arbitration by mutual consent.

BANK MERGER A GUARANTEE OF BIGGER BUSINESS DONE

Toronto, April 27.—In view of the amalgamation of the Traders and the Royal Banks, it is of interest to review their points of competition, which will now, of course, be done away with. It is equally interesting to note the large territory each bank had enjoyed exclusive privileges in so far as opposition one to the other was concerned. The Traders Bank covers Ontario pretty thoroughly. The Royal has far more branches in the other provinces, being especially strong in Nova Scotia, where it has 23 branches and 9 in British Columbia. The Traders has no branches at all in Nova Scotia, and only three in British Columbia. In Quebec, the Royal have 11 branches, the Traders one. In Ontario the Traders have 89 branches, 9 of them in Toronto. The Royal has 30 in Ontario, three of them in this city.

NEW CHARGE WILL BE LAID AGAINST CHARLES GIBSON

Toronto, April 27.—As a result of the interview at the General Hospital yesterday, which the police had with Eli Dunkleman, the surviving victim of the Good Friday tragedy, at the Hydro-Electric station at the foot of Strachan avenue, when Joseph Rosenthal was beaten to death, Charles Gibson, now under remand on the charge of murder, will also be called on to face the additional charge of attempting to murder Dunkelman.

This was the announcement made at the police headquarters this morning. Though Inspector Duncan refuses to disclose the nature of the statements made by Dunkelman to Detectives Cronin and Mitchell, it was stated that he had charged Gibson with being the man who had inflicted the injuries which have kept him in the hospital since the morning of April 6.

"Kansas Smith."

It is said that Dunkelman told the officers that Gibson, whom he knows as "Smith," came to his house on the Wednesday and left a note for Rosenthal, and that he is the only man whom he saw at or near the Hydro-Electric station either Thursday or Friday night.

He says that he and Rosenthal went to the bridge north of the Hydro-station on Strachan avenue on Thursday to purchase wire from "Smith." No transaction took place on that occasion as "Smith" refused to take a cheque in payment.

Accordingly another appointment was made the following evening. It was arranged that another man should be on hand to remove the property after it had been purchased. This man was Hyman Silverman. Dunkelman, however, states that the latter did not show up.

Last He Saw of Rosenthal.

He says that he and Rosenthal went on the Friday evening to the bridge, where they were met by "Smith" The latter asked Rosenthal to go with him and the two disappeared behind the Hydro station.

He never saw Rosenthal again.

A short time afterwards, "Smith" came back and alone and told him to come with him. Together they went to a pile of crates behind the station and when they arrived there the electric lights began to flicker.

Smith exclaimed, "look at the lightning."

He turned his head in the direction indicated, away from Smith, and the next moment he was struck to the ground with a terrific blow on the side of the skull. He knew nothing more, he says, until he awakened.

THE THREE GRACES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was in the Public Library a few days ago, and one of those taking part in a chat we had, a legal gentleman, was discoursing on the three Graces. He had a picture of three ladies, all of whom were more distinguished by facial beauty and curve of figure than by other sartorial embellishments. Can you tell me whom these three beautiful, but scantily-clad Graces were?

J. A. Roscoe.

Reply As to whom or whence the Graces came, we have, until we get further time to enquire, to plead ignorance. Their names, however, were Thalia, Euphrosyne and Aglia.

THE BRAVE BANDSMEN.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, Now that Peterborough is contributing towards the sufferers by the Titanic disaster, it is worth while remembering that among the accounts of the brave men and women, many of them notable persons in life, and others of the humblest station, who went down to death in the catastrophe, I have been intensely interested in the story of that heroic band of musicians which stood at its post of duty upon the upper deck and played at first in cheerful rag time melody to allay the alarm of the panic stricken passengers as they came thronging out from their staterooms and cabins, bewildered, anxious and wondering as to what was happening or about to happen.

Appeals have been made to search out these and other items of information concerning them and give it to the public through its columns. If it happen they have left behind them widows and children, or dependent relatives that need aid it is suggested that a subscription among musicians throughout the world be had, each contributing his mite to raise an enduring fund in aid and care for them. The musical fraternity may well be proud of a band of men who faced and suffered death in so noble a manner.

Legless Foreigner, Put Ashore From Vessel, Keeps Lips Sealed 50 Years

Digby, N.S., April 27. WITH the death of "Gerome" a legless and silent foreigner, a mystery of many years has ended. Gerome was found on the beach at Mink Cove in 1863. During the past half century the man had steadfastly refused to divulge the secret of his existence. Not once had he spoken a single word, although distinguished linguists believed he had the power of speech. It is considered probable that his identity, his nationality and the reason of his abandonment by a ship at sea will never be known. Refus-

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

INDIA'S MAHARAJAHS

NATIVE PRINCES HAVE GREAT POWER IN PROVINCES.

Their Position Is More Important Than That of European Nobles for Each Is a Monarch In His Own Right—There Are No Less Than Six Hundred Ruling Houses Headed by the Great Nizam.

At this moment, when all that is splendid in Anglo-Indian majesty has recently been gathered in one great Eastern dependency, and weird and wonderful names, the significance of which is generally lost in this country, are appearing in the newspapers, it is appropriate that a brief space should be devoted to a succinct explanation of the position occupied by the great chiefs who assembled in the capital of Aurungzeb to do homage at the coronation of their feudal King-Emperor.

So many misconceptions are entertained by the public about the potentates of India that the present is the right moment for making their position clear. Anything like a biographical description of the Indian chiefs is, of course, impossible here, but there are certain notable points in relation to the Indian royalties which may profitably be noted.

To define the individual significance of each titular style among the Rajahs of India would be a useless task, for it is almost incapable of explanation to readers unacquainted with India. The best explanation is that given by Whitaker's Peerage, but its right to be accepted as an authority may be gauged by the statements that "Maharajah, Raja, and Nawab correspond with English peers."

A more erroneous conception of the relative position of the Indian princes it is impossible to conceive. But it explains the difficulty of dogmatizing upon Indian royalty, even when well-known Anglo-Indian gentlemen are asked to co-operate in arriving at conclusions. But in a simple form we will endeavor to put the status of the various high dignitaries of India clearly before the reader.

The Indian "Debrett," if there were such a compilation, would contain the family details of no less than six hundred ruling houses. The chief of these is the young Nizam of Hyderabad, whose coronation took place, with an immense display of feudal magnificence, last May. He is the actual ruler of a [illegible] bigger than Britain, with powers of life and death over millions of subjects.

To describe the Nizam as corresponding to a British peer is as ridiculous a statement as could well be made. The Nazim's position is so curious that he might be given a separate article. Next to the ruler of Hyderabad are the Maharajahs of Baroda, Mysore, and Cashmire. These gentlemen are all kings. In a word, they correspond in India with the German kings in Europe.

Another great Indian prince is the Rao of Kutch, and as he is the Indian potentate with whom the writer is best acquainted, his position can be precisely defined. He is a sovereign monarch, and among those of his subjects who speak English—a very small number, by the way—His Highness is usually referred to as "the King of Kutch." And this is no misnomer.

The Rao-Sahib of Kutch exercises all the attributes of a monarch. He rules with the assurance of a despot. He is an island king, whose country can only be reached by sea for the greater part of the year. The Rann of Kutch, which shuts the country off from the mainland of India, is dry for three months each year, but it can only be crossed by camels, as it is a salt desert.

His Highness has his palace high up on the top of a hill, within the embattled walls of a fortified city. To enter this city one must pass through great gates and over the drawbridges of a splendid lake. In fact, the City of Bhuj, of which probably nine-tenths of those who read these lines have never heard, is a wonderful walled stronghold, capable of housing all the people of Kutch in time of war, and which even to-day would be a hard nut to crack for the soldiers of the King-Emperor, if ever the day came that Britain found herself seriously at loggerheads with the Kutchi sovereign.

A white man is almost a rara avis within the walls of Bhuj; and when the writer drove through the city in one of the Rao-Sahib's carriages, to pay a ceremonial call upon his highness, the natives gazed at their monarch's guest in open-eyed amazement.

The Rao of Kutch rules his country without the assistance of the white man. He has never been conquered by the British. It was at the request of the Rao's ancestor that the British Government sent a Resident to Kutch in 1819, with a regiment of soldiers to manifest his authority.

There is still a Resident in Kutch. He has a charming bungalo at some distance from the town, but he loves to escape down to Bombay and feel that he is in the land of the living. For a Resident is almost an anomaly in Kutch. He has to be very careful not to interfere with the rulership of the Rao-Sahib. All he is there for is to see that the Kutchi monarch does not make war on any neighboring state. So long as the Rao is content to rule his own country, the services of the Resident are rendered a sinecure.

The Rao is the descendant of a long line of great Rajput warriors—bloodthirsty fellows at their best. But in India might has always been right and the same applies to every other Indian state. The Rao has his own army. He has beneath him a great feudal nobility, all of them rulers of their own states, who, in time of war, would send their liege lord the Rao-Sahib, their quota of men for the defence of their island country.

Public Garbage Collection to Begin.

The first collection of garbage to take place under the by-law will be on Wednesday next, May 1st, when the following route will be covered by the wagons, starting at 8 a.m.: All the hotels, fruit and fish stores and restaurants in the district lying between Smith and Dalhousie streets and Reid street and the river; the premises on Charlotte, Simcoe, Hunter and Brock between Water and Aylmer from Charlotte to Murray.

The Peterborough man, who building a home for himself, invests $4000 or $5000, is liable to have trouble when he wants to sell. The great demand for property in Peterborough is for houses and lots running at from about $1800 to $2500.

Farmers have been receiving $18 a load for hay during the past week, which is considerable of an advance over the price they have been receiving. It is not a scarcity in this city that has caused the raise in price. It is the price of the rise as well as the rise in the price.

Holders of liquor licenses will, hereafter, be impelled to watch carefully the condition of their patrons, as per the following amendment to the Liquor License Act: "Where in a municipality in which a by-law passed under section 141 of the Liquor License Act is in force, a person is found upon a street or in any public place in an intoxicated condition owing to the drinking of liquor, he shall be guilty of an offence against the said Act, and upon any prosecution for such offence he shall be compellable to state the name of the person from whom and the place in which he obtained such liquor, and in case of his refusal to do so he shall be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three months or until he discloses such information."

Underneath the surface of the earth is a vast body of water which may be likened to an underground lake, called the ground water. It is into the upper surface, frequently termed the water table, of this ground-water that wells are sunk for domestic and other water supply. It has been estimated that, all the moisture resident in the upper 100 feet of the ground were collected, the amount would be the equivalent of a lake of water some 17 feet deep, i.e. the equivalent of about 7 years' rainfall.

The announcement is made at Toronto that at the next session of the Legislature, the Ontario Medical Council examinations will likely be abolished. So far so good. But there have been specific charges made in connection with the operations of the Medical Council which will not be sufficiently met by merely abolishing the right of that body to override diplomas granted by the medical section of Ontario universities. These charges have been of a very grave character, and in the press of Canada correspondents have volunteered to prove the charges if an investigation is held.

INDIAN HOLDS HIS OWN

RED MAN IS NOT DISAPPEARING, SAYS FRANK PEDLEY.

Reports From the Agencies Throughout Canada Show That Numbers Show a Net Gain—Bloods In Saskatchewan Are High Class Farmers and Are Getting Rich—One Runs a Coal Mine—Others Improving.

There are living within the limits of Canada one hundred and eight thousand aborigines—the remnant of the people on the spot when the white-men came, who were then, and for many years afterwards, the lords of forest and lake, but who to-day are, for the most part, wards of the nation. They are the Indians, who number 103,661, and the Eskimos, of whom there is estimated to be 4,600. It is that one hundred and three thousand, six hundred and sixty-one Indians who are here under consideration.

In the Eastern Provinces, from Prince Edward Island to the head of the Great Lakes there are 38,078; and from the head of the Lakes to the Pacific Coast and the shores of the Arctic Ocean the Indian population numbers 65,583. British Columbia leads with an Indian population of 24,581, while Ontario is a close second, 22,496. Outside the provinces, that is in the Yukon, Ungava, and the territories north of Alberta and Saskatchewan, there are only seventeen thousand Indians. Were all these Indians given direct representation in the House of Commons, like other elements of the population, they are sufficiently numerous to be entitled to at least three members, or more than half as many as has the city of Toronto.

During the past year the births among Indians have exceeded deaths by a few more than three hundred, so that there has been a small net gain.

"The prevailing notion," states the report of Mr. Frank Pedley, deputy superintendent of Indian Affairs, "that the Indian population is gradually disappearing is not sustained by statistics, and in any locality where the Indians have passed through the period of exhaustion that must be met by any aboriginal race in contact with civilization, it is found that the population is either stable or upon the increase."

During the middle of the last century the gloomy prediction was made that the Iroquois, the people of the Six Nations, were doomed to speedy and total extinction. The prediction has not been fulfilled. In 1880 they numbered 3,204; to-day they number 4,402. Of course, this is the most favorable case possible, for of all our Indians none surpassed the Iroquois in intelligence. On their reserves on the Bay of Quinte, near Brantford and at other places, they are industrious, progressive, and prosperous farmers.

Taking the race as a whole, if it is to survive, it must be as an agricultural people. And this is true even of the Indians of the West, which offered the last opportunities for the free but wretched life of the savage hunter. It is now many years since the buffalo disappeared from the plains, and the rapid development of the past few years has already made even smaller game scarce. The Indian can no longer look to his rifle to procure his food, nor to his traps for the furs with which he has been accustomed to procure the other things necessary to existence. He must learn to cultivate the soil, or disappear.

It is, therefore, the aim of the Department of Indian Affairs to promote agriculture among the Indians; and it is gratifying that their efforts in this direction are meeting with considerable success. A race of hunters and loafers cannot be made into farmers in a generation or two; but that a large number of these people are turning slowly in this direction is something, and probably all that can be reasonably expected.

The report shows that last year our Indians had 56,350 acres under crop; that their grain and root crops yielded 1,494,452 bushels, and their meadows 123,198 tons of hay, the total value of their farm products amounting to $1,460,462.

In wages the Indians earned $1,540,000; their fishing yielded $691,629; their hunting and trapping $819,424, and various other industries, $352,944.

Respecting our eastern Indians there is little new to report. The general trend is upward, one proposed improvement being the introduction of agriculture among the Micmacs of Nova Scotia.

It is in the west that most is hoped for, where many bands occupy large reservations of fertile soil which only needs the application of intelligent labor to make it yield like the whiteman's farm.

A typical prosperous and promising band is that of the Blood Indians, whose reservation is between the Belly and the St. Mary's River, near Macleod, Alberta. The Bloods were once great warriors; they are now among the best red-farmers of the west. The reservation contains 354,000 acres of excellent land, and its population numbers 1,132. The principal occupations of this people are cattle-raising, general farming, haymaking, and freighting. One of the tribe, Blackhorse by name, operates a coal mine from which he derives sufficient income to support his large family.

The Bloods have their own threshing outfit, a separator with latest attachments having been purchased with tribal funds for operation with one of the large traction engines. Stack-threshing is the method followed, each Indian's farm being threshed separately, the spout of the separator emptying direct into portable granaries, of which each farmer has one or two according to the bulk of his crop."

This is an especially promising case, and only a few reservations have made as great progress as that of the Bloods. Yet nearly all the reports of agencies in the west show that some progress in farming has been achieved.—Montreal Standard.

On Friday, Oct. 13, there were no marriages in Paris, and a reference to three London papers, the Times, the Morning Post and the Globe, shows that none was recorded on that date, and a wedding is hardly a wedding if it is not put on record in the Morning Post and the Times.

In France the effect of Friday, the 13th, was even more widespread. Thousands of French people must have abstained from traveling. The receipts of the General Omnibus company in Paris showed a shrinkage of 10,000 francs, or $2,000. The Midi Railway company suffered to the extent of 15,000 francs, while the Wagons Lits fell 12,000 francs.—New York Sun.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

THE MORNING TIMES

MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1912.

WOUNDING ITSELF.

Col. George T. Denison's cabled protest to Westminster against the new Home Rule bill concluded with the question, "Will England wound herself?" The reference is to the last lines of Shakespeare's King John:

This England never did, nor never shall,
Lie at the proud foot of a conqueror,
But when it first did help to wound itself.
Now these, her princes, are come home again,
Come the three corners of the world in arms,
And we shall shock them. nought shall make us rue,
If England to itself do rest but true.

Nothing could better fit the situation says The News. The setting up at Dublin of a sovereign legislature would sorely wound the Empire at its very heart. For instance, how long would the Canadian Confederation last if Ontario had power to erect customs duties against Quebec, the rest of Confederation, the rest of the Empire and the world at large?

The bill pretends to reserve to the Imperial Parliament the power to revise Irish legislation, but the right could not be exercised without leading to discord and strife. As a result the Dublin Legislature would steadily aggrandise itself at the expense of the Imperial Parliament. As leading Irish papers have already boasted the Asquith measure is but an installment of what they mean to get. If the people of England and Scotland are still true to themselves, as the poet says, the Home Rule measure of 1912 will meet the fate of its predecessors of 1886 and 1893.

"MALEFACTORS OF GREAT WEALTH."

The fact connected with the Titanic tragedy which is likely to remain longest in the public mind, eventually transforming the awfulness of the disaster into a memory of sublime heroism, is the death, with a single much-discussed exception, of every man of more than local note who was on the doomed vessel. Amid all the conflicting testimony as to what took place, there seems no doubt that, with the possible exception of the band, no other class of persons on the ship was so completely annihilated. Not only were the women and children mostly saved but the numbers of other men saved show percentages out of all proportion to that of the men of wealth, or high position, or eminence in art and letters, who went down to death. Nor is there a single report that one of these men made a claim of any sort for a single "special privilege."

There were the president of one of the greatest railroads on the continent and a vice-president of the very greatest; there was the largest real estate owner in New York; there was the son of the foremost financier of Philadelphia; there was a leading dry-goods merchant of New York; there was a millionaire who combined the riches of the early days of the Steel trust with those of the beef trust; there was a member of the family which of all others has been a byword for opposition to enlightened conservation of our national resources, particularly in Alaska. These men were broadly representative of that class in the community, which has been stigmatized, vaguely but insistently, as "malefactors of great wealth." Yet not a stewardess or woman in the steerage was denied precedence by one of them, when the supreme test came.

THE DEFECTS OF THE WIRELESS

The Titanic disaster has emphasized the most serious present defect of the wireless system—confusion. So long as the unchartered lanes of ether are open to all senders, and while the tangled mazes of dots and dashes have access to all receivers, neither the secrecy nor the accuracy of the wireless message can be assured. The fusion of two messages which reached the Olympic on the day of the wreck deceived the world into believing that the Titanic and all her passengers were safe. "Are all Titanic passengers safe?" and "Towing oil tank to Halifax" became "All Titanic passengers safe; towing to Halifax."

A few days later the defects of the wireless served a better purpose. The interception of messages from the Carpathia, the rescue ship, interfered with the plans of J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine Company, for hurrying the Titanic's crew back to England. His message to the White Star line, asking that the Cedric be held in New York for that purpose was caught at a United States wireless station and transmitted to Washington. It determined the Senate's investigating committee to hurry to New York and begin its labors immediately upon the Carpathia's arrival.

The rules of the air for wireless messages are now matters of courtesy. Recent events will hasten the framing of a legal code of order and precedence. Care must be exercised in doing this, since the business of sending commercial messages is almost exclusively controlled by a single powerful corporation. This Marconi trust controls important rights and patents, which enable it to dominate the wireless situation. Its position has recently been strengthened by the failure of several important rivals. It would be only too easy to frame restrictive legislation which would insure to this corporation a practical monopoly.

Amateur operators must be prevented from interfering with private or governmental business, but their experimental work from practice stations should be encouraged.

The progress of invention will probably eliminate some of the present defects. A few high powered stations already are able to escape general interference. The use of codes and a few simple regulations will help to remedy some other difficulties. But until invention makes it possible to send messages either to one station only, or to all within reach, depending on whether the message is private business or a call for help, governmental regulation will be necessary.

Editorial Notes

The stockholders of the Maritime Coal, Railway and Power Co. have approved the proposed modification in the trust deed permitting the issue of $1,000,000 additional bonds, which, it is stated, will be placed in England.

Bank exchanges again display marked improvement over both preceding years, the total last week at all leading cities in the United States aggregating $3,287,812,517, an increase of 31.5 per cent. as compared with the same week last year and of 17.8 per cent. in comparison with the corresponding week in 1910.

A Canadian Lloyds is being promoted in Montreal. The federal government is being asked to either subsidize the undertaking or to guarantee to the financial interests behind the scheme the difference between the insurance premiums charged on exports via the St. Lawrence and those in effect out of Boston and New York.

The latest finding of the Department of Labor's prices record show that the past month maintained the exceptionally high point reached in February. The Department's index number was 131.2 for March compared with 131.3 in the preceding month. A year ago the number was 126.3. A feature of the past month was the decline in egg prices; on the other hand animals, meats, vegetables and imported fruit advanced.

A. McGill, chief Dominion analyst, has issued a report on 154 samples of marmalade collected throughout Canada in April of last year. Of the 154 samples no less than 138 were found to be genuine, while 14 samples contained glucose in varying amounts. The report notes that glucose is a nutritious food, and that no particular objection can be taken to commercial glucose as compound of jam or marmalade.

A statute passed by the Ontario Legislature introduced by Hon. Adam Beck, gives more extensive powers to the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission. Under its provisions the Commission has authority to conserve water powers and to expropriate electric plants for municipalities, and is given control of all municipal plants for lighting, and so forth, with authority to fix rates, and power to regulate the wiring of streets and houses.

It is understood that plans for the reconstruction of the Wabash R. R. are progressing rapidly. Winslow S. Pierce, chairman of one of the protective committees of Wabash bondholders, announced that there had been deposited with his committee approximately $11,000,000, par value, of the bonds, and that pledges had been given of further deposits sufficient to constitute a clear majority of the total outstanding issue.

The Journal of Commerce says: The Canadian Government will this summer have a thorough study made to determine the effect of an increased flow of water through the Chicago drainage canal from four thousand to ten thousand feet per second. It is roughly estimated that this would lower the water level by at least ten inches, and that makes it necessary to spend millions on dredging to deepen the harbors of Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, Port Colborne, Victoria Harbor, Montreal and the St. Lawrence Canals. Gauges will be established at various points to record the natural changes of water level as the season advances, and to measure accurately the flow of the St. Lawrence.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO TORTURED;

where. The Mexican Government is not able to stop these bandits, and many Americans believe that the Madero forces so dislike the Americans that they would rather permit the brigandage than try to stop it. Whenever rurales are near, the bandits disperse, but there is rarely a shot fired."

Beat Them to It.

Practically every man on board the Texas had a like tale to tell of experiences there. Two men who rode horse back into Vera Cruz after abandoning everything they possessed except their horses and their guns, tell of meeting four armed bandits in a narrow pass en route.

"The only reason we are here" said one of the men, "is because we were lucky enough to beat them to it."

"Everywhere you go, except right in the largest cities, you will see deserted farms, houses burned, live stock stolen, and in many instances the decaying and headless bodies of their owners are left lying about. The bandits are in such large numbers and so scattered over the interior that to resist them is useless. The Americans just have to give up everything to them when they come to the settlements, no matter how well armed they may be.

Samburn, the place where the refugees say some of the alleged atrocities occurred, is in the State of Vera Cruz, thirteen miles northwest of Santa Lucretia. It is on the Vera Cruz and Isthmus railway across the Isthmus of Tehauntepec, and is listed as a railway and telegraph station.

ten pretty tired of the Orange bellwethers and is now determined to govern itself. The office holders are merely stirring up the rank and file in the hope that the day of reckoning may in some way be postponed. The leeches have to be pride loose and the operation is necessarily painful to the leeches, if beneficial to the nation as a whole.

Protestant leaders in the States are backing up Indian Commissioner Valentine in his efforts to prevent Catholic priests and mothers from wearing clerical garb in the schools. The whole question at issue is whether teachers, men and women, who belong to various orders and societies and who teach in the Catholic Indian schools supported wholly or in part from Government funds, shall be permitted to wear the garb of their societies. There is something else of importance that enters into it—the question of personal liberty. If the Evangelizers had their way, nobody could call his soul his own. And they talk of "Protestant Liberty."

The Sentinel this week blandly informs its readers that the Catholic Church has reached that stage where it is about ready to give up the ghost. This makes about the seventeenth announcement of this kind which has appeared in the last year. Next week it will be warning the low-brows of the L.O.L. that they must awake and be stirring or the Church will gobble them up over night. For a dying institution it is wonderful the amount of worry it causes these little imitation brands of religion, which would fain pose as the real article.

"Ex-Priest" Morgan seems to have dropped entirely out of the limelight and the "Refuge of Priests" which he was to have started here seems to have been definitely postponed. Our non-Catholic friends in Toronto are getting somewhat suspicious of bogus priests, and the Methodists are not any too grateful to the Rev. C. O. Johnston for turning over his pulpit to a clerical imposter. In the United States the Methodists would not touch one of these adventurers with a forty-foot pole. They realize only too well that they have enough clerical black sheep in their own ranks without going after those who have been ejected from the Catholic fold or who have left it under suspicious circumstances. Their present attitude is the result of a chastening experience with ex-priests, bogus priests and ex-nuns. Their Canadian brethern will do well to take a leaf out of the United States Methodist book.

BRITISH RESENTS THE ENQUIRY

London, April 26.—The Titanic disaster has opened up the entire question of the organization and personnel of the British Mercantile Marine. While our shipping tonnage amounts rapidly yearly, the character of our common seamen has declined. Our mercantile officers are admittedly splendid but our men before the mast tend more and more to become foreigners, Lascars, Italians, Swedes. Fo'c'sle life in most ships has become so poor that Englishmen, save the poorest type, refuse to endure it. Poor food, worse cooking, bad accommodation, and low wages have turned many thousand decent seamen to other work. Sailor's quarters are notoriously the worst streets in every English port. The sentiment is growing here that British ships shall be made endurable for British sailors that fair wages, decent quarters, good food shall be guaranteed by the State, and that owners who man ships with cheap foreigners shall be supertaxed. The owners declare "British born sailors are so drunken discontented, and lawless that we are driven to employ foreigners." Shipping experts reply that they are bad because conditions in the average fo'c'sle are so unendurable.

London deeply resents what we consider harsh pre-judgment and unfair treatment of the Titanic Witnesses by the Senate. Men here scoff at the ignorance betrayed by the Senate Committee. Had any other country but America acted so, there would have been diplomatic pressure and protest.

MYSTERIOUS TO HIS DEATH

ing to talk, work, read or look at pictures, "Gerome" spent his last days a ward of the government. The man, it has just been announced, died at a farm house three miles west of Metaghan on St. Mary's Bay, near the spot where he was cast ashore.

One afternoon in August, 1863, two fishermen were on a hill overlooking the bay, saw a schooner tack into the harbor. A boat was lowered over the vessel's side. The fishermen thought nothing of the incident. The next day a man was found in a dory on the shelving beach. Only a bottle of water and a package of sea biscuits were found in the boat. The man's legs had been severed, the work having apparently been that of a skilful surgeon. When spoken to, he moaned, almost unintelligibly, "Gerome." Nothing more could be extorted from him.

The fishermen sought the village priest and doctor and they bore him to the nearest cottage, where food and warmth were provided and his wounds dressed. "How did you lose your legs?" asked the priest after he had applied all the tender ministrations of his office. The cripple looked up for a moment with a gleam in his eyes, but almost immediately they glazed and dulled; he shook his head and relapsed into a silence that has not been broken by more than two score years. Men in various walks of life have questioned him during the passing years, but their efforts were fruitless. At first he received the questions with an air of almost imbecile stolidity. Eventually he showed irritation, and often went so far as to strike savagely at his inquisitors.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1667, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

"Only six."

"Couldn't you find any more?"

Manifest Destiny.

"I always have to get back at somebody or kill myself trying."

"Just why do you do that?"

"I dare say it is because I was born to get back at some one."

The Sixth Sense.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences M. Kunz discussed the phenomenon of "feeling at a distance," to which the power of blind people to avoid nearby obstacles is ascribed. M. Kunz believes that such a power exists and that it is not peculiar to the blind. It seems to be shared by others who possess a peculiar constitution. The faculty appears to reside in the skin, for experiments show that it is not connected with the sense of hearing. As to its nature, little knowledge has been obtained. There is a tendency to ascribe obscure phenomena of this kind to electrical action, but the mode of operation remains unknown.

A Baltic-Black Sea Canal.

It is stated that the old project for uniting the Baltic with the Black sea is at last to be put into operation. By utilizing the rivers Dwina and Dnieper a navigable waterway 1,000 miles long can be constructed without any great engineering problems, extending from the port of Riga on the Baltic to Kherson on the Black sea. The cost is estimated at about $250,000,000, but the benefit to Prussian commerce and industries will be immense.—American Travelers' Gazette.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:

South Lancaster, Gananoque, Kingsville, Blind River, Cobourg, Honey Harbour, Port Hope, Deseronto, Trenton.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 20, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

A recent issue of the Ontario Gazette gives notice that the Quaker Oats Company is authorized to increase the amount of its capital which it may use in Ontario from $1,250,000 to $2,000,000.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS.

Quaint Usages and Superstitions Connected With Stockings.

Stockings figure in some curious superstitions touching old customs, especially those connected with marriage. Every one knows that there are actions both lucky and unlucky. Among the former, it is commonly held that to put on any article of clothing wrongside out is decidedly a sign of good luck; but it must be done accidentally, and when the mistake is found out no change must be made, else the luck will immediately vanish. This idea is very firmly held about stockings, probably because it is more easy to make such a mistake in putting than in donning other garments.

Another superstition touching the use of hose is connected with dreaming. This is a Scotch notion. If a person be about to sleep in a bed that he or she has never slept in before, the certainty of dreaming can be assured by placing the stocking taken off the right foot under the head. Not only will the sleeper be sure to dream, but the dream will certainly come to pass.

Of the superstitions attached to marriage ceremonies, most people have heard of "throwing the stocking." This rite would hardly be regarded now as consistent with modern notions of decorum, but it was highly popular in days gone by. The ceremony was performed at the conclusion of the wedding-day's festivities, by young men and girls seated at the bed-foot—the former have the bride's and the latter the groom's stockings—whose object in throwing the hose backwards over their heads was to hit, if possible, the head, and especially the nose, of one or other of the newly-married couple. A successful shot meant marriage at an early date for the thrower.

A pleasant association connected with stockings is familiar to all households at Christmas time. Children still hang up their stockings at Christmas Eve in the simple faith that Santa Claus will fill them during that night of wonder; or, if the little people are too sophisticated to believe in the stories of St. Nick's peregrinations, they still retain a firm faith in the goodness of his domestic representatives, and duly hang up their stockings as their predecessors have done for generations. And not children alone hung up their hose of old. Grown-ups, as well as the small folk, used to observe this custom most conscientiously. But in the old days the hanging up of the stocking took place not on Christmas Eve, but more appropriately on the eve of St. Nicholas' Day, which falls on the fifth of December.

Another old custom, which the superstitious sometimes remember when they get married, is to wear one old stocking and one new one following the thought, perhaps, that every bride should wear "something old; something new." To this day many brides adhere to this old habit, or superstition, but they do not confine the apparel to stockings.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is man who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

Little Pushes.

The world's progress is caused not only by the mighty pushes of its heroes, but also by the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker, and every man who refuses to push because his effort would be so small is making a foolish mistake.

Cement Galore.

Millions of tons of the best cement are said to be contained in limestone deposits found along the Skeena river.

Cooked 1,500,000 Chops.

Of very few men can it truthfully be said, "He has cooked a million chops." Yet William, of Edwards', in Fishmonger Alley, London, who will presently celebrate the jubilee of his professional career, is believed to have cooked a million and a half. About ten thousand of these he has eaten himself.

The calculation was made one day on the table cloth by a distinguished statistician, who was so shocked by the figures that he dared not go on to estimate the tons of steaks, the mountains of kidneys, and the miles of sausages. "I wonder, William," he said, "that you are not ashamed to look a flock of sheep in the face."

"I have not eaten a steak for twenty-five years," he said, "but I have eaten a chop every day. Some people say you cannot live on one thing, but I still manage to keep alive. Sixty-six that is my age."

Unprofitable Misery.

A Boston professor comes out of his insulation and remarks that a pleasure loving woman cannot be beautiful, because suffering is essential to true beauty.

It used to be said that no woman could be a great actress until she had suffered.

And yet actresses continue to marry and divorce and undergo all sorts of humiliations and tribulations without the slightest indication of artistic improvement.

What do these alleged wise men know about it anyway?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Br'er Williams and the Legislature.

"I hear tell," said Brother Williams, "dat de legislatur' won't be wid us mo'n long 'nuff ter say good mawnin' an' goodby."

"Well, that's long enough, isn't it?"

"No, suh, kaze I wuz thinkin' 'bout axin' it fer a job. I wanted ter be one er dem messengers what dey hires."

"What! And you so old?"

"Yes, suh," he said reflectively, "I knows I'm old enough to know better, but needin' de money ez I does I could even make up my mind ter go in de legislatur'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Couldn't Keep It Quiet.

Being called to his feet unexpectedly at the gathering and asked to respond informally to the toast "The Ladies," Mr. Gillers hemmed and hawed and began:

"My friends, all that I am, all that I have in the world, I owe to a woman—my wife."

Here he was interrupted by that lady herself, who arose and said:

"I told you when you put the property in my name you'd give it away the first time you opened your mouth."

Too Ready With Assistance.

Jones (sadly)—Yes, I know. I was down to see his daughter the other night, and he helped me out too.

LOVE OF PUBLICITY.

All Who Profess Indifference Love To Be Mentioned In the Press.

No wonder editors, reporters, and journalists generally are cynics! They see so much of the inner side of things. The public see Lord Blank, the cold, austere statesman, who cares nothing for the praise or blame of the newspapers, who "does not advertise"—in Kipling's famous phrase.

The editor knows Lord Blank to be a fussy old gentleman, who is furiously angry if his name is not in the account of any function he has happened to attend, if only as a spectator, and sends his chief private secretary to the newspaper in a swift motor-car in order that he may insist on the omission being rectified.

This writer once interviewed, for a London evening paper, a member of Parliament who had been making himself rather conspicuous by his attitude on Indian affairs. At the interview the M.P. was very condescending, and tried to give the impression that he cared nothing for publicity, and that he was merely giving the information "to oblige," so to speak. It will hardly be believed that that condescending legislator was so impatient to see what the paper said that he called at the office at the publishing hour in order to obtain a copy at the earliest possible moment!

A lady prominent in philanthropic and "social reform" circles was once made the object of a little gentle journalistic chaff by a colleague of the writer's. How angry she was! She called at the office, accompanied by a mild and down-trodden-looking husband, for the express purpose of rating him. After pouring out the vials of her wrath on the offending—but, one is afraid, quite unrepentant—scribe, she swept towards the door, which gave her husband a chance to whisper, with a stealthy wink: "The best advertisement my wife has ever had!"

Many people would rather be abused by the press than ignored altogether. There is one class, at least, that resents disparagement most bitterly, and that is the theatrical folk. As a dramatic critic and theatrical paragrapher this writer has noticed one curious fact. Mention to an actor of your acquaintance that you have given him a good notice, and he professes the utmost indifference—"hasn't seen it," and so forth. Give him a bad notice, and he sees it at once, and takes the trouble to seek you out and remonstrate with you personally.

In this connection here is another funny story. An eminent actor-manager once went to the United States with his company, and in due course "opened" in New York. The New York critics were very unkind, and next morning's paper contained a series of the most terrible slatings. The great man's manager went into his room at the hotel, where he was still in bed, to see how he was taking his "roasting." "Seen the papers? No! What do I care about papers?" said the actor languidly, turning over as if to sleep again and show his indifference. Alas, on that action there followed a most portentous rustling and crackling. He had got all the papers underneath the bedclothes!

One of these "hate-publicity" people once gave the present writer some information for an article, and on being asked, said he did not care about his name being mentioned, one way or the other. As the editor of the paper was down on anything that looked like a free "ad.," the name was accordingly omitted from the article. But the person who, on his own showing, was utterly indifferent to publicity, took the trouble to write a furious letter, roundly abusing the journalist for his "bad faith" in leaving out his name!

Thimbles.

The thimble was at first worn on the thumb, and for that reason was called thumb bell, which later became thumble and finally thimble. It was invented by the Dutch and brought to England in 1695.

The first thimbles were made of iron or brass; later came those of silver, gold, steel, horn, ivory, pearl and glass. The Chinese make beautiful thimbles of carved pearl, with gold binding and ends.

One of the most gorgeous thimbles ever seen was a bridal gift from the King of Spain to his Queen; it was made of gold, shaped like a lotus bud, and was thickly studded with diamonds, arranged so as to spell the Queen's name.

The New and the Old.

Governor Foss of Massachusetts tells of a well known divine who came visiting a state prison when he came across a prisoner whose features were familiar to him. "What brought you here, my poor fellow?" he asked.

"You married me to a woman a little while ago, sir," the prisoner replied, with a sigh.

"Ah, I see," said the parson. "And she was domineering and extravagant, and she drove you to desperate courses, eh?"

"No," said the prisoner, "my old woman turned up."

Job Got His.

"You know Job was a very patient man," said the Sunday school teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," said the little scholar.

"And you know he had many, many afflictions come to him."

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, what do we learn from Job's life?"

"That everything comes to him who waits, ma'am."

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior ten[illegible] chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

SILVER AND GOLD MARKS.

Marking Made Compulsory In Great Britain In 1363.

Silver and gold articles made in Great Britain and Ireland from the year 1363 were required to be marked with a maker's symbol or initial letters, says The Queen. In addition it had been ordained in the year 1300 that a leopard's head, or, more accurately, a lion's head, should also be stamped on every piece. This head bore a crown until the year 1821.

In the year 1545, in addition to the maker's mark and lion's head, it was ordained that a lion-passant should be placed on all silver. From March 1696, to June, 1720, Britannia and lion's head erased were substituted for the leopard's head and lion passant.

In addition to these marks, the assayer impressed a date letter from about 1438. The date letter began with A, and went onward with each successive letter of the alphabet for a cycle of twenty years. Each cycle was distinguished by a different form of letter and different shape of the enclosing shield. As far as has yet been discovered, the earliest dated piece is of the year 1479, though we find instances of silver with the date of nearly all subsequent years.

It must not, however, be forgotten that much beautiful gold and silver work is still in existence which was made in England and Ireland long before the regulations for marking it existed. It may seem remarkable that it is in Ireland that we find the finest work in metals, and that from the fifth to the tenth century Irish work is found in the highest perfection and equal to any made in Europe. Two most beautiful specimens, both of which can be seen in the Royal Irish Academy, are the Ardagh chalice and the Tara brooch.

In considering plate, there is that important section, ecclesiastical plate, and it is sad to think how few and comparatively unimportant are the specimens of church plate made prior to the Reformation that still exist. We read, for instance, that St. Olave's, Southwark, in the year 1552 possessed more than 1,000 ounces of silver — chalices, crosses, basins, pyxes, chrismatory, censers, cruets, etc. These have all disappeared, and in like manner the silver plate, almost without exception, which formed a precious possession in every parish throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland.

In the last year of King Edward VI. instructions were issued by which all church plate was seized and confiscated, excepting one or two chalices, according to the population. All the rest were seized for conversion to the King's use. No doubt some pieces were hidden away in their respective parishes; but at any rate when Mary came to the throne all these precious relics, however preserved, came into use again. On Elizabeth coming to the throne, all the former prohibitions came into force, and we find inquiries made to each parish whether they possessed "any prophane cups, bowls, dishes or chalices heretofore used at masse."

Without Ceremony.

More or less ceremony usually attends the laying of a corner-stone, but in one case at least it was laid quite simply.

Two men were talking of the fortune of a third when one said:

"He made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage and sold them at a profit of more than 300 per cent. That was the corner-stone of his present fortune."

"Ah," exclaimed the other man. "Then the hens laid it!"

A Reform Movement.

Mrs. Benham—When we women get to running the Government we'll do a thing or two.

Benham—Such as what?

Mrs. Benham—We'll make a man take out a hunter's license before he can look for a collar button, and in his application he will have to certify that he doesn't swear.

A Practical View.

"Father," said the inquisitive boy, "what is a genius?"

"A genius, my son, is a man who gets a whole lot of advertising without being able to do any profitable business with it."

Silk Imports.

Silk goods from France, Switzerland, and Germany to the annual value of thirteen million pounds are imported into Great Britain.

Evening Frocks.

Authorities are divided on one important item—the length of evening frocks. In spite of the fact that most of the new models this year are made with a ten or twelve inch pointed train, one of the greatest Paris houses shows a majority of its new evening gowns with the short skirt just instep length.

Since there is this division of opinion among the great originators of fashion it would seem that each young woman may choose for herself as to whether she will cling to the youthful round length skirt or will prefer the more formal trained effects worn by the older women. Some wonderful new black jet trimmings are used this season, and white and colored spangles, bugles and brilliants are strongly in evidence. A black velvet evening frock cut en surprise has the deep V yoke of cream white maline lace. This corsage is outlined with a narrow row of brilliants and trimmed with a cut jet motif which extends down into the skirt to the lower edge.

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets in, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow.

That the best method of curing catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough remedies contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs—you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry, racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me, and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone Inhaler—it means life to me."

The above experiences is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollars size of catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size, 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 houfs, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

LIVES ON RAW FRUITS.

Chicago Woman Says 30 Cents a Day Will Provide For Three.

Throw out the cook stove and live on raw fruits and vegetables if you would decrease the cost of living.

For eight years this has been the motto of Mrs. Charles Smith, vegetarian and suffragist, who resides at 4528 Hazel avenue and to whom the high cost of living agitation is all a joke. Other axioms of Mrs. Smith are:

Wear clothing made of vegetable fiber, eat vegetarian foods and follow the meaning of one little word—simplicity.

If your complexion is bad throw away cosmetics—eat oranges.

But, above all things, get rid of the cook stove. There is nothing elevating in society dinners any more than there is in ragtime music.

These observations were made by Mrs. Smith when as president of the Chicago Vegetarian Society she called the first fall meeting of the organization to order in Kimball hall.

When asked concerning her decreased cost of living meals at the close of the meeting Mrs. Smith gave the noon and night menus of herself and husband, for they eat but two meals a day. Upon such a delicious and extravagant array of food a family of three may live, she says, for 30 cents a day.

Here is what they ate:

For Breakfast.—Pecans and dates, sliced tomatoes and lemon juice and grapes.

For Dinner.—Celery and lettuce, sun dried olives, apples, whole wheat crackers, honey, figs and Brazil nuts.

"The civilized ideas of today are killing the race," declared Mrs. Jean Roberts Albert, secretary of the society. "We cater to degeneracy. We should live more simply, more primitively. Plenty of pure raw foods and plenty of sunshine are all that is required."—Chicago Record-Herald.

SLAVING IN NIGERIA.

Wiles of Traders Nullified by British Agents.

Late one afternoon a large canoe from up-river came slowly alongside and made fast. In it were a man, a woman, a lad, and a small child.

The man and the lad were working the canoe, and as they came up, the man shouted some order to the lad at the stern. He repeated it more than once, and the lad at each repetition, started some new act. It struck me as curious that the lad failed to understand what was said to him.

I recognized the languag in which the man spoke as being Nupe. He told me that he was a Nupe, and that the woman was his wife, mother of the lad and of the wee girl.

As neither he nor his wife could make any sort of conversation with either of the children, though these talked freely one to the other, it was reasonably clear that the claim to be their parents was to be accepted in the Pickwickian sense only.

My own interpreter, a worthy fellow with command of seven languages, could do nothing with them. Amateur interpreters, speaking all manner of curious dialects, tried, without plain sailing. They came from a pagan district a couple of hundred miles or more above Rama, on the river, and, owing to famine had been sold for three bags of corn to the canoeman and his wife three weeks before we met.

Later on, they were returned to their people. Ere that, they appeared in court to testify against their purchasers. These were convicted, and are at this present time engaged in building operations on his Majesty's behalf at no great distance from Rama.—World's Work.

A DESERVED AMERICAN VERDICT

The New Orleans, La., United States a Southern paper, pays a deserved and manly tribute to the late John Jacob Astor. Of course, any multimillionaire is open to censure by everyone. The United States, however, handles his death, on the Titanic, as follows:

Reading the stories of the survivors of the Titanic disaster, the world is likely to soften its judgment of John Jacob Astor. Where the testimony is so general and the temptation to exaggeration so small, the verdict must be that he died as a hero and a gentleman.

No one on the great liner had more to live for. To none was life sweeter. But he recognized the inexorable law of the sea, did his share to stay the panic, helped the women and children to their places in the lifeboats, and then went down with the ship.

His recent divorce and marriage, sensationalized because of his great wealth, had not commended him to public esteem. Many very harsh and bitter things have been said against him. The popular notion of him probably was that he was an idler and a cad.

In the light of his conduct on the Titanic and the tragedy of his death, however, says The Baltimore Sun, we see things in a better perspective. We recall new facts about his life which we had forgotten, or learn facts we never knew.

He was neither an idler nor a cad. He was born to great wealth. He had not, therefore, the incentive that so often brings success in business, the arts or the sciences; and yet he lived a life of great activity and much usefulness, and was a patriot when the occasion arose.

He liked adventure. He was not afraid to take his chances in making it. On the deck of the Titanic was not the only instance in which he carried his life in his hands nor yet on El Paso dam roads which won him a first prize at the Chicago Exposition. He had to his credit a number of other inventions which he gave to the world.

He was a deep student and the author of several books, one of them a highly imaginative work dealing with life on Jupiter and Saturn. He was a successful business man. Inheriting great wealth, he managed it so judiciously as to add enormously to its volume, not by stock speculation but by his investments in real estate, and at least five of the greatest hotels in New York or the world, were erected by him.

At the breaking out of the Spanish war he patriotically raised and equipped a battery with smokeless powder guns and sought only a subordinate position in it. He might have stayed at home and watched the conflict from that distance; but he went with the troops to Cuba, participated in the battle of Santiago, had a horse he was riding killed by shrapnel, showed the same coolness and courage in the fight on El Paso hill as he did on the deck of the Titanic and was commended in the official reports for "faithful and meritorious service."

His life was a triumph over environment. It had a fitting climax in the greatest maritime tragedy of the centuries.

FISHERY INSPECTOR GRANDY DROWNED.

News comes from Omemee that Mr E. Grandy, recently appointed assistant fishery inspector, at Emily Creek, has been drowned. It seems that Mr. Grandy, with a Mr. Everett, drove out to the creek on Wednesday morning. Mr. Grandy, started in his canoe for an island in the creek. Some trappers telephoned that they had found his upturned canoe, and his goods in the water. Although Mr. Grandy was a good swimmer and an expert canoeist, the water was very rough. Mr. Grandy is a brother of the Postmaster at Omemee. Mr. Grandy's body was found in Emily Creek Thursday morning. Very general regret is felt over this sad occurrence. The deceased leaves a heart-broken widow.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES.

Mr. M. L. Stewart has been sent by the Philippine government as a commissioner to the United States, and he brings the information that the American people are quite ignorant of their island possessions. Among other things he says that experiments in rubber culture have been made with highly satisfactory results, and in the near future the Philippines will be producing a good supply.

We are told that the island government is now self-sustaining and the people have practically self-government; that the number of natives who speak English now is greater than the public schools with 620,000 pupils, and the University of the Philippines, at Manila, has 1400 students.

Another interesting bit of information is that there are 11,000,000 acres of virgin hardwood forests, and 4,000,000 acres of the best sugar land, capable of producing enough sugar to supply the United States. The climate is said to be comfortable and healthful—the death rate among the white population being smaller than in New York. Before 1898 smallpox was the scourge of the islands, carrying off about 40,000 of the native population every year, but vaccination was introduced and the disease has disappeared.

In commenting on the commercial possibilities Mr. Stewart directed attention to the fact that one-half the population of the world resides within 1900 miles of Manila, and that city would, if American manufacturers had not neglected their opportunity, be the distributing point for American products. He also called attention to the fact that while China last year spent $900,000,000 for manufactured goods, only 10 per cent came from the United States.

The gentleman, however, seems not to be aware of the fact that the American manufacturer is so busy getting tariff laws and "doing up" the buyers in the home market that he has no time to extend his trade to the markets of the world.

TO PROBE CAUSE ROXBURY STRIKE

Boston, Mass., April 17.—An order was introduced into the House yesterday by Representative McGrath of Roxbury, calling for an investigation by a committee of three to be appointed by the Speaker, into the causes of the Roxbury Mills carpet strike, to determine the responsibility therefor, and to endeavour to effect a settlement. The order was referred to the Committee on rules.

The resolve for a constitutional amendment to permit the Legislature to levy a uniform tax on personal property throughout the State was ordered to a third reading.

The peaceful persuasion bill was ordered to a third reading without debate.

The amendments to the Boston charter to provide for a larger city council, which was rejected in the Senate last week, were rejected in the House yesterday.

The House, by a vote of 48 to 76 refused to reject the bill extending the widows' pension law to those who married Spanish war veterans, previous to April 11, 1905, as recommended by the committee on ways and means.

The resolve appropriating $15,000 a year for three years, to be expended by the State board of agriculture for the encouraging of dairying by the

LORDS OF THE MANOR.

They Were Once All-Powerful in England.

Rural England is studded liberally with manor houses. Almost every village owns one, either a genuine antique, or a more or less modern imitation. Better still, many villages possess a real, live lord or lady of the manor.

Lords of the manor have been ruthlessly shorn by the march of our social system, but some of their former glory still remains. Little more than a dozen miles from Charing Cross one rural ruler holds his court leet to this very day—a gathering of his tenants, at which rents are paid and business of the estate discussed.

The history of the manor is to a great extent that of England. Centuries ago, it was divided up among the victorious generals of conquering armies. They themselves sub-divided it among their soldiers. Under this systems the serfs followed petty lords, guaranteeing military service for the use of the land; the lords were responsible to the earls and the earls to the King. The petty chiefs were the lords of the manor.

In the days of William the Conqueror there were no fewer than 1,422 manors in England, and, as Byron puts it in "Don Juan" "Eight and forty manors were their reward for following Billy's banners." No fresh manors were created after the year 1289, however, except in rare instances, such as when the nation presented a victorious general with an estate. This happened in the case of the Duke of Wellington, and to this day a condition of the Manor of Strathfieldsaye is that its owner offers the King a flag once a year.

Curious and often whimsical were the terms under which the majority of lords of the manor held their rights. For example, one manorial monarch undertook that whenever the King should cross a certain bridge he would meet him there with two white capons, and address him thus: "Behold, my lord, these two white capons, which you shall have another time, but not now."

Another lord was bound to appear before the King every Christmas Day, and in his presence to dance a jig and puff out his cheeks. Yet another had to present His Majesty annually with a lance, from which a fox's tail depended. Indeed, weapons were very popular as tokens of the Sovereign's rights, and swords, spurs and warlike accoutrements were frequently chosen.

The tenants of the majority of manors are copyholders; that is to say, they hold the land for life from the lord of the manor. When they die, or transfer the land, a heriot must be paid. This is in the nature of a fine, usually consisting of the best "quick-beast" — horse or cow — but sometimes commuted to a sum of money.

Considerably under a hundred years ago copyholders of land possessed no vote. The lord of the manor, princely in his petty powers, ruled all within his leet. The leet kept the stocks in repair, and provided the pillory and tumbrell—the latter a ducking stool, by means of which misdemeanants were immersed; women in clean water; brewers and bakers in the filthiest liquid that could be found.

The Manor of Pewsey, in Wiltshire, was conveyanced by means of a horn that had to be blown at the accession of a new lord, and every year the City of London pays certain horseshoes and nails as rent for a piece of land in the parish of St. Clement Dane.

Nowadays, lords of the manor are a dying class. It requires two copyholders at least to form a manor, and many modern "serfs" have their land made freehold by buying out the overlord.

Ostrich Chases M.P.

While sightseeing outside Ladysmith, during his tour in South Africa, Sir Joseph Walton, M.P. for Barnsley, Eng., had an exciting adventure. He noticed that he was being pursued by a cock ostrich. This, it appears, was the same bird which had previously knocked down two officers, who were compelled to lie down on their faces while the bird stood or jumped on them.

"Knowing that my only chance of escape," says Sir Joseph, "was to lie down flat on my face, or get on an elevation, I made quickly for the laager (thrown up during the siege), and mounted the wall. I went round the walls of the laager, hoping to shake him off, but he followed steadily yard by yard, awaiting his opportunity.

"At last I signalled to my carriage, and when it was between me and the ostrich I leaped off the laager and bolted into the carriage. We drove off, followed a long way by the bird."

Women on the English Stage.

Pepys went to the Clare Market Theatre on Jan. 3, 1661, say "The Beggar's Bush well performed and records "the first time that I ever saw women come upon the stage." Previously all female parts had been taken by boys or young men. The change was probably suggested by Charles II. from his continental experience and arose from an amusing episode. The King had gone to the theatre "before his time," and, finding the actors not ready, asked for an explanation, whereupon he was gravely informed that the queen has not shaved yet!" As the merry monarch loved to laugh at a jest as well as to make one, the excuse was accepted and a reform initiated.—Westminster Gazette.

Dickens Spared Not His Pen.

With so many demands upon his pen one would expect to find Dickens availing himself of all possible brevities in his correspondence at least. But a glance through his letters shows that he scorned all such opportunities and preferred to spell everything out. The date of the months, for example, are given in words instead of figures. "Monday, sixteenth January"; Tuesday, seventh March"; "Wednesday, twelfth April"; "twenty-sixth May," "Friday evening, nineteenth May"—in this way are all his letters dated. He spared not his pen.

mingham to enlarge its source of water supply by taking water from the metropolitan reservoir in the town, was substituted for the adverse report of the committee on water supply, on a voice vote.

An effort to substitute for the adverse committee report a bill prohibiting the use of the waters of Lake Cochituate for domestic purposes until they have been purified, failed on a rising vote of 26 to 46.

The Boating Season is Open.

Navigation on the Otonabee River is on again. This is officially shown by the arrival of the steamer Geneva from Gore's Landing. The river near Wolf street bore a number of canoes and launches, whose owners were evidently anxious to force the season. There is every reason to expect that Peterborough, acknowledged by the magazines of the whole world, as the Mother of Canoe building will this year sustain her reputation, and not only entertain thousands of visitors, but supply a large percentage of them with Peterborough made canoes.

Trouble in Back Country.

There has been a lot of talk about the high water this spring. Last Tuesday Mr. Jack Hardill, traveller for P. Kinnear & Co., with Mr. Sherwood, another traveller, started out for Apsley driven by Ernest Lawrence, driver for Gibbs' Livery. Just after arriving at Buckhorn the rig was in three feet of water, which flowed over the road. At Mississagua Creek the water was two and a half feet over the road. At Burleigh Falls, the occupants of the rig had to sit on the cover of the vehicle to keep their feet dry.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Pigeon Creek Bridge in Danger.

It is claimed that Pigeon Creek Bridge is in danger from high water, and the damage done by ice. This bridge has been closed to traffic for some days, and is likely to remain so for some time to come. Large sections of the structure may be found floating on the lake, and will later be salvaged as driftwood. The ice on Mud Lake shows little signs of decomposition, and should the wind veer around and increase in velocity, serious damage would undoubtedly result.

Chief Engineer Armstrong of the Hudson Bay Railway, whose headquarters are at Winnipeg, has received instructions from the Minister of Railways, to send out two parties to the Bay immediately, one to go to Fort Churchill and the other to Port Nelson. They will remain at these places for a couple of months, taking observations and making surveys as to the suitability of the respective ports to be the terminals of the line. Upon the result of their reports and recommendations will depend the final choice.

Crucifixion at Norwood.

The combined choirs of St. John's and All Saints' Churches, presented the oratorio "Crucifixion" in Christ church, Norwood, before a crowded congregation. The chancel space being limited, twelve less than at first proposal made the journey, by the choirs. At a reception given them in the rectory the leading members of the congregation, voiced by the Rev. Mr. Pickford and Mr. Cuffe, expressed their deep gratitude to the singers for their programme. Mr. R. J. Devey conducted, ably assisted at the organ by Miss Flowers.

A Local Liquor Case.

At Saturday's Police Court, Cim Wilson, a blacklister, was fined $10 for indulging in the cup that cheers and also inebriates. Wilson claimed to have got his liquor from Albert Crouter. Crouter pleaded not guilty. Wilson swore to getting the grog. Mrs. Pearl Wright was in the house, but saw no liquor sold. Brock Wright said he had a few drinks in Crouter's house. He bought a flask from Crouter. Crouter was fined $25 or 30 days in jail.

Mrs. Ritchie Home Again.

The many friends of Mrs. Dorthea Ritchie, corner of Dublin and Stewart streets, will be pleased to learn that she has recovered sufficiently from her recent attack of pneumonia as to be brought home from Montreal, where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Freeborn. As Mrs. Ritchie is an octogenarian, her recovery from so serious an attack, speaks highly of the tender care given her by relatives and the skill of the Montreal physicians.

57th For Barriefield.

The 8th and 9th Infantry Brigades will go into camp on June 10th and remain until the 21st. The 8th Brigade will be composed of the following: Headquarters, 42nd. Regiment; Pembroke, and the 59th Regiment (attached), Cornwall. The 9th Brigade will consist of Headquarters; 40th Regiment, Cobourg; 45th Regiment, Lindsay, and 46th Regiment, Port Hope.

A Peculiar Ring About the Sun.

Between 11.30 and 11.45 yesterday morning, the springtime sun shone brightly. A few fleecy clouds drifted past to the east. Suddenly there appeared an absolutely perfect semi-transparent ring around the orb of the day. This ring was very similar to those one sees round the moon on a winter's night, just before a heavy snowstorm, or some such foul weather to follow. The ring was at its clearest to the north west of the sun. To the south and southeast, it soon faded away, dissolving with and into the drifting clouds.

Medal Contest by W.C.T.U.

At the recent meeting of the W.C.T.U., held at the residence of Mrs. Ellis, Harvey street, it was decided to hold a "Medal Contest." Mrs. Payne gave an interesting paper on the history of the W.C.T.U. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held under the department of "Moral Education and Mothers' Meetings," and will be held in the rooms over the Public Library. All mothers will be welcomed to this meeting Last Friday in May.

English Farm Hands Quickly Hired.

Mr. Howson, local Immigration Agent, is kept busy these days. The farmers from Asphodel to Ennismore and from Hiawatha to North Harvey are daily haunting his office on Water street, in search of hired farm help. On Saturday a party consisting of nearly half a hundred skilled farm hands arrived in the city, in care of a licensed passage broker of London, Eng. The members of the party were placed on good farm jobs within a very short time. With the sons of Canadian farmers leaving the land to live in the towns and cities, the advent of these and other English immigrants, is one of the few tangible hopes existing for cheaper living.

Formal Opening of Protestant Home.

The new Protestant Home is to be formally opened to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. The public are cordially invited to attend the opening and inspect the building. The short dedicatory service is in charge of the Ministerial Association of the city. The band of the 57th Regiment and Mr. Gliddon's orchestra will discourse sweet music during the evening which will add greatly to the pleasure of the visitors. His worship Mayor Bradburn will occupy the chair and short addresses will be given by Lieutenant-Governor Colonel Sir John Gibson, K.C.M.G., Dr. Bruce Smith, His honor Judge Rogers and E. A. Peck, M.P.P. J. H. Burnham, M.P. will give a short history of the home. It is expected that Senator Cox will be present. A vocal solo by Miss Howell and violin music by Miss Palmer will be attractive features of the evening.

OBITUARY.

Mary Jane Wilkinson.

On Friday night, Mary Jane Wilkinson, 266 Dalhousie street, passed away. The deceased had been a resident of Peterborough for twenty years, coming from Montreal to this city. Her husband, the late Charles Wilkinson, predeceased her some years ago. The late Mrs. Wilkinson is survived by a daughter, living at home, one sister and three brothers. The funeral will take place at two o'clock this afternoon, to the Little Lake cemetery, the Rev. Mr. Grobb officiating.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

It is to be hoped, and is expected that Riverside Park will soon be dry and ready for practice by the club.

Rev. Canon Davidson of St. John's and Rev. R. B. Grobb, of All Saints church, exchanged pulpits yesterday.

Improvements are to be made to Nicholls Hospital, including enlargement and better fire escapes.

Port Hope is to have a Carnegie Library. It will greatly resemble that built at Campbellford.

Manager Templin is expecting to land two more pitchers for his staff. They will likely come from Springfield, Mass.

The Imperial Tobacco Co. are going to erect at Riverside Park a new score board which will be about 30 feet long and the letters 18 inches high.

The flying dust was a "holy terror" on Saturday. Everywhere men could be seen using handkerchiefs or fingertips to get real estate out of their eyes.

The Largest and Best Vacuum Carpet Cleaner in the city can be rented by the day. Just the thing for Spring house cleaning. For particulars Phone No. 274.

Ald. Duffus has returned from a trip to Detroit and other places in connection with the Ford Automobile He was greatly pleased with his trip and the excellent progress made by the Ford Company.

The old Protestant Home building on Stewart street, is to be sold by auction on May 15th. There is a large stone building on the premises which might be converted into a desirable residence.

Among the list of Ontario Veterinary College graduates to receive diplomas appears the name of M. P. Kennedy, of Lakefield. Dr. Kennedy has commenced practice in Lakefield.

Messrs. Wilfred Hall and R. Dixon are meeting with the plaudits of all present at the Conservatory of Music dance on Friday night. These gentlemen carried through every detail to a successful conclusion.

Rev. Mr. Grobb, rector of All Saints' church yesterday morning, preached one of the most eloquent sermons heard for years, in St. John's church. His subject dealt with the origin of Christianity.

has been so vehemently asserted at different times, especially of late, that it might be well to quote from "Rome," the great R. C. Weekly, published under the authority of the Vatican, in dealing with the question of suffrage. The editor of this paper says: "But, as is well known the Pontifical directions, 'for reasons of the highest order', explicitly forbid Italian Catholics to take part, either as candidates or voters, in political elections, except under certain circumstances and with the approval of the local ecclesiastical authority." Surely it will no longer be contended that in political matters Roman Catholics in good standing are not only ruled by the Church at large, but by the local ecclesiastical authorities. Further on the editor says, "Italian Catholics are still forbidden to vote." Is it any wonder therefore that Protestant and Protestant statesmen find it necessary as well as expedient, to deal with the Roman Catholic ecclesiastical authorities in political matters instead of with the people? It is a mere waste of time to talk politics or matters of the State with the Roman Catholic laymen.

Yours truly,
Peterborough.

THE TITANIC PICTURES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am a constant attendant at the local moving picture houses, and consider they do more good than harm. They furnish cheap clean amusement for people, who, in many cases, could not pay the prices asked at the regular theater, and they also show scenes and graphically shown industrial pictures, of great educational benefit. There is one picture, however, that our city authorities should not allow exhibited here. I refer to the inevitable faked Titanic disaster films. The police in Detroit, Mich., would not allow these fake Titanic pictures to be shown there. They considered, and only properly, in the face of a world-shocking disaster, no such faked-up stuff should be allowed shown, to mock the grief of thousands of heart-broken sufferers. Of course, ninety-five out of a hundred moving pictures are fakes. The Wild and Wooly West scenes, taken in Hoboken, N. J., or a wreck on the coast of Zanzibar, taken on the Lakeside Drive, Chicago, are all fakes. The people know its fake, but it interests and amuses and keeps many from worse environments. Still, for a few money grabbing Harpies, to insult the intelligence of the public, and the memory of brave men, who died on the Titanic, I say, Mr. Editor let no fake Titanic disaster films be shown in this good clean, decent, God-fearing city of ours. The picture house proprietors can make enough money without that.

Halifax Hotels Are Crowded With Relatives Awaiting the Arrival of the Death Ship

ENGLAND'S GAY FAREWELL TO THE ILL-STARRED TITANIC

Palatial Steamer Set Sail Amid Cheering and Good Wishes of Thousands

Vessel Unsurpassed in Luxury and Magnificent Equipment

To no place more than to the English seaport town of Southampton did the tragedy of the North Atlantic come with appalling effect, for from this point, amid the cheering and "bon voyages" of thousands of excited people, the big liner cast off her moorings and swung seaward on her maiden trip. A correspondent in The London Standard graphically describes the scene :—

Amid the cheering of an enormous crowd and the waving of a forest of handkerchiefs the new White Star liner Titanic (the largest and most complete passenger vessel in the world) sailed for New York on her maiden trip at noon to-day.

Viewed from Trafalgar Quay, in the brilliant setting of Southampton Water, under a blue sky flecked with fleecy clouds, and the ocean greyhounds of yesterday—the St. Louis, the Oceanic, and many others—dwarfed in the near distance, the scene was tremendously impressive. Within the week Southampton has sent forth the two greatest liners in the world—the Olympic and Titanic—a record in itself.

Never before in the history of the mercantile marine has so great a triumph of naval architecture as the Titanic left a port. So there was a new sensation in the occasion of this leviathan's movement a monster towering to the flags above 160 feet, deck over deck, and with a length of 876 feet—as she rounded the Test Quay, majestically displayed her lines, and bore down on the Solent.

Gloom of Fog Banks Dispelled.

An officer aboard told me to-day that he had been on the Titanic four and a-half days, and, apart from his own sphere, knew very little about her. In three hours, having walked some six miles, new wonders and improvements revealing themselves in all directions, one was only able to take "samples" of extraordinary interest in themselves and of great importance to the ocean traveller. On the Titanic sunshine is being taken out. The gloom and depression of November fogs off the Banks have been annihilated. The first class passenger sits down to dinner in the splendid saloon, with its windows of cathedral-grey glass, and the attendants switch on cunningly hidden electric lights on the outside. The effect is naturalness itself.

Honeymoon Suites and Decks.

One can engage for £870 the voyage a "private ocean trip." There are honeymoon suites, with honeymoon decks set apart for the millionaire brides and bridegrooms of the future ; state rooms decorated in every different style and period, with lovely, ample cot-beds in brass, mahogany and oak ; lounges decorated in Louis XV. style ; verandahs with climbing plants and ramblers ; real coal fires as well as hundreds of radiators ; restaurants and cafes ; reception-rooms upholstered in the daintiest silk, with gorgeous panels and richly carved cornices the whole forming an impressive ensemble in perfect taste, satisfying to the eye.

In the third-class, or steerage, departments the loveliest linen, glass, and cutlery were displayed ready for luncheon, while the easy chairs, card tables, pianos and settees reminded one of the first-class accommodation on many liners twenty years ago.

Tons of Silver and Cutlery.

But the most fascinating feature, perhaps, of the Titanic to-day was the trips of "discovery." Men and women set out to explore They were shot

WHEN TITANIC FOUNDERED

On board the magnificent ship the people were playing tennis, holding bicycle races, riding camels and exercising in the gymnasium. Some were sitting on verandahs covered with climbing plants and ramblers or entertaining in the host of restaurants and reception rooms. Others were playing pianos, listening to the band or reading in the libraries. Tons of silver and cutlery, acres of glass and linen and 21,000 dishes and plates were in acquisition.

U. S. AND MEXICANS CHASE BANDITS

San Diego, Cal., April 29.—For the last ten days a band of thirty outlaws a detachment of the One Hundred and Fifteenth Company of Coast Artillery from Fort Rosecrans, and a force of Mexican federal soldiers have been playing a game of hide and seek on the international boundary line between Campano and Jacumba.

When the outlaws, mostly Americans, who are believed to be an insurrecto force, appear on the American side they are charged by the American soldiers and driven across the border into Mexico. When they confront the federals across the border they scurry to the American side of the line. Several skirmishes have taken place, in which there has been firing by both the American soldiers and the Mexican federals, answered by the outlaws, but thus far no fatalities have been reported.

It was reported Tuesday that the outlaws have entrenched themselves in the hills near Jacumba and are awaiting reinforcements. The leader of the band is said to be Juan Tobo, who was an officer under Pryce, Mosby and Laflin during the revolution of one year ago. Ranches on both sides of the line have been looted and residents on the Mexican sides have flocked into Campo for protection.

WHICH WAS HERO?

Father Minehan of Toronto, Evidently Prefers the Class of Men Who Save Themselves at the Expense of the Lives of Women and Children.

An esteemed subscriber in Toronto has the following to The Times, with a request that it be published :

Disparagement of the valor of the bandsmen of the Titanic, who went to their deaths playing the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," comes from the pen of Father Minehan. Under the heading, "Religious Anesthesia," he writes as follows in the Catholic Register :

"But amidst so much that was noble and thrilling there comes this discordant piece of stage play. We are told that the band kept playing until the waves were almost washing over the sinking vessel. What was the meaning of this performance ? It was intended to lull the passengers into a false sense of security, to keep them from realizing the real nature of the disaster, to hide from them the face of death.

"It may be said that this was done to avert a panic. What does this mean ? That to keep up bravery it was necessary that an anesthetic should be given. A very different scene was witnessed as the French steamship La Burgoyne went down many years ago. In that case the crew were far from exhibiting the same splendid discipline which has honored humanity in the case of the Titanic. But there was one never-to-be-forgotten closing scene in the former wreck. A large group of passengers knelt on the [illegible] A priest with stole around his [illegible] [illegible] them to prepare to meet their God. And the last glimpse of the sinking steamer caught by the survivors showed them the priestly figure silhouetted against the sky, in the act of making the sign of the cross after imparting Absolution. There was no band music, no attempt to cover the situation by bravado, no soothing deceit here. Calmly, heroically, cheerfully, men and women looked

A HINT FOR PETERBOROUGH.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see by the Belleville Ontario, that the publicity campaign that has been introduced in a small way in Belleville has already begun to bear fruit. "Canada" of April 13, an illustrated paper published in London, Eng., and devoted largely to colonial topics, devotes the front page to views from Belleville. One shows their market square on a busy day, another Front street and the City Hall. The paper said these might easily be taken for scenes in a Scottish city.

Now, when a little, quiet city like Belleville can get such publicity in England, why not Peterborough ?

CITY WILL ADVERTISE IN THE INDUSTRIAL BANNER CONVENTION NUMBER

The City's Manufacturers' Committee decided last night on motion of Ald. Duncan and Gordon, to take a two column write up of Peterborough at the cost of $27, in the Industrial Banner. The Labor Educational Association of Ontario will hold a big convention in this city on May 24th, and in this connection the May issue of the Industrial Banner will be made a convention number illustrative of Peterborough. A big edition in advance of the date of the convention is to be published and circulate in every centre in Ontario. The Committee felt this coming event worthy of support, that $27 in advertising in the Banner's convention number would be well spent, and acted accordingly.

Messrs. Hugh Robertson, Galbraith and Brown, members of the Trades and Labor Council, appeared before the Committee in support of the foregoing proposition.

FIVE DESPERADOES MADE ESCAPE FROM KINGSTON

Kingston, April 29.—Binding and gaging three employees of the Kingston Penitentiary, the four Western crooks who gave the Toronto police a fright recently at the Union Station, where they attempted to escape made a second attempt here. They were accompanied by another man, Vincent McNeil, and got clear of the grounds, but were recaptured within an hour and a half.

Beat Up the Keepers.

The affair took place at 11 o'clock The four desperadoes who were brought from a Manitoba prison because of their reckless behavior, were Arthur Bonner, Frank Jones, H. Kelly, and Geo. Brown, the man who held Premier Roblin's niece a prisoner in the woods for several days. They attacked Guard Dans, Keeper Matten, and Dr. Phelan, the penitentiary physician, beating the first-named severely and stripping them of all their clothes, which they then donned.

Cutting across the yard they were seen by Keeper Rutherford, but as they were walking ahead of other convicts in their stolen garb and appeared to be in charge. Rutherford opened the gate. Immediately the thugs rushed at him, struck him over the head with a billy, and dashed out with a number of guards in pursuit. They beat Head Keeper McCarthy, who pluckily tried to stop them.

A Spectacular Affair.

It did not take long to round up most of the men. Kelly was caught at Portsmouth by Guard Clark ; Brown, who did not secure a guard's clothes, was captured by mounted scout Patton, who was armed with a rifle. Bonner and McNeil were taken his cell to sweep the floor started the the road. Five officers fired on them and they ducked their heads in the Cataraquic River every time a shot was fired. After a time they surrendered and returned to the penitentiary.

Little Girl Saw Him.

The other convict, Frank Jones, was caught at 1.15 p.m., hiding in a shed in Portsmouth. A little girl found him there and notified the authorities. He said he was a guard from the penitentiary and that he was looking for the men who escaped.

Were in Isolation Ward.

The five prisoners were confined to the isolation ward. One of them, who was allowed out in front of a convention number illustrative of attempt, which was evidently carefully planned, by overpowering Keeper Matten and Guard Ross, severely injuring the latter. Dr. Phelan, the penitentiary surgeon, was also attacked, and with Keeper Hatten, was stripped of his clothing, and afterwards locked in a cell. Then taking the keys away from the officers, the one prisoner set the other four free

One of the recaptured men was turned over to the quarry gang, and taken back to prison.

There was tremendous excitement at the prison and around the village over the escape, which was one of the most daring ever attempted from within the prison walls in broad daylight.

CAPTAIN MOORE OLD SEA DOG HATES BUT KNOWS ICEBERGS

Washington, D.C., April 29.—Of all the fine old red-cheeked, thin-necked out-spoken, cherry old sea-dogs which the present investigation has brought to Washington, Captain James Henry Moore, master of the C.P.R. liner Mount Temple, is the finest type.

For a number of days now an impression has been abroad that the Mount Temple should be called on to explain her movements on the night of the Titanic disaster. Captain Moore came down here and did it. He did it so thoroughly and satisfactorily that when he was through he got the warmest thanks and highest compliments of Senator Smith—just as from one mariner to another, as it were.

You don't catch Captain Smith taking fool chances with icebergs. He has had too much experience with them and familiarity with ice does not breed contempt in your sailor man's breast. It breeds a hearty hatred, but a wholesome respect at the same time. When Captain Moore knows there's ice about at night he stops his engines and waits for daylight. The Mount Temple may be a little late at St. John or Liverpool, but she will eventually land at the port she sailed for and not at the bottom of the sea.

Now the Mount Temple was not the "phantom ship" whose lights raised in the breasts of the Titanic's passengers a hope doomed to disappointment. She did not lie to five miles away from the sinking ship, refuse to recognize signals of distress, and then sail away when the catastrophe had occurred.

She was 49 miles from the big White Star racer when the latter sent out her cry for help. Once again it was the merest accident which gave Moore the news. His operator "just happened" to slip on his telephone before turning in.

PROMINENT LADY KNOWN IN THIS DISTRICT, GONE

Scores of friends in this section of the country, and, in fact throughout the Dominion will deeply sympathize with Mr. J. W. Leonard, in his recent affliction. The wife of the able and popular assistant general manager of the Eastern lines of the C.P.R., is announced from Montreal. The late Mrs. Leonard's maiden name was Elizabeth Maguire, of Franklin, Ont. She was known to many of the leading citizens of Toronto, with whom she became well acquainted, and highly respected by, during Mr. Leonard's term of office as general superintendent there. The funeral will take place to-day in Toronto, to Mount Pleasant cemetery.

WILL CITY ABSORB A BIG SLICE OF N. MONAGHAN

Petition to This Effect May be Drafted and Submitted to Ratepayers Interested

The City's Legal Committee met last night. There were present : chairman Ald. Brown, Mayor Bradburn and Aldermen Gordon, Anderson, Duffus and Gillespie.

Mrs. Ferguson's claim for injuries sustained by falling on an icy sidewalk on Aylmer street, opposite the fire station, on January 22nd, was discussed. Claimant is asking $100 in recompense for a broken arm.

The City Solicitor and Street Commissioner both reported the city not responsible for this accident, and on motion of Ald. Anderson, seconded by His Worship, no action was taken.

Looking to Expansion.

On motion of Ald. Gordon, Committee will recommend that Council draft and circulate amongst North Monaghan ratepayers interested, a petition for the annexation by Peterborough city, of that portion of North Monaghan lying within the following limits :

From Jackson Park west on a line between lots 11 and 12, south parallel with the westerly limit of the Hatton, Morrow, T. E. Bradburn and Waddell properties to the road immediately north of Crawford's Grove, thence east to the river, and north-east to the city's present southerly boundary.

The foregoing proposed extension would take in Byersville.

FRENCH BANDITS CORNERED AND BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE

Paris, April 29.—Bonnot, the leader of an organized gang of automobile bandits who have been terrorizing the country for months past, and Dubois, a notorious anarchist, were shot to death yesterday in the most thrilling encounter in the annal of French crime.

A garage at Choicy-le-Roi, near Paris, in which the bandits had taken refuge, was blown up by dynamite, after these men had kept at bay for hours a large part of the police force of Paris, a contingent of gendarmes, two companies of Republican guards, and a company of engineers. Ten thousand spectators viewed the battle from points of vantage.

Yesterday's engagement equals in dramatic circumstances the encounter in January, 1911, which has gone down in history as "The Battle of London," when desperadoes suspected of being the murderers of the police in Houndsditch, were trapped in a house in the Whitechapel district, and went down to their death battling against hundreds of London police and soldiers.

Bonnot and Dubois, after wounding two policemen, took refuge in the garage. They were trapped in the building, which was at once surrounded. Reinforcements were despatched to aid the police, composed of gendarmes, republican guards, and engineers. A battery of artillery was on the way from Versailles, when a small detachment of soldiers succeeded in placing dynamite against the structure and blowing out the front wall.

Was Captured Alive.

Bonnot was captured alive. He was riddled with bullets, and died on the way to the hospital. The great crowd that had gathered, with cries of death to Bonnot, almost tore the bandit from the soldiers, several of whom were injured.

Parisians, especially automobilists, have been in a state of terror because of the reckless crimes of the automobile bandits, which reached a climax in the murder of Assistant Superintendent Jouin of the detective department and the wounding of the Chief Inspector Colmar by Bonnot on the morning of April 24. The Government then ordered all the available police to hunt the assassins day and night.

MORGUE SHIP WON'T REACH HALIFAX UNTIL TO-DAY

Halifax, N.S., April 29.—A wireless message from the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett, carrying about 200 bodies of Titanic victims, says : "Delayed by weather. Will not enter port until 9 a.m. Tuesday."

With feverish haste White Star officials and their assistants yesterday and this morning struggled to have everything in readiness for the arrival of the Mackay-Bennett with her cargo of Titanic victims. The procession of caskets to the Mayflower rink, where it was decided on Saturday to take the remains, went on unceasingly during night and day while at the naval dock yard to which the Mackay-Bennett was ordered to tie up, preparations in the shape of temporary boxes for such bodies as had not been embalmed were installed.

During Saturday, the attitude of the White Star officials in regard to the admittance of the press underwent a complete change. The local officials learned that Admiral Kingsmill, to whom the complaints were made, had ordered Captain Martin, the commander of the dockyard, to admit all reporters who could present proper credentials, barring only photographers.

Some Hostility Aroused.

Considerable animus was displayed against the company by those assembled here on the issue of a notice paper upon which directions were given to people how they could arrange by payment, for the shipment of bodies to outside points. It was stated to Mr. Mitchell that this was not consistent with the policy outlined by the company, which was that the transportation of all remains would be paid for by the White Star line. Mr Mitchell then announced that all who asked for the shipment of bodies would have their wishes complied with. The relatives here did not hesitate to state that probably it would have been a more popular move if the company had not placed the bereaved who are unable to pay for the removal of corpses in the position of beggars, by compelling them to make a formal application for assistance. Mr. Mitchell said the notice was issued here solely for the guidance of wealthy men in town, who had already stated that they would take over the shipment of bodies themselves.

Will Drape Special Car.

Yesterday a message was received from Captain Carteret of the Minia, which existed as to whether the body of Chas. M. Hays was being brought which seemed to clear up the doubt in on the Mackay-Bennett or not. Captain Carteret sent an aerogram confirming the previous report that his men had picked up the body of the president of the Grand Trunk.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

Subduer of Delhi.

One of the few survivors of the siege of Delhi, in the person of Gen. Sir Alexander Taylor, has passed away in England, at the age of eighty-seven.

He went to India in 1844 as a subaltern in the Bengal Engineers, took part in the two Sikh wars, and was the moving force of the engineering operations against Delhi during the Mutiny of 1857.

Night after night, while the batteries were building before Delhi, Taylor, who was second in command of the Engineers under Baird, studied the ground and perfected the final plans for the assault. He virtually directed the whole of the operations in the field, and Nicholson, hearing on his deathbed that the credit was being bestowed elsewhere, is said to have exclaimed, "If I get through this I shall let the world know it was Alex. Taylor who took Delhi."

Lord Lawrence, who knew more than anyone of the inner history of the camp, wrote in 1858 to Lord Dalhousie: "To Nicholson, Alex Taylor of the Engineers, and Neville Chamberlain the real merit of our success is due."

During the street fighting which followed the assault, Taylor showed extraordinary resource, and when our troops began to display signs of demoralization it was he who suggested that the Engineers should break internal passages from house to house. The plan succeeded, and two days later Delhi was in the hands of the British.

How the Hotel Guest Killed One of the "Help."

A St. Louisan who has recently returned from the isthmus of Panama tells this story of the canal zone:

One day his wife discovered a huge tarantula in the bathroom. The creature was almost as big as the palm of one's hand and presented a truly terrible aspect.

The lady fled in terror, and her husband went in and crushed the big spider with the heel of a boot.

On going down to dinner they encountered the proprietor.

"We have just killed a tremendous tarantula up in our room," said the American.

The proprietor started excitedly and clutched at his hair.

"Great Scott," he cried, "you shouldn't have killed it!"

"Why not?" asked the American.

"We keep them all over the hotel," he explained. "They catch the flies and the other insects. Why, that spider you killed was on the payroll!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1667, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

Chief Engineer Armstrong of the Hudson Bay Railway, whose headquarters are at Winnipeg, has received instructions from the Minister of Railways, to send out two parties to the Bay immediately, one to go to Fort Churchill and the other to Port Nelson. They will remain at these places for a couple of months, taking observations and making surveys as to the suitability of the respective ports to be the terminals of the line. Upon the result of their reports and recommendations will depend the final choice.

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Medical Treatment Is Crude, and Adapted to Local Conditions.

Business is brisk at the trading store. A group of Kaffirs, with their horses grazing nearby, are seated together laughing and talking in that high pitched, but not unpleasant, tone that is the attribute of the South African native.

A line of women, with baskets of mealies and Kaffir corn for sale fill the stoep, jostling and pushing against each other to get in first and be attended to. Inside the store there is a mass of men and women, and the din they make is indescribable, and behind the counter are the trader and his assistant, both doing their utmost to attend to a dozen people at the same time.

The store has only just been opened, for it is still early, and all this business will have been got through within a couple of hours. The rest of the day will be as quiet as it is the opposite now, but the customers all wish to settle their affairs at once, so as to be able to loaf about for the rest of the day.

A white man rides up, scattering the group in front of the building, and there is a general volley of exclamations, for the people know that now it is no use their pushing forward, for until the white man has been attended to they cannot be served, and how long that may take is very uncertain.

The white man looks haggard and drawn, and his first question, "How's the doctor getting on?" hardly comes as a surprise. There is no medical man within a day's ride, but his deputy is here — the medicine chest—and what the questioner is inquiring about is as to the contents of this most useful receptacle. "All right," says the trader, in reply to the question. "Have a look at the book." The white man takes the little volume and opens it, whilst the natives stand round and stare at him. They, in all probability, know him very well, but still he is a white man, and therefore a fit object for curiosity.

It is a quaint little work, this volume, methodically arranged, with all the ills and pains that poor humanity is heir to plainly set out, and the remedy or remedies facing the ailment.

The compilers of this work are fully aware of the drawbacks to life up country; they realize that communication with the world below is sometimes cut off through the swollen rivers and other obstacles, so wherever possible they give an alternative remedy; thus, if the supply of one drug is exhausted, the patient can have a substitute to fall back upon.

The white man goes over the list until he comes across his own particular ailment. "Have you any No. 10 left" he asks. The trader luckily has, so a draught is taken, and the patient takes a seat on the counter whilst the other customers are attended to.

On one of the shelves is a bewildering array of patent medicines. The names of many of the medicines are household words, but you would not recognize them from their outside wrappers, for these are of the most gaudy description imaginable—it being considered necessary by many manufacturers to use very vivid coverings for the native trade. The white man glances up at them.

He cannot purchase anything from the medicine chest, as the supply is not large enough for that, but he can, of course, buy any of the contents of the shelves. Many of these remedies are reliable ones, but the contents of the medicine chest all figure in the British Pharmacopoeia, and this makes all the difference—or seems to. The Kaffir is imitative to an extreme, and it is as certain that the sun is shining outside that some will now come forward and ask for medical attention.

"I feel ill," says one, "give me some medicine out of the box," but the request goes unheeded, though if a native is really ill he is as welcome to the services of the medicine chest as anyone else. The white man gets down from the counter and expresses his intention of going home. "Come over to-morrow for another dose if you're not better," says the trader, then they shake hands, and the patient goes outside and mounts his horse, and the Kaffirs follow him with their eyes until he is out of sight.

A Suggestion.

The next time the snow drifts into your yard instead of making a snow man try to make a snow pig. An oblong mass of snow forms the body, and the legs, nose and ears are made of sticks surrounded by snow. A bit of rope nicely curled will make a good tail. Various pigs can be shaped and carved, according to the skill of the young artist, and will give a lively and sociable appearance to your yard and cause the neighbors a great deal of amusement—at your expense perhaps.

Frost Pictures.

The other children like to write
Their names upon the pane
That's frosted over in the night,
Where you can see them plain.

They draw all sorts of awkward things,
But I would rather see
The pictures that the white frost kings
Have painted there for me.

I am afraid the fairy folk
That in these woods might play
By these ungainly crooked strokes
Will all be scared away.

Navy Not Popular.

Alarmed at the number of foreigners serving on ships sailing from the port of London, and the decrease in British seafarers, the London County Council, the education authority for the metropolis, is seeking to find a remedy.

Forty years ago one man in 26 born in England was in the mercantile marine. To-day the proportion is not more than half that, while the number of Lascars and other Asiatics has more than doubled.

A report has now been presented to the London County Council recommending a training ship for the production of officers, in which a two-years' course will be given to boys from 15 years of age.

The chancel space being limited, twelve less than at first proposal made the journey, by the choirs. At a reception given them in the rectory the leading members of the congregation, voiced by the Rev. Mr. Pickford and Mr. Cuffe, expressed their deep gratitude to the singers for their programme. Mr. R. J. Devey conducted, ably assisted at the organ by Miss Flowers.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reech the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

STEEL TRUST INVESTIGATES ITSELF.

The United States Steel Trust has been investigating itself. A committee of stockholders who were aroused by the unflattering reports made by philanthropic associations of conditions around Pittsburg, to a sense of their own responsibility, hence they undertook to determine whether the charges were true, and found that what had been said was true.

They inform the officers of the big corporation of which they are part owners that the seven-day work week is "from a physical or moral point of view detrimental to those engaged in it," and that the twelve-hour work day "means the decreasing efficiency and lessening of the vigor and virility of the men."

These are the conclusions set forth in the report of the Pittsburg Survey, the hostile criticism of which was, it was claimed, based upon its faulty premises. The stockholders' committee however, which has reached the same conclusions cannot be dismissed in the same supercilious manner, hence it is up to the Steel Trust to improve conditions, as this duty it cannot evade.

THE BOMBARDMENT OF THE DARDANELLES.

In the tenseness of the world-wide excitement caused by the tragedy of the Titanic Italy's naval attack on the Dardanelles was an incident that passed practically unnoticed. The chancelleries of Europe have been opposed to such a move on the part of Italy for fear of complications in the Balkans, hence the Italian government has been under heavy pressure to abstain from hostilities in the Dardanelles in order that Turkey could be induced not to carry out her threat to close the strait to navigation.

Italy, however, has decided that it is time to strike an effective blow in her war with the Ottoman Empire, but it appears that the recent naval attack was nothing more than a feint made for the purpose of feeling out the Turkish position preparatory to more serious operations.

The stubborn nature of Turkey's reply to the proposals of the powers looking to peace, which was delivered on the day of the bombardment, indicates failure in that direction. Turkey refuses to give up Tripoli to Italy, and declares that peace can come only with a recognition of her sovereign rights. Hence the task before the Italians is to complete the conquest of Tripoli or to subjugate the Turks at home, otherwise they must acknowledge themselves foiled or beaten in the attempt to seize Turkish territory.

Recent reports from Tripoli are to the effect that the Italian outlook has not improved, and at present there is no sign of an advance movement, hence it may be that Italy has come to believe that it would be easier for her to conquer Turkey than Tripoli, and has set out on the dubious enterprise with an attack on the Dardanelles.

A DISTURBING UNCLAIMED SALE

Many of our readers have probably attended sales of unclaimed express, freight, or custom house goods, where one "buys a pig in a poke," i.e. the bidder does not know the contents of the package he bids on. A peculiar case, along similar lines, occurred on April 20th, when the stationmaster at Narva, a town in the Baltic Provinces, announced that unclaimed luggage was to be sold by public auction. The contents of several trunks had been disposed of, and a strong box, carefully corded, was brought forward and its lock forced with some difficulty. Inside was a neat infernal machine with a powerful charge of dynamite.

There were no bids for the box and its contents, as a matter of fact, buyers fled helter-skelter from the sale, and the police took their place. Examination of the machine proved that a defect in the mechanism had prevented its explosion. The box had come by train from St. Petersburg, and it is thought to have been intended to explode during the journey. There is no clew at present to the sender's identity, and it is unlikely that the police will succeed in tracing him.

THE STERILIZATION OF CRIMINALS.

Governor Dix has signed a bill which makes the sterilization of male criminals and defectives legal in the State of New York. The law will be applied only to those confined in the State institutions, and with it is created a board to be known as the Board of Examiners of Feeble-Minded, Criminals and Other Defectives. This board will consist of one physician, one surgeon and one neurologist, each with an experience of at least ten years.

If the board, after an examination, finds that a person of the class affected by the law would transmit to his offspring a tendency to crime, insanity or feeble-mindedness, or that his own mental or physical condition would be improved thereby, it is to appoint one of its members to perform the necessary operation.

The criminals who come within the scope of the law are those who have been convicted of rape or of a succession of offenses as the board may decide to afford sufficient evidence of confirmed criminal tendency. The board is also required to examine into the mental and physical condition, the record and family history of all male feeble-minded, epileptic and other defective persons in the State institutions to determine whether they shall come within the operation of the law.

While the board is made the judge of the habitual criminality of prisoners its edict cannot become effective until after judicial review, hence the board is not a power by itself and cannot go to any extremes until after the most careful consideration.

The law was passed on the ground that society had a right to protect itself, that the few must be made to suffer for the protection of the many and the preservation of the race. Its advocates in the Legislature contended that the cancer of criminality had been too long regarded complacently, and that the criminal, the idiot and the degenerate have had too free a reign in the matter of being allowed to transmit their tendencies to the great injury of society.

New York makes the sixth State to adopt such a law, but it is quite probable that soon it will be on the statute books of most of the States. Its application to negro brutes in the South would do more to prevent the atrocious crimes they frequently commit than lynchings or legal hangings.

Editorial Notes

The administration of all matters relating to the foreign consular service in Canada is to be transferred to the Department of External Affairs.

Mr. Borden spoke through a telephone to an audience of newspaper men in New York. Well, that is better than talking through his hat—a practice to which politicians are somewhat prone.

The bodies of some of the more prominent victims of the Titanic disaster have been recovered and identified. It will help to soften the grief of their relatives to have the remains rescued from the ocean and laid in earth.

England's miners have returned to work. They have lost a month's wages and made the country's workers lose a half billion dollars, and have won what? A minimum wage for less than a thousand of their number! A high price truly for the privilege of walking out and paralyzing a nation's industry.

The following statistics concerning Peterborough, appear in the 12th Annual Report of the Ontario Bureau of Labor: Peterborough City—Owns and operates waterworks; cost $670,989. Good openings for industries of all kinds, with hydro-electric power and exceptional shipping facilities. Number of buildings erected 231; cost $317,068. Amount expended on permanent improvements $59,410. Amount expended on sanitation $16,574. S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk, Peterborough.

In the new amendments to the post office act, we note the following: Temporary helpers may, hereafter, be employed in any branch of the outside service of the Post Office Department, when necessary, irrespective of age and who have not passed the Civil Service examination, at a per diem allowance to be fixed by the Postmaster General, but not to exceed two dollars and fifty cents a day, but no temporary helper shall be employed for more than six months in any one calendar year.

There was exhibited on the Danube at Vienna, recently, a boat which is controlled by wireless electricity from the bank without any person being on board. The boat carries a storage battery, which furnishes its motive power, the "system" or invention consisting in the adaptation of wireless electric waves of different lengths to the control of the motive power, steering gear and other mechanism. This system, it is also claimed, will prevent disturbance by electric waves elsewhere generated within the same sphere of influence. At a recent exhibition the boat was manifestly operated without other control than that exercised by the manipulator of the wireless mechanism on the bank.

The summary of the U. S. agricultural statistics of the thirteenth census as now compiled and made public by the census bureau, deals with figures so big that they are hard to grasp. We are told that the value of the farm property in the United States is practically forty-one billion dollars—twice as much as it was ten years earlier—of which two-thirds is in the land one-sixth in buildings, and one-sixth in live stock, implements and machinery. The chief factor in the doubling in value of American farm property in the past decade was the greater earning power of the land as the result of the increasing demand for farm products and the relatively decreasing supply of them. Good farming never paid so well as it does now. This country not only needs more farms and more farmers, but the farmers must profit from the lessons of Europe, where intensive methods cause the acre to produce twice as much as the new, rich acres of America are made to yield.

ENGLAND'S GAY FAREWELL

into the depths by splendidly equipped electric lifts. They called at the post-office for a chat with the postmaster on the sorting arrangements. They wandered to the swimming baths and the luxurious Turkish saloons. They examined the kitchens, with their 21,000 dishes and plates, tons of silver and cutlery, and acres of glass and linen. They touched the pianos on every deck in every corner of advantage, or listened to the band; scanned the array of novels and more serious works in the libraries; and learned all sorts of wonderful things about the electric buttons which control this 47,000 ton vessel, command its engines and its little army of services alike.

Tennis Championship Fight.

There were but 1,470 passengers, besides the 800 members of the crew and scores of attendants, on board to-day, so that there was no crowding in any part of the vessel. Fully an hour before she sailed the gymnasium, in charge of a professional gymnast, was in working. On one side a lady was having a camel ride and recalling the delights of the Pyramids; in another corner there was a bicycle race; many passengers took their own weights on the automatic chairs, and some had a spin on the mechanical rowing machines. In the squash racquets court two Americans were "fighting the battle of their lives"—it might have been at the Bath Club, so thoroughly at home did they look.

At 11.45 the bells clanged. The visitors wandered down the gangways. Hatchways were closed. The tugs snorted, and the Titanic set out on her maiden trip. But scarcely had she moved 600 yards into the bay when it was evident that something unlooked for had occurred.

The New York Incident.

Among the crowds still waving handkerchiefs there was a sudden silence. The gigantic triple expansion engines had begun to work. Near by were the Oceanic and the New York—great vessels in their day—now dwarfed to comparative insignificance. Directly the huge screws of the Titanic began to revolve the suction caused the seven great stern ropes of the New York to part, and the American liner's stern swung round into mid stream.

All eyes were fixed on the New York. It looked as if there must be a collision, but, as a matter of fact, there was no real danger. The Titanic's screws were stopped almost instantaneously, and the New York was towed to safety. Then the Titanic slowly sped down Southampton Water, the faces of her passengers peering at every nook of the seven tiers along the whole length of the liner, until she melted away in the distance, and her maiden voyage had begun.

WHICH WAS HERO?

into the face of death, knowing what it meant."

Gives Gloss to Facts.

Father Minehan's memory lends a gloss to the stern facts of history. Remembering Father Minehan's words, that:

> "Calmly, heroically, cheerfully, men and women looked into the face of death, knowing what it meant," it is interesting to turn to a contemporary report of the wreck of the Burgoyne, and read as follows:

> "Survivors swear women were stabbed like so many sheep, the deck was a slaughter pen."

A Sorry Tale.

That was what happened while the men were fighting with knives for a place in the boats. The record of the loss of the Burgoyne on July 4th, 1898 off Sable Island, when less than 200 of a ship's company of 725 were saved, shows that:

Not one child was saved.

Only one woman of all on board was saved.

Not one first-class passenger was saved.

Only ten second-class passengers were saved.

Officers and crew to the number of 106 were saved.

One boat with 40 women in it was never launched because the men were busy trying to get into other boats.

Five women who got hold of a rope over the side of a lifeboat were drowned by a sailor, who deliberately cut the rope.

Most Horrible Sight.

It is well to get a grip of Father Minehan's words:

> "Calmly, heroically, cheerfully," etc.,

before turning to read the following narrative of a survivor:

"The passengers came pouring up from below in their night attire. The sight was one of the most horrible I have ever seen. Before fifty people had got through the opening it was blocked by a mass of shrieking women and shouting men, tearing each other in desperation. I saw women who were nearing the top of the stairs seized by men and dashed back among the struggling crowd below. The women had no chance given them at all. It was a fight by men for life, and the strongest took every advantage of his strength.

"The steerage passengers were in the same plight. Their stairway was blocked by struggling men, women and children, few of whom, except the first to start and the very strongest, were able to reach the deck. Not more than 300 people succeeded in reaching the deck. The rest were all penned up below, and met with a horrible death."

At least the heroic bandsmen of the Titanic served some purpose by their "discordant piece of stage play," "bravado," "soothing deceit," as Father Minehan terms their conduct, if they in any degree averted such scenes as those that occurred on La Burgoyne.

Ambition of M. Madarasz.

The oldest member of parliament in the world, the Hungarian deputy, M. Joseph Madarasz, who is now in his ninety-ninth year, issues a denial of the statement that he is about to retire into private life. M. Madarasz says that he means to retain his mandate till he has completed his 100th year, if not longer. He carries a list of all the centenarians in the world constantly with him and marks them off as they die. He is determined to outlive them all and some day to have the distinction of being the oldest man in the world.

The Paris Radium Palace.

Mme. Curie's "radium palace" promises to be one of the most interesting buildings in the world. Foundations for it have been laid at great depth in the Rue Pierre Curie, in southern Paris. All her laboratories will be located there, and she will carry on the researches which she began with her late husband. The building will be lined throughout with a thick layer of lead, which is impenetrable to radium rays.

Had Bad Sore Four Years

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Avenue, Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c tablet.

$10,000,000 FIRE AT DAMASCUS

Constantinople, April 29—The great bazar quarters in Damascus have been destroyed by fire. Several persons were killed and many injured, and the damage is estimated at $10,000,000.

The fire began at midnight, Friday and lasted until late Saturday night.

Damascus is one of the holy cities of the Mohammedans; capital of the vilayet of Syria, and is noted among other things for its numerous bazars.

These are designated by the name of some particular trade or commodity. The bazar quarters comprise long streets covered in with high woodwork and lined with shops, stalls, warehouses and cafes. The Greek bazar, one of the largest, was rebuilt after its destruction by fire in 1893.

In the midst of the bazars stand the house of Asad Pasha, one of the handsomest in Damascus. There are many miles of these bazars, all of which are luxuriously fitted up.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS

LOVE OF PUBLICITY.

All Who Profess Indifference Love To Be Mentioned In the Press.

No wonder editors, reporters, and journalists generally are cynical! They see so much of the inner side of things. The public see Lord Blank, the cold, austere statesman, who cares nothing for the praise or blame of the newspapers, who "does not advertise"—in Kipling's famous phrase.

The editor knows Lord Blank to be a fussy old gentleman, who is furiously angry if his name is not in the account of any function he has happened to attend, if only as a spectator, and sends his chief private secretary to the newspaper in a swift motorcar in order that he may insist on the omission being rectified.

This writer once interviewed, for a London evening paper, a member of Parliament who had been making himself rather conspicuous by his attitude on Indian affairs. At the interview the M.P. was very condescending, and tried to give the impression that he cared nothing for publicity, and that he was merely giving the information "to oblige," so to speak. It will hardly be believed that that condescending legislator was so impatient to see what the paper said that he called at the office at the publishing hour in order to obtain a copy at the earliest possible moment!

A lady prominent in philanthropic and "social reform" circles was once made the object of a little gentle journalistic chaff by a colleague of the writer's. How angry she was! She called at the office, accompanied by a mild and down-trodden-looking husband, for the express purpose of rating him. After pouring out the vials of her wrath on the offending—but, one is afraid, quite unrepentant—scribe, she swept towards the door, which gave her husband a chance to whisper, with a stealthy wink: "The best advertisement my wife has ever had!"

Many people would rather be abused by the press than ignored altogether. There is one class, at least, that resents disparagement most bitterly, and that is the theatrical folk. As a dramatic critic and theatrical paragrapher this writer has noticed one curious fact. Mention to an actor of your acquaintance that you have given him a good notice, and he professes the utmost indifference—"hasn't seen it," and so forth. Give him a bad notice, and he sees it at once, and takes the trouble to seek you out and remonstrate with you personally.

In this connection here is another funny story. An eminent actor-manager once went to the United States with his company, and in due course "opened" in New York. The New York critics were very unkind, and next morning's paper contained a series of the most terrible slatings. The great man's manager went into his room at the hotel, where he was still in bed, to see how he was taking his "roasting." "Seen the papers?" No! What do I care about papers?" said the actor languidly, turning over as if to sleep again and show his indifference. Alas, on that action there followed a most portentous rustling and crackling. He had got all the papers underneath the bedclothes!

One of these "hate-publicity" people once gave the present writer some information for an article, and on being asked, said he did not care about his name being mentioned, one way or the other. As the editor of the paper was down on anything that looked like a free "ad.," the name was accordingly omitted from the article. But the person who, on his own showing, was utterly indifferent to publicity, took the trouble to write a furious letter, roundly abusing the journalist for his "bad faith" in leaving out his name!

Thimbles.

The thimble was at first worn on the thumb, and for that reason was called thumb bell, which later became thumble and finally thimble. It was invented by the Dutch and brought to England in 1695.

The first thimbles were made of iron or brass; later came those of silver, gold, steel, horn, ivory, pearl and glass. The Chinese make beautiful thimbles of carved pearl, with gold binding and ends.

One of the most gorgeous thimbles ever seen was a bridal gift from the King of Spain to his Queen; it was made of gold, shaped like a lotus bud, and was thickly studded with diamonds, arranged so as to spell the Queen's name.

The New and the Old.

Governor Foss of Massachusetts tells of a well known divine who came visiting a state prison when he came across a prisoner whose features were familiar to him. "What brought you here, my poor fellow?" he asked.

"You married me to a woman a little while ago, sir," the prisoner replied, with a sigh.

"Ah, I see," said the parson. "And she was domineering and extravagant, and she drove you to desperate courses, eh?"

"No," said the prisoner, "my old woman turned up."

Job Got His.

"You know Job was a very patient man," said the Sunday school teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," said the little scholar.

"And you know he had many, many afflictions come to him."

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, what do we learn from Job's life?"

"That everything comes to him who waits, ma'am."

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future.

Billiard Balls.

Billiard balls are always cut from the finest ivory, but usually they are not cut from the largest size of tusks. The moderately small tusk yields the best results so far as billiard balls are concerned.

Likely Enough.

Condescending Chappie—I weally can't wemember your name, but I've an idea I've met you before.

Nervous Host—Oh, yes; very likely! It's my house.—London Sketch.

DEATH OF RESPECTED CITIZEN OF SMITH

On Sunday one of the oldest and most beloved residents of Smith township passed away, in the person of Mr. Robert Scott, in his 64th year. The late Mr. Scott was the son of the late Mr. George Scott, who died three years ago, and was a son-in-law of the late William Graham, of Smith, having married Miss Sarah A. Graham in 1879. Mr. Scott is survived by his widow and two sons, Norman, of Saskatchewan and W. G. Smith. He also leaves to mourn his loss four daughters, Mrs. Herbert Sharon and Miss Annie Scott of Saskatchewan, and the Misses May and Lilian at home, and four brothers, George of Brandon, Manitoba, Dr. W. D. Scott, of Peterborough, John of Souris, Manitoba, and Alexander of Smith. Four sisters also survive, namely, Mrs. Robert Newton, Brandon, Man., Mrs. Robert Moffitt, Elgin, Man., Mrs. Percy Edmison, Smith and Miss Sarah at home. The deceased was a member, deacon and active worker of the Gilmour Memorial Church, Communication Road.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, lot 8, concession 5, Smith, on Wednesday, at 2 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery.

SAYS HER SISTER GOT A PHONE KISS

Boston, April 29.—"Can I have another kiss over the telephone?"

John E. McQuarrie, of 439 Dudley street, Roxbury, produced a letter sent by another man to his wife and containing this query, when his wife was seeking temporary alimony in the Suffolk Superior Court yesterday pending trial of her divorce libel. And he brought up another letter which referred to a happy moonlight stroll.

Mrs. McQuarrie, who lives at 27 Glenarm street, Roxbury, merely smiled.

"My sister, Buelah, gave him the telephone kiss," she said, and Beulah giggled.

The letter was signed by a man named O'Hearn, and Mrs. McQuarrie said she met him one moonlight night on the deck of a Halifax boat, Boston bound.

She said she left her husband on March 3, because he was cruel to her. She testified that for the last two years he had been intoxicated every other night. She asked for custody of their two children, Mary Belle, 7 years and Margaret Ruth, 3 years.

Judge Pierce refused to give her custody of her children. He ordered McQuarrie to pay his wife $5 a week alimony and the customary amount, $30, in order that she might prosecute her divorce libel.

English Farm Hands Quickly Hired.

Mr. Howson, local Immigration Agent, is kept busy these days. The farmers from Asphodel to Ennismore and from Hiawatha to North Harvey are daily haunting his office on Water street, in search of hired farm help. On Saturday a party consisting of nearly half a hundred skilled farm hands arrived in the city, in care of a licensed passage broker of London, Eng. The members of the party were placed on good farm jobs within a very short time. With the sons of Canadian farmers leaving the land to live in the towns and cities, the advent of these and other English immigrants, is one of the few tangible hopes existing for cheaper living.

Why Sniffle and Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Can Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneezy and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold, sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold, which developed into catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose, and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1.00, medium size 50c.; at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

IN THE SURROGATE COURT OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

IN THE MATTER OF the Estate of John James Finley, late of the township of Smith in the County of Peterborough, Farmer, deceased.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to I. George V. AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. [redacted] relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

MEMORIAL TO HIS LATE MAJESTY KING EDWARD VII.

To be erected for the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

Terms of Competition.

SCULPTURAL COMPETITIVE designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa, Canada, to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(1) Competitive designs are invited for a monument to be erected to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(2) The memorial when completed, and in position is not to cost more than $35,000 including pedestal from the level of the ground.

(3) The competition is open to artists resident in the British Empire who are British subjects, and to artists British subjects by birth resident elsewhere.

(4) The site of the monument will be at a point on the Government property at Ottawa to be decided upon hereafter.

(5) Designs shall be in the form of sketch models in plaster made at a uniform scale of 1½ inches to the foot. A description of the design must accompany each model. No name, motto, or other distinctive device is to be attached to the model or description. The competitor must send his name in a sealed envelope without distinctive marks thereon.

(6) The author of the best design shall be awarded the commission of the work and the second best shall be awarded a prize of $1000.00.

(7) All communications regarding this competition shall be addressed to: The Secretary Public Works Department, Ottawa, Canada. All models to be addressed to: Mr. Eric Brown, Director of National Art Gallery, Ottawa, Canada.

(8) The designs must be delivered before the first day of October, 1912. They will be kept from public view until the award has been made. All expenses of delivering the sketch models and accompanying descriptions shall be paid by the competitors. Sketch models will, after the award, and at the expense of the Public Works Dept., be returned upon the request of the competitors, but at the risk of the competitors.

Notice of the award will be sent to each competitor.

The award will only be binding provided the successful competitor is prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence, with security if demanded, that he can execute the work for the sum above mentioned.

By order,

R. C. DESROCHERS.
Secretary.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

Auhorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

A Peculiar Ring About the Sun.

Between 11.30 and 11.45 yesterday morning, the springtime sun shone brightly. A few fleecy clouds drifted past to the east. Suddenly there appeared an absolutely perfect semi-transparent ring around the orb of the day. This ring was very similar to those one sees round the moon on a winter's night, just before a heavy snowstorm, or some such foul weather to follow. The ring was at its clearest to the north west of the sun. To the south and southeast, it soon faded away, dissolving with and into the drifting clouds.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WOUNDING ITSELF.

Col. George T. Denison's cabled protest to Westminster against the new Home Rule bill concluded with the question: "Will England wound herself?" The reference is to the last lines of Shakespeare's King John:

> This England never did, nor never shall,
> Lie at the proud foot of a conqueror,
> But when it first did help to wound itself.
> Now these, her princes, are come home again,
> Come the three corners of the world in arms,
> And we shall shock them: nought shall make us rue.
> If England to itself do rest but true.

Nothing could better fit the situation says The News. The setting up at Dublin of a sovereign legislature would sorely wound the Empire at its very heart. For instance, how long would the Canadian Confederation last if Ontario had power to erect customs duties against Quebec, the rest of Confederation, the rest of the Empire and the world at large?

The bill pretends to reserve to the Imperial Parliament "the power to revise Irish legislation, but the right could not be exercised without leading to discord and strife. As a result the Dublin Legislature would steadily aggrandise itself at the expense of the Imperial Parliament. As leading Irish papers have already boasted the Asquith measure is but an installment of what they mean to get. If the people of England and Scotland are still true to themselves, as the poet says, the Home Rule measure of 1912 will meet the fate of its predecessors of 1886 and 1893.

"MALEFACTORS OF GREAT WEALTH."

The fact connected with the Titanic tragedy which is likely to remain longest in the public mind, eventually transforming the awfulness of the disaster into a memory of sublime heroism, is the death, with a single much-discussed exception, of every man of more than local note who was on the doomed vessel. Amid all the conflicting testimony as to what took place, there seems no doubt that, with the possible exception of the band, no other class of persons on the ship was so completely annihilated. Not only were the women and children mostly saved but the numbers of other men saved show percentages out of all proportion to that of the men of wealth, or high position, or eminence in art and letters, who went down to death. Nor is there a single report that one of these men made a claim of any sort for a single "special privilege."

There were the president of one of the greatest railroads on the continent and a vice-president of the very greatest; there was the largest real estate owner in New York; there was the son of the foremost financier of Philadelphia; there was a leading dry-goods merchant of New York; there was a millionaire who combined the riches of the early days of the Steel trust with those of the beef trust; there was a member of the family which of all others has been a byword for opposition to enlightened conservation of our national resources, particularly in Alaska. These men were broadly representative of that class in the community, which has been stigmatized, vaguely but insistently, as "malefactors of great wealth." Yet not a stewardess or woman in the steerage was denied precedence by one of them, when the supreme test came.

THE DEFECTS OF THE WIRELESS

The Titanic disaster has emphasized the most serious present defect of the wireless system—confusion. So long as the uncharted lanes of ether are open to all senders, and while the tangled mazes of dots and dashes have access to all receivers, neither the secrecy nor the accuracy of the wireless message can be assured. The fusion of two messages which reached the Olympic on the day of the wreck deceived the world into believing that the Titanic and all her passengers were safe. "Are all Titanic passengers safe?" and "Towing oil tank to Halifax" became "All Titanic passengers safe; towing to Halifax."

A few days later the defects of the wireless served a better purpose. The interception of messages from the Carpathia, the rescue ship, interfered with the plans of J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine Company, for hurrying the Titanic's crew back to England. His message to the White Star line, asking that the Cedric be held in New York for that purpose was caught at a United States wireless station and transmitted to Washington. It determined the Senate's investigating committee to hurry to New York and begin its labors immediately upon the Carpathia's arrival.

The rules of the air for wireless messages are now matters of courtesy. Recent events will hasten the framing of a legal code of order and precedence. Care must be exercised in doing this, since the business of sending commercial messages is almost exclusively controlled by a single powerful corporation. This Marconi trust controls important rights and patents, which enable it to dominate the wireless situation. Its position has recently been strengthened by the failure of several important rivals. It would be only too easy to frame restrictive legislation which would insure to this corporation a practical monopoly.

Amateur operators must be prevented from interfering with private or governmental business, but their experimental work from practice stations should be encouraged.

The progress of invention will probably eliminate some of the present defects. A few high powered stations already are able to escape general interference. The use of codes and a few simple regulations will help to remedy some other difficulties. But until invention makes it possible to send messages either to one station only, or to all within reach, depending on whether the message is private business or a call for help, governmental regulation will be necessary.

The stockholders of the Maritime Coal, Railway and Power Co. have approved the proposed modification in the trust deed permitting the issue of $1,000,000 additional bonds, which, it is stated, will be placed in England.

Bank exchanges again display marked improvement over both preceding years, the total last week at all leading cities in the United States aggregating $3,287,812,517, an increase of 31.5 per cent. as compared with the same week last year and of 17.8 per cent. in comparison with the corresponding week in 1910.

A Canadian Lloyds is being promoted in Montreal. The federal government is being asked to either subsidize the undertaking or to guarantee to the financial interests behind the scheme the difference between the insurance premiums charged on exports via the St. Lawrence and those in effect out of Boston and New York.

The latest finding of the Department of Labor's prices record show that the past month maintained the exceptionally high point reached in February. The Department's index number was 134.2 for March compared with 134.3 in the preceding month. A year ago the number was 126.3. A feature of the past month was the decline in egg prices; on the other hand animals, meats, vegetables and imported fruit advanced.

A. McGill, chief Dominion analyst, has issued a report on 154 samples of marmalade collected throughout Canada in April of last year. Of the 154 samples no less than 138 were found to be genuine, while 14 samples contained glucose in varying amounts. The report notes that glucose is a nutritious food, and that no particular objection can be taken to commercial glucose as compound of jam or marmalade.

A statute passed by the Ontario Legislature introduced by Hon. Adam Beck, gives more extensive powers to the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission. Under its provisions the Commission has authority to conserve water powers and to expropriate electric plants for municipalities, and is given control of all municipal plants for lighting, and so forth, with authority to fix rates, and power to regulate the wiring of streets and houses.

It is understood that plans for the reconstruction of the Wabash R. R. are progressing rapidly. Winslow S. Pierce, chairman of one of the protective committees of Wabash bondholders, announced that there had been deposited with his committee approximately $14,000,000, par value, of the bonds, and that pledges had been given of further deposits sufficient to constitute a clear majority of the total outstanding issue.

The Journal of Commerce says: The Canadian Government will this summer have a thorough study made to determine the effect of an increased flow of water through the Chicago drainage canal from four thousand to ten thousand feet per second. It is roughly estimated that this would lower the water level by at least ten inches, and that makes it necessary to spend millions on dredging to deepen the harbors of Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, Port Colborne, Victoria Harbor, Montreal and the St. Lawrence Canals. Gauges will be established at various points to record the natural changes of water level as the season advances, and to measure accurately the flow of the St. Lawrence.

The Sixth Sense.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences M. Kunz discussed the phenomenon of "feeling at a distance," to which the power of blind people to avoid nearby obstacles is ascribed. M. Kunz believes that such a power exists and that it is not peculiar to the blind. It seems to be shared by others who possess a peculiar constitution. The faculty appears to reside in the skin, for experiments show that it is not connected with the sense of hearing. As to its nature, little knowledge has been obtained. There is a tendency to ascribe obscure phenomena of this kind to electrical action, but the mode of operation remains unknown.

A Baltic-Black Sea Canal.

It is stated that the old project for uniting the Baltic with the Black sea is at last to be put into operation. By utilizing the rivers Dwina and Dnieper a navigable waterway 1,000 miles long can be constructed without any great engineering problems, extending from the port of Riga on the Baltic to Kherson on the Black sea. The cost is estimated at about $250,000,000, but the benefit to Prussian commerce and industries will be immense.—American Travelers' Gazette.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

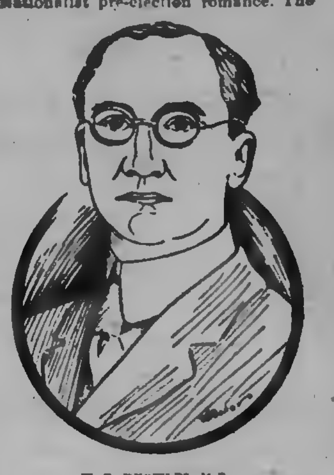
STARTED FOR PULPIT

BUT W. E. KNOWLES TOOK UP POLITICS INSTEAD.

Western Liberal Came From Ontario and Has Managed to Create a Rumpus Around Ottawa In His Short Experience of Life There—He Is One Who Will Thrive on Being In Opposition.

It is a far call from the decorum of the old-school Presbyterian manse to the hurly-burly of the modern Canadian political warfare. Lord Morley once described himself as "a cautious Whig by temperament, a Liberal by education, and a Radical by observation and experience. And temperament, in the long run, was stronger than anything else. William Erskine Knowles, son of the manse, is a cautious Conservative by upbringing, a Liberal by experience, but a Radical by temperament. Add to this fact his nationality—both his parents were Irish—and one understands what has changed the book-loving divinity student of somewhat more than a decade ago into the ardent, dauntless and militant parliamentarian of to-day.

It is curious how little the public estimation of public men accords with their real character as it is known to their intimates. Everybody thinks he knows Knowles. In reality the real Knowles is as different from the supposed Knowles as the real Laurier is from the blood-thirsty ogre of the Nationalist pre-election romance. The restless active western spirit has enveloped him, but the old eastern love of the library still remains. He retains his devotion to books, his keen perception of the beauties of expression which is almost a genius for rhythm, while deep within him burns that celestial fire of passion, without which poetry is but as the tinkling cymbal.



W, E. KNOWLES, M.P.

But, nevertheless, the young Irish-Canadian—he is still on the sunny side of forty and is a native of Alliston, Ontario—found himself "at home" in the clash and clang of parliamentary battle. He was never one of those who "like the drab men best." He responds to the purple patches—he is attracted, rather than repelled, by the men whose heroic or adventurous career makes them stand out from the canvas like scarlet figures in a great painting. He has no morbid horror of violence. He was restless and ill at ease as a curbed and reined supporter of Government. He thrives on Opposition. He is a legalist, if necessary, he is ready to trample upon your parchments without at all feeling that he is offending against the Law of Things.

He is not, however, the creature of moods. His course is governed by well-defined lines. He is the doctrinaire, rather than the opportunist—even in his free trade theories. He thinks out a scheme of political philosophy, and then proceeds to apply it relentlessly, if need be, to the body politic. Whatever won for Knowles his huge majority in Moose Jaw, it was not demagogy, flattery or any other homage to the false gods of the market place.

Australia's Caves.

An interesting article on the Caves of Western Australia appears in the February Windsor Magazine. The writer says: "In Yallingup there is a series of caverns and chambers, all of which are easily traversed by the bridges and footways that have been constructed. The special feature of this cave is undoubtedly the shawl and curtain formation. One may safely conclude that they are the finest examples in the world. Here and there they hang in graceful folds; meanwhile the light scintillates upon them, and when the light is placed behind them we see the beautiful tints which have been produced by more or less small quantities of oxide of iron. Other features are the crystal floor, at a depth of 400 feet below the surface, and at the marvelously beautiful 'Jewel Chamber.' We peer through a little crevice in the wall and see a small cavity filled with crystalline stalactites, some of which have mushroom ends upon them. The lights coruscates from one crystal to another in a truly wonderful manner. A peculiar feature in one part of the cave, is a number of roots of the trees growing far above, which having penetrated the ceiling, hang down like large ropes, and in some places have reached and grown into the floor beneath."

Soft Iron Horseshoes.

In Spain very few horseshoers have forges in their shops. They make their shoes without the aid of a fire, a possibility largely due to the pure, soft, ductile iron primarily manufactured with wood and charcoal.

Sleep Spectacles.

Spectacles with a white spot in the centre of a black disk on each lens, the invention of an English doctor, are said to induce drowsiness in a wearer, curing insomnia.

English Farm Hands Quickly Hired.

Mr. Howson, local Immigration Agent, is kept busy these days. The farmers from Asphodel to Ennismore and from Hiawatha to North Harvey are daily haunting his office on Water street, in search of hired farm help. On Saturday a party consisting of nearly half a hundred skilled farm hands arrived in the city, in care of a licensed passage broker of London, Eng. The members of the party were placed on good farm jobs within a very short time. With the sons of Canadian farmers leaving the land to live in the towns and cities, the advent of these and other English immigrants, is one of the few tangible hopes existing for cheaper living.

Down River Steamers Arrive.

The Rainbow, in charge of Capt. Burnett, from Birdsalls, and the Geneva, with Capt. Harris in command, from Gore's Landing, arrived here on Saturday at the Wolfe street wharf. Both boats brought up passengers, and a quantity of produce.

Mr. J. D. McArthur of Winnipeg, the contractor or the Hudson Bay Railway, had a conference at Ottawa recently with the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways, relative to the construction of that branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. McArthur states that every effort is now being made to get in plant and supplies and that, as soon as the frost is out of the ground 1,000 men will be put to work. He expects to finish the section for which he has contracted within a year.

Mrs. Ritchie Home Again.

The many friends of Mrs. Dorthea Ritchie, corner of Dublin and Stewart streets, will be pleased to learn that she has recovered sufficiently from her recent attack of pneumonia as to be brought home from Montreal, where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Freeborn. As Mrs. Ritchie is an octogenarian, her recovery from so serious an attack, speaks highly of the tender care given her by relatives and the skill of the Montreal physicians.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Another Star for the Locals.

Manager Templin has landed a left handed pitcher he has been after for the past six weeks. Twirler John Derr of Lane Cross' Haverhill Club of New England Leaguers, a crack southpaw and a comer in every sense of the word. Templin has been on the trail of Derr ever since he took hold of the Peterborough club and has finally been successful.

Presentation to Mr. W. S. Davidson.

Peterborough is losing a well-known citizen, in the person of Mr. Walter S. Davidson, of the law firm Hall, Medd & Davidson. A presentation was made him at the Peterborough Club, with Mr. E. G. Patterson presiding. The presentation, was accompanied by a suitable address, consisted of a Morocco leather purse, filled with gold. Mr. Davidson made a feeling reply.

Bishop O'Connor's Anniversary.

To-morrow is the twenty-third anniversary of the elevation of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, to the lofty position he now holds so ably. While His Lordship has made a custom of celebrating these anniversaries by celebration of high mass in St. Peter's, this year church business impels his presence in Ogdensburg, N.Y. He leaves to-day for that lakeside city to assist in the consecration of Bishop Conroy.

Annual Meeting of Y. W. C. A.

The twenty-first annual meeting of the Y.W.C.A. will take place on Friday next, May 3rd, at 8 o'clock. Miss Rose Cullen of Toronto, travelling Y.W.C.A. Secretary, will give a short address. Miss Choate and Mr. Wilson will render several violin selections, and vocal selections will be given by Miss Brock. Refreshments will be served, to which the public are cordially invited.

In Hospital With Fracture.

Belleghem's ambulance was called yesterday morning to the C.P.R. station at 9.30, to convey Mr. Daniel Rogers to the Nicholls Hospital. It seems that Mr. Rogers, whilst working in Norwood, in Finlay's mill, fell from a ladder sustaining a fracture of the leg and thigh. Dr. Halliday was called in and quickly relieved the patients suffering. He is progressing as well as the nature of his injuries would allow.

Mrs. Jane Preston's Funeral.

It is expected that the last mortal remains of Mrs. Jane Preston, who died Sunday in Toronto, will arrive here for interment later on, in Lakefield. The deceased was a resident of Peterborough for some time, but has lived in Toronto for the past five years. She is survived by two sons namely, Joseph, of 216 Reid street, Peterborough, and William of Smith, her husband having predeceased her some time.

Lindsay Pavements

Lindsay Post: The William street asphalt block pavement stood the test of the past winter very satisfactorily. When it was laid a few years ago not a few were of the opinion that the blocks would be heaved by the winter's frost. On Thursday a Post reporter inspected the roadway and failed to find an instance in which these doubts were realized. The pavement has experienced two severe winters, and the frost has had no effect upon it.

A Correction.

There was a discrepancy in our article concerning the closing of the Oriental Hotel on May 1st. This item intimated that the owners of the building refuse to grant Mr. Graham an extension of lease after the date named. Yesterday, we were assured by Mr. J. C. Shook that the owners of the building, offered Mr. Graham a ten months' extension of his lease, which he declined. This coming from Mr. Shook puts a somewhat different aspect to the matter.

A Livery Spring Cleaning.

Talking of spring and house-cleaning. Yesterday morning a Times representative passing Gibbs' livery, saw a long line of carriages standing along Water street. To Mr. Gibbs he put the question, "what's the matter, a wedding, a funeral or fire, or what?" There were by actual count 18 rigs standing along the street. Mr. Gibbs replied, "No wedding or funeral. Just like you or the other fellow gets his carpets and furniture out for spring house cleaning. Why! those rigs are only part of 68 vehicles we have."

Police Court.

At yesterday's session of the Police Court, Edward Shimpton, Joseph Smith and Henry Bowerman, who resisted arrest and roughly handled some of the local police, were on trial. The evidence showed that the prisoners assaulted the officers, while the latter were engaged in their duty. Shimpton will get out of Castle Nesbitt in time to enjoy the first of July festivities. The other prisoners were told to dig up a $30 fine each or go to jail for two months. As hospitality of the County of Peter- last report, they are enjoying (?) the hospitality of the County of Peterborough.

What Mr. Graham Will Do.

In another column appears a correction of our report, in yesterday's issue, regarding the Oriental Hotel. Last night, the Times was informed that our report was correct as far as Mr. Graham, vacating his present premises on May 1st, is concerned. It was further stated that Mr. Graham will transfer the license granted him, to the former Noble Temperance House, further West on Hunter street. It seems that Mr. I. Eastwood, owner of the premises formerly occupied by Mrs. Noble, has signified his willingness to spend a considerable amount on enlarging and improving the premises for Mr. Graham.

Did the Gulls Foresee Disaster?

Quite a number of people yesterday remarked on the number of gulls and the raucous noises made by them, as they flew over the city, during the time the peculiar ring was visible, about 11.30 a. m. on Sunday. There seemed to be a direct connection between the solar ring and the disturbed gulls. A Times reporter, happening to meet three gentlemen gazing at the rings through pieces of smoked glass, as scores, if not hundreds, of gulls, in the high heavens, screamed, was asked by one of them: "Don't you think those birds seem to know of or prophecy some approaching disaster?" The question was asked in absolute good faith by a well-known local business man.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

The Peterborough Baseball Club met last night in Messrs. Hall, Medd & Davidson's office.

The fire brigade had a run yesterday morning to 527 George street. Ashes and a woodshed. No damage.

The various cheese factories throughout this district are expected to commence operations this week.

The first shipment of cheese has passed through Belleville, for England, on Friday last.

The probs for to-day, while including northerly winds, prophecy a little higher temperature.

Look out for Dan McCabe's spicy articles, fully illustrated as soon as the ball season opens.

The formal opening of the new Protestant Home will take place this evening at 8 o'clock.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., held their annual meeting last night, in the Bank of Montreal Chambers.

The plumbing contract in connection with the new Protestant Home was carried out by Adamson & Dobbin.

Probably the last meeting of the Canadian Club this season will be held on Friday night, when Mr. E. F.

HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Company Held Annual Meeting in the Bank of Montreal Chambers Last Night.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company took place last night in the Bank of Montreal Chambers. These were present, Mr. Wm. Buller, president and manager, in the chair, and Messrs. Roland Denne, James [illegible], T. H. Hooper, and R. [illegible] stockholders present were Messrs. John Nugent, C. J. Turner, Sr., J. Edwards, F. Kitney, R. McWhinnie, John Mathieson, F. D. Kerr, W. H. Mooris, H. H. Robertson, R. Wolsenholme and others.

The financial statement was submitted and approved, showing that the company had a very successful year. After paying six per cent. dividend, a substantial sum was carried over for the ensuing year. The directors were re-elected.

BIRDIE AND GROOM LOSE THEIR GIFTS

Hamilton, April 29. The issuing of a county court writ yesterday by John R. and Mrs. Day against the Grand Trunk railway brought out an interesting story. Gibson, O'Reilly, Levy & Gibson issued the writ and stated that the plaintiffs had been temporarily embarrassed by alleged negligence on the part of the railway company and had lost heirlooms and trinkets, household goods and other valuable gifts of friends.

The plaintiffs were married about two months ago in the small town of Casselman, Ont. They decided to come to Hamilton. Mr. Day looked after the trip and the bride and groom packed up dozens of valuable wedding presents, household goods, furniture, trinkets and nick-nacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Day ask for $500 damages for the loss of their furnishings and valuables. They have had to restock all the things they expected to have to furnish their home.

BANK ROBBERS AND CITIZENS IN FIGHT

Fort Smith, Ark., April 29. -A small party of citizens fought a two-hour battle with four robbers at Midland, thirty miles south of here, in this, Sebastian county, before dawn Wednesday, but the marauders escaped with loot estimated at $6,000. WEDNESDAY, MAY 1ST.

The robbers set fire to the bank building upon taking flight and valuable papers burned probably will double the loss. The flames, however, were soon extinguished.

The entry of the robbers into the town was accomplished quietly. The telephone exchange is in the second storey of the bank building. All wires were cut. The successive explosions awakened many citizens.

Attempts to use the telephone led to the suspicion that robbers were at work. Men hastily armed themselves and crept toward the bank. Shots from lookouts greeted them and a running fight began between the robbers and men behind trees, fences and hidden around corners from the bank. The robbers kept up their end of the battle until apparently their ammunition gave out. When no shots from the bank answered the townspeople, the building was seen to be afire. The robbers had taken flight. A posse hastily formed and trailed the robbers several miles, but without effect.

WHEN THE SEA GIVES BACK ITS DEAD

SCARCELY Half-a-dozen Mourners Met Funeral Ship---Eastern City's Splendid Reverence

CHURCH BELLS TOLLED AS DEATH SHIP APPROACHED

None Save a Few Mourners Were on the Pier as the Ship Brought Sorrowful Burdens to Shore

Over Fifty Bodies Were Lying on the Deck Uncoffined of Which Relatives Claimed Many

Halifax, N.S., April 30.—With the band of H.M.C.S. Niobe playing the "Dead March in Saul" on the battleship dock, the bells tolling, the flags dropping listlessly at half mast throughout the city, the Mackay-Bennett with the Titanic dead steamed slowly through Halifax harbor this morning and tied up at the naval dockyard. Beyond the bells and the band everything was silent.

On the pier stood the sailors of H.M.C.S. Niobe with appropriate significance on this occasion; those who were to handle the dead, and a few of the relatives—no more than one hundred in all, including one woman, a Miss Eliza Laurette of New York, a survivor. Outside the gates of the dockyard every vantage point was crowded with a respectable throng, police, military and naval guards standing watch over the gates.

Confiscated American Cameras.

The only disturbing element in the impressive scene was a group of photographers representing American newspapers who had hired a tug to get near the cable-ship. They were speedily interrupted in their work by a boat from the Niobe, the crew of which confiscated the cameras.

Bodies of 306 Were Recovered.

The bodies of 306 victims of the Titanic disaster were picked up at sea.

PUBLIC OPINION

WHAT MR. ROWELL MEANS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,--To settle an argument, involving a small bet, will you kindly let a few of us know whether Mr. Rowell's Bill to "Abolish the Bar," includes shutting up all liquor stores and cutting off Club licenses? Also would Hon. Mr. Whitney's anti-treating bill have the same effect?

—Subscriber.

Reply—From enquiries made from Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P.P., we find that Mr. Rowell has not, as yet, introduced any "Bill," but simply moved a couple of resolutions. The purport of his resolutions, so far, would not dispense with shop or club licenses. The same answer applies to Mr. Whitney's bill. —Ed. Times.

THE MUSKRAT SEASON.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Would you oblige me, as a subscriber, by telling me the rules and regulations about catching muskrats. I have some business down the river this week, and have a few traps. I do not want to break the law, however.

—C. L. Moser.

Reply—Following is the clause relating to muskrats in the amended Ontario statute: No muskrat shall be hunted, taken or killed or had in possession of any person between the 1st day of May and the 1st day of December following, nor shall any traps, snares, gins or other contrivances to be set for them during such period; and any such traps, snares, gins or other contrivances so set may be destroyed by any person without such person thereby incurring any liability therefor. This shall apply to Indians in respect of private or leased land. No muskrat shall be shot during the month of April or snared at any time nor shall any muskrat house be cut, speared, broken, or destroyed at any time.—Ed. Times.

WIRE TAPPERS MAKE BIG HAUL

New York, April 29.—According to reports on Broadway, a gang of wire tappers Thursday took $75,000 from bookmakers operating poolrooms in New York city. The coup was effected by sending telegraph information into every large poolroom that Superstition had won the fourth race at Norfolk. The daring theft was not discovered until an hour later, when Kormak was known to be the real winner.

Men new in New York gambling circles are said to have engineered the feat. They disappeared immediately after they cashed their bets.

FUNERAL SHIP RETURNS TO HALIFAX.

NEW PROTESTANT HOME IS FORMALLY OPENED

Last night, every northbound car, up till about 8.15, was crowded with people going to the opening of the new Protestant Home. This fine addition to the architectural features of the city is well placed. It commands a fine view of the city and surrounding country, and at the same time ensures the inmates a healthy location. The building has before been described in The Times. We would simply add that every detail in the requirements of the building has been fully attended to.

The opening ceremonies began by Rev. Mr. Webb, saying that a hymn would be sung. He asked those in the hallway to come into the room. Rev. Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's church, invoked a blessing on the evening's affairs. Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's church then read the 91st Psalm.

Rev. Isaac Couch next offered a prayer for mankind. He noted how mankind had its ups and downs. He thanked God that the people had subscribed to a place to protect the weak. He thanked God that the people of Peterborough had built a place for the aged. His address ended with all present repeating the Lord's prayer.

Rev. Mr. Webb said the Ministerial Association is only the servant of the public. The work of last night was the best work of the Christian Church, without denominational difference. Everyone in Peterborough should take an interest in the Protestant Home. He then declared the Home, on behalf of the Ministerial Association, open.

Rev. Mr. Pogue then raised the benediction. At this point a boquet was handed to Mrs. W. M. Rogers, who replied in a few words, asking for the hymn "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," which was heartily sung by all present.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., then read a history of the Protestant Home since its inception. He mentioned the handsome bequest of $20,000 left by the late Mrs. Nicholls. The proceedings ended with the benediction.

Possibly eight hundred people gathered in the big building, whilst only about sixty were in the room where the opening ceremonies were held

DEATH IN A SKYSCRAPER, HERALDED BY WILD SHRIEK

Toronto, April 30. John Cockle, aged about 40 years, was instantly killed at the new C.P.R. building about 8.30 this morning, when he fell from a freight hoist between the 9th and 10th storeys, down the elevator shaft to the sub-basement, 150 feet below. His neck was broken, and his right foot almost severed at the ankle. Death was instantaneous.

Cockle, who was employed by the Geo. A. Fuller Company, the contractors who are constructing the building, had come down from the upper storeys, where he was working, to get lumber. Whether or not, he rode down on the freight hoist is not known, but it is said by some of the workmen that he did. After loading the hoist with planks at the ground floor, Cockle signalled the engineer, and as the hoist started he stepped on the side.

Shriek and Whizzing Sound.

Up went the hoist with its lumber and human cargo. The engines ran smoothly, and the two hundred or more men employed on the structure were busy with their occupations, when suddenly a shrill cry echoed through the huge steel girders. There was a whizzing sound of some object falling down the elevator shaft, then a thud at the lowest part of the building, the hard cement floor of the sub-basement thirty feet below the ground

SHIP STRUCK A MINE

Smyrna, April 30.—The steamer Texas, belonging to the Archipelago American Steamship Company struck a mine at the entrance of the Gulf of Smyrna last evening and sank. One hundred and forty persons on board were drowned.

The Texas was flying the Turkish flag and was engaged in carrying the mails from Constantinople to the Levant.

It was first stated that the Texas was an American vessel, the error arising from the fact that she is part of the fleet of a local concern trading under the name of the Archipelago American Steamship Company.

Ninety Passengers Saved.

Ninety passengers out of the 156 on board the Texas when she was blown up last night were rescued, according to reports received here. Several of the rescued passengers were suffering from injuries. No mention is made of the crew in the report.

It is alleged that the disaster was due to the Texas deviating from the course indicated by the pilot boat preceding her through the mine field.

At the time of the anti-Greek boycott the fleet to which the Texas belonged and which consists of eight vessels bearing the names of American States, was authorized to fly the United States flag by the United States Consul-General here, because the company was largely controlled by American interests.

THE WHOLE TRUTH ABOUT MANITOBA SCHOOLS

The present condition of the Separate School question in Manitoba is a puzzle to a great many people. Some think that because the Roman Catholics are satisfied with the treatment given them by the Manitoba government lately, that they must have got all they wanted in the way of Separate Schools. Others think that a national or provincial policy has been adopted as a substitute for the old system of Separate Schools with certain privileges attached to it, which has satisfied the Roman Catholic minority. It is manifest that these two positions are entirely different. The facts seem to be that Roman Catholics were entitled to such Separate Schools as were actually in existence at the time the Province of Manitoba came into Confederation. When Manitoba proposed recently to have its boundaries extended, the Roman Catholic minority asked to have this Separate Schools system extended to the whole of Manitoba. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Opposition fought strenuously for this position, and refused to agree to the extension of Manitoba's boundaries unless this Separate School policy was adopted, but the Borden Government refused to make any conditions whatever, leaving that question entirely to Manitoba, and in defiance of the Opposition's struggles, extended Manitoba's boundaries to Hudson Bay. Scarcely was this done when the Manitoba Government made a proposition to the minority, which was accepted, namely, that the minority should give up all separate schools as separate schools. In other words, that it should abolish the Separate School system in Manitoba altogether, and come in under the Public School system as governed by the Public Schools Act. In exchange for this sacrifice the minority was told that it could have Catholic School teachers for its children wherever in the cities there were forty Catholic children, and in rural municipalities where there were twenty-five. This applied also to any Protestant minority in the Section, where the Roman Catholics were in a majority. But this privilege is subject to Public School inspection and to all the public schools regulation imposed by the Province. This would look to be the obliteration of the Separate School system in exchange for the safeguarding of the teaching of the children by Catholic teachers, as above provided, over the whole new province. So far this would appear to be a satisfactory settlement. The danger lies in the future. If the administration of the Public School system becomes more public than before, separate privileges will tend to disappear, and it will be observed that separate privileges are now wholly amenable to the Public Schools Act, but if, in the future, separate privileges become more extended, and the separate schools is born again, it will be all over the Province, and not restricted as heretofore to those localities in which they were at the time Manitoba came into Confederation; so that it would appear as if each side is competing for the future, both sides being satisfied with the present. It will be asked why was this move made at all, and the answer is that it would appear that the minority was not able to finance its growing separate school requirements in the old localities, and was not permitted to do so in the new. In order, therefore, to provide for both, the new arrangement was made, by which the Government would have to provide school accommodation everywhere. This will take a load off the minority's shoulders which bore too heavily in some parts, and didn't exist at all in others, and it was probably for this reason that the minority consented to a compromise which safeguarded the teaching of its children, while providing more ample and more general school accommodation.

Regina, Sask., April 30.—With a three-inch jack knife, J. S. Bell, a prominent Regina grain grower, fought for his life nearly an hour with an infuriated bull in his pasture last night. He was fatally gored expiring an hour after help arrived. He grabbed the beast by the horns and stabbed him in the throat, but each time was shaken off and again attacked.

Young Girls Carried Off—Adults Tortured—Fez Steeped in Blood.

Paris, April 29.

THE massacre at Fez, in which a large number of French officers, soldiers and citizens were killed and wounded, has given rise to considerable criticism of the government authorities for not foreseeing and preventing the occurrence.

Premier Pincaire telegraphed Tuesday to Eugene Regnault, the French minister, to make a complete investigation.

The special correspondents of the French newspapers at Fez indicate that the plot of the rebels included the massacre of the whole of the French mission, headed by M. Regnault, which

HOME RULE BILL UNDER DEBATE

London, April 30.—The debate on the second reading on the Home Rule Bill was begun this afternoon in the House of Commons by Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the presence of a crowded house. Discussion which is expected to last six days promises to be a sort of oratorical tournament. Two prominent speakers representing the Government and the Opposition respectively will participate in the debate each day. Andrew Bonar Law, the leader of the Opposition, and Premier Asquith making the concluding speeches on May 9th just prior to the taking of the vote.

CHAPLAIN'S STORY OF THE BURIAL SERVICES AT SEA

How the Remains of 116 Passengers and Employes of the White Star Liner Titanic Were Reverently Consigned to the Deep in the Solemn Stillness of Night

Halifax, N.S., April 30.—The following is the story of the burial at sea of one hundred and sixteen bodies out of a total of 306 recovered by the Mackay-Bennett, written by the Rev. Kenneth C. Hind, canon of All Saints' Cathedral at Halifax. Mr. Hind accompanied the SS. Mackay-Bennett in her quest after the dead and officiated at all the burial services.

"Strange to say there is far less to tell than people seem to imagine about the mission of the Mackay-Bennett in her trip to look for the bodies from the wreck of the ill-fated ship Titanic. When a passing steamer sent the message that they had seen wreckage and bodies floating about, the Mackay-Bennett was chartered to go and see what could be done in finding them.

"We left Halifax shortly after noon on April 17th and proceeded seaward After getting out to sea, the weather kept foggy, thereby making our journey slow. We reached the vicinity of the wreckage on Saturday evening.

Lifeboats Are Lowered.

"Early on Sunday morning search for bodies began, when the captain and other officers of the ship kept a lookout from the bridge. Soon the command was given, "Stand by the boats," and a little later the lifeboat was lowered, and the work of picking up the bodies began.

"Throughout the day some fifty were found. All were carefully examined and numbered. Their effects were placed in separate bags. It was deemed wise that some should be buried at sea. At 8 p.m. the bell was tolled, indicating that all was in readiness for the burial service. Standing on the bow of the steamer as she rocked to and fro, one gazed at the starry sky above them and then across the boundless sea, and to the mind came crowding the words of the Psalmist of old, 'Whither shall I go from Thy spirit, or whither shall I flee from thy presence. If I ascend up into heaven Thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, Thou art there; if I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost part of the sea, even then shall Thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me.'

Burial at Early Night.

"In the solemn stillness of the early night, the words from the unequalled burial office rang out across the water, 'I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord, he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.'

"When the time for committal came, the words were used over each:

"'Forasmuch as it hath pleased the Almighty God to take unto Himself the soul of our dear brother here departed, we, therefore, commit his body to the deep to be turned to corruption, looking for the resurrection of the body (when the sea shall give up her dead), and the life of the world to come, through our Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile body, according to His mighty working whereby He is able to subdue all things to himself.'

Sang "Jesus, Lover."

"Then the prayers from the burial service were read, the hymn 'Jesus, Lover of my Soul,' sung and the blessing given.

"Anyone attending a burial at sea must surely lose the common impression of the awfulness of a grave in the mighty deep. The wild Atlantic may rage and toss and shipwrecked mariners cry for mercy, but far below, in the calm and untroubled depths, the body rests in peace."

Paris, May 1.—"Society people say that there never were so many swindlers and thieves in their midst as at the present day," the "Gil Blas" cheerfully announces, and tells two stories of what happened to great ladies who were not quite exclusive enough in drawing up their invitation lists. It seems that the Duchesse de G. has a bosom friend whom she had known at least a month, and who hardly ever left her sight. A valuable diamond pin disappeared from the duchess's drawing-room. The bosom friend shortly afterwards went to London. When she came back she called on the duchess. While in London she had won $5,000 or so at bridge. Private detectives found out for the duchess that the thousand in question was the proceeds of the sale of her pin The duchess will henceforth make friends less easily

POISON PROBE IS ON AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Me., April 30. The grand jury which indicted Elsie Hobbs Raymond for the murder of Mattie Hacket and Mrs. Grace E. Royce for the murder of her babe, will be called in special session to investigate the death of Alexander J. Turner, if the report of the coroner's jury agrees with the theory of Coroner Frank Hewins. County Attorney Joseph Williamson took charge of the case to-day and examined nine of the 15 witnesses who have been called.

Henry Gazette of East Douglas, Mass., who was arranged in the municipal court here to-day charged with robbery, will be held until the coroner's jury reports and the result of the analysis of the contents of Turner's stomach is received. Gazette denied taking Turner's watch and ring, which were found in a trunk in his room.

Coroner Frank Hewins stated to-day that Turner had been dead three hours when he was found at 2.30 Tuesday in spite of the statement of Gazette that he had been dead but a few minutes. It is said that another arrest will be made soon. Medical Examiner W. H. Harris performed an autopsy to-day, but will not discuss his findings.

DISSATISFACTION IN HARVEY TOWNSHIP

Mr. Burnham has received a reply from the Minister of Railways and Canals, respecting the protest of the Harvey ratepayers, which he recently forwarded to the Department. The former reeve and council of Harvey agreed with the late Government to accept $950.00 in full for damage to drowned Township Lands by reason of raising the level at Buckhorn. This agreement the present Government has felt bound to respect, and it has closed with the present reeve and council for that amount according. But there has been much irritation all along on the part of many Harvey rate payers, who allege that $950 is enough to cover the damages in certain favoured places but not by any means enough to recompense the township as a whole, which will be put to several hundred dollars loss as a consequence. This statement was forwarded to Minister, and he has agreed, that while he accepts the old agreement of $950.00, meanwhile, yet he will allow of a valuation and a further presentation of the case of the dissatisfied ones, so that full justice may be done. It will now be for Harvey to see that it is not allowed to be at any loss on account of a bad bargain.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence; the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Medical Treatment Is Crude, and Adapted to Local Conditions.

Business is brisk at the trading store. A group of Kaffirs, with their horses grazing nearby, are seated together laughing and talking in that high pitched, but not unpleasant, tone that is the attribute of the South African native.

A line of women, with baskets of mealies and Kaffir corn for sale fill the stoep, jostling and pushing against each other to get in first and be attended to. Inside the store there is a mass of men and women, and the din they make is indescribable, and behind the counter are the trader and his assistant, both doing their utmost to attend to a dozen people at the same time.

The store has only just been opened, for it is still early, and all this business will have been got through within a couple of hours. The rest of the day will be as quiet as it is the opposite now, but the customers all wish to settle their affairs at once, so as to be able to loaf about for the rest of the day.

A white man rides up, scattering the group in front of the building, and there is a general volley of exclamations, for the people know that now it is no use their pushing forward, for until the white man has been attended to they cannot be served, and how long that may take is very uncertain.

The white man looks haggard and drawn, and his first question, "How's the doctor getting on?" hardly comes as a surprise. There is no medical man within a day's ride, but his deputy is here — the medicine chest — and what the questioner is inquiring about is as to the contents of this most useful receptacle. "All right," says the trader, in reply to the question. "Have a look at the book." The white man takes the little volume and opens it, whilst the natives stand round and stare at him. They, in all probability, know him very well, but still he is a white man, and therefore a fit object for curiosity.

It is a quaint little work, this volume, methodically arranged, with all the ills and pains that poor humanity is heir to plainly set out, and the remedy or remedies facing the ailment.

The compilers of this work are fully aware of the drawbacks to life up country; they realize that communication with the world below is sometimes cut off through the swollen rivers and other obstacles, so wherever possible they give an alternative remedy; thus, if the supply of one drug is exhausted, the patient can have a substitute to fall back upon.

The white man goes over the list until he comes across his own particular ailment. "Have you any No. 10 left?" he asks. The trader luckily has, so a draught is taken, and the patient takes a seat on the counter whilst the other customers are attended to.

On one of the shelves is a bewildering array of patent medicines. The names of many of the medicines are household words, but you would not recognize them from their outside wrappers, for these are of the most gaudy description imaginable—it being considered necessary by many manufacturers to use very vivid coverings for the native trade. The white man glances up at them.

He cannot purchase anything from the medicine chest, as the supply is not large enough for that, but he can, of course, buy any of the contents of the shelves. Many of these remedies are reliable ones, but the contents of the medicine chest all figure in the British Pharmacopoeia, and this makes all the difference—or seems to. The Kaffir is imitative to an extreme, and it is as certain that the sun is shining outside that some will now come forward and ask for medical attention.

"I feel ill," says one, "give me some medicine out of the box," but the request goes unheeded, though if a native is really ill he is as welcome to the services of the medicine chest as anyone else. The white man gets down from the counter and expresses his intention of going home. "Come over to-morrow for another dose if you're not better," says the trader, then they shake hands, and the patient goes outside and mounts his horse, and the Kaffirs follow him with their eyes until he is out of sight.

Navy Not Popular.

Alarmed at the number of foreigners serving on ships sailing from the port of London, and the decrease in British seafarers, the London County Council, the education authority for the metropolis, is seeking to find a remedy.

Forty years ago one man in 20 born in England was in the mercantile marine. To-day the proportion is not more than half that, while the number of Lascars and other Asiatics has more than doubled.

A report has now been presented to the London County Council recommending a training ship for the production of officers, in which a two-years' course will be given to boys from 15 years of age.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessors. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

BANK ROBBERS AND CITIZENS IN FIGHT

Fort Smith, Ark., April 29.—A small party of citizens fought a two-hour battle with four robbers at Midland, thirty miles south of here, in this, Sebastian county, before dawn Wednesday, but the marauders escaped with loot estimated at $6,000. Four explosions wrecked the vault and safe of the Bank of Midland, awakening the towns people.

The robbers set fire to the bank building upon taking flight and valuable papers burned probably will double the loss. The flames, however, were soon extinguished.

The entry of the robbers into the town was accomplished quietly. The telephone exchange is in the second storey of the bank building. All wires were cut. The successive explosions awakened many citizens.

Attempts to use the telephone led to the suspicion that robbers were at work Men hastily armed themselves and crept toward the bank. Shots from lookouts greeted them and a running fight began between the robbers and men behind trees, fences and hidden around corners from the bank. The robbers kept up their end of the battle until apparently their ammunition gave out. When no shots from the bank answered the townspeople, the building was seen to be afire. The robbers had taken flight. A posse hastily formed and trailed the robbers several miles, but without effect.

TO IMPROVE IRELAND

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD IS ORGANIZING THE WOMEN.

Belfast Social Worker Is Hard at Work Turning the Attention of Her Sex in the Green Isle Toward Proper Housing and Better Rural Life—Dancing Parties to Help Home Rule.

Among the newer associations aiming at the development of a new Ireland, with brighter conditions and better administration, none is more active than the "United Irishwomen." This is the women's side of the great national movement that is animating the nation to-day.

The immediate object of the "United Irishwomen" is to get together a substantial volume of opinion that will be representative of the whole of the leading women of Ireland, independent of creed or class, with a view to focussing attention on the need for better housing accommodation and the brightening of rural life.

MISS EDITH CRAWFORD.

The membership is confined to women born in Ireland or women of Irish descent, but financial support is accepted from all who desire to see a happier and more contented Ireland.

The secretary and chief organizer of the United Irishwomen is Miss Edith Crawford, a Belfast woman, who has engaged in improving the social and intellectual side of young Irish women in the northern capital. A branch of the United Irishwomen has been established in Connemara, perhaps out of regard for the sympathetic support of the Duchess of Manchester, while other branches are in process of formation throughout the other three provinces. Dancing parties are part of the means by which the organizers of the movement hope to convert young men from any inclination to oppose Home Rule.

Nose and Goggle Party.

A family of fun loving girls recently gave an amusing party. It was called a nose and goggle party and helped a number of young people to pass an evening very merrily without much expenditure of energy and thought in the matter of a disguise.

Each guest wore a false nose and goggles. The noses were purchased or made by clever fingers of heavy cardboard covered with chamois and were not removed until after refreshments were served.

As the guests arrived each was given a card perforated with ribbon run through in order to wear the card around the neck, so that every one could see it.

The cards had on one side a number by which each guest was known, on the other side a list of figures—1, 2, 3, etc. (as many figures as there were guests)—with a space opposite each figure for a name.

In the social conversation which followed each guest guessed who his or her entertainer was. Of course, with intimate friends the familiar voice revealed the personality, but in many cases this was not easily done, if they attempted to disguise the voice, and much amusement and many absurd guesses were made.

As each guess was made the name was placed opposite the number on the card of the guesser corresponding to the number of the person with whom he or she was talking. For instance, if some one thought he knew No. 4 he turned his card and wrote the name opposite No. 4, etc. It was voted by all the gay people who were present as no end of fun and a most original way of spending a jolly evening.

When Cutting Striped Material.

One of the most difficult things for the home dressmaker to accomplish is the proper cutting of striped materials.

To be able to cut a striped dress well is a proof that you are by no means a novice at the art of dressmaking.

Skirts are always cut first. Lay the material out flat on the cutting table, and if there is no "up and down" to the material you will be able to fit the gores into each other, cutting the material in an economical way.

Remember to have the line of small perforations found in the center of each gore of the pattern run straight with a stripe. This will cause each cut edge to be slightly bias and when joined will look far better than if a bias edge was joined to the straight.

The center of the front gore must, of course, be on a stripe. Double your material before cutting in order to have both sides exactly alike. When cutting sleeves be sure the material is doubled and save yourself the trouble of having one sleeve different from the other, thus ruining the garment.

Stripes should run straight from the shoulder to the waist in sleeves. Have the stripes run straight down the center of the front and straight down the center of the back when cutting the bodice. Always allow plenty of material for seams when striped material is used and be sure that the stripes match to the joining of seams.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

THIN, FRAIL WOMEN WITH PALE CHEEKS

Now Rapidly Learning the Way to Health and Vigor by the Use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Thousands of half-dead, emaciated, worn-out women are dragging out their weary lives simply because they don't know what ails them. Nine times in ten it's indigestion, which directly leads to anaemia, poor circulation and eventually invalidism.

The first step towards relief is to flush out all wastes and unhealthy matter. Loosen the bowels—stir up the liver—stimulate the kidneys. Once this is done, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will quickly manifest their health-restoring qualities.

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured

I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to attend to the Catarrh condition, and at last I became a victim of Catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhozone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane of my life for two years.

To keep the machinery of the body in active working order, no remedy is so efficient, so mild, so curative as Dr. Hamilton's Pills—good for men, women and children, 25c. per box, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

FRANCE'S LOVE FOR UNITED STATES.

It seems evident that La 'Belle France loves Sou Oncle Sam. It will be remembered how France, a generation ago, presented the United States with that wonderful Statue of Liberty, which holds a beacon of welcome to the ships of all nations entering New York harbor. This statue is located on Bedloe's Island, at the entrance to the harbor. Now another notable gift from the French Nation to the people of the United States has arrived, when a delegation of distinguished Frenchmen arrived in charge of the bust of La France, by the famous sculptor, Auguste Rodin, which is to be placed at the foot of the Champlain memorial lighthouse at Crown Point, Lake Champlain. After a round of receptions in the United States the delegation will go to Montreal on May 3rd, visit Quebec on May 5th and Niagara Falls on the 7th.

TOO STRENUOUS POLITICS ?

Without approving or condemning their action, it seems that the Dominion Alliance is rather too strenuous in their endeavor to carry their platform, almost at any cost. It would seem that their latest pronunciamento, whilst, "throwing a sop to Cerberus," by way of giving faint praise to both the political parties of Ontario, simply means the upsetting of political parties to ensure their own ideas being carried out. The greater, graver affairs of State, the future of the Province are to be ignored, so that the temperance party may win. Even the most ardent supporter of that party must admit to himself, if he does not express himself to that effect openly, that a modification of the liquor traffic is all that the coming years will see successfully operated. This has been the practical history of both the United States and Canada. Still, this is the platform now advocated:

"We desire to express our appreciation of the fact that the political parties in Ontario are coming to recognize the dominance of the temperance issue in Provincial politics. We believe that the next election will be fought out upon this issue; and, whereas, the abolition of the retail traffic in intoxicating liquors will secure for the Province what local option by-laws have been securing under difficult conditions for the individual municipalities, therefore, this executive committee urges upon all friends of our cause the importance of taking action to secure the nomination in every constituency at the earliest possible date of candidates of character and ability, whose declared policy will be the furthest advanced in that direction."

ITALY'S NAVAL CAMPAIGN.

Turkey's answer to the offer of mediation by the powers brings no surprise—she is willing to make peace providing Italy relinquishes her hold on the strip of African soil for which she entered upon the war. The powers have now learned from both Italy and Turkey that each is willing—nay anxious—to cease fighting if its sovereignty in Tripoli is acknowledged. Turkey is grateful to the powers for their kind intentions, but to give up a piece of the Turkish empire would be impossible. Italy has already declared that she considers Tripoli as hers by right of conquest. This leaves the powers to make the next move, and they will find it difficult to agree on what that should be. Some arrangement for the sale of Tripoli to Italy will doubtless be suggested, but it will take much bickering in the capitals of Europe before this can even be proposed.

Meanwhile the Italians have initiated a new plan of campaign to bring the Turks to terms. In Tripoli their progress is necessarily slow, and they have now turned their fleet against the Turkish islands in the Aegean. The Kaiser's visit to Venice apparently encouraged the Italians to be more aggressive. They began with seizing the island of Lemnos near the entrance to the Dardanelles. Using this island as a naval base, they have bombarded some of the Turkish forts and seized Astropalia, Stampalia and a number of lesser islands on the Asiatic coast. Stampalia commands one of the principal passages leading to the Dardanelles. This conquest gives Italy the opportunity to blockade those Turkish ports which face the Aegean Sea. Once such a blockade is in force—and Turkey's embryo navy can do nothing to prevent its becoming effective—the commerce of all Europe will suffer. Doubtless Italy counts on this to bring increased pressure to bear on Turkey. With Greece fidgeting on one side of the Aegean and the commercial interests of Europe threatened on the other, something decisive may before long be expected.

TAFT AND CANADA.

The letter which President Taft wrote to Mr. Roosevelt ten days before he inveigled Mr. Fielding into signing the reciprocity agreement, should be read together with the President's now famous statement at New York last spring Extracts from both deliverances bear repeating. In his letter to his predecessor in office, marked private and confidential, Mr. Taft expresses the frank opinion that the trade arrangement would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. It would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York, with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is an argument against reciprocity made in Canada, and I think it is a good one.

In his New York speech the President used the following language:

"I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now, or give it up forever."

The News adds the following terse comment: Can any doubt remain as to the ulterior purpose behind the overtures from Washington? Is it not clear from these two utterances alone that the chief author of the compact believed that it would operate powerfully to withdraw Canada from the British Empire at least commercially, and to render the Dominion a mere outlying dependency of the great Republic? The stronger the light that is shed upon the secret history of the Washington negotiations of last year the more satisfied Canadians must necessarily be with their own action in emphatically rejecting the agreement and the shortsighted Canadian politicians who helped to father it.

JUSTIN McCARTHY

Justin McCarthy, who many years ago lectured in Bradburn's Opera House, this city, was a literary man first and last "Nullum fere scribendi genus non tetigit; nullum quo tetigit non ornavit," might be said of him as it was said of his fellow-countryman, Goldsmith. He wrote history and biography, novels and short stories, poems and plays. He was a reporter, an editor and an editorial writer. He could discuss the philosophy of Aristotle and the dialectics of Plato, review the proceedings of Parliament the night before, or chronicle the latest move on the party board. He was, perhaps, above all a journalist, but whatever kind of writing he touched he touched it lightly, and gracefully. He was sparkling rather than profound, but with no false glitter. If his shafts did not pierce deep the aim at least was true.

Few writers have unconsciously given in their works so much material for pictures of themselves. It is not necessary even to read "An Irishman's Story" to tell the kind of man McCarthy was. One impression one gets is that of a gentle, kindly nature. No bitterness even when discussing events of which he himself had been a large part. Chamberlain gets off lightly; of Balfour we get a picture which that statesman must treasure.

McCarthy, as has been said, was essentially a journalist. This will strike those who read his "History of Our Own Times." He tells in a most interesting way about the things that he himself remembers; he is less interesting when he has to get his story together from facts gathered from state papers and other dry documents; but he is always interesting. He was successful as a novelist, but his novels are little likely to last, except perhaps one or two which throw a light on British politics in a way that recalls some of Trollope's best work. To compare him with Lever is far-fetched.

In spite of his essential unfitness for political life, McCarthy was a distinguished parliamentarian. He was truly the Nestor of the Irish party. When the great split took place it was his soft tongue that was used to soothe angry passions. He went with the anti Parnellite majority, and became the titular leader; but he never cared for the honor, and used all his influence to heal the breaches in the party, prepared at any time to hand the reins to a successor. His work was unobtrusive, but his services were real.

Relieved of the responsibilities of leadership, he devoted himself to his books and his family. His declining years must have been spent as happily as worldly conditions will allow. He was devoted to his family and they to him. He watched with particular pride the success of his son, who, though perhaps he has not won the laurels of Sheridan, which it was once predicted would be his, has won a high place in contemporary literature.

McCarthy is dead at 82. It is a good round age. It has been a well spent life.

Editorial Notes

That Armenian who tells how he escaped from the Titanic by concealing himself under a seat in one of the lifeboats is quite content to let the heroes get all the praise. He's satisfied.

The alderman who gets himself elected in order that he may use his elective office as a stepping-stone to permanent office is not the sort of man who should be elected as an alderman.

Queen's University is no longer a Presbyterian institution of learning, but the personnel of the board of trustees shows that the university will continue to be controlled by Presbyterians.

It is reported that Major Peuchen, who, as senior major of the Queen's Own regiment, is in line for promotion to the coloneley, will not get his promotion on account of his record in connection with the Titanic disaster. There is nothing reported of the major's conduct at the time of the disaster which was unbecoming an officer or a gentleman.

Mr. Izzard, a member of the executive of the bricklayers' international organization, appears to be both astounded and mortified to learn that the local bricklayers don't need his assistance in settling their dispute with the local contractors. But he should rejoice in the fact. In truth, Mr. Izzard seems to have met with the snub which frequently comes to over-officious butters-in.

As the C. P. R. steamship Princess Adelaide swung out from the Vancouver wharf a few days ago on her Vancouver-Victoria run, a cornetist on board played "Nearer My God to Thee." The last incident marking the sinking of the Titanic will long be recalled by those who go down to the sea in the great ships. The phrase, "those in peril on the sea," has a very real meaning for all who travel near or far by water these days.

One of the present day problems of democracy is to turn out good citizens especially in the urban centres. One of the best investments for any city is to provide plenty of play grounds for the younger generation who may be early led by their surroundings into healthful ways of living, taught to exercise self-control among their fellows and trained to be alert and skillful. The play ground movement has aroused wide interest and is expanding along practical lines.

were buried at sea. These bodies were found to be in such condition as to preclude their being brought to port. One hundred and ninety bodies were aboard the cable ship Mackay-Bennett when she made port to-day. Of these two were women.

The body of John Jacob Astor, millionaire, was identified on board the Mackay-Bennett, by the jewelry he wore, and a few cards found in a card case in his pocket, according to members of the crew.

Captain Richard Roberts, seeking Col. Astor's body, reported after a conference with Commander Lardner of the Mackay-Bennett that he was sure the identification was proper. He added, however, that the body identified as that of Geo. B. Widener of Philadelphia was so mutilated that identification was still in doubt. Captain Lardner could not say positively whether it was that of Mr. Widener or his valet.

C. M. Hays' body was not on the Mackay-Bennett. Probably it is on the SS. Minia.

Took Four Hours to Unload.

The remains of Isador Straus, the Philadelphia millionaire philanthropist, were on the Mackay-Bennett.

Not one name of prominent persons missing was added to the list of recovered dead by the Mackay-Bennetts arrival. Sailors worked four hours unloading her, and the dead were driven slowly up the hill to an improvised morgue in a curling rink, where relatives will have an opportunity to claim them.

The cable ship docked at 9.40 a.m. and it was not until after one that the last of the coffins had been removed from her deck. Only a handful of the bereaved and their representatives came to the pier.

DEATH IN A SKYSCRAPER

shaft on the second and first storeys saw that the falling object was a man, and with the alarm work was suspended. A workman in the basement heard the thud, and ran down to his comrade. The lifeless body was brought up in the hoist and carried to the time office, and in a few moments Dr. Allison of Riordan and Rice, 103 Bay street, a city ambulance and an ambulance from Grace Hospital were on the scene. Later the body was removed to the morgue.

In Hoist Against Rules.

Mr. T. T. Amos, superintendent in charge of the structural work, was at the south-east corner of the second floor when the accident happened.

"I heard something falling and then the thud as it struck the floor, but had no idea that it was one of the men."

"Is it against the rules to ride on the hoist?"

"Yes, it is contrary to the orders of the company."

Not only was it against the rules of the Fuller Co., but to ride in such a hoist is a breach of the Dominion Statute. The same clause pertaining to riding in the ore-hoist or "skip" of a mine, which has proven fatal to so many underground workers, applies to hoists, such as the one used in the C.P.R. building.

In the home of the deceased at 51 Simcoe street, Mrs. Cookie, received the news of her husband's death at first calmly. Then she burst into hysterics and kind-hearted neighbors tried in vain to soothe her. It is feared that she may suffer a nervous breakdown. There are no children in the family.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tenders for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13th, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—

Goderich, Napanee, Picton, Telegraph, and Nigger Islands.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1,500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order.

R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

ONTARIO.

Provincial Loans of $2,000,000 and $210,000.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1911, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $2,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st May, 1912, and payable on the 1st November, 1941, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, payable half-yearly, on the 1st of May and 1st of November in each year, at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York N.Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer, and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

Also balance of Algonquin Park Loan of $210,000, on the same terms and with the same dates, under the authority of Chapter 9, 1 George V.

The issue price during the month of May, 1912, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 31st day of May, 1912, the issue price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st of May, 1912.

ALL BONDS AND INCREASED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of Stock or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

The Sixth Sense.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences M. Kunz discussed the phenomenon of "feeling at a distance," to which the power of blind people to avoid nearby obstacles is ascribed. M. Kunz believes that such a power exists and that it is not peculiar to the blind. It seems to be shared by others who possess a peculiar constitution. The faculty appears to reside in the skin, for experiments show that it is not connected with the sense of hearing. As to its nature, little knowledge has been obtained. There is a tendency to ascribe obscure phenomena of this kind to electrical action, but the mode of operation remains unknown.

A Baltic-Black Sea Canal.

It is stated that the old project for uniting the Baltic with the Black sea is at last to be put into operation. By utilizing the rivers Dwina and Dnieper a navigable waterway 1,600 miles long can be constructed without any great engineering problems, extending from the port of Riga on the Baltic to Kherson on the Black sea. The cost is estimated at about $200,000,000, but the benefit to Prussian commerce and industries will be immense.—American Travelers' Gazette.

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future.

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior tender chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

Big Demand For the Cat.

The other night a young man from Pierce City was peacefully slumbering in a room in a Carthage hotel when he was awakened by the noise of a rat. Hastily he rang the bell and was surprised by having the bellboy run up and throw a cat into the room. Soon the young man went to sleep again. Then there came a tremendous pounding at the door. "Who is that?" he asked. "It's me," said the bellboy. "Has the cat caught the rat yet?" "No," replied the guest. "Well," came the voice from the other side, "let's have him. There's another rat in room 23."—Monett (Mo.) Times.

REBELS PLOT SLAUGHTER

recently arrived at the capital to establish the protectorate.

This plan failed owing to the impatience of the Arabian women to begin carnage. These women are described by the correspondents as creatures of terrifying appearance who rushed about the streets, torturing the wounded and sometimes aiding the Moorish rebels in the final mutilation and desecration of the victims.

Scenes of horror occurred in the Jewish quarter of the city, where the mob murdered, pillaged and burned all the Jews they could find, throwing their bodies from the roofs. Many young girls were carried off to suffer outrages. The Jewish quarter was set on fire and three-fourths of it entirely destroyed, rendering over a thousand people homeless.

The complete story of the death of the French telegraphers is a narrative of coolness and bravery. Although they possessed only one revolver among them, they kept the mob at bay for a considerable time, killing sixteen of the fanatics.

All the time one or the other of them was sending off dispatches to headquarters at Tangier telling of the plight of the Europeans. Finally, however, the Arabs tore a hole in the roof into which they sent a murderous hail of bullets and flaming torches, which set fire to the telegraph room.

Three of the telegraphers fell dead and the fourth turned his revolver on himself rather than fall living into the hands of the fanatics. The shot missed and he was later able to escape from the burning building.

Fears are expressed in Paris that similar outbreaks may occur in other parts of Morocco.

TORPEDO STRIKES THE U. S. S. MARYLAND

Los Angeles, April 30.—It is reported that the United States cruiser Maryland was struck last night by a torpedo during practice. The torpedo is said to have pierced one of the plates, flooding a compartment. The Maryland is inside the breakwater, and has a decided list to starboard.

It was impossible late to-day to confirm the report, for apparently great secrecy regarding the accident was being maintained.

During the practice yesterday in which the torpedo flotilla and submarines fired torpedoes at the Maryland, torpedoes with collapsible heads were used, but it is thought that by mistake, one with a solid head was fired.

Men were seen repairing the side of the Maryland and pumps were working. Capt. J. H. Ellicott is in command.

WASHINGTON IS AROUSED

War Feeling Against Mexico Rampant Over Ill-treatment of Americans.

Washington, April 30.

WAR between the United States and Mexico is being agitated here recently, following tales of the wholesale murder of American citizens in Mexico, told by refugees who have just arrived at Galveston, Texas. The situation is regarded so seriously that the state department has sent a second ultimatum to President Francisco I. Madero, warning him that the killing of American citizens must stop at once, and that an explanation is expected immediately.

Although government officials are puzzled over the situation and are determined to safeguard American lives, they are unwilling to start hostilities against the Mexican republic at this time, hoping that Madero will take measures to adjust the situation to their satisfaction.

General Anson Mills, the Mexican boundary commissioner, asserts that American intervention in Mexico would mean fifty years of warfare.

Refugees tell Stories.

San Franzisco, April 30.—That murder and arson are crimes of almost daily occurrence in the bandit-infested regions of the west coast of Mexico, was the declaration of American refugees, who arrived here to-day on the Pacific mail steamer City of Panama. Women and children, members of the families of American planters and engineers, were taken aboard at Mazatlan, Acapulco and San Blas and other ports. They described a reign of terror extending over almost the entire coast and gave an account of the capture of the town of Acapulco by bandits, after the citizens had been able to offer only $10,000 of $20,000 demanded by the marauders.

Mrs. Lola Steele, of New York, the wife of a civil engineer, who is employed on a 1,000,000 acre plantation, boarded the City of Panama at Salina Cruz. With her were Mrs. Laura Rhoades, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucy Rhoades and the latter's two children. They said American residents of the Salima Cruz district lived in daily terror of their lives and, that bands of outlaws were scouring the country, plundering and murdering the inhabitants. Mrs. Ida Gorton, of Texas, who boarded the vessel at Salina Cruz, with her son and daughter, Raphael and Florence A. Gorton, said a state of absolute anarchy prevailed in the vicinity of the small town of Lucretia, from which they came, and that she believed many Americans to have been killed.

"Railroad bridges are being blown up," said Mrs. Gorton. "Ranch houses, farms and stores are being robbed and their defenders shot.

DUNGEONS FOR 5 DESPERADOES

Kingston, Ont. April 30.—The five convicts who escaped from the penitentiary yesterday, and who were subsequently captured, are now confined in dungeons, and an especially close watch is being kept over them. They will be tried at the next session of the County Court in June on the charges of assault and of breaking prison.

The opinion of the penitentiary officials is that the escape was premeditated. McNeil, who was out in the corridor, and who assaulted Guard Davis, used an iron bar which he unscrewed from his cot with the aid of a jack knife. All the convicts armed themselves with batons before they started. Fortunately they were unable to secure firearms. When Dr. Phelan, the penitentiary physician, entered the corridors, the five convicts who had already disposed of the guard and Keeper Midden, said: "We are thinking of going out Dr. and would like your clothes."

They then proceeded to remove the doctor's clothing. The convicts were all locked up in their cells yesterday afternoon and the dash which their fellow convicts made for liberty having stirred them, they created great disorder, shouting to the top of their lungs.

ANOTHER BOAT IN SHIPS' GRAVEYARD

New York, April 30.—Officers of the Norwegian steamship Romsdel, which is in drydock here Thursday, after a trip made perilous by field ice, believe that they witnessed the sinking of a freight ship of about 3000 tons, in latitude 45.5, longitude 57.10, 400 miles north of the Titanic's grave, on March 26. The identity of the sunken ship is not known.

The Romsdell's attention was attracted to the distressed ship soon after nightfall, when the vessel began sending up rockets showing that help was wanted. Captain Heil ordered that the Romsdel be headed for the scene, and his ship was run into the ice field with as much speed as possible, but she had not gone far before she had six or seven holes in the hull, which allowed much water to enter the hold. All hands were ordered to the pumps, and the nineteen men of the crew were able to keep the water from gaining until temporary repairs were made.

Meanwhile the rockets continued to ascend from the ship in distress, but the Romsdel was helpless, for she too was fast in the ice. About midnight the rockets from the other vessel stopped and soon afterward her lights were seen to disappear beneath the waves. When daylight broke those on board the Romsdel were unable to find any trace of the sunken vessel.

For three days the Romsdel was a prisoner in the ice. She finally worked her way out with six more holes in her hull and her propeller blades broken. Temporary repairs were made, but it was necessary to keep the crew at the pumps constantly.

On her arrival here she was drydocked and is now undergoing extensive repairs.

to be, "quite in her set." She had a diamond necklace given her by her husband which she wanted valued. The young man knew an expert who was perfectly conscientious and honest, and was commissioned to take him the necklace. A week later he returned crestfallen. The expert had pronounced the jewels a wonderful imitation. The lady said nothing to her husband, but was not pleased. Some time after the husband wanted $4,000 at once, and took the necklace round to his jeweller. The latter looked at it, and was surprised. The husband was surprised also to learn that the necklace of real stones, which he had bought from that same jeweler, had been mysteriously transmitted into paste. His wife, like the duchess, will be more exclusive in future.

A daring robbery has been committed at the residence of Senor Sebastian de Mier, Mexican minister, who lives with his wife and their son and daughter-in-law in the Avenue Victor Hugo, at Neuilly. The house stands in grounds, and twelve servants are kept. The other evening the minister's son put his shirt studs and links in a strong box, and when he awoke the next morning he found that it had disappeared. It was then discovered that all the other boxes containing jewelry had also been carried off. The total loss is estimated at $50,000. The police were informed, and an investigation of the grounds revealed traces of footsteps along the wall which separates the grounds from the Rue Borghese. Further search showed that someone had climbed over this wall, and finally a sleeve-link was discovered in the street.

The Famous Arenes de Lutece.

Pending the restoration, hoped for by lovers of antiquities, of the famous Arenes de Lutece, an interesting experiment is about to be made by Madame Cariste Martel, who was for years connected with the Comedie Francaise. This lady has obtained a temporary concession of the portion of the arena, which has been revealed to view, and workmen will soon be busy on arrangements for its conversion into a theater. The stage is to be a little wider than that of the Theater Francais, and at the back will be a row of Greek columns, with curtains in between, separating it from the coulisses. The theater, thus improvised, is expected to be ready for performances by the end of June, and there is some talk of its inauguration by the Queen of Holland when she pays her promised visit to Paris, on which occasion there will be a gala entertainment.

All this will have the effect of drawing public attention to the Arenes de Lutece, about half of which only is visible, as the other half, which is separated from it by a high wall, is covered to a certain depth by ground on which various buildings stand. As the work of total restoration would be attended with considerable expense, successive municipal councils have shrunk from undertaking it, but there is a growing feeling that something really ought to be done for the complete recovery of an interesting relic dating from the time of the Romans.

Ideal Protection Against Inroads of Catarrh

By Breathing the Rich, Balsamic Vapor of Catarrhozone You Prevent and Cure all Head, Nose and Throat Disease.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhozone; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness and irritation.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums, all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

"The best way to correct impaired digestion, to cure constipation, headache, liver trouble, and other ailments of the stomach and bowels writes Mrs. Uriah A. Dempsey, from Woodstock, "is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills I didn't know what it was to enjoy a good meal for months. My stomach was sour, I belched gas, was thin, tired, pale and nervous. I simply house-cleaned my system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and have been robust and vigorous ever since."

A. H. SWARTZ, Brockville, Ont.

For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment guaranteed, price $1.00, smaller size 50c.; at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y., U.S.A.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

THE STERILIZATION OF CRIMINALS.

Governor Dix has signed a bill which makes the sterilization of male criminals and defectives legal in the State of New York. The law will be applied only to those confined in the State institutions, and with it is created a board to be known as the Board of Examiners of Feeble-Minded, Criminals and Other Defectives. This board will consist of one physician, one surgeon and one neurologist, each with an experience of at least ten years.

If the board, after an examination, finds that a person of the class affected by the law would transmit to his offspring a tendency to crime, insanity or feeble-mindedness, or that his own mental or physical condition would be improved thereby, it is to appoint one of its members to perform the necessary operation.

The criminals who come within the scope of the law are those who have been convicted of rape or of a succession of offenses as the board may decide to afford sufficient evidence of confirmed criminal tendency. The board is also required to examine into the mental and physical condition, the record and family history of all male feeble-minded, epileptic and other defective persons in the State institutions to determine whether they shall come within the operation of the law.

While the board is made the judge of the habitual criminality of prisoners its edict cannot become effective until after judicial review, hence the board is not a power by itself and cannot go to any extremes until after the most careful consideration.

The law was passed on the ground that society had a right to protect itself, that the few must be made to suffer for the protection of the many and the preservation of the race. Its advocates in the Legislature contended that the cancer of criminality had been too long regarded complacently, and that the criminal, the idiot and the degenerate have had too free a reign in the matter of being allowed to transmit their tendencies to the great injury of society.

New York makes the sixth State to adopt such a law, but it is quite probable that soon it will be on the statute books of most of the States. Its application to negro brutes in the South would do more to prevent the atrocious crimes they frequently commit than lynchings or legal hangings.

THE BOMBARDMENT OF THE DARDANELLES.

In the tenseness of the world-wide excitement caused by the tragedy of the Titanic Italy's naval attack on the Dardanelles was an incident that passed practically unnoticed. The chancelleries of Europe have been opposed to such a move on the part of Italy for fear of complications in the Balkans, hence the Italian government has been under heavy pressure to abstain from hostilities in the Dardanelles in order that Turkey could be induced not to carry out her threat to close the strait to navigation.

Italy, however, has decided that it is time to strike an effective blow in her war with the Ottoman Empire, but it appears that the recent naval attack was nothing more than a feint made for the purpose of feeling out the Turkish position preparatory to more serious operations.

The stubborn nature of Turkey's reply to the proposals of the powers looking to peace, which was delivered on the day of the bombardment, indicates failure in that direction. Turkey refuses to give up Tripoli to Italy, and declares that peace can come only with a recognition of her sovereign rights. Hence the task before the Italians is to complete the conquest of Tripoli or to subjugate the Turks at home, otherwise they must acknowledge themselves foiled or beaten in the attempt to seize Turkish territory.

Recent reports from Tripoli are to the effect that the Italian outlook has not improved, and at present there is no sign of an advance movement, hence it may be that Italy has come to believe that it would be easier for her to conquer Turkey than Tripoli, and has set out on the dubious enterprise with an attack on the Dardanelles.

Did the Gulls Foresee Disaster?

Quite a number of people yesterday remarked on the number of gulls and the raucous noises made by them, as they flew over the city, during the time the peculiar ring was visible, about 11.30 a. m. on Sunday. There seemed to be a direct connection between the solar ring and the disturbed gulls. A Times reporter, happening to meet three gentlemen gazing at the ring, through pieces of smoked glass, as scores, if not hundreds, of gulls, in the high heavens, screamed, was asked by one of them: "Don't you think those birds seem to know of or prophesy some approaching disaster?" The question was asked in absolute good faith by a well-known local business man.

STEEL TRUST INVESTIGATES ITSELF.

The United States Steel Trust has been investigating itself. A committee of stockholders who were aroused by the unflattering reports made by philanthropic associations of conditions around Pittsburg, to a sense of their own responsibility, hence they undertook to determine whether the charges were true, and found that what had been said was true.

They inform the officers of the big corporation of which they are part owners that the seven-day work week is "from a physical or moral point of view detrimental to those engaged in it," and that the twelve-hour work day "means the decreasing efficiency and lessening of the vigor and virility of the men."

These are the conclusions set forth in the report of the Pittsburg Survey, the hostile criticism of which was, it was claimed, based upon its faulty premises. The stockholders' committee however, which has reached the same conclusions cannot be dismissed in the same supercilious manner, hence it is up to the Steel Trust to improve conditions, as this duty it cannot evade.

A DISTURBING UNCLAIMED SALE

Many of our readers have probably attended sales of unclaimed express, freight, or custom house goods, where one "buys a pig in a poke," i.e. the bidder does not know the contents of the package he bids on. A peculiar case, along similar lines, occurred on April 20th, when the stationmaster at Narva, a town in the Baltic Provinces, announced that unclaimed luggage was to be sold by public auction. The contents of several trunks had been disposed of, and a strong box, carefully corded, was brought forward and its lock forced with some difficulty. Inside was a neat infernal machine with a powerful charge of dynamite.

There were no bids for the box and its contents: as a matter of fact, buyers fled helter-skelter from the sale, and the police took their place. Examination of the machine proved that a defect in the mechanism had prevented its explosion. The box had come by train from St. Petersburg, and it is thought to have been intended to explode during the journey. There is no clew at present to the sender's identity, but it is hoped the police will succeed in tracing him.

Lindsay Pavements

Lindsay Post—The William street asphalt block pavement stood the test of the past winter very satisfactorily. When it was laid a few years ago not a few were of the opinion that the blocks would be heaved by the winter's frost. On Thursday a Post reporter inspected the roadway and failed to find an instance in which these doubts were realized. The pavement has experienced two severe winters, and the frost has had no effect upon it.

Without Ceremony.

More or less ceremony usually attends the laying of a corner-stone, but in one case at least it was laid quite simply.

Two men were talking of the fortune of a third when on said:

"He made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage and sold them at a profit of more than 300 per cent. That was the corner-stone of his present fortune."

"Ah," exclaimed the other man. "Then the hens laid it!"

A Reform Movement.

Mrs. Benham—When we women get to running the Government we'll do a thing or two.

Benham—Such as what?

Mrs. Benham—We'll make a man take out a hunter's license before he can look for a collar button, and in his application he will have to certify that he doesn't swear.

A Practical View.

"Father," said the inquisitive boy, "what is a genius?"

"A genius, my son, is a man who gets a whole lot of advertising without being able to do any profitable business with it."

Silk Imports.

Silk goods from France, Switzerland, and Germany to the annual value of thirteen million pounds are imported into Great Britain.

Bank's Odd Callers.

The Bank of England has just dispensed with the services of the two detectives who have stood sentry at its front door for over a quarter of a century. During that period many were their odd experiences, for there are many people at large who think they own the Bank of England or part of it, and they call periodically with the idea of making an inspection of the premises. Then there is the individual who would go up to the sentry-box, tap the detective on the arm, and ask in an undertone "Which is the way to the cashier's desk? I want to change a check for a million pounds." Another would ask to be directed to the strong room, "where my large diamond collection is kept, by permission of His Majesty." Then there were the "claimants"—those who imagined they were heirs to the throne, and that the bank would be theirs as soon as they had proved their claim. Even visitors in rags would call and demand to be allowed to count over their securities!

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,264 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.97 gallons a day, and that at each house [illegible] gallons were disposed of in the same period.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The summary of the U. S. agricultural statistics of the thirteenth census as now compiled and made public by the census bureau, deals with figures so big that they are hard to grasp. We are told that the value of the farm property in the United States is practically forty-one billion dollars—twice as much as it was ten years earlier—of which two-thirds is in the land one-sixth in buildings, and one-sixth in live stock, implements and machinery. The chief factor in the doubling in value of American farm property in the past decade was the greater earning power of the land as the result of the increasing demand for farm products and the relatively decreasing supply of them. Good farming never paid so well as it does now. This country not only needs more farms and more farmers, but the farmers must profit from the lessons of Europe, where intensive methods cause the acre to produce twice as much as the new, rich acres of America are made to yield.

It is greatly shocked because there is a bad monk in a lax monastery, but it was just this kind of a brew that gave birth to the Orange infliction. The filth of the Sentinel should be barred the mails of a decent country like Canada.

"The Orangemen," says the Boston Pilot, "are the only people who take pride in the fact that they are able to govern themselves." All this frenzy in Ireland merely shows that they hate to give up the job of governing a country which has gotten pretty tired of the Orange bellwethers and is now determined to govern itself. ANCIENT WILLS.

The Mohammedan Says Adam Left a Record One.

The Mussulman claims that our forefather Adam left a will, and that seventy legions of angels brought him sheets of paper and quill pens, nicely nibbed, all the way from Paradise, and that the Archangel Gabriel set his seal as a witness.

Jacob, the third of the Hebrew patriarchs died in Egypt at the age of 147, but was buried by his sons in the Cave of Machpelah at Hebron in Palestine, the traditional burial place of the prophets and other Biblical characters of their time.

It can be stated that the very earliest reference to an actual testamentary disposition is by the words of this patriarch:

"And Israel said unto Joseph, Behold, I die; but God shall be with you and bring you again unto the land of your fathers.

"Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above my brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my sword and with my bow.

"And Jacob called unto his sons, and said, gather yourselves together, that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days

In the forty-eighth and forty ninth chapters of Genesis are these words of the dying patriarch; and here is found not only the disposition of "portion" to Joseph, but the character of each son is shown, the virtue or fault of each is described, to each a symbolic emblem is assigned, and to each a future is prophesied.

Here is a will, in fact, and in prophecy.

Homer cites this will, made in favor of Piraeus, to whom Telemachus bequeaths all the presents that had been made to him by Menelaus, lest they fall into the hands of his enemies, but he adds: "In case I should slay them and survive, you are to restore them to me in my palace, a task as joyous to you to accomplish as to myself to profit by." Perhaps, however, this may be objected to as proceeding from fabulous history. In Biblical tradition, however, we find very early evidence of oral bequests.

To Lucian we are indebted for the noble, touching, and certainly eccentric will of Eudamidas of Corinth.

This philosophical individual, who was extremely poor, was on terms of close and intimate friendship—friendship in the full and true acceptance of the terms — with Arethaeus and Charixenes of Sycion. Finding himself on his deathbed, he made a will, which while exciting only the ridicule of the thoughtless or the worldly wise, calls for respect and admiration in the breasts of those who know the value of real cordiality, and can appreciate his simple confidence in its sincerity.

"I bequeath to Arethaeus my mother to support; and I pray him to have a tender care for her declining years.

"I bequeath to Charixenes my daughter to marry, and to give her to that end the best portion he can afford."

When this will, continues the narrator, was read in the public square (this being the accepted mode of proceeding at that time) all those who were aware of the poor circumstances of the testator, but were incapable of recognizing the ties which linked them to his friends, turned these unusual clauses into a joke, and there was not one who did not go away laughing and observing: Arethaeus and Charixenes will be lucky fellows if they accept their legacies, and he's no fool to have made himself their heir, though he be dead and they living."

But these honest legatees no sooner learned what was expected of them by their deceased friend than they hastened to put his wishes into execution.

Charixenes, however, only survived Eudamidas five days; and then Arethaeus, acting in exact conformity with the will he had undertaken to execute, assumed the share bequeathed to his co-executor. He supported the mother of Eudamidas; and in due time found a suitable husband for his daughter.

MODERN TREASURE VAULTS.

Armor Plated Rooms in Which Rockefeller's Securities Repose.

Besides re-enforced construction, extraordinary protective measures surround the private vaults leased by John D. Rockefeller and other millionaires in New York's financial district. In the great treasure house where the Rockefeller securities are held twenty or thirty millionaires and rich corporations lease individual vaults at rentals varying from $500 to $5,000 a year.

The Rockefeller vault consists of an armor plate inclosure big enough to hold a dozen men. Along a passageway within it extends a row of great steel vaults on either side. In these vaults are the Rockefeller securities, which are numerous enough to require a small army of trusted clerks to "cut coupons" on interest day. The great vault thus includes a collection of small vaults, and, since it was completed only a few months ago, it provides every safeguard known to the modern art of protecting valuables.

The Rockefeller vault is surrounded by a dozen others almost as large, each of which is for the exclusive use of some man or some great corporation, the tenants enjoying special privileges with commodious coupon rooms, insuring absolute privacy.

It is a common thing to see some well-known rich man walk in and, with a nod to the detectives, ask to be left there with half a dozen clerks. Then one of the huge private vaults will be opened quietly, and at the five or six tables within the partitioned inclosure fronting the door of the vault the click of the scissors can be heard as the coupons are cut off. This happens every week or two, for the securities in the vaults of that safe deposit company come from all parts of the world and represent both foreign and home governments.—New York Post.

INKLESS PRINTING.

A Process by Which, It Is Said, Electricity Will Do the Work.

It is very possible that before long newspapers will be printed without the use of printing ink. Even the colored supplements are to be printed without ink. A German publication, Die Welt der Technik, devoted to scientific matters and inventions, credits the discovery of the inkless printing process to an English inventor.

In the course of some electrical experiments, it says, he accidentally pressed a coin which had fallen on to the table and was rolling off, against a metallic plate covered with a piece of paper and at the same time against an insulated electric line. To his amazement [illegible]

BIRDIE AND GROOM LOSE THEIR GIFTS

Hamilton, April 30.—The issuing of a county court writ yesterday by John R. and Mrs. Day against the Grand Trunk railway brought out an interesting story. Gibson, O'Reilly, Levy & Gibson issued the writ and stated that the plaintiffs had been temporarily embarrassed by alleged negligence on the part of the railway company and had lost heirlooms and trinkets, household goods and other valuable gifts of friends.

The plaintiffs were married about two months ago in the small town of [illegible], Ont. They decided to come to Hamilton. Mr. Day looked after the trip and the bride and groom packed up dozens of valuable wedding presents, household goods, furniture, trinkets and nick-nacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Day ask for ([illegible]) damages for the loss of their furnishings and valuables. They have had to restock all the things they expected to have to furnish their home.

A Livery Spring Cleaning.

Talking of spring and house-cleaning. Yesterday morning a Times representative passing Gibbs' livery, saw a long line of carriages standing along Water street. To Mr. Gibbs he put the question, "what's the matter, a wedding, a funeral or fire, or what?" There were by actual count 16 rigs standing along the street. Mr. Gibbs replied, "No wedding or funeral. Just like you or the other fellow gets his carpets and furniture out for spring house cleaning. Why! these rigs are only part of 60 vehicles we have."

Christian Scientists' Annual Meet.

The local Christian Scientists held their annual meeting on April 29th, at 376 Aylmer street. The reports show the church is flourishing. The meeting was most harmonious. They have secured the services of Judge Clifford P. Smith, C.S.B., of Brooklin, Mass., to deliver a free lecture on Christian Science, at his earliest opportunity.

Church Football League.

To-night at 8 o'clock, the Church League will hold a business meeting at the Y.M.C.A. The delegates from the clubs are earnestly requested to make a special effort to be present, as important business will be discussed. All delegates from last season's clubs are asked to attend. The league officials would be pleased to hear from St. John's and St. James clubs. P. G. S. Webb, sec'y-treas.

Damage Done by High Water.

It seems that the high water this spring is giving trouble. Yesterday Mr. Jos. Stabler and his son Harry Stabler, of Harvey, arrived in the city at 4:45 a.m. They had to use canoes, en route. Mr. Stabler reports that the bridge at Gannon's Narrows, has been damaged $200 worth, by high water. The bridge at Sandy Creek has also sustained some $50 worth of damage.

Boy Scouts, Attention!

There will be a Scout Rally in the Armouries on Friday night. The 1st and 3rd troops are requested to turn out in full number. Patrol leaders, corporals, and assistant scoutmasters will be chosen. The first drill will be held. It is necessary for the bugle band to be present, weather permitting. Scouts are requested to wear uniforms. Every scout must have his staff. Arrangements are being made for a committee meeting of Scout officials. Any boy wishing to become a scout is asked to report on Friday next at the Amouries, to Commissioner Miller.

More R.R. Accommodation for City.

The C.P.R. with their proverbial progressiveness, have arranged for a direct train between Toronto and Ottawa in the first week in June. There will also be a new local train from Toronto to Havelock, a distance of about 100 miles, leaving the Union station at 8.20 in the morning and returning to Toronto at 7.20 in the evening. By reason of this new train, the two day express between Toronto and Havelock will be relieved of all the local traffic between Havelock and Toronto. These days expresses leave and arrive at Toronto at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. respectively. At present they are overworked. The Tweed accommodation up and down will remain about as they are.

New Garbage Law in Force To-day.

To-day, the city's new system of disposing of its garbage, will be inaugurated. The collector, Mr. Chas. Scriver, has three new wagons, appropriately painted and ready for work this morning. The wagons will be inspected on the Market Square this morning, and afterwards will begin upon the regular duties. This includes all hotels, fruit and fish stores and restaurants on Charlotte street, Simcoe, Hunter, Brock, between Water and Aylmer streets; and Aylmer from Charlotte street to Murray street. The residents who will be called upon to-day have been notified by Inspector Spence, and have been asked to provide the necessary barrels or other receptacles for the garbage, ashes, etc.

A Possible Minden Murder.

A message from Minden says that Lewis Porter, Jr., a man of middle age, who follows the occupation of trapper, left that settlement last Thursday, taking his gun along, to visit some traps along Gull Lake, and not returning home a search party was organized, here on Sunday to go in search. They found the body on an old trail road about 160 yards off the main, or what is known as the Cameron Road, with a bullet hole through his right arm, near the elbow. It is supposed the bullet had penetrated his right side, causing death. The man had either crawled or been dragged the distance. Deceased leaves a wife and three children. The body was brought to Minden, and a coroner's jury will be empanelled. It is generally rumored around that it may be a murder case.

MARRIED.

YOUNG—KEARNEY—In Peterborough, on the morning of April 30, 1912, at St. Peter's Cathedral, Miss Ida Ellen Kearney and Mr. Francis Gerald Young. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father O'Brien.

GREAT CHANGE IN A FEW DAYS

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MADE WM GERVAIS A NEW MAN.

His Muscles Cramped, he was Very Irritable and he had Headaches — Dodd's Kidney Pills changed it all.

Hitchcock, Sask., April 30.—(Special)—Mr. Wm. Gervais, well known and highly respected here, is telling his friends of an almost miraculous change Dodd's Kidney Pills have made in him. He is a man of few words, but he speaks straight to the point:

"My muscles would cramp," Mr. Gervais says: "My head ached and I was very irritable until I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. Two boxes made a new man of me."

A change in a few days from a nervous, irritable condition, with an aching head and a presentment that a serious illness was hovering over him, to rousing, energetic health was what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for Mr. Gervais. That's what they have done for thousands of others on the prairies. No matter where you go you will hear of cures they have made. If you don't know from your own experience, your neighbor will tell you they are the one sure cure for any form of Kidney Disease.

WEDDING BELLS.

Young—Kearney.

At an early hour yesterday morning, one of the best known residents of Young's Point, in the person of Mr. Frank Young, of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co., joined the great army of benedicts. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral by Rev. Father O'Brien. His charming bride was Miss Ellen Kearney, also of the Point. The happy couple left on their honeymoon points. On their return they will reside at Young's Point.

Brady—Welch.

Yesterday morning another Peterborough girl became a matron. This time it was Miss Minnie Welch, who in St. Peter's Cathedral, became the charming bride of Mr. H. C. Brady, of Montreal. Rev. Father McFadden tied the nuptial knot. The happy couple will make their home in Montreal.

ORIENTAL HOTEL WILL NOW CONTINUE ITS OLD BUSINESS

Arrangements were completed last night between the owners of the Oriental Hotel property and Mr. George Graham whereby the latter has had the lease renewed for one year, and will continue the proprietor of that hotel for the time specified. This is good news to the citizens of Peterborough. Had the Oriental Hotel been closed down as anticipated, it would have been a great draw back to the travelling public.

REFUSES TO TAKE WHAT HE WON ON TECHNICALITY

Oyster Bay, May 1.—In a statement issued this afternoon Col. Theodore Roosevelt announced that he will not insist on the delegates at large from Massachusetts voting for him: He stated that inasmuch as President Taft secured the majority in the preferential primary vote, he will withdraw from the contest in that State so far as the delegates at large are concerned. This will give Roosevelt only ten of the Massachusetts delegates.

A Peculiar Turn.

In both the republican and democratic campaigns the candidates who won the presidential preference contest failed to secure the delegates at large, owing to an unforseen turn in the primary law. With the returns from all but forty of the voting precincts at hand, Mr. Taft had a margin of nearly 5,400 votes, but the eight delegates at large supporting the Roosevelt candidacy were victorious by a plurality of 7,352. The Democratic preference favorite, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, failed to secure a single delegate-at-large, this most important department of the primary being captured by the friends of Goverbor Foss, a "favorite son" whose name did not appear on the preferential ballot.

A Neck-and-Neck Affair.

From the reports on the very first town, shortly after noon yesterday, until an early hour to-day, the preferential race between Taft and Roosevelt was a neck-and-neck affair. Roosevelt had the better of the contest during the early evening, but toward midnight the President forged ahead and gradually increased his lead until he had a comfortable majority at daylight.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT 62 YEARS YESTERDAY

Ottawa. May 1.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught celebrated his 62nd birthday to-day by doing business as usual in his office in the Eastern Block. The only outward sign of other celebration was the display of the Union Jack on the main tower of the Parliament Buildings.

If there was any home celebration at Rideau Hall, it was purely of a domestic character, and that is kept from the public eye and ear.

Royal Salute Fired.

London, May 1.—Bells were rung, and a Royal salute fired at Windsor to-day, while flags were flying on the Government offices in London, in honor of the Duke of Connaught's birthday.

FLOYD ALLEN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Wytheville, Va., May 1.—Floyd Allen was before the Bar in the Circuit Court here to-day to be tried for his life for the part he played in the Hillsville Court House tragedy on March 14th. His case was elected for trial first and upon its outcome will depend largely the methods of the State in prosecuting the other five accused clansmen now under guard in jail here. A large venire of citizens on this section had been summoned as it was expected that considerable trouble would be experienced in getting a jury.

JERUSALEM'S POOR HELPED BY STRAUS

Jewish Inhabitants There to Observe A Long Mourning Period.

New York, May 1.—Sixty thousand Jewish inhabitants of the city of Jerusalem will observe a long period of mourning for Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Straus, of New York, who went down with the Titanic. A dispatch from Jerusalem just received here says:

"Mr. and Mrs. Straus spent a considerable time here just before they left for Southampton. At the instance of his wife, who visited the poor, Jewish quarters, Mr. Straus dictated a letter to the Jewish authoricies, telling them immediately to open a free soup kitchen, for which he would guarantee $10,000 a year for three years, and that when he returned to the United States he hoped to establish a permanent fund. The soup kitchen was at once opened and about 500 or 600 people are being fed in it daily.

"When it became known in Jerusalem that Mr. and Mrs. Straus were drowned, the poor Jews resolved to keep a solemn fast to the memories of their benefactors."

Turkey to Russia.

CITY MUST STOP POLLUTING THE OTONABEE RIVER WITH SEWAGE

AFFECTED TOWNSHIPS IN EARNEST IN REGARD TO APPLYING FOR INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS.

Dr. McCullough, Chairman Provincial Board of Health, in Town Last Night—He Advises Council That the Water Is Menacingly Contaminated With Sewage, and That Any Judge Would Grant an Injunction Restraining the Nuisance—Sedimentation Tank and Filter Beds Must be Provided at Considerable Cost—Government's Health Engineer May Come Down This Morning to Look Over the Ground.

The city is facing the serious and costly proposition of having to instal at once a system for the sanitary treatment of its sewage. In this connection a letter from the legal firm of Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, is on fyle, notifying the city authorities that they have been instructed by the townships of North and South Monaghan and Otonabee to apply for an injunction to restrain Peterborough from emptying its sewage into the Otonabee.

Under these circumstances the City Fathers met in special session last night, when Dr. McCullough, chairman of the Provincial Board of Health, was considerately present at his worship's invitation, and advised Council that the toRnships had good cause for complaint, and that any judge would, in his opinion, grant an injunction under the amended act. He was not aware, however of what steps the townships intended to take.

Dr. McCullough here carefully perused Medical Health Officer McPherson's report of his recent examinations of the Otonabee's waters, which he thought clearly indicated that the river was seriously polluted by sewage. He estimated that two million gallons of sewage were being poured into the river every 24 hours and much worse sanitary conditions in this regard could scarcely be conceived of. Septic tanks would not remedy the nuisance. The city should establish a sedimentation tank, in which the sewage solids are dried to the consistency of dry earth, which might then be readily used as a fertilizer. Filter beds would be necessary for treating the liquids, which then could be emptied into the river. Four acres of land would be needed. He was not prepared to estimate the cost of such a system, but assured council that all towns in Ontario will eventually have to cease disposing of their sewage into water. Ottawa is now working upon a system of sedimentation tanks and filter beds.

To his worship, Dr. McCullough replied, that the courts can enforce all municipalities to cease polluting the waters, which, unless thus protected, will shortly become menacingly contaminated.

Dr. McCullough suggested that the city secure the advice of a competent engineer as to the best proceeding to adopt in this connection. He again emphasized the fact that the law had power to enforce the adoption and proper maintenance of a sanitary sewage system. As to the necessity for using a piece of ground in North Monaghan on which to install a plant for treating sewage, the Provincial Board of Health would see to it that whatever system is adopted is so thoroughly sanitary that the township would have no possible room for complaint. Of course, maintenance of such a system must be on approved lines.

Dr. McCullough kindly agreed to stay over till this evening in the hope of connecting with the Provincial Board of Health's Engineer at Toronto by phone, in time to have him reach Peterborough on to-day's C.P.R. noon train, if convenient. In the event of the engineer being able to come down to-day, he, Dr. McCullough and the Council will this afternoon visit the outfall sewer and adjacent land with a view to deciding if possible upon suitable property for sedimentation tank and filter bed purposes. The two Provincial Health authorities will then be in a position to advise intelligently on local conditions as applicable to and approved treatment of sewage.

Need Not Go to People.

Another important question that arose in discussion with Dr. McCullough, was that of sewer construction; and the doctor advised that the new local improvements act calls for the approval of the Provincial Board of Health regarding such work, to be paid for by the issue of debentures. And any municipality can undertake the construction of any system of sewage approved of by the Provincial Board of Health, without going to the people.

There were present at the meeting Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Morgan, Gordon, Johnston Anderson, Brown, Duncan, Buller.

STEEL CAGES ARE TO BE PROVIDED FOR CARE OF DRUNKS AND DISORDERLIES

Ald. Geo. Duncan, chairman of the city's Property Committee reported to the Council last night, that for the next three months, during which the police station is being enlarged and improved, it will be necessary to arrange for the care of prisoners. Ald. Duncan further offered that the store next the Bank of Montreal building, west on Simcoe street, could be rented for $25 a month. In this building the steel cages ordered for the police station could be erected temporarily for the safe-keeping of prisoners pending their hearing or their removal, if so adjudged, to the jail.

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Gordon,—That the Mayor and chairman of the property committee arrange for the care of people arrested during the next three months.—Carried.

PROMINENT C. P. R. OFFICER KNOWN HERE DIES

The many friends in this city, of Mr. Jas. Osborne, general superintendent of the C.P.R. will learn with deep regret of his death early yesterday morning, from erysipelas, at Vancouver, B.C. This prominent C.P.R. official only went west for his health, about two months ago. Mr. Osborne was formerly superintendent of this section of the C.P.R. and was well known in Peterborough. Mr. Osborne was in his fiftieth year, and leaves a wife and several children. Previous to his appointment to the position he held at his death, Mr. Osborne was chief car accountant at Montreal. He was a great personal friend of Chief Howard of the local fire brigade. Chief Howard, speaking to a Times representative yesterday, expressed the deep sorrow he felt over Mr. Osborne's death.

Defeat of Government May Mean Fall of the Chancellor

ARMY-NAVY BILLS HELD UP

Opposition Parties Coalesced to Defeat Government Combination—Kaiser Will Be Greatly Disappointed If Money Is Not Provided For Army and Navy Increases.

Berlin, May 2.—The action of the Reichstag in holding up the army and navy bills and voting by a majority of 2 to refer them to a special committee may provoke a cabinet crisis. Already there has been a good deal of dissension among the Kaiser's advisers. Herr Wermuth threw up the treasury portfolio from disapproval of the scheme to increase expenditure without providing new sources of revenue. The chancellor and Admiral von Tirpitz are said to be at loggerheads.

The fate of Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg probably depends on his ability to bring a hostile Reichstag around In the present circumstances the position of president of that body becomes one of great importance. Dr. Peter Spahn is a member of one of the parties—the National Liberal—which coalesced to defeat the government this week.

Mr. O. G. Hale, of the Walsh Land Company, of Winnipeg, arrived in the city last night, and will open an office here at once, which will be the headquarters for the Peterborough district of that well known and reputable company. The company is one of the largest and wealthiest in the West, and its business ramifications extend throughout the entire Dominion.

Mr. Hale is a young man of large business experience, having been associated with the Walsh Company for several years, and expects to remain in charge of the Peterborough office for some time. He is a guest at the National Hotel, where he will make his headquarters until he secures a suitable office premises. The company's advertisement will appear in to-morrow's issue.

OTONABEE RIVER CLAIMS YET ANOTHER VICTIM

Last night the Otonabee river, or one of its tributaries, Bassett's Creek, claimed another victim. Mr. James Peters, Parnell street, was out in a row boat on the creek looking after his muskrat traps with Mr. Richard Thorndyke, about six o'clock In some way the boat capsized and its occupants were thrown into the icy waters of the creek. Mr. Peters quickly sank below the surface and Mr. Thorndyke, with difficulty, and almost dead, managed to get ashore. The neighbors were at once notified and a search was made for Mr. Peter's body, which was recovered in the creek shortly before eight o'clock. A strange feature of the disaster is that the creek where the drowning took place is hardly deep enough to cause such a catastrophe. It is thought that the cold water caused cramps and put the deceased beyond any chance of a reasonable fight for life. The body was brought up last night to Comstock's undertaking establishment. Coroner Dr. Greer will view the body this morning and decide whether to hold an inquest or not.

The deceased, who is a brother of Mr. Chas. Peters of Otonabee, leaves a wife and a family of nine or ten children to mourn his loss.

SPECIAL CARS TO REMOVE THE DEAD AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N.S., May 1.—The van of the funeral procession, which is to extend across the entire continent, starting at 8.45 to-day, when the I.C.R. express left for the west. Weeping relatives and friends of the Titanic victims arrived at the depot more than an hour before the time of departure and awaited impatiently to begin the sad journey home.

The body of John Jacob Astor, was placed in the private car Oceanic last night. Through the long hours of the night Vincent Astor, his chief heir, sat weeping beside the casket. Young Astor is on the verge of collapse.

Isador Straus' body was placed in an express car along with several others. It is in charge of Morris Rothschild, of Philadelphia. Rothschild had hoped that the body of Mrs. Straus would be among the unidentified forms brought in, but he was disappointed. Little hope was held out that her body had been picked up by the Minia and he decided to accompany Straus' body home.

The work of embalming proceeded rapidly during the night and to-day. Arrangements have been completed to run a number of special cars out of Halifax to-night.

It was believed to-day that by to-morrow night nearly all of the identified bodies would be ready for shipment.

End of Long Comradeship.

The icy waves of the North Atlantic separated Isador Straus and his wife—Darby and Joan—after they had met death together on the sinking Titanic. When the body of Isador Straus left Halifax to-day with C. J. Riley and M. Rothschild, relatives, there ended years of the closest comradeship—a comradeship between the husband and wife which could not be severed even when the Titanic prepared for her final plunge into the Atlantic off the Newfoundland banks.

Up to to-day the mourners looking for the Straus bodies had hoped that the body of Mrs. Straus would be with that of her husband aboard the morgue ship Mackay-Bennett. But the Mackay-Bennett brought in but four women's bodies, and all were later identified. Captain Lardner confidently assured Morris Rothschild that the eleven bodies of women buried at sea could not by any possibility have included that of Mrs. Straus Seven of the eleven women committed to the deep were identified, and the other four the Captain was certain, were stewardesses on the Titanic.

INSPECTOR SAYS THAT FARR TRIED TO GIVE HIM BRIBE

Goderich, May 1.—The investigation into the charges made by Michael Farr, hotel keeper, against Wm. Patterson, chairman of the Centre Huron Board of License Commissioners, concluded this morning, and Commissioner Eudo Saunders will make his report to the Government after reviewing the evidence.

Andrew Porter, local manager of the Sterling Bank, and Alfred Asquith, License Inspector, were the leading witnesses examined at this morning's sitting.

Interesting incidents in the proceedings were the testimony of Asquith that he had recommended Farr for a license twice after he had attempted to bribe him, and the announcement that E. N. Lewis, M.P., could not be secured as a witness. Mr. Asquith, who Farr alleged, had told him he held the trump cards, and had better play them, which Farr took to mean that he was advising putting up money to secure the renewal of his license, was somewhat at sea as to the dates on which he visited Farr's hotel.

He thought he was there on March 13 for the purpose of inspecting the premises and taking applications for renewal of the license.

"You had no right to solicit for a renewal of licenses," remarked the Commissioner.

"I did not solicit," replied Asquith

"Did you have any conversation with Farr about reduction of licenses on the occasion?" asked Crown Attorney Seager.

"No," replied the witness.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY JEROME TO TRY AND KEEP THAW LOCKED UP

New York, May 1.—William Travers Jerome has been retained by Attorney General Carmody to represent the people in opposition to the latest effort to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stamford White, from the Mattewan Asylum. As District Attorney, Mr. Jerome prosecuted Thaw in both his trials, and successfully fought all the attempts to set the prisoner free. While Mr. Jerome has almost every detail of this celebrated case at his finger ends, he asked and obtained from Mr. Carmody two weeks in which to get the necessary papers ready.

A new move was made to-day by Clarence J. Shearn, the leading counsel for Thaw. He served notice that a motion would be made before Supreme Court Justice Keogh in New Rochelle on Thursday that the testimony be heard on Monday at White Plains, should he before a jury and not before Justice Keogh alone. Mr. Jerome and Deputy Attorney-General Kellogg will oppose this motion.

ORIENTAL HOTEL WILL NOW CONTINUE ITS OLD BUSINESS

Arrangements were completed last night between the owners of the Oriental Hotel property and Mr. George Graham whereby the latter has had the lease renewed for one year, and will continue the proprietor of that hotel for the time specified. This is good news to the citizens of Peterborough. Had the Oriental Hotel been closed down as anticipated, it would have been a great draw back to the travelling public.

REFUSES TO TAKE WHAT HE WON ON TECHNICALITY

Oyster Bay, May 1.—In a statement issued this afternoon Col. Theodore Roosevelt announced that he will not insist on the delegates at large from Massachusetts voting for him. He stated that inasmuch as President Taft secured the majority in the preferential primary vote, he will withdraw from the contest in that State so far as the delegates at large are concerned. This will give Roosevelt only ten of the Massachusetts delegates.

A Peculiar Turn.

In both the republican and democratic campaigns the candidates who won the presidential preference contest failed to secure the delegates at large, owing to an unforseen turn in the primary law. With the returns from all but forty of the voting precincts at hand, Mr. Taft had a margin of nearly 5,400 votes, but the eight delegates at large supporting the Roosevelt candidacy were victorious by a plurality of 7,852. The Democratic preference favorite, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, failed to secure a single delegate-at-large, this most important department of the primary being captured by the friends of Goverbor Foss, a "favorite son" whose name did not appear on the preferential ballot.

A Neck-and-Neck Affair.

From the reports on the very first town, shortly after noon yesterday, until an early hour to-day, the preferential race between Taft and Roosevelt was a neck-and-neck affair. Roosevelt had the better of the contest during the early evening but toward midnight the President forged ahead and gradually increased his lead until he had a comfortable majority at daylight.

"Mr. and Mrs. Straus spent a considerable time here just before they left for Southampton. At the instance of his wife, who visited the poor, Jewish quarters, Mr. Straus dictated a letter to the Jewish authorieies, telling them immediately to open a free soup kitchen, for which he would guarantee $10,000 a year for three years, and that when he returned to the United States he hoped to establish a permanent fund. The soup kitchen was at once opened and about 500 or 600 people are being fed in it daily.

"When it became known in Jerusalem that Mr. and Mrs. Straus were drowned, the poor Jews resolved to keep a solemn fast to the memories of their benefactors."

CITY MUST STOP POLLUTING THE OTONABEE RIVER WITH SEWAGE

AFFECTED TOWNSHIPS IN EARNEST IN REGARD TO APPLYING FOR INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS.

Dr. McCullough, Chairman Provincial Board of Health, in Town Last Night—He Advises Council That the Water is Menacingly Contaminated With Sewage, and That Any Judge Would Grant an Injunction Restraining the Nuisance—Sedimentation Tank and Filter Beds Must be Provided at Considerable Cost—Government's Health Engineer May Come Down This Morning to Look Over the Ground.

The city is facing the serious and costly proposition of having to instal at once a system for the sanitary treatment of its sewage. In this connection a letter from the legal firm of Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, is on fyle, notifying the city authorities that they have been instructed by the townships of North and South Monaghan and Otonabee to apply for an injunction to restrain Peterborough from emptying its sewage into the Otonabee.

Under these circumstances the City Fathers met in special session last night, when Dr. McCullough, chairman of the Provincial Board of Health, was considerately present at his worship's invitation, and advised Council that the toRnships had good cause for complaint, and that any judge would, in his opinion, grant an injunction under the amended act. He was not aware, however of what steps the townships intended to take.

Dr. McCullough here carefully perused Health Officer Melcherson's report of his recent examinations of the Otonabee's waters, which he thought clearly indicated that the river was seriously polluted by sewage. He estimated that two million gallons of sewage were being poured into the river every 24 hours and much worse sanitary conditions in this regard could scarcely be conceived of. Septic tanks would not remedy the nuisance. The city should establish a sedimentation tank, in which the sewage solids are dried to the consistency of dry earth, which might then be readily used as a fertilizer. Filter beds would be necessary for treating the liquids, which then could be emptied into the river. Four acres of land would be needed. He was not prepared to estimate the cost of such a system, but assured council that all towns in Ontario will eventually have to cease disposing of their sewage into water. Ottawa is now working upon a system of sedimentation tanks and filter beds.

To his worship, Dr. McCullough replied, that the courts can enforce all municipalities to cease polluting the waters, which, unless thus protected, will shortly become menacingly contaminated.

Dr. McCullough suggested that the city secure the advice of a competent engineer as to the best proceeding to adopt in this connection. He again emphasized the fact that the law had power to enforce the adoption and proper maintenance of a sanitary sewage system. As to the necessity for using a piece of ground in North Monaghan on which to install a plant for treating sewage, the Provincial Board of Health would see to it that whatever system is adopted is so thoroughly sanitary that the township would have no possible room for complaint. The two Provincial Health authorities will then be in a position to advise intelligently on local conditions as applicable to and approved treatment of sewage.

Need Not Go to People.

Another important question that arose in discussion with Dr. McCullough, was that of sewer construction; and the doctor advised that the new local improvements act calls for the approval of the Provincial Board of Health regarding such work, to be paid for by the issue of debentures. And any municipality can undertake the construction of any system of sewage approved of by the Provincial Board of Health, without going to the people.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

London, April 30.—The debate on the second reading on the Home Rule Bill was begun this afternoon in the House of Commons by Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the presence of a crowded house. Discussion which is expected to last six days promises to be a sort of oratorical tournament. Two prominent speakers representing the Government and the Opposition respectively will participate in the debate each day. Andrew Bonar Law, the leader of the Opposition, and Premier Asquith making the concluding speeches on May 9th just prior to the taking of the vote.

Let us all thank providence and the conservators of our Northern Waters that conditions here are not like those in Louisiana, where the Mississippi "runs amuck" over its dikes or levees, and leaves riverside towns with their docks and steamboats somewhere on a hill.

SNOWSHOE CAVALRY.

Interesting Winter Military Experiment Made In Eastern Ontario.

Two parties of Canadian military officers engaged in a novel tactical exercise between Ottawa and Prescott on March 9 and 10. The parties were commanded respectively by Lt.-Col. Morrison, D.S.O., of Ottawa, and Lt.-Col. Buell, of Brockville. The idea was to test the possibility of using snowshoers as a "cavalry screen" for forces operating in winter.

The manoeuvre area was 52 miles in length, and varied from four to eight miles in width. Each party of seven hauled its blankets, cooking utensils, and two days' rations on a toboggan. The advance was made at 8 a.m. on March 9. Marks were awarded for thoroughness of scouting en route, keeping up lateral communication, comfort in bivouacing, greatest penetration of area from starting point, and driving in enemy's "screen."

The Ottawa party made 22 miles the first day, and bivouaced at 6 p.m. under cover in dense underbrush. The Brockville party advanced to Spencerville, about 17 miles. Both parties moved out two hours before sunrise, and came in contact at 8 o'clock on the morning of March 10, with the result that the Brockville team was defeated with the loss of their transport and five scouts who were ambushed at different points on the line, which at that portion of the area was four and one half miles wide. The Ottawa party lost one man, and were declared the winners.

Though the temperature was only four below zero, the rifle oil clogged the mechanism of the carbines so that in a number of cases the weapons could neither be loaded nor fired owing to the cold. It was estimated that the Ottawa soldiers, who penetrated furthest into the "enemy's" area, traveled about 40 miles in 24 hours.

As a Horrible Example.

Advocates both for and against Home Rule for Ireland use Canada to illustrate and support their arguments. Time and again the great British public is assured that Mr. Asquith's bill will place Ireland in the same legislative position as Ontario or any of the other Provinces of the Dominion. Equally strong assurances are given by the other side that complete autonomy such as Canada enjoys is contemplated by the Ministerialists.

Sir W. Max Aitken told his constituents the other day that the Government were going to base their claim for Home Rule very largely on their version of the experiment in Canada. Even on this ground he predicted disaster. Provincial Home Rule in the Dominion, he said, had caused difficulties and disagreements from one end of Canada to the other by reason of the authority the provinces exercised from time to time in opposition to the Federal Government.

Of course, he finds confirmation of this argument in the cases which, after going through the Canadian law courts, come before the Privy Council and are entered on the Cause List as "The Attorney-General of Ontario (or some other province) v. the Attorney-General for Canada." But, after all, this is a peaceful method of settling squabbles, and the ammunition of wig and gown and calf-bound volume bears no relation to the shrapnel-swept battlefields which are promised if an Irish Parliament is established at College Green.

Canada's Lepers.

Sing Foo, a bright little Chinese lad is in the Toronto General Hospital, suffering from an advanced stage of leprosy, and his case has caused wide comment.

This is not the first nor only case in Canada. Until four years ago the Dominion Government supported a hospital for lepers on D'Arcy Island, just off the Pacific coast. At one time there were a number of cases of this disease in British Columbia, and fearing that it would spread, the Dominion Government isolated the patients on D'Arcy Island. Four years ago the disease had carried off all its prey excepting a few Chinese and they were shipped to Canton, where they are still supported by the Canadian Government.

There is still another hospital for these unfortunates. It is at Tracadie, New Brunswick. This hospital was started about fifteen years ago when leprosy broke out in that province. Most of the patients were Norwegians who were rescued from a shipwreck a hundred miles or so from the coast. The work amongst these people is carried on by the "Grey Nuns," but the Government supplies the funds for its support.

Mixed Marriages.

How numerous are mixed marriages in the Province of Ontario is shown conclusively by the official report of the Deputy Registrar General McCullough, which has just been made public. There were 666 men and 644 women of the Roman Catholic faith who married others than their own church.

Roman Catholic men to the number of 178 married as many Anglican women: 126 Roman Catholic grooms took Presbyterian brides; 157 Catholics took Methodists, 68 Baptists, 10 Congregationalists, 35 Lutherans.

On the other hand, 269 Roman Catholic brides married Anglican grooms; 164 married Presbyterians; 203 took Methodists; 52 took Baptists; 11 took Congregationalists; 79 married Lutherans; 5 married Jews.

The city of Windsor continues to be the Gretna Green of Ontario. In 1906 there were 1,193 weddings at that place, and in 1910 no less than 2,298.

There were 24,936 marriages registered for the year 1910. This is an increase of 1,670 for the year.

There were 55,871 births, males 33,664, females 22,207. Deaths totalled 33,460.

FRANCE'S LOVE FOR UNITED STATES.

It seems evident that La Belle France loves Sou Oncle Sam. It will be remembered how France, a generation ago, presented the United States with that wonderful Statue of Liberty, which holds a beacon of welcome to the ships of all nations entering New York harbor. This statue is located on Bedloe's Island, at the entrance to the harbor. Now another notable gift from the French Nation to the people of the United States has arrived, when a delegation of distinguished Frenchmen arrived in charge of the bust of La France, by the famous sculptor, Auguste Rodin, which is to be placed at the foot of the Champlain memorial lighthouse at Crown Point, Lake Champlain. After a round of receptions in the United States the delegation will go to Montreal on May 3rd, visit Quebec on May 5th and Niagara Falls on the 7th.

POISON PROBE IS ON AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Me., April 30.—The grand jury which indicted Elsie Hobbs Raymond for the murder of Mattie Hacket and Mrs. Grace E. Royce for the murder of her babe, will be called in special session to investigate the death of Alexander J. Turner, if the report of the coroner's jury agrees with the theory of Coroner Frank Hewins. County Attorney Joseph Williamson took charge of the case to-day and examined nine of the 15 witnesses who have been called.

Henry Gazette of East Douglas, Mass., who was arranged in the municipal court here to-day charged with robbery, will be held until the coroner's jury reports and the result of the analysis of the contents of Turner's stomach is received. Gazette denied taking Turner's watch and ring, which were found in a trunk in his room.

Coroner Frank Hewins stated to-day that Turner had been dead three hours when he was found at 2.30 Tuesday in spite of the statement of Gazette that he had been dead but a few minutes. It is said that another arrest will be made soon. Medical Examiner W. H. Harris performed an autopsy to-day, but will not discuss his findings.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHEN KENT WAS HERE

FATHER OF QUEEN VICTORIA MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Great-Grandfather of the Present Sovereign Spent Some Time In the Dominion Many Years Ago, and Was Widely Popular With All Classes—Was Very Quiet and Reserved In His Manner.

When the orders of the day were called in the House of Commons during a recent sitting, the Hon. F. Monk, Minister of Public Works, rose and said:

"Mr. Speaker, before the House proceeds with the orders of the day, I would like to announce that Her Royal Highness, the Princess Louise, has been pleased to present to Canada, through His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, for our national gallery, a valuable portrait in oil of the Duke of Kent. This painting, executed by Sir William Beechey, will form a very acceptable addition to our national gallery of art at the Victoria Memorial Museum, where it is on view. The Government, in accepting and acknowledging this welcome gift has asked His Royal Highness to convey to the donor, the Princess Louise, the thanks of the Canadian people for her generous remembrance."

This gift recalls many memories associated with persons and places that have contributed to our history. The Duke of Kent is best remembered as the father of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. He was, therefore, grandfather of our Governor-General, and great-grandfather of our King; and for several years he was a resident of this country. The gift is from Princess Louise, now the Duchess of Argyll, and a granddaughter of the Duke of Kent, who for five years was mistress of Rideau Hall, when her husband, then Marquis of Lorne, was Governor-General of Canada.

The picture carries one back in Canadian history more than a century, to the days when Kent House had a royal master. Let us glance briefly over those far away years.

Edward Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III., was born at Buckingham Palace on Nov. 2, 1767—just one hundred years before Canadian Confederation.

When a boy he was sent to school on the continent under Baron Wangenheim, with whom he spent two years at Geneva. The Dictionary of National Biography says that "Wangenheim treated him with needless rigor, allowed him only a guinea a week pocket-money out of an annuity of $30,000 provided for his maintenance, and intercepted his letters home.

"In June, 1790, he came home from Geneva without leave. The King was much displeased and gave him peremptory orders to embark for Gibraltar. At Gibraltar he was put in command of the 7th Regiment of Foot, known as the Royal Fusiliers. In May, 1791, he was sent to Canada."

Then opened the chapter of his life that forms part of our history.

It was on August 11, 1791, that the Duke of Kent, with the Royal Fusiliers, arrived at Quebec from Gibraltar on the warships Ulysses and Resistance. Quebec harbor presented a brave sight on that long ago midsummer day, for besides the ships that brought the duke and his Fusiliers, there were then in port five ships-of-war belonging to Commodore Sawyers squadron and four transports filled with British regulars for service at different Canadian posts.

On the following day there was a levee, attended by the authorities, civil and military, the clergy of the city, and all the gentry.

At the levee were men whose names will ever have a place in the history of Canada. Foremost among them of course, was the Governor-General, Lord Dorchester, known a few years earlier as Sir Guy Carleton—the man who, in 1775-76, had held Quebec against Montgomery and Arnold, and who had finally driven from Canada the forces of Congress. Near Dorchester stood a tall, athletic, military man, Sir Alured Clark, who, a week after that levee, became Deputy Governor General during Dorchester's absence in England. And around were the judges, the executive councillors, the seignors and the other lights of Quebec society.

Every tourist visiting Quebec always goes out to the Falls of Montmorency, about nine miles below the city. Close to the brink of the chasm into which the Montmorency River hurls itself there stood in 1791, as there stands to-day with some additions, a country residence of wood, two storeys in height, plainly built, and yet not without a certain air of beauty and dignity. Its builder was Gen. Sir Frederick Haldimand, Governor of Canada during the closing years of the War of the Revolution. To this building, Haldimand gave the name of "Mansion House," and here he resided during a number of years.

In December, 1791—that is, about three months after the arrival at Quebec of the Duke of Kent—the property was offered for sale, as the following advertisement reads: "For sale, the elegant villa of the late Sir Frederick Haldimand, K.B., delightfully situated near the Falls of Montmorency, with the farm house."

The property passed into the possession of the Duke of Kent, and it became his favorite summer residence. It was called "Kent House," and so it is known to this day. A large wing has been added, practically doubling the capacity of the house, but most fortunately the new part is built in exactly the same style as that of the old part, so that the simple beauty of the building has not been destroyed. To-day Kent House is a place of public entertainment.

The duke's winter residence stood nearly opposite the old Quebec Court House, which was burned in 1872.

COURT DEATH AT NIAGARA.

Hunters Every Year Venture Forth on Dangerous River.

The fascination of hunting must be very great when it will lure men out onto the Niagara River in the winter to an almost certain death trap. It seems that the duck hunting is especially good but especially dangerous about a mile above the falls. Every winter adventurous duck hunters put out in small boats and dodge the ice cakes while they hunt their favorite game. As a rule, however, most of the hunters perch themselves upon a ledge of ice and hunt from it. They take a terrible risk even by this method, for the ice jam that is constantly moving down stream is at any time liable to dislodge the hunter's perch and down he goes a victim to the merciless cataract.

Not many years ago two men were observed in a duck boat trying desperately to row out of a running ice jam which had carried them down the Canadian channel from far up the river. Their terrified efforts were closely followed by a man with a spy glass, who had discovered them from the windows of one of the large shore factories on the American side. The unfortunate men had already drifted too near the first roaring cataract to admit of any possible rescue, so the watcher could only helplessly wait for their pitiful death.

In describing the incident afterward, he said: "God, what could I do to help them—what could any man do? The Almighty alone seemed to hold them in His power. One man seemed to be wrenching his shoulders from their sockets with the oars; the other stood in the stern, desperately plying a pike pole. An oar broke, and was replaced by a third. The man didn't lose a second in its replacement. Then, in a mighty stroke, the other oar went, and he fell sprawling back in the boat. He stood up, pulled the good oar from its pin, and began paddling insanely from the side.

"They made little progress. Slowly the great field of ice swept them down, down toward those snarling, angry cataracts below. I writhed in agony before the hopeless vision. Into the rapids swept the fore part of the ice jam. Then the first great wave seemed to rise up and hover hungrily over the little boat. Both men saw it and rushed toward each other. Locked in each other's arms they disappeared into the curling swell. That was the last I saw of them."

Niagara also plays the death trap to hunted as well as hunters. Hundreds of wild fowl are swept each year over the falls. During densely foggy nights strange ducks often stop to roost in the upper waters of the river. Drifting unconsciously toward the brink, they are suddenly hurled down into the abyss of plunging water. Too terrified to take wing and quickly engulfed by the spray, they plunge into the gorge, and are either killed outright or stunned, to receive wounds that keep them helplessly in the waters below for days and weeks. After the formation of the ice bridge many of these unfortunate birds are washed up on the ice, where they are quickly gathered up by the little group of souvenir sellers and saloon men who erect shacks on the path across the river. These men string lines of such ducks in front of their ramshackle stores and over the bars of their saloons. It proves both an attractive advertisement and adds slightly to their source of income, as they dispose of the ducks whenever possible.

Dance 24 Hours Without Food.

The adoption dance is one of the ceremonial dances of the Shawnees. This is quite different from any one of the festive dances. They come many miles around and camp; their faces are painted and their bodies decorated with beads.

They dance all day and night without eating. A bonfire is built in the centre of the camp and they dance around this. The fire is kept burning about the same all the time. This serves also as their light.

The adoption dance is rather quiet, more so than the other dances. The women do most of the singing and sing very low. They dance around the circle in twos. The men dance together in front, and the women together in the rear.

The two leaders in front are usually the ones who are adopting the child. They carry tin pails; in these are rubber balls, which bounce and keep time with the drummer. This is all the music they have to dance by. If a large crowd is assembled they may have two or three drums.

At these dances good order is kept. No drunkenness is allowed. The dance is in a grove, and if any one does not behave decently they tie him to a tree for the rest of the dance. After the dance they have a great feast which lasts all day, and visitors, and all others who attend the dance, are invited to partake of the feast.—Toronto Globe.

Shot Five Bears.

There is a good bear story told by General Agent Lee of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, a man who knows every inch of the North Country and can supply everything from a good fishing spot to an Indian guide. He and a tenderfoot doctor were out bear shooting. After a while, they took separate routes and in a few minutes Lee heard six shots in rapid succession. Running to find the doctor, he was discovered leaning exhausted against a tree and a big black bear laying dead on a hillock along a narrow path. Behind the animal were four good-sized cubs, also dead, and, making his escape, was father bear. The doctor had shot five out of six, but, in the excitement of his maiden shooting expedition, thought he had shot only one, for as fast as they came up the hillock the medico blazed away with eyes half shut. Lee guarantees this story, and we will let it go at that.

SUGAR WAS BEST.

How the Little Man Persuaded the Horse and Beat the Driver.

Horses fat and horses thin, horses that looked miserably sickly and horses that seemed apparently healthy, horses that broke a leg and horses that slipping on the icy pavement were rendered worthless to their owners, to the tune of 149 were shot and destroyed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Montreal last year.

In these days of automobiles, when gasoline is the motive power of fifty per cent. of the transportation facilities of the street when animals are looked upon as being a necessary evil, when the snow is off the streets and the asphalt is bared of the slippery coat of snow that has covered it all winter, the sound of the lashing whip striking the flanks of inoffensive animals is all too often heard.

Organized some forty-three years ago and ever since that time having provided effective means for the prevention of cruelty to animals, not only in the City of Montreal but all through the Province of Quebec, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has banished from the street corners and from the lonely routes the disgusting spectacle of dumb animals whipped to the blood for refusing to draw loads far too heavy for the emaciated condition to which ill-treatment and lack of food had reduced them.

Ribs that stood out prominent upon the flanks of the beasts, while others sported a glossy coat of fat, were noticeable upon the horses that the society put out of misery.

Instruments of torture, whips which would have relegated the cat-o-nine-tails into the background, were confiscated from cruel drivers and form a collection of weapons in the offices of the C.S.P.C.A.

About three months ago, at the corner of Bleury and St. Catherine street, a very thin horse pulling a very rusty wagon, which bore no license number and which was not adorned by any name of company was stalled and the whip of the driver, a foreigner who seemed absolutely ignorant of the capacity of the beast plied often and hard upon the ribs of his animal.

A crowd had gathered and the man swearing gracefully in a language known to himself alone, finally brought the blood to the flanks of the dilapidated animal. Despite straining every nerve the horse could not budge the load away from the crossing. All the while, the whip was plied furiously. A mild looking individual trotted out of the crowd, tapped the horse gently over the "nape" and presented him with a lump of sugar. The animal devoured it, while the driver stood dumbfounded at the audacity of the little man who would interfere with his right of beating his horse.

Another lump of sugar was held about three feet from the animal's mouth in the hand of his benefactor and what the whip had failed to accomplish the sight of the sugar did and the horse dragged the heavy load away, grabbed the lump of sugar from the hand of the S.P.C.A. man and kept right on down Bleury street.

"I thank you," beamed the driver, who weighed some 200 pounds upon the man in the street, who could not boast of more then 130.

"Come off your seat," was the reply. "I wish to speak to you." Smiling benignly the man descended and was told in terse words to get ready for a fight.

As a straight right landed on the man's jaw the "sugar man" was heard to deliver himself of the following oration: "Any man who will beat a horse the way you beat yours, is a coward and will not fight. You are no good." Another punch landed squarely and the man went down.

"I will have you arrested," wailed the brutal Colossus to the little man. The man who a few minutes previously had cruelly beaten a defenceless horse cowered before another who could not cope with him in size, weight and strength.

A Double Loss.

Out in the Township of Zorra, Ont., not far from Embro, live two Scots of the true type, now fast disappearing. Bachelors past middle age, canny and close grained, they for many years chummed together, argued and disputed, and fully enjoyed life until an unfortunate incident severed their relations and left them both miserable. Sandy Mathieson and Donald Gunn were their names and their last trip together was to Stratford, where they put in a big day and started home with a generous allowance of Heather Dew under each belt. On the way an argument arose which became so heated that Donald declined to sit any longer with Sandy, who was driving. He got back into the long sleigh, pulled out the tailboard, and putting it across the box, glowered at Sandy's back in solitary state. Sandy, of course, would not deign to look behind, and thereby failed to notice that a severe jolt, coupled probably with a slight unsteadiness on Donald's part, caused the latter to pitch out into the snow. Neither would Donald demean himself to draw attention to his mishap, so that Sandy in due time arrived home alone.

"Say, Sandy, you've lost your tailboard," said a neighbor, as he turned into his gate.

"Yass," said Sandy, as he turned and for the first time realized that he was alone. "Yass, an' I loss Tonal Gunn."

A Canadian Cheese.

Specially made in Canada and taken to London, the largest cheese in the world is now being exhibited in a large store at Balham. The cheese, which stands 5 feet high, and is over 20 feet in circumference, weighs 3 tons 6 cwt., or 7,392 pounds.

RELIEVE THE TEDIUM.

Little Jests Brighten the Days In the House of Commons.

Cheerful little remarks and episodes tend to lighten the most dreary days in the session of a legislative body. H. W. Anderson in The Canadian Courier recounts a few of recent vintage in the Commons at Ottawa.

It was the early morning hours following the recent all-night sitting of Parliament in which the Manitoba school question was under debate and discussion. It was, moreover, the sitting at which Hon. George P. Graham had resumed his seat in the House as the newly-elected member for South Renfrew. The vote upon the amendment of Mr. Mondou, the Nationalist member for Yamaska, had just been taken, and the members were trouping out into the corridors, the majority on their way to the restaurant for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. The ex-Minister of Railways and Canals was strolling down the corridor with a frown upon his face, when Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, accosted him.

"Wherefore so downcast, George?" he queried

Mr. Graham shook his head. "It's pretty hard lines," he responded. "to have spent the past few weeks zealously endeavoring to defeat the Government, and then come here to-day and have to cast my first vote in support of them."

One of the most ardent of the Opposition newspaper men was reviewing the supplementary estimates in the Press Gallery. He was checking off item after item with keen critical comments. Very little seemed to meet with his approval. "Gross extravagance," "A patent political vote catcher," "Another useless expenditure," "Automobiles indeed; they'll be buying aeroplanes next," were the caustic comments which from time to time fell from his lips as he diligently conned the items. Finally, however, he paused, and read slowly: "Gratuity to the dependents of an official who served for over twenty years in the House of Commons and is now insane." He looked out over the House. It was a tedious afternoon and a western member, who can scarcely be accounted a brilliant speaker, was in the midst of an extended dissertation. "Well," he commented, "I think that vote should meet with unanimous approval."

They were Conservative members, and they had harked back to the victory of September last with its campaign stories.

"Well," drawled Col. Hugh Clark, "the most genuine congratulations I received were written a month after the election. My admirer mentioned that he would have written before, but had just come to. He had been celebrating for the intervening weeks."

About Ambergris.

A press report from Victoria, B.C., the other day stated that a piece of ambergris estimated to be worth $150,000 was taken from a whale killed by the whaler Pretriana, which arrived at that port on July 5. This is said to be one of the largest pieces of ambergris ever found.

Ambergris is supposed to be a morbid secretion of the liver of the spermaceti whale, found floating or washed ashore. It is a little lighter than water, and might easily be taken for a piece of the bark of a tree. On examination, however, it is found to be of a waxy nature, streaked with gray, yellow and black and emitting a peculiar aromatic odor. It fuses at 140 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit and at a higher temperature gives out a white smoke, which condenses into a crystalline fatty matter.

It is found in all sizes, from one pound up to twenty or thirty, but occasionally pieces weighing one hundred or two hundred pounds are found in whales.

Ambergris has been known from an early period, some pharmacopoeias prescribing it for fevers and nervous complaints. It is sometimes mingled with the incense burned in churches and is also put in certain kinds of wine to improve the bouquet.

But the great use of ambergris is in the manufacture of perfumery. Not that its fragrance is either very powerful or pleasing, but it possesses the peculiar property of causing other ingredients to throw out their odors and making them more specific and durable.

Mr. Hanna's Tact

Hon. W. J. Hanna, Ontario's Provincial Secretary, is not famed as a "mixer," and the general impression seems to be that he is a hard man to approach. But he knows how to mix among country folk at election time.

Mr. Hanna first ran for the Ontario Legislature in 1902, when he opposed Mr. F. F. Pardee, then member for West Lambton. It seemed very doubtful that the latter could be defeated, and some of Hanna's friends were somewhat dolefully discussing the candidate's chances. Then a hopeful member of the group spoke up.

"Pshaw!" he said. "Hanna's chances are all right. He knows how to handle the farmers. When Pardee calls at a house on the side lines the people won't know what to do with him—he's so well dressed and nice in his talk. Along will come Hanna the next day, and when the farmer will direct him to go up to the 'spare room' to wash for dinner, do you think he'll go like Pardee? Not on your life. Hanna will yank off his coat and say, 'Spare room nothin'! Show me the pump and some soft soap. That's what I was used to when I was a boy.'"

And sure enough Mr. Hanna won the election.

Common Names Lacking.

The present Ontario Legislature does not contain a single Smith, Brown, Jones, or Robinson. The Dominion Parliament has a Brown and a Smith (also a Smythe), but neither a Jones nor a Robinson. The Senate has a Jones, but neither a Brown, Smith, nor Robinson, although it has a Robertson.

TOO STRENUOUS POLITICS?

Without approving or condemning their action, it seems that the Dominion Alliance is rather too strenuous in their endeavor to carry their platform, almost at any cost. It would seem that their latest pronunciamento, whilst, "throwing a sop to Cerberus," by way of giving faint praise to both the political parties of Ontario, simply means the upsetting of political parties to ensure their own ideas being carried out. The greater, graver affairs of State, the future of the Province are to be ignored, so that the temperance party may win. Even the most ardent supporter of that party must admit to himself, if he does not express himself to that effect openly, that a modification of the liquor traffic is all that the coming years will see successfully operated. This has been the practical history of both the United States and Canada. Still, this is the platform now advocated:

"We desire to express our appreciation of the fact that the political parties in Ontario are coming to recognise the dominance of the temperance issue in Provincial politics. We believe that the next election will be fought out upon this issue; and, whereas, the abolition of the retail traffic in intoxicating liquors will secure for the Province what local option by-laws have been securing under difficult conditions for the individual municipalities, therefore, this executive committee urges upon all friends of our cause the importance of taking action to secure the nomination in every constituency at the earliest possible date of candidates of character and ability, whose declared policy will be the furthest advanced in that direction."

A MOTHER'S CARES DESTRUCTIVE TO HEALTH

ANAEMIA, BAD BLOOD, HEADACHES AND LASSITUDE VERY COMMON.

Mrs. Wilkinson's Letter Gives Advice that Every Mother Can Well Follow

From her home in Newton, where she resides with her large family Mrs Wilkinson writes: "For years I was pale, anaemic and lacking in vitality. I was a constant sufferer from indigestion, and the distressand pain it caused me, coupled with ever increasing anaemia, made me weaker day by day. Constant headaches, specks before the eyes, and attacks of dizziness made me feel as if life were not worth living. My constitution was completely undermined and the constant pallor and dullness in my eyes showed what a sick woman I was. I began to take Dr. Hamilton's pills and the improvement, although slow was sure.

"I gradually got back my strength and my appetite grew much stronger and I enjoyed my meals thoroughly. I felt happier and more contented, and the sickly pallor of my face was replaced by a bright, rosy color that proved that a strong medicine was at work. In a few months Dr. Hamilton's Pills brought me from a condition of deathly pallor to robust health."

You can obtain the same results by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills—beware of the substitutor that offers you anything except Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25 cents per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1912.

WHAT THE SOUTH THINKS.

As an instance of what the Southern press thinks of the squabble between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt, the "United States" of New Orleans, says: A few days ago Colonel Roosevelt told the people of New Hampshire that when he was President he had said that he "would never consent to the United States not acting toward other nations with scrupulous justice," and he added, "I have lived up to it."

He may think so, because he has a remarkably convenient memory, but it is absolutely impossible to reconcile this declaration with his brutal seizure in the Panama affair of Colombia's most valuable province. This he did without the authority of Congress, and certainly without the authority of the country to which the Isthmus belonged for he himself says he "took" it.

It is these kind of statements which clash so harshly with the truth and the facts that cause so many of Roosevelt's countrymen to realize that he is morally cross-eyed and utterly unable to recognize just dealing when he sees it.

THE WIRELESS AND THE GREAT DISASTER.

The testimony brought out by the United States Senate investigation emphasizes the need for international agreements to regulate the control of the wireless telegraph.

After the harrowing message of the sinking of the Titanic and the drowning of her fifteen hundred passengers and crew, the world waited, in a state of terrible suspense, for some brief account of the great tragedy; but though the Carpathia was in touch with the wireless stations and the naval vessels sent out to meet her, all appeals for this information were resolutely refused.

When the vessel landed and explanations were demanded, the excuse made by the captain of the ship was that the operators were compelled to confine themselves to sending messages from the individual survivors to the relatives on shore.

It turns out now, however, that the world was kept in ignorance of the great tragedy in order that the Marconi operators, who in the British service get only $4 to $12 a week and board, might negotiate the sale of the story to the newspapers at fancy figures.

The telegrams intercepted by the naval vessels, who could get not even a courteous response from the Carpathia, further show that these negotiations were originated and conducted by a high officer of the Marconi company ashore and that peremptory orders were sent to the wireless operators on the Carpathia to keep their mouths shut, so that first-class bargains might be made for the sale of the news.

It is not surprising, therefore, that, with the Marconi company having absolute control of the situation, the staff correspondent of one of the great New York papers aboard the Carpathia was not able to send the brief narrative which would have relieved the world's agony for news instead of prolonging it for four days.

It is now perfectly clear that one of the results of the Titanic horror will be international legislation requiring all passenger ships to be equipped with modern wireless apparatus and providing for a sufficient number of operators on each ship to keep the communication open at all hours of the day and night.

The testimony developed Friday indicates, however, the necessity for further legislation that will make it impossible for the wireless companies and their operators to corner the news of a great tragedy in which millions of people are interested in order that they may sell it at their pleasure to anybody who will pay the highest price.

OCEAN LEVIATHANS.

Whether the loss of the Titanic, the largest ship in the world, on her maiden trip, will discourage the construction of ocean monsters is a question for the future to determine.

Since the tragedy much has been said in favor of smaller and more easily managed ships, with fewer human lives to provide for and fewer millions in money risked in the event of accidents.

No transportation company would perhaps to-day be willing to give a contract for the duplication of the Titanic. But the world soon forgets. The horrors of the tragedy on the Newfoundland Banks will be gradually effaced from the public mind; and new giantesses of the seas may come to take her place.

It is interesting in that connection to call attention to the fact that while the Titanic, in bulk, was the greatest of all ships, even if disaster had not overtaken her she would not long have held the palm. A new German ship the Imperator is already well advanced in construction that surpasses her in size. The Titanic's tonnage was 46,000 The Imperator's is to be 50,000.

Meantime, England still boasts the largest ocean-going vessels. The Olympic, sister ship to the Titanic, is of 45,000 tons, only 1000 less than that of her ill-fated mate and her equipment is almost as luxurious.

So far as speed is concerned, the honors lie with England and France, with little to choose between them. The Cunard greyhounds, the Lusitania and Mauretania, have not heretofore been equaled as racers. They have held the record as the fastest ships on the seas. But they have both found a dangerous rival in the new French liner, the France, which last week entered the Havre-New York service. The France is something of a giantess herself. She measures 732 feet, about a hundred less than the Titanic, and her appointments are palatial. On her trial trip near St. Nazaire, she is said to have attained a maximum speed of 27 knots or 31 miles an hour.

The Titanic, Mr. Ismay testified before the Senate committee, cost something over $7,500,000. Yet that vast sum was wiped out on her first attempt to cross the seas. The question naturally raised is whether it is a sound business investment to risk so much capital in a single vessel when, in calm seas on a starlight night, she may strike an obstruction and be sent promptly to the bottom in spite of all her "watertight" compartments.

From the fact that a ship company is willing to invest what was put into the Titanic one gets a faint idea of the tremendous volume of business which crosses the Atlantic. To earn only 5 per cent on the investment she must clear, above all her expenses, $375,000 a year.

"The fact," says The Manufacturers' Record, "that men do put their money collectively into such huge enterprises and venture it upon the high seas is one of the most impressive evidences of the magnitude of the times and of the greatness of their spirit."

Editorial Notes

By common consent popular interests centre in the Republican battle. Only one topic at a time can have public interest, and the Taft-Roosevelt race is just now that topic.

Mr. Taft's victory in Iowa is also significant. As the original home of insurgency, and also of a favorite son, Taft's sixteen out of thirty-six delegates constitutes no small triumph This has been a Taft week.

It is reported that Winnipeg, Man., will own and operate her own street railway system within a year. The municipality is evidently encouraged by the success of Port Arthur and other younger cities of the north-west, where the experience is an uncontroverted success.

An American paper, of current issue, says: "In regard to the Titanic disaster, John Bull seems to have a chip on the shoulder both toward Germany and toward us." Johnny Bull may have that chip right to the front, but the boy who tries to knock it off, will find as per usual, that the British Empire generally wins out.

With the formal approval by the shareholders of the offer made by the Executive of the Royal Bank and accepted by the Traders Bank directorate, will be consummated one of the greatest banking mergers in the financial annals of Canada. At the same time it affords another striking proof of the advantage, under a branch banking system of large institutions in competition with another bank with fewer ramifications.

In an unostentatious way the British and American Governments have put into operation a scheme for the settlement by arbitration of a large number of pecuniary claims preferred by individual citizens and corporations against both Governments. This is regarded as a striking and important illustration of the applicability of the principle of arbitration to the settlement of international claims of this kind.

The speeches of President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt, coupled with Taft's "private and confidential" letter, on the subject of Reciprocity, clearly show Canadians the narrow escape our glorious and growing Dominion had from being practically a commercial dependency of the United States. It is not fair or reasonable to charge Messrs. Laurier, Patterson, and Fielding with having deliberately attempted to sell Canada's future destiny. They made a mistake and did not understand the deep-seated, subtle craft of the men they were negotiating with. Fortunately level-headed John Canuck did, and is now realizing that he steered the ship of state past a deeper sunk and more dangerous berg than any ever seen by sailormen.

As an illustration, by comparison, of the vast improvement in Ontario, as to the control of licensed bars, as compared with the United States, the following news item is taken from a New Orleans paper: "Following his conviction on the charge of selling liquor to a woman, a negress, who several weeks ago accused him of stealing $13 from her stocking while she was asleep in a chair in his saloon at Saratoga and Gravier streets, Judge Chretien of Section B of the Criminal District Court, Friday morning ordered that the license of Frank Stabile, an Italian, be revoked and his place closed. Stabile had been convicted on two previous occasions of violations of the Gay-Shattuck law. Corporal Reed testified that Stabile was a chronic violator of this statute." How long could an Ontario hotelman have kept his license, under conditions as stated above?

CHOSE DAUGHTER; SONS DROWNED

Geneva, May 1.—A Swiss father has just had a terrible experience in a boating disaster on Lake Constance He, with his three boys and a girl, and accompanied by his brother went for a row in a boat, and were overtaken by a sudden storm, the boat foundering.

The father was a good swimmer, and he had to choose between his four children which of them he should save first. He chose his favorite, the girl, and swam with her to shore safely, returning at once to rescue his sons, but they had disappeared under the water, and were drowned. The boys could not swim, and their uncle only just managed to get ashore.

All the brave boys, with death staring them in the face, nodded approval or smiled consent while their father chose their sister as the first to be saved

The husband and wife are distracted at losing their three eldest children in a few minutes

Coined In Bedlam.

The phrase "to sham Abraham" was coined in Bedlam, or Bethlehem hospital, where there was at one time an Abraham ward, the inmates of which upon certain days were permitted to go out as licensed beggars on behalf of the hospital. These mendicant lunatics were known as "Abraham men," and their success in invoking the pity of the charitable was such that they had many unlicensed imitators, who, when discovered, were said "to have shammed Abraham"

Distance.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated."

"Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map get so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Earliest Germ of Vitality.

The microscopic dot or earliest germ of vitality is the marvel of science today. Everything that lives, whether the giant oak or the monster animal, has each to begin its individual growth from this microscopic dot, which actually contains all the past story of the living growth and every part in miniature of its future frame.

Cheering Her Up.

"I just dropped in to cheer you up a little," she said to the sick friend.

"Thank you so much. When one is confined to the house with an attack of appendicitis she is always glad of a cheerful visitor."

"Yes, indeed. And so many people are dying of that nowadays."

WHITE STAR LINE SUED.

Wife Sues Company for the Loss of Her Husband.

Washington, May 2.—Under a proceeding in Admiralty Court here today, J. Bruce Ismay, Managing Director of the International Mercantile Marine, was summoned to appear this afternoon before a commissioner to give testimony to be used in a suit of Mrs. Louise Robbins, of New York, against the White Star line. Mrs. Robbins' husband, Geo. Robbins was lost in the Titanic disaster. Subpoenaes also were issued by the Admiralty Court for the surviving officers of the Titanic.

Some Hope For Him.

"Do you think," asked the girl's mother, "you have succeeded at last in convincing Mr. Youngbuck that he can never have our daughter?"

"I'm afraid not. Somehow I can't help feeling that he may get her yet."

"But you told him this morning when he asked you for the seventh time that you would not give your consent."

"Yes. The trouble is that he has not threatened to carry on his campaign to the bitter end. As long as a chap refrains from referring to the bitter end there is a chance that he may win out."

Oranges Once a Prohibited Fruit.

Oranges were for some years a prohibited fruit in Holland. When the Batavian republic was established the badge and color of the stadtholder's family became so hateful to the popular party that, not satisfied with expelling their prince, they passed a law forbidding the sale of oranges and carrots and ordering all persons who grew lilies or marigolds in their gardens to pluck up the plants and destroy them. This prohibition remained in force until 1806, when Napoleon made his brother Louis king of Holland.

A NAPOLEONIC PARROT.

It Gave Louis XVIII a Bad Scare and Paid the Penalty

When Louis XVIII, after the defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo, again sought Paris he followed in the wake of the Anglo-German army. His closed carriage was screened from observation by a novel escort of baggage wagons. Since the people had declared that they would not have the fat, gouty, childish old Bourbon reign over them it was necessary to bring him back secretly, lest he should be assassinated or die through apprehension of murder.

Thus journeying, the King of France, by the grace of the allies, stopped one night at the chateau of Ecouen, where in Napoleon's time the daughters of officers of the Legion of Honor were educated. The young ladies had been sent to their homes. The matron had also left and, thinking she would be absent only a few days, had locked up her parrot with a supply of food in a large closet.

Louis occupied the room vacated by the matron and in a few minutes was sound asleep. His attendants had left him to prepare the night meal, which he always ate whenever he awoke. Suddenly he was aroused by some one whispering close to his ear those hated words, "Vive l'empereur!" Startled, he would have risen, but his size and his gout prevented. Again he heard "Vive l'empereur!" and then a chuckle. The King trembled with rage at the audacity of the mocking Napoleonist. "Vive l'empereur!" screamed the unknown and ended with an insulting "Ha, ha, ha!"

The King found a bell rope at the head of the bed and pulled it lustily. The attendants rushed in and were saluted with "Vive l'empereur! Ha, ha, ha!" They looked under the bed and behind the furniture. There was nothing there. A curtain pulled aside disclosed a locked door. Blows opened it, and swinging in a cage was seen an excited parrot, gleefully repeating "Vive l'empereur!" In a second his neck was savagely twisted, and thus the first victim of the second restoration of the Bourbons was a poor parrot.

Not Guilty.

"In the early days of my career," said a prominent attorney "I was assisting in the prosecution of an assault case, and in the course of the trial the defendant, an Irishman, was placed on the stand. In those days I used to think noise and bluster counted for a whole lot, so I roared at the witness:

"'It has been testified here that you berated the plaintiff and assailed him with a dangerous missile.'

"'It's a dom lie,' hotly retorted the Irishman. 'I did nawthin' av the kind. I only called him a lyin' pup and soused him on the noggin wid a wee bit av a cobblestone.'"

MEMORIAL TO HIS LATE MAJESTY KING EDWARD VII.

To be erected for the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

Terms of Competition.

SCULPTURAL COMPETITIVE designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa, Canada, to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(1) Competitive designs are invited for a monument to be erected to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(2) The memorial when completed, and in position is not to cost more than $35,000 including pedestal from the level of the ground.

(3) The competition is open to artists resident in the British Empire who are British subjects, and to artists British subjects by birth resident elsewhere.

(4) The site of the monument will be at a point on the Government property at Ottawa to be decided upon hereafter.

(5) Designs shall be in the form of sketch models in plaster made at a uniform scale of 1½ inches to the foot. A description of the design must accompany each model. No name, motto, or other distinctive device is to be attached to the model or description. The competitor must send his name in a sealed envelope without distinctive marks thereon.

(6) The author of the best design shall be awarded the commission of the work and the second best shall be awarded a prize of $1000.00.

(7) All communications regarding this competition shall be addressed to: The Secretary Public Works Department, Ottawa, Canada. All models to be addressed to: Mr. Eric Brown, Director of National Art Gallery, Ottawa, Canada.

(8) The designs must be delivered before the first day of October, 1912. They will be kept from public view until the award has been made. All expenses of delivering the sketch models and accompanying descriptions shall be paid by the competitors. Sketch models will, after the award, and at the expense of the Public Works Dept., be returned upon the request of the competitors, but at the risk of the competitors.

Notice of the award will be sent to each competitor.

The award will only be binding provided the successful competitor is prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence, with security if demanded, that he can execute the work for the sum above mentioned.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

A Possible Minden Murder.

A message from Minden says that Lewis Porter, Jr., a man of middle age, who follows the occupation of trapper, left that settlement last Thursday, taking his gun along, to visit some traps along Gull Lake, and not returning home a search party was organized here on Sunday to go in search. They found the body on an old trail road about 150 yards off the main, or what is known as the Cameron Road, with a bullet hole through his right arm, near the elbow. It is supposed the bullet had penetrated his right side, causing death. The man had either crawled or been dragged the distance. Deceased leaves a wife and three children. The body was brought to Minden, and a coroner's jury will be empanelled. It is generally rumored around that it may be a murder case.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

ROME'S COLISEUM

Majestic Even In Its Ruins Is the Historic Old Edifice.

ITS BLOOD SATURATED ARENA

On the Occasion of Its Inauguration Five Thousand Wild Animals and Ten Thousand Captives Were Slain In an Orgy That Lasted a Hundred Days.

Second only to the Acropolis at Athens in interest to the antiquarian and historian in his study of ruins of Europe is the Coliseum at Rome. This historic edifice was erected during the reigns of Vespasian and Titus and in honor of the latter. It is said that 00,000 Jews were engaged in its erection for ten years.

It was a feudal fortress for a long time and finally a quarry from which were built churches and palaces until by its consecration as holy ground on account of the number of martyrs supposed to have been immolated there, further ravages were stopped.

It is said to have given seats to 87,000 spectators and was inagurated A. D. 80, the same year in which Titus died, on which occasion 5,000 wild animals and 10,000 captives were slain. The inauguration lasted 100 days. An ecclesiastical tradition makes the architect to have been a Christian, one Gaudentius, afterward a martyr.

This structure was originally called the Amphitheatrum Flavium, but since the time of Bebe it has been known as the Coliseum, probably given it because of its enormous size.

The Roman Coliseum became the spot where prince and people met together to witness those sanguinary exhibitions the degrading effect of which on the Roman character can hardly be overestimated. The circumference of the building is 1,641 feet, the height of the outer wall is 157, the length of the arena 278 feet and its width 177. It covers an area of six acres.

It is only by ascending to the upper terrace that the enormous size of the Coliseum is fully seen, and by moonlight the effect of size and massiveness is much increased. The ruins south of the Coliseum are supposed to have been the vivarium, in which were kept the wild beasts for the combats.

As a general description of the building the following passage of Gibbon is said to be perfect: "The outside of the edifice was incrusted with marble and decorated with statues. The slopes of the vast concave which formed the inside were filled and surrounded with sixty or eighty rows of seats, of marble likewise, covered with cushions and capable of receiving with ease about 80,000 spectators. Sixty-four 'vomitories' (for by that name the doors were very aptly distinguished) poured forth the immense multitude, and the entrances, passages and staircases were contrived with such exquisite skill that each person, whether of the senatorial, the equestrian or the plebeian order, arrived at his destined place without trouble or confusion. Nothing was omitted which in any respect could be subservient to the convenience and pleasure of the spectators. They were protected from the sun and rain by an ample canopy, occasionally drawn over their heads. The air was continually refreshed by the playing of fountains and profusely impregnated by the grateful scent of aromatics.

"In the center of the edifice the arena was strewed with the finest sand and successively assumed the most different forms. At one moment it seemed to rise out of the earth like the garden of the Hesperides, and was afterward broken into the rocks and caverns of Thrace. The subterranean pipes conveyed an inexhaustible supply of water, and what had just before appeared a level plain might be suddenly converted into a wide lake, covered with armed vessels and replenished with the monsters of the deep.

"In the decoration of these scenes the Roman emperors displayed their wealth and liberality, and we read on various occasions that the whole furniture of the amphitheater consisted either of silver or of gold or of amber.

"The poet who describes the game of Carinus in the character of a shepherd, attracted to the capitol by the fame of their magnificence affirms that the nets designed as a defense against the wild beasts were of gold wire, that the porticoes were gilded and that the 'belt' or circle which divided the several ranks of spectators from each other was studded with a precious mosaic of beautiful stones."

In ancient times there was hardly a town in the Roman empire which had not an amphitheater large enough to contain vast multitudes of spectators, and as specimens of architecture the amphitheaters were more remarkable for the mechanical skill and admirable adaptation to their purpose displayed in them than for any beauty of shape or decoration.—Chicago News.

The Artistic Temperament.

Millet, the painter of "The Angelus," had a standing agreement with a firm of art dealers who took all his work in exchange for regular payments of £40 a month. When he was told that they could sell a single picture for as much as £2,000 he said:

"That is their affair. As long as I have all I need and can paint what I like and as I like it I do not mind what they get for my pictures."—London Graphic.

LANDING AT RAKAHANGA.

A Risky Feat and One That Sorely Tries the Nerves.

Rakahanga is a little coral atoll in the south sea, not very far from New Zealand. Few people ever visit it, and to judge from the account in Mr. Frank Burnett's "Through Tropic Seas" of the difficulties that attend a landing there none would care to go a second time.

At Rakahanga the feeling is that only by a miracle can a safe passage be made through what, by a stretch of the imagination, is called the entrance to the lagoon. Imagine a once good entrance obstructed by a wall of coral rising to within a few feet of the surface of the water. This coral wall is built by that wonderful creature, the coral polyp. Over it break with inconceivable fury huge ocean billows that travel with the speed of race horses, lashing and churning the water into a milk white foam and with a deafening roar throwing the spray to such a height that it may be seen miles away.

The backwash of every breaker forms, on the outside of the wall of rock, a chasm fathoms deep, which is again filled up by the next rushing wave. To cross the abyss and reach the quiet shelter of the lagoon is a difficulty that the islander shows the greatest skill in surmounting.

His boat, a long, low, flat bottomed affair, built much like a halibut dory, manned usually by six paddlers besides the steersman, is brought to the very verge of the boiling caldron, and there it is held till the opportune moment arrives. Since that sometimes does not occur for five or ten minutes the passenger has plenty of time to reflect upon his misdeeds, to survey the sublime scene and to wonder how in the world that fearful turmoil of water is to be crossed.

The delay does not tend to compose his nerves, but if he is observant he will notice that about every five or six minutes three giant billows in quick succession roll majestically in. When the last of the three has passed and the chasm has been filled up the paddlers give a frightful yell that terrifies the unsuspecting passenger almost to death, dig in their paddles and shoot the boat forward like an arrow from a bow.

Before the backwash can re-empty the chasm the boat is across. The passenger has hardly time to grasp how it is done before the paddlers have sprung to the reef and pulled the boat clear of the next roller, usually a small one.

In entering the lagoon the chief risk is that of an upset after crossing the chasm and a ducking in two or three feet of water, but on going out, if the boat does not reach the smooth water before the next succeeding swell breaks, woe betide it and its crew, for nothing will prevent its being swamped and carried, with all hands, back into the awful abyss by the inrush of broken water, out of which only the strongest and most skilful swimmers can emerge.

The Truth About Icebergs.

Many existing theories regarding icebergs require modification. For instance, it has generally been believed that for every cubic foot of ice above water there are seven below, and a berg, therefore, that towers, say, 100 feet above the ocean level has a total height of 800 feet. Lieutenant Peary, the conqueror of the north pole, declares that this is not always the case. "It is true," he says, "that the heaviest portion of the berg is submerged, but it is wrong to say that seven-eighths of its height is under water. I have noted several instances where only two-thirds of a berg is submerged."—St. Nicholas.

A Quaint Notice.

Here is a copy of a notice that was posted up in an art exhibition in Tokyo: "No visitor who is mad or intoxicated is allowed to enter in. If any person found in shall be claimed to retire. No visitor is allowed to carry in with himself any parcel, umbrella, stick and the like kind except his purse and is strictly forbidden to take within himself dog or the same kind of beasts. Visitor is requested to take care of himself from thievly."

Ready to Resume.

Impossible.

"You are going to inherit all my money," said the rich old man.

"Yes," sobbed the youth.

"I wish to goodness I could fix it so that you could also inherit my ability to take care of it," was the old man's last expression.—Detroit Free Press.

A Delicate Position.

"That was an annoying coincidence," said Mr. Biggins. "It took great tact to manage it."

"What's the trouble?"

"The pension examiner and the life insurance doctor both called on me at the same time."—Washington Star.

QUALITY OF MILK.

It Can Easily Be Determined by Using the Candle Test.

Here is a very simple way in which to test the quality of the milk you buy. First stir the milk with a spoon in order to disseminate into the whole liquid the cream which may have come to the surface. Then one volume of milk is poured into fifty volumes of water—one fluid ounce to two and a half pints. A candle is lighted in a dark room. Take an ordinary drinking glass with a tolerably flat and even bottom and hold it right above the candle at a distance of about one foot from it, so as to be able to see the flame of the candle through the bottom of the glass. Then pour slowly the diluted milk into the glass.

The flame becomes less bright as the level of the liquid rises into the glass. The flame is soon reduced to a dull white spot. A little more liquid slowly added, so as to avoid pouring an excess, and the flame becomes absolutely invisible. All that remains to be done is to measure the height of the liquid in the glass, this being most conveniently ascertained by dipping into it a strip of pasteboard and then measuring the wet part. It should measure not over one inch if the milk is pure. With good quality milk, diluted and tested as stated, the depth will be about seven-eighths of an inch before the flame is lost to view. A mixture of one volume of milk and a half a volume of water should show a depth of one and a half inches. A depth of two inches indicates either partially skimmed milk or a mixture of one volume of good milk and one of water, and so on.

The process is based upon the close relation between the opacity of milk and the number of fatty corpuscles contained in it. Both skimming and the adding of water work in the same direction—namely, to decrease the opacity of milk. The same cannot be said of the density. Skimming increases it. Adding water decreases it, and the common test that consists in the mere introduction of the lactodensimeter in milk is worthless, as skimmed milk may have a normal density if care has been taken to pour into it a certain amount of water.—New York World.

SECRET WRITING.

Simple Cipher System That Keeps Postcard Messages Private.

Postal cards would undoubtedly be in much greater demand than they are for purposes of correspondence but for the fact that the messages they convey are open to all through whose hands they may pass. Yet this objection is easily overcome.

There are some beautifully simple ciphers that are almost impossible for any one not in the secret to read. Only by luck, for instance, can even the expert find the key to a short message written in the "trellis" or "grill" cipher. It is extremely simple, and thousands of people use it to baffle folks who take an interest in the contents of postcards.

To use it all you have to do is to cut a few oblong holes in a blank postcard, place it over the postcard you mean to write on and write your message in the holes. Then take the upper card off and write some natural reading sentences round the cipher words.

Any inquisitive person reading the card when it reaches your correspondent's house will find a message of no interest whatever. Only your correspondent himself—or herself—can read the real message, and that by placing on the card a blank card cut in exactly the same way as your own.—Pearson's Weekly.

IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

The National Preserve Has a Host of Interesting Denizens.

Algonquin National Park comprises over one and a half million acres of shaggy woods and gleaming lakes. Wild life is protected there. As a result the wild animals and birds have become quite tame, so tame in fact that some of them have no hesitancy about visiting the tent of the camper and making themselves at home. Deer often appear before a party of dining campers in broad daylight, but most of the animals prefer to satisfy their curiosity and carry on their investigations of the camp at night.

Sometimes one of the little visitors will take a notion to help himself to a bit of bacon or scrap of biscuit or even go so far as to cut a hole in the sugar-sack, but his visit being prompted more from curiosity than hunger, he seldom does any harm.

Of course at the slightest stir from the camp, the visitor is gone, melting like a flash in the shadows from which he may peer with little eyes wide with wonder, for a time, before continuing his regular night rounds. Sometimes, if he chances to be a creamy little ermine or its first cousin, a weasel, he may return to continue his interrupted investigation.

The experienced camper is quite willing to have the small ermine come as a visitor to his camp. Well he knows that that little pest the pack-rat cannot carry on his wasteful work among his effects, if the red-eyed killer of pack rats is hanging about; and the ermine is quick and sure death to pack rats.

Perhaps the most frequent visitor to camp is the porcupine. That interesting animal, who has a habit of taking his time about everything, is liable to roll into camp at any hour of the night.

He comes in leisurely and departs leisurely and he is too bound up in himself to take the slightest notice of anything else, be it man or animal. Neither curiosity nor interest in the strange creature called man leads the much respected porcupine into camp; he is too selfish to think of anything but himself and he comes into camp on a selfish mission. He is after salt.

For salt he will brave any danger and if there is salt within a quarter of a mile of him, his blunt nose smells it and points the way to it.

Perhaps the camper has left the wooden box, in which the pork has been packed, just outside the tent door; or the frying-pan in which the supper had been cooked on the ground by the camp fire.

If so, Mr. Porcupine rolls up to the box and proceeds to get busy on it with long, chisel-like teeth. He makes all the noise he feels like making and if the camper comes out and attempts to drive him away, he looks up at the intruder out of sleepy eye and stiffens his long quills a little. He don't intend to leave until he has reduced that box to slivers and he feels pretty certain the camper knows better than to attempt to make him.

If there happens to be a dog in camp, and he is a young and inexperienced dog, the chances are he will try conclusions with the porcupine. If his owner is also inexperienced he may let him do it.

When the dog attacks him, the porcupine rolls himself up into a round ball and the dog recoils with a howl, quills sticking in his tender nose and mouth. These his master may be able to remove, but usually, if deep, they work through the flesh until they come out on the opposite side from which they entered. Sometimes they work down the dog's throat where they fester and choke him to death.

The rangers of Algonquin National Park have a wholesome respect for the porcupine and are most careful not to anger him in any way. He is a peaceable animal and fond of minding his own business, but he will not permit of the slightest familiarity. Every animal of the wild knows the danger he runs in disputing rights with this spiny, peace-loving little animal, and they are most careful to let him severely alone.

Monopoly Failed.

Two New Brunswickers went to Toronto recently in control of the potato trust of their province. Ontario potatoes are apparently a thing of the past, and the easterners felt that they had a market to themselves. Potatoes was raised daily, and the commission man was compelled to ask two dollars a bag.

Having made a market and with a good supply on hand, the New Brunswick promoters sent out peddlers through the city and reaped a harvest by disposing of their stock at $1.50 a bag, thus cutting the feet from under the commission men.

But the commission houses got busy. They imported Irish potatoes, and they then went after the English article. By careful computation it was found that English potatoes could be landed and sold in Toronto at $1.65 a bag, and the corner of the New Brunswickers has been broken. The next episode in the potato business will be watched with more than ordinary interest. McBride Bros., wholesale commission men, are the responsible parties for the importation of Irish, Scotch and English potatoes.

Sport In British Columbia.

With the exception of antelope and musk-ox, British Columbia has every species of big game that exists on the continent, even the rarest of them being found in fair quantities. In addition, there are wild fowl and game birds of various species, some native and others acclimatized, that furnish sport; while the waters are said to afford the finest trout and salmon fishing in the world. Some 70 miles up the river from Fort George the "Grand Canon" is reached, and from there a magnificent moose country extends as far as the Little Smoky River. Whether the horns attain the large size of the Cassir moose has yet to be determined, but some very fine heads have been seen. In this district caribou are very plentiful on the higher plateaux, and in places both grizzly and black bears are numerous.

ANOTHER BOAT IN SHIPS' GRAVEYARD

New York, April 30.—Officers of the Norwegian steamship Romsdel, which is in drydock here Thursday, after a trip made perilous by field ice, believe that they witnessed the sinking of a freight ship of about 9000 tons, in latitude 45.5, longitude 57.10, 400 miles north of the Titanic's grave, on March 26. The identity of the sunken ship is not known.

The Romsdell's attention was attracted to the distressed ship soon after nightfall, when the vessel began sending up rockets showing that help was wanted. Captain Heil ordered that the Romsdel be headed for the scene, and his ship was run into the ice field with as much speed as possible, but she had not gone far before she had six or seven holes in the hull, which allowed much water to enter the hold. All hands were ordered to the pumps, and the nineteen men of the crew were able to keep the water from gaining until temporary repairs were made.

Meanwhile the rockets continued to ascend from the ship in distress, but the Romsdel was helpless, for she too was fast in the ice. About midnight the rockets from the other vessel stopped and soon afterward her lights were seen to disappear beneath the waves. When daylight broke those on board the Romsdel were unable to find any trace of the sunken vessel.

For three days the Romsdel was a prisoner in the ice. She finally worked her way out with six more holes in her hull and her propeller blades broken. Temporary repairs were made, but it was necessary to keep the crew at the pumps constantly.

On her arrival here she was drydocked and is now undergoing extensive repairs.

Navigation Open at Lindsay.

Navigation seems to have opened at Lindsay as the "Arthur C.," The Carew Lumber Co's. tug, arrived in that town on Saturday from Bobcaygeon, where it was in winter quarters. The "Marie Louise" has gone to Pleasant Point with a scow-load of lumber, but owing to the heavy gales blowing, it was seen that it would be difficult to land.

Damage Done by High Water.

It seems that the high water this spring is giving trouble. Yesterday Mr. Joe. Stabler and his son Harry Stabler, of Harvey, arrived in the city at 4.45 a.m. They had to use canoes, en route. Mr. Stabler reports that the bridge at Gannon's Narrows, has been damaged $200 worth, by high water. The bridge at Sandy Creek has also sustained some $50 worth of damage.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties —Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Gun Club Shoot To-night.

Every member of the Gun Club, or any member interested in the sport, is asked to be at the driving park this evening at 6 p.m., when the first shoot for the gun case presented by the Dominion Cartridge Co., will be shot for.

Lift Lock Opens June 10.

The liftlock will be opened for business this year on Monday, June 10. The Superintendent of the canal states that this should be in good time for navigation. The machinery has been given its usual overhauling and the rest of the canal is being made ready for the first traffic.

They All Come Back.

It is understood that Mr. M. Cameron, a former Peterborough man, but now living in Goderich, will take over the tailoring establishment, conducted by Mr. Ed. Huff. Mr. Cameron's many friends will welcome him back to Peterborough.

Death of Mr. Joseph Rickerby.

On Saturday, Mr. Joseph Rickerby Flint, Mich., who six years ago was a resident of this city, passed away. The body was accompanied here by his brother George, who, with the father of the deceased is left to mourn his loss. The funeral was held to St. Peter's cemetery. The deceased was 25 years of age.

Poultry Fanciers Meet To-night.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association, will be held in their hall, on Simcoe street to-night at 8 o'clock. The varieties of birds for exhibition will be Minorcas and Polands. Anyone wishing to bring other varieties are welcome to do so. Mr. James Baptie of Springville will judge the birds.

How to Identify Italian Laborers.

Here is a hint for Street Commissioner Harry Evans. The town treasurer of Galt is using the surplus dog tags on Italian street workers for identification purposes. It would seem that the treasurer of that town may be treatened with a weakness of the jaw and the Italian names are too much for his lingual abilities.

Date for School Tenders.

In our issue of yesterday appeared a black type advertisement of the Board of Education, asking for tenders for the new school buildings. This advertisement noted that the time for receiving these tenders had been extended to 12 o'clock noon, on Saturday, May 8th. This of course was a typographical error. The date should have read May 4th.

Barnardo Home Adjunct Continues.

It was noted in the press of Peterborough a few weeks ago that the premises at 453 Water street, occupied by the Barnardo Home stenographers and bookkeepers would soon be vacated. Advice has been received from Mr. Owen, Canadian Manager for this most commendable institution, that these employees will be kept on at the place mentioned.

Mr. Walter S. Davidson Honored.

The Peterborough Law Society bade farewell to Mr. Walter S. Davidson, who left yesterday afternoon for his new home in Calgary. Besides receiving their farewell Mr. Davidson was presented with a handsome gold watch by the Association. Short eulogistic addresses were given by E. H. D. Hall, chairman of the Association; R. R. Hall, and other members of the bar.

White Caps to Get Down to Work.

To-day the White Caps will get down to practice. A bunch of them arrived last night on the 7.48 C.P.R. train. Another addition to those already here is Thirdbaseman Jack Benzie of Hamilton, who arrived at noon to-day. He is a sturdy young man very highly recommended. He played with the Erskines, champions of the Hamilton City League, last year.

Bobcaygeon Hotelman's Death.

Mr. Jas. Thompson, proprietor of the Rockland House, Bobcaygeon, passed away on Tuesday afternoon. His death came very suddenly from neuralgia of the heart. The deceased was well known here. About three years ago he purchased the Rockland House from [illegible]. Thompson and after the big fire a year or so ago, he erected a large and up-to-date structure, which to-day is looked upon as one of the best in this part of Ontario.

Canadian Club Meets To-morrow.

Mr. F. E. B. Johnstone, K.C., of Toronto, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Canadian Club tomorrow night which will be the last meeting of the season. Mr. Johnstone is a well known orator and his address is being looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by the members of the club. At this meeting the report of the Nomination committee covering the election of officers for the coming year will be received.

A Good Muskrat Season.

Trappers in the Lindsay district report one of the best years on record. Thousands of muskrats have been caught along the Scugog river and its tributaries. It is estimated that over 3500 pelts will be gathered from that section. The price per pelt paid was from 70 to 77 cents. Last season for the same quality of pelts the prices ranged from 32 to 46 cents. The dealers all claim they never saw a better quality of fur and the trappers say they never saw the rats so fat.

Sunday School Statistics.

The following statistics of the Sunday School inspection are taken from the report of Mr. F. E. Kerr, secretary of the Peterborough Sunday School Association. Number of teachers and officers, 434; Number of Pupils, 3868; Total enrolment, 4302. Number of Cradle Roll members reported from 11 schools, 695; Number of Home Department members reported from two schools, 218; amount contributed to missions, $1,329.28; Number of Sunday schools, 17.

Garbage Wagons Begin Work.

Yesterday morning the three wagons for the collection of the city's garbage were duly inspected by Sanitary officer Spence, and began their rounds. The wagons looked trim and businesslike. In the rear of each wagon is a large barrel with a covering, for peelings and such refuse. The top of each barrel was about 10 inches above the top of the wagon, and by orders of Dr. McPherson, were cut down in order not to be visible. The work during the first week or two will be somewhat experimental until the demands of the city are fully known.

Lindsay Brigade in Hard Luck.

The members of the Lindsay Fire Brigade are going round with an appeal for funds to purchase uniforms and are meeting with a generous response from the citizens. In other towns the council purchase the uniforms for the fire fighters, but the local brigade has not been so fortunate. What is the matter with that usually bright and businesslike little town? Could any Peterborough citizen imagine Chief Howard with a tambourine or hat in hand going a round to collect money for three pair of trousers, or a half dozen blue cotton shirts for the local brigade.

St. George's Society Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the local St. George's Society, held in Coleman's restaurant, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

President—Mr. Chas. E. Coleman.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. W. Worth.
Secretary—Mr. B. Reid.
Asst. Sec'y—Mr. F. Dainton.
Musical Conductor—Mr. R. J. Devey.
Treas.—Mr. L. S. Edney.

Mrs. Wells and Mr. Beauliffe were commissioned to form a committee. It was decided that practice for "The Messiah," which will be produced some time in the fall, should commence at once.

English Immigrants Keep Coming.

A number of immigrants from England arrived in the city yesterday morning, and were quickly handled by Mr. Howson, Local Immigration Officer. They were sent to Norwood and South Monaghan. Mr. Howson was in receipt of a communication yesterday from Mr. C. Branch, secretary of an employment Committee of the Borough of East Ham, London, Eng., acting on the advice of Mr. Obed Smith, Superintendent of Emigration for Great Britain. The latter has written Mr. Howson relative to the prospect of securing employment, as farm labourers, for ten families. The ages of the heads of these families range from 41 to 22 years.

Arranging For the Glorious 12th.

The Orangemen of this city and county are considering the matter of a monster celebration to be held here on Friday, July 12th. It is hoped that thousands of outside visitors will be present to take in the festivities. We understand that the City Council and the public in general will be asked to contribute towards ensuring the expenses. Should such a guarantee be raised, the committee will endeavor to make arrangements with the railroads to issue cheap rate tickets good until Monday, July 15th. This would mean a great amount of money spent in the city. Should the application made by the committee be refused, it will mean the dropping of the project.

BIRTH.

HAGGIS—In Peterborough, on Wednesday, May 1, 1912, the wife of Mr. Jas. Haggis, of a daughter.

A Charming Wedding at St. Paul's.

Yesterday afternoon a pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's church, when Miss May Ernestine Weir, Stewart street, became the charming bride of Mr. David Crowe, of Saskatoon, Sask. The nuptial knot was tied by the pastor, Rev. Robt. Pogue, assisted by Rev. Mr. Rogers, of Toronto, a cousin of the bride. The bride was given away by her brother Mr. Fred Weir, while Miss Weir, her sister was bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Mr. J. S. Madill of Napanee. Mr. A. P. McLean and Dr. G. Stewart Cameron of Peterborough, were the ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weir, Stewart street. Mr. and Mrs. Crowe left on the 4.28 C.P.R. train for Toronto, en route for a trip to the old country.

Testimony Meeting.

The members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, were somewhat inspired last night in the Testimony meeting, through greetings from New York city. There were four Christian Scientists on the Titanic when she received the fatal blow from the iceberg, all of whom were rescued. It is said they consider their survival most miraculous. Their experience, another proof of the frailty of material means and skill of mortal man. They, one and all, realize that God, Spirit, in whom they put their trust is greater than the iceberg or the mighty Atlantic, and a safer refuge even that the great Titanic, the pride of human skill. While some of them have suffered since from the experience, they rejoice that they have been spared to work a little longer in this plane of consciousness, for the "Giver of every good and perfect gift," who saith to the proud wave, "Thus far and no farther." Who holdeth the winds in his hand. The Scripture lesson last night was from Matt. 14, 22 to 36, "Jesus proving the power of the law of spiritual science over the so-called laws of material science or matter."

THE KAISER'S JUBILEE

To Be Commemorated With Notable Work on German Progress.

Berlin, May 1.—None of his unofficial titles is dearer to the Kaiser's heart than that of "Germany's Best Business Man." That being so, the German industrial world has decided to commemorate His Majesty's silver jubilee in 1913 by issuing a monumental work devoted to the progress and development of German trade and commerce during his reign.

The book, which will be a comprehensive affair of four volumes, on which fifty eminent economists are already at work, will deal especially with the part the Kaiser himself has played in the "Made in Germany" cause. A gorgeous copy of the work, bound in gold and silver, will be presented to the emperor on his next birthday, in January, 1913.

BOMB ON PORCH.

Andrew Carnegie's Partner Has Unpleasant Experience.

Pittsburg, May 1.—Alexander R. Peacock, one of the Carnegie junior partners and one of the wealthiest men in the city, has been threatened with injury, an attempt has been made to blow up his palatial residence, and even threats of injury to members of his family have been made in "Black Hand" letters that demanded thousands of dollars. The letters have been received during the past few weeks, but were ignored, and a few nights ago a bomb was found on the front porch. Then the matter was reported to the police.

RICHESON MAKES APPEAL

Seeks Commutation of Death Penalty For Murder of Avis Linnell.

Boston, May 2. — The appeal of Clarence V. T. Richeson, murderer of Avis Linnell, that his sentence to death be commuted to imprisonment for life, was made public by Governor Foss Saturday. The appeal is addressed to the Governor and executive council, and reads:

"I respectfully request that the sentence of death pronounced against me by the Superior Court for the county of Suffolk, be commuted to imprisonment for life, and I leave the presentation of this request, and the reasons in support thereof with my counsel.

(Signed)
"CLARENCE V. T. RICHESON."

The Governor will announce later whether he will refer Richeson's petition to the executive council for action.

TO BE FLOWER SELLER

Duchess of Marlborough to Aid in Charitable Work.

London, May 1.—The Duchess of Marlborough is to appear in the role of a flower seller.

She will establish herself outside of the stock exchange and endeavour to extract the highest possible amount from the pockets of the stock brokers, which will go toward a fund to be collected on Alexandra Day.

Alexandra day comes toward the end of June, and the idea is to devote this day to the collection of money for the many hospitals in which Queen Alexandra is interested.

PUBLIC OPINION

good clean, healthy sport and recreation for themselves.

In this letter I wish to appeal very earnestly to all lovers of boys to help us, especially do I appeal to the pastors of the churches: as I know they have the best interests of the boys at heart. To parents I would also appeal to help us in this work and to the boys of the city I appeal, to come up to the meeting to be held on Thursday evening next at 8 o'clock, in the Y.M.C.A.

Will the pastors and parents of the city, and all who have boys, help us in every way they can? Will you come to the meeting and help us by your presence and sympathy?

Will every boy in the city who would like to play football come to the meeting. We would be delighted to welcome you. Come right in and someone will show you the room the meeting is held in.

The idea at present is to try and form a junior football league somewhat on the lines of the Church League. That is the different churches represented by football clubs join in a league. A schedule of games is arranged by a committee composed of one representative for each club, which meets weekly to draw up rules and to conduct the business of the league.

This desire of the lads for good clean, healthy sport is a natural one, and one, I believe, that will meet with the approval of all who have the interests of the boys at heart. Clean, healthy recreation will do the boys a great deal of good, and bring out the manly qualities in them. I know there are lots of people who would like to help the boys accomplish their desire in this matter. Will you, for the sake of the boys, put your sympathy into practise and come to the meeting on Thursday next and let us all see if we cannot help the lads of our City to form a junior football league.

Pastors are a very busy class of men, I know, they work harder than most of us, but if they can possibly spare the time, I appeal to them, and to all interested, to come and help us all they can. I should be very pleased to receive any suggestions and offers of help addressed to me. Thanking you Mr. Editor for your space.

—Percival G. S. Webb.

Kitchener Orders Show For Natives on Visit to El Obeid.

Cairo, May 2.—During Lord Kitchener's visit to El Obeid, when he inaugurated the new railway, a cinematograph show was given with his approval to the natives. It was the first time any of them had witnessed anything of the kind. The films dealt with all the events which have taken place within the last two months in the Soudan.

The film which reproduced the consecration of Khartoum Cathedral gave rise to a good deal of discussion. They could not understand what the surpliced figures were. Some said they were prisoners; others women. One or two of the natives, more intelligent than the rest, ventured the opinion they might be priests, but they were reproved for their ignorance by one of the sheik, whose version was that they were representatives of the British army.

BRITISH ENQUIRY OPENS ON THE TITANIC DISASTER

Twenty-four Foot Model of Lost Steamer Installed, to Show Where Boats Were Placed

London, May 2.—The British court of inquiry to determine responsibility for the Titanic disaster was opened to-day and at the outset Lord Mersey who presided, announced that it would be sweeping in its scope and would absolutely determine whether negligence cost the loss of the steamer and all but 705 of her company.

Installed in the hearing room was the 20-foot model of the steamer which was constructed by her builders and which will be used to demonstrate just where boats were placed, how bulkheads worked and all questions of a technical nature that may arise. The hearings are public and the inquiry will last several weeks. W. N. Reburn and Hamer Greenwood are appearing for the C.P.R. and Allan Companies.

Expect Many Auditors.

In point of interest to the public and the importance of its results upon the laws governing the Mercantile Marine, the investigation promises to overshadow all previous tribunals of a similar character. The scene was the armory of the Scottish Rifles whose broad drill floors with two rows of galleries affords accommodation for several hundred persons.

From the series of twenty-six questions which the attorney-General announced would be taken up it became evident that the inquiry would cover practically the same ground as the investigation by the committee of the American Senate, but would be conducted more in accordance with the procedure of a court of law and deal definitely with stated cases.

Points to Be Covered.

Eight questions, Sir Rufus Daniel Isaacs said, would relate to happenings before the casualty; six to warnings given the Titanic and the resulting precautions taken; ten to the casualty itself and consequent events; one to the equipment and construction of the vessel; and the last to the rules of the Merchant Shipping Act.

The scope of the inquiry will embrace:

Responsibility for the disaster.

Seaworthiness of the vessel.

Danger in the short course at high speed in view of the reports of ice in the steamer's path.

Lifeboat accommodations.

Methods of selection of the passengers who were saved.

Conduct of the officers and crew.

Suppression of the news by the line officials and responsibility for the circulation of the fake messages which asserted that various steamers were standing by, and later that the Titanic was being towed into Halifax.

One Hundred Lawyers There.

In front of the platform which the Commissioners occupied were seated one hundred members of the bar, representing various interests involved, and one hundred representatives of the press.

TERRIBLE CHARGES OF CRUELTY IN ORPHANS' HOME, TORONTO

Toronto, May 2.—Serious charges of fearful cruelty to several inmates of the Dovercourt Road Protestant Orphans' Home are to be explained by the superintendent, Miss K. E. Deacon.

One boy, suffering from scalds, claims his head was held under a tap from which hot water was running. Another boy bears marks that indicate his having suffered a severe beating.

Eight of the boys of the Home are to-day in the Children's Shelter pending the result of the inquiry, the form of which will be decided upon this afternoon by County Crown Attorney Corley and Mr. Starr, Commissioner of the Juvenile Court.

The Home officials have been notified that the lads are in the Shelter.

From what can be learned of the circumstances surrounding the case a sympathetic citizen named Billings, who lives at 125 Harrison street, telephoned to the Children's Aid Society yesterday morning to the effect that there were some boys from one of the institutions loafing around Rusholme road and that some of their number had been severely injured by beatings and that they ought to be looked after at once.

Controllers Examine the Boys.

A lady representing the Shelter and the Juvenile Court, went to the locality and rounded up some of the youngsters, bringing them to the City Hall, where they were taken before Judge Starr who was so amazed when he saw the condition they were in that he hurriedly telephoned for a doctor. In the corridor he met Controller McCarthy and Foster and took them to see the lads. He also got Dr. Struthers of the Public School medical staff.

Johnny Amey said he was beaten over the back and head and arms with a big stick and afterwards put into hot water to hurt him.

He had a great black and blue blotch on his left shoulder and left thigh which Dr. Struthers saw and his left shoulder was so injured that he could lift it only with difficulty.

Another boy named McGibbon said he was also whipped through his clothes and knocked against the wall then held under the tap from which hot water was running so that his forehead was scalded.

Dr. Struthers saw it was a scald before he was told what had occurred.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

A NEWSPAPER GONE WRONG.

Editor Morning Times

Sir.—There is probably not another reactionary journal in Ontario so bad in that respect as the Peterborough Examiner. This newspaper has attacked in several articles the proposal to furnish Canada with an Old Age pension system. In long rambling sentences it sets out the danger to the poor that they will be further pauperized if they should be given a pension, no matter how little. The Examiner does not condemn pensions in general. It only condemns pensions to the poor. In the Old Age pensions scheme concerning which the machinery of Parliament is now gathering evidence, under the chairmanship of Mr. J. H. Burnham, looking to the introduction of the measure at as early a date as possible, the Examiner can see nothing good. The idea which it suggests that the deserving will be rendered undeserving by being given a small pension is not the opinion of 99 per cent of the people of Canada, as expressed in reply to countless circulars sent out to Trade and Labor Councils, Salvation Army centres, Municipal Councils, Government Superintendents of Charities and Prisons, etc., etc. Supposing that there was a danger does the Examiner propose to let the poor die like dogs in the street because a pension might possibly otherwise induce someone to try to be poor and miserable and sick and starving? The Examiner had better get this miserable, selfish idea out of its head, throw politics aside for once and join in applauding a measure which the Toronto Globe and other journals of its own party have most highly recommended.

This little journal also opposes Women Suffrage. Its reactionary soul recoils with fear from the proposition that women should have the right to vote, whether they vote or not. It must consider women a weak, miserable lot. One would have thought that the magnificent heroism of the women on board the Titanic would have prompted the professional kicker of the Examiner to expand the little seed which does duty for his soul into something more beautiful and blooming. Party politics prepare editors for miserable existences and it would be well for those most acutely affected in that particular to take a course in marbles or some such breezy pasttime, which might recall some of the enthusiasm of youth which the editor of the Examiner seems to have lost some decades ago.

TO THE FARMERS OF ONTARIO.

Editor Times.

Dear Sir.—Realizing that one of the most urgent needs of the farmers of our Province is an adequate supply of farm labour, the Colonization Branch has been endeavouring to meet that demand by bringing men from Great Britain and Ireland and placing them with farmers in this Province. During the past few years several thousand have been brought out and placed in this way. Instead, however, of the demand lessening, it seems to be increasing. Our observation and experience convince us that while there may be many explanations of this regrettable fact, the one outstanding reason is the practice of employing men for six or eight months, of the year, and then turning them out to find situations elsewhere for the balance of their time. This works out in such a way that the men who have been employed on the farms now seem to gravitate to towns and cities in the winter months and re-

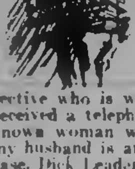
WOMAN PHONES A THREAT

Bibber Slaying Last Wednesday Complicated by Menace to Detective's Wife.

Lewiston, Me., May 3



TO the former evidence now comes a new clue to the Bibber murder mystery, which was brought to light to-day when it was stated that the wife of R. F. Leader, a private detective who is working on the case, received a telephone call from an unknown woman who said to her: "If my husband is arrested in the Bibber case, Dick Leader will go the same way John Bibber did."

Mrs. Leader called the Central Office and attempted to learn from what line the call had come, but was unable to learn. The authorities are endeavouring to follow up this clue.

Up to a late hour to-night no arrests had been made, and the city is still in the reign of terror which has come over this vicinity since Mr Bibber's murder last Wednesday evening and the daring robbery at the home of Wallace H. White, Jr., on Saturday night.

During the day several hold-ups which occurred Sunday evening have been reported to the police, but they are suppressing names and the occurences so as to quiet the many people here who have been alarmed by the happenings of the past week.

Frank Rose, of Lynn, Mass., who was taken into custody on Sunday evening in connection with the robbery at the White home, was released when Mrs. White stated that he was not the man who attacked her.

It also came to light to-day that Mary Aucoin, night matron at the Central Maine General Hospital, was attacked on Sunday evening as she stepped out of a rear door. A strange man [illegible] of her, and it was only [illegible] proved that her strength was greater than that of her assailant that she got away and slammed the door and locked it. She does not believe that robbery was the motive, however.

The police still maintain that an arrest is expected in the Bibber case within a few hours, but they have made this statement several times during the past few days. The private detectives are working quietly and are not giving out any information.

There are those who, since the robbery at the White home on Saturday evening believe that Bibber's death was the act of a highwayman, and not the deed of a jealous man. They maintain that there is a crowd of Boston thieves, who have located here since last fall, and although the police know who they are they have made no attempts to take them into custody.

FURTHER PARTICULARS RE MINDEN TRAGEDY

The Minden tragedy seems to be narrowing down. The body of Lewis Porter, who left his father's home on Wednesday evening, April 24th, was found in the woods a short distance from the road, about 6 miles south of Minden. He went to look after his traps. About eight o'clock that same evening several shots were heard in that neighborhood. A search party went out but were unsuccessful until Sunday, April 28th, about noon when Chester Kellett came upon his body. It appears that he was shot upon the road. The first shot broke his arm. After that he walked a short distance when another shot struck him. The body was dragged into the woods about 150 yards, and left. His hat was laid on his body. He had no gun when found, and his gun has not been found yet. Word was brought to Minden and Coroner Pogue and Constable Welch went to the scene with others from the village. The body was brought to Minden and placed in the Council Chamber. The deceased was about 35 years of age, and leaves a widow and four children.

The Attorney General's Department at Toronto has been notified of the crime. The only officer on the case is Constable Welch, but it is expected an official will arrive from Toronto to investigate the crime.

LOCAL LIBRARY OFFICER INVITED TO TORONTO

Last night the Public Library Board met in regular session. There were present Mayor Bradburn, and Messrs. D. Spence, H. R. H. Kenner, A. Mowat, E. A. D. Hall and H. Ritchie.

In the absence of the regular chairman, Mr. Hall was elected to that office pro tem.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Mr. Walter R. Nursey, Inspector of Public Libraries. The writer notes that arrangements have been completed for holding a second session of four weeks of the Ontario Summer Library school. This will open on Monday, May 27th. Exclusive use of the Women students reading room in the Toronto University Library for this meeting. An invitation was extended to some of the local public Library staff to attend.

A number of accounts were recommended to be paid. Mr. Ritchie, chairman of the library committee, reported that, up-to-date, this year about $306 worth of new books had been ordered.

THE CITY SERVED WITH ANTI SEWAGE NOTICE

As foretold in our issue of yesterday, the city has been notified by Messrs. Peck, Kerr & McElderry, acting for the townships of North and South Monaghan and Otonabee, that the city must cease polluting the Otonabee river with the city's sewage.

The Law on the Subject.

The sections of the Public Health under which the townships propose to take action are the following:

SECTION 91—(1)—No garbage, excreta, vegetable or animal matter or filth shall be discharged into or deposited in any of the lakes, rivers, streams or other waters in Ontario or on the shores or the banks thereof.

(2) Residents of a health resort or summer resort shall so dispose of garbage, excreta, etc., as not to create a nuisance or permit of its gaining entrance to or polluting any such lake, river, stream or other water.

SECTION 94—(1)—Whenever the construction of a common sewer or of a system of sewerage or an extension of the same is contemplated by the council of any municipality, the council shall first submit the plans and specifications of the work, together with such other information as may be deemed necessary by the Provincial Board, for its approval.

(2)—The Board shall inquire into and report upon such sewer or system of sewerage, as to whether the same is calculated to meet the requirements of the inhabitants of the municipality; and as to whether such sewer or system of sewerage is likely to prove prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants of the municipality, or of any other municipality, liable to be affected thereby.

(4)—The construction of any common sewer or system of sewerage shall not be proceeded with until reported upon and approved by the Board, and no change in the construction thereof or in the disposal of sewage therefrom shall be made without the previous approval of the Board.

SECTION 95 (1) No by-law shall be passed for raising money for any of the purposes mentioned in Sections 89 and 94 until the proposed water supply or sewerage system as the case may be, has been approved by the Provincial Board of Health and such approval has been certified under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the Board.

(2) The by-law shall recite the approval of the Board.

SECTION 96 (1) Where the Provincial Board of Health reports in writing that it is of the opinion that it is in the interests of the public health, that a waterworks system or a sewer or sewerage system shall be established for any municipality, it shall not be necessary to obtain the assent of the electors to any by law for incurring a debt for either of such purposes.

(2) The by law shall not be finally passed until the approval of the Board has been obtained to the work to be done as hereinbefore provided, and shall recite approval.

A WIFE SLAYER SUICIDES

He Didn't Want to Die in Electric Chair, He Wrote in Farewell!

New York, May 1st.

TO die by his own hand or in the electric chair, was what settled the fate of Albert de Brahms, a restaurant keeper, who killed his wife in jealous anger more than two days ago and apparently made every preparation to dismember the body and ship it away in a trunk. He committed suicide to-day in his apartments.

"I don't want to die in the electric chair, so I take my own life," he wrote, in one of three farewell notes, confessing his crime. The body of his wife was found in a bathtub in the apartments, packed in saw dust and plaster of paris, a bullet hole through the temple and knife wounds in the throat and other parts of the body.

De Brahm's body was found hanging in a closet, with a cord around the neck and a bullet hole in the head.

The crime was discovered when a large trunk the musician had ordered and in which the police believes he intended to ship away his wife's body was delivered at his door. In response to the teamster's knocks, two notes, written in French, were shovel under the door, one addressed to the elevator boy and another to De Brahm's mother, in both of which the musician confessed that he had killed his wife, and announced his intention to pay the penalty by taking his own life. Before the notes could be translated De Brahm's had killed himself.

According to the neighbors, the musician, who was a Russian, was insanely jealous of his wife, a Belgian girl whom he married abroad. They frequently quarelled.

A GRAND CHANCE FOR WESTERN INVESTMENT

Peterborough is fortunate in being able to welcome within her walls one of the bright and hustling young men to whose efforts the rapid growth of Canada's western provinces is due. We refer to Mr. O. G. Dale, of the Walsh Land Co., of Winnipeg, who is at present a guest at the Oriental Hotel. Mr. Hale is one of the breezy western men who have every confidence in the progress of Saskatchewan, Alberta and other western Provinces. To hear him talk is an inspiration, and gives one an ambition to try our fortunes in the newer part of the Dominion. Mr. Hale, who will take up his residence in this city for some time, if not permanently, is representing Tuxedo Park, Saskatoon, Sask. Mr. Hale is assured that Saskatoon, the eight-year-old "Western Wonder Town," has an unparalleled future. Tuxedo Park is the best subdivision of that city's limits. There are still a limited number of lots for sale in Tuxedo Park. Those intending to go west, or seeking a safe and lucrative investment should seriously read the advertisement of Tuxedo Park lots in this issue. For full particulars see Mr. O. G. Hale, Oriental Hotel, Peterborough.

TAKE THAT.

LONDON TAILORS ON STRIKE DUDES GO WITHOUT CLOTHES

Six Thousand Sartorial Employes Impel Society to Go Without Their Usual Up-to-date Fashion Clothes

London, May 2.—The first day of May arrived in a glorious burst of sunshine, which caused a general rush for new spring suits, but the tailors have been seized with the May Day strike fever, and at the present moment it seems unlikely that a single suit or costume will be made for weeks to come. Londoners therefor are faced with the prospect of wearing their winter or last year's garments, however brightly the sun may shine.

Six thousand tailors, men and women, who make clothes for west-end tailoring firms, struck work yesterday to enforce demands framed by the London Society of Tailors and Tailoresses. They left unfinished in the workrooms some 8000 suits and costumes.

The principal firms are in the middle of the spring rush, and the strike came at the worst possible moment for them.

The London Master Tailors Association met yesterday afternoon. The extent to which the trade is affected is indicated by the fact that over 60 firms were represented. The masters unanimously decided to refuse the strikers' demands, and passed resolutions agreeing not to employ any hands who would not accept work under the existing scale of wages.

KING AS UMPIRE IN A BATTLE BETWEEN FLEETS

London, May 2. The King will begin a review of the fleet of 126 vessels off Portland on Tuesday. He will pass three days on board a battleship and act as umpire in a sham battle between the blue and the red fleets, the former defending the coast.

A novel feature of the review will be a demonstration of the utility of aeroplanes in naval war. The battleship Hibernia left Sheerness today with four aeroplanes. She has been fitted with a special launching platform, fixed forward and extending from the foremost gun turret to the bows.

The system consists of two guide rails sloping downward. The aeroplane is mounted on a trolley, which slides down these rails under the force of gravitation, and as the propellor simultaneously drives the machine forward, only a short run is required to enable the aeroplane to rise in the air.

TORONTO GIRL ELOPES AND THEN TAKES DOSE OF POISON

Detroit, May 2.—Miss Anna Hailes aged eighteen, daughter of Arthur Hailes, of 174 Robert street, Toronto, committed suicide last night, and her body lies in the Wayne County Morgue. A. D. Richards, thirty-three years of age, and married, with whom it is alleged the young woman ran away from Toronto last Sunday is locked up at headquarters, as the man in the case. His home is at 580 Dovercourt road, Toronto.

Richards and Miss Hailes, it is said, posing as man and wife, secured rooms at 52 Bagley avenue upon their arrival in Detroit last Sunday. Further than this, little was known of the couple until after the suicide of the girl last night, when Coroner Rothbacher started an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the suicide. He learned that Richards was a partner in a restaurant on College street, near Spadina avenue, Toronto, and that Miss Hailes was one of the employees in the place.

Father Went in Search.

Forty-eight hours after the disappearance of the couple, Wm. Martindale, with whom Richards was interested in real estate matters, located them in this city, and he arrived here yesterday morning from Toronto in company with the girl's father, in an endeavor to induce the girl to return home. When Miss Hailes learned that her parent was in the city, she became despondent, and while Richards was absent from the Bagley avenue house she swallowed a dose of carbolic acid. Her moans attracted attention and the police ambulance was hurriedly summoned, but the unfortunate girl died while on the way to St. Mary's Hospital.

The Man is Distressed.

Richards, when he arrived at the boarding house some time afterwards seemed much distressed at the news, but readily agreed to accompany the officers to the police headquarters, where he was held pending the outcome of the coroner's investigation into the circumstances leading up to the suicide. He will probably be released to-day.

SAVED THE GOVERNMENT BY ACCEPTING HOSTILE MOTION

London, May 2.—According to the Daily Telegraph the Government narrowly escaped defeat in the House of Commons late last night.

To the astonishment of the members, Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George accepted a motion put by the Opposition calling upon the Government to insure the co-operation of the medical profession in the administration of the insurance act. The question which sprang on everybody's lip was, "What was the cause of this extraordinary action?"

The answer was not far to seek. It was to avert defeat. The motion was really a vote of censure on the Ministry, and if it had been carried the Government must inevitably have resigned. The Unionists were present in full strength, whereas the Ministerialists had not answered the call of their whip at all generously.

It was obvious that division, if challenged, would have been a very near thing, and it was quite on the cards that the Government would be beaten.

POST MORTEM RESULT ON LEWIS PORTER

Minden, May 1.—"A post mortem was held Monday and it was found that one bullet went in the right arm on the inside and behind. It tore all the muscles in front of the elbow joint. The bullet then came out of a small 2x2½ hole. Apparently the first shot was from behind and to one side. The next shot entered the right shoulder just below the joint and shattered all the bone passing through the second rib (right side.) It passed through the top of the lung and part of the bullet was found. The rest of the bullet, about three-quarters of it, passed through just in front of the windpipe. It passed through the upper end of the left lung, under the second rib on the left side, and was found below the shoulder joint. A third bullet, and apparently the third one fired, was fired when Porter was laying on the ground. It entered the abdomen two inches below and to the right of the navel, and went right through the bowels, smashing the bones of the pelvis just above the left hip joint. The bullet was found in the hip muscles.

"The man either breathed violently or made some exertion after, as there was some of the contents of the abdomen protruding.

"The body was pulled 200 yards from the road and hid in the bushes behind a small knoll. Porter evidently travelled 45 feet along the road after the first shot was fired, where he fell. At this point there was a quantity of blood.

"It is said that five shots were heard about dusk Thursday evening. The coroner's jury was sworn in Monday and adjourned until Friday evening at 7 o'clock. It may be adjourned again until Monday before evidence is taken. There is apparently no evidence available as yet that points to any one man as committing the rash deed."—Daily Warder.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, uoɔ ʅɐɹnʇɐu ɐ sɐ ˙puɐ sequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision foresaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

With the formal approval by the shareholders of the offer made by the Executive of the Royal Bank and accepted by the Traders Bank directorate, will be consummated one of the greatest banking mergers in the financial annals of Canada. At the same time it affords another striking proof of the advantage, under a branch banking system of large institutions in competition with another bank with fewer ramifications.

In an unostentatious way the British and American Governments have put into operation a scheme for the settlement by arbitration of a large number of pecuniary claims preferred by individual citizens and corporations against both Governments. This is regarded as a striking and important illustration of the applicability of the principle of arbitration to the settlement of international claims of this kind.

THE WIRELESS AND THE GREAT DISASTER.

The testimony brought out by the United States Senate investigation emphasizes the need for international agreements to regulate the control of the wireless telegraph.

After the harrowing message of the sinking of the Titanic and the drowning of her fifteen hundred passengers and crew, the world waited, in a state of terrible suspense, for some brief account of the great tragedy: but though the Carpathia was in touch with the wireless stations and the naval vessels sent out to meet her, all appeals for this information were resolutely refused.

When the vessel landed and explanations were demanded, the excuse made by the captain of the ship was that the operators were compelled to confine themselves to sending messages from the individual survivors to the relatives on shore.

It turns out now, however, that the world was kept in ignorance of the great tragedy in order that the Marconi operators, who in the British service get only $4 to $12 a week and board, might negotiate the sale of the story to the newspapers at fancy figures.

The telegrams intercepted by the naval vessels, who could get not even a courteous response from the Carpathia, further show that these negotpany ashore and that peremptory oriations were originated and conducted by a high officer of the Marconi comders were sent to the wireless operators on the Carpathia to keep their mouths shut, so that first-class bargains might be made for the sale of the news.

It is not surprising, therefore, that, with the Marconi company having absolute control of the situation, the staff correspondent of one of the great New York papers aboard the Carpathia was not able to send the brief narrative which would have relieved the world's agony for news instead of prolonging it for four days.

It is now perfectly clear that one of the results of the Titanic horror will be international legislation requiring all passenger ships to be equipped with modern wireless apparatus and providing for a sufficient number of operators on each ship to keep the communication open at all hours of the day and night.

The testimony developed Friday indicates, however, the necessity for further legislation that will make it impossible for the wireless companies and their operators to corner the news of a great tragedy in which millions of people are interested in order that they may sell it at their pleasure to anybody who will pay the highest price.

The speeches of President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt, coupled with Taft's "private and confidential" letter, on the subject of Reciprocity, clearly show Canadians the narrow escape our glorious and growing Dominion had from being practically a commercial dependency of the United States. It is not fair or reasonable to charge Messrs. Laurier, Patterson, and Gibson with having deliberately attempted to sell Canada's future destiny. They made a mistake and did not understand the deep-seated, subtle craft of the men they were negotiating with. Fortunately level-headed John Canuck did, and is now realizing that he steered the ship of state past a deeper funk and more dangerous berg than any ever seen by sailormen.

As an illustration, by comparison, of the vast improvement in Ontario, as to the control of licensed bars, as compared with the United States, the following news item is taken from a New Orleans paper: "Following his conviction on the charge of selling liquor to a woman, a negress, who several weeks ago accused him of stealing $12 from her stocking while she was asleep in a chair in his saloon at Saratoga and Gravier streets, Judge Chretien of Section B of the Criminal District Court, Friday morning ordered that the license of Frank Stabile, an Italian, be revoked and his place closed. Stabile had been convicted on two previous occasions of violations of the Gay-Shattuck law. Corporal Reed testified that Stabile was a chronic violator of this statute." How long could an Ontario hotelman have kept his license, under conditions as stated above?

How to Identify Italian Laborers.

Here is a hint for Street Commissioner Harry Evans. The town treasurer of Galt is using the surplus dog tags on Italian street workers, for identification purposes. It would seem that the treasurer of that town may be treatened with a weakness of the jaw and the Italian names are too much for his lingual abilities.

Barnardo Home Adjunct Continues.

It was noted in the press of Peterborough a few weeks ago that the premises at 453 Water street, occupied by the Barnardo Home stenographers and bookkeepers would soon be vacated. Advice has been received from Mr. Owen, Canadian Manager for this most commendable institution, that these employees will be kept on at the place mentioned.

They All Come Back.

It is understood that Mr. M. Cameron, a former Peterborough man, but now living in Goderich, will take over the tailoring establishment, conducted by Mr. Ed. Huff. Mr. Cameron's many friends will welcome him back to Peterborough.

TO BE FLOWER SELLER

Duchess of Marlborough to Aid in Charitable Work.

London, May 1.—The Duchess of Marlborough is to appear in the role of a flower seller.

She will establish herself outside of the stock exchange and endeavour to extract the highest possible amount from the pockets of the stock brokers, which will go toward a fund to be collected on Alexandra Day.

Alexandra day comes toward the end of June, and the idea is to devote this day to the collection of money for the many hospitals in which Queen Alexandra is interested.

The duchess with a number of other society women will be equipped with a tray of artificial wild roses which will be sold for any price which the buyer chooses to give. And it is expected that although the flowers are only worth a couple of cents each the duchess and her coworkers will easily wheedle $25 apiece for them out of the stockbrokers.

Garbage Wagons Begin Work.

Wednesday morning the three wagons for the collection of the city's garbage were duly inspected by Sanitary officer Spence, and began their rounds. The wagons looked trim and businesslike. In the rear of each wagon is a large barrel with a covering, for peelings and such refuse. The top of each barrel was about 10 inches above the top of the wagon, and by orders of Dr. McPherson, were cut down in order not to be visible. The work during the first week or two will be somewhat experimental until the demands of the city are fully known.

Reports from the country indicate that the first make of the cheese factories this month will be light.

Kitchener Orders Show For Natives on Visit to El Obeid.

Cairo, May 2.—During Lord Kitchener's visit to El Obeid, when he inaugurated the new railway, a cinematrograph show was given with his approval to the natives. It was the first time any of them had witnessed anything of the kind. The films dealt with all the events which have taken place within the last two months in the Soudan.

The film which reproduced the consecration of Khartoum Cathedral gave rise to a good deal of discussion. They could not understand what the surpliced figures were. Some said they were prisoners; others women. One or two of the natives, more intelligent than the rest, ventured the opinion they might be priests, but they were reproved for their ignorance by one of the sheik, whose version was that they were representatives of the British army.

Germany Launches Another Powerful Modern Battleship.

Danzig, Germany, May 1.—The battleship Koenig Albert, 24,500 tons, to cost $12,000,000, and named for a former king of Saxony, was launched Saturday. The present Saxon king, Frederick August, was present and made a speech, and his sister, Princess Mathilda, christened the vessel.

SWORDS OF SPAIN.

The Blades of Toledo and the Way They Were Tempered.

The swords of Spain have always been celebrated. Numerous authorities might be quoted in testimony of their unsurpassed excellence, even as long ago as the time of Cicero, who makes honorable mention of the little Spanish sword.

It is probable that the manufacture of swords continued at Toledo until the epoch of the Gothic kings, and it is certain that it was in full away in the ninth century. These swords served beyond doubt as a pattern for the weapons used by the Moors of Spain in the middle ages, still to be seen represented in the pictures at the Alhambra.

The making of swords was not formerly confined to one establishment. The espaderos, or sword-makers, worked at their own homes alone or with a certain number of apprentices. Like all craftsmen, they were bound together in guilds

Many of the kings of Castile accorded to the finest swordmakers of Toledo certain privileges, such as exemption from certain imposts and duties appertaining to the sale of swords, the purchase of iron and steel and other primary material.

The steel used by the espaderos of Madrid was obtained in an iron mine situated about three miles from Mandragon, in the Basque provinces.

According to Palomeus, a Toledo swordmaker of the eighteenth century, it is an error to suppose that the Toledans preserved particular secrets for the tempering of their arms. They were compelled to use the water of the Tagus, as well as the fine white sand that the river contains in its bed. This sand served for the operation of what they termed refrescar la calda, or cooling, for when the metal became red and commenced to throw off sparks the espaderos instantly sprinkled it with sand.

The blade having become cherry red, they plunged the point into a wooden reservoir full of the water of the Tagus and, having once cooled it, they straightened it as much as was desirable.

They then subjected such of the blades as had not hitherto been exposed to the fire, and when it began to redden they took it by the tongue with red hot pincers and plunged it into sheep suet until it cooled, an operation that imparted temper to it.

One famous Toledan swordmaker of whom mention is made was Julian, surnamed El Moro, or the Moor, by reason of his coming from Granada, where he worked until toward the end of the fifteenth century for King Boabdil.

Woman's Aim.

A gentleman who witnessed a scrimmage with Suffragists outside the British Houses of Parliament vouches for the truth of the following story:

A woman carrying ten stones in a bag took up her stand in front of a window.

She threw one stone, she threw two stones, she threw three stones,
And didn't hit the window.
She threw four stones, she threw five stones, she threw six stones,
And the window still was whole.
She threw seven stones, she threw eight stones, she threw nine stones,
And then a man laughed.
She threw the tenth stone at the man,
And broke the window.

She Was a Boy.

Dorothy was the sister and Freddie was the brother, but the order should have been reversed to have satisfied the characters of the two children, for Dorothy was a scream, while Freddie was only a whisper.

"Gracious, Dorothy!" exclaimed a visitor after one of her audacious athletic stunts. "You ought to be a boy!"

"I am a boy," she replied proudly, "a regular tomboy' Mamma says so."

"But Freddie is the boy of the family."

"Well," she sniffed in scorn, "if he is he's only a pussy boy."

Siberia.

Great light has been thrown upon Siberia in recent years. A generation ago the vast region was understood to be practically barren, a sort of adjunct of the north pole, which would never be of any particular use to the human race apart from furnishing furs. To-day it is known that Siberia is rich in everything that goes to make for civilization—healthful air, rich fields, mountains full of the precious metals—in a word, all that is required to make a great state. The future of Siberia is full of richest promise.

Opposition.

The effects of opposition are wonderful. There are men who rise refreshed on hearing of a threat—men to whom a crisis which intimidates and paralyzes the majority—demanding, not the faculties of prudence and thrift, but comprehension, immovableness, the readiness of sacrifice—comes graceful and beloved as a bride.—Emerson.

An Architectural Point.

"Now," said the architect, "we come to the plans for your chicken coop, Mrs. De Noo. I supposed you want the nests arranged in tiers."

"Why, really," said Mrs. De Noo, "I never thought much about that, but I should think for eggs they ought to come in layers, oughtn't they?"

They Rue Their Haste.

A War Game Maybe.

A returned explorer was giving a parlor lecture.

"What is the gentleman talking about?" demanded a languid lady.

"Progressive Peru."

"And how do you play it?"

English Immigrants Keep Coming.

A number of immigrants from England arrived in the city Wednesday morning, and were quickly handled by Mr. Howson, Local Immigration Officer. They were sent to Norwood and South Monaghan. Mr. Howson was in receipt of a communication yesterday from Mr. C. Branch, secretary of an employment Committee of the Borough of East Ham, London, Eng., acting on the advice of Mr. Obed Smith, Superintendent of Emigration for Great Britain. The latter has written Mr. Howson relative to the prospect of securing employment, as farm labourers, for ten families. The ages of the heads of these families range from 41 to 22 years.

BUYING A FOUNTAIN.

The Water Had to Be Considered and Then the Pipe Also.

"There are some features of the South American trade that have changed very much in recent years," said a man who used to be in that line. "For instance, when a man in one of the Latin republics wants anything nowadays he not only knows just what he wants, but he has a fair idea as to just what he should pay for it. In the good old days it was not so.

"I recall, for instance, the time when the dictator of one of the South American republics was making improvements out on the country place he owned in one of the interior provinces. It was some distance from his capital, and I doubt whether he ever went back to the place more than once a year, and then only long enough to sleep there. Anyhow, he had decided to make a show place out of it. With that in view, he instructed his agent here to order for him one of the finest little fountains on the market. The agent came to me, and I took him around to a manufacturer of such things, and we went carefully over the stock. He chose one that was decorated with angels and such things, and the price was $250.

"'You may make out a bill for $500,' said the agent to me, and I, conversant with methods that obtained in his country, did as directed. Then a thought struck me.

"'What about water?' I suggested.

"'Water?' repeated the agent. 'I never thought of that.'

"'Of course they will need water for the fountain. How will they get it?'

"The agent said he did not know.

"'They will require water for the fountain,' I persisted. 'How far away from the general's place is the nearest water supply available?'

"The agent thought it over. Finally he said, 'I really don't believe there is any water nearer than seven miles.'

"'Then,' I suggested, 'you will need pipe.'

"'Yes,' he responded, 'we shall need pipe.'

"'Seven miles of pipe,' I continued.

"'Exactly,' he continued — 'seven miles.'

"'Any steamers running anywhere near the general's place?'

"'No.'

"'Or railroads?'

"'No.'

"'Then we shall have to saw the pipe into lengths that can be carried on muleback.'

"'Assuredly,' he said.

"And we did cut the whole seven miles of iron pipe into six foot lengths, and it made almost enough to fill a ship. The bill for the pipe was made out in the same way as that for the fountain, and the whole lot was shipped and the bill promptly paid. As a revolution broke out in that country soon afterward, I am inclined to think that that magnificent fountain and the seven miles of pipe that accompanied it are making junk to-day on the estate of the former dictator. But you can see that the agent used to get 'his'n' good and proper."

A Thoughtful Sentry.

When the sergeant of the guard came round on his visits the green sentry was nowhere to be seen. The sergeant was about to depart to make inquiries when there came a rustling noise from a heap of straw, and the sentry stood before him minus his boots and looking very sleepy. "Hello!" cried the sergeant. "Where were you when I came round just now?" "Marching round," was the sentry's reply, giving in tones of conscious virtue. "Marching round, were you? Why, you've got your boots off." "Yes, sergeant, I took 'em off so's I should not wake the 'osses."

Parnell and Thirteen.

Parnell was a believer in the thirteen superstition. There is a familiar story of his positively refusing during an election campaign with Tim Healy to occupy a bedroom numbered 13. While in Kilmainham there was submitted to him by his colleague the draft of a bill amending the Irish land act. On discovering that the clauses counted up to thirteen he threw down the manuscript with a gesture of terror and refused to have anything to do with it.

Modern Beauty.

A young man the other day said to his best girl:

"I visited that fashionable palmist this afternoon, and he told me I'd marry a blond."

The girl, who was very dark, said thoughtfully:

"Did he say when the marriage would take place?"

"Yes; in three months."

"Well, I can easily be a blond by that time, dear," said the girl with a shy smile.

Fish Surgery.

Although the fish doctor probably finds less demand for his services than the practitioner of any other branch of the medical profession, his duties are of a most important character, and his knowledge of the diseases and biology of the fish must be profound. Fish surgery is one of the least known of the various departments of surgical work. It requires a most delicate handling of instruments and a minute knowledge of the anatomy of the fish.

Two of a Kind.

"How did you ever come to marry, old man? Thought you'd determined to stay single?"

"I had, but I was introduced one day to a girl who had determined never to marry, and our thoughts seemed to harmonize so completely that—well, we married each other."

So Much For Mamma.

Papa—I hear you were a bad girl to-day and had to be whipped.

Small Daughter—Mamma is awful strict. If I'd 'a' known she used to be a schoolteacher I'd 'a' told you not to marry her.

St. George's Society Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the local St. George's Society, held in Coleman's restaurant, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mr. Chas. E. Coleman.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. W. Worth.
Secretary—Mr. B. Reid.
Asst.-Sec'y—Mr. F. Dainton.
Musical Conductor—Mr. R. J. Devey.
Treas.—Mr. L. S. Edney.

Mrs. Wells and Mr. Beauliffe were commissioned to form a committee. It was decided that practice for "The Messiah," which will be produced some time in the fall, should commence at once.

A TACTFUL VOTER.

How He Decided Upon His Ballot in an Alsatian Election.

The simple people of Alsace, who retain in their hearts a strong love for France at the same time that they are desirous not to offend their German rulers too much, frequently have a hard time of it when they go to the ballot to vote for representatives in the German parliament.

In one election in a certain Alsatian district the two candidates were Kable, an Alsatian of French sympathies, who had protested against the annexation after the war of 1870, and a German. On election day a peasant went to the polling place, which was presided over by a German official. The peasant had in one hand a ticket on which was printed the name of Kable and in the other a ticket bearing the name of the German candidate.

"Mein herr," he said to the German election official, "will you tell me which of these tickets is the better one?"

The officer looked at him. "Why, this is much preferable," said he, indicating the German's ticket.

"Ah, I thank you," answered the peasant. "I will keep it next my heart." He folded it carefully and put it inside his coat. "As for this other, then," said he, with an air of putting it away from him as an unworthy thing, "I will leave it here." And he put the Kable ticket in the ballot box.—New York Press.

ASTONISH THE SHARKS.

Aitutaki Islanders Pull Them Up by the Tail With Ropes.

The island of Aitutaki, one of the Hervey group, in the Pacific, is surrounded by islets underneath which are submarine caverns, the homes of sharks. These sharks, which are about six feet long, are esteemed a delicacy, and the natives catch them with nooses.

Arrived over the entrance to the shark cave, the fisherman leaves his canoe to the care of his companions and dives to the bottom, carrying with him a strong cord tied into a slip knot. He expects to find two or three sharks at home well satisfied and drowsy after feeding in the lagoon, with their tails toward the entrance. Selecting the largest, the diver adroitly adjusts a noose over the tail, taking care that it hangs loosely. If he has another noose he secures a second shark.

The shark catcher now, with one bound on the white, sandy bottom, rises to the surface in order to assist his friends in hauling up the fish. The astonished shark suddenly finds itself ascending tail first to the surface, when a smart blow from an ax between the eyes or on the tail ends its career.—Exchange.

A Gruesome Pun.

A foreigner who was at work shoveling ore in the bottom of a vessel which lay in the port of a city in northern Ohio jumped upon the bucket to ride out of the hold. The increased burden broke the hook by which the bucket was attached to the lifting cable. Man and bucket fell back into the hold, and the man received injuries from which he died. An administrator was appointed, who sued the hoisting company for damages. The lawyer employed for the plaintiff was in conversation one day with a friend, who remarked:

"I should think that the company, after an accident like that, would lose no time in installing stronger hoisting apparatus. It ought to be sufficient warning."

"Sufficient!" exclaimed the lawyer. "Why, man, that was only a drop in the bucket."—Philadelphia North American.

History on Coins.

The knowledge of coins and medals through the inscriptions and devices thereon is to an extent a history of the world from the date in which metals were applied to such uses, says the New Era. Events engraved upon these remain hidden in tombs or buried in the bosom of the earth, deposited there in ages long past by careful and miserly hands, only awaiting the research of the patient investigator to tell the story of their origin. Numismatic treasures are scanned as evidence of facts to substantiate statements on papyrus or stone, and dates are often supplied to define the border line between asserted tradition and positive history. Gibbon remarks, "If there were no other record of Hadrian his career would be found written upon the coins of his reign."

Waste Paper In Paris.

Paris police give strict attention to the act against throwing waste papers and refuse upon the streets. An absent-minded old gentleman carelessly dropped a hundred franc note from his waistcoat pocket, whereupon a sharp eyed policeman requested the old gentleman to give his name and address or submit to arrest. But when the offender reached into the gutter and picked up the waste paper and opened it before the policeman's eyes he was let off with an apology and a profound bow.

Sentiment.

"What is life without sentiment!" exclaimed the romantic person.

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "but it doesn't always promote a square deal. Sentiment is what enables a girl to trade a lock of her hair for a $400 engagement ring."—Washington Star.

Rather Rough.

Mrs. Benham—Why do they give him such an awful name as "Bristles?"

Benham—Because he is always "on the hog."—New York Press.

No great good comes without looking after it.—Danish.

Lindsay Brigade in Hard Luck.

The members of the Lindsay Fire Brigade are going round with an appeal for funds to purchase uniforms and are meeting with a generous response from the citizens. In other towns the council purchase the uniforms for the fire fighters, but the local brigade has not been so fortunate. What is the matter with that usually bright and business-like little town? Could any Peterborough citizen imagine Chief Howard with a tambourine or hat in hand going around to collect money for three pair of trousers, or a half dozen blue cotton shirts for the local brigade.

CATCHING THE NOVICE

BRITISH COMMONS IS FULL OF QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Pitfalls and Embarrassments Await the New Member Who Is Learning the Rules—When to Wear and When to Doff One's Hat Is a Study In Itself—King's Assent Given In Norman French—The Sacred Bar.

Centuries come and centuries go, but the British Parliament remains as youthful and virile as in the faraway days when Abbott and Prior answered the summons to Westminster to help in the making of our laws; and it still observes forms and ceremonies which had their birth when Knights of the Shire rode, with escort of squire and page, to join in its deliberations.

The very language it uses recalls the time when Norman-French was the tongue of Court and Castle. To-day the King's Assent, which transforms a Parliamentary Bill into a law of the land, is announced in words familiar to our earliest Edwards, "Le Roy le veult"; and "Soit fait comme il est desiré"; and, if by any chance the King should think fit to refuse his assent, the fact would be delicately disclosed in the words "Le Roy s-avisera" "The King will consider it.")

If you should chance to be in the Palace of Westminster when the Commons rise after their day's labors, your ears would be assailed with the quaint cry, "Who goes home?" shouted in stentorian tones in lobbies and corridors, just as in past centuries, when the roads leading to Westminster were the haunts of footpads and cut-throats, it was the rallying cry which brought together members whose journey home lay in the same direction, so that they might walk together for mutual safety.

Guy Fawkes has been dust for three centuries, but still, on the first day of a new session, the vaults beneath the Parliament House are explored in every corner by men carrying unlighted lanterns, in broad daylight, to make sure that no powder barrels are there to elevate our legislators to "another place."

The Speaker, too, advances to his chair with low obeisance exactly as his predecessors of centuries ago made reverent bows to the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel, in front of which for three hundreds years the Commons chair stood.

And these are but few of the many customs and traditions of Parliament which have defied time through the ages, and which will probably be observed as carefully a thousand years hence as to-day.

A quaint place, truly, is our Imperial Parliament with its time-crusted rules and regulations which carry the mind back through the centuries; rules, many of which have never been reduced to words, but are none the less binding on that account. No wonder the legislative novice is driven to his wits' end by the perplexities of his new environment, or that he is reduced to despair by shouts of "Order! order!" for the breaking of rules of which he is as ignorant as a new-born infant.

"How can I learn the rules of the House?" a desperate new member once asked Parnell. "Only by breaking them," was the answer. And it is, indeed, only by this painful process that a member can learn his way through the mazes of Parliamentary etiquette. Even such an "old hand" as Mr. Gladstone was called to order more than once during the last year of his life at Westminster; and Mr. W. H. Smith, when leader of the House, actually incurred penalties of $7,500 by breaking the rule that a member, appointed to an office of profit under the crown, must not enter, much less speak, in the House without first being re-elected by his constituents.

There is probably no Chamber in England which has quite the same sacred, exclusive character as that in which the Commons hold their deliberations. Across the entrance to it runs a brass-rod, known as the "bar," raised about half an inch above the level of the floor, and over this line no foot must pass while the House is sitting, unless it be that of a member or one of a small number of officials.

Even a messenger, with a letter or telegram to deliver, may not put foot across this "rubicon." He must hand his missive to some M.P. within reach, and thus it passes from hand to hand to its destination.

It is, too, a grave breach of decorum for any legislator to pass between the Speaker and a member addressing the House. The imaginary line that links Speaker and orator is almost as sacred as the "bar" itself; and if a member, anxious to reach his seat, cannot approach it by a roundabout way, he must either wait until the speech is ended, or, at the expense of his dignity, he must, with bent body and nimble step, cross the sacred "line" with a rush.

There is no rule of Parliament so puzzling to the neophyte as that of the hat. When he enters or leaves the Chamber he must have an uncovered head, though he may sit with hat on head as long as he will. When he addresses the House he is equally uncovered, unless he has occasion to speak while the bells are ringing for a division. At such a time, if he wishes to address the chair on a point of order, he must do so seated, and with his hat on.

It is a serious misdemeanor for one member to address or to refer to another by name during debate, except when the House is in Committee, when it is proper to address the chairman as "Mr ——," and no doubt the punctilious courtesy which prescribes such forms of address as "The right honorable" or "Honorable gentleman the member for ——"; adds to the dignity of the greatest legislative assembly in the world.

The Speaker has been addressed by nervous orators by a wide range of appellatives, from "Mr. Mayor" to "your reverence," but the only proper forms are "Mr. Speaker" and "Sir."

Arranging For the Glorious 12th.

The Orangemen of this city and county are considering the matter of a monster celebration, to be held here on Friday, July 12th. It is hoped that thousands of outside visitors will be present to take in the festivities. We understand that the City Council and the public in general will be asked to contribute towards ensuring the expenses. Should such a guarantee be raised, the committee will endeavor to make arrangements with the railroads to issue cheap rate tickets good until Monday, July 15th. This would mean a great amount of money spent in the city. Should the application made by the committee be refused, it will mean the dropping of the project.

Are You Dyspeptic ?

THEN WAKE UP TO THE FACT TO-DAY THAT YOUR TROUBLE IS CURABLE.

Thinness, tiredness, poor color, loss of appetite, and despondency indicate Dyspepsia and Stomach Disorders.

You don't require a harsh, griping medicine. Best results come from Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, which contain soothing, stimulating vegetable ingredients that so strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles as to enable them to again act as nature intended. When this is accomplished all trace of stomach misery and dyspepsia disappears.

You will find Dr. Hamilton's Pill a scientific cure for all forms of stomach distress, headache, biliousness, bad color, liver complaint and constipation.

Not half way measures, but lasting cure for these conditions follow the use of DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS. Refuse a substitute. All dealers sell Dr Hamilton's Pills 25c per box, or from the Catarrhozone Co., of Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

FRIDAY, MAY 3rd, 1912.

WHAT AMERICA WANTS.

The reciprocity press has pretty generally assumed the "Pooh Pooh!" attitude toward President Taft's tactful remark about his intention to "make Canada only an adjunct of the United States." That—they tell us—may have been Taft's opinion; but it was not, and is not, theirs. And they lean back complacently as if that settled the matter.

Now we very profoundly reverence the opinion of the reciprocity press—on some subjects—but we are compelled to confess that when it comes to an opinion as to the intentions of the present American Government we imagine that President Taft is in a better position to know the truth than are his best friends in the editorial sanctums of Canada. He has "inside information." If he does not know the mind of the Executive of the United States, who does?

Now he might not take the whole world into his confidence as to what is in his mind. He might even dissemble when talking to gullible Canadian editors whose support of his pet project he so dearly desired. He would not be apt to tell them that he looked upon his little Reciprocity scheme as a plan for making Canada "only an adjunct to the United States," even if that were they way he looked upon it. He could not assume—and we do not assume—that they were at heart traitors. His success with them depended upon his fooling them into the belief that he—a Protectionist President—had suddenly developed a passion for "free trade" and that all he had in mind was to benefit both people by getting them to "swap jack knives" a little oftener. But, in his "confidential" moments he could lay aside the mask and confess to himself what he really had in mind.

PRAYER IN SONG.

Hamilton Herald says: "We are sorry that the Rev. Father Minehan, of Toronto, a Roman Catholic priest, who is an eloquent advocate of more than one good cause, has seen fit to speak contemptuously of the musicians on the Titanic, who kept on playing amid the excitement and terror around them, projecting the devotional strains of "Nearer, my God, to Thee" into the confusion. It seems to us that to these musicians is due the same tribute of praise and admiration which has been paid to the men who worked to get the women and children into the boats. They too were heroes. Nor is it fair to speak lightly of that service. Even if it had been of no value, still it was well meant. But who can say it did no good? Father Minehan ridicules it because, he says, it tended to quiet the nerves of the terror-stricken, producing, as he says, a sort of anæsthesia, whereas it would have been far better if the doomed passengers had been encouraged to look death in the face calmly and confidently, with the prayers on their lips. For the purpose of contrast he instances the case of the two devoted priests on the steamer Burgoyne, who gathered the passengers round them, gave them absolution, and went down praying with them.

"It seems to us that this sort of criticism is unkind as well as unreasonable. Anything which helps to hearten doomed fellow-creatures and makes death easier for them is surely worth while. With as much justice as he criticizes the efforts of the musicians, Father Minehan might find fault with Captain Smith's cheering admonition to the seamen, "Be British, my men." It might not have been as good as a prayer, but who will care to blame the captain for using those words?

Besides, it might well be asked whether the music of "Nearer, my God to Thee" might not have served as a prayer for many who heard it on that awful night. The words of the hymn are in the nature of prayer and the music must have suggested the words to many who were familiar with them. It seems to us strange that any kind heart should grudge those souls in agony such comfort as could come to them in that appaling hour."

THE REICHSTAG AND THE DUEL.

Times have changed in Germany. On Wednesday the German minister of war was hissed out of the Reichstag for an aggressive defence of duelling, and the vice-president sped his departure with the remark that it ought to serve him a good lesson. This is fruit of the seed sown twenty years ago by Sudermann, whose skilfull satire showed the folly and ridiculous contradictions of the so-called code of honor. The seed he planted with his play "Die Ehre" has taken root, and the German public has at last outgrown its passive respect for the dictum that a duel must follow an insult.

On most subjects Emperor William has advanced ideas, but in duelling he leads the reactionaries. This is due to his training as an army officer. Every German who wears shoulder straps has drilled into him the respect for the code of honor. He is made to feel that this is one of the important things separating them from ordinary mortals. The vaunted "Duell Faehigkeit" (eligibility to receive or give a challenge) which he possesses in common with the corps students of the universities and a few public officials of high rank contributes much to a peculiar social distinction. "Duell Faehigkeit" is a privilege peculiar to the gentleman, and one of the few of which he has not yet been deprived by the spread of democratic ideals.

The Kaiser recently expressed the opinion that a man who refuses to fight a duel is not fit to hold a commission in the German army. That he refrains because of religious convictions is no mitigation. It is this view which was so bluntly and tactlessly presented in the Reichstag by Excellenz Von Herrington, the minister of war, as to provoke hisses not only from the Radical left, which is always ready to cry down an Imperial minister, but also from the Catholic centre, which has been the mainstay of the administration. For the Kaiser to hold this view and express it in private is one thing, but to have his representative fling it defiantly at a group of popular representatives is quite another. The Kaiser holds many views his people do not share. That is his imperial privilege. But the German people have come to resent in growing measure his giving such views public utterance by word of mouth or through his personal representatives.

A load of criticism is bound to follow Wednesday's incident. The retirement of the present minister of war is not an improbable consequence. In Germany the department head is often made the scape goat for imperial error. The minister of war, in particular, is a frequent victim of public wrath. The Kaiser appoints him because he is a good soldier, and then dismisses him if he proves a poor political leader. In any case the current discussion will serve the excellent purpose of hastening the day when the outworn duelling system, one of the last relics of feudalism, will finally disappear.

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1657, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

An Isolated Colony.

The nearest neighbor of New Zealand is Australia, which is twelve hundred miles distant.

Subduer of Delhi.

One of the few survivors of the siege of Delhi, in the person of Gen. Sir Alexander Taylor, has passed away in England, at the age of eighty-seven.

He went to India in 1844 as a subaltern in the Bengal Engineers, took part in the two Sikh wars, and was the moving force of the engineering operations against Delhi during the Mutiny of 1857.

Night after night, while the batteries were building before Delhi, Taylor, who was second in command of the Engineers under Baird, studied the ground and perfected the final plans for the assault. He virtually directed the whole of the operations in the field, and Nicholson, hearing on his deathbed that the credit was being bestowed elsewhere, is said to have exclaimed, "If I get through this I shall let the world know it was Alex. Taylor who took Delhi."

Lord Lawrence, who knew more than anyone of the inner history of the camp, wrote in 1858 to Lord Dalhousie: "To Nicholson, Alex Taylor of the Engineers, and Neville Chamberlain the real merit of our success is due."

During the street fighting which followed the assault, Taylor showed extraordinary resource, and when our troops began to display signs of demoralization it was he who suggested that the Engineers should break internal passages from house to house. The plan succeeded, and two days later Delhi was in the hands of the British.

Hostesses Aroused.

The advent of the "Turkey Trot" dance in London has sounded the death-knell of ballroom hooliganism, for hostesses are declaring war on freak dances. For several months they have been watching the growth of the new style of dancing with suspicious eyes. First the sinuous sway of the Boston supplanted the sober pleasures of the time-honored waltz, and then came the kangaroo-like measures of the Argentine Tango and Dandy Dance, which turned the ballrooms into veritable bear gardens.

Hostesses suffered all these innovations in silence, but now the "Turkey Trot" has made its appearance there has been a general revolt, and they have declared that tangoes and trots alike shall be forbidden for the future

Oranges Once a Prohibited Fruit.

Oranges were for some years a prohibited fruit in Holland. When the Batavian republic was established the badge and color of the stadtholder's family became so hateful to the popular party that, not satisfied with expelling their prince, they passed a law forbidding the sale of oranges and carrots and ordering all persons who grew lilies or marigolds in their gardens to pluck up the plants and destroy them. This prohibition remained in force until 1806, when Napoleon made his brother Louis king of Holland.

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior tender chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year [illegible] caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

THE COAL MINER.

The Autocrat of the Colliery Knows His Own Mind.

He is a big, burly man with stern eyes and a firm chin. He can knock out the cleverest boxer in the district. He does not talk much, and what he says is always to the point.

He has worked many men of different colors and creeds in different parts of the world, from the low-caste coolie of the Indian colliery to the dour Scotch miner and the excitable Welshman, and he knows how to rule them.

He has a keen appreciation for the skilled miner, but does not hesitate to tell you that he is glad wherever possible to use the mechanical coal cutter in his place.

"The coal cutter," he says, "does not talk!"

He is the head manager at the colliery, and with him is the last word in all the thousand-and-one problems which arise from time to time in the practical working of the pit. He works harder than any other man in Colliery Row.

If he is not underground inspecting some portion of the workings he is in his office at the pit-head busy with plans for future development. His staff of assistant-managers is large and competent, but he has constantly to receive from them their reports.

The outsider, seeing his life, wonders when he finds time to feed and sleep.

If he leaves Colliery Row, even for a week-end, he must go somewhere where he can be reached by telephone if necessary by his head assistant.

His business in life is to get as many tons of coal as is possible out of the pit every day, and to keep the pit working, and it involves, amongst other heavy responsibilities, that of the safety as well as that of the management of hundreds of men and boys.

If disaster comes and men are entombed in the pit, it is he who heads the rescue party and directs their operations underground. In such circumstances he has been known to work for an incredible number of hours in his skull cap and pit "duds," hardly stopping for food and rarely coming to bank.

The Sixth Sense.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences M. Kuns discussed the phenomenon of "feeling at a distance," to which the power of blind people to avoid nearby obstacles is ascribed. M. Kuns believes that such a power exists and that it is not peculiar to the blind. It seems to be shared by others who possess a peculiar constitution. The faculty appears to reside in the skin, for experiments show that it is not connected with the sense of hearing. As to its nature, little knowledge has been obtained. There is a tendency to ascribe obscure phenomena of this kind to electrical action, but the mode of operation remains unknown.

A Baltic-Black Sea Canal.

It is stated that the old project for uniting the Baltic with the Black sea is at last to be put into operation. By utilizing the rivers Dwina and Dnieper a navigable waterway 1,000 miles long can be constructed without any great engineering problems, extending from the port of Riga on the Baltic to Kherson on the Black sea. The cost is estimated at about $[illegible], but the benefit to Prussian commerce and industries will be immense.—American Surveyors' Gazette.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Grist of Interesting News from the Northern Townships—Bad Roads.

J. G. Hardill and C. Sherwood, representing Peterborough Companies, arrived on their regular trips last evening and report roads very bad. Coming from Buckhorn to Burleigh Falls they had a little experience with trees across the road. One a large maple, held them up for an hour or two. One of the party had to walk back about a mile to borrow a crosscut saw. Ernie and Mr. Sherwood composed the sawing gang, while J. E. acted as foreman. Fortunately a farmer came along with an axe, and with his assistance got the road clear. But worse was to follow when they reached the Burleigh road and found three feet of water flowing over the road before reaching the Burleigh Hotel. Ernie says they had to roost on the back of the seats, and sometimes the water came into the carriage. But it's a pretty stiff proposition when Ernie can't get through. The new dam (they spelled it with an "n") at Burleigh, is the cause of the trouble. There are some dangerous washouts.

It looks as if we were not only to do without a railroad, but must be cut off from all communication with the front. However, we still have Coe Hill and Belleville to fall back on. There is a lot of freight at Lakefield for the Apsley merchants. Under the present condition of the roads it will be some time before it can be hauled up. The mail carrier phoned Reeve Tucker, who went down and reports that it will cost at least $1000 to repair the damages, which no doubt the Government will have to pay. And there will likely be damages of no inconsiderable amount to pay for the property submerged at Jack's Lake. Now it is not the spring freshets that is the cause, as the waters back here are not within two feet of being as high as in former years.

The post office inspector got around to our village last Wednesday, the 24th, and transferred the post office. He spoke very highly of the manner in which Mr. Brown had conducted the business during his term of office. There never had been a complaint.

The river drivers are in evidence now along the 12 miles of river from Eels Lake to Apsley.

Mr. A. Windsor gave the young people a good time Friday night. Singing, dancing and music. They kept it up till near morning. Supper was served at 12. They all report having a good time.

Messrs. Bruce Coones and James Downing go to Lakefield this week to try and bring up the engine for their portable saw mill, but may have trouble on account of the roads. Everything is ready for the engine and if it were here could commence cutting at once.

Mr. Thos. J. Wilson, of Chandos, met with a painful accident last week while drawing stone on his farm. He had hitched on to a large one, and when the team started it up his foot slipped into the hole behind it, and it slid back, pinning his foot under it. He managed to get it raised a little when the chain slipped off and caught him again. The team was then out of reach and no assistance being near he had simply to dig the earth from under his foot the best way he could. Fortunately no bones were broken.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tenders for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13th, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—

Goderich, Napanee, Picton, Telegraph, and Nigger Islands.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1,000. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 27, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

Coined In Bedlam.

The phrase "to sham Abraham" was coined in Bedlam, or Bethlehem hospital, where there was at one time an Abraham ward, the inmates of which upon certain days were permitted to go out as licensed beggars on behalf of the hospital. These mendicant lunatics were known as "Abraham men," and their success in invoking the pity of the charitable was such that they had many unlicensed imitators, who, when discovered, were said "to have shammed Abraham."

Distance.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated."

"Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map get so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Earliest Germ of Vitality.

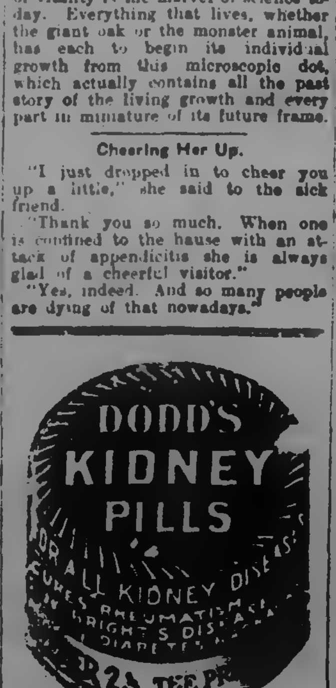
The microscopic dot or earliest germ of vitality is the marvel of science today. Everything that lives, whether the giant oak or the monster animal, has each to begin its individual growth from this microscopic dot, which actually contains all the past story of the living growth and every part in miniature of its future frame.

Cheering Her Up.

"I just dropped in to cheer you up a little," she said to the sick friend.

"Thank you so much. When one is confined to the house with an attack of appendicitis she is always glad of a cheerful visitor."

"Yes, indeed. And so many people are dying of that nowadays."



LORDS OF THE MANOR.

They Were Once All-Powerful in England.

Rural England is studded liberally with manor houses. Almost every village owns one, either a genuine antique, or a more or less modern imitation. Better still, many villages possess a real, live lord or lady of the manor.

Lords of the manor have been ruthlessly shorn by the march of our social system, but some of their former glory still remains. Little more than a dozen miles from Charing Cross one rural ruler holds his court last to this very day—a gathering of his tenants, at which rents are paid and business of the estate discussed.

The history of the manor is to a great extent that of England. Centuries ago, it was divided up among the victorious generals of conquering armies. They themselves sub-divided it among their soldiers. Under this systems the serfs followed petty lords, guaranteeing military service for the use of the land; the lords were responsible to the earls and the earls to the King. The petty chiefs were the lords of the manor.

In the days of William the Conqueror there were no fewer than 1,43[illegible] manors in England, and, as Byron puts it in "Don Juan" "Eight and forty manors were their reward for following Billy's banners." No fresh manors were created after the year 1290, however, except in rare instances, such as when the nation presented a victorious general with an estate. This happened in the case of the Duke of Wellington, and to this day a condition of the Manor of Strathfieldsaye is that its owner offers the King a flag once a year

Curious and often whimsical were the terms under which the majority of lords of the manor held their rights. For example, one manorial monarch undertook that whenever the King should cross a certain bridge he would meet him there with two white capons, and address him thus: "Behold, my lord, these two white capons, which you shall have another time, but not now."

Another lord was bound to appear before the King every Christmas Day, and in his presence to dance a jig and puff out his cheeks. Yet another had to present His Majesty annually with a lance, from which a fox's tail depended. Indeed, weapons were very popular as tokens of the Sovereign's rights, and swords, spurs and warlike accoutrements were frequently chosen.

The tenants of the majority of manors are copyholders; that is to say, they hold the land for life from the lord of the manor. When they die, or transfer the land, a heriot must be paid. This is in the nature of a fine, usually consisting of the best "quick-beast" — horse or cow — but sometimes commuted to a sum of money.

Considerably under a hundred years ago copyholders of land possessed no vote. The lord of the manor, princely in his petty powers, ruled all within his leet. The leet kept the stocks in repair, and provided the pillory and tumbrell—the latter a ducking stool, by means of which misdemeanants were immersed; women in clean water; brewers and bakers in the filthiest liquid that could be found.

The Manor of Pewsey, in Wiltshire, was conveyanced by means of a horn that had to be blown at the accession of a new lord, and every year the City of London pays certain horseshoes and nails as rent for a piece of land in the parish of St. Clement Dane.

Nowadays, lords of the manor are a dying class. It requires two copyholders at least to form a manor, and many modern "serfs" have their land made freehold by buying out the overlord.

Ostrich Chases M.P.

While sightseeing outside Ladysmith, during his tour in South Africa, Sir Joseph Walton, M.P. for Barnsley, Eng., had an exciting adventure. He noticed that he was being pursued by a cock ostrich. This, it appears, was the same bird which had previously knocked down two officers, who were compelled to lie down on their faces while the bird stood or jumped on them.

"Knowing that my only chance of escape," says Sir Joseph, "was to lie down flat on my face, or get on an elevation, I made quickly for the laager (thrown up during the siege), and mounted the wall. I went round the walls of the laager, hoping to shake him off, but he followed steadily yard by yard, awaiting his opportunity.

"At last I signalled to my carriage, and when it was between me and the ostrich I leaped off the laager and bolted into the carriage. We drove off, followed a long way by the bird."

Women on the English Stage.

Pepys went to the Clare Market Theatre on Jan. 3, 1661, say "The Beggar's Bush" well performed and records "the first time that I ever saw women come upon the stage." Previously all female parts had been taken by boys or young men. The change was probably suggested by Charles II. from his continental experience and arose from an amusing episode. The King had gone to the theatre "before his time," and, finding the actors not ready, asked for an explanation, whereupon he was gravely informed that the queen has not shaved yet!" As the merry monarch loved to laugh at a jest as well as to make one, the excuse was accepted and a reform initiated.—Westminster Gazette.

Dickens Spared Not His Pen.

With so many demands upon his pen one would expect to find Dickens availing himself of all possible brevities in his correspondence at least. But a glance through his letters shows that he scorned all such opportunities and preferred to spell everything out. The date of the months, for example, are given in words instead of figures. "Monday, sixteenth January"; Tuesday, seventh March"; "Wednesday, twelfth April"; "twenty-sixth May," "Friday evening, nineteenth May"—in this way are all his letters dated. He spared not his pen.

On Shaking Hands.

The woman who offers her hand upon accepting an introduction conveys thereby a sign of cordial welcome of the acquaintance, but in formally fashionable society none but the hostesses pursue this course. The inclination of the head, a smile and a murmur of the name constitute a full recognition of an introduction in the eyes of many who regard their bearing as the expression of the best form. In a rather crowded drawing room this mode is to be commended, but at other times a woman, whose prerogative it is to take the initiative on this point, will not greatly err to almost unvaryingly offering her hand.

CAVITIES IN THE SKULL.

Room Enough Inside One's Head to Hide Bulky Articles.

Every one is not aware that there is space inside a person's head for storing away heavy and bulky foreign articles. One man who had made a specialty of burglary and jail breaking now shows how he was aided in his work by utilizing this human attic storage room. He concealed a large skeleton key and a saw twelve inches long, coiled like a watch spring, in the cavity reached through his nostrils. But in the London Lancet Dr. Rushton Parker relates a more remarkable case of the carrying of a large foreign body in that space of the head, and that without the victim knowing that his head was so filled up and weighted down.

A young farmer consulted Dr. Parker at the Liverpool hospital for a nasal abscess that had troubled him some time. Probing the nostril, the surgeon found that a loose mass, apparently of metal, occupied a considerable space behind the nose and above the roof of the mouth.

So large was this object that it was removed with difficulty through the side of the face. It proved to be a gun breech and an iron bolt. The breech measured 3 by 1½ by 1 inches. The bolt was three inches long. The weight of the two was a quarter of a pound. This mass of metal had been in the man's head for five years, though he had not suspected its presence there. A muzzle loading gun had exploded in his hands and shattered his face. The wound healed without leaving any outward deformity. His only affliction was symptoms of a nasal catarrh. The young farmer made a rapid recovery to perfect health with the removal of the iron from his head.

STRANGE BEDS.

In Germany a Person Should Be an Acrobat to Sleep Well.

Habit conceals all sorts of absurdities. It makes one ache to see an illustration of a Japanese sleeping block, hollowed out just enough to permit of the neck being adjusted thereto. The Germans' notion of night repose does not come much nearer our idea of comfort. There are many ill made and unsatisfactory beds (from the American point of view) to be found in the kaiser's dominions.

German beds, almost without exception, are single—so much so, indeed, that the occupant, if he attempts to deviate an inch or two from his position, finds himself sprawling on the floor. The sheets, bed blankets, etc., are made just to fit the beds and are never wide enough to tuck in. They are seldom more than an inch or two wider than the mattress, and it requires the skill and experience of an acrobat, especially in the case of a foreigner, to keep the bedclothes evenly balanced over one.

Many of the German hotels use the French pillow, which is about half the size of the mattress and stuffed out so hard and plump that about the only benefit the tired traveler gets from it is to have it serve as a rest for his back while he sleeps in a sitting position. The majority of pillows found in Germany, however, are wedge shaped, of the same material as the mattress, and come to a point near the center of the bed. On these the sleeper (if he sleeps) rests on an inclined plane and looks like a body on one of the narrow planks in the morgue in Paris, with a sheet thrown over it.—Harper's Weekly.

Unprofitable Misery.

A Boston professor comes out of his insulation and remarks that a pleasure loving woman cannot be beautiful, because suffering is essential to true beauty.

It used to be said that no woman could be a great actress until she had suffered.

And yet actresses continue to marry and divorce and undergo all sorts of humiliations and tribulations without the slightest indication of artistic improvement.

What do these alleged wise men know about it anyway?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Br'er Williams and the Legislature.

"I hear tell," said Brother Williams, "dat de legislatur' won't be wid us mo'n long 'nuff ter say good mawnin' an' goodby."

"Well, that's long enough, isn't it?"

"No, suh, kase I wuz thinkin' 'bout axin' it fer a job. I wanted ter be one er dem messengers what dey hires."

"What! And you so old?"

"Yes, suh," he said reflectively, "I knows I'm old enough to know better, but needin' de money ez I does I could even make up my mind ter go in de legislatur'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Sartorial Frog Pond.

The frog pond had dried up to a mere puddle when two frogs met who had not seen each other since the merry days of spring.

"I hardly recognize you," said the one who had been hailed. "You've changed since I saw you in the spring."

"Of course I have," answered the other. "I was only a tadpole then."

"Ah, that accounts for it! It does make a remarkable difference, doesn't it, changing from the hobble to the harem skirt!"—Boston Traveler.

A Novel Catarrh Remedy Cures Without Drugs

THE HEALING VAPOR OF CATARRHOZONE LOOSENS THE COUGH, STOPS ALL DISCHARGES, PREVENTS SNEEZING.

The real danger of Catarrh lies in putting off treatment. You may have Catarrh yourself, but you may not know it. Before the disease spreads from your nose to the stomach, lungs or bronchial tubes, root it out—cure it with Catarrhozone. Look over the following symptoms—then examine yourself:

Bad Breath	Stuffy Nostrils
Frequent Sneezing	Ears Buzzing
Watery Eyes	Hacking Coughs
Bad Taste	Droppings
Raising Phlegm...	Difficult Breathing

Don't continue to burden your system for another day when the germs of such a filthy, loathsome disease as Catarrh. Get Catarrhozone to-day—inhale its soothing vapor, fill your breathing organs with its balsamic essences, and all traces of Catarrh will forever depart. Read what Elwood S. Lee, of Sydenham, Ont says of his cure with Catarrhozone:

"I was a chronic sufferer from continuous colds in the throat and nose, and for many years have constantly had Catarrh. I was recommended to try Catarrhozone, and find that by using the Inhaler on the first touch of a cold or la grippe I am able to stay it in a few hours. I have been able to breath through my nose freely since using Catarrhozone; in fact, I am completely cured. (Signed ELWOOD S. LEE."

Once you try Catarrhozone you'll realize how indispensable it is — the large dollar size contains an indestructible hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient medication to last for two months. Beware of the substitutor and imitators of Catarrhozone — use the genuine and you'll get cured. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

MEMORIAL TO HIS LATE MAJESTY KING EDWARD VII.

To be erected for the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

Terms of Competition.

SCULPTURAL COMPETITIVE designs for a monument to be erected at Ottawa, Canada, to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(1) Competitive designs are invited for a monument to be erected to His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

(2) The memorial when completed, and in position is not to cost more than $35,000 including pedestal from the level of the ground.

(3) The competition is open to artists resident in the British Empire who are British subjects, and to artists British subjects by birth resident elsewhere.

(4) The site of the monument will be at a point on the Government property at Ottawa to be decided upon hereafter.

(5) Designs shall be in the form of sketch models in plaster made at a uniform scale of 1½ inches to the foot. A description of the design must accompany each model. No name, motto, or other distinctive device is to be attached to the model or description. The competitor must send his name in a sealed envelope without distinctive marks thereon.

(6) The author of the best design shall be awarded the commission of the work and the second best shall be awarded a prize of $1000.00.

(7) All communications regarding this competition shall be addressed to: The Secretary Public Works Department, Ottawa, Canada. All models to be addressed to: Mr. Eric Brown, Director of National Art Gallery, Ottawa, Canada.

(8) The designs must be delivered before the first day of October, 1912. They will be kept from public view until the award has been made. All expenses of delivering the sketch models and accompanying descriptions shall be paid by the competitors. Sketch models will, after the award, and at the expense of the Public Works Dept., be returned upon the request of the competitors, but at the risk of the competitors.

Notice of the award will be sent to each competitor.

The award will only be binding provided the successful competitor is prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence, with security if demanded, that he can execute the work for the sum above mentioned.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

FIRE EATERS.

Performers Sat In Ovens While Meat Roasted Without Suffering.

One of the earnest recorded instances of jugglery with fire was in 1677, when an Englishman of the name of Richardson, known as "The Incombustible Man and Fire Eater," attracted great notice in Paris by his wonderful feats He chewed live coals, which might be seen burning in his mouth for a long time, melted sulphur, made it burn in his hand, and then put it while in flames on the tip of his tongue and swallowed it. He also swallowed melted glass and pitch, sulphur and wax. All these tricks or achievements were also performed in 1754 by another fire-eater named Powell, who exhibited before the Royal Society in London and most of the crowned heads of Europe, and later in 1803 by Signor Lionetto, in Paris. He afterwards went to Naples, where he attracted the particular attention of Dr. Sementini, professor of chemistry there.

Madame Josephine Girardelli, however, became known as the wonderful fire-proof phenomenon. She was born at Munich in 1784, and was the daughter of a distinguished chemist. His papers passed into her hands on his decease, and it is asserted that they contained the recipes which rendered her fireproof and enabled her to perform her wonderful feats. Certainly she did not give any exhibition of her power until a few years after her father's death, and then she sprang into immediate fame. She performed three times before the Emperor Napoleon, who specially complimented her. When in Paris she went into a heated oven and in the presence of members of the Royal Academy of Physicians, and remained there until a joint of meat was roasted. She came to England in 1814, when she was patronised by the Duke of York and the leading nobility, and gave a special performance at the Theatre Royal, Windsor. In Scotland she exhibited her powers before Professors Hope, Murray, Playfair, and Leslie, and received a certificate from them testifying to the genuineness of the exhibition as well as one to the same effect from the Duke of Gordon. One of her most marvellous performances was to go into a specially constructed oven, built in the shape of a beehive, and large enough to contain two or three persons, and remain there while a large joint of meat was dressed, she sitting in the meantime on an iron stool. As soon as the meat was roasted she came out of the oven and sat down to partake of it with the spectators. She would pour molten lead into her mouth from the ladle without exhibiting the least symptoms of pain, and would leave an impression of her feet in red hot lead. She would also drop burning sealing-wax on to her tongue and allow any person to take an impression with a seal.

All these feats, and more besides, were performed by M. Chabert, the Fire King, who also added to his fire-resisting powers a complete invulnerability to poison. He was a native of Paris, and a baker by trade, but he had devoted a good deal of time to the study of chemistry. He entered an oven in White Conduit street, London, which was sufficiently large to bake provisions for a thousand persons, and the heat of which was so intense that spectators could not stand near the door. He remained in the oven long enough for a leg of mutton which he had taken in with him to be roasted, he singing some French song while in the oven and emerging unhurt. On another occasion, in the presence of a large gathering and a committee of several doctors, he entered an oven heated to 600 degrees and cooked two dishes of beefsteaks and a dish of potatoes. He would drink boiling oil, lick red-hot shovels with his tongue, draw them over his head, whiskers and various parts of his body. The King of France witnessed his exploits on several occasions, and in the King's presence he, more than once, allowed his outer garments to be saturated with oil, set light to, and burned on his back, while he personally did not sustain the slightest injury. On another occasion he was the target for the simultaneous firing of three hundred cartridges without any harm resulting to him. He swallowed the most deadly poisons with the utmost indifference, taking on one occasion, at the Argyll Rooms, in the presence of numerous medical men, a large spoonful—60 to 80 drops of prussic acid.

Must Cheese.

Rev. A. H. Stanton, who has just entered upon his fiftieth year as curate of St. Alban's, Holborn, England, tells this amusing anecdote:

A visitor to St. Alban's having confessed that he liked the service, but objected to the incense, Father Stanton gravely remarked:

"I am very sorry, my friend."

"Why?" asked the stranger.

"Well, you see, there are only two odors in the next world—incense and brimstone—and you will have to choose between them."

The Ozarks.

Why Shoes Have Tongues.

Every one that wears lace shoes knows that there is a tongue of leather under the place where the two sides of the shoe meet, but there is none in button shoes. Probably very few persons know that this is a comparatively modern idea and is not for the purpose of keeping the laces from hurting the instep, but is to keep out rain and snow. There would be no discomfort if the laces touched the sock, but no matter how closely a shoe may be laced up there is always a slight space which would allow rain to reach the stocking.—New York Sun.

THE BASQUES

They Trace Back Further Than Any Race In Europe

The Basques have been the object of more contention as to their origin than any other people in Europe The most extravagant theories have been put forward, such as that they are descendants of the builders of the tower of Babel, of the Antediluvians, the Phoenicians, and even of the legendary Atlantes Their origin remains obscure, and all that can be said with any certainty is that they represent an older racial stratum than the peoples settled in western Europe

George Borrow, who brought out the gospel of St Luke in the Basque tongue, during his wanderings in the Iberian peninsula, says in his "Bible in Spain" that he considers the Basque dialect to be more closely allied to the Tartar than to the Sanskrit, and in the former classification he includes the Manchu the Mongolian, the Calmuc and the Turkish of the Caspian Sea, and in Europe, Hungarian and Basque though not in its entirety Not only does he find a similarity to the Tartar in the Basque language, but also in their mental characteristics Whatever may be the truth of these conjectures, the Basques still form a race apart, dwelling in the northern and southern sides of the Pyrenees.

By far the greater number come under the suzerainty of Spain, the provinces of Guipuzcoa, Biscaye, Alava and Haute Navarre being for the greater part Basque-Guipuzcoa, alone, entirely so While in France there are but three provinces or arrondissements which may be termed Basque, the Labourd Basse-Navarre and La Soule Known by the name of Vascongados in Spain, in France, among themselves they are the Euskaldunak and their tongue Escuara.

The French Basques, though fewer in number, have preserved the primitive type of the race to a greater extent than those of the southern slopes of the Pyrenees since the year 580, when they separated from their brethren in Spain, who were left to resist the invasions of the Romans and Moors

Borrow says of the Basques that they are a singing rather than a poetical people, and he mentions a collection of songs which was printed in San Sebastian in 1826 by Juan Iztita. These songs were chiefly march tunes and illustrated the martial character of the race. Of these songs Borrow says they "consist of wild and thrilling marches to the sound of which it is believed that the ancient Basques were in the habit of descending from their mountains to combat with the Romans and subsequently the Moors. . . We seem to hear the charges of cavalry on the sounding plain, the clash of swords and the rush of men down the gorges of hills." The words of these songs, however, are crude in the extreme and have not even originality to recommend them; in fact, the Basques have no literature, moreover their tongue is poor and they have no words by which to express abstract ideas.

Funny Man.

Henri Bergson in his recent book, "Laughter," lays stress on the fact that man, long defined as "the laughing animal," is also the only laughable animal. There is nothing really comical except human beings. The animal world is solemn beside the so called lords of creation. Man alone is an object of ridicule.

Of the Same Mind.

The bishop grasped the purser's arm with a gentle ecclesiastical pressure. "I would explain to you," he began, "that I am very much pleased with my roommate. That is, I find him a gentleman in every respect and I wouldn't have you think my coming to you with these valuables is—a—any reflection upon him, you know. His appearance is [illegible] in every way"—

"Oh, that's all right," interrupted the purser. "The gentleman has been to me with his own valuables, and he says the very same thing about you."

Elevated Headgear.

During the ceremonial dances the natives of Papua, New Guinea, wear probably the tallest hats in the world, a headdress varying from six feet to eight feet in height and most gorgeous in coloring. The framework is adorned with feathers, colored fibers and shells, beaks of hornbills, plumes of the birds of paradise and sometimes even with a boar's tusk. Some of these headdresses are heirlooms handed down from father to son. They would not sell them at any rate.

The Tarantula.

The sting of the tarantula (a name derived from Taranto, a town in Italy), the most venomous of spiders, was popularly supposed to produce a disease called tarantism, which could be cured only by music or dancing, and the dance which cured it was called tarantella You can see the peasants dance the tarantella now, but without waiting for spider bites.

Some Consolation.

The man who sometimes spoke his thoughts aloud had been more concerned with the things of the world than with things spiritual. One day by chance his hand fell upon a book containing the catechism of a certain Protestant church, and he was soon earnestly engaged in reading the Ten Commandments. For some time he pondered over the "Thou shalts" and "Thou shalt nots," which had been forgotten almost since childhood. Then, laying down the book, with a sigh, he muttered, "Well, I've never killed anybody, anyway."—Everybody's.

OCEAN LEVIATHANS.

Whether the loss of the Titanic, the largest ship in the world, on her maiden trip, will discourage the construction of ocean monsters is a question for the future to determine.

Since the tragedy much has been said in favor of smaller and more easily managed ships, with fewer human lives to provide for and fewer millions in money risked in the event of accidents.

No transportation company would perhaps to-day be willing to give a contract for the duplication of the Titanic. But the world soon forgets The horrors of the tragedy on the Newfoundland Banks will be gradually effaced from the public mind; and new giantesses of the seas may come to take her place.

It is interesting in that connection to call attention to the fact that while the Titanic, in bulk, was the greatest of all ships, even if disaster had not overtaken her she would not long have held the palm. A new German ship the Imperator is already well advanced in construction that surpasses her in size. The Titanic's tonnage was 46,000 The Imperator's is to be 50,000.

Meantime, England still boasts the largest ocean-going vessels. The Olympic, sister ship to the Titanic, is of 45,000 tons, only 1000 less than that of her ill-fated mate and her equipment is almost as luxurious.

So far as speed is concerned, the honors lie with England and France, with little to choose between them. The Cunard greyhounds, the Lusitania and Mauretania, have not heretofore been equaled as racers. They have held the record as the fastest ships on the seas. But they have both found a dangerous rival in the new French liner, the France, which last week entered the Havre-New York service. The France is something of a giantess herself. She measures 782 feet, about a hundred less than the Titanic, and her appointments are palatial. On her trial trip near St. Nazaire, she is said to have attained a maximum speed of 27 knots or 31 miles an hour.

The Titanic, Mr. Ismay testified before the Senate committee, cost something over $7,500,000. Yet that vast sum was wiped out on her first attempt to cross the seas. The question naturally raised is whether it is a sound business investment to risk so much capital in a single vessel when, in calm seas on a starlight night, she may strike an obstruction and be sent promptly to the bottom in spite of all her "watertight" compartments.

From the fact that a ship company is willing to invest what was put into the Titanic one gets a faint idea of the tremendous volume of business which crosses the Atlantic. To earn only 5 per cent. on the investment she must clear, above all her expenses, $375,000 a year.

"The fact," says The Manufacturers' Record, "that men do put their money collectively into such huge enterprises and venture it upon the high seas is one of the most impressive evidences of the magnitude of the times and of the greatness of their spirit."

THE KAISER'S JUBILEE

To Be Commemorated With Notable Work on German Progress.

Berlin, May 1.—None of his unofficial titles is dearer to the Kaiser's heart than that of "Germany's Best Business Man." That being so, the German industrial world has decided to commemorate His Majesty's silver jubilee in 1913 by issuing a monumental work devoted to the progress and development of German trade and commerce during his reign.

The book, which will be a comprehensive affair of four volumes, on which fifty eminent economists are already at work, will deal especially with the part the Kaiser himself has played in the "Made in Germany" cause. A gorgeous copy of the work, bound in gold and silver, will be presented to the emperor on his next birthday, in January, 1913.

IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

The National Preserve Has a Host of Interesting Denizens.

Algonquin National Park comprises over one and a half million acres of shaggy woods and gleaming lakes. Wild life is protected there. As a result the wild animals and birds have become quite tame, so tame in fact that some of them have no hesitancy about visiting the tent of the camper and making themselves at home. Deer often appear before a party of dining campers in broad daylight, but most of the animals prefer to satisfy their curiosity and carry on their investigations of the camp at night.

Sometimes one of the little visitors will take a notion to help himself to a bit of bacon or scrap of biscuit or even go so far as to cut a hole in the sugar-sack, but his visit being prompted more from curiosity than hunger, he seldom does any harm.

Of course at the slightest stir from the camp, the visitor is gone, melting like a flash in the shadows from which he may peer with little eyes wide with wonder, for a time, before continuing his regular night rounds. Sometimes, if he chances to be a creamy little ermine or its first cousin, a weasel he may return to continue his interrupted investigation.

The experienced camper is quite willing to have the small ermine come as a visitor to his camp. Well he knows that that little pest the pack-rat cannot carry on his wasteful work among his effects, if the red-eyed killer of pack rats is hanging about; and the ermine is quick and sure death to pack rats.

Perhaps the most frequent visitor to camp is the porcupine. That interesting animal, who has a habit of taking his time about everything, is liable to roll into camp at any hour of the night.

He comes in leisurely and departs leisurely and he is too bound up in himself to take the slightest notice of anything else, be it man or animal. Neither curiosity nor interest in the strange creature called man leads the much respected porcupine into camp; he is too selfish to think of anything but himself and he comes into camp on a selfish mission. He is after salt.

For salt he will brave any danger and if there is salt within a quarter of a mile of him, his blunt nose smells it and points the way to it.

Perhaps the camper has left the wooden box, in which the pork has been packed, just outside the tent door; or the frying-pan in which the supper had been cooked on the ground by the camp fire.

If so, Mr. Porcupine rolls up to the box and proceeds to get busy on it with long, chisel-like teeth. He makes all the noise he feels like making and if the camper comes out and attempts to drive him away, he looks up at the intruder out of sleepy eye and stiffens his long quills a little. He don't intend to leave until he has reduced that box to slivers and he feels pretty certain the camper knows better than to attempt to make him.

If there happens to be a dog in camp, and he is a young and inexperienced dog, the chances are he will try conclusions with the porcupine. If his owner is also inexperienced he may let him do it.

When the dog attacks him, the porcupine rolls himself up into a round ball and the dog recoils with a howl, quills sticking in his tender nose and mouth. These his master may be able to remove, but usually, if deep, they work through the flesh until they come out on the opposite side from which they entered. Sometimes they work down the dog's throat where they fester and choke him to death.

The rangers of Algonquin National Park have a wholesome respect for the porcupine and are most careful not to anger him in any way. He is a peaceable animal and fond of minding his own business, but he will not permit of the slightest familiarity. Every animal of the wild knows the danger he runs in disputing rights with this spiny, peace-loving little animal, and they are most careful to let him severely alone

Monopoly Failed.

Two New Brunswickers went to Toronto recently in control of the potato trust of their province. Ontario potatoes are apparently a thing of the past, and the easterners felt that they had a market to themselves. Potatoes was raised daily, and the commission man was compelled to ask two dollars a bag.

Having made a market and with a good supply on hand, the New Brunswick promoters sent out peddlers through the city and reaped a harvest by disposing of their stock at $1.80 a bag, thus cutting the feet from under the commission men.

But the commission houses got busy. They imported Irish potatoes, and they then went after the English article. By careful computation it was found that English potatoes could be landed and sold in Toronto at $1.65 a bag, and the corner of the New Brunswickers has been broken. The next episode in the potato business will be watched with more than ordinary interest. McBride Bros., wholesale commission men, are the responsible parties for the importation of Irish, Scotch and English potatoes.

Sport In British Columbia.

With the exception of antelope and musk-ox, British Columbia has every species of big game that exists on the continent, even the rarest of them being found in fair quantities. In addition, there are wild fowl and game birds of various species, some native and others acclimatized, that furnish sport; while the waters are said to afford the finest trout and salmon fishing in the world. Some 70 miles up the river from Fort George the "Grand Canon" is reached, and from there a magnificent moose country extends as far as the Little Smoky River. Whether the horns attain the large size of the Cassiar moose has yet to be determined, but some very fine heads have been seen. In this district caribou are very plentiful on the higher plateaux, and in places both grizzly and black bears are numerous.

Sunday School Statistics.

The following statistics of the Sunday School inspection are taken from the report of Mr. F. E. Kerr, secretary of the Peterborough Sunday School Association. Number of teachers and officers, 434; Number of Pupils, 3866; Total enrolment, [illegible]; Number of Cradle Roll members reported from 11 schools, 695; Number of Home Department members reported from two schools, 215; amount contributed to missions, $1,329.28; Number of Sunday schools, 17.

An American paper, of current issue, says: "In regard to the Titanic disaster, John Bull seems to have a chip on the shoulder both toward Germany and toward us." Johnny Bull may have that chip right to the front, but the boy who tries to knock it off, will find as per usual, that the British Empire generally wins out.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties —Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Indian Got Peterborough Whisky.

John Smoke, an Alderville Indian, was fined $24.10 under the new amendment to the liquor law, for being drunk in a public place. It seems that Smoke has been trapping muskrats at Mud Lake, and brought his pelts to the city. He went back to Havelock with a good big white man's jag aboard. License Inspector Williams saw him and had him arrested with the above result.

When Wolves Scared Lindsay.

The Lindsay Warder has a very interesting article descriptive of Mr. Charles Britton, of that town. Mr. Britton, who has resided in Lindsay for over 77 years, remembers when packs of wolves roamed down Kent-st., Lindsay's handsome main thoroughfare. Mr. Britton is credited with saying that he remembers when people were afraid to go any distance from their homes for fear of these carnivoral. Now-a-days the Lindsay citizens has only to dodge such mild and harmless objects as motor cars.

The Trout Season Open.

This is the season that the Peterborough fisherman gets out his tackle. He hires a rig and drives out to some trout stream. Arrived there, he puts a worm on the hook, or uses a fly, according to his ability. The line is cast and sticks in a larch tree. After climbing the tree, at an expenditure of clothing and cuticle, the bait is recovered. Then 1117 mosquitos get busy on the fisherman just as he spies a big trout in a likely place. By the time the flies are brushed away the big trout has gone. The fisherman returns home at night with four little fingerling trout, whose total weight amounts to about 14 ounces.

How Old Was the Lindsay Horse?

We note that an esteemed and bright Lindsay contemporary seems to got into a little snarl over its report of a horse deal. Mr. W. Simpson, of the hotel of that ilk, was the man unarmed, and the man who seems to have made an objection to the report. "Billy" Simpson is well known to hundreds of our local citizens. What Mr. Simpson does not know about a horse would take few pages of a dictionary. The whole gist of the article was about the age of the horse referred to. There are two matters of age that a paper must handle as carefully as it would a box of yellow fever germs, and those are the age of a horse, and the age of an advanced spinster with matrimonial aspirations.

Joseph Cross Gets Light Sentence.

Yesterday morning, His Honor Judge Huycke delivered judgment and sentence on Joseph Cross, charged with an unnatural offence. His honor said: "You have pleaded guilty to a most contemptible and cowardly act, which the law very properly recognizes as a very serious crime. The maximum punishment for the offence is life imprisonment. It might be good for you, or it might be bad I do not know. It is necessary for your punishment and your protection, as well as for the protection of those who might fall victims to your cowardly and detestable actions, that some punishment be inflicted upon you. The sentence of this court is that you be confined in the Provincial Penitentiary of Ontario for five years."

Son of Local Pastor Weds.

Mr. Clifford Douglas Henderson, son of Rev. G. W. Henderson of this city, has joined the great army of benedicts. His marriage to Miss Helen Seymour Graham, daughter of Mr. Alexander C. Graham, Rosedale, was solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, on Wednesday afternoon. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. W. J. Taylor of Chicago, wore a gown of white satin and Chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her tulle veil was arranged off her face and held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. Miss Helen Paul attended her cousin as maid of honor and wore a gown of pale blue satin. Mr. Robt. W. Steele acted as best man. After the ceremony, Mrs. Graham held a reception, the groom's mother from Peterborough being present. Later on the bride and groom left for a trip to New York, the bride travelling in a tan tailor-made suit with hat to match.

WEDDING BELLS.

Chavigny—Laing.

In New York, on Wednesday, April 17th, at the home of her parents, Central park west, the marriage took place of Miss Lillian Hazel Laing, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown Laing, formerly of Peterborough and Port Perry, to Dr. Chas Noel Chavigny, of New Orleans.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Invest in Leather.

Everyone remembers the old time fable, wherein, to defend a city besieged, a tanner suggested leather. Now, leather is one of the commodities that will always be in demand. Canada can, and does, produce leather of a quality that the world cannot excel. The Collis Leather Co., Ltd., incorporated under the laws of Ontario, with a capital of $150,000, of which $110,000 stock is to be issued, has a proposition well worth serious consideration by everyone seeking a safe and paying investment. The Canadian tanneries are all making money and keep their stock closely tied up. The town of Aurora has voted the Collis Leather Co. a cash bonus of $10,000, with exemption from taxation for ten years. The Company now has a factory 150 ft. x 50 ft. in size, under construction. The building will be four storeys in height. The Company will handle 1800 calf skins daily, and, as shown in their advertisement in another part of this issue, will pay big profits. A limited number of shares in the Company are now offered for sale on easy terms. For full particulars, see advt., or write Messrs. W. Percy Gillespie & Co., 203-4 McKinnon Bldg., Toronto, Ont.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Lindsay had a runaway on May 1. That town is certainly waking up.

Detective Reburn, of Toronto, has gone to Minden to investigate the Porter murder case.

Lindsay is to have a Campbell's circus this summer. Why are we side-tracked in this respect?

The Brigade had a run this morning. A chimney fire on Bolivar street. No damage.

Toronto is to have a 15-storey hotel. This does not look as though local option would be carried there.

The 24th of May will be celebrated as a holiday as in years gone by. This has been confirmed by orders from Ottawa.

St. John's choir met for practice last night at 8 p.m., to rehearse the music for Ascension and Whitsuntide festivals.

The probs for to-day are, fresh south-east to south winds, local showers, but mostly fair with a little higher temperature.

Beginning this morning we are giving and going to give daily the International, National and American League scores.

Col Sergeant Waterman of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, has kindly consented to assist in the scout work this evening.

Mayor Bradburn and Ald. Duncan are to endeavor to secure temporary detention quarters for prisoners while the police station is being enlarged.

This is the time of year when the average Peterborough housewife goes about with a towel round her head. Her husband goes about with a broken down dispirited look.

The twenty-first anniversary will be celebrated this evening at the Y.M.C.A. There will be a programme and refreshments in the gymnasium. A cordial invitation is extended to friends of the institution.

The Largest and Best Vacuum Carpet Cleaner in the city can be rented by the day. Just the thing for Spring house cleaning. For particulars Phone No. 274.

Any civic employee of Belleville, found "taking a drink" in business hours, will be summarily dismissed. The supposition is that "the drink" must be something stronger than the water of the Bay of Quinte.

Downeyville is to have a new butter and cheese factory, incorporation rights having been obtained. The new establishment will be known as the Maple Leaf Butter and Cheese Company, Limited, the capital to be $2,000.

PUBLIC OPINION

main there, with the result that the farmer is compelled to start over again the next spring in his efforts to secure help.

Having regard to these facts, I beg to make the following suggestions, the adoption of which we are satisfied would go a long way towards relieving the stringency which exists at the present time:

(1) First and foremost, arrange to employ a man by the year. We have found that the farmer who employs his help by the year, especially if he is able to supply a house and a small piece of land, is the farmer who has the least trouble over the help problem. It's the better way for the man as well as for the farmer. If you feel your work does not warrant the employment of a man the year round, you might be well advised to consider the question of taking up a few more branches of farm work or handling additional live stock, and in this way we feel satisfied that you would more than make up the extra cost of the help.

(2) Do not be too exacting about getting an experienced man. Experienced farm laborers are rare at the present time, as there is a large demand for them in the Old Country as well as on this side. If you take an inexperienced man, recognizing that he is unfamiliar with the conditions and methods in this country, and devote a little attention to training him for a few months, you will find, in nine cases out of ten, that he will prove very useful to you. Being reasonably generous in the matter of treatment and wages is essential if hired help is to be retained.

We beg to submit these suggestions to the farmers of the Province, feeling satisfied that if they are acted upon, the results will rebound to the personal advantage of the farmer as well as to the prosperity of the Province.

HEAD OFFICE AND FACTORY:—AURORA, ONTARIO

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:

T. HERBERT LENNOX, K.C., M.P.P., President The T. Sisman Shoe Co., Ltd., President.
WALTER COLLIS, ESQ., Leather Manufacturer, Toronto, Ontario, Vice-President.
W. G. FISCHER, ESQ., Commission Leather Merchant, Toronto, Ontario, Secretary-Treasurer.
WM. J. BALDWIN, ESQ., Mayor of the Town of Aurora.
W. PERCY GILLESPIE, ESQ., W. Percy Gillespie & Co., Investment Brokers, Toronto, Ont.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ... $27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year ... 7,000.00

Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital. $20,000.00

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

The terms are 25 per cent on application, 25 per cent in Thirty, 25 per cent in Sixty, and 25 per cent in Ninety days.

We reserve the right to allot only such applications, and for such amounts as may be approved; the application lists may be closed without notice.

Prospectus and application forms sent on request.

BRITISH WARSHIP DAMAGED IN COLLISION

London, May 2.—The British battleship Empress of India was in collision with a German sailing vessel early to-day at Spithead. The battleship received a gaping hole in her side above the main deck, while the merchantman lost headgear and the foretopmast.

The Empress of India was launched amid-channel in tow of the cruiser Warrior at the time of the crash.

The Empress of India was launched 1891, and is now classed as obsolete. It is kept in the special reserve for emergency use. It has a displacement of about 14,000 tons and carries a formidable battery.

EXPLOSION OF GAS LIFTS BUILDING ROOF

Toronto, May 2.—That Mr. J. Jackson, president of the Jackson Hat Co., came out alive from an explosion in the new part of their building at 1402 Queen street east, is miraculous, but the lucky man got away without a scratch when the structure was partially wrecked by gas.

The whole building is practically a wreck. The explosion was between the ceiling and the roof where a new gas pipe had been left insufficiently stoppered. The walls on each side were shattered and knocked out of plumb, while the roof was lifted about three feet by the force of the explosion. All the front windows in Mr. Ashbridge's house next door were smashed in.

Mrs. Ashbridge and two of the children were sitting in the parlor when the explosion occurred, and were given a bad fright.

DR. SUN YAT SEN CONDEMNS BRITAIN FOR OPIUM TRADE

Shanghai, May 3.—The responsibility for the continuation of the opium curse in the world was to-day placed by Dr. Sun Yat Sen squarely at the door of the British Government.

Stung by the implication contained in cabled criticisms from England that opium production has been resumed on an extensive scale in China the former provisional president and revolutionary leader sent a cable to England to-day admitting the truth of the report. He stated, however, that if it were not for the British market, especially in India, where the Government pays a large part of its expenses with the money paid into the treasury through the imposition of an import tax on opium, this could not be true.

"Until England absolutely prohibits the sale of opium in her possessions this curse cannot be stamped out," said Sun Yat Sen's cable. He implored the British Anti-Opium League to put forth every effort to have the Government do so.

Case of Member of Army Medical Reserve Makes Stir in Germany

KAISER'S QUEER RULING

Respects Conscientious Objection to Duel, but Approves Expulsion.

Berlin, May 2.—Public opinion here is much occupied with a duelling problem, the details of which have just come to light, though they are not of very recent date. The little Wurttemberg town of Mergentheim boasts a volunteer ambulance corps, which took it into its head to change its leader, electing a Dr. Sambeth to that position. His predecessor in office, Dr. Schumm, was much annoyed by the loss of the post, and wrote to Dr. Sambeth, asserting that the latter owed his success to an intrigue of "a shameless and dishonorable" character. Before the civil courts Dr. Sambeth was able to prove that his conduct in the affair had been blameless, and his libeller was fined £5.

If the parties to the squabble had been ordinary mortals, there the matter would have ended. But they were both members of the Army Medical Re-

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

Ex. Empress Eugenie, of France, 86 To-morrow

An old woman, white haired, and bowed beneath the weight of years, who lives only in the memories of the glorious past—such is Eugenie, former Empress of France. In a secluded villa in Nice, surrounded only by a few faithful servants, all but forgotten by a busy world, she was once the admired and adored queen of the French, is to-day passing her eighty-sixth birthday. When France echoed to the tramp of German armies and the thunder of Prussian cannon, the Second Empire crumbled into ruins, and Eugenie fled to England and the splendid and brilliant court of the Tuileries, where she had been the dictator of the world of fashion, became but a memory. Bitter recollections some of them must be, too, for it was the former Empress who promoted and advocated Maximilian's disastrous Mexican venture. Sad as has been the fate of Eugenie it is not comparable to that of the unfortunate Charlotte, widow of Maximilian, now a mad woman who, in moments of sanity begs to be permitted to see her husband.

The one-time idolized Empress of the French was born in the old city of Granada, Spain, May 5, 1826. Her father was a Spanish nobleman of ancient lineage, the Count de Montijo, while her mother was the daughter of a Scotchman who had been a British consul at Malaga. Beautiful

WOMEN FLY FOR THEIR LIVES

Screams and Yells Rent the Air in Their Terror

PANIC AT TORRAT LA.

A Very Heavy Loss of Life and Much Property Destroyed by Overflow of Ohio River.

Torras, La., May 3.—WOMEN screaming and men yelling as they hurried into their homes and grabbed their children and valuables in their mad effort to reach places of safety, and the stampeding of animals turned loose by their owners to seek safe places, were some of the chaotic conditions that prevailed in Torras last night, when the alarm was sounded that the levee at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers had given way to the mighty pressure of the flood waters.

Although it had been known that several weak spots had developed where the break occurred, little attention had been paid to this by the inhabitants of Torras and they were caught unprepared. Within a few minutes after the break had become known the townspeople were thrown into a panic. Before the streets were entirely submerged a majority of the inhabitants [illegible] places of safety. Three hundred women and children were placed aboard a freight train which had just arrived in Torras.

These were taken to a point below here. No loss of life has been reported, but it is feared some fatalities may occur in the interior, as the water is rushing through the country so rapidly that sufficient warning may not have reached those living in districts remote from wire communication. Thousands of dollars loss will be caused by the devastation.

Eleven parishes with a total population of a quarter of a million will eventually be inundated by the new break. Food supplies have been massed near Torras by the government in anticipation of a break here and those in charge of the work are preparing to give relief to the people in this vicinity.

WILL RISK LIFE IN SMALL BOAT

Norwegian Sailor Wants to Be Left Adrift in Mid-Pacific

New York, May 2.—Capt. Ole Brude of Seattle, the intrepid Norwegian sailor who in 1905 crossed the Atlantic in the Uraed, an odd looking egg-shaped lifeboat, 18 feet long, is planning an interesting experiment on the Pacific.

Capt. Brude has asked permission of several of the trans-Pacific steamship lines to be put adrift in his lifeboat from the deck of one of the liners in mid-ocean, asserting that he would forfeit a good sized sum of money if he was not back in Seattle in six months.

Crossed the Atlantic.

"To demonstrate that my lifeboat could weather the biggest gales, ride the heaviest seas and safely carry her passengers into port, with three companions I set out from Norway, Aug. 17, 1905, bound for America," said Capt. Brude. "It was a rough voyage during which we encountered several storms, but we reached Boston safely in January, 1906, our only power being a lone sail fastened to an iron mast."

Capt. Brude said that his craft had provisions for a year and there was plenty in the larder when they reached the Massachusetts coast.

Safe in Heavy Weather.

"I wish to demonstrate to the shipping men of the Pacific that my lifeboat will not sink or capsize in the heaviest weather, and is the safest used on the seven seas," said Capt. Brude. "She can be made to carry 40 passengers and provisions for three months. Fifty-five of the craft in which we crossed the Atlantic could have taken the members of the crew and all of the passengers of the Titanic and easily reached New York harbor with them."

Used by Norwegian Freighters

The lifeboat was invented in 1905, patents being obtained in Norway, France, Great Britain and the United States. Forty Norwegian freighters are now equipped with them and already they have given satisfaction in the Norwegian merchant marine.

Capt. Brude said that while he and his three companions were crossing the Atlantic they were spoken to by a number of liners who asked if they wanted assistance and that they had a hard time explaining that they were not shipwrecked sailors. Konrad Fuglubotn, a Norwegian steamship man, is in Seattle aiding Capt. Brude in his plans for his feat on the Pacific.

PROTESTANT DISABILITIES IN PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

The Presbyterian Record has an article in a late issue that should be read by every fair-minded citizen, Protestant and Catholic alike, for it certainly hits the nail squarely on the head. Our contemporary says that the article has to do with the Roman Catholic Church, not the Roman Catholic people. Presbyterian people are the Presbyterian Church. They govern themselves. Roman Catholic people are not the Roman Catholic Church. They are not self-governing. They have no part in shaping the policy of their church. Their part is simply to accept the teachings of the church and obey her commands.

Roman Catholic people are our good friends and neighbors, respected and esteemed, as are others, not according to their Church connection, but according to their character and disposition, and anything that is said regarding the unfair demands and encroachments of that church is not said of the Roman Catholic people, but of the church behind them and above them, directing and controlling them.

The Roman Catholic Church is an organization apart from above and beyond the people. Its seat of authority is Rome, and when anything is said against the unfair and unreasonable demands of the Roman Catholic Church, it is said against a foreign ecclesiastico-political organization, which claims supremacy as having Divine authority, over all civil governments and peoples everywhere.

And now to the question before us. All over Canada during these weeks, in re Manitoba schools, is heard the cry of "minority rights"—which are not rights, but claims—and in support of these claims is continually urged the privileges enjoyed by Protestants where they are in the minority. We give two illustrations of Protestant "minority rights" in the Province of Quebec:

(1)—The foundation of the whole educational system of the Province of Quebec is the Roman Catholic Church. The council of Public Instruction for the province is made up of three parts. The first third is the archbishops and bishops, etc., whose sphere of rule is either wholly or in part in the province. The council is larger or smaller according to the number of these heads of the Church. The council has no fixed number. The Government in appointing a council, must first go to the Church of Rome and ask "how many archbishops and bishops have you, or how many will you appoint, so that we may appoint the remainder of the Council?" The first third is not limited in number by Government nor appointed by the Government nor subject to it in any way. The Government cannot touch them. They control our State education in virtue of their appointment at Rome.

When the Government learns how many Rome has appointed to be ex-officio, members of the Council of Public Instruction, then that Government, that is, the people of the province, can go forward and appoint, to assist in controlling and caring for the education of their own children, the other two thirds—one third of Roman Catholic laymen and the other third Protestants who

TORONTO YOUNG MAN IN CUSTODY AT DETROIT

Detroit, May 3. It was Norman Martindale and not A. D. Richards, the married man, who came to Detroit from Toronto with Anna Hailes who was arrested after the 18 year old girl committed [illegible].

Monday morning, William Martindale, Richard's partner with his younger brother, Norman, visited the Hailes home in Toronto, and William told the girl's father that he knew that the two had come to Detroit. He asked Mr. Hailes to come to this city with him, promising that he should get his daughter back. He paid the fare of himself and brother and Mr. Hailes to this city, and the three took rooms at 2 Columbia St. east, William Martindale promising to look up Richards.

Later the Martindales approached Mr. Hailes, asking him to go to a lawyer's office and sign an agreement not to prosecute Richards. His wife's condition was given as an excuse for wanting to quiet the matter. Mr. Hailes refused to be a party to any agreement.

LETTER FROM GIRL.

William was not at the Columbia street house Wednesday morning. Norman left the house and returned with a letter, supposed to be from the girl, saying that she would be willing to go back with her father. It ran as follows:

"Dear Father. I left on this morning's train for home. I am sorry that you would think anything like that, but Dad, if you had not said to me, you don't need to go home, they won't let you in, everything would have been all right. But you said you would have Mr. Richards arrested, and he said he was going away, so I asked him to take me with him. Have only seen him alone three times. Now father, I learned from Mr. Martindale that if I returned home everything is to be withdrawn and all warrants out for Mr. Richards must be cancelled. Hoping to see you home to-night.

ANNIE."

The note gave no address.

Norman took Mr. Hailes down to the front of the Randolph Hotel, Randolph and Champlain streets, and told Mr. Hailes to wait while he hunted up his brother. He disappeared, and Mr. Hailes becoming suspicious notified the police. Detectives Wilson and Black were put on the case.

In the meantime Norman had joined his brother and the two went to the room on Bagley avenue, where they met Richards and the girl. Just what happened there is not known to the police.

Norman says the girl promised to go back to her father. She left the

BOY'S BODY AT THE MORGUE IDENTIFIED BY HIS FATHER

Toronto, May 3.—"It's my boy," sobbed Mr. John Whitehouse, of 150 Brock avenue, at the morgue this morning, as he was shown the mangled remains of the lad who was killed at the Brock avenue crossing last night. The body was terribly mutilated, but as the father examined the grey suit worn by the little fellow, the terrible truth was borne home to him that his son, Johnnie, twelve years old last July, whom he had left alive and well last night at five o'clock to go to his work, had been ruthlessly taken from him.

"He was a good boy," said the father, just after leaving the death chamber, "and this is the first time he ever went away from home at night. When I got home from work this morning about seven o'clock, and his mother told me he had not been home all night, I felt something must be wrong. The gateman at the crossing told me an accident had occurred last night, and that the body of a boy had been taken to the morgue. I came straight down here, and—" but here the man completely broke down.

"There ought to be a watchman as well as a gateman at that crossing," he said, as with a great effort he recovered to some extent his composure. "A subway is being constructed there, and a great many children play there all the time. It is impossible for the gateman to keep his eye on the children."

Mr. Whitehouse is a stoker in the Toronto Glass Works, and he works at night. There are two other children, a boy and a girl, one younger and one older.

No One Saw Accident.

The accident occurred last night about nine o'clock. Just how it happened is unknown, as there were no eye witnesses. The lad had gone out to play after doing his mother's messages, and the boy with whom he was playing went home leaving him near the tracks.

GEISHA GIRL TRIED SUICIDE

Driven to it by the Monotony of Her Life, She Explained Afterwards

DON'T WANT TO DIE NOW

May, However, Later If She Gets Another of Those Melancholy Fits.

Tokio, May 3.—A sensation was created in Tokio by the recent attempt at suicide of one of the most famous of the Shimbashi geisha, who are in their turn the most famous of all the thousands of geishas in Tokio.

The first reports stated that the unfortunate lady had been driven to her attempted death by mountains of debt contracted as the result of a passionate attachment to a certain popular actor. The Tokio Asahi, indeed, considered the matter of such importance that after the recovery of the would-be suicide the editor induced her to write the history of the incident and her own feelings during the attempt for the benefit of its readers. Here it is:

"The mere idea of a debt of 1000 or 2000 yen could never drive me to suicide. I am subject to fits of melancholy, and when in the grip of one of these I want to get out of the world. Why? Simply and solely because I am tired of life, its monotony and quietness. A geisha's life contains no excitement. It is always the same, day in and day out.

"Publicans sell drink, cats catch mice, dogs watch burglars and men have their constant varying, selfish pastimes and occupations. But the geisha has nothing to do but to continue always in the same tiresome groove, dancing and singing, singing and dancing. I thought if I died that I might one day be reborn in the shape of one of those creatures, men, mice or dogs. Therefore, I resolved to die.

"I finished the bottle in one wild gulp. Then the pain began in my chest and at once the utter stupidity and madness of my wish to die came upon me. All wish of dying vanished. I coughed and coughed, and here I am quite well again. If I get another fit of melancholy I may want to die again, and I may commit suicide at any time, but I don't want to at present; but, in case, I always carry my will about with me in my dress."

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

FOR THE MUSICIANS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Among all the fine deeds that ennobled the tragedy of the Titanic, one stands out that must appeal to musicians, the action of the members of the ship's band in staying at their post of duty in order to check the alarm of the passengers by playing. Shall not the musicians of this continent do what they can to help the families of these men?

SANITARY INSPECTION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The first of May has come and Sanitary Inspector Spence has entered on his new duties. I would respectfully ask all your readers to join with that office in having a thorough cleaning made of the yards and back premises throughout the city. There are a certain class of citizens who kick whenever a public official calls on them on official business. The health of the people is the first consideration, and health cannot be maintained without sanitary conditions.

WORK UP LOCAL INTEREST.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I happened to see in the Belleville Ontario that Stirling is to have a monster calithumpian procession on May 24th. Why is it that every city, town or village except Peterborough seems to be doing something towards getting outside people to visit and spend their money? Are the merchants and citizens of Peterborough so engrossed in their own affairs that they can't do something to get visitors and their money? Every big crowd in Peterborough means a lot of money spent here, both by the outsiders and local people.

THE VERY LATEST BASEBALL NEWS

The Oriental Hotel, with commendable enterprise, is now giving full reports every night of the International, National and American league ball games. This is a great convenience to the hundreds of our local fans. The Times has arranged to make a specialty of baseball news this summer. Dan McCabe, the veteran pitcher, has consented to give full reports of all the local games. These will be illustrated from day to day, and will make a very interesting feature. We have also arranged to give the League ball games results every morning. Those interested in the American national game will find this new feature of thrilling interest.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality. uoo ꞁɐɹnʇɐu ɐ sɐ ˙puɐ sequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

WHAT AMERICA WANTS.

The reciprocity press has pretty generally assumed the "Pooh Pooh!" attitude toward President Taft's tactful remark about his intention to "make Canada only an adjunct of the United States." That—they tell us—may have been Taft's opinion; but it was not, and is not, theirs. And they lean back complacently, as if that settled the matter.

Now we very profoundly reverence the opinion of the reciprocity press—on some subjects—but we are compelled to confess that when it comes to an opinion as to the intentions of the present American Government we imagine that President Taft is in a better position to know the truth than are his best friends in the editorial sanctums of Canada. He has "inside information." If he does not know the mind of the Executive of the United States, who does?

Now he might not take the whole world into his confidence as to what is in his mind. He might even dissemble when talking to gullible Canadian editors whose support of his pet project he so dearly desired. He would not be apt to tell them that he looked upon his little Reciprocity scheme as a plan for making Canada "only an adjunct to the United States," even if that were they way he looked upon it. He could not assume—and we do not assume—that they were at heart traitors. His success with them depended upon his fooling them into the belief that he—a Protectionist President—had suddenly developed a passion for "free trade" and that all he had in mind was to benefit both people by getting them to "swap jack knives" a little oftener. But, in his "confidential" moments he could lay aside the mask and confess to himself what he really had in mind.

PRAYER IN SONG.

Hamilton Herald says: "We are sorry that the Rev. Father Minehan of Toronto, a Roman Catholic priest, who is an eloquent advocate of more than one good cause, has seen fit to speak contemptuously of the musicians on the Titanic, who kept on playing amid the excitement and terror around them, projecting the devotional strains of "Nearer, my God, to Thee" into the confusion. It seems to us that to these musicians is due the same tribute of praise and admiration which has been paid to the men who worked to get the women and children into the boats. They too were heroes. Nor is it fair to speak lightly of their service. Even if it had been of no value, still it was well meant. But who can say it did no good? Father Minehan ridicules it because, he says, it tended to quiet the nerves of the terror-stricken, producing, as he says, a sort of anesthesia, whereas it would have been far better if the doomed passengers had been encouraged to look death in the face calmly and confidently, with the prayers on their lips. For the purpose of contrast he instances the case of the two devoted priests on the steamer Burgoyne, who gathered the passengers round them, gave them absolution, and went down praying with them.

"It seems to us that this sort of criticism is unkind as well as unreasonable. Anything which helps to hearten doomed fellow-creatures and makes death easier for them is surely worth while. With as much justice as he criticizes the efforts of the musicians, Father Minehan might find fault with Captain Smith's cheering admonition to the seamen, "Be British, my men." It might not have been as good as a prayer, but who will care to blame the captain for using those words?

Besides, it might well be asked whether the music of "Nearer, my God, to Thee" might not have served as a prayer for many who heard it on that awful night. The words of the hymn are in the nature of prayer and the music must have suggested the words to many who were familiar with them. It seems to us strange that any kind heart should grudge those souls in agony such comfort as could come to them in that appaling hour."

THE REICHSTAG AND THE DUEL.

Times have changed in Germany. On Wednesday the German minister of war was hissed out of the Reichstag for an aggressive defence of duelling, and the vice-president sped his departure with the remark that it ought to serve him a good lesson. This is fruit of the seed sown twenty years ago by Sudermann, whose skilfull satire showed the folly and ridiculous contradictions of the so-called code of honor. The seed he planted with his play "Die Ehre" has taken root, and the German public has at last outgrown its passive respect for the dictum that a duel must follow an insult.

On most subjects Emperor William has advanced ideas, but in duelling he leads the reactionaries. This is due to his training as an army officer. Every German who wears shoulder straps has drilled into him the respect for the code of honor. He is made to feel that this is one of the important things separating them from ordinary mortals. The vaunted "Duell Faehigkeit" (eligibility to receive or give a challenge) which he possesses in common with the corps students of the universities and a few public officials of high rank contributes much to a peculiar social distinction. "Duell Faehigkeit" is a privilege peculiar to the gentleman, and one of the few of which he has not yet been deprived by the spread of democratic ideals.

The Kaiser recently expressed the opinion that a man who refuses to fight a duel is not fit to hold a commission in the German army. That he refrains because of religious convictions is no mitigation. It is this view which was so bluntly and tactlessly presented in the Reichstag by Excellenz Von Herrington, the minister of war, as to provoke hisses not only from the Radical left, which is always ready to cry down an Imperial minister, but also from the Catholic centre, which has been the mainstay of the administration. For the Kaiser to hold this view and express it in private is one thing, but to have his representative fling it defiantly at a group of popular representatives is quite another. The Kaiser holds many views his people do not share. That is his imperial privilege. But the German people have come to resent in growing measure his giving such views public utterance by word of mouth or through his personal representatives.

A load of criticism is bound to follow Wednesday's incident. The retirement of the present minister of war is not an improbable consequence. In Germany the department head is often made the scape goat for imperial error. The minister of war, in particular, is a frequent victim of public wrath. The Kaiser appoints him because he is a good soldier, and then dismisses him if he proves a poor political leader. In any case the current discussion will serve the excellent purpose of hastening the day when the outworn duelling system, one of the last relics of feudalism, will finally disappear.

How Old Was the Lindsay Horse?

We note that an esteemed and bright Lindsay contemporary seems to got into a little snarl over its report of a horse deal. Mr. W. Simpson, of the hotel of that ilk, was the man unarmed, and the man who seems to have made an objection to the report. "Billy" Simpson is well known to hundreds of our local citizens. What Mr. Simpson does not know about a horse would take few pages of a dictionary. The whole gist of the article was about the age of the horse referred to. There are two matters of age that a paper must handle as carefully as it would a box of yellow fever germs, and those are the age of a horse, and the age of an advanced spinster with matrimonial aspirations.

WHEN KENT WAS HERE

FATHER OF QUEEN VICTORIA MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Great-Grandfather of the Present Sovereign Spent Some Time In the Dominion Many Years Ago, and Was Widely Popular With All Classes—Was Very Quiet and Reserved In His Manner.

When the orders of the day were called in the House of Commons during a recent sitting, the Hon. F. Monk, Minister of Public Works, rose and said:

"Mr. Speaker, before the House proceeds with the orders of the day, I would like to announce that Her Royal Highness, the Princess Louise, has been pleased to present to Canada, through His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, for our national gallery, a valuable portrait in oil of the Duke of Kent. This painting, executed by Sir William Beechey, will form a very acceptable addition to our national gallery of art at the Victoria Memorial Museum, where it is on view. The Government, in accepting and acknowledging this welcome gift has asked His Royal Highness to convey to the donor, the Princess Louise, the thanks of the Canadian people for her generous remembrance."

This gift recalls many memories associated with persons and places that have contributed to our history. The Duke of Kent is best remembered as the father of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. He was, therefore, grandfather of our Governor-General, and great-grandfather of our King; and for several years he was a resident of this country. The gift is from Princess Louise, now the Duchess of Argyll, and a granddaughter of the Duke of Kent, who for five years was mistress of Rideau Hall, when her husband, then Marquis of Lorne, was Governor-General of Canada.

The picture carries one back in Canadian history more than a century, to the days when Kent House had a royal master. Let us glance briefly over those far away years.

Edward Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III., was born at Buckingham Palace on Nov. 2, 1767—just one hundred years before Canadian Confederation.

When a boy he was sent to school on the continent under Baron Wangenheim, with whom he spent two years at Geneva. The Dictionary of National Biography says that "Wangenheim treated him with needless rigor, allowed him only a guinea a week pocket-money out of an annuity of $30,000 provided for his maintenance, and intercepted his letters home.

"In June, 1790, he came home from Geneva without leave. The King was much displeased and gave him peremptory orders to embark for Gibraltar. At Gibraltar he was put in command of the 7th Regiment of Foot, known as the Royal Fusiliers. In May, 1791, he was sent to Canada."

Then opened the chapter of his life that forms part of our history.

It was on August 11, 1791, that the Duke of Kent, with the Royal Fusiliers, arrived at Quebec from Gibraltar on the warships Ulysses and Resistance. Quebec harbor presented a brave sight on that long ago midsummer day, for besides the ships that brought the duke and his Fusiliers, there were then in port five ships-of-war belonging to Commodore Sawyers squadron and four transports filled with British regulars for service at different Canadian posts.

On the following day there was a levee, attended by the authorities, civil and military, the clergy of the city, and all the gentry.

At the levee were men whose names will ever have a place in the history of Canada. Foremost among them of course, was the Governor-General, Lord Dorchester, known a few years earlier as Sir Guy Carleton—the man who, in 1775-76, had held Quebec against Montgomery and Arnold, and who had finally driven from Canada the forces of Congress. Near Dorchester stood a tall, athletic, military man, Sir Alured Clark, who, a week after that levee, became Deputy Governor-General during Dorchester's absence in England. And around were the judges, the executive councillors, the seignors and the other lights of Quebec society.

Every tourist visiting Quebec always goes out to the Falls of Montmorency, about nine miles below the city. Close to the brink of the chasm into which the Montmorency River hurls itself there stood in 1791, as there stands to-day with some additions, a country residence of wood, two storeys in height, plainly built, and yet not without a certain air of beauty and dignity. Its builder was Gen. Sir Frederick Haldimand, Governor of Canada during the closing years of the War of the Revolution. To this building, Haldimand gave the name of "Mansion House," and here he resided during a number of years.

In December, 1791—that is, about three months after the arrival at Quebec of the Duke of Kent—the property was offered for sale, as the following advertisement reads: "For sale, the elegant villa of the late Sir Frederick Haldimand, K.B., delightfully situated near the Falls of Montmorency, with the farm house."

The property passed into the possession of the Duke of Kent, and it became his favorite summer residence It was called "Kent House," and so it is known to this day. A large wing has been added, practically doubling the capacity of the house, but most fortunately the new part is built in exactly the same style as that of the old part, so that the simple beauty of the building has not been destroyed. To-day Kent House is a place of public entertainment.

The duke's winter residence stood nearly opposite the old Quebec Court House, which was burned in 1872.

The Trout Season Open.

This is the season that the Peterborough fisherman gets out his tackle. He hires a rig and drives out to some trout stream. Arrived there, he puts a worm on the hook, or uses a fly, according to his ability. The line is cast and sticks in a larch tree. After climbing the tree, at an expenditure of clothing and cuticle, the bait is recovered. Then 1117 mosquitos get busy on the fisherman just as he spies a big trout in a likely place. By the time the flies are brushed away the big trout has gone. The fisherman returns home at night with four little fingerling trout, whose total weight amounts to about 14 ounces.

SUGAR WAS BEST.

How the Little Man Persuaded the Horse and Beat the Driver.

Horses fat and horses thin, horses that looked miserably sickly and horses that seemed apparently healthy, horses that broke a leg and horses that slipping on the icy pavement were rendered worthless to their owners, to the tune of 149 were shot and destroyed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Montreal last year.

In these days of automobiles, when gasoline is the motive power of fifty per cent. of the transportation facilities of the street when animals are looked upon as being a necessary evil, when the snow is off the streets and the asphalt is bared of the slippery coat of snow that has covered it all winter, the sound of the lashing whip striking the flanks of inoffensive animals is all too often heard.

Organised some forty-three years ago and ever since that time having provided effective means for the prevention of cruelty to animals, not only in the City of Montreal but all through the Province of Quebec, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has banished from the street corners and from the lonely routes the disgusting spectacle of dumb animals whipped to the blood for refusing to draw loads far too heavy for the emaciated condition to which ill-treatment and lack of food had reduced them.

Ribs that stood out prominent upon the flanks of the beasts, while others sported a glossy coat of fat, were noticeable upon the horses that the society put out of misery.

Instruments of torture, whips which would have relegated the cat-o-nine-tails into the background, were confiscated from cruel drivers and form a collection of weapons in the offices of the C.S.P.C.A.

About three months ago, at the corner of Bleury and St. Catherine street, a very thin horse pulling a very rusty wagon, which bore no license number and which was not adorned by any name of company was stalled and the whip of the driver, a foreigner who seemed absolutely ignorant of the capacity of the beast plied often and hard upon the ribs of his animal.

A crowd had gathered and the man swearing gracefully in a language known to himself alone, finally brought the blood to the flanks of the dilapidated animal. Despite straining every nerve the horse could not budge the load away from the crossing. All the while, the whip was plied furiously. A mild looking individual trotted out of the crowd, tapped the horse gently over the "nape" and presented him with a lump of sugar. The animal devoured it, while the driver stood dumbfounded at the audacity of the little man who would interfere with his right of beating his horse.

Another lump of sugar was held about three feet from the animal's mouth in the hand of his benefactor and what the whip had failed to accomplish the sight of the sugar did and the horse dragged the heavy load away, grabbed the lump of sugar from the hand of the S.P.C.A. man and kept right on down Bleury street.

"I thank you," beamed the driver, who weighed some 200 pounds upon the man in the street, who could not boast of more than 130.

"Come off your seat," was the reply. "I wish to speak to you." Smiling benignly the man descended and was told in terse words to get ready for a fight.

As a straight right landed on the man's jaw the "sugar man" was heard to deliver himself of the following oration: "Any man who will beat a horse the way you beat yours, is a coward and will not fight. You are no good." Another punch landed squarely and the man went down.

"I will have you arrested," wailed the brutal Colossus to the little man. The man who a few minutes previously had cruelly beaten a defenceless horse cowered before another who could not cope with him in size, weight and strength.

A Double Loss.

Out in the Township of Zorra, Ont., not far from Embro, live two Scots of the true type, now fast disappearing. Bachelors past middle age, canny and close grained, they for many years chummed together, argued and disputed, and fully enjoyed life until an unfortunate incident severed their relations and left them both miserable. Sandy Mathieson and Donald Gunn were their names and their last trip together was to Stratford, where they put in a big day and started home with a generous allowance of Heather Dew under each belt. On the way an argument arose which became so heated that Donald declined to sit any longer with Sandy, who was driving. He got back into the long sleigh, pulled out the tailboard, and putting it across the box, glowered at Sandy's back in solitary state. Sandy, of course, would not deign to look behind, and thereby failed to notice that a severe jolt, coupled probably with a slight unsteadiness on Donald's part, caused the latter to pitch out into the snow. Neither would Donald demean himself to draw attention to his mishap, so that Sandy in due time arrived home alone.

"Say, Sandy, you've lost your tailboard," said a neighbor, as he turned into his gate.

"Yaas," said Sandy, as he turned and for the first time realized that he was alone. "Yaas, an' I loss Tonal Gunn."

A Canadian Cheese.

Specially made in Canada and taken to London, the largest cheese in the world is now being exhibited in a large store at Balham. The cheese, which stands 5 feet high and is over 20 feet in circumference, weighs 3 tons 6 cwt., or 7,392 pounds.

RELIEVE THE TEDIUM.

Little Jests Brighten the Days In the House of Commons.

Cheerful little remarks and episodes tend to lighten the most dreary days in the session of a legislative body. H. W. Anderson in The Canadian Courier recounts a few of recent vintage in the Commons at Ottawa.

It was the early morning hours following the recent all-night sitting of Parliament in which the Manitoba school question was under debate and discussion. It was, moreover, the sitting at which Hon. George P. Graham had resumed his seat in the House as the newly-elected member for South Renfrew. The vote upon the amendment of Mr. Mondou, the Nationalist member for Yamaska, had just been taken, and the members were trouping out into the corridors, the majority on their way to the restaurant for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. The ex-Minister of Railways and Canals was strolling down the corridor with a frown upon his face, when Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, accosted him.

"Wherefore so downcast, George?" he queried.

Mr. Graham shook his head. "It's pretty hard lines," he responded, "to have spent the past few weeks zealously endeavoring to defeat the Government, and then come here to-day and have to cast my first vote in support of them."

One of the most ardent of the Opposition newspaper men was reviewing the supplementary estimates in the Press Gallery. He was checking off item after item with keen critical comments. Very little seemed to meet with his approval. "Gross extravagance," "A patent political vote catcher," "Another useless expenditure," "Automobiles indeed; they'll be buying aeroplanes next," were the caustic comments which from time to time fell from his lips as he diligently conned the items. Finally, however, he paused, and read slowly: "Gratuity to the dependents of an official who served for over twenty years in the House of Commons and is now insane." He looked out over the House. It was a tedious afternoon and a western member, who can scarcely be accounted a brilliant speaker, was in the midst of an extended dissertation. "Well," he commented, "I think that vote should meet with unanimous approval."

They were Conservative members, and they had harked back to the victory of September last with its campaign stories.

"Well," drawled Col. Hugh Clark, "the most genuine congratulations I received were written a month after the election. My admirer mentioned that he would have written before, but had just come to. He had been celebrating for the intervening weeks."

About Ambergris.

A press report from Victoria, B.C., the other day stated that a piece of ambergris estimated to be worth $150,-000 was taken from a whale killed by the whaler Pretriana, which arrived at that port on July 5. This is said to be one of the largest pieces of ambergris ever found.

Ambergris is supposed to be a morbid secretion of the liver of the spermaceti whale, found floating or washed ashore. It is a little lighter than water, and might easily be taken for a piece of the bark of a tree. On examination, however, it is found to be of a waxy nature, streaked with gray, yellow and black and emitting a peculiar aromatic odor. It fuses at 140 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit and at a higher temperature gives out a white smoke, which condenses into a crystalline fatty matter.

It is found in all sizes, from one pound up to twenty or thirty, but occasionally pieces weighing one hundred or two hundred pounds are found in whales.

Ambergris has been known from an early period, some pharmacopoeias prescribing it for fevers and nervous complaints. It is sometimes mingled with the incense burned in churches, and is also put in certain kinds of wine to improve the bouquet."

But the great use of ambergris is in the manufacture of perfumery. Not that its fragrance is either very powerful or pleasing, but it possesses the peculiar property of causing other ingredients to throw out their odors and making them more specific and durable.

Mr. Hanna's Tact.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, Ontario's Provincial Secretary, is not famed as a "mixer," and the general impression seems to be that he is a hard man to approach. But he knows how to mix among country folk at election time.

Mr. Hanna first ran for the Ontario Legislature in 1902, when he opposed Mr. F. F. Pardee, then member for West Lambton. It seemed very doubtful that the latter could be defeated, and some of Hanna's friends were somewhat dolefully discussing the candidate's chances. Then a hopeful member of the group spoke up.

"Pshaw!" he said. "Hanna's chances are all right. He knows how to handle the farmers. When Pardee calls at a house on the side lines the people won't know what to do with him—he's so well dressed and nice in his talk. Along will come Hanna the next day, and when the farmer will direct him to go up to the 'spare room' to wash for dinner, do you think he'll go like Pardee? Not on your life. Hanna will yank off his coat and say: 'Spare room nothin'! Show me the pump and some soft soap. That's what I was used to when I was a boy.'"

And sure enough Mr. Hanna won the election.

Common Names Lacking.

The present Ontario Legislature does not contain a single Smith, Brown, Jones, or Robinson. The Dominion Parliament has a Brown and a Smith (also a Smythe), but neither a Jones nor a Robinson. The Senate has a Jones, but neither a Brown, Smith, nor Robinson, although it has a Robertson.

When Wolves Scared Lindsay.

The Lindsay Warder has a very interesting article descriptive of Mr. Charles Britton, of that town. Mr. Britton, who has resided in Lindsay for over 77 years, remembers when packs of wolves roamed down Kent st., Lindsay's handsome main thoroughfare. Mr. Britton is credited with saying that he remembers when people were afraid to go any distance from their homes for fear of these carnivoral. Now-a-days the Lindsay citizens has only to dodge such mild and harmless objects as motor cars.

COURT DEATH AT NIAGARA.

Hunters Every Year Venture Forth on Dangerous River.

The fascination of hunting must be very great when it will lure men out onto the Niagara River in the winter to an almost certain death trap It seems that the duck hunting is especially good but especially dangerous about a mile above the falls. Every winter adventurous duck hunters put out in small boats and dodge the ice cakes while they hunt their favorite game. As a rule, however, most of the hunters perch themselves upon a ledge of ice and hunt from it. They take a terrible risk even by this method, for the ice jam that is constantly moving down stream is at any time liable to dislodge the hunter's perch and down he goes a victim to the merciless cataract.

Not many years ago two men were observed in a duck boat trying desperately to row out of a running ice jam which had carried them down the Canadian channel from far up the river. Their terrified efforts were closely followed by a man with a spy glass, who had discovered them from the windows of one of the large shore factories on the American side The unfortunate men had already drifted too near the first roaring cataract to admit of any possible rescue, so the watcher could only helplessly wait for their pitiful death.

In describing the incident afterward, he said: "God, what could I do to help them—what could any man do? The Almighty alone seemed to hold them in His power. One man seemed to be wrenching his shoulders from their sockets with the oars; the other stood in the stern, desperately plying a pike pole. An oar broke, and was replaced by a third. The man didn't lose a second in its replacement. Then, in a mighty stroke, the other oar went, and he fell sprawling back in the boat. He stood up, pulled the good oar from its pin, and began paddling insanely from the side.

"They made little progress. Slowly the great field of ice swept them down, down, toward those snarling, angry cataracts below. I writhed in agony before the hopeless vision. Into the rapids swept the fore part of the ice jam. Then the first great wave seemed to rise up and hover hungrily over the little boat. Both men saw it and rushed toward each other. Locked in each other's arms they disappeared into the curling swell. That was the last I saw of them."

Niagara also plays the death trap to hunted as well as hunters. Hundreds of wild fowl are swept each year over the falls. During densely foggy nights strange ducks often stop to roost in the upper waters of the river. Drifting unconsciously toward the brink, they are suddenly hurled down into the abyss of plunging water. Too terrified to take wing and quickly engulfed by the spray, they plunge into the gorge, and are either killed outright or stunned, to receive wounds that keep them helplessly in the waters below for days and weeks. After the formation of the ice bridge many of these unfortunate birds are washed up on the ice, where they are quickly gathered up by the little group of souvenir sellers and saloon men who erect shacks on the path across the river. These men string lines of such ducks in front of their ramshackle stores and over the bars of their saloons. It proves both an attractive advertisement and adds slightly to their source of income, as they dispose of the ducks whenever possible.

Dance 24 Hours Without Food.

The adoption dance is one of the ceremonial dances of the Shawnees. This is quite different from any one of the festive dances. They come many miles around and camp; their faces are painted and their bodies decorated with beads.

They dance all day and night without eating. A bonfire is built in the centre of the camp and they dance around this. The fire is kept burning about the same all the time. This serves also as their light.

The adoption dance is rather quiet, more so than the other dances. The women do most of the singing and sing very low. They dance around the circle in twos. The men dance together in front, and the women together in the rear.

The two leaders in front are usually the ones who are adopting the child. They carry tin pails; in these are rubber balls, which bounce and keep time with the drummer. This is all the music they have to dance by. If a large crowd is assembled they may have two or three drums.

At these dances good order is kept. No drunkenness is allowed. The dance is in a grove, and if any one does not behave decently they tie him to a tree for the rest of the dance. After the dance they have a great feast which lasts all day, and visitors, and all others who attend the dance, are invited to partake of the feast.—Toronto Globe.

Shot Five Bears.

There is a good bear story told by General Agent Lee of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, a man who knows every inch of the North Country and can supply everything from a good fishing spot to an Indian guide. He and a tenderfoot doctor were out bear shooting. After a while, they took separat routes and in a few minutes Lee heard six shots in rapid succession. Running to find the doctor, he was discovered leaning exhausted against a tree and a big black bear laying dead on a hillock along a narrow path. Behind the animal were four good-sized cubs, also dead, and, making his escape, was father bear. The doctor had shot five out of six, but, in the excitement of his maiden shooting expedition, thought he had shot only one, for as fast as they came up the hillock the medico blazed away with eyes half shut. Lee guarantees this story, and we will let it go at that.

LAUGHS WITH JOY! NO MORE INDIGESTION

Montreal Man So Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Disorders.

Just read what Mr. Larose says of the curative powers of Dr. Hamilton's Pills:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette-st., Montreal, P.Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer from indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Successfully used for many years, mild and safe. 25c per box, all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1912.

AS TO SUNDAY LABOR.

The present session of the Legislature seems likely to end without any change in the statutes affecting the observance of the Sabbath. Few subjects are in more continuous legislative flux than this. Not fewer than nine bills were seriously urged this year. The open-air people are intent on liberalizing the law in reference to sports, while the Sabbath Protective League interests are trying to strengthen the law on its industrial side. They maintain that the amount of Sunday work in various occupations, like that of the bakery, is steadily increasing, with the result that a larger proportion of the working class are deprived of that Sunday rest to which all are theoretically entitled. The labor unions have become a valuable ally of the religious interests in this phase of Sunday protection, and it is an endeavor in which all right-thinking people, regardless of religious affiliations or the lack of them, might advantageously co-operate. The community ought to maintain the rest day, within reason, for the largest possible number of its workers.

AMERICA'S FRENCH VISITORS.

The visit of the French delegation to America, bringing with it, as France's contribution to the Champlain memorial, a bust by the greatest living sculptor of to-day, is one of those graceful incidents with which the history of the "entente" between the sister republics is full.

Fate, or the national temperament, seems to have decreed that the influence of French discovery and conquest upon the physical world should be slight and evanescent. French colonial history, in particular, is a long history of wasted effort, of gallant and patriotic men who sowed that other nations might reap the harvest of their blood and sweat. Judged by material standards, the brave explorer whose memory the present international courtesies are commemorating, like Cartier before him, like Montcalm, Dupleix, Labourdonnais and Bougainville after him, lived and died in vain. The national pride that can find a real compensation in the offer of a bust to his memory is almost inexplicable to the more practical Anglo-Saxon mind.

It is precisely because France has chosen the realm of ideas and art as that in which her enduring victories shall be won that her influence upon the more material nations is so inevitable and so lasting. The days are probably past when the good American looked forward to an indefinite sojourn in Paris as the reward of a well-spent life on earth, but it is still true that in Paris, France, as nowhere else, the native of the United States who chooses to make his home in Europe for a space, finds a sympathetic atmosphere and respect for his national prejudices.

PLANNING NEW U. S. NAVY.

One hundred years ago the U. S. Congress was considering the addition of a number of frigates and ships of the line to the comparatively small wooden navy with which this country was soon destined to humble the British men-o'-war. To-day Congress is confronted with the proposal of Secretary Stimson of the War Department that our aerial navy of six aeroplanes should be increased to a fleet of 120 machines for the use of the Signal Corps in various parts of the United States and its island possessions.

If the development of the sea fleet during the past hundred years can be considered in even a slight measure a portent of the growth of the aerial navy during the hundred years to come, the war ships of the air may displace the battleships of the sea, just as steel vessels have replaced those of wooden construction. For with the rapid progress of the aeroplane it is only reasonable to suppose that the danger from aloft will soon be too great for any nation to be willing to build battleships which can be wrecked in a second by a bomb dropped from the clouds.

If the airship age does not actually prevent war or plans for war it will probably decrease the cost of war and lower the tremendous expense of armament. When such a time comes that one aeroplane without danger to itself can destroy whole regiments and entire squadrons of battleships there will be less rivalry in the building of great fleets and the maintenance of huge standing armies.

The largest aerial navy that any one nation could conveniently control could be established at a minimum of expense and could be manned by the crews of three or four of our largest battleships or the soldiers from two or three brigades of infantry.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Editorial Notes

We see that the G.T.R. is installing a big compressed air plant in Lindsay. It is to be hoped that none of our local politicians will either steal their patent or get charged whilst visiting the works.

Under our parliamentary system, a strong and vigorous Opposition is as essential for the safe and satisfactory working out of the government of a province or of the Dominion as a governor is to the smooth and efficient running of a stationary engine.

The dust season has arrived. Municipal authorities should remit no energy in subduing this plague, made worse by modern automobiling, but happily conquered by devices which should wholly supplant the old-time water wagon.

Red snow is often seen in spring at the head of Alpine glaciers. Scientists used to believe that the hue was due [illegible] reddish insects, but it is now known to be caused by a microspocical plant, which is pink when growing and a deep crimson when in a state of maturity.

Poets sing of the deep blue sea, but it is not always blue. Millions upon millions of microscopic algae or seaweeds and subaquatic plants give the Red sea its peculiar tint, and the Yellow sea of China is said to be colored by the floods of the great rivers which wash down vast quantities of mud. Generally speaking, the ocean is blue in ratio to its saltiness.

While this part of the American continent has had a winter memorable for its severity, Paris has enjoyed exceptionally mild weather this season, the thermometer having gone below the freezing point but once. Turn about would seem to be fair play on the part of the weather clerk, and certainly we will not object to an "open winter" next year.

Those Yankee papers, or, at least, some of them try to twist the lion's tail on every occasion, or to intimate that the Maple Leaf of Canada is only a laugh, and of use when in an old pilefor fertilizing purposes. Just see how a New Orleans paper, the "United States" seems to go out of its way to get a crack at Canada and things Canadian. It says editorially: "On one of the Canadian railways a "train agent" is the official name of the fare collector. The train agent is said to be notable for his politeness, and to ask for a passenger's ticket with the words, 'Your ticket, please;' to wait patiently till he gets it, and then invariably say, 'Thank you.' The name 'train agent' is hardly felicitous for this Chesterfieldian conductor. It sounds too much like 'road agent,' a name which in the west has not always been associated with agreeable manners or practices."

TWO YOUTHS MISSING

St. Thomas, Ont., May 3.—Thomas and Irvine Randall, aged 14 and 11 years respectively, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Randall, who live a mile north of West Lorne, went out at 6.30 Monday morning to do chores, and no trace of them has since been found. A search is being made. No reason can be assigned for the disappearance.

PROTESTANT DISABILITIES IN PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

may be clergymen or laymen. These two thirds represent the people and are subject to the Government, but their number depends not on the will of the Government, but of Rome, because the first third, more or fewer, are Rome's appointment.

Then the Roman Catholic laymen who make up one third are in a sense, subject to the bishops, and thus the latter, appointed from Rome, control the whole educational system of the Province.

It is true they allow the Protestant third to manage their own separate schools, but only on certain conditions, in so far as it pleases them to do so, and the fact remains that the whole school system is controlled from Rome and not by the Government or people of the Province. What a commotion and cry of persecution there would be if the Roman Catholic Church were given these "minority rights!"

(2)—Another of the "minority rights" granted to Protestants is the division of the taxes. There are separate schools, and the taxes of Protestant and Roman Catholic householders go to support their own separate schools. This is fair and just. But the taxes of all the corporations, companies, banks, manufacturing establishments, etc., which make up a large part of the taxable property, especially in the centres, are divided among the schools in proportion to the population.

Now a large portion of such property has, as rule, belonged to Protestants, while the population has been chiefly Roman Catholic, and the Protestants thus pay yearly a large amount to Roman Catholic schools, not merely to give public education—to this they would not object but to support schools where such public education has a secondary place, and where Protestantism is represented as a dangerous heresy. Even where such property or company is wholly Protestant, the largest part of its school taxes, sometimes nearly the whole, is taken to support, not public schools, but Roman Catholic separate schools, and those same Protestants have to support their own separate schools besides.

In some provinces where there are public schools, the Roman Catholic Church frequently chooses to establish her own separate schools, and complains bitterly that it is unfair, when there is no unfairness, because the other schools are public and not sectarian.

But in Quebec province the Protestant minority is taxed to support, not public schools—to this they would not object—but Roman Catholic separate schools, and have to support their own separate schools besides, an unfairness which has no parallel in any province where Protestants are in the majority.

Such are two illustrations of "minority rights" as enjoyed by Protestants. How would the Roman Catholic Church enjoy such "rights?"

English descent, most earnestly object to any such innovation. There are enough Canadians still alive to remember the late Queen Victoria and the splendid work she accomplished. We all remember, how, at her death, all Canada mourned. Are we going now to say, "Off with the old and on with the new?" I say, Mr. Editor, let the 24th of May be kept as a general holiday, as long as Canada belongs to the British Empire, and that we believe will be till the crack of doom.

HOW ARE ICE BERGS MADE?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—Would you kindly tell me, as a subscriber, how such huge masses of ice as the berg that destroyed the Titanic are formed? I see that the berg in question rose about ninety feet above the surface of the sea and was seven or eight times that distance below.

—Subscriber.

Reply—The icebergs you refer to are the result of glaciers in the far north. In the valleys, great frozen rivers of ice are continually making their inexorable progress down the incline of land towards the sea. Eventually this huge mass of ice is projected far beyond the coast on the ocean's breast. At last the weight of the ice breaks off so many hundred, or thousand feet, and a big berg is formed. The technical name for the formation of a berg is that the glacier calves. When the great piece of ice breaks off and floats away a roar like that of a fifty ton gun is heard.

HER DEEPEST REGRET

Montreal, May 3.—Sister Lanctot, a nun in the Foundation of Notre Dame, at 40 St. Jean Baptiste St., yesterday heard of the tragic death in Toronto of her brother, Frank Lanctot, who committed suicide in his room at 140 Jarvis street.

"My deepest regret," she said, "will be thinking of my dear brother, although a professed Catholic, did not die in the faith. The last rites of the Church were not administered to him."

NOT ATTENDING SCHOOL.

The Times Is Told That Children of Some of Our Foreign Citizens Are Not Attending School.

The Times is informed that there are a large number of children of local citizens of foreign birth, who do not attend school. It seems advisable that such children should be looked after by the truant officer. The only way to make good Canadian citizens out of these foreign born children is to educate them both in the subjects taught in the schools and in Canadian customs and ways of thought. We are informed that there is a large number of these children not attending schools either because the parents were not familiar with our laws or the children could not speak English.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tenders for Dredging Ontario," will be received until 4 p.m. on Monday, May 13th, 1912, for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—

Goderich, Napanee, Picton, Telegraph, and Nigger Islands.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges and tugs not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1,500. The cheque must be accepted, on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

5 Years Thaoat Trouble And Intluenza Cured

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

This Case Does Prove That When Catarrhozone Is Breathed Every Trace of Catarrh Disappears

Milford, Haven, May 4. — Everyone in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering from influenza and catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney. To-day she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh, in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for for five years. My life was despaired of Catarrh was undermining my strength very fast. I used treatment from eminent doctors, but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever being well. Then I read of a wonderful cure made by Catarrhozone. I immediately sent for Catarrhozone, and before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. To-day I am cured.

"We would not be without Catarrhozone in our home—it's so sure in colds, coughs, bronchial and throat trouble. I feel its my duty to recommend Catarrhozone."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrhozone; it contains a beautiful hard rubber inhaler, and medicine that lasts two months. Smaller sizes 25c, and 50c each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrhozone, sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

Work For the Editor.

Most any one can be an editor. All an editor has to do is to sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks of the month and twelve months in the year and "edit" such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Lost Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Matherton threw a stone and struck a companion in the alley last Tuesday."

"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch."

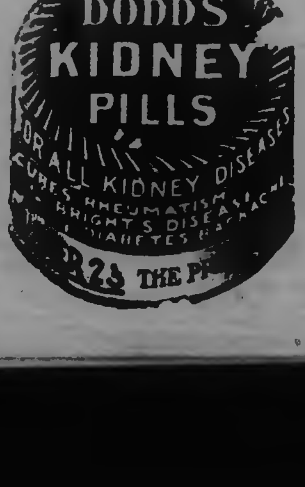
"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise home from a church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square."

"Isaiah Trimmer was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda."

"Mr. White while harnessing a broncho last Saturday was kicked just south of the corncrib."—Boston Globe.

Body Found In River.

London, Ont., May 2.—The body of an unknown man, well dressed and about 45 years of age, was found in the Thames River at Courtwright. There is a gash across the forehead, and another along the side of the head, but whether these are due to ice or timber during the floods, or to blows, is not yet certain. An inquest will be held.



THE HUMAN PROCESSION

more than ordinarily intelligent and well educated, she enchanted Louis Napoleon, "the man of the people" and he immediately abandoned all projects for a royal marriage and announced that he would take to wife "a woman of the people." Pomp and splendor marked the marriage ceremony in Notre Dame, early in 1853, not long after the coup d'etat that made Louis Napoleon first the "Prince-President" and soon Emperor of France. Revelry, almost unlimited license and many scandals marked the court, and the Tuileries became a palace of frolic and folly, where the intellectual leaders of France, the poets, artists, novelists, and musicians mingled with the noble and statesmen of the new regime. In this gay company the Empress, although of them and one of them, kept her own name beyond reproach or hint of scandal.

Ambitious almost as the first Napoleon, hungering for even greater prestige than attached to the social arbiter of the world, Eugenie constantly urged her infatuated husband to the projects that led to his ruin. [illegible] or Eugenie the Franco-Prussian war might never have been fought, and France still be an empire But the war was declared, and a maddened mob, enraged by the disasters that followed, swarmed about the palace, crying for the blood of the Empress, demanding that her head be lopped off by the "razor of liberty" as a penalty for the ruin she had wrought. An American dentist, a Dr. Evans, was instrumental in securing the escape of the Empress to England The former Emperor died an exile in 1873, and the only son of the imperial pair was killed by Zulus in South Africa in 1879.

For years Eugenie set the fashions in femine dress that was slavishly followed, not only in her own land, but in London and New York, in Montreal and San Francisco, and Medicine Hat She introduced the crinoline and other modes that spread over the world She now has residences in London and Nice, but of late years has spent three months of each year in Paris, frequently visiting the Tuileries, Versailles and other places connected with her vanished glories.

A Rare Chance for Western Land.

Now that the trend of Eastern Capital and Eastern settlers, seems definitely set towards Western Canada, the thinking man naturally stops to consider where shall I locate? In this connection, attention is drawn to Weyburn, Saskatchewan. The Province of Saskatchewan seems to be a favorite portion of our vast Western Dominion, and Weyburn, in that Province, seems to be singularly well situated. This coming metropolis is served by no less than three railways. It has every prospect of becoming the manufacturing centre of a vast distributing territory. Those seeking a location for their families, a new home for themselves, or, in the meantime, a certain investment for funds should seriously consider this town. There is every chance of quick doubling and trebling of money invested in Weyburn property and, in all human probability, no possible chance of loss. There are already seven banks established in this city, and the building permits have already reached the $1,000,000.00 mark for this year. In another part of this issue, appears the advertisement of Messrs. J. A. Kent & Co., of Winnipeg, a reliable and responsible firm, who have a small number of choice lots for sale in Weyburn. Don't let this chance slip by, if you want an investment in western property. Messrs. Kent & Co. offer a good proposition. Full particulars in their advertisement in this issue.

PEOPLE ALL HAVE CONFIDENCE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Everywhere You Find People Who Have Been Cured of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Bright's Disease, or Some other Form of Kidney Disease—cure is always Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Cameron Mills, Kent Co., N. B., May 3.—(Special).—The one thing that strikes a visitor to New Brunswick is the confidence the people have in Dodd's Kidney Pills as a cure for any and all forms of Kidney Disease. They have used them and know by their own experience that Dodd's Kidney Pills are all that is claimed for them. Everywhere you go you find this confidence. It is expressed in this village by Mrs. Joseph P. Daigle

"I have great confidence in Dodd's Kidney Pills," she says. "Six boxes cured me of my kidney disease."

All over the Province you find people who have been cured of Bright's Disease, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Back ache, or some other form of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. You cannot find a case in which they have been given a fair trial that the results have not been beneficial.

Finest Office In the World.

New York, May 2.—On the last day of this month, the finest, costliest and most beautiful private office in the world will be opened on the 31st storey of the Bankers' Trust Co. building, at Wall and Nassau streets.

Its floors will be of teakwood, inland with ebony. Its surfaces and ceiling moldings will be of the same precious wood. On the walls will hang paintings by old masters of Europe. On the floors will repost the handsomest specimens of the oriental rugmakers' art.

There will be no name on the door, but it will be the office of J. Pierpont Morgan.

Invest in Leather.

Everyone remembers the old time fable, wherein, to defend a city besieged, a tanner suggested leather. Now, leather is one of the commodities that will always be in demand. Canada can, and does, produce leather of a quality that the world cannot excel. The Collis Leather Co., Ltd., incorporated under the laws of Ontario, with a capital of $150,000, of which $110,000 stock is to be issued, has a proposition well worth serious consideration by everyone seeking a safe and paying investment. The Canadian tanneries are all making money and keep their stock closely tied up. The town of Aurora has voted the Collis Leather Co. a cash bonus of $10,000, with exemption from taxation for ten years. The Company now has a factory 150 ft. x 50 ft. in size, under construction. The building will be four storeys in height. The Company will handle 1800 calf skins daily, and, as shown in their advertisement in another part of this issue, will pay big profits. A limited number of shares in the Company are now offered for sale on easy terms. For full particulars, see advt., or write Messrs. W

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Auihorized Capital: $200.000
Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

ANCIENT WILLS.

The Mohammedan Says Adam Left a Record One.

The Mussulman claims that our forefather Adam left a will, and that seventy legions of angels brought him sheets of paper and quill pens, nicely nibbed, all the way from Paradise, and that the Archangel Gabriel set his seal as a witness.

Jacob, the third of the Hebrew patriarchs died in Egypt at the age of 147, but was buried by his sons in the Cave of Machpelah at Hebron in Palestine, the traditional burial place of the prophets and other Biblical characters of their time.

It can be stated that the very earliest reference to an actual testamentary disposition is by the words of this patriarch:

"And Israel said unto Joseph, Behold, I die; but God shall be with you and bring you again unto the land of your fathers.

"Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above my brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my sword and with my bow.

"And Jacob called unto his sons, and said, gather yourselves together, that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days."

In the forty-eighth and forty ninth chapters of Genesis are these words of the dying patriarch; and here is found not only the disposition of "portion" to Joseph, but the character of each son is shown, the virtue or fault of each is described, to each a symbolic emblem is assigned, and to each a future is prophesied.

Here is a will, in fact, and in prophesy.

Homer cites this will, made in favor of Piraeus, to whom Telemachus bequeaths all the presents that had been made to him by Menelaus, lest they fall into the hands of his enemies, but he adds: "In case I should slay them and survive, you are to restore them to me in my palace, a task as joyous to you to accomplish as to myself to profit by." Perhaps, however, this may be objected to as proceeding from fabulous history. In Biblical tradition, however, we find very early evidence of oral bequests.

To Lucian we are indebted for the noble, touching, and certainly eccentric will of Eudamidas of Corinth.

This philosophical individual, who was extremely poor, was on terms of close and intimate friendship—friendship in the full and true acceptance of the terms — with Arethaeus and Charixenes of Sycion. Finding himself on his deathbed, he made a will, which while exciting only the ridicule of the thoughtless or the worldly wise, calls for respect and admiration in the breasts of those who know the value of real cordiality, and can appreciate his simple confidence in its sincerity.

"I bequeath to Arethaeus my mother to support; and I pray him to have a tender care for her declining years.

"I bequeath to Charixenes my daughter to marry, and to give her to that end the best portion he can afford."

When this will, continues the narrator, was read in the public square (this being the accepted mode of proceeding at that time) all those who were aware of the poor circumstances of the testator, but were incapable of recognizing the ties which linked them to his friends, turned these unusual clauses into a joke, and there was not one who did not go away laughing and observing; Arethaeus and Charixenes will be lucky fellows if they accept their legacies, and he's no fool to have made himself their heir, though he be dead and they living."

But these honest legatees no sooner learned what was expected of them by their deceased friend than they hastened to put his wishes into execution.

Charixenes, however, only survived Eudamidas five days; and then Arethaeus, acting in exact conformity with the will he had undertaken to execute, assumed the share bequeathed to his co-executor. He supported the mother of Eudamidas; and in due time found a suitable husband for his daughter.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

Without Ceremony.

More or less ceremony usually attends the laying of a corner-stone, but in one case at least it was laid quite simply.

Two men were talking of the fortune of a third when on said:

"He made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage and sold them at a profit of more than 300 per cent. That was the corner-stone of his present fortune."

"Ah," exclaimed the other man. "Then the hens laid it!"

A Reform Movement.

Mrs. Benham—When we women get to running the Government we'll do a thing or two.

Benham—Such as what?

Mrs. Benham—We'll make a man take out a hunter's license before he can look for a collar button, and in his application he will have to certify that he doesn't swear.

A Practical View.

"Father," said the inquisitive boy, "what is a genius?"

"A genius, my son, is a man who gets a whole lot of advertising without being able to do any profitable business with it."

Silk Imports.

Silk goods from France, Switzerland, and Germany to the annual value of thirteen million pounds are imported into Great Britain.

THE BASQUES

They Trace Back Further Than Any Race in Europe.

The Basques have been the object of more contention as to their origin than any other people in Europe. The most extravagant theories have been put forward, such as that they are descendants of the builders of the tower of Babel, of the Antediluvians, the Phoenicians, and even of the legendary Atlantes. Their origin remains obscure, and all that can be said with any certainty is that they represent an older racial stratum than the peoples settled in western Europe.

George Borrow who brought out the gospel of St. Luke in the Basque tongue, during his wanderings in the Iberian peninsula, says in his "Bible in Spain" that he considers the Basque dialect to be more closely allied to the Tartar than to the Sanskrit, and in the former classification he includes the Manchu, the Mongolian, the Calmuc and the Turkish of the Caspian Sea, and in Europe, Hungarian and Basque though not in its entirety. Not only does he find a similarity to the Tartar in the Basque language, but also in their mental characteristics. Whatever may be the truth of these conjectures, the Basques still form a race apart, dwelling in the northern and southern sides of the Pyrenees.

By far the greater number come under the suzerainty of Spain, the provinces of Guipuzcoa, Biscaye, Alava and Haute Navarre being for the greater part Basque-Guipuzcoa, alone, entirely so. While in France there are but three provinces or arrondissements which may be termed Basque, the Labourd, Basse-Navarre and La Soule. Known by the name of Vascongados in Spain, in France, among themselves they are the Euskaldunak and their tongue Escuara.

The French Basques, though fewer in number, have preserved the primitive type of the race to a greater extent than those of the southern slopes of the Pyrenees since the year 580, when they separated from their brethren in Spain, who were left to resist the invasions of the Romans and Moors.

Borrow says of the Basques that they are a singing rather than a poetical people, and he mentions a collection of songs which was printed in San Sebastian in 1826 by Juan Iztith. These songs were chiefly march tunes and illustrated the martial character of the race. Of these songs Borrow says they "consist of wild and thrilling marches to the sound of which it is believed that the ancient Basques were in the habit of descending from their mountains to combat with the Romans and subsequently the Moors. . . . We seem to hear the charges of cavalry on the sounding plain, the clash of swords and the rush of men down the gorges of hills." The words of these songs, however, are crude in the extreme and have not even originality to recommend them; in fact, the Basques have no literature; moreover their tongue is poor and they have no words by which to express abstract ideas.

Funny Man.

Henri Bergson in his recent book, "Laughter," lays stress on the fact that man, long defined as "the laughing animal," is also the only laughable animal. There is nothing really comical except human beings. The animal world is solemn beside the so called lords of creation. Man alone is an object of ridicule.

Coined In Bedlam.

The phrase "to sham Abraham" was coined in Bedlam, or Bethlehem hospital, where there was at one time an Abraham ward, the inmates of which upon certain days were permitted to go out as licensed beggars on behalf of the hospital. These mendicant lunatics were known as "Abraham men," and their success in invoking the pity of the charitable was such that they had many unlicensed imitators, who, when discovered, were said "to have shammed Abraham."

Distance.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated."

"Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map get so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Earliest Germ of Vitality.

The microscopic dot or earliest germ of vitality is the marvel of science today. Everything that lives, whether the giant oak or the monster animal, has each to begin its individual growth from this microscopic dot, which actually contains all the past story of the living growth and every part in miniature of its future frame.

Cheering Her Up.

"I just dropped in to cheer you up a little," she said to the sick friend.

"Thank you so much. When one is confined to the house with an attack of appendicitis she is always glad of a cheerful visitor."

"Yes, indeed. And so many people are dying of that nowadays."

Of the Same Mind.

The bishop grasped the purser's arm with a gentle, confidential pressure. "I would explain to you," he began, "that I am very much pleased with my roommate. That is, I find him a gentleman in every respect and I wouldn't have you think—er—my coming to you with these valuables is—a—any reflection upon him, you know. His appearance is — er — in every way"—

"Oh, that's all right," interrupted the purser. "The gentleman has been to me with his own valuables, and he says the very same thing about you."

Elevated Headgear.

During the ceremonial dances the natives of Papua, New Guinea, wear probably the tallest hats in the world, a headdress varying from six feet to eight feet in height and most gorgeous in coloring. The framework is adorned with feathers, colored fibers and shells, beaks of hornbills, plumes of the birds of paradise and sometimes even with a boar's tusk. Some of these headdresses are heirlooms handed down from father to son. They would not sell them at any rate.

The Tarantula.

The sting of the tarantula (a name derived from Taranto, a town in Italy), the most venomous of spiders, was popularly supposed to produce a disease called tarantism, which could be cured only by music or dancing, and the dance which cured it was called tarantella. You can see the peasants dance the tarantella now, but without waiting for spider bites.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Grist of Interesting News from the Northern Townships—Bad Roads.

J. G. Hardill and C. Sherwood, representing Peterborough Companies, arrived on their regular trips last evening and report roads very bad. Coming from Buckhorn to Burleigh Falls they had a little experience with trees across the road. One a large maple, held them up for an hour or two. One of the party had to walk back about a mile to borrow a crosscut saw. Ernie and Mr. Sherwood composed the sawing gang, while J. E. acted as foreman. Fortunately a farmer came along with an axe, and with his assistance got the road clear. But worse was to follow when they reached the Burleigh road and found three feet of water flowing over the road before reaching the Burleigh Hotel. Ernie says they had to roost on the back of the seats, and sometimes the water came into the carriage. But it's a pretty stiff proposition when Ernie can't get through. The new dam (they spelled it with an "n") at Burleigh, is the cause of the trouble. There are some dangerous washouts.

It looks as if we were not only to do without a railroad, but must be cut off from all communication with the front. However, we still have Coe Hill and Belleville to fall back on. There is a lot of freight at Lakefield for the Apsley merchants. Under the present condition of the roads it will be some time before it can be hauled up. The mail carrier phoned Reeve Tucker, who went down and reports that it will cost at least $1000 to repair the damages, which no doubt the Government will have to pay. And there will likely be damages of no inconsiderable amount to pay for the property submerged at Jack's Lake. Now it is not the spring freshets that is the cause, as the waters back here are not within two feet of being as high as in former years.

The post office inspector got around to our village last Wednesday, the 24th, and transferred the post office. He spoke very highly of the manner in which Mr. Brown had conducted the business during his term of office. There never had been a complaint.

The river drivers are in evidence now along the 12 miles of river from Eels Lake to Apsley.

Mr. A. Windsor gave the young people a good time Friday night. Singing, dancing and music. They kept it up till near morning. Supper was served at 12. They all report having a good time.

Messrs. Bruce Coones and James Downing go to Lakefield this week to try and bring up the engine for their portable saw mill, but may have trouble on account of the roads. Everything is ready for the engine and if it were here could commence cutting at once.

Mr. Thos. J. Wilson, of Chandos, met with a painful accident last week while drawing stone on his farm. He had hitched on to a large one, and when the team started it up his foot slipped into the hole behind it, and it slid back, pinning his foot under it. He managed to get it raised a little when the chain slipped off and caught him again. The team was then out of reach and no assistance being near he had slowly to dig the earth from under his foot the best way he could. Fortunately no bones were broken.

L

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

The National Preserve Has a Host of Interesting Denizens.

Algonquin National Park comprises over one and a half million acres of shaggy woods and gleaming lakes. Wild life is protected there. As a result the wild animals and birds have become quite tame, so tame in fact that some of them have no hesitancy about visiting the tent of the camper and making themselves at home. Deer often appear before a party of dining campers in broad daylight, but most of the animals prefer to satisfy their curiosity and carry on their investigations of the camp at night.

Sometimes one of the little visitors will take a notion to help himself to a bit of bacon or scrap of biscuit or even go so far as to cut a hole in the sugar-sack, but his visit being prompted more from curiosity than hunger, he seldom does any harm.

Of course at the slightest stir from the camp, the visitor is gone, melting like a flash in the shadows from which he may peer with little eyes wide with wonder for a time before continuing his regular night rounds. Sometimes, if he chances to be a creamy little ermine or its first cousin, a weasel he may return to continue his interrupted investigation.

The experienced camper is quite willing to have the small ermine come as a visitor to his camp. Well he knows that that little pest the pack-rat cannot carry on his wasteful work among his effects, if the red-eyed killer of pack rats is hanging about; and the ermine is quick and sure death to pack rats.

Perhaps the most frequent visitor to camp is the porcupine. That interesting animal, who has a habit of taking his time about everything, is liable to roll into camp at any hour of the night.

He comes in leisurely and departs leisurely and he is too bound up in himself to take the slightest notice of anything else, be it man or animal. Neither curiosity nor interest in the strange creature called man leads the much respected porcupine into camp; he is too selfish to think of anything but himself and he comes into camp on a selfish mission. He is after salt.

For salt he will brave any danger and if there is salt within a quarter of a mile of him, his blunt nose smells it and points the way to it.

Perhaps the camper has left the wooden box, in which the pork has been packed, just outside the tent door; or the frying-pan in which the supper had been cooked on the ground by the camp fire.

If so, Mr. Porcupine rolls up to the box and proceeds to get busy on it with long, chisel-like teeth. He makes all the noise he feels like making and if the camper comes out and attempts to drive him away, he looks up at the intruder out of sleepy eye and stiffens his long quills a little. He don't intend to leave until he has reduced that box to slivers and he feels pretty certain the camper knows better than to attempt to make him.

If there happens to be a dog in camp, and he is a young and inexperienced dog, the chances are he will try conclusions with the porcupine. If his owner is also inexperienced he may let him do it.

When the dog attacks him, the porcupine rolls himself up into a round ball and the dog recoils with a howl, quills sticking in his tender nose and mouth. These his master may be able to remove, but usually, if deep, they work through the flesh until they come out on the opposite side from which they entered. Sometimes they work down the dog's throat where they fester and choke him to death.

The rangers of Algonquin National Park have a wholesome respect for the porcupine and are most careful not to anger him in any way. He is a peaceable animal and fond of minding his own business, but he will not permit of the slightest familiarity. Every animal of the wild knows the danger he runs in disputing rights with this spiny, peace-loving little animal, and they are most careful to let him severely alone.

Monopoly Failed.

Two New Brunswickers went to Toronto recently in control of the potato trust of their province. Ontario potatoes are apparently a thing of the past, and the easterners felt that they had a market to themselves. Potatoes was raised daily, and the commission man was compelled to ask two dollars a bag.

Having made a market and with a good supply on hand, the New Brunswick promoters sent out peddlers through the city and reaped a harvest by disposing of their stock at $1.80 a bag, thus cutting the feet from under the commission men.

But the commission houses got busy. They imported Irish potatoes, and they then went after the English article. By careful computation it was found that English potatoes could be landed and sold in Toronto at $1.65 a bag, and the corner of the New Brunswickers has been broken. The next episode in the potato business will be watched with more than ordinary interest. McBride Bros., wholesale commission men, are the responsible parties for the importation of Irish, Scotch and English potatoes.

Sport In British Columbia.

With the exception of antelope and musk-ox, British Columbia has every species of big game that exists on the continent, even the rarest of them being found in fair quantities. In addition, there are wild fowl and game birds of various species, some native and others acclimatized, that furnish sport; while the waters are said to afford the finest trout and salmon fishing in the world. Some 70 miles up the river from Fort George the "Grand Canon" is reached, and from there a magnificent moose country extends as far as the Little Smoky River. Whether the horns attain the large size of the Cassir moose has yet to be determined, but some very fine heads have been seen. In this district caribou are very plentiful on the higher plateaux, and in places both grizzly and black bears are numerous.

London, May 2.—The British battleship Empress of India was in collision with a German sailing vessel early to-day at Spithead. The battleship received a gaping hole in her side above the main deck, while the merchantman lost headgear and the foretopmast.

The Empress of India was launched amid-channel in tow of the cruiser Warrior at the time of the crash.

The Empress of India was launched 1891, and is now classed as obsolete. It is kept in the special reserve, for emergency use. It has a displacement of about 14,000 tons and carries a formidable battery.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Son of Local Pastor Weds.

Mr. Clifford Douglas Henderson, son of Rev. G. W. Henderson of this city, has joined the great army of benedicts. His marriage to Miss Helen Seymour Graham, daughter of Mr. Alexander C. Graham, Rosedale, was solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, on Wednesday afternoon. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. W. J. Taylor of Chicago, wore a gown of white satin and Chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her tulle veil was arranged off her face and held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. Miss Helen Paul attended her cousin as maid of honor and wore a gown of pale blue satin. Mr. Robt. W. Steele acted as best man. After the ceremony, Mrs. Graham held a reception, the groom's mother from Peterborough being present. Later on the bride and groom left for a trip to New York, the bride travelling in a tan tailor-made suit with hat to match.

Lindsay Post: Mr. W. Ferguson, of Peterborough, visited town on Tuesday.

Dr. Grenside Sells Valuable Horse.

The latest issue of the Canadian Farm has a large picture of the Chesnut gelding, "Metropolitan," sold by Dr. Grenside, of Guelph, to Mr. G. F. Stephens, Cleveland, O. This horse won the saddle class at the New York horse show. Dr. Grenside has relatives in this city who will be pleased to learn of his success.

Canadian Club Dine.

Last night the local branch of the Canadian Club held their last meeting for the season with Mr. Goodwill in the chair. The speaker of the evening was W. F. B. Johnston, of Toronto, who gave an able address. The meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. Assembly Hall. Coleman Bros. catered towards the inner man in the usual style.

Garbage Collectors Busy.

The new garbage carts made 450 calls on Thursday. Citizens would help the men and save themselves trouble by having their garbage placed conveniently, so the handlers can get it without loss of time. At the houses where there is no yard or alley, the garbage pail should be placed by the side of the house ready for the collector.

A Scoundrel for the Pen.

Turnkey Ray, left per G.T.R. at noon yesterday, travelling via Port Hope for Kingston. He took with him the prisoner Joseph Cross, who was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, for an unnatural offence. If Cross behaves himself he will be liberated in about four years and seven months.

A Monaghan Horse Runs Away.

As Mr. Wm. Bradshaw and his little daughter, of South Monaghan were driving near the G.T.R. depot this morning, the horse stepped on a stove pipe, which cut the animals leg. The horse tried to bolt, and succeeded leaving the buggy and occupants behind, as it broke away the harness.

Arrested in Lindsay for Concealment

John Sisson, who lived in a small cottage in Port Hope, recently became the father of a still-born baby. It is alleged that he did not bury the infant, but placed it in a back kitchen, where in due course it became decomposed, and found by a neighbor. Sisson left for Lindsay, Chief Bond, of Port Hope, wired Chief Chilton, of the Scugog town, and Sisson was promptly arrested. He was taken to Port Hope for trial.

Belleville After Water Conservation.

The Board of Trade of Belleville, has decided to join the Central Ontario Water Conservation Association for the purpose of impressing upon the Government the necessity of conserving the water in the back lakes and streams. Belleville was asked to join the Peterborough organization.

Mr. Reid moved that the Board approve of the Association, and that the President be asked to be a delegate to the proposed association.

Mr. MacLachlan seconded the motion, which was carried.

Trent Canal Will Not Open Sundays.

A despatch from Ottawa says. With a view to preventing freight congestion during the rush of east-bound traffic at the opening of navigation the Minister of Railways and Canals has decided to allow Sunday operation of the "Soo" and Welland Canals, as well as some of the smaller canals. In response to an enquiry made at the Trent Canal superintendent's office yesterday, a Times representative was told that as yet no such instructions have been received as regards the local waterway.

New Bank Premises at Norwood.

Arrangements have been completed between Mr. J. L. Squire, of town, and the Bank of Toronto for the erection of handsome premises for the latter at Norwood. The new premises will occupy the site to the west of Mr. Squire's store and will be built in contact with it. It will have a frontage of 32 feet and will extend 37 feet to the rear, giving a floor space of over 1,100 square feet. The elevation will consist of white stone pillars for the first storey and then brick. The office will be built in a most up-to-date design, will have every accommodation for its customers and patrons and will be used solely as a banking institution.

C.P.R. IN AUSTRIA

Observation Cars to be Run by the C.P.R.—A Great Trip Arranged by the Company Which Should Attract Many.

Following closely upon the arrangement the Canadian Pacific Railway has made with the Austrian Government for the privilege of running observation cars upon their lines, with the same enterprise the C.P.R. simultaneously made provision for Around the World tickets to be good over the Trans-Siberian Railway. The traveller taking this route has various options according to the fares paid, and connection with the railway which has never before opened its arms to any outsider can be made by the Canadian Pacific Railway's Royal Mail Trans-Pacific Steamships at Yokohoma, Kobe, Nagasaki and Shanghai, and thence by a variety of routes in connection with the Trans-Siberian. The whole time required for the entire trip from Vladivostock or Dairen to Moscow or St. Petersburg is between nine and ten days. The distance between Vladivostock and Moscow is about 5425 miles, and between Vladivostock and St. Petersburg about 5600 miles. The journey is through most interesting country. Siberia is a land of great fertility, well wooded and watered, and along the routes are many important towns and cities, which are bound to attract the attention of the tourist. A magnificent panorama is afforded the traveller by the delightful scenery of the great lake, Baikal, consisting of 35,000 square miles, and the tunnel and loops by which the Khingan mountains are crossed possesses great interest. The trains carry sleeping and dining cars in which meals are served at reasonable rates. It must not be overlooked that all travellers in Russian territory must be provided with a passport, issued by his own Government, and bearing the signature of the Russian consul, which has to be presented to the Russian authorities on entering and leaving Russia and when staying over night at hotels in Russia.

The Company is capitalized at $1,000,000, and has arranged to open a number of branches in Ontario and out west.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT COLLEGIATE INST.

Last night the annual concert was held under the auspices of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute Literary Society. The fine Assembly Hall was filled by the youth and beauty of Peterborough. In few cities of the size could a more intellectual and appreciative audience have been got together. It would be invidious to attempt to criticize and say which member of the entertainers gave the greatest satisfaction. All were well received, and all did good work. Mr. Harry Holgate, in his piano solos, displayed a touch and technique that was greatly appreciated. Mr. Arthur Blight, in his solos, was well received. Miss Clarice Spencer, in her readings, with musical accompaniment, displayed that she has a great sense of humor, as well as a thorough grasp of the principles of elocution. Mrs. Kennedy delighted the audience with her solos, and also in her duets with Mr. Blight. The committee of management are to be congratulated on the successful outcome of their good work.

EMIGRATION CHECKED

British Coal Strike Greatly Retards Emigration for Europe.

Paris, May 2. One effect of the British coal strike on the continent was the forcing of a decrease in emigration to the United States. Every spring there is an important movement of emigrants to America, but this year the discontinuance of several ocean steamers, owing to lack of coal, made it impossible to accommodate all the emigrants who wished to sail. Holland and Belgium refused to receive any more emigrant and sent them back to France and Switzerland. Several hundred emigrants were stranded on the frontiers and were practically living on charity awaiting the decision of the British miners. One emigration train, carrying over 200 Russians, Bulgarians, and Turks, bound for the United States, was stopped on the French frontier and refused admission. The emigrants settled themselves at Delemont, Switzerland, awaiting for circumstances to decide their future.

HEAD OFFICE AND FACTORY:—AURORA, ONTARIO

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:

T. HERBERT LENNOX, K.C., M.P.P., President The T. Siman Shoe Co., Ltd., President.
WALTER COLLIS, ESQ., Leather Manufacturer, Toronto, Ontario, Vice-President.
W. G. FISCHER, ESQ., Commission Leather Merchant, Toronto, Ontario, Secretary-Treasurer,
WM. J. BALDWIN, ESQ., Mayor of the Town of Aurora.
W. PERCY GILLESPIE, ESQ., W. Percy Gillespie & Co., Investment Brokers, Toronto, Ont.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ...	$27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

The terms are 25 per cent on application, 25 per cent in Thirty, 25 per cent in Sixty, and 25 per cent in Ninety days.

We reserve the right to allot only such applications, and for such amounts as may be approved the application lists may be closed without notice.

Prospectus and application forms sent on request.

Expelled for Declining Duel

serve, and so subject to those military rules of "honor" which even the corrosive irony of Schopenhauer was unable to destroy. Dr. Sambeth was accordingly cited before a "court of honor," to show why he had not challenged Dr. Schumm to a duel, which, it appeared in the course of the inquiry, the latter was anxious to bring about.

The wronged man explained that he had refrained from seeking the reparation of arms, out of consideration for the "Divine command, human law, the dictates of reason, and the welfare of his family." These objections, however, had no weight with his judges, who found him guilty of an offence against the honor of his station, because he had omitted to procure adequate satisfaction conformable with his position, for the serious insult put upon him in a quarrel with a professional colleague." It was further adjudged that he should be punished by the humiliation of "simple discharge" from his military rank.

This judgment was submitted for confirmation to the Emperor whose decision contains the following passage:

"A rejection of duelling in principle, on the grounds of religious conviction, cannot be made the subject of a judgment of a court of honor, though an army medical officer who in this respect opposes the fundamental views of his colleagues cannot be allowed to remain any longer in his position in the service. In consideration, however, of the fact that, according to the investigations which have taken place, Dr. Sambeth gave no well-founded cause for the insult offered to him I will, as a matter of grace, allow that he at once applies for his discharge."

Both the Catholic and Radical press treat this case as yet one more convincing demonstration of the total absurdity of duelling.
